Investigation of DOE security revealed

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — The Pantex nuclear-weapons plant was one of several Department of Energy plants around the nation with security problems including allegations of sexual misconduct, a Seattle newspaper reported.

But officials at the plant northeast of this Panhandle city deny the report which appeared in a copyright story in Thursday edition's of the Seattle Times.

The newspaper reported the problems were revealed during a closed hearing by the U.S. House Committee on Energy and Commerce in March.

The newspaper said the problems included:

—Guards at Pantex, the DOE's highest-security weapons production facility, were found to have taken sex partners up to watch towers.

—Several pounds of plutonium, used to make hydrogen bombs, were "lost" in a mock terrorist raid at the department's Savannah River, S.C., plant.

—As many as 30 workers at the DOE's Oak Ridge, Tenn., weapons production plant were found to be drug users.

Clyde Alley, Pantex assistant plant manager, said the allegations of sexual misconduct were rumor.

"That was investigated and there is no substantiation at all for that," he said.

Alley told the Amarillo Globe-News the rumor was started by a man who never worked at the plant. He refused to identify the man.

The times said the information came from a recently declassified copy of a special oversight and investigations subcommittee's transcript.

Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., who has been investigating the DOE's security problems for four years, had harsh words for two of the department's officials.

"At the subcommittee's first hearing in September 1982, we were assured by a former assistant secretary for defense programs and the current manager of the Savannah River operations office that the facilities could withstand a baseline terrorist attack," said Dingell.

"That was a lie. It was not a question of judgment or a question of differences of judgment — they knew that their statements were not true."

Dingell pointed out that systems at the plant officials claimed were adequate had failed a mock attack exercise miserably.

"The 'aggressors' were able to disappear into the woods with significant quantities of plutonium because one machine gunner was not trained to load his gun," he said. "Another had not been trained to unjam his machine gun, and a helicopter was dispatched with no weapons aboard."

"It has always been my contention that our biggest threat is not from nuclear war, but from free-lance nuclear terrorists," said another subcommittee member, Rep. Ron Wyden, D-Ore., adding that months after the March 6 hearing, the DOE had still not confirmed that security problems at the plants had been resolved.

Wyden has introduced a bill that would establish an independent, outside agency to monitor DOE safety and security at its nuclear plants. "As it is now," he said, "The same people who produce (weapons materials) are the ones who assure you it is safe."

The hearing last spring did not discuss operations at the Hanford nuclear reservation, where plutonium handling was criticized in internal audits. Hanford will be the subject of a separate series of safety, health and security hearings next year, according to subcommittee staff members.

Though Dingell alluded to sexual activities in the Amarillo guard towers, all other references to the incident were apparently edited out of the document. However, some of the details of drug activity at Oak Ridge came out in testimony by former deputy assistant secretary for security affairs, Edward Badolato, whom the DOE announced Thursday had been replaced by former Air Force Col. Michael Seaton.

One employee at Oak Ridge was arrested for drug dealing, while some users were disciplined and others were fired. Civilian employees of a DOE contractor at Amarillo were also allowed to forego drug tests by claiming they were unable to urinate, though they were later required to undergo testing.

In his testimony, Badolato referred to maps of the DOE's Livermore, Calif., Los Alamos, N.M., and Savannah facilities, pointing out to subcommittee members areas where security systems were still "unsatisfactory." He described conditions at the Rocky Flats, Colo., and Amarillo plants as "marginally satisfactory," or adequate until permanent changes could be made in the security systems.

Wyden said Wackenhut Corp., which holds a $40 million contract to manage security at the Savannah River plant, apparently was tipped off about a mock raid to test the contractor's rating.

Reagan says U.S. will seek arms cut despite Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration intends to push for nuclear weapons cuts at the negotiating table despite a new Soviet warning that "Star Wars" cannot be separated from an overall settlement.

"We hope to clarify this point in our discussions in Geneva," a State Department spokesman, Pete Martinez, said Thursday. U.S. weapons specialists, meanwhile, worked on a package of proposals based on the Iceland summit.

Following President Reagan's approval, the proposals will be submitted by chief U.S. negotiator Max Kampelman in the Geneva talks with the Soviets. Two preliminary sessions were held in the Swiss city Wednesday and Thursday, but U.S. officials described them as routine.

"They were not held in the context of the Iceland summit," an official, who demanded anonymity, said.

The administration's performance at Reykjavik came under attack, however, by Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., one of Congress' arms experts, who said the U.S. offer to Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev was confused and would leave the United States at a disadvantage.

"It is obvious that this proposal has not been thought through adequately," said Nunn of Reagan's offer to get rid of ballistic missiles.

Eliminating all strategic offensive nuclear arms over the next decade would put the United States at a serious disadvantage because of the substantial edge the Warsaw Pact nations hold over Western Europe in conventional military forces, Nunn said.

Reagan told a group of junior high school students bound for the Soviet Union that the summit "was a crossroads, not between having and not having an agreement, but rather between believing that nothing can change and believing in a future that offers hope that our world will some day be free of the awesome fear of nuclear attack."

California tops Texas in ag cash receipts

WASHINGTON (AP) — California remains the nation's top farm state in terms of cash receipts with $14 billion last year, the Agriculture Department says.

The figure was contained in a preview released Thursday of a state-by-state financial ranking of the U.S. farm sector that the department will publish in December.

Other top farm states in terms of cash receipts in 1985 were Texas, $9.3 billion; Iowa, $9.2 billion; Illinois, $7.8 billion; and Nebraska, $7.2 billion.

The same states basically topped other lists such as crop receipts, with Florida placing fifth in that category behind California, Illinois, Iowa and Texas.

Wisconsin was fifth in livestock receipts behind Texas, Iowa, California and Nebraska.

Earning the most from major commodity sales were Texas for cattle and calves, Wisconsin for dairy products, Illinois and Iowa for soybeans, corn and hogs, Kansas for wheat, Arkansas for broilers and California for eggs, hay and lettuce.

Gramm attacks amnesty provision

Immigration vote pending debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Authors of a sweeping immigration bill moved the legislation to the brink of a vote, but were then forced to wait while the Senate began a marathon debate on a catchall money measure.

Sponsors expected to return today to the immigration legislation, which would combine amnesty for millions of illegal aliens with penalties for employers hiring undocumented workers.

Debate began on the House-passed bill Thursday, when sponsors thought they could obtain a quick vote. But Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, quickly launched an attack on the amnesty provisions, and when he showed no signs of slowing down, senators turned to the pressing money bill.

President Reagan gave his qualified endorsement to the immigration bill on Thursday. Chief Senate sponsor Alan K. Simpson, R-Wyo., said after a meeting with Reagan he was convinced the president would sign it.

Simpson admitted the controversial amnesty program "seems to stick in the craw of Americans. It's an issue filled with emotion, fear, guilt and racism."

But without it, Simpson asserted, "The hunt would be on" for illegal aliens. "I say, are you going to be part of the group that goes to a Mexican-American in Brownsville (Texas), taps on the door and says 'Are you deportable?'"

Gramm bitterly attacked legalization as unfair to 1.9 million current applicants who "sought to come through legitimate channels to wait for years, to hope and pray for the opportunity to come to America."

"You're going to say, 'People who came here illegally are going to be given preference over you.'"

Even more "absurd" than the general amnesty, Gramm said, was the special legalization program for foreign agricultural workers who harvest perishable fruits and vegetables.

The program would give temporary resident status to aliens who have worked at least 90 days in agriculture from May 1, 1985, through May 1, 1986. Aliens who have worked 90 days a year for three years could adjust to permanent resident status after one year; those who worked 90 days only between May 1985 and May 1986 would have to

Debate on Honduran contra role rekindled

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — The capture of an American flying supplies to Contra guerrillas in Nicaragua has revived debate about the presence of the U.S.-supported rebels in Honduras. Many say it is time for them to go.

Just as in neighboring El Salvador, where the Contras' use of Ilopango Military Base is an open secret, the presence of the Nicaraguan rebels is something the government would rather not discuss.

American Eugene Hasenfus said at a news conference organized by the leftist Sandinista government last week in Managua, Nicaragua's capital, that he participated in 10 supply runs to the Contras.

Hasenfus, 45, of Marinette, Wis., was captured in southern Nicaragua Oct. 5 after the plane he was aboard was shot down. He said that of the 10 runs, four originated from the Aguacate air base in Honduras and six were from Ilopango. Aguacate is near Catacamas, about 70 miles east of Tegucigalpa.

Honduran President Jose Azcona Hoyo immediately denied that his government lets national territory be used for clandestine flights. Maj. Jorge Alberto Arguello, the armed forces' spokesman, did the same.

The leader of the National Assembly, Carlos Montoya, of the Liberal Party now in power, said the time has come for the Contras to leave Honduras.

In addition to the clandestine flights believed to be concentrated at Aguacate, the Contras have maintained bases in southern Honduras near the Nicaraguan border since the start of their 4½-year war.

Honduran military sources say about 18,000 Contra rebels operate from their bases on Honduran territory.

"We do not agree with the policy or ideology of the Sandinista government, but but as soon as they (the Contras) leave Honduras, the better for us," Montoya said one day after the plane carrying Hasenfus and three other people was shot down.

At least two of the three others were Americans. All died in the crash.

National Pentagon finds 1,500 AIDS cases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The military has tested 1 million men and women on active duty for exposure to the disease AIDS and encountered the same 0.15 percent "positive rate" seen earlier in the testing of recruits, Pentagon sources say.

As a result, roughly 1,500 men and women have been identified as having an antibody associated with the deadly disease. Of those, just over half have begun showing "symptoms indicative of progressive clinical disease," grounds for a medical discharge, the sources say.

In a related development, Congress — in approving the Pentagon's fiscal 1987 budget authorization — inserted language forbidding the use of information obtained from medical interviews "to support any adverse personnel action," including discharges.

That directive would overturn part of the Pentagon's confidentiality policy. Currently, if a serviceman acknowledges drug use or homosexual activity in the course of AIDS screening, that information is not supposed to be used as the sole grounds for punitive actions such as courts-martial. But it can be used as grounds for a discharge.

At the same time, Pentagon officials say they have begun debating whether the department been too lenient toward active-duty personnel who test positively for exposure but who show no signs of the actual disease.

Such individuals are now allowed to remain on active duty, although they face continuing medical screening and restrictions on duty assignments and overseas deployments. Some military leaders argue the policy should be changed and any individual testing positively be given an honorable discharge, the sources say.

Zakharov admitted to spying

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gennadiy Zakharov, after admitting he was a Soviet spy, named a KGB station chief at the United Nations and the head of Soviet military intelligence in New York, administration officials say.

One official said Thursday that Zakharov identified Valery Savchenko, listed as a Soviet U.N. mission counselor and said to be the KGB station chief at the mission, and Vladislav Skvortsov, a senior counselor said to be the New York chief of the GRU, the Soviet military intelligence.

Zakharov fingered three Soviet spies in all, but the official, who spoke only on condition of anonymity, was uncertain who the third Soviet was.

All three were among the 25 Soviets at the U.N. the United States recently ordered to leave the country, the official said. The last of the 25 Soviets, who worked at U.N. headquarters in New York, left the United States on Tuesday.

On Wednesday, another U.S. official said Savchenko and Skvortsov were among the last five of the 25 Soviets to leave, along with Gennadi Tarasov, a Mideast specialist reputedly in the KGB; Viktor Shbrunov, a first secretary; and Valery Anikeev, a counselor.

ABC News on Thursday night said Zakharov, who until his arrest was a scientific affairs officer for the Soviet Union at the United Nations, made the admissions during a four-hour interrogation.

"He sang like a tweetie bird," one U.S. official told The Associated Press.

Zakharov, 39, was questioned following his arrest on Aug. 23 on a New York subway platform as he allegedly tried to pay an FBI informant $1,000 for classified documents on military jet engines.

Within a week after Zakharov's arrest on spying charges, the Soviets arrested American journalist Nicholas Daniloff in Moscow on espionage charges.

Zakharov pleaded no contest to three counts of espionage and was returned to the Soviet Union on Sept. 30, the day after Daniloff, a U.S. News & World Report correspondent, was released by the Soviets.

OPEC leaders cite progress

GENEVA (AP) — OPEC oil ministers, meeting behind a cloak of secrecy, today resumed their search for at least a tentative agreement on production controls that could push petroleum prices back up.

The cartel leaders made no public comments as they arrived for a 12th straight day of talks at a Geneva hotel.

The outcome of what has become one of the longest meetings in the 26-year history of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries remained in doubt, even after Thursday's intense deliberations.

The oil ministers have been trying to construct a formula, based on a statistical profile of each member country, that would be used to calculate oil production quotas for the 13 members.

The aim is to restrict the cartel's production in order to dry up the world oil glut and boost oil prices.

A makeshift OPEC accord on production restraint that took effect Sept. 1 is due to expire at the end of this month. There has been no final decision on whether to extend it or replace it.

Rilwanu Lukman, the OPEC president and the oil minister of Nigeria, said after Thursday's meeting that the ministers had agreed on "tentative definitions" of seven or eight elements of the formula.

Missing Israeli pilot in captivity

SIDON, Lebanon (AP) — A missing crewman from an Israeli fighter-bomber shot down during a raid on Palestinian guerrilla bases was reported alive today and in the hands of Shiite Moslem fighters.

"The captive has a fractured arm. Otherwise he is well," said a spokesman for Justice Minister Nabih Berri's mainstream Shiite Amal militia, who refused to be identified further.

The spokesman also declined to disclose where the Israeli airman shot down Thursday was being held, although sources said he had been moved to Beirut overnight.

It was not immediately possible to verify the claim. Berri had denied in a statement Thursday that Amal was holding any Israeli.

Israeli jets raided the bases near this ancient port city earlier that day, apparently in retaliation for a grenade attack Wednesday in Jerusalem that killed one Israeli and wounded 69.

A shoulder-fired missile downed the Israeli Phantom F-4E and its two crewmen bailed out, landing in an olive grove four miles southeast of Sidon, and 25 miles south of Beirut.

Israel's military command in Tel Aviv said helicopter-borne Israeli troops landed in the rugged terrain southeast of Sidon and rescued one of the two crewmen of the downed jet.

The Israeli command listed the other flier as missing, and vowed to retrieve him.

Initial reports from Lebanon had said the second airman was dead, but the Amal spokesman today said the flier was captured on Sidon's southeastern outskirts by Rafik Ibrahim, a 19-year-old Amal militiaman, minutes after the Phantom was shot down.

Ibrahim told reporters at his native village of Zeghdraya that the Israeli captive spoke a little Arabic, but with an Egyptian accent.

"I jumped out of the bush and ordered him to stick his hands up when he landed by parachute in the olive grove yesterday. He raised only one arm," Ibrahim said.

Quake may cause influx of Salvadorans into South Texas

By DAVID SEDENO Associated Press Writer

SAN BENITO, Texas (AP) — A devastating earthquake in El Salvador will trigger an influx of Salvadorans to a new Catholic Church-sponsored shelter that is busting at the seams even before it reopens, church officials said.

Casa Oscar Romero, a shelter for Central Americans first opened in December 1982, was forced to relocate from a residential area following complaints from neighbors.

Thousands of Central Americans, most of them from El Salvador, have made the shelter their temporary home on their way into the United States.

Last month, Catholic Church officials separated the men, women and children as they prepared for a move to a new facility, whose location will be announced soon, said church spokesman Hernan Gonzalez.

The women and children stayed in the white wood-frame shelter and the men were moved to a barn used for a livestock show.

"I do think the earthquake might be a further impetus for them to come here," Gonzalez said. "But we've certainly known that regardless of what kind of facility we can put up that it wouldn't be enough to meet the needs."

The earthquake that struck El Salvador last Friday demolished buildings in the capital city of San Salvador, claiming nearly 1,000 lives and leaving tens of thousands homeless, the latest figures indicate.

Jose Mario Celaya Cruz, 30, said he arrived in this South Texas community on the day the earthquake struck in San Salvador and he has not been able to get any word about his family.

He said, however, that many of his countrymen will journey to the United States.

"There are a lot of Salvadorans who have family and friends here and that's why I think they will be coming soon," he said.

Ready For Glitz

Artist Ivan Tipps, left, shows Roberta Caviness some his artwork which will be on sale at the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame's Fiesta Glitz on Sunday. Art exhibits, a trunk showing of new fashions, and a meal will be the fare for the occasion from 5-8 p.m. at the Hall on Sunday. The $10 tickets are available at the door and will benefit the Hall.

Ruling draws opposition

AUSTIN (AP) — State courts have ruled that bar owners can be held liable for damages caused by drunken patrons, and the Texas Restaurant Association is predicting the decision will prove ominous for many Texans.

"The long-range effect is going to go well beyond those selling alcohol for profit. It is inevitable you will see a rise in litigation on host liability," said TRA director Richie Jackson.

"They will hold homeowners responsible for actions of guests who leave after a party."

The Texas Supreme Court on Wednesday let stand a Houston appeals court decision that effectively gives the state a "dramshop" liability law. The high court, without writing an opinion, said there was no reversible error in the 14th Court of Appeals' June decision.

The decision came in a lawsuit filed by the parents of a Larry Bryan Poole of Houston, who was killed when a drunken driver ran a red light on Jan. 31, 1983.

The family sued El Chico restaurant, where Rene Saenz, the drunken driver, said he had consumed "a lot" of scotch and water before driving away.

A Houston trial court, without convening a full trial, ruled in the restaurant's favor because Texas has no dramshop law. But the 14th Court of Appeals overturned that decision and ordered a full trial.

Forty-one other states have laws or court decisions that impose liability on commercial servers of alcoholic beverages, according to the National Alcoholic Beverage Control Association in Washington.

Justice William Junell, in his June 12 opinion for the Houston appeals court, said jurors should have been allowed to decide if El Chico was liable because it allowed Saenz to drink and then drive.

"We hold that a bar operator owes a duty to the motoring public to not knowingly sell an alcoholic beverage to an already intoxicated person. Whether El Chico breached that duty and whether that breach was a proximate cause of the fatal accident are issues for a jury to decide if the evidence raises such issues," Junell said.

He also responded to lawyers for El Chico who claimed it is up to lawmakers, not the courts, to enact a dramshop liability law.

"It is up to the civil courts to change concepts of duty as social conditions change," Junell said.

Celaya Cruz and hundreds of other Central Americans are restricted to a nine-county area in South Texas that church officials have called a giant detention center. The travel restriction has caused overcrowding at the church facility.

The Central Americans have been documented by U.S. Immigration and Naturalization officials, but they are not able to leave the area without posting a $1,000 cash bond that most do not have.

They are not allowed to work while they are out on their own recognizance.

Church officials, attorneys for Central Americans and immigration officials will meet on Friday to try to work out a solution to the bond problem, said Silvestre Reyes, chief of the Border Patrol sector in McAllen.

The McAllen sector annually records the highest number of arrests of Central Americans trying to enter the United States.

Most of those arrested during the last fiscal year that ended Sept. 30, were from El Salvador, Reyes said.

He said the earthquake in El Salvador would trigger an eventual influx of illegal aliens, much like the earthquake in Mexico City last year caused thousands of Mexicans to go north.

"Barring some other occurrence, for instance, additional turmoil within the country, politically, I don't think we're going to see an immediate impact from the earthquake itself," Reyes said.

"I think it will probably be several months down the road. Six months is a good estimate," he said.

Casa Oscar Romero, named after the slain archbishop of San Salvador, gained notoriety over the last two years because of trials involving its workers.

Former director Jack Elder served five months in a San Antonio halfway house in 1985 on a conviction for transporting Salvadorans. Also in 1985, Elder's replacement, Lorry Thomas, was sentenced to two years in prison after pleading guilty to transporting a Nicaraguan in the trunk of her car.

Shelter volunteer Stacey Lynn Merkt is appealing a 1985 conviction of conspiring to transport Salvadorans. Her 1984 conviction on transporting charges was overturned and those charges were dropped.

Casa Romero now houses between 700-800 Central Americans a month, Gonzalez said.

Aristeo Omar Soto, 32, of El Salvador was spending his first day at the livestock barn on Wednesday.

He agreed with other Salvadorans that the earthquake would trigger an exodus out of the tiny war-torn country.

The Rev. Lanny Wheeler's sermon during Sunday's morning worship is entitled "Born Naked With a Cross." The scripture lesson is Philippians 3:8-16.

He will speak on "The Good Shepherd" Sunday evening. The text to study is John 10:11-18.

This Sunday will be a special day in over 200 churches across the Northwest Texas Conference, a day of sharing in the work of Wesley Community Center in Amarillo.

The center was started as a well-baby clinic for the Hispanic community in 1953 by the women of Polk Street United Methodist Church in Amarillo. It later became the first project of the Women's Division of the Conference.

Today the center serves over 10,000 people annually. In addition to the job related services and the large day care program for children, there are programs for senior citizens activities, family counseling, language instruction, health services, a baby clinic, pregnancy counseling, food service, and youth recreational activities.

The Annual Charge Conference will be Oct. 22 at 7 p.m. Dr. Clifford Trotter will be present to preside at the event. A dinner will be held at 6 p.m. and all members are expected to attend. Dr. Trotter is the Amarillo district superintendent.

The public is invited to hear the Hereford Senior Citizens' Choir at the church beginning at 7 p.m. Sunday. The choir will feature the musical "The Time of Our Lives" arranged by Joe E. Parks. The choir is directed by Jeff Love.

FIRST CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

There will be a two man scramble golf tournament at 9 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 25. The cost is $10 per person. If interested, sign-up in the church foyer.

The Sanctuary Choir ministry still needs members. Membership is open until Oct. 29. Rehearsals are at 7 p.m. each Wednesday in the choir room and Sundays at 8:45 a.m. in the sanctuary.

New members will be received into the church Nov. 9. If you are interested in joining the church, please contact the Rev. Bob Huffaker.

The gym is opened from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. each Saturday and from 2-5 p.m. Sunday.

The junior Sunday school class is having a Halloween pizza party at 7 p.m. Friday, Oct. 31.

All ladies are invited to join the exercise class scheduled at 6:30 p.m. each Tuesday and Thursday.

A film on family communications is being shown at the Community Center Sunday, Oct. 26, at 8 p.m. This film is being sponsored by the Good Guys parents.

The book fair is Saturday beginning at 10 a.m. in Sugarland Mall. Some of the books will be used for the Nazarene Christian academy library.

The Caravans will meet for a harvest party Wednesday, Oct. 29, in the fellowship hall. Come dressed as a Biblical character. Prizes will be awarded for the best costume in each rank. Bring a friend.

The children's hayride has been rescheduled for Saturday, Nov. 8, at 5 p.m. The children will be taken to the country for a wiener roast and return to the church at 8 p.m. Parents are needed to help with food and as sponsors. Contact Jeff if you are interested in helping.

Bill Chaffin of Dallas will be the special speaker during the Rally Day 500 scheduled at 9:30 a.m. Oct. 26. He has been employed with the Zig Zigar Corporation for over two years and has helped facilitate the "Born to Win" seminar, which is designed to help build a healthier self-image at every age level. He is now president of Turn-key Communications.

Military Muster

Army Staff Sgt. Lawrence V. Burges, son of Lee R. and Vivian A. Burges of 813 Country Club Drive, has arrived for duty with the 59th Air Defense Artillery, West Germany.

Burges, a portable air defense system crew member, is a 1970 graduate of Hereford High School.

SIBLING RIVALRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Sibling rivalry is common to all multi-child families, and in most cases it's a healthy way for children to work out their relationships.

"When your children quarrel, let them settle it," says T. Berry Brazelton, head of the Child Development Unit at Boston Children's Hospital Medical Center, in Family Circle magazine.

Otherwise, he says, they'll never get a chance to learn how to compromise, and the younger child won't learn how to stand up for itself.

When they come running with disputes, tell them to handle it themselves and you leave the room. While it is unwise to leave them in an unsafe situation, you'll find they'll argue a lot less if they don't have you as an audience.

FLYING TIPS

NEW YORK (AP) — Thursdays are the busiest day of the week at U.S. airports.

Travel agents have no explanation as to why that day is so popular, but suggest traveling on other days to help reduce possible problems.

Experts also recommend that early morning and late afternoon flights be avoided if possible on any weekday, due to the large number of business travelers at those times.

A LOT LESS DRILLING

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — There has been a lot less drilling for oil in the United States recently, due mainly to lower oil prices in the second and third quarters, compared with prices in the first quarter of the year.

Sometimes, a well stops pumping oil for other than economic reasons. The Capitol Site No. 1 well here is one such. The well, which has served as a symbol of Oklahoma's major industry since it was drilled in 1941, stopped pumping in 1965. Its closing was called a symbol of the fact that the state can't depend solely on oil production for its economic health.

But without designated hitter in N.L. park in World Series

Red Sox to try to keep hitting well

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The Boston Red Sox are hitting well, and must keep doing it without their designated hitter. The New York Mets are pitching well, but probably will not use their ace three times.

The Mets, the team that believes it should win the World Series, and the Red Sox, the team that thinks it will, meet in Game 1 Saturday night at Shea Stadium.

"I was rooting for the Red Sox," right-hander Ron Darling, who grew up in Millbury, Mass., and is expected to start the opener for New York, said. "This will be a homecoming for me."

It will also be a homecoming for several other players. Bob Ojeda, the Mets' most effective starter this year, and Calvin Schiraldi, Boston's top reliever, were traded for each other in the off-season.

Don Baylor, the Red Sox designated hitter, will also be returning to New York. Yankees principal owner George Steinbrenner traded him away prior to the season, saying he was no longer an effective hitter. But Baylor, who hit 31 home runs with 94 RBI in the regular season and batted .346 in the playoff victory over California, may only see limited action against the Mets.

Beginning this year, the designated hitter rule will be used only in the home park of the American League champion. That means Baylor, who does not play the field, would only start Games 3, 4 and 5 unless he took a position. That could happen, however, because Boston first baseman Bill Buckner suffered a sprained right Achilles tendon in the seventh game of the AL playoffs.

"This is no time to be hurt," Buckner, who batted just .214 in the playoffs, said. "I just want to try to be ready. No one wants to sit out a World Series."

One who will sit out, however, is Boston pitcher Tom Seaver, who led the Mets to their only World Series championship in 1969. Seaver, acquired by the Red Sox from the Chicago White Sox in mid-season to bolster their pitching, has been bothered by a strained knee and missed the playoffs.

"Tom Seaver will not be available," Boston Manager John McNamara said.

The Red Sox say left-hander Bruce Hurst will start the first game. Nothing has been announced, but it appears Game 2 will feature the showdown between Boston's Roger Clemens and Dwight Gooden of the Mets.

Clemens, the most dominant pitcher in baseball in 1986, won Game 7 against California while pitching for the second time in the series on three days' rest after having never done it in his major-league career.

Gooden, the game's best pitcher in 1985, last started on Tuesday, getting a no-decision against Houston. But Mets Manager Dave Johnson has steadfastly refused to use Gooden on three-days rest, thus passing up a chance to use him three times in the series.

Gooden and Clemens were the starters in this year's All-Star Game, with Clemens pitching three perfect innings while Gooden gave up a two-run homer to Detroit's Lou Whitaker and took a 3-1 loss.

McNamara is hoping the Red Sox will keep hitting the way they did earlier in the week while overcoming a 3-1 deficit in the playoffs, fueling its belief that destiny is on Boston's side. Jim Rice, Wade Boggs and Dwight Evans all shook loose from their postseason doldrums and responded with key hits as the Red Sox wound up batting .272 in the series.

The Mets, meanwhile, reached the World Series with pitching. They had a team earned run average of 2.29 in their six-game victory over Houston, an emotional rollercoaster that saw New York win Game 5 in 12 innings and then clinch the pennant in a 16-inning seesaw.

Johnson is hoping his team does not duplicate its feeble batting performance. The Mets hit just .189 in the series, including a woeful 2-for-57 effort in the first three innings of the games.

"We showed the world that we can dog it out better than anybody," Johnson said. "Even when we're hitting under .200."

The Mets' four victories in the playoffs went with the 108 games they won in the regular season, the most in baseball. From the start of spring training, they have said they intended to win the World Series this year.

"New York came back," Boston second baseman Marty Barrett, named the most valuable player in the AL playoffs, said after watching the Mets win the National League playoffs.

"The Red Sox are a little like us, always coming back. You've got to hand it to them, coming back from a deficit like they did," Darling said.

Each team firmly believes it will win the World Series. But Mets outfielder Mookie Wilson expressed a feeling that, at least for now, seemed to sum up what both clubs felt after battling through the playoffs.

"I don't think anything that happens in the World Series can match that," he said.

HHS JV scores 20-6 victory over Dunbar

Hereford intercepted three Dunbar passes and recovered four fumbles in winning a junior varsity football contest 20-0 in Lubbock Thursday night.

The HHS junior varsity now has a 6-1 season record. Their next game will be at home on Thursday, Oct. 23 against Palo Duro, with an 8 p.m. kickoff.

Chad Redwine rushed three yards for a second quarter touchdown, giving Hereford a 6-0 halftime lead.

Keith Brown scored a pair of touchdowns in the third quarter. The first one was a 25-yard run and the second one was a seven-yard run.

James Hernandez kicked both of the points-after-touchdowns in the third period.

Shaun Moore intercepted two Dunbar passes, and Robert Leal intercepted one pass. Hereford defensive players who recovered fumbles were Frankie Abalos, Jerry Jimenez, Pat Mercer, and Marcos Marquez.

Mercer recovered a fumble at the Dunbar three-yard line, to set up one of Hereford's touchdowns.

After next week's game against Palo Duro, the HHS junior varsity team has two other games—on Friday, Oct. 31 at home against Estacado, at 4 p.m., and at Canyon on Thursday, Nov. 6 at 7 p.m.

8th grade Mavericks tie; 9th grade loses

The La Plata eighth grade football team tied Plainview Blue 6-6 Thursday in Plainview, and the La Plata ninth grade Mavericks lost by the margin of an extra point, 13-12.

La Plata's ninth grade team has a 1-4-1 season record and the eighth grade team is 2-2-1. The eighth grade team plays next Thursday against Amarillo Christian at 4:15 p.m. at Whiteface Stadium.

The La Plata ninth grade team does not play next week. La Plata's seventh grade "A" and "B" teams play Plainview Blue at 4 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday at La Plata field.

Plainview Blue held a 6-0 first quarter lead in the ninth grade contest Thursday. La Plata tied it up at 6-6 in the second quarter when Tate Smith rushed six yards for a touchdown.

The score remained tied until the third quarter, when La Plata moved into a 12-6 lead. Chuck Lemons scored with a five-yard run.

Plainview Blue scored in the fourth quarter, and added the extra point for its one-point win over La Plata, 13-12.

La Plata Coach Ed Coplen said, "Tate Smith, Chuck Lemons, and Chris Solomon played well on offense. Tate Smith had 117 yards rushing.

"On defense, Heath Dollar, Jared White, and Brandon Murdock played well."

In Thursday's eighth grade game, La Plata gained a 6-0 lead in the second quarter with a 40-yard touchdown run by Cody Page.

After Plainview Blue scored in the fourth quarter, the game remained tied to the end, 6-6.

Describing the game, La Plata Coach Tommy Bowling said, "We played very hard and dominated the game, but let it slip away in the last minute of the game."

"An outstanding game was turned in by Cody Page both on defense and offense, making several outstanding runs.

"Other offensive people turning in a good game were quarterback T.J. Head, running back Chris Tardy, and the offensive line of Trey Patterson, Patrick Newton, Mark Daniel, Ralph Martinez, Chris Matthews, and Trent Edelman," Bowling continues.

"Turning in a good game on defense was Bryan Bentley, Garrick McPherson, Oscar Garcia, Roy Cantu, and Zack Farr," Bowling adds.

Stanton suffers pair of losses to Gattis at Clovis

Stanton Junior High School suffered a pair of football defeats Thursday in Clovis, losing to Gattis 26-8 in the ninth grade game and falling to Gattis 12-6 in the eighth grade contest.

For the season, the Stanton ninth grade team has a 1-4-1 record, and the eighth grade team is 3-2.

Next Thursday, both teams play at home against Plainview Red. Game times are 4 p.m. for the ninth grade and 5:30 p.m. for the eighth grade.

Gattis held a 14-0 halftime lead in the ninth grade game Thursday, and a 20-8 lead after three quarters of play in defeating Stanton 26-8.

Carlos Ramirez returned a kickoff 91 yards for Stanton's touchdown. Mike Lopez rushed for the two-point conversion after Ramirez's touchdown.

Gattis' touchdowns included a 27-yard run in the first quarter and a run of 55 yards in a fake punt play.

In the eighth grade game, Jermaine Williams caught a 90-yard touchdown pass to give Stanton a 6-0 lead. Neither team scored in the second quarter.

In the second half, all the scoring was done by Gattis in the fourth quarter. One touchdown was scored in the first play of the final period, and the other was scored with five minutes left in the game.

Coach Paul Sample said of his eighth grade team, "Defensively, we played very well. Gattis hurt us twice with gadget plays. Shea Brannon played an outstanding game.

"Offensively, we were successful moving the ball, but were hampered with penalties and errors."

TEAM PLAY BIG
ATLANTA (AP) — Dominique Wilkins of the Atlanta Hawks may have won the 1985-86 NBA scoring championship but he claims it is no substitute for a team title.

"To me big scorers mean nothing if the team doesn't also win," he said. "When I first came into the league, I relied on my raw ability. I could out-jump most players and I was quicker. Now I'm more involved in the total game and I'm aware of everything that's going on in the game. That's the road to winning a championship."

Are instant replays needed in pro baseball playoffs?

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Pro football has it. Hockey is considering it. But so far, the baseball establishment has frowned upon the use of instant replay cameras to call disputed plays.

However, in light of two controversial plays in recent postseason games, it's a viable issue now during the World Series, former pitching star Jim Palmer said.

"I know it (the use of instant replays) would cause a lot of problems," said Palmer, now a television broadcaster, "but you would get the best call. It's a must for the playoffs and the World Series."

Palmer's comments come in light of the controversial call in last year's World Series involving umpire Don Denkinger and the controversial situation with umpire Fred Brocklander in the 1986 National League playoffs between the New York Mets and Houston Astros.

In the 1985 World Series between Kansas City and St. Louis, Denkinger called the Royals' Jorge Orta safe at first in the ninth inning of the sixth game. After watching the replay, many observers thought he was out and Denkinger later went on record as admitting his mistake. The Royals capitalized and went on to win the game and then, the Series.

This past Tuesday, Brocklander was involved in a controversial situation, in the fifth game of the National League playoffs. The play came in the Houston second inning with two Astros on base, one out and Craig Reynolds batting.

Reynolds hit into a questionable double play, a play in which he appeared to have beaten the throw to first base. The TV monitors later appeared to confirm it, but Brocklander refused to change his decision under a storm of Houston protests.

ENMU plays at Angelo State

Two teams that lost the Lone Star Conference opener last week will battle it out in San Angelo Saturday—Eastern New Mexico and Angelo State.

Game time is 6:30 p.m. Eastern New Mexico lost to Abilene Christian 34-10, and Angelo State lost to West Texas State 38-15.

Angelo State leads the all-time series against ENMU, 8-2-0. ENMU defeated Angelo State 26-24 last year. Eastern New Mexico is averaging 218.2 yards per game rushing and 219.5 yards per game passing. Rufus Smith leads the Greyhounds with 117 yards rushing per game, and Robert Griggs leads all ENMU receivers with 30 catches for 548 yards and two touchdowns this season.

For Angelo State, quarterback Ned Cox has completed 102 of 223 passes for 1,239 yards and 10 touchdowns. Wilbert Jefferson has caught 28 passes for 408 yards and four touchdowns, and Keith Majors has 24 catches for 142 yards and two touchdowns.

Cox has had eight passes intercepted this year. Majors is also Angelo State's leading ball carrier with 383 yards in 89 attempts, and two touchdowns.

ENMU Coach Don Carthal said about the loss to Abilene Christian, "It was a disappointment. I didn't do a good job of getting them ready to play. We didn't do a good job of picking up their blitzing linebackers."

Carthal, speaking of this week's game, stated, "Angelo State is an awfully good ballclub, but we'll match up with them real well. Pierce Holt, their defensive tackle, is a genuine pro prospect and one of the best pass rushers in the nation. We'll also have our hands full trying to stop their quarterback, Ned Cox."

It turned out to be a costly out, because a run would have scored and given the Astros a 2-1 victory in nine innings. As it was, they lost 2-1 in 12, then lost the playoffs to the Mets in a 16-inning thriller Wednesday.

"I don't know where he's coming from," Palmer said of Brocklander. "I can't believe that Brocklander would still say he made the right call after seeing those replays. It looked obvious he was safe."

"Denkinger had enough intestinal fortitude to admit he made a mistake last year."

While Palmer admitted the instant replay camera would dehumanize the game, he thinks too much is at stake not to use it in important games.

"If Brocklander had reversed his call (after watching the TV replay), the Astros presumably would have gone back to Houston with a 3-2 lead," Palmer said. "Some people might say that instant replays would hold up a game, but I don't think (Houston Manager) Hal Lanier would have minded if that game had been held up for five minutes to get the right call."

Palmer makes his challenge to baseball with no bitter feelings toward umpires, whom he believes do a good job most of the time.

"I'm not questioning their integrity," he said. "I'm questioning their eyesight. Sometimes, umpires are just out of position to make the right call. Last year, it affected the outcome of the World Series. This year, it cost the Astros. The events are just too important to leave solely to human judgment."

Joe Garagiola, another former ballplayer who now works in the broadcast booth, expressed a different viewpoint. Garagiola is among traditionalists who believe that flaws, such as human judgment and rhabarbs, are part of the game's charm.

"Obviously after (Tuesday's game at New York), some people might think it would be great to have instant replays in games," said Garagiola, one of the announcers in this year's World Series. "But I am against it. I still want to see umpires make calls. I would hate to see it come into baseball. You would lose the color, the tradition. I just don't have a good feeling about it."

"I think arguments are a part of baseball, and always will be. Even though some people might say the Astros lost that game because of that play in the second inning, I don't believe it. They had eight, or nine, other innings to win it."

"Umpires never lose games, players do."

Softball League Runnerups

Struggled to beat Astros in N.L. playoffs

New York Mets are not on a cruise

By HARRY ATKINS
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets were able to cruise through the regular season. The National League playoffs required a little more navigating.

After winning 108 regular-season games, the Mets struggled offensively to a six-game victory over the Houston Astros that placed them in World Series against the Boston Red Sox.

Game 1 will be Saturday night at Shea Stadium.

"We're in the World Series," right fielder Darryl Strawberry said. "You can't feel any better than that."

"We are where we're supposed to be," center fielder Len Dykstra said.

The Mets are in the World Series because of their pitching as Houston held the NL East champions to a .189 team batting average during the playoffs while striking out a record 57 times.

Johnson did see a ray of light in the Mets' paltry hitting, however.

"We showed the world that we can dog it out better than anybody," Johnson said. "Even when we're hitting under .200."

The Mets hit .263 during the regular season as they won the NL East by 2 1/2 games.

Boston, which rebounded from a 3-1 deficit to win the pennant, will start left-hander Bruce Hurst in Game 1, while the Mets probably will start right-hander Ron Darling.

Hurst being on the mound will mean Johnson will probably go with his right-handed hitting lineup, one that doesn't have center fielder Dykstra or second baseman Wally Backman in it.

Dykstra, the pesky leadoff hitter who hit .304 in the series, hit a two-run homer in the bottom of the ninth of Game 3 for a 6-5 victory and his triple in the ninth started the Mets' rally from a 3-0 deficit in their 7-6, 16th-inning victory that won the pennant.

"I know I can hit left-handers," Dykstra said. "All I need is a chance."

He could get that chance in the middle three games regardless of who starts for the Red Sox because the games in the AL home park will be played with a designated hitter, while the games at Shea will not.

It might be hard for the Mets to forget the long hard series they just played.

"I don't drink," left fielder Mookie Wilson said. "I hate champagne. But I did when we won in Houston."

"I don't think anything that happens in the World Series can match that."

"I was a little tired, but I'll be ready to go again by Saturday night," relief pitcher Jesse Orsoco, the winning pitcher in three of the games, said.

Darling, however, is ready if he does get the call for Game 1.

"A pitcher couldn't ask for more, to start the first game of the World Series in his home park," Darling, who grew up a Red Sox fan in Milbury, Mass., said. "I was hoping I wouldn't have to pitch (a seventh game) in Houston. "I was rooting for the Red Sox. This will be a homecoming for me. I hope I get to pitch in Fenway. Pitching a World Series game there, nothing would be better for me. "The Red Sox are a little like us, always coming back. You've got to hand it to them, coming back from a deficit like they did."

Ann Landers

What is a farmer?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you please print this essay in your space? It was the last column by Bud Lee, who retired Dec. 27, 1985, after 28 years as county director and farm adviser, University of California. - A GREAT ADMIRER OF HIS AND YOURS IN L.A.

DEAR GREAT: You bet. With pleasure. It's a honey.
WHO IS THAT EXECUTIVE IN OVERALLS?

What is a farmer?
Farmers are found in fields - plowing up, seeding down, rotating from, planting to, fertilizing with, spraying for and harvesting if.

Wives help them, little boys follow them, city relatives visit them, salesmen detain them, meals wait for them, wether can delay them, but nothing can stop them.

A farmer is a paradox. He is an overall executive with his office in his home. He is a scientist who uses fertilizer attachments, a purchasing agent in an old straw hat, a personnel director with grease under his fingernails, a dietician with a passion for fresh fruits and vegetables, a production expert faced with a surplus, and a manager battling a price-cost squeeze.

He manages more capital than most of the businessmen in town.

He likes sunshine, good food, county fairs, dinner at noon, auctions, his neighbors, his shirt collar unbuttoned and above all, an above-average annual rainfall.

He is not much for droughts, ditches, freeways weeds, the eight-hour day, dusty roads, development, insects, diseases, freezing weather or helping around the house.

Nobody else gets so much satisfaction out of modern plumbing, good weather, automatic furnaces, electric blankets and homemade ice cream. Nobody else has in his pockets at one time a three-bladed knife, a checkbook, a billfold, a pair of pliers and a combination memo book and general farm guide.

A farmer is both Faith and Fatalist. He must have faith to meet the challenges of his capacities amid the ever-present possibility that an act of God (a late spring, an early frost, flood, drought) can bring his business to a sudden halt. You can reduce his acreage but you can't diminish his optimism.

Might as well put up with him. He is your friend, your competitor, your customer, your source of food and fiber. He is your countryman—a denim-dressed, business-wise statesman of stature. And when he comes in at noon having spend the energy of his hopes and dreams, he can be recharged anew with the magic words—"The market's up!"

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A question of etiquette - if you please. Is it proper to put postage stamps on the return envelopes for wedding invitation replies? If my memory serves me, years ago (during the Depression) it was considered poor taste to do this. The implication was that the recipients would not or could not spend their own money on postage. Have times changed? Please let me know. Our daughter's wedding is coming up and we don't want to offend anyone.—MOTHER OF THE BRIDE IN GRAND RAPIDS

DEAR MOTHER IN G.R.: During the Depression who had money to send invitations? Today, a stamp on the return envelope is considered not only socially correct but an elegant touch.

By all means, do it.

Is alcoholism ruining your life? Know the danger signals and what to do. Read the booklet, "Alcoholism - Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 50 cents with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

POLLY'S POINTERS Iron over towel to reduce cling

By Polly Fisher

DEAR POLLY — My problem is a metallic-coated, heat-reflecting ironing board cover. Whenever I iron a garment of thin synthetic fabric (such as a blouse) on this surface, static electricity causes the fabric to stick to the board and creates wrinkles. I've tried, without success, spraying the board with an anti-static spray. Any suggestions? — PERPLEXED READER

DEAR READER — I once had a similar ironing board cover, so I'm familiar with the problem. I simply pinned a cotton dish towel over the board when ironing such items. I also like terry cloth as an ironing surface, so a terry towel will do the job as well. In fact, when I'm not in the mood to drag out the ironing board to do a quick touch-up, I just lay a bath towel on the kitchen table and iron on that! Quick and easy. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Some time ago, a reader wanted a cat but worried about a smelly litter box. For my cat, I get a cardboard box that is an inch or two wider and longer than my litter box and at least sixteen inches tall. The litter box goes inside the cardboard box and the cardboard box is closed up. I cut a hole in one end of the cardboard for the cat to go in and out. I don't have to look at unsightly litter, the smell is contained (although the litter still must be kept as clean as possible), and the litter doesn't fly everywhere when the cat scratches it.

Solar pond will save over $20,000 annually

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — The sun's rays were turned into electricity using a salt-water pond, possibly saving a factory thousands of dollars by producing enough power to serve 10 houses a year, scientists said.

The solar pond at the Bruce Foods Corp. last year also became the first in the country to provide industrial process heat, needed in the company's canning operation, said Robert Reid, project manager and chairman of the Mechanical and Industrial Engineering Department at the University of Texas-El Paso.

The pond will produce 100 kilowatts of electricity "or approximately enough energy to serve 10 households a year," Reid said at the startup ceremony Wednesday.

Energy from the solar pond will save Bruce Foods $20,000 in electric bills annually, he estimated.

"Solar ponds are a world technology," said Reid. "They are low-cost ... you dig a hole in the ground, put a (water) line in and throw some salt in."

The project started 3½ years ago as a joint effort by UTEP, the Bureau of Reclamation, an agency of the U.S. Department of the Interior; Bruce Foods and El Paso Electric Corp.

The .83-acre pond is 10 feet deep, has a capacity for two million gallons of water and needed 1,700 tons of salt. The salt was donated by the U.S.

Department of Energy's nuclear waste disposal site near Carlsbad, N.M., said Stan Hightower of the Advanced Energy Applications division of the Bureau of Reclamation.

Although Israel and Australia each have a solar pond power system, Hightower and Reid said this was the first time in the United States electric power was derived from a solar pond.

Plans are to use the pond in a desalination process next year, turning salty well water into drinking water, said Reid.

Electricity from a solar pond is generated when the sun heats salty water at the bottom of the pond. Because it is lighter than salt water, fresh water layers remain at the top, serving as insulation to prevent the heat from escaping back into the air.

The hot salty water is used to boil freon which produces a vapor that goes through a turbine, making it turn to produce electricity.

"The engine is like a refrigerator working backward," Reid said, explaining that whereas a refrigerator expels useless heat through its back, the solar pond engine uses the heat to turn the turbine.

Using the sun-heated water is an alternative to burning coal or other fuels to run a turbine and make electricity, Reid said. In areas of abundant sun, such as the Southwest, solar ponds are an attractive alternative.

The solar pond power system works on simpler technology than a photovoltaic plant, one using silicon cells to produce electricity from the sun. Installation of one of those systems began Wednesday in Austin. Israel's 60-acre solar pond at the Dead Sea has been operating since 1983 and produces 5,000 kilowatts, Reid said. Australia's solar pond generates only 25 kilowatts.

Pasadena trying to wipe away redneck image

PASADENA, Texas (AP) — The city council has agreed to spend $32,000 to clear this industrial city's image of being a wasteland populated by hostile rednecks through a cable television program and advertisements.

Pasadena's fame rests with Gilley's, a country-western nightclub, and "Urban Cowboy," a popular movie starring John Travolta and Debra Winger.

But the city has more to offer, said City Council member O.L. Harris. "We just haven't told our story often enough over a wide enough area," Harris said.

The council voted on Tuesday to spend $15,000 for the cable television program in which a group of experts will examine the Houston suburb's economic situation. City leaders also voted for $17,000 worth of advertisements in United and Southwest Spirit-TransStar airline magazines.

They said they allocated the money to lure tourists and potential businesses to their city of 120,000, where unemployment has risen as high as 14.2 percent in recent months.

"Houston's original prosperity came from the ship channel, Pasadena and Deer Park," said Bill Chamberlain, a retired Houston advertising executive who pioneered the concept of the television program.

"But Pasadena has been the laughingstock of the area because of a blue-collar, redneck mentality."

"The mayor and City Council are being courageous enough to accept the outside evaluation, which will allow them to address any problems that may be pointed out," he said.

Chamberlain said he developed the concept in Arizona during the late 1940s.

It was first used in Yuma, where it spurred the formation of an airline that later became Frontier as well as smaller businesses such as a motel and bowling alley.

The Pasadena program will cost as much as $100,000 but private businesses will pay most of it, officials said.

The airline magazine ads may be read by as many as seven million travelers, Harris predicted.

But acting Mayor Harry Riley said he is not optimistic about the advertising attracting new business.

"I hope I'm wrong and we get hundreds of people calling in," he said. "I'd like to shake hands with the first person that sees this and settles here."

The electric eel can give off enough power to light a small light bulb.
