Consumer prices up

WASHINGTON (AP) - Consumer prices, led by increases in food and new automobile costs, climbed 0.3 percent in November, the government reported today

The increase in the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index, equivalent to an annual rate of inflation of 3.3 percent, followed a 0.2 percent rise in October.

Economists generally predicted that inflation in 1987 would return to the 3.5 percent to 4 percent range that had prevailed before energy prices tumbled last winter.

Because of that decline, inflation at the consumer level for the past year has registered a meager 1.3 percent - the lowest 12-month inflation rate since the early 1960s in October, fell again in November, but more modestly, 0.6 percent: Heating oil prices declined 1.3 percent after a 1.4 percent fall the previous month.

Food prices were up 0.5 percent, after climbing 0.3 percent in October, with increases registered across a wide range of products.

Grocery store prices were also up 0.5 percent, following a 0.4 percent increase the month before. Restaurant meals showed an identical 0.5 percent hike after rising 0.2 percent in October. Fruits and vegetables were up 1.5 percent. Beef, poultry, fish and eggs rose 0.6 per-

For the first 11 months of 1986, the CPI has increased at an annual rate of 0.9 percent. Analysts expect it to be about 1:3 percent for the year once December figures are in.

That would make it the lowest rate of inflation since the 1.2 percent rise in 1964. By contrast, inflation for all

WASHINGTON (AP) - The elusive money trail from the Iran arms sales has Congress stymied over who authorized the funneling of funds to Nicaraguan rebels, what became of the money and even how much was involved.

After three weeks of intensive probing behind closed doors and in public, congressional investigators admit they are left with more questions than answers.

The Senate Intelligence Committee ended its preliminary investigation Thursday after 91 hours of testimony from 36 witnesses. The House Intelligence Committee planned to continue today with Attorney General Edwin Meese III.

Judicial officials said the naming of an independent counsel who could clear up some questions through a criminal investigation may come today, although FBI security checks may delay things.

Two members of the court that names the counsel said a number of willing candidates had been disqualified because of potential conflicts of interests since so many U.S. officials may be investigated in the broad probe

As the week wound down, many details about the case, which has spawned the most severe crisis of the Reagan presidency, remained shrouded in mystery.

Even the amount of the diversion is unclear. Congressional sources say Meese overestimated the sum when he told the nation on Nov. 25 it was as high as $30 million. The Washington Post reported today that one congressional source, who asked to be unidentified, said the figure may be $4 million or $10 million.

Meese, the Post said, based his original calculations on one hypothetical transaction and simply multiplied it by four, the number of arms shipments he believed had oc-

William J. Casey, the CIA director who was to have told Congress more details about the case, remained hospitalized after undergoing nearly 51/2 hours of surgery for a cancerous brain tumor. Doctors said he should be able to resume his duties, but one expert said his long-term prognosis was uncertain.

Despite the information gaps, which may be filled only by special House and Senate investigative committees next year, some of those involved in the probe said they were able to reach some conclusions.

terrorist policy and weakened foreign policy, particularly in the Middle East.

"I am convinced that the heart of the Iran initiative ... was (swapping) American arms for American hostages," Leahy, vice chairman of the Intelligence Committee, said in summing up the panel's work.

Sen. David Durenberger, R-Minn.,

the committee chairman, said it was clear that arms had been sold to Iran at a price which would produce a profit, that part of the profits went to investors and that part went into a Swiss bank account intended for the

"It was sort of a marriage of convenience between a country, the United States...and a group that was interested in making some money on the sale of arms. And that's the story of this whole thing," he said this morning on ABC's "Nightline."

But he said there remained no hard evidence the money actually went to the Nicaraguan rebels.

"All the money could be sitting in a Swiss bank account as far as we know," he said earlier.

Commission reccommends chairman

AUSTIN (AP) - The watchdog commission of state agencies has recommended that the Texas governor be allowed to appoint the chairman of the state Board of Corrections.

The Sunset Advisory Commission vote of 4-2 Thursday came in one of its recommendations of needed law changes for the state prison

Under current state law, the nine-member board picks its own

"The governor should be afforded the opportunity to select the chairman of his choice," said state Sen. Bob McFarland, R-Arlington.

"All this is going to do is complicate the machinery unless we do the same for all other state agencies," said state Rep. Jack Vowell, R-El Paso, who voted against the motion.

Also voting against the recommendation to the 1987 Legislature. was Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls.

'My concern is with the TDC (Texas Department of Corrections), which has one of the most difficult tasks in the state, becoming politicized," Farabee said. "And I attach this to no one person."

Any change in the chairman selection process would require legislative approval.

Current prison board Chairman Al Hughes of Austin, an appointee of Gov. Mark White, has said he plans to remain chairman after Gov.-elect Bill Clements takes office but may resign as chairman after the Legislature acts on TDC apppropriations.

The commission was to consider other TDC recommendations today.

The commission on Thursday sidestepped a proposed consolidation of state and community treatment centers for the mentally ill by calling for a survey to give the 1989 Legislature.

The Sunset Advisory approved the delay on a voice vote. "This is the best way to approach this issue," said McFarland.

The commission staff recommended earlier that the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation negotiate contracts with community treatment centers where there are now both state and local centers offering outpatient treatment of the mentally ill who have been in state institutions.

The commission has repeatedly delayed a decision on the staff recommendation because of protests, particularly from Amarille and Beaumont.

Voyager pilots endanger hearing

MOJAVE, Calif. (AP) - Voyager cruised toward the dangerous air over African mountains today in its non-stop trip around the world, and a flight official said the pilots risked a partial hearing loss because os an equipment problem.

The experimental plane surpassed the 12,532-mile record for straight-line flight without refueling Thursday.

And despite questions about how much fuel remained, project officials were hopeful Voyager would complete its 25,000-mile flight to become the first aircraft to circle the globe without topping its tank.

Today, Voyager was to cross over treacherous central-African mountain ranges with altitudes up to 13,000 feet, forcing it to climb to 16,000 feet to avoid turbulence.

"They will be over Africa during daylight hours, and there is a very high potential for thunderstorms," said meteorologist Rich Wagner. "The meteorologists are going to pop the cork on the champagne when we get past the west coast of Africa."

Voyager crossed Africa's east coast about 4 p.m. PST Thursday, passing over Mogadishu, Somalia, at 45 degrees east longitude. By 7:30 p.m. PST it had flown 13,694 miles and was cruising at 104 mph, said spokesman Lee Herron.

Earlier Thursday, Voyager passed 60 degrees east longitude in the Indian Ocean, the mid-point in its 24,950-mile journey that began Sunday at Edwards Air Force Base.

Pilot Dick Rutan, 48, and co-pilot Jeana Yeager, 34, are in danger of losing up to 30 percent of their hearing because an electronic device intended to shield them from engine noise has failed, their flight surgeon said.

International TASS reports Soviet riots

MOSCOW (AP) - Street violence blamed on "hooligans and parasites" broke out this week in Kazakhstan after the replacement of the republic's party chief by an ethnic Russian. Tass reports suggested the unrest was continuing.

The official news agency said the riots were Wednesday and Thursday in Alma Ata, capital of the Central Asian republic, that the city's responsible residents called for restoration of order - an indication the disturbances were not completely subdued.

The Tass report was believed to be the first disclosure by the staterun media of riots in the Soviet Union and it drew a direct connection between the violence and the party leader's removal.

Dinmukhamed Kunaev, 74, was retired Tuesday by the Kazakhstan party Central Committee. Kunaev, a member of the Kazhak ethnic group, a Moslem people, had led the republic's party for 22 years. He is expected to lose his seat on the ruling national Politburo at a plenum of the party's Central Committee beginning Tuesday in Moscow.

His replacement as party secretary for Kazakhstan is Gennady Kolbin, a 59-year-old Russian who held party jobs in the Volga basin and in Georgia, the southern republic where Josef Stalin was born.

The Tass report said: "A group of students, incited by nationalistic elements, last evening and today took to the streets of Alma Ata expressing disapproval of the decisions of the recent (Kazakhstan party) plenary meeting."

The number of rioters was not reported. "Nationalistic elements" usually refers to ethnic groups, with the suggestion they work against the broader interests of the Soviet state.

Bonner pardoned, Sakharov released

MOSCOW (AP) - Authorities today announced the end of nearly seven years of internal exile for Nobel Peace Prize laureate Andrei Sakharov, and said his wife Yelena Bonner's conviction of slandering the state is set aside.

Deputy Foreign Minister V.F Petrovosky said Sakharov had asked permission to return to Moscow from the city of Gorky, where he has been restricted since January 1980, and that he could resume an active life of scientific research.

He said Mrs. Bonner, ordered confined to Gorky since 1984, was granted clemency. Gorky is an industrial city 250 miles east of Moscow that is officially closed to foreigners.

"Both Academician Sakharov and Mrs. Bonner can return to Moscow," Petrovsky told a news conference. "And Academician Sakharov can actively join the scientific life of the Academy of Sciences." Academician is a title of prestige for members of the academy Sahkarov, 65, a physicist who helped develop his country's hydrogen bomb, has been one of the Soviet Union's leading dissidents. He was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1975 for his work in behalf of human rights and disarmament. Authorities did not allow him to go to Oslo to receive it, and his wife accepted it on his behalf.

News Roundup Money available to qualified farmers

One million dollars is now available from the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 for loan to qualified farmers who wish to improve the eficiency of their irrigation application and distribution systems. The High

Plains Water District recently received its second $1 million loan from the Texas Water Development Board to continue the pilot Agricultural Water Conservation Loan Program within its service

The District has 120 days from Dec. 5 to loan the money to producers. After 120 days, unallocated funds, if any, must be returned to the Texas Water Development Board. Agricultural Loan Program Coordinator Becca Williams says, "Applications are being processed on a first-come, first-served basis. We encourage people to take advantage of this program now, because the pilot program will end in September of District Manager A. Wayne Wyatt notes, "At this time of year, between harvest and planting, many landowners and operators may be considering making changes in their farming operations that involve upgrading their irrigation equipment. Many of these changes will involve the purchase of new equipment designed to conserve irrigation water. We invite producers who are considring the purchase of water conservation equipment to check into the District's loan program."

Funds from the District's first loan from the Texas Water Development Board were avaiable from May 30 to Sept. 30. With these funds the District approved loans for more than $445,000 to 21 farmers who purchased more than $620,000 worth of; agricultural water consrevation equipment, including center pivot sprinkler systems and surge valves.

Thus far, three loans totalling $76,326 have been approved out of the second $1 million just received by the District. These loans, two of which are from Hockley County and the other from Parmer County, will be used to help purchase two center pivot sprinkler systems. The District charges its individual borrowers the same interest rate the District pays the Texas Water Development Board. The current interest rate is 6.75 percent.

Any farmer with land lying within the District' service area is eligible to apply for a loan from the District. Under the provisions of the District's loan program, eligible equipment includes center pivot sprinkler systems, surge systems, furrow dikers, soil moisture monitoring equipment, computer software used in irrigation scheduling and laser land leveling equipment.

The District operates the loan program under provisions of the pilot Agricultural Water Conservation Loan Program set up by House Bill 2, which was approved by Texas voters in November 1985. The District's loan program operates on a selfsupporting basis. A one-time service fee of 2.5 percent of the loan amount covers administrative expenses.

For more information about the ag loan program or to receive a copy of the District's guidelines or a loan application form, contact Becca Williams at the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, 2930 Avenue Q. Lubbock, Tx. 79405, 806-762-0181.

DPS estimates 41 deaths will occur during holiday season

AUSTIN - The Department of Public Safety is estimating that 41 traffic deaths will mar this year's peak holiday travel periods in Texas.

"Christmas and New Year's should be two of the best times of the year for everyone, but each holiday season, many traffic deaths that could have been prevented occur on our roads and highways," said DPS in reminding Texans of the grim possibilities is not to sound a discouraging note as people prepare their travel plans, but to encourage driving safety by showing what could happen. I hope our estimate proves to be too high."

During the 54-hour Christmas holiday period, an estimated 23 persons may die in traffic accidents in the state, Adams said.

The estimate for the New Year's period, which also is 54 hours, is 18 traffic deaths.

In 1985, because of the day of the week on which Christmas fell, the prime travel period was 30 hours long. During that time, 15 persons were killed in traffic mishaps. Two other persons later died of injuries suffered during the period, bringing the final 1985 Christmas death toll to Study shows half of those killed on Texas highways were drunk

A recently completed study of drivers killed in accidents in 10 Texas counties shows some startling facts: More than half of them were drunk when they died. More than 60 percent had some measurable alcohol in their systems. And, based upon the limited data, despite the recent emphasis on the drunk-driving problem, there have been no significant reductions in such alcoholrelated deaths in Texas. The study, conducted for the highway department by the Texas Transportation Institute (TTI) at Texas A&M University, analyzed blood concentration from a sample of fatally injured drivers in the 10 counties from 1983 through 1985. The study was conducted in the counties of Bexar, Dallas, El Paso. Galveston, Harris, Johnson, Nueces, Tarrant, Travis, and Wichita.

Among the 60 percent who had consumed alcohol, the average blood alcohol concentration was nearly twice the legal limit of .10 percent.

The study also found that the level of intoxication among the DWI drivers did not vary significantly by either age or sex of the victim, or the time of day in which the accident occurred.

The study compared the blood alcohol concentration test results to police officers' reporting of alcohol involvement on accident reports. In one-to-one comparison of the two cluded that there is a need for more Texas. This, in spite of the recent indata sources, only 31 percent of the accident reports for legally intoxicated drivers had alcohol cited as a contributing factor to the accident. By Maj. Amos B. Hoople Fearless Forecaster

Egad, friends! The college football bowl season is getting underway, with eight of the Hoople Top 20 teams seeing action in various early games.

And - ahem - during the regular season, your Hoople Forecast has a very admirable record of 448-183-12,

Here's how we see the early bowl

INDEPENDENCE BOWL: Texas Tech (7-4) vs. Mississippi (7-3-1). Shreeveport, La; USA-TV, Saturday, Dec. 20, 8 p.m. EST.

The Texas Tech Red Raiders stunned No. 9 Arkansas in midseason and followed with a two-point win over Texas. Ole Miss finished in a second-place tie in the tough SEC. The Rebels handed LSU one of its two losses this fall. Give this one to Missis-

HALL OF FAME BOWL: Georgia (8-3) vs. Boston College (8-3). Tampa, Fla.; Mizlou-TV Tuesday, Dec. 23, 8

For the Georgia Bulldogs, No. 20 in the Hoople ratings, this will be their 18th bowl game in 23 years under coach Vince Dooley. In his six years at B.C., Jack Bicknell has taken the Eagles to three bowls; and he did a masterful job this year, winning the Eagles' last seven contests. In a very, very close encounter of evenly matched teams, we give it to Georgia,

SUN BOWL: Washington (8-2-1) vs. Alabama (9-3). El Paso, Texas; CBS-TV, Thursday, Dec. 25, 2:30 p.m. EST. Possibly the best game of the early bowls. Alabama, Hoople's No. 11, finished in a tie for second in the SEC; and Washington, No. 15, did the same in the Pac-10. Both teams are strong at QB: Chris Chandler of the Huskies has completed 20 TD passes; and Alabama has cagey Mike Shula, who knows how to win. The Crimson Tide RBs, Bobby Humphrey and Gene Jelks, should carry Alabama to a 31-28 victory

GATOR BOWL: Stanford (8-3) vs. Clemson (7-2-2). Jacksonville, Fla.; CBS-TV, Saturday, Dec. 27, 12:30 p.m. EST.

One of two matchups of the Pac-10 and the ACC. Clemson, No. 16, won the Atlantic Coast crown (5-1). Jack Elway's Stanford Cardinals, No. 13, finished with a big win over Arizona in the Japan Bowl. Stanford rates the Hoople nod to defeat Clemson, 31-27.

ALOHA BOWL: Arizona (8-3) vs. North Carolina (7-3-1). Honolulu; ABC-TV, Saturday. Dec. 27, 4 p.m.

The second Pac 10-ACC clash. The Arizona Wildcats, No. 17, handed the ac-10 champ Arizona State Sun Dev ils their lone defeat of the year, 34-14. Dick Crum's Tar Heels played consistent football all season. In another tight one, the Hoople System is calling it, 33-28, in Arizona's favor.

LIBERTY BOWL: Minnesota (6-5) vs. Tennessee (6-5). Memphis, Tenn.; Rayco-TV, Monday, Dec. 29, 8 p.m.

Two teams that have been up and down all fall get a chance to close on a winning note. Minnesota's Gophers shocked the Big Ten and collegiate football when they hung a 20-17 upset on the loop champ Michigan. Tennessee, the upset victors over Miami in last year's Sugar Bowl, got off to terrible start in '86. The Vols lost five of their first seven game. But they finished on roll, taking four straight. QB Jeff Francis has Tennessee on even keel - and momentum should carry the Vols to a narrow, 25-22, win.

FREEDOM BOWL: UCLA (7-3-1) vs. Brigham Young (8-4-). Anaheim. Calif.; Mizlou-TV, Tuesday, Dec. 30, 8

This is the sixth straight New Year's bowl trip for Terry Donahue and his No. 18 UCLA Bruins. They won the Rose in '83, '84 and '86, and the Fiesta in '85. The Bruins got off to a rocky start this fall, being blasted in their opener, 38-3, by then-No. 1 Oklahoma. Since midseason, UCLA is 5-1-1. The BYU Cougars are no strangers to bowls, this makes their ninth straight. Coach LaVell Edwards' team lost four games this fall, which is as many as they lost in all of '83, '84 and '85. UCLA's experience and depth will assure the Bruins a 35-17

HOLIDAY BOWL: Iowa (8-3) vs. San Diego State (8-3). San Diego, Calif.; Lorimar-TV, Tuesday, Dec. 30, 9 p.m. EST.

Playing at home, San Diego State, the WAC champ, should get a big assist from the friendly fans. And the Aztecs are going to need all the help they can get! The Iowa Hawkeyes, tied at No. 20, are very explosive, averaging 32 points per game, 11th best in the country. On defense, Iowa has surrendered 176 points in 11 games; SDS has given up 240 in the same number of games. We see a Hawkeye triumph, 35-24.

Watch for my forecast on the big bowl games — it's coming next.

Kicking game is key in Independence Bowl

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Football Writer

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) Mississippi's Bill Smith hasn't had many embarrassing moments, as attested by four NCAA punting records and averages of 41.3, 47.7, 45.3 and 44.2 yards a kick.

But earlier this season the Rebels were on Arkansas State's 20-yard line and, Smith recalls, "I thought we could probably kick a field goal if we didn't score (a touchdown)."

Since Smith is Ole Miss' backup placekicker but the No. 1 kickoff man, "I had the kickoff shoe on. All of a sudden we got sacked for like a 25-yard loss and it's time to punt and I'm here with the wrong shoe on.

Smith can grin at that forgettable event because there haven't been many of them. When he plays his final game in Saturday night's Independence Bowl against Texas Tech he will own NCAA records for most punts of 50 yards or more (88), most consecutive games with a punt of 50 yards or more (32), most games averaging 40 yards or more with a minimum of four punts (36) and best career average with a minimum of 250 punts (44.3 on 254 kicks).

"The worst mistake for picking All-American, or all-whatever, is that most people just look at the average and say, 'This guy's got the highest average so he's probably the best punter," Smith said.

"That's not true. You've got to take things like hang time into consideration, how many pooch punts did he hit. How he helps his team is the best thing a punter can do."

"We had one touchback on a pooch punt this year. Everything else was inside the 20."

Smith will have to be extra special Saturday night because Tyrone Thurman, Texas Tech's tiny 5-foot-3 terror, led the Southwest Conference in punt returns the last two years.

"Smith's gonna try and kick 'em far enough where that little dude can't run 'em back," Coach Billy Brewer said.

Naw, says Smith. Higher, not farther.

"I'll try to kick the ball a little higher than normal. This guy, any time he touches the ball he can go all the way. The higher I kick it the more time our guys'll have to get down the field and keep him contain-

At 6-foot-3 and 222 pounds, Smith is big enough to have played tight end and defensive end in high school.

"I got recruited by a lot of schools as a defensive end," he said. "In fact, I almost went to Arkansas (he's from Little Rock) as a defensive end.

"But my high school coach said I had the ability to go somewhere kicking the football more than I did playing defensive end or tight end. It's certainly a lot safer on your body."

The pros are looking at Smith as a regular punter and kickoff man and backup placekicker. Smith has tried kicking from placement without a tee the way the pros do.

Seattle center Lister gets 16 rebounds

Rockets fall to SuperSonics, 114-100

By The Associated Press

The Houston Rockets' twin towers, Ralph Sampson and Akeem Olajuwon, have cast long shadows in the NBA since they teamed up in 1982, but this time they found themselves playing in the shadow of Seattle SuperSonic center Alton Lister.

'Alton was the best center on the floor tonight. I don't think we could have won if he hadn't played so well," Sonic Tom Chambers said after Seattle defeated the Rockets 114-100 Thursday night.

On Dec. 6, Seattle also beat Houston, 136-80. The 56-point margin was the biggest a visiting team has ever won by in NBA history.

Elsewhere, it was Milwaukee 104, Atlanta 95; Chicago 97, Indiana 88; New Jersey 94, New York 93; Los Angeles Lakers 131, Portland 115; Washington 128, Golden State 110; and Sacramento 117, Los Angeles Clippers 113.

Lister controlled the boards with a game-high 16 rebounds, more than the combined total of 12 for Sampson and Olajuwon, and helped the Sonics ed to get much playing time.

Buckwalter said a possible trade to an early first period lead when he scored 11 of his 18 points.

"Alton was the one responsible for us getting off to a good start," said Dale Ellis, who scored a game-high 33 points, including 12 in the fourth quarter to help hold off a late Rockets rally.

"I wanted to concentrate on the boards," said Lister, who also added three blocked shots, all in the first quarter, and a season-high six assists. "I was pumped playing against the 'towers."

Olajuwon, playing his third game since spraining his ankle on Nov. 25, was ejected for fighting with Sonic reserve center Clemon Johnson with 11:37 remaining in the fourth quarter.

Johnson was ejected too, for precipitating the fight by swinging at Olajuwon after he had established position on offense. Olajuwon hit Johnson in the nose with an elbow. Neither player landed any punches in the ensuing melee. Olajuwon left with 11 points and 8 rebounds.

Ellis subsequently earned three points to give Seattle its biggest lead of the game at 94-77. Then the Rockets, led by Lewis Lloyd, ran off an 11-0 streak and held the Sonics scoreless for nearly five minutes.

Lloyd, who scored 22 for the game, contributed six points in the surge and the Rockets closed the gap to 99-94 when Buck Johnson hit a 14-foot jumper with 5:04 remaining.

But the Rockets never got any closer.

"I thought we had a shot at winning the game at the three-minute mark," Rockets Coach Bill Fitch said. "But every time Seattle had to make a shot, they did."

Chambers contributed 26 points for the Sonics and Xavier McDaniel added 21. The Sonic starters all scored in double figures, but Seattle got only four points, all by Kevin Williams, from their reserves.

The Duluth, Minn., Eskimos, then in the National Football League, played the entire 1926 season with only 13 men.

For the Rockets, Sampson added 18 points and Rodney McCray chipped in 17.

Bucks 104, Hawks 95 While steady Jack Sikma hasn't been called sensational or devastating very often in his 10-year NBA career, Milwaukee Coach Don Nelson couldn't find any better words to describe the 6-foot-11 center's play this season. "Jack Sikma has been sensational all year," Nelson said after Simka scored 11 of his 18 points in the final period Thursday night to lead the Bucks to a 104-95 victory over the Atlanta Hawks:

"Now that he's shooting, passing, rebounding, doing all the things that a good center should do, he can be devastating for us," Nelson said.

And Sikma, who had eight rebounds, got plenty of help from Terry Cummings, who also had eight boards and 32 points. But it was Sikma who broke a 95-95 tie with 1:20 left when he scored on a layup and made a free throw to put Milwaukee ahead for good.

Atlanta got 22 points from Glenn Rivers. Randy Wittman added 18 and Dominique Wilkins 17.

Bulls 97, Pacers 88

For the 10th time in 11 games, Michael Jordan broke the 40-point barrier, scoring 14 of his 41 points as Chicago came from behind in the fourth quarter.

Making nine of 15 shots from the field and all 16 of their free throws in the fourth quarter, the Bulls outscored Indiana 34-18. The Pacers, who led most of the night, finished with their lowest point total of the season, hitting on only 8 of 22 from the field in the last period.

Lakers 131, Trail Blazers 115 Getting 27 points from Byron Scott and 26 from A.C. Green, Los Angeles beat Portland for the 10th straight time at the Forum.

The Lakers took command in the third quarter. After trailing 60-59, Los Angeles reeled off 10 consecutive points.

Bullets 128, Warriors 110

Moses Malone scored 37 points and Terry Catledge added a season-high 29 for Washington, which took control by outscoring Golden State 13-5 early in the second period. The Warriors made just 5 of 21 from the floor in the quarter and were never a factor thereafter.

"He has to be the ninth wonder of the world," Golden State Coach George Karl said of Malone. "Wilt (Chamberlain) is the eighth. The way Moses can play every minute of every game and not foul out is impressive.

Nets 94, Knicks 93

Leon Wood's 18-foot jump short with six seconds gave New Jersey only its second road victory in 14 games this season and extended New York's losing streak to seven games.

New Jersey, 5-19, got a career-high 29 points from Tony Brown.

Kings 117, Clippers 113

Reggie Theus scored 26 points and Derek Smith added 20 as visiting Sacramento broke a four-game losing streak

The defeat was the Clippers' fourth straight, their 16th in the last 17 games, and their 4-19 record is the worst in the NBA.

Mike Woodson paced the Clippers with 28 points.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

"Staying Ready" is the title of the Reverend Bruce Kochsmeier's sermon for the regular 10:30 a.m. Sunday worship service. The scripture lesson is Matthew 1:18-25.

A candlelight service will be held Sunday at 7:30 p.m. This special service of music and scripture will be presented by the chancel choir.

The youth groups will not meet at 138 Liveoak Sunday evening but will attend the candlelight service. Please let Perry or Betzy know if you need a ride

The Scripture for Lunch Bunch will not meet on Christmas Eve.

Children's CHoir wil not meet again until Jan. 8, 1986.

Christmas Eve service will be at 7 p.m. Wednesday. This warm tradition of welcoming the celebration of our Saviour's birth will be a family service of lessons and carols. Please join us.

Mission Yearbook-We have a church for every 400 people in Hereford. There are plenty of places where the Gospel can be heard. But in Nagoya, Japan, where consumerism has become a god of sorts, there is a shortage of places where people can go to worship Jesus Christ. The Meiko Chapel is one such place that serves as the only Christian place of worship in a neighborhood of 70,000. In this setting the ministry of the chapel has called people out of their ordinary lives to hear and respond to the message of Jesus Christ as the Bread of Life. Please pray TODAY that the Holy Spirit will help them find it. The Rev. Frank Sapp and his wife Mary Kay minister in this setting.

ST. THOMAS EPISCOPAL CHURCH

St. Thomas Episcopal Church will celebrate the Nativity of our Lord on Christmas Eve, beginning at 10:30 p.m. with congregational carol singing and special music by Dr. Duffy McBrayer, Mrs. Rose Ann Smith, Mrs. Katie Claypool, and Ms. Linda Gilbert. The Christ Mass will begin at 11 p.m. with Fr. Charles Threewit singing the Mass. Visitors are most welcome. The Episcopal Church offers communion to anyone who has been baptized and who is a communicant of their own church. A nursery will be available, although children are most welcome in the liturgy. Many life-long Episcopalians have as their fondest memories being bundled up and taken to the Christ Mass and then coming home with the realization that Christmas has arrived.

The greening of the church will take place Tuesday evening, December 23, following the celebration of the Holy Communion at 7 p.m. The children will decorat their tree in the parish hall. Following the decorating, there will be a wassail bowl for adults and hot chocolate for the children.

The Christmas Pageant will replace the Service of the Word on the First Sunday of Chritmas, Dec. 28. The pageant will begin at 11 a.m.

The cantata is one of a series of Advent services in First UMC. Holy Communion will be observed on Christmas Eve, when members of Wesley and San Pablo United Methodist churches will participate in the candlelight program at 7 p.m.

Last Sunday evening, an hour of carols was presented by all the children's choirs and the Jubilate Ringers a ladies handbell choir. Youth of the church supplied Bible readings and a Nativity scene.

An annual service, the Hanging of the Greens, was held to start the pre-Christmas observances. Congregational singing of favorite Christmas hymns was the feature of this evening; Corky Lockmiller was the narrator as symbolic decorations of the season were put in place.

Getting Ready

YMCA board member, Poppy Head, gives new board member Steve Nieman some cooking pointers in preparation for a casserole sale to be held Saturday at Sugarland Mall. Board members will sell casseroles and baked goods from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in conjunction with a garage sale occurring at the YMCA facility from 7:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. All proceeds from the project will benefit the YMCA.

DR. GOTT

Cough and hernia seem unrelated

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Upper-G.I. X-rays show that I have a small hiatal hernia. I take Tagamet and have raised the head of my bed. However, I still have a cough that is alway present. My doctor is not certain if it is related to the hernia. What do you think?

DEAR READER — Coughing is not usually related to a small hiatal hernia — a weakness in the diaphragm muscles that allows gastric juice to flow back into the esophagus and cause indigestion.

You should ask your doctor to investigate the reason for your cough. However, the hernia is probably a separate issue.

To give you more information, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health report on HIATAL HERNIA. Others who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Every time I wear imported shoes constructed from manmade materials, my feet get numb and tingly. My doctor said I was allergic to some material that leaches out of the shoe as my foot gets warm. How can I determine what's causing the problem? DEAR READER — The substances most likely to cause your symptoms are the hydrocarbons in the plastic or the coloring agents in the material of the shoe. When your feet heat up during the day, they perspire; the moisture can cause trace amounts of the substances to dissolve and produce the skin irritation. ((IN ADDITION,)) Some experts believe that manmade shoe materials do not "breathe" as well as leather and other natural materials; therefore, feet get warmer and reactions are more likely to take place. Also, feet naturally get larger as the day goes on; natural materials stretch along with the feet, but manmades have less give - and this can cause numbness and tingling. The answer to the problem is to purchase shoes made of non-synthetics.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I wake up every morning hurting across the kidney area, and when I take a deep breath, it hurts worse. The pain goes away after I get out of bed and move around. I've never known anyone with this symptom, so I'm hesitant to see a doctor.

DEAR READER — Morning low-back pain is a common symptom of arthritis or muscle stiffness. The back pain of arthritis usually does not improve with exercise, so I suspect that your symptoms are due to muscle tension and spasm. Changing to a firmer mattress might help. If it doesn't, check with your doctor for a precise diagnosis.

DEAR DR. GOTT — A couple of weeks ago I had a thymoma tumor removed from the lung area. It was not attached and was noncancerous. What causes these tumors and how can they be prevented?

DEAR READER — Thymoma is a benign tumor of the thymus gland, an organ that is the central gland of the lymphatic system. Thymomas are significant because they can contribute to the neuromuscular weakness called myasthenia gravis, they also may be linked to some non-AIDS immune-deficiency disorders. No one is certain how and why this tumor appears, therefore, there's no known way in which to avoid it.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I've been taking Dyazide for 10 years, as well as calcium and magnesium. Recently I read that you're not supposed to take calcium with diuretics, so I asked my doctor about it. He said I should have asked him about this years ago, and

I told him I thought I needed the calcium (I'm 54 and female). He said it was a gimmick by the calcium lobby, and that neither he, his wife or his mother take it. What do you think? DEAR READER - The final word on calcium supplements is not in yet. However, this much is known: Women (and probably men) lose excessive amounts of calcium from their bones starting in middle age. This loss can weaken bones and lead to fractures, height loss and pain. The calcium loss accelerates after menopause. In women, this loss can be counteracted by hormone replacement. However, not all postmenopausal women are candidates for bormone pills; they may not choose to take supplements, or there may be sound medical rea-sons why they should not.

Although less effective than hormone pills, exercise and added dietary calcium (with or without fluoride) can help most women to reduce calcium loss. In my opinion, calcium pills are a harmless way to help counteract calcium excretion. Low doses of a thiazide diuretic, as is contained in Dyazide, actually enhance the flow of calcium into bones.

Therefore, I don't agree with your doctor. I think that calcium pills and Dyazide go well together, unless the patient has history of kidney stones; then the two compounds must be used with caution. In your case, the use of supplemental dietary calcium seems to be a good idea.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have a very dry scalp despite all the different shampoos I've tried. What can you suggest?

DEAR READER — Dry scalp can be caused by shampooing too often or it can indicate a skin condition, such as psoriasis or seborrhea.

Unique classified ads capture attention classified ads capture the interest of potential buyers by hitting their "hot button", that image or feeling that comes closest to what they are looking for in a home or neighborhood, writes Connie Farmer, publisher of AD-PRovider, a monthly newsletter about real estate classified ads, in Topeka, Kan.

Farmer's secrets for classified ad success are included in the article, "Teamwork: The Secret of Catchy Classifieds" in the November/December issue of Real Estate Today, the official publication of the National Association of Realtors.

Farmer counsels homesellers that "to attract buyers, your classified ads. like other ads selling products, should be written in terms of specific benefits a buyer wants. Just as ads for cookies manage to convey mouthwatering aromas so vividly that you are ready for the first delicious crunch," she writes, "so should a residential classified stimulate desire for a specific kind of home and the lifestyle that goes with it."

According to the Newspaper Advertising Bureau, more than 24 million adults see a classified real estate ad each day. A 1984 study by the Bureau of those in the process of buying or selling a home found that twothirds of the buyers continued to check the classified section of the newspaper even after contacting a real estate salesperson. The study also discovered that two-thirds of the sellers still read the classifieds after listing their homes for sale and that some buyers and sellers read the classified section after they had completed their transac-

"Product selling is the primary function of real estate advertising," according to Farmer. "The best way to get to know the product-and acquire advertising savvy-is to get sellers and buyers involved with salespeople in the advertising process, all functioning as a Farmer encourages real estate salespeople to use this teamwork approach to draw on the buyer's "inside" knowledge of his home. Homesellers should be queried on what initially attracted them to a particular property, what they enjoy most about the home and the neighborhood and what pro-

> "Buyers crave specifics," Farmer writes. "Unsupported adjectives can be misleading and worthless to your ads. For instance, merely stating that a home possesses a 'gourmet' kitchen doesn't mean much unless you can back up that statement with facts. An ad featuring the details that make the kitchen distinctive is a more convincing sales tool." Detailed firsthand knowledge of the property is critical to success in writing classified ads Farmer recommends that sellers guide their sales agents on a tour through the home. Its features may spark an innovative classified headline

Whether it's a country cottage, urban brownstone. suburban ranch, or midtown Victorian," Farmer writes, "think of the house you are selling as a product competing in the market with other products of its kind."

Valuable collection given to state

AUSTIN (AP) - A "priceless" book containing over 500 original signatures of Sam Houston has been presented to the Sam Houston Center at Liberty.

Former Gov. Price Daniel, a member of the state library commission, said Thursday, 'This is the largest single volume of Sam Houston signatures in existence. In my opinion, it is the most historic collection that has surfaced during the Sesquicentennial year. It is priceless."

Daniel said the book of signatures, which has been in the Houston family for 145 years, has been appraised at a minimum of $50,000, but added, "I dare say it would bring $1 million if offered to collectors of Texana.

The 571-page book of signed letters, legislative messages and other documents was given to the state by Houston's greatgranddaughter, Charlotte Williams Darby, of Houston, in memory of her father, the late Franklin Williams

Williams, was Houston's grandson and inherited the book from his mother

The documents in the book cover the period from Dec. 13, 1841, to Dec. 9, 1844, when Houston was serving his second term as president of the Republic of Texas.

Houston also was governor of the state of Texas and U.S.

Robert Schaadt, directorarchivist of the Sam Houston Center, said, "This valuable, priceless volume will shed new light on the history of the Republic.'

When a comparison made between this volum and the 'Writings of San Houston' published in 1940 only about one-fourth of the documents have been published and very few of the legislative messages seem to be available elsewhere

The Newspaper BIBLE

DON'T DO IT!

The next morning some 40 or more of the jews got together and bound themselves by a curse neither to eat nor drink until they had killed Paul! Then they went to the chief priests and elders and told them what they had done. 'Ask the commander to bring Paul back to the Council again," they requested "Pretend you want to ask a few more questions. We will kill him on the war."
But Paul's mephew got wind of their plan and came to the armory and told Paul. Paul called one of the officers and said. "Take this box to the commander. He has something important to tell him." So the officer did. explaining, "Paul, the prisoner, called me over and asked me to bring this young man to you to tell you something.

The commander took the boy by the hand. and leading him aside asked. "What is it you want to tell me, lad?" "Tomorrow," he told him, "the Jews are going to ask you to bring Paul before the Council again, pretending they want to get some more information. But don't do it! There are more than 40 men hiding along the road ready to jump him and kill him. They have bound themselves under a curse to neither eat nor drink till he is dead. They are out there now, expecting you to agree to their request." Don't let a soul know you told me this," the commander warned the boy as he left. (Acts 23:12-22)
