Shultz says Soviets supporting subversive movement

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala (AP) — Secretary of State George Shultz said today the Soviet Union and Cuba have been sending weaponry to subversive movements in South America and the Caribbean in addition to Central America.

In a speech prepared for delivery to a meeting of Organization of American States foreign ministers, Shultz called attention to the recent discovery of arms caches in Chile which authorities there claimed were intended for leftist rebels.

Some of those arms, Shultz said, were American weapons left behind in Vietnam and were "similar to ones the Soviets and the Cubans have recently shipped to subversives in Colombia, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Jamaica and other countries in the region."

The Reagan administration has long complained of Soviet arms shipments to Central American, but has not focused on Communist bloc deliveries elsewhere in the hemisphere.

Shultz said the recent assassination attempt against Chilean President Augusto Pinochet indicates a Soviet-Cuban attempt to head off the possibility of a democratic outcome in Chile.

He said the United States has made "absolutely clear" to Chilean authorities its strong support for a "prompt and successful return to democratic government."

Shultz' speech was the highlight of a planned 20-hour stay in Guatemala, where extraordinary security measures were in effect for the OAS meeting.

He was to deliver the speech after a morning meeting with Guatemalan President Vinicio Cerezo and a closed-door meeting with his 30 OAS colleagues.

Nicaraguan Deputy Foreign Minister Victor Hugo Tinoco was expected to be at that session.

En route here Monday night, Shultz said support in the hemisphere for American aid to the Nicaraguan rebels is far stronger than is generally believed.

He said Latin American leaders had indicated "they would be basically scared to death" if the United States were to withdraw its support for the rebels. The United States resumed military aid to the Contras last month after a 2½-year suspension.

By commissioners

Election, vehicle business tended

Deaf Smith County Commissioners canvassed election from the recent general election and approved election expenses of $6784.81 during a regular meeting of the commissioners court held Monday in the Deaf Smith County Courthouse.

The election expenses came from paying the judges and workers, printing ballots and various other items.

Commissioners also decided to advertise for bids for three new Sheriff's Department vehicles and a new radio system for that department.

Commissioners also voted to allow Sheriff Joe Brown to advertise for applicants to fill a recently vacated deputy's position.

In other business the commission: -Elected to pay all the bills and approved the minutes from the previous meeting.

-Voted to eliminate the position of County Veteran's Service Officer.

-Approved minor changes to bonds that will benefit the local Swift Independent Packing Plant as requested by the Deaf Smith County Industrial Development board.

-Heard a presentation from Roger Wilcox of Whiteface Ford concerning the county leasing vehicles and heavy equipment.

-Granted permission to District Attorney Roland Saul to hire a new assistant district attorney to replace Dino Barela, who is moving to Dallas to work for a private law firm.

-Designated $20,960 which came from bank franchise tax money to be used in the sheriff's department and in the road and bridge department.

-Appointed the county judge to act as a hearing officer for appeals for the social service office.

-Granted permission to Colleen Duffy to hire part-time help in the County Juvenile Probation Office.

-Granted permission to Joe Bookman to cross a county road in Precinct 3 with a water line.

-Approved a request by the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce to place Christmas lights on the courthouse on the first Monday in December.

-Tabled a motion to consider an election to call for a county sales tax.

-And, granted permission to County Clerk David Ruland to attend a vital statistics seminar on Dec. 1 in Austin.

Cold air hits, more predicted

By The Associated Press

Cold Canadian air spilled southward across Texas today in the wake of a fast-moving cold front that roared across the state.

Temperatures were in the teens over the Panhandle and in the 20s across the South Plains and Low Plains of West Texas at dawn today. Wind chill indexes across portions of West Texas ranged between zero and six degrees at dawn.

Light rain was reported across Central Texas, South Central Texas and the Rio Grande plains. Isolated showers and light rain dotted most of East Texas and Southeast Texas. Heavy thunderstorms were reported offshore from the upper Texas coast in the Gulf of Mexico.

Patchy fog was reported over the Coastal Bend and in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Skies were clear over the High Plains of West Texas and partly cloudy to cloudy elsewhere.

Forecasts called for a freeze warning for parts of North Texas and in the Permian Basin and Concho Valley tonight.

Forecasts called for mostly clear skies over the Panhandle with partly cloudy to cloudy skies expected elsewhere through Wednesday.

It will be much colder across the entire state through Wednesday.

Lows tonight will dip into the 20s in portions of West Texas and northwestern sections of North Texas. Elsewhere lows will be in the 30s and 40s.

Highs Wednesday will continue to be quite cold, mostly in the 30s and 40s with readings in West Texas expected to be in the 50s.

Reagan stands firm on terrorists

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, while offering no denial of reported arms-for-hostages swaps, insists that no U.S. laws have been violated and that the U.S. policy against deals with terrorists remains intact.

The president, according to his spokesman Larry Speakes, also asked his advisers on Monday to keep silent about the matter because "hostage lives are at stake." Speakes, in a statement issued late Monday, said Reagan huddled with his top aides in an Oval Office meeting earlier in the day.

The meeting came after congressional leaders said they would investigate whether the National Security Council skirted the law in circumventing Congress, the State Department and the Pentagon in reportedly arranging arms sales to Iran in exchange for U.S. hostages.

Reports surfaced last week that such arms shipments might have been involved in the release of three U.S. hostages, including David Jacobsen on Nov. 2.

The Washington Post, quoting unidentified sources, said in today's editions that National Security Adviser John Poindexter told key members of Congress that the White House made "a miscalculation on who it could trust in Iran" when it secretly established contacts there.

Poindexter said U.S. envoys "were finding opportunities" to work with some elements of the government of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini "as long as they were not exposed," the newspaper quoted its sources as saying.

The White House believes "we need to keep the channels open," one lawmaker told the newspaper. "Public acknowledgment of relationships would make what is already fragile far worse, particularly internally in Iran."

Veteran's program set for 5 p.m.

Today at 5 p.m., the American Legion and the VFW of Hereford have scheduled a Veteran's Day program at the flagpole in Veteran's Park.

All branches of the military service will be honored and memorials to those from each conflict, from World War I to Viet Nam, will be made in the public ceremony.

All veteran groups or service organizations will be recognized, such as Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, Amvets, Viet Nam Vets and Gold Star Mothers.

Flags from all branches of service — Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine, Coast Guard — will be presented and wreaths for veterans of those branches will be presented in memorium with a special interest given to Viet Nam veterans.

A detachment from Canon Air Force Base in Clovis, N.M., will present a 21-gun salute and preside over lowering of the flags and taps.

After the ceremony the public is invited to VFW and American Legion halls for viewing displays and having refreshments.

Drug issue on school agenda

The Hereford Independent School Board will welcome public comments concerning the local drug problem during a board meeting at 6 p.m. today in the administration building.

The board is considering use of a drug sniffing dog on campuses to deter illegal substance use and for a drug rehabilitation program for students already involved.

Other agenda items, other than routine business, include evaluations, private lessons for band students, appointment of a textbook committee, consideration of an insurance plan, a YMCA after-school program, purchase of playground equipment and the career ladder policy.

Farm union leader calls for unity

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Improvements in the farm economy must have a sense of value, new direction and a dedication to honesty to be acceptable to the U. S. population, a farm leader says.

"No one questions that we are at a crisis time in agriculture," Cy Carpenter, president of the National Farmers Union, said Monday during the Women Involved in Farm Economics convention. "It is our responsibility to make sure we provide the direction and clarity in terms of a new direction."

Carpenter said proof that the American farmer is willing to participate in the new directions in agriculture was seen in a poll last summer in which the majority of farmers who voted favored mandatory production cutbacks and large boosts in commodity prices.

But because the nation's farm population totals only about 2 million people, a larger support group must be formed, Carpenter said.

He said input from other groups will help pass the bills deemed by his group as the solutions to agriculture.

"We (farmers) are the smallest minority in the country," Carpenter said. "We have to have a coalition of church, education, labor and consumer groups."

"It is absolutely necessary to have your involvement in requiring a better direction," Carpenter added, pounding the podium.

Carpenter said that because many of the groups getting involved in agriculture policy formation are not knowledgeable about production existing farm organizations must provide the direction and information.

Carpenter said his organization wants stricter regulations on production to reduce price-burdening surpluses. In creating such policy, the public must recognize the interdependence of agricultural commodities such as grain and livestock to avoid contradiction, he said.

Oil leaders say crisis unrecognized

HOUSTON (AP) — Slumping oil prices have created a serious threat to the nation's security and economic health — which the public and the federal government cannot afford to ignore any longer, according to industry leaders.

Rapidly rising dependence on foreign supplies is resulting from "the dramatic decline in exploration activities and the dismantling of the industry's capability to explore for oil and gas," the American Petroleum Institute said in a policy statement Monday.

As a result, it warned, "the potential is great for disruption and shortages, with attendant sharp price rises — and sooner than many expect."

"The country cannot wait until a crisis is upon it. Something clearly needs to be done — and soon," the statement said.

Officials of the Washington-based industry group, here at the start of a two-day annual convention, called on President Reagan to take the lead in encouraging national awareness of the seriousness of the situation.

Charles J. DiBona, president of the organization, also said in a speech that the industry — already reeling from what he called a $50 billion annual revenue loss — also faces the additional burden of new federal tax and regulatory measures that could drain up to another $100 billion from its coffers over the next five years.

Aside from a $10 million negative impact from the new tax law, he said the industry could be affected by bills relating to clean water, hazardous waste, acid rain, and "buy America" requirements for offshore rigs, to name a few.

In addition, the recently passed Superfund Bill mandates that the industry pay at least one-third of the $9 billion cost of cleaning up old toxic waste dumps, API officials complained.

In its policy statement, the API alluded to such proposals, saying they "are ample evidence that the seriousness of the situation is even now not appreciated by Washington."

Moves against Syria hailed by U.S.

LONDON (AP) — The United States and Israel praised the Common Market for adopting sanctions against Syria because of that country's alleged support of terrorism. But the Soviet Union pledged continued backing for Damascus and Libya said the sanctions could damage Arab-European relations.

Foreign ministers of 11 of the 12 member nations of the European Economic Community backed Britain's call for sanctions against Syria, which Britain accuses of complicity in a plot to put a bomb on an Israeli jetliner at London's Heathrow Airport in April.

Greece was the lone dissenter. "We wish to send Syria the clearest possible message that what has happened is absolutely unacceptable," the ministers said in a statement released at the end of their conference here Monday.

"We call on them (Syrian authorities) to end all forms of support for those groups which have been clearly involved in terrorist acts and to deny them all facilities. ... We look to the Syrian authorities for a constructive response," the statement said.

Britain had earlier broken diplomatic relations with the government of Syrian President Hafez Assad.

The ministers prohibited arms sales to Syria, suspended high-level visits to and from that country and ordered tight surveillance on Syrian diplomatic missions and on the Syrian Arab Airlines' operations in Europe.

Chemical spill causes alarm in Europe

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — A poisonous chemical spill in the Rhine has killed half a million fish, deprived towns of water supplies and stirred fears of long-term damage to one Europe's busiest and most scenic waterways.

French officials plan decrees against catching Rhine River fish for the next six months because of the spill Nov. 1 during an industrial fire in Basel, Switzerland.

Some critics are calling the spill Chernobole, after the Chernobyl nuclear disaster last April in Soviet Union. Bale is the French name for Basel.

"We don't know how damaged the Rhine is, but there's no doubt that there has been serious harm done," Walter Wallmann, West Germany's environment minister, said Monday.

In Brussels, the European Common Market's environment commissioner requested an urgent meeting of government ministers later this month to evaluate the consequences and "deal with the immediate crisis."

The Swiss government said member nations of the International Rhine River Commission would hold a special meeting Wednesday in Zurich.

West German, French and Dutch officials accused Swiss authorities of slow reaction and poor cross-border coordination after the accident.

About 30 tons of toxic herbicides, pesticides and mercury poured into the Rhine along with water used to put out a fire at the Sandz chemical plant outside Basel.

The spill, about 25 miles long, drifted slowly downstream, causing huge fish kills and contaminating water supplies of river towns.

Concern has been intensified by the Rhine's importance as an artery of European commerce and tourist attraction.

The 820-mile-long river rises in a Swiss glacier and passes through or forms borders of Liechtenstein, Austria, West Germany, France and the Netherlands on its way to the North Sea.

Freed hostages found in Damascus

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Two French hostages freed from captivity in Lebanon were handed over to French diplomats today at the Syrian Foreign Ministry.

Camille Sontag, 85, a retired auto dealer kidnapped May 7, and Marcel Coudari, a 54-year-old businessman seized in February, looked well but bewildered after their ordeal.

The pair, who arrived in Damascus from Beirut during the night, were driven from the Foreign Ministry to the French Embassy and were expected to fly to Paris in a special jet later today.

Both men wore suits, ties and clean shirts and sat for an hour in a ministry anteroom before they were formally handed over by Foreign Minister Farouk al-Sharaa to their countrymen, who flew in earlier aboard the jet.

The white-haired Sontag, sporting an unkempt beard, sat nervously, quietly wringing his hands as he and Coudari were served Arabic coffee in small blue cups.

Coudari chain-smoked American cigarettes and talked with Syrian officials.

The appearance of the two in Damascus followed reports that the organization holding them in Lebanon planned their imminent release.

The three French government envoys arrived earlier today aboard a special aircraft and headed to the French Embassy. Then, together with Ambassador Alain Grenier, they went to the Foreign Ministry and met with Sharaa.

The envoys were identified as Francois Bujon de L'Estang, Premier Jacques Chirac's diplomatic adviser, Eric Desmaret, chief of staff to Foreign Minister Jean-Bernard Raimond, and Michel Roussin, of Chirac's office.

Unmailed war letters discovered

WASHINGTON (AP) — As of Veterans Day, the Postal Service says it has found 66 of the 92 World War II soldiers whose letters home got stashed in a North Carolina attic rather than being deposited in a mail box back in 1944.

The discovery of the mislaid letters received nationwide publicity in July when then-Postmaster General Albert V. Casey staged a ceremony in Washington to personally deliver some of the letters to their writers and intended recipients.

Since then, with the help of military records, postmasters, newspapers and radio and television stations, the Postal Service has delivered 178 of the 235 letters found in a duffel bag by a Raleigh, N.C., exterminator.

Two additional letters will be destroyed in accordance with the wishes of the writers, said Meg Harris, a Postal Service spokeswoman.

She said the agency "will continue searching for the remaining veterans or their families until it appears that every avenue has been exhausted."

A Chicago Tribune reporter and an Indianapolis TV station helped locate three of the men. In another 10 or so cases, readers spotted their own names or that of a family member in a newspaper.

The letters were written by soldiers en route to Africa on board the troop ship Caleb Strong in May 1944. The V-Mail envelopes were supposed to be mailed by a ship's crewman when the vessel returned to the United States.

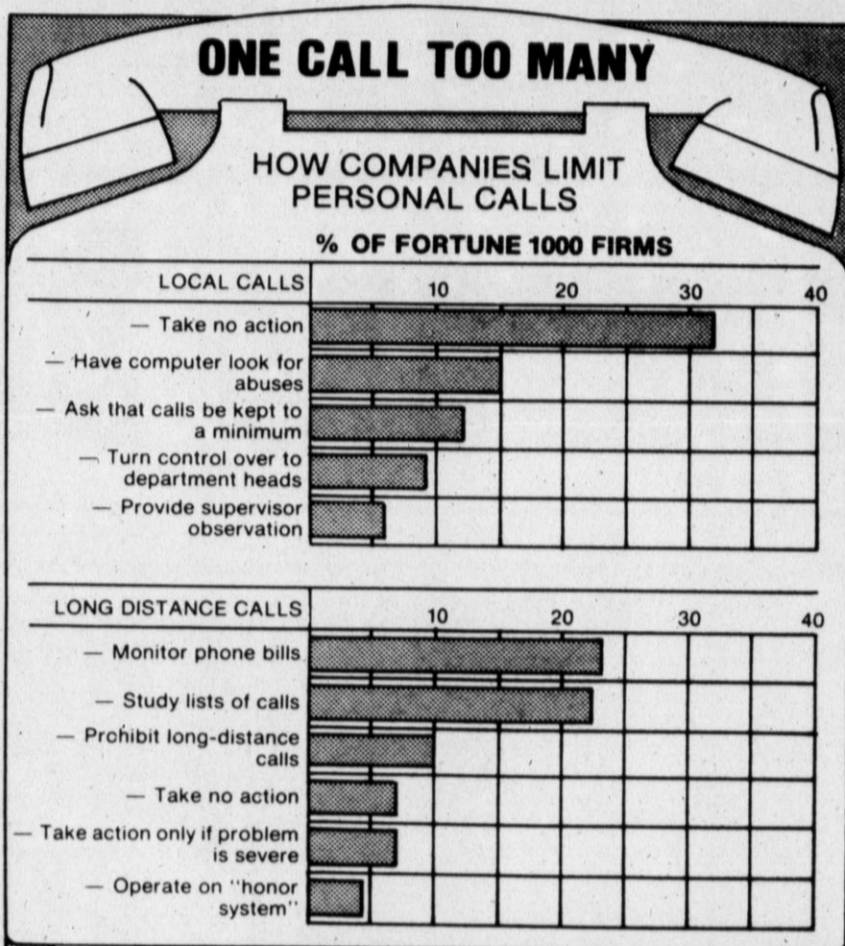

But the crewman, now deceased, apparently hid the duffel bag in his aunt's attic when he became fearful of punishment after failing to mail the letters immediately upon his return to American soil.

The Postal Service said it still would like to hear from anyone who can help them find these remaining Caleb Strong letter writers:

PBS to air 'Mystery'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mark Greenstreet not only plays a dual role in "Brat Farrar" on PBS' "Mystery!" but also does one character with an American accent and the other with a British accent.

"Brat's English, but he ran away to America for eight years and worked with horses on a ranch," said Greenstreet. "He has a slight American accent. I find it hard to do accents. I can't improvise one, but I can do it in a script. I can do it by being sloppy and letting it flow."

Greenstreet, in this country to promote the British-made miniseries, also plays Simon Ashby, Brat's lookalike and the heir to a rich English country estate.

That resemblance figures heavily in "Brat Farrar," a three-part psychological thriller adapted from the book by Josephine Tey. Brat tries to pass himself off as Ashby's long-lost twin and inherit the family fortune. It begins Thursday night on "Mystery!" and will continue for two weeks.

Greenstreet, 26, tested for the role of James Bond, to follow in the footsteps of Sean Connery and Roger Moore. But he lost out to Timothy Dalton.

"When 'Brat' ran in England it had a following among teen-agers," he said. "They were dabbling with the idea of getting teen-agers back into the theater for Bond. Its audience has grown older. So the thinking at the time was they wanted someone quite young."

The blond, handsome Greenstreet is unknown to American audiences, although in England he's been appearing in women's magazines — and the Fleet Street tabloids have called him a new piece of British beefcake.

A relative, Sidney Greenstreet, was the portly character actor who worked with Humphrey Bogart in such movies as "The Maltese Falcon," "Casablanca," and "Across the Pacific."

In "Brat Farrar," Brat is spotted in London by an out-of-work actor who is familiar with the Ashby estate and the missing brother, Patrick.

"Patrick, being the oldest, would inherit the estate," said Greenstreet. "But at the age of 13 their parents were killed, and he supposedly committed suicide at sea and the body was never found."

"Simon is a bit of a cad, but he has to be charming. Brat is also a good guy, although in effect he's the villain. Brat was very nice but he was committing a massive fraud. I had to work hard to keep him sympathetic."

Greenstreet left drama school in 1983 and has worked principally on the stage. He also toured Japan and Iceland with a London Shakespeare group.

Students arrested on drug charges

LAREDO, Texas (AP) — Four high school students have been arrested on charges of selling drugs on the school campus.

Alberto Bautista, 17, and three juveniles were arrested Monday at the United High School principal's office by Laredo Police Department officers, who charged them with various drug-related crimes.

According to reports, police seized small quantities of drugs, mostly marijuana, during the operation carried out jointly by school and law enforcement officials.

"We want it (the school) 100 percent clean," said Jose G. Trevino, United's principal. "We'll do whatever it takes to get it 100 percent clean."

Bautista was charged with three counts of unlawful delivery of marijuana. He was taken to the Webb County Law Enforcement Center in lieu of three bonds totaling $15,000.

The two juveniles were charged with unlawful delivery of a controlled substance, and a third youth faces charges of delivery of a simulated controlled substance.

Observances to honor war dead

By The Associated Press

Parades, services and the reburial of an unknown Civil War soldier marked today's Veterans Day remembrances of America's military dead, and veterans held vigils and marched to honor those still missing in Vietnam.

Thirty-two marchers, many of them Vietnam veterans, were en route today to Springfield, Ill., where the parade was to cap a 42-mile trek to draw attention to the plight of those held prisoner or missing in Southeast Asia.

Parades also were planned in Georgia, to honor female veterans, and Oregon.

At the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, D.C., an American flag made of red, white and blue flowers — one for each of the 58,200 names of war dead inscribed on the memorial's black wall — was to be unveiled this morning.

"The Moving Wall," a 250-foot-long, half-scale replica of the Washington memorial, was on display in Westlake Village, Calif., and another replica was erected at the Michigan State Fairgrounds Coliseum in Detroit.

A 24-foot-long granite monument with the names of 139 Wyoming veterans was to be dedicated in Cody.

Plans were advanced this week for new Vietnam veteran memorials in Illinois, West Virginia and New Jersey. An 8-foot-tall bronze statue of a youthful, battle-weary soldier was to be unveiled today at the dedication

Elks seeking sponsors

The Hereford Elks Lodge is asking individuals and businesses to help sponsor a large drug abuse exhibit on tour from the Dangerous Drug and Narcotics Unit from Washington, D.C.

Entitled "From the Beginning to the End—Is It Worth It?", the exhibit is scheduled for 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Dec. 1 in Hereford.

Invitation books for the exhibit are available at $1 each.

The exhibit, which took more than two years to assemble at a cost of more than $75,000, contains over 1,000 pieces of paraphernalia used in drug abuse.

Proceeds will be used for Elks youth programs.

For more information, contact James Buxton at 364-7140 or 364-7507.

of the Oklahoma Veterans Memorial in Oklahoma City.

Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger was to speak at ceremonies at Arlington National Cemetery in Virginia.

In Michigan, the body of a Civil War soldier was removed Monday from a neglected grave in Grand Rapids for military reburial today in Battle Creek's Fort Custer National Cemetery. The reburial was the culmination of an effort by a handful of people who discovered the grave and fought for his recognition.

Alcoholism film to be shown

"The Enablers", a film about a family which denies the alcohol addiction of one of its members, is open to the public at the meeting of The Chemical People.

The meeting is at 7:30 p.m. today in the center lounge of the Hereford Community Center.

Local residents elected to board

EL PASO — Two Hereford residents were elected to major positions on Texas Baptist Boards during the annual meeting of the 2.3-million-member Baptist General Convention of Texas (BGCT) in El Paso, Nov. 4-5.

A.L. Black, owner, Poarch Bros., Inc., was elected to the board of trustees of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene; and Ronald L. Cook, pastor, First Baptist Church, was elected to the board of trustees of High Plains Baptist Hospital, Amarillo.

Institutions of the BGCT include eight universities, one academy, seven hospitals, four children's homes and four homes for the aging.

This work is supported by the more than 5,000 Texas Baptist churches and missions which will give about $60 million this year through the Cooperative Program for mission work at home and abroad.

Besides the institutions, the Convention helps support worldwide missions causes including 7,350 missionaries in the United States and more than 100 foreign nations.

Ann Landers Column a heartbreaker

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am sending a column that appeared many years ago. It was between the pages in my mother's Bible.

The 23rd Psalm is one of the most comforting, but this version is heart-breaking. Unfortunately a great many people need to see it. It should be required reading for every high school student. Please, Ann, run it again.—LOUISVILLE FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: That column ran in 1971 but it's still relevant - maybe more so now than ever. For high school students, I suggest substituting the word cocaine for heroin. Thanks for sending it on.

DEAR ANN: Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. of North Carolina put this in the Congressional Record. It's a heart-breaker. Will you print it, please?

"King Heroin is my shepherd, I shall always want..."

"These tragic words, part of a twisted rewording of the beloved 23rd Psalm, were discovered recently in Reidsville, N.C., in a closed car alongside of a dead heroin addict. She was 23 years old.

"Her death was ruled a suicide. A hookup with the car's exhaust had send carbon monoxide fumes from a running motor into the vehicle. Here's the complete 'Psalm.'

"King Heroin is my shepherd, I shall always want. He maketh me to lie down in the gutters.

"He leadeth me beside the troubled waters. He destroyeth my soul.

"He leadeth me in the paths of wickedness.

"Yea, I shall walk through the valley of poverty and will fear no evil for thou, Heroin, art with me.

"Thy Needle and Capsule comfort me. Thou strippest the table of groceries in the presence of my family. Thou robbest my head of reason.

"My cup of sorrow runneth over. Surely heroin addiction shall stalk me all the days of my life and I will dwell in the House of the Damned forever."

Also found in the car with the dead woman was this written message:

"Jail didn't cure me. Nor did hospitalization help me for long. The doctor told my family it would have been better, and indeed kinder, if the person who got me hooked on dope had taken a gun and blown my brains out. And I wish to God he had. My God, how I wish it."—A READER

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife and I had reservations at a restaurant we patronize often. She had to work late, so I arrived about 20 minutes ahead of her. Seated nearby were two young women who live in our apartment complex. We know them only to say hello, or wave goodbye to. We made small talk, after which I asked the waiter to serve them a drink with my compliments.

When my wife arrived, one of the women said to her, "Your husband is very gracious. He bought us a drink." My wife raised hell with me throughout the entire meal, insisting that I had insulted her by buying drinks for "other women."

When we got home we had a terrible fight. She ended up calling the women "sluts." (I know nothing of their personal lives.) I didn't think I was out of line. Do you? —MR. NO NAME U.S.A., SYRACUSE, N.Y.

DEAR SYRACUSE: No. Your wife was out of line to make an issue of what I consider an innocent, neighborly gesture. So now, when she reads this, she will be mad at both of us. I will live through it and so will you.

DR. GOTT Aerobics class is just one option

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — What are the pluses and minuses of a woman, age 39, participating in aerobics?

DEAR READER — Aerobic exercises are a national craze. We seem to forget that we have been doing aerobics — such as walking, dancing, skiing, swimming and bicycling — for years. We really don't need instructors in leotards leading us through boring exercises to the beat of disco music. In my opinion, the main value of exercise classes is that the participants commit themselves to a regular workout. Exercise, in moderation, helps middle-aged people feel better. It can cause weight loss, providing dietary calories are not increased. It helps tone up the cardiovascular system. It is usually fun.

However, aerobics classes can also be expensive and can cause lots of muscle pains and aches. So before you start an exercise class, ask yourself why you want to do it and whether you couldn't obtain the same goals from other forms of activity, at less expense and inconvenience.

In general, a 39-year-old woman would profit from any kind of regular exercise. You need not rely solely on organized aerobics classes to achieve a degree of physical conditioning.

DEAR DR. GOTT — As a result of a childhood injury to my tailbone, I have experienced extremely painful and debilitating bouts of arthritic spasms in that area for 20 years. Short of surgery, is there anything I can do to avoid the attacks or minimize the pain? Heat applications and pain killers have not helped.

DEAR READER — Injuries to the coccyx (tailbone) occur frequently and are seldom serious. Although a bruised coccyx can remain painful for several weeks, it does not require treatment. For obvious reasons, patients will try to avoid further injury while healing is taking place. For instance, the use of soft-bottomed chairs is mandatory for comfort.

Even if the coccyx is fractured, the bone heals in about six weeks and causes no long-term disability.

Because you have experienced symptoms for 20 years, I doubt that your pain and spasms are the result of the original injury. Check with a doctor to investigate other, more likely causes for your problem.

Book reviewed Thursday

Mrs. Able Ruga was elected to membership when members of Bay View Study Club met Thursday in the home of Mrs. Bruce Burney.

Be Very Still

Although it's difficult sometimes for little boys to sit still, Aaron Hendrickson serves as a model while his mother, Donna, demonstrates her face painting techniques. Mrs. Hendrickson, a member of Alpha Iota Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, will be doing face painting at the Country Christmas Bazaar set from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Saturday at the Hereford Community Center. The annual event is being sponsored by members of the Westway Extension Homemakers Club. All proceeds will be used to support local 4-H'ers.

Are Dallas Cowboys dead 'giveaways'?

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
IRVING, Texas (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys aren't dead yet in the NFC East but they need to cure their giveaway spirit quickly.

"Our backs aren't up to the wall - they are against it," said running back Tony Dorsett. "We aren't Santa Claus but the last two weeks we've been like 45 of his helpers."

The Cowboys had two touchdowns called back on penalties and lost 17-13 to the Los Angeles Raiders on Sunday as quarterback Steve Pelluer suffered five interceptions. The week before they lost 17-14 to the New York Giants.

"We've given away three of our last four losses this year," said strong safety Bill Bates. "They are calling us 'giveaway Cowboys.'"

Pelluer has discovered the downside of life as an NFL starting quarterback.

Pelluer was sacked six times and had a touchdown run called back on a holding penalty in the loss to the Los Angeles Raiders.

"Steve has had positive days and now he's seen a negative day," said Dallas offensive coordinator Paul Hackett. "In both cases you have about 24 hours to forget it and get back to work."

Pelluer was starting his fourth NFL game because of Danny White's long list of injuries including a broken wrist.

"It just seemed like my head wasn't working as smart as my heart was," Pelluer said. "I don't think I made as many mistakes as I did poor decisions. I kind of got away from my reads of the defense."

Pelluer said he hoped he learned something.

"With the interceptions and all, I think that it really taught me to have a lot of mental toughness," Pelluer said. "I really felt like I needed to keep my poise as the game wore on. I'm sure I'll lose some confidence, but I know I'm capable of playing in this league and capable of taking this team to the playoffs."

Hackett said it's important that Pelluer responds favorably when the Cowboys travel to San Diego on Sunday to meet the Chargers.

"We'll find out about him," Hackett said. "What happens with a young guy who has had success is that he tries to make all the plays himself. It's just a crying shame that his great run (25 yards) for a touchdown was called back. He had some bad luck."

The Cowboys dropped to 6-4 in the NFC East, two full games behind Washington and the New York Giants.

Dallas defensive back Everson Walls, who had an interception return for a touchdown called back on a clipping penalty, said the Cowboys have got to snap out of their bad streak.

"Snakebit is a good word for it and I wish we could be bit by something else," Walls said.

Dallas defensive back Everson Walls, who had an interception return for a touchdown called back on a clipping penalty, said the Cowboys have got to snap out of their bad streak.

Winners must claim their prizes within five working days, or else the prizes become null and void. See the football pages in today's issue of the Brand for this week's games.

Nine other people each missed seven games in last week's contest. They were Ruben Vargas, Marie Cline, Edward Crandall, Lani Ritchie, Tito Estrada, Duane Stubblefield, Milton Adams, Raymond Lueb, and Jerry Collier.

Twelve other entrants each missed eight games. There were 113 entrants in last week's contest.

Benny Carrasco, Nancy Garza

Two HHS runners qualify for state

Both of the Hereford High School runners who competed for last weekend's regional cross country meet qualified for the state meet.

Benny Carrasco of the HHS boys' team and Nancy Garza of the HHS girls' team each placed seventh in their respective divisions Saturday in the regional meet at Lubbock.

Carrasco and Garza, by placing in the top 10 at regionals, qualify for the state class 4A meet which is scheduled this Saturday at Southwestern University in Georgetown.

Nancy Garza is the second athlete to represent Hereford High School in a state girls' cross country meet. Selma Moreno was the first girl from Hereford to advance to the state meet, in 1984 in class 5A competition.

Garza's seventh place time in the regional meet was 13:02.

Benny Carrasco is the first athlete ever from Hereford High School to qualify for a state boys' cross country meet. Carrasco was timed at 16:53 in placing seventh in the regional meet.

Here are Garza's and Carrasco's placings in meets this season, and their times (times are not listed for Midland meet because the course was shortened for the races at that meet):

Nancy Garza: fourth in Borger meet, Sept. 13, 12:38; eighth in Plainview meet, Sept. 20, 13:30; 12th in Hereford meet, Sept. 27, 13:58; 11th in Amarillo meet, Oct. 4, 13:05; seventh in Dumas meet, Oct. 18, 13:17; fourth in Midland meet, Oct. 25; third in District 1-4A meet, Lubbock, Nov. 1, 12:55; and seventh in regional meet, Lubbock, Nov. 8, 13:02.

Benny Carrasco: 13th in Levelland meet, Sept. 6, 17:19; 41st in Borger meet, Sept. 13, 20:14; 8th in Plainview meet, Sept. 20, 16:25; ninth in Hereford meet, Sept. 27, 16:01; 11th in Amarillo meet, Oct. 4, 16:56; 32nd in Lubbock meet, Oct. 11, 17:22; eighth in Dumas meet, Oct. 18, 16:30; 12th in Midland meet, Oct. 25; third in District 1-4A meet, Lubbock, Nov. 1, 16:51; and seventh in regional meet, Lubbock, Nov. 8, 13:02.

After defeating Bengals, 32-29

Oilers not worrying about mistakes

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Oilers still have mistakes to correct but Coach Jerry Glanville isn't worrying about them.

The Oilers defeated Cincinnati 32-29 Sunday to end an eight-game losing streak.

"We had some bad calls and foolish penalties but they don't matter," Glanville said Monday. "In Cincinnati, they are all talking about their mistakes like we have been for the past eight weeks."

The Oilers, 2-8, had spent a tense week of practice, criticized by the media.

"We're stronger than what anybody can throw at us," Glanville said. "I don't wake up looking for negatives every day. I feel sorry for people who do."

Glanville had a mid-week meeting with quarterback Warren Moon, who criticized the team's conservative offense following a loss to the Miami Dolphins two weeks ago.

"He told me some of his reasons for doing some of the things he did in Miami and he made some valid points," Moon said.

With the losing streak and several locker room exchanges with the media, the Oilers were charged up for Sunday's game, Glanville said.

"It was obvious from the opening kickoff that we were trying to make someone pay for a hanging," Glanville said. "There was electricity on the sidelines that we all felt from the opening kickoff."

The Oilers sprinted to a 26-0 lead and then had to hold on in the closing minutes.

"The Oilers wanted to make the Bengals pay for a 31-28 victory Oct. 19 in Cincinnati when James Brooks scored the winning touchdown with 43 seconds left in the game.

"Mentally, we had a tightly wound football team," Glanville said. "The hitting on the opening kickoff was the hardest I've seen in three years here."

"Now we can go on and make corrections and get better."

The Oilers played risky defense against the Bengals, Glanville said.

"It was very risky what we did," Glanville said. "I'm sure they (Cincinnati) are looking at the film and saying we were crazy."

Glanville said the Oiler strategy left the defense vulnerable to trap plays up the middle.

The Oilers were able to get off to a fast start because of improved pass protection for Moon, who completed 25 of 44 passes for 310 yards and was sacked only one time.

"We'd like to play like that every game, to have protection like that and not throw any interceptions,"

Glanville said. "But we have to get better."

The Oilers also avoided the early mistakes that have put them behind early in previous games.

Glanville also gave the Oiler fans an assist for the victory.

The Bengals trailed 29-28 with 4:24 left in the game when Cincinnati quarterback Boomer Esiason was thrown for a no-gain on fourth down on a bobbled play.

Cincinnati Coach Sam Wyche said the crown noise cause the ball to be snapped one count early.

"I don't know how many fans were there but the right ones were there," Glanville said. "Our fans took them out of it at fourth and one."

The Oilers, 2-8, play at Pittsburgh Sunday.

Patsy Hampton wins football contest

Nineteen out of 25 games right was the top effort in last week's Brand football contest, achieved by Patsy Hampton.

Hampton was the only entrant who missed six games, and won the first place prize of 25 Deaf Smith County Bucks.

A coin flip was necessary to decide second and third place. Gerald Banner and Darrell Dirks each missed seven games, and both were five points off in the tie-breaker game.

The tie-breaker game was Chicago Bears vs. Tampa Bay Buccaneers, won by Chicago 23-3. Banner's prediction was the Bears winning 24-7, and Dirks made a prediction of the Bears beating the Buccaneers 28-3.

In a coin flip done by contest judges, Banner came out as the winner of the second place prize, 15 Deaf Smith County Bucks. Dirks' third place finish wins for him 10 Deaf Smith County Bucks.

Winners must claim their prizes within five working days, or else the prizes become null and void. See the football pages in today's issue of the Brand for this week's games.

Red Raiders favored in SWC basketball race

An AP Sports Analysis
By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

John Thompson of Georgetown got his introduction to Gerald Myers' brand of basic basketball March 13. After his Hoyas escaped with a 70-64 victory over the Texas Tech Red Raiders in the NCAA playoffs, Thompson said: "Now, I know why everyone is so high on Gerald Myers. The man can coach."

Tech had marched through Southern Methodist, Texas Christian and Texas A&M in the Southwest Conference Tournament before losing a heartbreaker to the Hoyas, a game the underdog Red Raiders could have won.

The Red Raiders, heavily hit by graduation after an SWC championship season, were only a 9-7 team during the SWC regular season, but Myers' patience and persistence paid off. They were the only team to represent the SWC in the NCAA playoffs last year. Myers, the West Texas high plains fox, builds his program from the ground up. One of his assistants was scouting on the West Coast during Dallas Cowboys' training camp, and Myers himself scouting a Houston summer league during the Olympic Sports Festival.

He said he was excited about his crop of redshirts on the Red Raider roster this fall.

"It's the best redshirt bunch we've had," he said.

Forwards Wes Lowe, 6-10, of West Mesquite, and Kenny Keller, 6-7, of Bryan, along with 6-6 guard Scott Whillock of Chilton, Ark., are redshirts who may play right away. Rodney Henderson, a seven-footer from Dallas Bryan Adams, is a project-type player, but could blossom under Myers into at least a defensive terror.

This group, combined with freshman guard Jerry Mason of Lamesa, has Myers' pulse up a beat or two.

The hunch here is that the Red Raiders will again be the team to beat in March, after another slow start this season.

Lake Thompson says, that man down there in Lubbock can coach.

THE CRYSTAL BALL:

1. TEXAS TECH: Sean Gay, who starred at the U.S. Olympic Festival, and DeWayne Chism, a member of the SWC All-Tournament team, provide a steady base for a talented team that will close strong in the second half of the season.
2. TCU: It might be Jim "The Killer" Killingsworth's finest team. The Horned Frogs were 12-4 during the SWC's regular season, then beat Montana before losing to Florida in the National Invitation Tournament. A tough non-conference schedule that includes Michigan State and LSU could help the Frogs down the line if they don't get demoralized. TCU could win it all.
3. HOUSTON: Pat Foster comes over from Lamar University, and not many coaches in the country have finer credentials. His Cardinal teams were giant-killers in the NCAA playoffs. With starters Rickie Winslow, Greg Anderson and Gerry McGee inherited from Guy V. Lewis, the Foster era could tip off to a championship start.
4. SMU: Look out for Dave Bliss this year. Besides starters Terry Thomas, Terry Williams and Scott Johnson, he has promising newcomers Carlton McKinney and Reginald Muhammad. The 6-9 Muhammad could be the key if he overcomes an illness that grounded him his freshman season.
5. TEXAS A&M: Don't forget that master teacher in College Station, Professor Shelby Metcalf. He took an average team and got an SWC tri-championship last year. Who says he can't do it again if senior power forward Winston Crite's broken hand heals?

6. TEXAS: A talented team last year that returns hot-shooting Patrick Fears, Raynard Davis and Alex Broadway. The "must" on Coach Bob Weltlich's list is to find a replacement for 6-11 center John Brownlee.

7. ARKANSAS: Nolan Richardson had a miserable 12-16 season, but don't feel sorry for him. The Razorbacks could be the SWC's most improved team if 6-11 Andrew Lang becomes a dominant player.

8. RICE: Tommy Suttis will have a team that is capable of springing some big upsets, but doesn't have the depth needed to compete for the title.

9. BAYLOR: Gene Iba has some problems because the NCAA cut into the Bears' scholarships as punishment for Jim Haller's sins. However, any team with Darryl Middleton, Michael Williams and Frank Williams in the lineup will certainly ambush the unwary.

BRANCA HEADS BAT

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph Branca, a former Brooklyn Dodger pitcher, has been named the first president of the Baseball Alumni Team, it was announced by the office of Commissioner Peter Ueberroth.

BAT, as it will be called, is a charitable foundation established by the commissioner's office in conjunction with the Equitable Life Assurance Society. It is designed to provide assistance to needy, ex-major-league players.

Branca posted a record of 88-68 during a 12-year period with the Brooklyn Dodgers beginning in 1944. He won baseball immortality for delivering the pitch that Bobby Thomson hit for a three-run homer to win the third and deciding pennant playoff game for the Giants in 1951.

In four years at UCLA, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, then Lew Alcindor, averaged 26.4 points per game. In his first 16 years in the NBA, his average was 26.6.

Dolphins struggle again, lose to Browns, 26-16

By CHUCK MELVIN
AP Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Browns Coach Marty Schottenheimer refused to be drawn into a debate about young quarterbacks.

"I'm pleased to have the quarterback we have," Schottenheimer said Monday night after 22-year-old Bernie Kosar passed for a career-best 401 yards to lead the Browns past 25-year-old Dan Marino and the Miami Dolphins 26-16.

"Without any question, Bernie had an outstanding performance," Schottenheimer said. "He came off some primary reads to hit receivers off the backside reads, because of things the defense did."

Kosar completed 32 of 50 passes without an interception and without a touchdown pass, although three Cleveland receivers dropped potential scoring passes in the end zone.

The more celebrated Marino finished with 22 completions in 39 attempts for 295 yards and two touchdowns, with one interception.

Kosar was rated fourth in the AFC and Marino was fifth entering the game.

So which quarterback is more valuable?

"I won't answer that," Schottenheimer said.

Harry Holt and Curtis Dickey ran for touchdowns and Matt Bahr kicked four short field goals for the Dolphins in the first half.

A Miami turnover helped Cleveland open up a 23-10 lead 10 minutes into the third quarter.

Miami's Ron Davenport fumbled after catching a pass at the Miami 29-yard line, and Dickey ran 13 yards for a touchdown four plays later.

Dickey finished with 92 yards on 15 carries.

"We showed a lot of offensive weapons, and that keeps the defense honest," Kosar said.

Bahr added a 21-yard field goal — after an apparent 5-yard touchdown pass to Kevin Mack was nullified because Kosar was ruled to have been in the grasp of a defender — with 10 minutes to play.

The Dolphins, who had the second-ranked offense in the NFL behind

Browns, 7-3.

Kosar's 401 yards matched Otto Graham's total, achieved in 1952, for the second-best passing game in Cleveland history. Brian Sipe set the club record with 444 yards against the Baltimore Colts in 1981. Kosar's previous high, 293 yards, came against the Cincinnati Bengals in September.

The Browns dominated the game statistically, compiling 558 yards of total offense to 353 for Miami, 4-6. But Cleveland's inability to finish off its drives kept the game close until well into the second half.

The Browns led 16-10 at halftime after Bahr kicked field goals of 32, 19 and 18 yards and Holt, a tight end, ran 16 yards on an end-around for a touchdown.

Cleveland receivers Webster Slaughter, Ozzie Newsome and Brian Brennan each missed passes in the end zone to force the Browns to settle for Bahr's field goals.

"The balls were a little slick," Kosar said charitably. "I think both teams had trouble holding onto the ball early."

Marino threw a 24-yard scoring pass to Mark Duper and Fuad Reveiz kicked a 20-yard field goal for the Dolphins in the first half.

Miami's Ron Davenport fumbled after catching a pass at the Miami 29-yard line, and Dickey ran 13 yards for a touchdown four plays later.

Dickey finished with 92 yards on 15 carries.

"We showed a lot of offensive weapons, and that keeps the defense honest," Kosar said.

Bahr added a 21-yard field goal — after an apparent 5-yard touchdown pass to Kevin Mack was nullified because Kosar was ruled to have been in the grasp of a defender — with 10 minutes to play.

The Dolphins, who had the second-ranked offense in the NFL behind

Dallas entering the game, were held scoreless in the second half until Marino hit Mark Clayton with a 22-yard touchdown pass on the last play of the game.

"It was a big game for us if we were going to get back in the playoff race," said Miami Coach Don Shula. "We needed to come out of Cleveland at 5-5, but now at 4-6, we're in rough shape."

Cleveland, with six victories in its last seven games, leads the Bengals by one game in the AFC Central Division.

YMCA basketball league meeting set Wednesday

An organizational meeting is scheduled Wednesday night for the men's basketball league at the Hereford and Vicinity YMCA.

The meeting will be held at 6 p.m. on Wednesday at the YMCA building at 500 East 15th Street.

Items of discussion will include starting date, playing dates, length of league season, the tournament at the end of the league season, league rules, and awards.

From jabberwocky to genius

It's just a corporations' game

NEW YORK (AP) — Back in 1888, an entrepreneur in search of the perfect name for his fledgling company picked his way through the alphabet, sampling letters like a finicky gourmet. He particularly savored "K."

In fact, he liked "K" so much that he decided the moniker simply had to begin and end with the letter. He scoured the alphabet until finally sinking his teeth into a tasty filling for his "K" sandwich.

Thus was one of the most famous names in corporate America created: George Eastman liked "K's" and Kodak met his criteria of being easy to pronounce, easy to spell, meaningless in any language and 100 percent his own.

Today, decisions like the one Eastman faced involve far more.

The spate of mergers, acquisitions, divestitures, diversifications and management shakeups across the country has created what some experts claim is a record number of companies seeking new identities.

As a result, a new breed of corporate consultants has evolved and flourished — the namers.

Scattered from New York to San Francisco, firms devoted to naming other companies — and often their products — are relying on everything from anthropologists to computers programmed in Greek and Latin.

But words don't come cheap.

Prices start in the tens of thousands of dollars and can soar to $1 million if cumbersome legal research, logo design and other frills are tossed in. The process can take a few days or a few years.

According to a survey by the New York City corporate identity consultant Anspach, Grossman, Portugal Inc., 950 corporations changed their names in the first nine months of 1986.

"There's a greater awareness on the part of corporate America that the name is important," said Sharon Hollander, a market researcher who, along with industrial psychologist Dan Oromaner, founded The Name Works five years ago in a New York City suburb.

The Name Works favors a brainstorm approach for its 20 or so clients a year, which have included Burger King, American Express and Anheuser Busch.

For a starting fee of $20,000 plus expenses, the client can dispatch eight staffers to a two-day seminar with Hollander and Oromaner, who get the creative juices flowing through games designed to develop teamwork and stimulate the imagination.

"We tend to prefer and recommend real words because they have associations and are more memorable," Oromaner said.

Certain letters are thought to convey specific messages.

"The letter 'X' says high-tech," Hollander said. "It's kind of cold, very computerish ... a steely kind of sound. Personally, I recommend against it because it's not a warm, cozy kind of thing."

She takes an apple-pie comfort in the letters "S," "L" and "M."

Despite the success of IBM, GE and RCA, most corporate namers recommend against using initials.

"Initials are a passport to anonymity," said Clive Chajet, chairman and chief executive officer of Lippincott & Margulies.

Chajet's New York City firm spends approximately six months to a year dreaming up and researching a name, which in turn costs a client anywhere from $150,000 to $1 million.

Lippincott and Margulies' most-famous names include Amtrak and Duracell.

Erickson to speak during Founders' Dinner Thursday

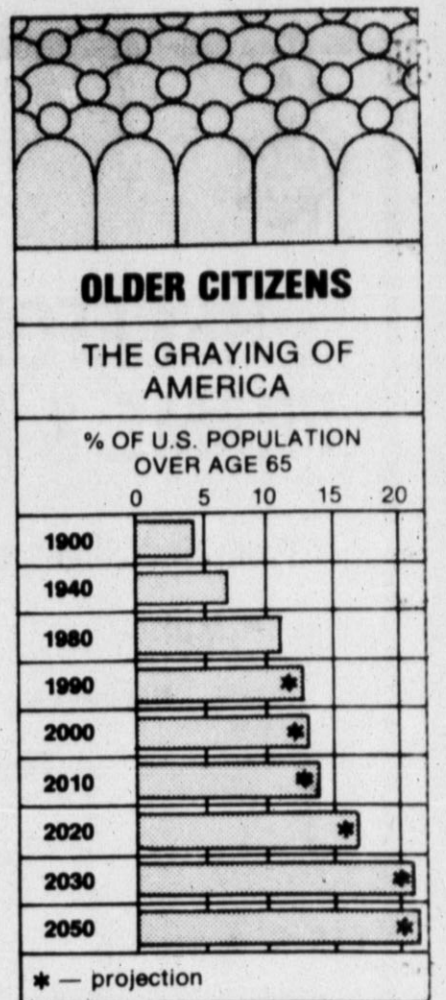

Well-known author and humorist, John Erickson, will be the guest speaker at the King's Manor Founders' Dinner slated for 7 p.m. Thursday in the Lamar Memorial Garden Room.

Tickets are available at the door and reservations may be made by calling the Manor at 364-0661. A $25 ticket includes the meal, which is being catered by K-Bob's

Steak House, and a year's membership into the Founders' Association.

Erickson has written the popular "Hank the Cowdog" series about the antics of canine head of ranch security. He has spoken to groups all over the United States and Canada.

The embassy of the Republic of Uganda is located at 5909 16th St. NW, Washington, D.C.

(Source: U.S. Census Bureau) In 1900, only one American in 25 was over 65 — but that will jump to one in five by the year 2050.

CLASSIFIED ADS
 Classified advertising rates are based on a minimum of 20 words. One day is 13 cents per word or $2.60 minimum. Rates below are for consecutive issues, no copy change, and apply to solid ad lines only.

TIMES	RATES	MIN.
1 day per word:	.13	2.60
2 days per word:	.22	4.40
3 days per word:	.31	6.20
4 days per word:	.40	8.00

5th day FREE
 Add 9 cents per word for additional days: 10 days (2 free) is 15.20 minimum; 15 days (3 free) is 22.40; month 27.80.

Classified display rates apply for special captions, paragraphing, bold type or larger type, and ads not set with full lines. $2.60 per column inch, $2 a column inch for additional insertions, or $1.75 a column inch per month.

LEGALIS
 Advertising rates for legal notices are $3.50 per column inch for the first insertion and $3 per column inch for consecutive issues.

Deadlines for classified ads are 3 p.m. daily for the next day's edition; 3 p.m. Friday for Sunday's edition.

Cash is required on advertisements under $10.

ERRORS
 Every effort is made to avoid errors in Classified Ads and legal notices. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. In case of errors not the fault of the advertiser, an additional insertion will be given.

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS AND PARTIES:
 You are hereby notified of the opportunity for written public comment concerning the amendment of the Construction Permit No. C-9371 by Valley View Energy Corporation in connection with its electrical generating plant near Hereford in Deaf Smith County, Texas. The Plant will be on the south side of U.S. Highway 60, southeast of the Hereford Airport on Section 17. This amendment will allow increased emissions of hydrogen chloride. The Executive Director of the Texas Air Control Board has made the preliminary determination to amend this permit. Before the amendment can be issued for this facility, all emission sources must demonstrate compliance with all Rules and Regulations of the Texas Air Control Board and all applicable Federal Regulations. This includes the application of "best available control technology" to each emissions source and compliance with all ambient air quality standards.
 A copy of all materials submitted by the applicant is available for public inspection at the Texas Air Control Board, Lubbock Regional Office at Briercroft South No.1, 5302 South Avenue Q Drive, Lubbock, Texas 79412, telephone (806) 744-0090, and at the Texas Air Control Board 6330 Highway 290 East, Austin, Texas 78723. All interested persons may inspect these materials and submit written comments to the Executive Director of the Texas Air Control Board. Any person who may be affected by emissions of air contaminants from the facility may request a hearing from the board. All comments received in writing by November 28, 1986 shall be considered by the Board in making its decision on the application. All comments will be made available for public inspection at the Texas Air Control Board office in Austin. 88-2c

COLLEGE STATION - Weeds rob bermudagrass pastures of a lot of grazing and hay potential each year, and producers can correct this problem with a fall herbicide application.

"The time to control weeds on bermudagrass pastures is now, not next spring," emphasizes Dr. Dave Weaver, weed specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Use of a preemergence herbicide to control annual weeds can release the true potential in a pasture or hay meadow has for producing top quality forage."

Broadleaved and grassy weeds, such as little barley, cheat, henbit, groundsel, Carolina geranium and seeding dock germinate and begin their growth during the winter season, Weaver explains. These weeds often go unnoticed until the spring when it's time to make a hay cutting or to put cattle on the pasture.

Applying simazine (Princep 80W or Caliber 90) before these winter weeds begin to germinate will eliminate 80 to 95 percent of the weed problems next spring, says the specialist. Since rain is needed to carry the herbicide into the soil where seed germinate, the herbicide should be applied early.

"If little barley or rescuegrass are potential problems, apply simazine between Nov. 1-20," recommends Weaver. "If spring germinating weeds such as sandburs, ragweed or croton (goatweed) are the only problem in a pasture, then the herbicide can be applied in January or February."

If simazine is applied too late and early germinating weeds show up before bermudagrass begins to green up in the spring, an application of paraquat (Gramoxone) may be needed, notes the weed specialist. Paraquat, a restricted-use herbicide, should be applied while bermudagrass is dormant. Simazine should not be applied to coarse, sandy soils low in organic matter, including the more alkaline soils in the High Plains, cautions Weaver. Rate of application can range from 1 to 4 pounds per acre. Cattle should not graze treated pasture for 30 days, or for 60 days if the 4-pound rate is used. Also, hay should not be cut for 60 to 90 days when the 4-pound rate is used. However, with early application, these grazing restrictions should not be a problem.

"Simazine is registered only for use on bermudagrass pastures and should not be used on Kleingrass or other species," cautions Weaver. He points out that atrazine, another preemergence herbicide, has a special "local needs label" for use on bermudagrass to be grazed. Atrazine (Aatrex 80W, Aatrex 4L or Aatrex Nine-O) provides about the same degree of weed control as does simazine and should be applied early in the spring. Atrazine does provide some postemergence weed control, Weaver points out. Treated pastures should not be grazed for 60 days, and the herbicide should be used on neutral or acid soils and should not be used in the High Plains, Trans Pecos or Far West Texas areas.

"Atrazine is less expensive per pound than simazine," notes Weaver. "The choice is dependent on whether the grass will be cut for hay or grazed. Also, if ryegrass or legumes have been seeded or if volunteer clover is valued in a particular pasture, then neither herbicide should be used."

PLANNING FOR PREGNANCY

By Harry S. Jonas, M.D., President, The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists

People plan ahead for all sorts of important happenings in their lives—going away to college, marriage, buying a house. Why not also plan for one of life's major events—having a baby.

First on your plan should be a checkup with your doctor to be sure your health is good. You'll want to discuss anything in your medical history that might cause trouble during pregnancy, such as high blood pressure, diabetes, or asthma. Your "genetic history" also is important. Tell your doctor about any family history of birth defects or inherited diseases such as Tay-Sachs, sickle cell anemia, hemophilia, or certain forms of mental retardation.

You should find out if you are immune to rubella (German measles), a disease that can cause severe problems in the fetus. A simple blood test will show whether or not your body has built up protection (antibodies) against this disease. If it hasn't, you need to be vaccinated at least three months before you plan to conceive.

Many doctors recommend that pill users stop taking the pill and have at least two or three normal periods before trying to conceive. However, check with your physician for his or her recommendations.

Because you may not know that you are pregnant for at least several weeks, it's a good idea to start improving your health habits before you become pregnant to give your baby the best possible start. Eat a balanced diet that includes fish, poultry, and lean meats, plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables, and whole grain products, and avoid too much sugar, fat, and caffeine. Before you become pregnant is the best time to stop smoking and cut back or eliminate alcohol from your diet. If you are on prescribed drugs, check with your doctor about continuing them through pregnancy. Any illegal drug such as cocaine, marijuana, PCP, or amphetamines are no good for the fetus.

If you've been exercising regularly, keep it up, if not, try to get into a fitness program well in advance of your pregnancy. During pregnancy is not the time to take up new sports.

The health of the baby's father also is important. It's easier to conceive a baby when the father is healthy.

Most women are willing to make changes in their lifestyle during their pregnancy to help their baby be as healthy as possible. Why not start a little early?

Single, free copies of "Planning for Your Pregnancy" (p-056) are available by sending a stamped, self-addressed, business size envelope along with the name of the booklet to: The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, Resource Center, 600 Maryland Ave., SW, Washington, DC 20024.

University alumni weekend scheduled Friday, Saturday

An Eastern New Mexico University Alumni Weekend has been scheduled for Friday and Saturday with activities in Amarillo and Canyon.

The ENMU Alumni Association has scheduled a Friday social and reception beginning at 6 p. at the Fifth Season Inn located at 6801 I-40 West in Amarillo. The social is open to all alumni and friends of ENMU. Event coordinators include Amarillo ENMU alumni Kathleen Best and Jon Krebs. University representatives will be President and Mrs. Robert Matheny, Athletic Director B.B. Lees, Campus Union and Housing Director Dallan Sanders, and Alumni and Information Director Winston Cox.

The ENMU-West Texas State University football game begins at 1:30 Saturday in Canyon and Eastern alumni are encouraged to purchase tickets on the east side of the stadium for the designated ENMU seating area.

A "Post-Game ENMU Texas Alumni Early Chili Supper" will be after the game and alumni can obtain information about the supper at the Friday social or by calling (505)562-2134.

American Heart Association awards research grants

The American Heart Association, Texas Affiliate will spend more than $2 million for grants to support heart research projects in Texas during their 1986-87 fiscal year, according to Addison A. Taylor, M.D., president of the Association. A total of 113 grants will be funded, averaging $24,000 for each project.

This basic biomedical research is conducted at 16 institutions throughout Texas. The national arm of the Heart Association allocated an additional $1.9 million for research in Texas. This combined funding of $4.6 million represents approximately 37 percent of total dollars raised by Heart Association volunteers in Texas last year. Since 1949, the American Heart Association has committed over $633 million for cardiovascular research.

In June, Baylor College of Medicine in Houston and the University of Texas Health Science Center at Dallas each received $3,375,000 from the American Heart Association to establish AHA-Bugher Centers for Molecular Biology in the Cardiovascular System. These Texas institutions are two of three centers nationwide that will study the cardiovascular system at the molecular level; the third is at Harvard University in Boston.

Two participating scientists at the Dallas center are Joseph Goldstein, M.D., and Michael Brown, M.D., winners of the 1985 Nobel Prize in Medicine for their discoveries of how cells use cholesterol. Brown and Goldstein's previous research received funding from the Texas Affiliate of the American Heart Association.

The research projects funded by the American Heart Association in Texas are sound investments. They prevent premature death and disability, improve our quality of life, and lengthen our lifespan. For more information about the Heart Association's research programs, contact your local Heart Association office.

Military Muster

Navy Seaman Recruit Rodney Turrubiates, son of Maria E. Moreno of 211 Blevins, has completed recruit training at Recruit Training Command, San Diego.

During Turrubiates' eight-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training on one of the Navy's 85 basic fields.

Turrubiates' studies included seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

A 1986 graduate of Hereford High School, Hereford, Tx. he joined the Navy in June 1986.

Pvt. 1st Class Thomas R. Olivarez, son of Alfred L. and Elyven G. Olivarez of Rural Route 4, has participated in "Celtic Cross IV," an Army light infantry division field training exercise held at Fort Hunter Liggett, Calif.

The objective of the exercise was to test and observe the light infantry concept in a combat environment, and to assess the ability of these divisions to deploy overseas and fight in low-to-mid-intensity conflicts.

Olivarez is a cannon crewman with the 7th Infantry Division at Fort Ord, Calif.

He is a 1981 graduate of Sunray High School, Texas.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Basic rye bread is easy to make

By Polly Fisher

DEAR POLLY — I love your whole-wheat quick bread recipes, but do you have recipes for quick breads (non-yeast) made with other grains? I'm particularly interested in breads that are not sweet or dessert-like. Thank you. — MRS. K.W.

DEAR MRS. K.W. — I think you'll be pleased by this basic rye loaf from the pages of "Fast Breads!" by Howard Early and Glenda Morris (1986; The Crossing Press, P.O. Box 640, Trumansburg, NY 14886). With only a tablespoon of sugar, it's definitely not sweet, and is a delicious sandwich or dinner bread.

Mix together 1 cup rye flour, 1 cup unbleached flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon baking soda, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon caraway seeds. Cut 6 tablespoons butter into the dry ingredient mixture with a pastry cutter or work it in with your fingers until it resembles coarse meal. Mix in ¾ cup milk and ½ cup golden raisins (raisins are optional). Stir the batter quickly, then spoon into a greased medium-size loaf pan. Bake at 375 degrees F for 45 minutes. Let the bread cool for 10 minutes before removing it from the pan.

I hope your family enjoys this treat.

DEAR POLLY — Now that people are making Christmas wreaths, they might like this Pointer. The pitch from evergreen boughs can be easily removed from the hands if you rub it with margarine or cooking oil before trying to wash it off with water. Have a happy holiday season! — SYLVIA

DEAR POLLY — I have tried making yogurt cheese (drained yogurt) and my family thinks it is delicious. However, it is very soft and creamy, even after draining for 24 hours. Is there a way to make the cheese thicker and firmer — more like cream cheese, perhaps? — SALLIE ANN

DEAR SALLIE ANN — You can firm up yogurt cheese by pressing it under a weight. After the yogurt has drained for 24 hours, wrap the cheese-cloth it has been draining in snugly around the cheese and tie it with a string or twist-tie, so the cheese is held in a roughly rectangular block. Replace the wrapped cheese in a colander over a bowl. Place a small saucer or plate on top of the cheese and on top of that, put a two- to three-pound weight so it presses down on the cheese. (A clean can of food or a quart Mason jar filled with water is a good weight.) Refrigerate the cheese-and-weight arrangement for five to six hours. More liquid will drain out, and you'll end up with a thick block that has much the consistency of cream cheese, and a mild, rich flavor.

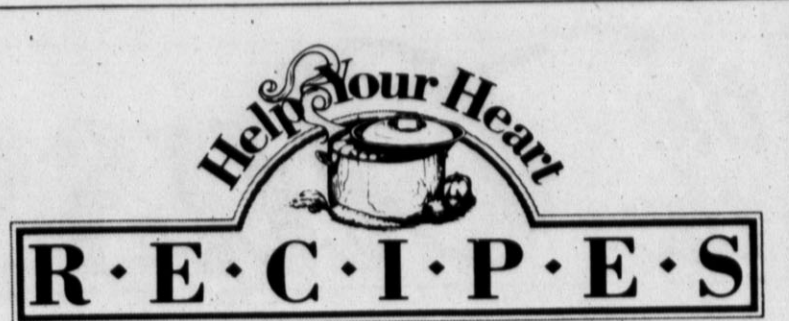

I'm sending you a copy of my newsletter, "Cooking with Yogurt," which gives complete directions for making yogurt cheese and pressed yogurt cheese, as well as delicious recipes for cooking with yogurt and yogurt cheese. Some of the recipes included are grilled yogurt chicken, tomato and cucumber raita, yogurt bread and frozen yogurt. Others who would like a copy of this issue should send $1 for each copy to POLLY'S POINTERS, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to include the title. — POLLY

Audio-visual program begins Nov. 29 at planetarium

Astronomical explanations for the star which led the wise men to the birthplace of Jesus are explored in "The Star of Christmas" which opens Nov. 29 at Moody Planetarium of The Museum of Texas Tech University.

The audio-visual program will run through Dec. 31 at 2 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays, 7:30 p.m. Thursdays and 2 and 3:30 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children and Texas Tech students.

The program maps a winter sky and supposes what the sky might have looked like when Jesus was born.

The most plausible scientific explanation, according to the program, is that the bright star was a rare conjunction of planets. Astronomers believe that Saturn and Jupiter passed side by side two times to form conjunctions. A third conjunction is believed to have occurred the year

Jesus was most likely born. In a rare event which occurs only once in 800 years, Mars joined Jupiter and Saturn in the third conjunction.

Astronomers believe the light from the triple conjunction could have been bright enough to lead the wise men from Persia to Jesus' birthplace in Bethlehem.

Meteors, comets and supernovas are presented as less likely scientific explanations.

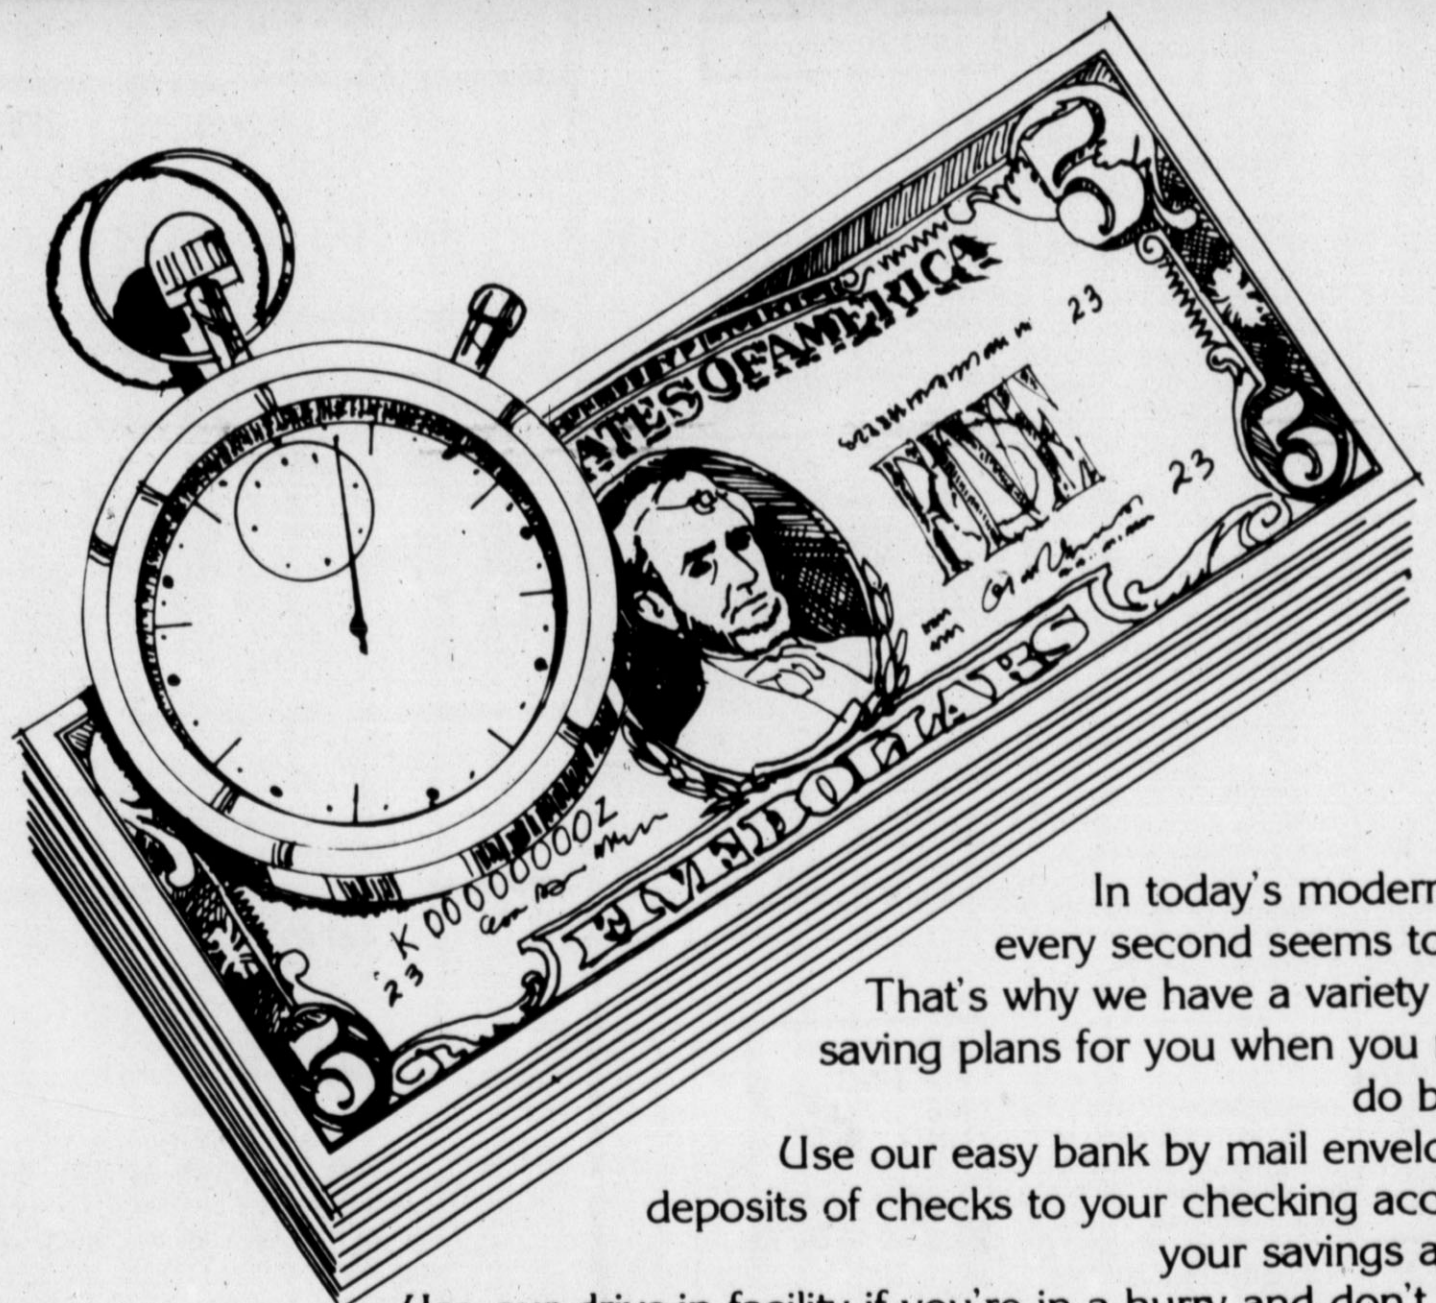

The star might also have been a miraculous event which cannot be explained by science. Individuals must decide for themselves what the star actually was, but whatever it was, the program concludes, it is a symbol of "Peace on earth, good will toward men."
