Accuse DOE of 'cover-up tactics'

Dump foes focus on German shaft accident

Blasting the Department of Energy for "cover-up tactics" in not reporting a construction accident at the site of a nuclear waste repository in Germany, the Nuclear Waste Task Force Wednesday again called for a stop to any activities on a proposed site in Deaf Smith County.

Delbert Devin, president of the NWTF, claimed DOE's statements about proven technology in drilling shafts "has proven to be totally unreliable and unacceptable."

Angela Lamb, district supervisor for the Texas Department of Agriculture, joined Devin at the news conference and said "the recent tragedy in Germany ought to finally shock some sense into DOE."

Nuclear Waste Task Force is getting its quoted statistic of there being a record of 40 percent failures in freeze technology shafts," added Wunderlich.

According to the report, one worker was killed and six injured at the German site by a falling support. The accident occurred May 12 in the first of two shafts at Gorleben, Germany. High pressure at a depth of 234 meters dislodged a 1.5 metric ton steel ring that was supporting the excavation shaft wall.

The federal body in charge of the project said construction would be delayed three to six months. Opponents said the accident confirmed their view that the site is geologically unsuited. But project officials said the borehole problem had no bearing on the suitability of the salt dome.

Lamb said now that the German shaft wall has collapsed, killing and injuring workers and possibly ending the research project, "DOE's claim can be seen for what it really is—nothing more than smoke and mirrors."

"The fact is," said Lamb, "that nearly half of the shafts drilled with this freeze technology fail. She pointed out that two exploratory shafts are planned in Deaf Smith County, and two or three more if the repository goes here.

"On the average, then, one or two of their shafts would collapse. DOE knows this track record, and DOE (See DOE, Page 2)

Task Force Conference

The Nuclear Waste Task Force and the Texas Department of Agriculture called for a moratorium on the nuclear waste repository study in Deaf Smith County Wednesday, after reporting on a shaft accident in West Germany. Delbert Devin, president of the Nuclear Waste Task Force, and Angela Lamb, district supervisor for TDA, read statements at a news conference.

Devin said the question now is "Why did the DOE not tell the people in Hereford about this accident and possible loss of the entire shaft?" Devin said the news item he received quoted a German official as saying he could not exclude the possibility that the entire construction of the permanent dump will be stopped.

"If this is true, should construction of a shaft in Deaf Smith County ever start?" asked Devin.

Bob Wunderlich, DOE official in the local project office, said his office "has provided the best information on what occurred," noting that a question on the accident was posed at the regular weekly briefing here Wednesday morning.

He added that much of the information was based on speculation from news reports and said, "We have had no written report from German officials and we are awaiting a full investigation on the matter."

Wunderlich said it was DOE's impression, from the first press reports, that there was "soft ground" at the German site and workers apparently did not secure the shaft. "We don't think they will abandon the shaft project."

"It is hard to hide information that you do not have, and we have been unable to determine where the Jury says Carbajal should stand trial for murder in Aug.

By DEBE GRAVES
Staff Writer

A Deaf Smith County jury which included a preacher and a city official determined early Wednesday that Florentino Carbajal is competent to stand trial for the December 1986, slaying of his wife.

Jurors heard testimony beginning on Tuesday afternoon and concluding at noon on Wednesday. Witnesses included three psychiatrists, jail personnel and inmates, a high school teacher who conducts GED classes in the jail and Carbajal's parole officer.

Psychiatrists testifying in the competency hearing included Dr. Preston Shaw of Lubbock, Dr. James Johnson of Amarillo and Dr. Mary Bubliss of Plainview. Shaw and Johnson each examined Carbajal in March. Shaw stood alone in his testimony that he found Carbajal incompetent. Bubliss stated that she examined the defendant in May and while respecting Dr. Shaw as a professional she also found Carbajal to be competent.

Among jail personnel testifying in the hearing was Laura Shepard who had been warned by Carbajal that if she reported his misdeeds in jail he would have relatives and friends on the outside make life tough for her. Carbajal later wrote the jailer a letter of apology for the incident.

Through a series of testimonies District Attorney Roland Saul built the image of Carbajal as a fun-loving flirt. Jailers and lay people who have had daily contact with the defendant testified about his daily conduct and their belief that he is competent.

A teacher who conducts classes for the inmates of Deaf Smith County Jail, where Carbajal has been held since his capture on Jan. 1, testified the defendant attended the classes where he cut-up and made fun of those who were seriously studying.

In a private interview, Jerry Smith, Carbajal's court-appointed defense attorney, stated that there was sufficient evidence in his mind that the defendant was incompetent to warrant a hearing. Smith commented that Carbajal tells some strange stories concerning the involvement of his dead wife and her mother in witchcraft.

Though the issue of witchcraft appeared briefly in the hearing it is expected to be more of an issue in the murder trial slated for Aug. 12.

At that time the deceased's mother, Mary Soyla Tamez, is expected to testify. Tamez did not appear for the competency hearing and is under orders to appear in court on July 27 to explain her absence.

Carbajal, 22, is accused of shooting his common-law wife Marina Tamez twice with a .38 caliber handgun. He was arrested near Dimmitt after an intensive manhunt involving officers from the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department, the Hereford Police Department, the Castro County Sheriff's Department, the Amarillo Special Crimes Unit and the Texas Highway Patrol.

U.S. operated tanker on way to Kuwait attacked by Iranian gunboat in Gulf

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — An Iranian gunboat attacked a U.S.-operated supertanker with rocket-propelled grenades and machine guns today in the northern Persian Gulf off Kuwait, setting the ship on fire, maritime sources said. The 273,205-ton Peconic, which is registered in Liberia and flies that country's flag, was hit at 11 a.m. (3 a.m. EDT) and radioed a distress signal to marine salvage offices, said the sources, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

No casualties were reported. The Peconic was hit 60 miles southeast of al-Ahmedi, Kuwait's main oil terminal, where 11 Kuwaiti tankers are due to arrive with U.S. Navy escorts later this month. The tankers are being re-registered in the United States.

Iran warned the United States today not to go ahead with its reflagging plans for Kuwaiti ships.

State-run Tehran radio said in a commentary, monitored in Nicosia, that by entering the Persian Gulf, the United States was "entering quicksands which will have more dangerous consequences than the U.S. military ever experienced in Lebanon or Vietnam."

The maritime officials said the Peconic was on its way to Kuwait to load 60,000 tons of oil before heading to Saudi Arabia's Ras Tanura terminal to pick up another shipment.

Tugboats were sent to help the Peconic, which according to Lloyd's Register of Shipping is owned by Gray Shipping Inc. of Monrovia, Liberia. Sources at Lloyd's Shipping Intelligence in London said the vessel's operators was Universe Tankships Inc. of Delaware.

Thomas Castano, a spokesman for Universe Tankships, said the captain told the company the ship was hit by about 18 rocket-propelled grenades.

Castano said "everybody seems to be OK" aboard. Gulf shipping circles said there were 40 men aboard, none American, and identified the captain as Monogios Mikhael of Greece.

In shore-to-ship contacts with the vessel, a crew member told The Associated Press the attack was carried out by a high-speed launch that caught up with the Peconic and "just opened fire."

Nine rocket-propelled grenades were fired, then the attackers reloaded and fired another nine, igniting a fire that was put out by the crew, he said.

"This is our third ship that was hit" in the Persian Gulf, Castano said, but "I guess we have to keep going in there if we have orders."

In Washington, Pentagon spokesman Maj. Larry Icenogle said the attack did not require a U.S. military response because the ship is not a U.S.-flagged vessel.

The raid on the Peconic was apparently in retaliation for at least two Iraqi attacks this week on tankers near Iran's Kharg Island terminal in the gulf's northern waters.

The official Iraqi News Agency reported earlier today that Iraqi warplanes hit a tanker holding area east of Kharg Wednesday night, "scoring destructive hits after penetrating enemy air defenses."

The agency, monitored in Nicosia, said all the Iraqi planes returned safely to base after the attack just before midnight.

It was the ninth raid on Iranian tankers claimed by Iraq since it ended a 34-day lull in the so-called "tanker war" June 20. Five of those raids have been independently confirmed.

Iran has retaliated with attacks on five merchant ships in the neutral southern waters of the gulf.

Iraq said its warplanes also bombed Kharg, hub of Iran's oil export network, on Tuesday and attacked two ships.

City economy not ripe for major capital improvements

The City of Hereford needs a capital improvement program and the mayor and city commission are receptive to the idea, but economic conditions are not ripe to implement a program at this time, City Manager Darwin McGill told members of the Hereford Lions Club at a regular weekly luncheon meeting Wednesday.

As guest speaker at the Lions' meeting, McGill gave a "State of the City" report, noting that the city was in strong financial position at this time. The city approved a new budget May 1 with no tax increase, pointed out McGill, who has been here two years.

"I would like to see some city improvements made on such things as streets, parks and drainage but, with our depressed economy, this is not the time," said McGill. Increased services mean higher taxes and citizens are not in the mood for tax hikes, according to the city manager.

McGill said the city is starting its annual seal-coat program on some city streets. Union Street, which McGill says is in "deplorable" condition, is one street targeted for repair.

A new process will be used to cover the brick street and the city hopes it will prove successful, said the city manager.

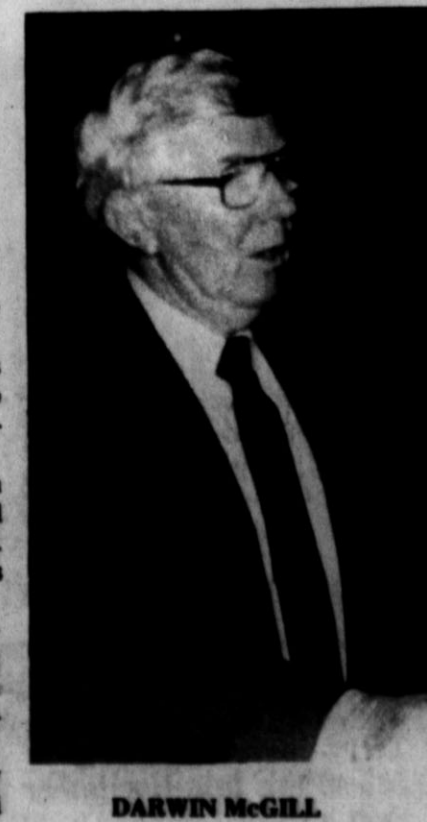

McGill also noted that the city had attempted to attack the weed problem in the city, sending notices to owners of vacant lots and using a part-time man to eliminate weeds. The city is cooperating with the chamber of commerce in this program.

The city manager praised the city's volunteer fire department as one of the best "anywhere." He said the city was fortunate to have "this tremendous volunteer service" which also saved the city a great sum of money. The city has a new fire station, which McGill noted was a project of former city manager Dudley Bayne.

McGill said numerous citizens had asked about the possible installation of a traffic signal at US-385 and 15th Street, but he noted the tentative date for installation by the state has been set for August 1988. The law on who is responsible, city or state, was recently changed and now the state takes care of signal lights in cities up to 50,000 population.

This change saves the city about $65,000 or $70,000 in installation costs, but it also delays the time of the project, said McGill. The city manager said he and his wife had received "a great reception in Hereford and we are enjoying living in this community."

The Lions will be sponsoring their annual summer carnival next week, and President J.D. Bryant reminded members of their work assignments. New members recognized Wednesday were John Kriegerhaus, Hubert Holcombe Jr., Paul Hale, Jeff Love and Danny Gerra.

Anybody who thinks the automobile has made Americans lazy probably doesn't shovel his own driveway in the winter.

America's love affair with the automobile is not a one-night stand—it endures and expands to a degree even Henry Ford would find difficult to imagine.

What brings this subject to mind is a news item we noticed from Pensacola, Fla. A funeral home there has installed a large drive-in window so people can pay last respects to a deceased friend or relative without leaving their cars. The undertaker says this service is popular because some people don't like to dress up for a funeral and others just don't like to get out of their car for any reason.

The Florida undertaker goes on to explain that people can even view the deceased through the window, and pull out a tray with a register book to sign in as a mourner. Drive-in services have come a long way, but this sounds a little far out!

It might be surprising to the younger generation that some of us remember the first drive-in hamburger joints and drive-in movies that came along about the time of World War II. Now there are many things you can do without leaving your car. You can order and eat dinner; put money in or take money out of a bank; you can take your film to have it processed; you can pay your utility bills, or pass your clothes to the dry-cleaner through a window.

Maybe this indicates that Americans are willing to do almost anything as long as they are sitting down—and preferably sitting in their own car.

Have you ever wondered how some of those protesters make a living? An Associated Press article Wednesday reported that an estimated 3,000 demonstrators flocked to the Capitol in Austin Tuesday to tell lawmakers they prefer higher taxes to reduction in vital state services.

A lot of folks who would be willing to demonstrate against higher taxes don't have time to take off their jobs and go to Austin for a protest rally. Some of us can't help but think that most of those protesters are getting government checks, and they'd like to see us working taxpayers kick in a little more money.

In pawned Rolex watches

Houston pawnshops report business boom

HOUSTON (AP) — Pawnbroker Jean Davis twirled a diamond-fringed, 18-karat gold men's Rolex watch in his fingers, one of dozens left at his store by the oilpatch's newly poor.

"They hate to see that Rolex go," he said, describing his downwardly mobile clientele. "But the last thing to go is the wife's Rolex, because that could cost a divorce."

Once a status symbol of high-flying, money-making good times in the petroleum fast lane, Rolex watches have become a common sight in Houston pawnshops, some of which hang special signs offering to buy or pawn the status timepieces.

Most pawnshop owners say the boom in second-hand watches began about 18 months to two years ago, and shows few signs of letting up as Houston's economy lingers in the doldrums.

"This was a guy in the oil business," said Davis, waving the newly acquired, top-of-the-line, diamond-decorated "President's" watch that sold new for nearly $15,000. Another watch belonged to a stockbroker, yet another to a real estate agent, he said.

Each one had a tale of financial downfall behind it, Davis said.

"Nobody wants to come in and just borrow money, they want to come in and tell you how they got poor," he said.

Anthony Petkas, who runs A&P Pawn & Jewelry near Davis' Diamond Liquidators, agrees.

"They all come in with a story, and if I don't hear the story, they won't sell the watch," Petkas said. "If they would just come in and not give me any stories, I'd give them more money."

Most pawnshop operators agree

Rolex watches are among a family's last expensive items to be pawned, thereby providing a unique index of Houstonians' financial misfortune, a kind of losing economic indicator.

"First you saw the executives, then you saw their bosses," Davis said. "We're now seeing a lot of real estate people come in, since the oil people have already gone bad."

"If it wasn't for the Rolex watches, I'd be broke," said Petkas. Four of the watches sat in a nearby display case in his store, one still in its original box.

Berle Landow, who opened his pawnshop about a year ago, says his Rolex business has been strong.

"The day I opened they started coming in with them," Landow said. "Usually it's the same story — oil industry."

"I think people are going back to the real life," said Gary Morgan, owner of Morgan Pawn Shop. "Right now, there is no flash, no cash, no work."

Nonetheless, Petkas and others tell stories about customers who drive up in expensive foreign cars to pawn their watches.

"To them it is like losing a kid, or a wife or something," Petkas said. "I get certain people who would wear a Rolex and starve."

Morgan, a 15-year veteran of the Houston pawn business, said he's noticed a huge increase in the number of pawnshops that have sprung up to service the business in the past two years.

Most Houston pawnshop owners limit loans on Rolex watches to $300, instead offering to buy them.

Pawnshops usually offer sellers about 30 to 40 percent of the watches' original value. The shops then resell them for about 50 percent of their original value, depending on condition, shop owners say.

The most common Rolex watches sell new for between $1,000 to $10,000, although they can sell for much more with diamonds and other options, according to John Flaherty, attorney for Rolex in New York.

While Flaherty says Texas, and Houston particularly, traditionally have been strong markets for Rolex watches, Houston retailers report sales have dropped dramatically.

At Walzel's jewelry store, owner Cheryl Walzel says demand for new Rolex watches has fallen off at least 30 percent over the past three years, a drop she attributes to the tottering local economy.

Galvin Becker, who owns Becker's Jewelers, also reported sales had fallen, and that discounting has become a major factor in new sales.

Meanwhile, Landow, who buys three to four Rolexes a week, said he has a customer waiting list for second-hand purchases.

"It's the average lay people (who are now interested in buying)," Landow said. "It's the guy who still has the $4-an-hour job."

Over at Westside Jewelry and Loan, manager Mike Doyle said he gets out-of-state buyers.

"I get a couple of calls a day from people out of state who go to their public library and look through the Yellow Pages for pawnshops in Houston," he said.

Many of them arrange to purchase the watches by telephone, either wiring money or charging the sale, and having the watches sent to them, Doyle said. Others are businessmen planning to pass through Houston; hoping to buy a watch while they are in town.

He said many callers are lured by his Yellow Pages ad, which shows a picture of a Rolex watch. Doyle attracts local buyers in a similar fashion.

POWER chapter to set fundraiser events

An ice cream social and auction for Aug. 7 will be the next money-raising event sponsored by the Hereford Chapter of POWER (People Opposed to Wasted Energy Repositories).

The event is to be held at the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and proceeds will go to the Nuclear Waste Task Force, it was announced in a recent POWER meeting. And, in September, a benefit dance and dinner is planned.

In other business, the POWER board agreed to loan out the VHS tape of the PBS documentary "Nuclear Legacy" to interested persons or organizations. To reserve the tape, contact the POWER office, from 8:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m., Tuesday through Thursday, at 364-6354.

The next POWER board meeting is Aug. 3 at 7 p.m. in the POWER office on South Kingwood.

An oxygen cylinder which was rented and not returned was reported as a theft to Deaf Smith County deputies Wednesday. Deputies also received a report of a stolen vehicle, but it was later found.

Child tries to avoid spanking

A 5-year-old boy found by a woman on East 15th Street told Hereford police that he ran away from home on Wednesday so he would not get a spanking. Officers report that the child was returned to his family and note that it is unknown if he got the spanking.

On a more serious note, officers report a call from a woman who said her husband had tried to commit suicide. Upon arrival of HPD officers and ambulance personnel it was discovered the man had cut himself superficially. He refused medical treatment.

Officers stood by to keep the peace in the 900 block of South McKinley while a man removed his clothes from his mother-in-law's house. Officers also responded to family disturbances on Bradley and Ave. E, and to a family fight in which assault was involved.

Officers responded to a neighbor dispute in the 400 block of Ave. B involving neighborhood children playing in a driveway and checked a report of a suspicious vehicle which turned out to belong to a neighbor.

A man at Blue Water Garden

apartments reported he was chased by another man trying to hit him with a chain belt. When the suspect could not catch him, he went back and beat on the man's car with the belt. Damage is estimated at $150 and charges were filed.

A woman at the apartments reported $65 worth of food stamps were taken from her purse sometime during the day.

Furniture valued at $300 including a dining table, four chairs and two bar stools were taken in the burglary of a house on Lake Street. Other thefts included two bikes stolen from the 200 block of Beach and a flag pole rope from Mother's Park at Park Ave. and Main Street.

Witnesses saw a 12-year-old boy shoot the windshield on a vehicle on Hereford Calle. The youth is suspected of damaging another vehicle at the address.

A woman in the 800 block of Knight reported she paid a man to mow her yard and he never came back to perform the service.

Ten citations were issued and one structure fire call was responded to at Big T Pump.

North suggests Congress to blame for affair

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Col. Oliver North, turning on his pursuers, today criticized the Iran-Contra hearings as unfair and damaging to the national interest, and said Congress must shoulder the blame for a "fickle, vacillating, unknows about the German accident. But they have kept mum about it to Congress and the public. It's time that DOE comes clean."

The thing to do, according to Lamb, is to stop DOE from starting land acquisition and site characterization. She said Congress has made a start through proposed legislation to put a moratorium on the whole program while a national commission reconsiders the nuclear waste dilemma.

"TDA has argued repeatedly that punching holes through the Ogallala aquifer for a nuclear waste dump was insane, and now the accident at the German dump site makes it even more imperative that we stop DOE," she added. "DOE officials have always claimed that they would be able to use a proven 'freeze' technology in drilling massive shafts through the Ogallala. When they were pressed to show that freezing could work for such a large shaft, they pointed to the German project as an example."

"Does the DOE think the people in the Panhandle should not be told the full story or do they not care?" asked Devin. "Do they not see the implications for the Deaf Smith site or are they so intent upon cover-up that they are promoting a program they know is unsafe for workers and for the protection of our precious water supply?"

Lamb gave this account of the German accident: "On May 12, one worker was killed and five injured in Gorleben, West German, when part of the wall for a 25-foot-wide shaft be-predictable" policy toward the Nicaraguan rebels.

"Of one thing I am certain, is that you will not investigate yourself in this matter," he said to more than two dozen members of Congress arrayed before him, each one waiting a ing constructed for a nuclear waste repository collapsed. The shaft was one of two being constructed with techniques similar to those proposed by DOE for shaft construction in Deaf Smith County: drilling multiple boreholes in a circle and filling them with a chemical to freeze the ground and the underlying aquifer while the main shaft is sunk. Underground pressure at the German site was unexpectedly high, causing the collapse. The bottom 50 feet of the shaft has been filled with concrete. While Germany's Federal Minister of Environment and Nuclear Safety has said that construction would proceed, another German government official has stated that the entire construction project may have to be stopped. The German site is in salt domes; the Deaf Smith site would be in bedded salt."

turn to ask questions.

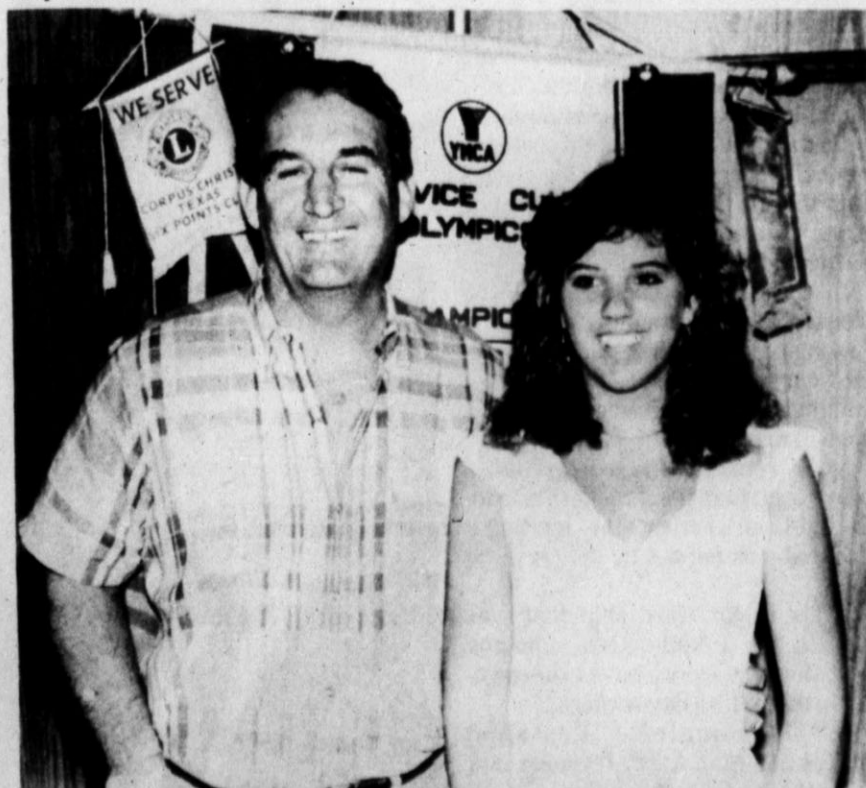

Reading a lengthy prepared opening statement in advance of what is expected to be a withering cross-examination, the decorated Marine officer portrayed himself as a simple staff officer during six years on the National Security Council staff. "I did not engage in fantasy that I was the president or vice president or Cabinet member or even the director of the National Security Council," he said.

North's wife, Betsy, sat behind him as he read his prepared statement. The document was originally written to be delivered before his opening day of testimony on Tuesday, but the

In a direct attack on the senators and representatives waiting to question him, North likened their investigation to a grossly unfair sporting event. Mayor Henry Cisneros of San Antonio told the crowd: If there's enough money to buy foreign cars and Gucci shoes and apartment complexes, there's enough money to pay for the education of the children."

I've always admired Cisneros, but that's political rhetoric if I've ever heard it. Cisneros knows very well who pays most of the taxes and who would be hit hardest by tax raises, and that's the great majority of middle-income wage earners—not those who buy Gucci shoes.

The Senate is considering a bill to tax consumers for insurance, the third highest cost people experience behind lodging and food. Not only would this tax hit hard again at the theicizens carrying the burden of the tax load, but it would amount to double-taxation. The price of all insurance policies already includes a state-mandated tax. Last year the insurance industry paid the state about $400 million in premium taxes.

Local taxes, as well as insurance premiums, already are inflated because of indigent health care. Legislators are already hearing citizen complaints on this proposed sales tax on insurance. In Pennsylvania, legislators passed such a tax and repealed it six days later after more than a million letters of protest came from the insurance-buying public.

Smugglers big winners in immigration reform

By JODY COX
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Smugglers who ply the U.S.-Mexico border charging illegal aliens for their passage to the promised land apparently are cashing in on immigration reform, officials say.

The discovery of scores of illegal aliens in locked train cars in Texas and tractor-trailers in California indicates that smuggling of undocumented workers across the border is on the rise, said Mario Ortiz, U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service spokesman in Dallas.

"This can't be coincidental," Ortiz said Wednesday. "You're talking about four separate incidents in two states."

Eighteen illegal aliens suffocated in a locked boxcar in West Texas last week and 19 more were rescued from a locked trailer on a flatbed railcar Wednesday in South Texas. Nearly 150 undocumented workers were found hiding in tractor-trailer rigs in two separate Southern California incidents this week.

Ortiz said the boxcar deaths were the largest single tragedy involving illegal aliens anyone can remember.

Border Patrol agents in Texas report that numbers of illegal aliens taken into custody have decreased by 35-40 percent since the new immigration law went into effect this spring, he said.

"You've got apprehensions (of aliens) that are going down, but maybe that means it's a more lucrative time for smugglers to put together more loads," Ortiz said. "They may think that their operations are more in demand."

Reuben Bonilla, chairman of the Mexican-American Democrats of Texas, said alien smugglers are profiting from the new immigration law. "The big winner is the coyotes who earn more money now by smuggling people in," he said.

"We're only seeing the tip of the iceberg now," the Corpus Christi resident said. "There will be more human tragedy, not only in the hot summer but also in the bitter cold of winter."

But a member of an aliens rights group says incidents like the suffocation deaths in West Texas have been going on for years.

"Last year there was a man who was decapitated in the same area, and a woman was cut in two by a railroad train," said Debbie Nathan of the League for Immigration and Border Rights Education in El Paso. Ms. Nathan said she hopes that the issues raised by the boxcar deaths won't die after a couple of weeks.

"Nobody's being deterred from coming to the United States by the immigration law," she said. "They (illegals) simply think that several bad things came together in the boxcar deaths, and that it won't happen to them."

Ms. Nathan said undocumented workers don't fear the smugglers because they are part of the system that gets them to economic opportunity in the United States.

"It's not a cops and robbers issue," she said. "There's a market for them here."

Ortiz said riding on trains is one of several traditional travel methods that illegal aliens have used for years.

"Rail is one of the most effective ways of getting into the interior," he said. "You get on a train and you're in San Antonio or Dallas or even the Midwest in a matter of hours."

Bonilla said the new immigration law has altered the flow of undocumented workers across the border, but the boxcar deaths show the tide won't be stemmed by law.

"It's an inevitable footnote to the immigration reform," he said. "We warned Congress that the Simpson-Mazzoli legislation was not a panacea, that no set of laws could prevent a hungry and economically repressed people from entering America.

"What it has accomplished is driving the flow of immigrants underground," Bonilla said. "Most undocumented workers used to walk into this country, but now they'll ride on trains."

Ms. Nathan said her group wants railroad companies to put bilingual signs on rail cars informing illegal aliens of the dangers of riding in them.

Ortiz agreed that worsening economic conditions in Mexico will continue to stimulate illegals to cross the border.

"The immigration bill has created an air of uncertainty about whether they can get a job here ... so they're going to sit back and see if and how the INS is going to enforce it."

Marcos plotted to kidnap, overthrow Mrs. Aquino

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ferdinand E. Marcos plotted to kidnap and overthrow Philippine President Corason Aquino beginning with a return this weekend to the land he ruled for two decades, according to reports of his conversations with an arms dealer.

Learning of the plot, the Reagan administration, which supported Marcos until shortly before his ouster as Philippine president in February 1986, has barred the 69-year-old exiled leader from leaving the Hawaiian island of Oahu, State Department spokesman Charles E. Redman said Wednesday. Redman said an emissary also hand-carried a letter to Marcos from President Reagan, whom Marcos once considered a close friend. Redman did not disclose the letter's contents but said it repeated the president's admonition "that while Mr. Marcos is in the United States he is subject to our laws."

The U.S. government has a tape of a conversation between Marcos and an arms dealer that indicated the former president was actively plotting to overthrow Mrs. Aquino, government sources said.

Officials said the Justice Department was expected to disclose more details of Marcos' alleged plans today, and the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on Asia and the Pacific scheduled a hearing on the matter.

In Honolulu, Marcos called a news conference Wednesday, rescheduled it for today and then canceled it. Spokesman Leonie Tan said he wasn't told why the news conference was canceled. Marcos has denied previous allegations that he planned to return without Philippine government permission or that he planned to overthrow the Aquino government.

The State Department's legal adviser, Abraham D. Sofaer, delivered the warning against travel to Marcos at his home, Redman said, adding that it concerned "activities which we believe violated the understandings under which he is permitted to remain a guest in the United States."

On the tape, Marcos said he expected to have a 10,000-member force of support troops meet him in the Philippines with tanks and Stinger missiles, ABC and The Washington Post reported.

DR. GOTT Finding help for the elderly

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My 80-year-old friend fell and broke her leg several years ago. Since then she's had a dread of falling and just sits in her chair looking out the window. A neighbor feeds her twice a day, but she hasn't had a real bath in a year. She has no family. She's considering a nursing home but asks my advice. What should I tell her?

DEAR READER — Our society is seeking solutions to an increasingly severe problem: infirm old people with no one to take care of them. To date, the solutions are elusive. Elderly, partially handicapped citizens live in one-room apartments on meager incomes, sometimes — according to news reports — resorting to eating pet food for nourishment. Similar patients, with no family, live in virtual isolation in the country, trying — with the help of friends like you — to keep going.

Most nursing homes have long waiting lists. Young people, for various valid reasons, often are not in a position to help their shut-in relatives. As people live longer, they need more help and support; yet we seem increasingly unable or unwilling to provide these services.

There are several resources you might investigate. To begin with, your friend's doctor may be of tremendous help. Ask him or her to become involved. A nursing home sounds like a logical choice for your friend, and the doctor should be able to evaluate the situation and take charge of her medical care and probable placement in a facility where she can be taken care of.

Ask your town or municipal Social Service Department for assistance.

Social workers are often invaluable in resolving situations like this, as well as obtaining state or federal funds if your friend needs financial assistance.

Finally, check with the Visiting Nurse Association in your community. Visiting nurses are close to being saints, in my opinion, because they can coordinate a multitude of home services for the elderly. These include regular medical check-ins, bathing, supervision of medicine, ordering of meals and general supportive care that can, in many cases, literally make a difference between life and death. Visiting nurses are unsung heroes whose ministrations give real meaning to the term "health care."

I think that the combination of doctor/social worker/visiting nurse is the logical way to proceed. Tell your friend that help is on the way.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have a beautiful, bright 7-year-old grandson who constantly walks on his tiptoes. His parents refuse to seek medical advice and they tell me to butt out. Will he outgrow this way of walking?

DEAR READER — Children often tend to walk on their toes. Although this occurs in normal youngsters, some orthopedic abnormalities — such as tight calf muscles — can produce this gait. Your grandson probably will outgrow the tendency to walk on his toes as he gets older.

Nonetheless, I agree with you that he should be medically checked. Perhaps, with your encouragement, his parents should mention this to his pediatrician at the time of the child's next routine examination.

Expos defeat Astros, Ryan, 1-0

Youmans gets fourth career one-hitter

By The Associated Press
Floyd Youmans says he wonders what it would be like to pitch a no-hitter.

He'll have to keep wondering as he pitched his fourth one-hitter in two years as the Expos edged the Houston Astros, 1-0, Wednesday night.

"That is the fourth one-hitter in two years," Youmans said. "I keep thinking about the feeling that you must get when you pitch a no-hitter."

Youmans was working on a perfect game for the first five innings until Alan Ashby drew a leadoff walk in the sixth inning. He was working on a no-hitter until Kevin Bass started the eighth with a line drive single off the right field wall.

It was the second straight shutout performance by a Montreal pitcher against the Astros. Bob Sebra pitched a shutout Tuesday night as the Expos defeated the Astros, 2-0.

Youmans walked two and struck out three to boost his record to 6-3. The other walk was Bill Doran in the seventh inning.

His Montreal Expos teammates did all they could to keep him from getting nervous about a possible no-hitter, but Youmans said one fan in the Astrodome wouldn't cooperate.

"In the dugout, people wouldn't talk to me and were staying away from me to keep my mind off it," said Youmans. "But there was some guy behind the dugout who kept yelling, 'Think about it Youmans, you're pitching a no-hitter, think about it.'"

Youmans, making just his second start since coming off the disabled list from a back injury, said that Bass' hit was on a fast ball.

"I was trying to keep it away, but I was tired and got it up and over the plate," he said.

"We didn't want to walk Bass in that situation," Expos catcher Jeff Reed said. "We had been throwing him changeups, sliders all night long, so I didn't think he would be sitting on the fastball. I thought he would be thinking off-speed."

"Youmans had good command of his breaking pitches all night," said Bass. "It seemed like the count was always 0-1 on our hitters."

"You can't win many games with only three baserunners," Astros manager Hal Lanier said.

Scholarship

golf tourney

set for ENMU

A scholarship fund-raising golf tournament has been scheduled at the Colonial Park Country Club in New Mexico on July 18-19.

Proceeds from this first annual golf tournament will go to the Eastern New Mexico University scholarship programs of the Portales and Clovis campuses.

The tournament will be a two-day, 36-hole event. Prizes will include a new car for the first hole-in-one of the tournament. The tournament is also called the Play "Fore" Eastern tournament.

Entry deadline is July 15. Team entry fees are $150 and includes carts for two days, and morning refreshments and an afternoon cookout for players on both tournament days.

The entry fee also includes a steak dinner and dance closing the first day of the tournament. Practice rounds will be held on Friday, July 17, followed by a social at 7 p.m.

Tee times for each day are set from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Entry forms are available at Colonial Park Country Club, the ENMU Clovis campus, and the ENMU athletic department office in Portales, or contact Carolyn Pressley, ENMU-Clovis golf coordinator, 417 Schepps Blvd., Clovis, N.M., 88101.

The only run of the game came in the first inning off Astros starter and loser Nolan Ryan, 4-10. It was Ryan's fifth straight loss.

Tim Raines had a two-out infield single, stole second and scored on a single by Tim Wallach.

"The best game that I pitched last year was in the Astrodome and I lost it to Ryan 1-0," said Youmans. "Right now I need couple of more starts to get back into good shape."

The performances by Youmans and Sebra against the Astros left Expos manager Buck Rodgers feeling good about his pitching staff.

"I feel better about our pitching now than at anytime this season," Rodgers said.

In other games, St. Louis took a doubleheader from Los Angeles, 8-7 and 6-3; Philadelphia beat Cincinnati 7-2; San Francisco defeated Pittsburgh 8-4 in 14 innings; Atlanta downed New York 5-3 and Chicago rallied past San Diego 12-8; Cardinals 8, Dodgers 7; Cardinals 6, Dodgers 3.

Maybe the St. Louis Cardinals should play a whole bunch of doubleheaders next season, preferably all in a row.

The Cardinals continued to make the most of a scheduling predicament Wednesday and swept a doubleheader from the Los Angeles Dodgers for the second straight evening. Rainouts had created the doubleheaders at Busch Stadium.

The sweeps extended the Cardinals' longest winning streak of the season to seven in a row and gave them a nine-game lead in the National League East.

Terry Pendleton drove in four runs, including an RBI single in the 10th inning, as St. Louis won the second game 8-7. Jack Clark's three-run homer highlighted a 6-3 triumph in the opener.

Phillies 7, Reds 2

Glenn Wilson hit a two-run homer as Philadelphia completed a three-game sweep at Riverfront Stadium for the first time since 1984.

The Phillies scored 26 runs on 43 hits with six homers in three days against Cincinnati.

Wilson's 12th homer broke a 1-1 tie in the fourth inning against Guy Hoffman, 7-3. Von Hayes had three hits, including an RBI single during a four-run fifth.

Eric Davis hit his NL-leading 26th home run.

Giants 8, Pirates 4

Bob Melvin singled home the tiebreaking run in the 14th inning and Chili Davis followed with a three-run homer as San Francisco won in Pittsburgh.

Singles by Joel Youngblood, Jose Uribe and Melvin off rookie Brett Gideon, 1-1, made it 5-4 in the 14th. Davis, released earlier in the day from the hospital after some abdominal discomfort, hit his 13th homer.

The Pirates sent the game into extra innings when Andy Van Slyke hit a solo home run with one out in the ninth off Scott Garrelts.

Braves 5, Mets 3

Charlie Puleo pitched a six-hitter and Gary Roenicke homered and drove in two runs as Atlanta ended a five-game losing streak by beating New York.

The Braves, who have lost 12 of their last 16, scored only five runs in their five losses. Puleo, 3-2, pitched his first complete game of the season.

Sid Fernandez, 9-5, took the loss. Darryl Strawberry hit his 21st homer and a triple for the Mets.

Cubs 12, Padres 8

Jim Sundberg's pinch-hit grand slam highlighted an eight-run rally in the eighth inning that sent Chicago over San Diego.

There was no trouble in the game, played one day after Chicago's Andre Dawson was sent to the hospital after being hit in the face by a pitch from Eric Show. The incident resulted in a bench-clearing fight and led to seven ejections.

Texas held a 2-1 lead

Rangers lose again to Blue Jays, 5-2

By The Associated Press
Good pitching, team play and great defense will beat great hitting any time.
That's the way it was for the Toronto Blue Jays, still recovering from a recent eight-game losing streak that included three losses to the New York Yankees, their rivals for first place in the American League East. They wound up sweeping a three-game series with the Texas Rangers.

Toronto scored two runs without a hit in the seventh inning Wednesday night to overcome a 2-1 Texas lead and win 5-2.

"For any ballclub to win you have got to put things together," said Tony Fernandez, who drove in the winning run. "We are playing together as a team and that is the key. Everybody is doing something (to contribute) and that takes pressure off some individuals."

"When things are going bad, it seems like nothing works out for you," Fernandez said. "Fortunately we've been able to change things around."

Jeff Musselman, 7-2, pitched 2 1/3 innings of one-hit relief and Tom Henke picked up his 16th save of the season and third of the series.

Bobby Witt, 4-4, allowed only two hits but loaded the bases in the seventh by hitting Willie Upshaw and walking two batters. Reliever Jeff Russell then walked Garth Iorg on four straight pitches before Fernandez drove hit a run-scoring grounder to second base.

Catcher Ernie Whitt called a team meeting before the series and stressed the need for "going back to the

On Wednesday, George Bell caught a line drive by Oddibe McDowell against the left-field wall and Rick Leach, who rarely starts, made a leaping catch of a Ruben Sierra line drive near the right-field wall.

In the sixth, Lloyd Moseby relayed a ball from the gap in left-center to Fernandez, who cut down Larry Parrish trying to score from first on Mike Stanley's double.

"We are not making the mistakes that we were during the losing streak," Whitt said. "It's simple as that."

"There's no question pitching and defense are going to win (the division title) and we are strong in both suits."

Second-place Toronto remained four games behind the Yankees and sixth-place Texas stayed 7 1/2 games behind the Minnesota Twins in the AL West. Jose Nunez, 0-0, is scheduled to make his first major league start for Toronto tonight against Kansas City's Bud Black, 4-2. The Royals swept four games from Toronto last weekend.

Texas returned home for a four-game series against the Cleveland Indians.

Texas has lost nine consecutive games in Toronto and nine of 10 this season.

"I've seen enough of this park ... weird things happen here," said Texas Manager Bobby Valentine, who was angered by two umpiring decisions. "Line drives off gloves, off mounds and off fences."

"It was the first time Russell walked a guy on four pitches all year.

We'll go home and things will get better."

Curtis Wilkerson connected for a solo homer off Toronto starter John Cerutti in the fifth inning for his second of the season and third of his career. The other two came against Minnesota.

Sierra hit a two-out solo homer in the first, his 11th of the season.

Toronto replied in the bottom of the first. Fernandez drew a walk, stole second, moved to third on a grounder and scored on Rance Mulliniks' double to right.

Cerutti lasted 6 1/3 innings and surrendered six hits.

Toronto padded the lead in the eighth on an RBI single by Whitt and a run-scoring grounder by Fred McGriff.

Elsewhere, Cleveland edged Kansas City 9-8, New York beat Minnesota 13-4, Detroit beat Oakland 9-5, Baltimore beat Chicago 6-5 in 10 innings, California beat Boston 5-3 and Seattle beat Milwaukee 5-2 in 11 innings.

Indians 9, Royals 8

The Cleveland Indians are literally trying to fight their way out of the cellar in the American League East.

The Indians completed a three-game sweep of Kansas City on Wednesday night in Cleveland. In each of the games, Cleveland rallied to win. In each of the games, a pitcher from one of the teams was accused of throwing at a batter. And in the last two games, there were fights.

Wednesday night, Cory Snyder hit a home run and drove in two runs with a ninth-inning double to give the Indians a 9-8 victory. That left Cleveland with a 30-53 record, 2 1/2 games back of Baltimore.

The Royals-Indians game was held up for 16 minutes in the bottom of the first inning when Kansas City left-hander Danny Jackson threw his first pitch behind Brett Butler, then put the next one over his head. Butler charged the mound, and both benches cleared.

"If they want to pull that stuff, it'll cost them the game," Indians

Manager Pat Corrales said.

Jackson and Butler were ejected. Cleveland played the game under protest because Royals Manager Billy Gardner was not ejected.

"We were brushing him back on the first pitch," Gardner said, "but the second ball was a breaking ball that just got away from Danny. He wasn't going to throw at Butler after we got a warning."

Willie Wilson of the Royals tackled Cleveland pitcher Ken Schrom on Tuesday night, one pitch after he was knocked down by a high inside pitch. The Royals claimed Monday night that Cleveland reliever Sammy Stewart twice threw at Kansas City hitters.

Yankees 13, Twins 4

Don Mattingly had two homers and Rickey Henderson had four hits to lead New York's 16-hit attack against five Minnesota pitchers. Mattingly hit a three-run homer in the first inning and led off the sixth with his 10th homer of the season. Mike Pagliarulo and Mark Salas also homered for New York.

Tigers 9, Athletics 5

Detroit led 7-0 after four innings, and Darrell Evans homered in the sixth and ninth innings to lead Detroit past the Athletics, who made three errors. Mark McGwire hit his 31st homer of the season for Oakland.

Rookie Jeff Robinson, 6-4, pitched the first 7 2/3 innings for Detroit, allowing seven hits and striking out six, including Reggie Jackson three times. Mark Thurmond pitched 1 1/3 innings for his fifth save.

Orioles 6, White Sox 5

Eddie Murray homered with two out in the 10th inning to give the Orioles their first series victory since May 28 and only their seventh triumph in 38 games. The homer was Murray's 18th.

Murray hit a 3-0 pitch from reliever Jim Winn, who entered the game in the seventh inning and gave up a single to Ken Gerhart on his first pitching, tying the 5-5.

Mike Boddicker, 6-4, allowed 11 hits but snapped a personal three-game losing streak.

Angels 5, Red Sox 3

The Angels swept the Red Sox for the first time since 1974, handing Boston its fifth straight loss. Mark McLemore doubled home two runs in California's three-run second inning. The Angels won for the 14th time in 17 games.

Willie Fraser worked 5 1/3 innings and got relief help from Donnie Moore and DeWayne Buice, who went the final two innings for his ninth save.

Dwight Evans and Wade Boggs

homered for Boston.

Mariners 5, Brewers 2
Mike Moore and Bill Wilkinson combined to three-hit Milwaukee, and Rey Quinones hit a three-run homer in the 11th inning to give Seattle its victory over the Brewers.

Quinones' home run, his ninth of the season, followed singles by Mickey Brantley and John Christensen.

In Pilot movie

Clerk tosses out rule book

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Carly Foxe is not a government agent, as she claims in the NBC movie "Carly's Web," but she has her own squad of "untouchables."

Carly, played by Daphne Ashbrook in the 2-hour movie pilot, is a clerk in the Department of Justice who tosses the rule book aside as she gets involved in a case.

"She's getting bored with her job as a complaints clerk and thinks she's not making a difference in anyone's life," Ashbrook said. "Carly's bubbly, naive and very strong. She accidentally learns that somebody in the government is doing something wrong."

"She has access to the attorney general's computer files and uses it to get people to help her solve the case. These are people who are in trouble but are not really bad. She tells them she's a special agent and will wipe out their records if they help."

Carly assembles her own "odd squad," which includes an illegal alien, a cattle rustler, a tax evader, a 12-year-old computer whiz, a madam, a smuggler and a man with a photographic memory.

"Carly's Web" airs Sunday on NBC, but MTM Enterprises is hoping to sell it as a series to ABC or CBS.

"It's a mixture of comedy and drama," said Ashbrook. "I think it has great legs for a weekly series."

If it goes as a series, there will be nine regulars, including Carly's boss at the Justice Department who has no idea what she's doing. Even after she breaks the case she keeps quiet about her role in it.

She previously had roles in two other series, "Our Family Honor," in which she played a police officer, and in "Fortune Dane."

"I took the role in 'Fortune Dane' because she was a bad girl," Ashbrook said. "She was kind of shady. But they watered down the character very quickly and she became one-dimensional."

She was also in a TV movie with James Farentino called "That Secret Sunday." She felt it had series potential.

The blonde, blue-eyed actress grew up in San Diego, where her father is a director-actor and college professor and her mother is an actress. Her brother and sister, Dana and Taylor Ashbrook, are also actors.

She and her mother, who works primarily in the theater, made their joint film debut in an episode of "Hardcastle & McCormick." Ashbrook produced a play at the Matrix Theater, "Full Circle," and co-starred with her sister.

The Fox Broadcasting Co. begins a second night of first-run programming this Saturday with a 2-hour premiere of "Werewolf," a supernatural thriller starring John York, Chuck Connors and Lance LeGault. It will be a half-hour show beginning the following Saturday.

Annual membership drive planned

Women's Division members of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce met for a picnic supper on Monday evening at the home of Ruth Newsom. Forty-two members and guests attended the quarterly meeting which kicks off a membership drive.

President Betty Taylor conducted a short business meeting following the supper. She advised members that the regional convention for women's divisions will be held in Hereford on September 26. Chairman Georgia Sparks announced that invitations have been mailed to 45 area chambers of commerce. Theme for the convention will relate to the Panhandle woman's involvement in the community.

Teresa Dodson is chairing the committee for Jubilee Junction, a part of the upcoming Town and Country Jubilee. Dodson stated that the Women's Division will provide games and entertainment at the festival in the park for preschoolers and the committee will meet Thursday, July 9, to plan specifics. The meeting will be at 7 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce.

Dodson also advised members that a display of the history of the Women's Division will be shown during the Jubilee. She requested that area residents provide snapshots and pictures of their children and grandchildren for a collage displaying what Hereford grows best. Those wishing to contribute pictures may take them by or mail them to the Chamber office.

Guest Karen Flood provided door prizes for the evening. Flood is involved in creating hand woven baskets and is opening her own business to market her creations.

Doris Bryant, guest, and JoAnn Hill, member, were the winners of the beautiful gifts.

Taylor announced that a membership drive beginning at the picnic will last through the fall. Prizes of Deaf Smith County Bucks will be awarded to those who sign up the most new members.

The young of hawks are called eyes.

Measuring For Window

The chapel at Deaf Smith General Hospital is being renovated this summer by the youth group at St. Anthony's Catholic Church. Measuring the door for a cross-shaped stained glass window to be constructed by Bill Lyles is Trina Morgan and Raymond Romo. Letters were recently sent out by the CYO to Hereford churches to solicit aid for the $2,500 project through monetary donations. Anyone wishing to help with the project is asked to contact Judy Detten at 364-2700; Loretta Urbanczyk, 276-5303; or St. Anthony's Catholic Church at 364-6150.

Study of sexually active young women produces 'frightening' results

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A study of sexually active young women in San Antonio has revealed that 10 percent of them may be afflicted with the sterility inducing sexually transmitted disease chlamydia, Planned Parenthood of San Antonio officials say.

Chlamydia, caused by a tiny virus-like microbe, is considered the leading disease to cause blindness in babies, who contract the disease at birth from their mothers. It is also the leading disease to cause sterility in women.

More than 3,000 apparently healthy women, most married, were tested at the city's five Planned Parenthood clinics last year in a study to determine the prevalence of sexually spread chlamydia in San Antonio.

"The results were frightening," Planned Parenthood Executive Director Susan Cox said of the study, which will be published in an upcoming issue of the journal Reproductive Medicine.

The study showed that overall, 10.5 percent of those tested showed exposure to the virus-like chlamydia microbe, making it 15 times more prevalent than gonorrhea.

Until last year, no inexpensive test was available to check for the infection. It can be cured with antibiotics.

Dr. Herbert P. Brown, medical director for the local Planned Parenthood organization, said chlamydia is the "No. 1 silent enemy" because women generally suffer no symptoms until serious complications flare up in themselves or in newborn children.

Brown, associated professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the UT Health Science Center, said chlamydia is the No. 1 cause of eye infections in newborns at Medical Center Hospital.

Although spread sexually just like syphilis, gonorrhea, herpes and acquired immune deficiency syndrome, chlamydia is more common than all the other sexually transmitted diseases combined, the Planned Parenthood researchers believe.

Ann Landers Adoption may bring joy

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from "Mom," whose relatives would not accept the adopted child, made me weep. Maybe this letter will make a lot of folks feel better.

Back in the 1950s when it was unusual for unmarried women to have babies, my sister adopted a handicapped child. No youngster ever received more love or attention. She was the family pet. In her special walker she was the flower girl at my wedding.

Recently my daughter and her husband, who had one daughter of their own, adopted three little sisters, two of them pre-schoolers. When the adoption agency called the conversation went like this:

"Are you the couple who is interested in adopting an older child?"

"Yes."

"Would you consider taking two?"

"Yes."

"How about three?"

"Three?"

"They are sisters, and we would like to keep them together."

"That's fine."

"But you haven't talked to your husband."

"It will be all right with him. Take my word for it."

When her husband heard the news, he said, "Can we go after them tonight, or do we have to wait until tomorrow?"

These children are adored by aunts, uncles, cousins, neighbors and friends. My daughter didn't have any more children of her own. How lucky they were to have adopted those three. Sign this—Grand Rapids Gran-ny

DEAR GRANNY: It is true that God takes with one hand and gives with the other. Thank you for a heart-warming letter.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A

girlfriend of mine and her family moved into her mother's home two years ago. Since then "Mother" has become senile. She wanders around the house wearing several layers of clothes and hides kitchen utensils. It seems that my friend and her family are tired of Mother because she has to be "baby-sat." She also must be given antibiotics daily. Without the drugs her lungs would fill up with fluid and she would get pneumonia.

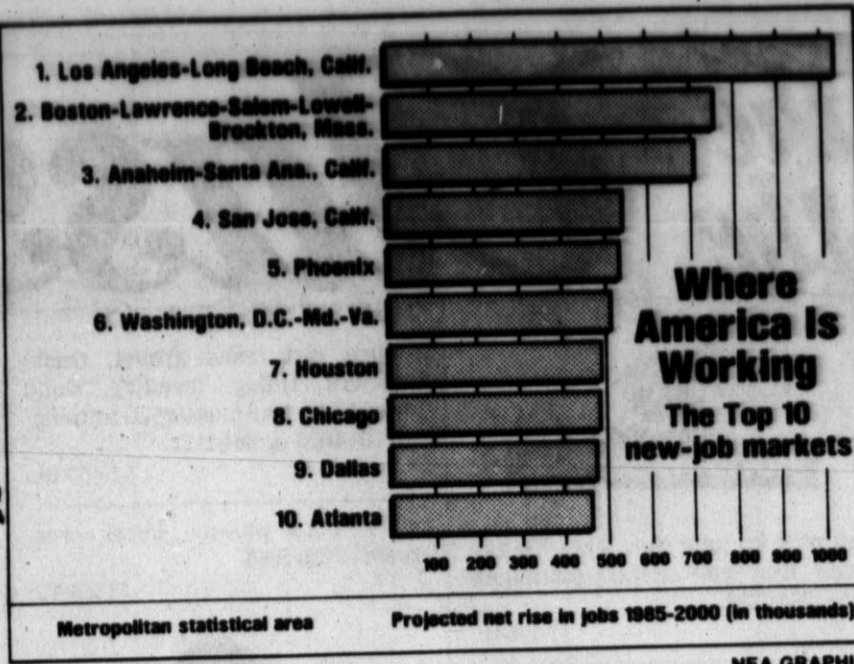

The dear lady is in good health other than that—I mean, she's not bedridden and she walks without a walker. By the way, she's 81 years old.

Anyway, this is where my story gets serious. My friend and her family are considering taking Mother off the antibiotics. When she catches pneumonia they will just let her die. Isn't that murder?

What can I do to save this poor woman? If her family goes through with this plan and kills her I will be forced by conscience to turn them in to the authorities, but I want to save her before that happens. The dear lady isn't that bad off really. She just repeats herself and forgets a lot. Please, Ann, tell me what to do. No signature, just sign me—Sick in Sunny California

DEAR SUNNY CALIF: Since you seem to be well wired into what goes on in that family, it shouldn't be too difficult to find out the name of the woman's physician. Call him or her and ask for guidance. Time is of the essence, so get moving.

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong? "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" will relieve your anxiety. To receive a copy, send $2.50 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (39 cents p stage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1,562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562

Experts react to report on AIDS deaths among New York women

By MITCHELL LANDSBERG
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The statistic startles: AIDS has become the No. 1 killer of women aged 25-34 in New York City.

It clashes with the stereotype of acquired immune deficiency syndrome as a fatal disease primarily afflicting homosexual men.

Health experts say the numbers are not surprising, but do not mean most women in that age group are likely to get AIDS.

They point out the overall death rate for 25-to-34-year-olds is low, and that the vast majority of the women who died of AIDS in the city were either intravenous drug users or the sexual partners of male drug abusers.

Several support groups, some with Health Department assistance, have been springing up to meet the needs of these AIDS victims. Because AIDS has been considered primarily a male disease, most support services have been aimed at men.

"Women are probably the most isolated people with AIDS," said Dooley Worth, who runs an AIDS support group for women at Stuyvesant Polyclinic, a community health care center on Manhattan's Lower East Side.

The AIDS and women figures were listed in a city Health Department report Tuesday. It said that in 1986 for the first time, more New York women in that age bracket died of AIDS than of cancer, the leading cause of death the previous year.

Acquired immune deficiency syndrome is caused by a virus that attacks the body's immune system, leaving victims susceptible to a variety of infections and cancers. As of June 29, it had struck 37,867 Americans, killing 21,776 of them, according to the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta.

For several years, AIDS has been the leading killer of New York City men in the 25-to-34 age bracket. Women were more likely to die of other causes.

This week's Health Department report said that of 1,006 women in that age group who died in 1986, 186 died of AIDS. Cancer, previously the leading killer, was blamed for 123 deaths.

State Comptroller Edward V. Regan says new data indicates New York City could have about 23,000 hospitalized AIDS patients by the end of 1991, almost triple the city's current projections. The cost of treating all AIDS inpatients in the city could reach almost $2 billion in 1991, he added.

Western Samoa
Western Samoa, in the Southern Pacific Ocean, was a German colony from 1899 to 1914, when New Zealand troops landed and took over. It then became a New Zealand mandate under the League of Nations and, in 1945, a New Zealand trusteeship. An elected government took office in 1959, and the country became fully independent on Jan. 1, 1962.

Workshops to focus on organic brain syndrome

The West Texas State University Division of Nursing is offering a series of workshops on organic brain syndrome, focusing on the differences between delirium and dementia, identification of causes, and physical and psychological treatment for both clients and their families.

The three-hour course is scheduled at Dumas Memorial Hospital Monday, July 13, from 5:30-8:30 p.m.; at HCA Coronado Community Hospital in Pampa Tuesday, July 14, from 5:30-8:30 p.m.; at the City Hall meeting room in Shamrock Thursday, July 16, from 5:30-8:30 p.m.; and at Collingsworth General Hospital in Wellington Friday, July 17, from 3-6 p.m.

The workshop is open to RNs, LVNs, nursing students, allied health personnel, social workers, professional counselors, all levels of EMS personnel, and other interested.

"Organic brain syndrome, which includes Alzheimer's disease, is a problem among our elderly population," workshop coordinator Donna Carlin said. "The elderly community is increasing so drastically that we have to expand our knowledge base in the field of geriatrics."

The registration fee is $20 for health care workers and $10 for students at the door. Pre-registration fees are $16 for health care workers and $8 for students.

Interested individuals may pre-register or request further information by contacting Donnay Carlin, WTSU Division of Nursing, at (806) 656-2441.

POLLY'S POINTERS

How you can tell if juice is fresh
By Polly Fisher
DEAR POLLY — I like to buy those little boxes of juice for my children to drink on picnics and car trips. But is there any way to tell if the contents are spoiled? They make me nervous since they are not refrigerated. — A.K.

DEAR A.K. — Those little boxes are called aseptic packages. They have air-tight seals and are processed in such a way so no bacteria can reach the contents as long as the package stays sealed. To be assured that the contents are good, never buy a package that shows any sign of a leak, and never buy one that is swollen. A completely sealed package assures you that the contents are fresh.

After opening, such juice packs, if not entirely consumed at one sitting, should be refrigerated to prevent spoilage as should other fruit juices.

DEAR POLLY — Young violet leaves and flowers are good in salads. (POLLY'S NOTE: Use only violets from lawns that have not been sprayed with any chemicals!) Tapioca spread sparingly on the bottom of a fruit pie crust prevents a soggy crust. — R.K.K.

DEAR POLLY — We like to sleep under several blankets, but don't like the restriction of having them tucked in. So, in the morning, it can take a lot of time straightening each individual blanket. We solved our problem by using diaper pins to pin all the blankets together on the bottom and sides. Now just a flick with both hands and the bed is almost made. — DOTTIE

Hereford teens selected outstanding performers

Two Hereford High band students were recently selected as outstanding performers from the State Solo and Ensemble Contest held June 1 in Austin. Christy Burford and Craig Rogers received notification of their selection by mail this week from Richard Floyd, director of state UIL music activities.

Burford was named outstanding performer for her twirling solo. Rogers received recognition for his performance of euphonium solo "Adante et Allegretto." Both had already been awarded "superior" ratings.

Of the approximately 73,000 students participating in the regional UIL music contests and the 14,000 musicians who performed at the state solo and ensemble contest, only 84 students earned the distinguished honor of being recognized as an outstanding performer. The students will receive a certificate in recognition of their achievement.

Burford will be entering Texas Tech University this fall where she will serve as a feature twirler for the Red Raider Band. Rogers has been accepted to Notre Dame University and plans to be active in the music program there.

Host families being sought for high school age students

Host families are being sought for high school students from Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Finland, Holland, Belgium, Austria, Switzerland, German, Spain, France, Italy, Ecuador and Japan for the 1987-88 school year in a program sponsored by American Intercultural Student Exchange (AISE).

The program has only three weeks left to find host families for many international high school students arriving in the United States in August.

All students must have a host family before they arrive. The students, age 15-17, will return to their native countries in June of 1988. They are fluent in English, have been screened by their school representatives in their home countries, and have spending money and medical insurance.

Host families may deduct $50 per month for income tax purposes.
