In Persian Gulf

Iran attacks Yugoslav ship

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — A Yugoslav vessel was attacked, boarded and searched by speedboat-borne Iranian commandoes in the Persian Gulf as a U.S. Navy-escorted convoy of Kuwaiti tankers approached the area, shipping sources said today.

They said the Birbir, a 7,478-ton container ship registered in Rijeka, Yugoslavia, was fired on from a powered dinghy about 4:30 p.m. local time Wednesday. The bullets pierced metal and broke glass in the mess hall, but did not injure anyone, they said.

The convoy reached the area, off the coast of Dubai, about four hours later, said the sources, who asked not to be identified.

The convoy was reported to have passed the halfway point of its 550-mile voyage to Kuwait, but there were also indications today that its progress could be slowed by bad weather.

At midday, British Independent Television News correspondent Brent Sadler, tracking the convoy in a chartered ship, said it was "off Bahrain and moving."

The raiders of the Yugoslav ship may have come from one of several small islands that Iranians have used in the past in similar attacks on gulf shipping.

The shipping sources said the Iranians apparently fired on the Birbir to force it to stop, then searched it, probably to determine if it was carrying cargo for Iraq — Iran's enemy in the 7-year-old gulf war — or Kuwait, Iraq's ally.

It was the second such incident in the gulf region in recent days.

Worsening weather in the sector was threatening to impede the progress of the third convoy of U.S. warships and Kuwaiti tankers, gulf-based shipping sources said.

They said the exact whereabouts of the six-ship group and the helicopter carrier Guadalcanal were not clear.

Shipping sources said high winds and blowing desert sand over the gulf could restrict the operations of RH-53D Sea Stallion mine-sweeping helicopters aboard the assault carrier Guadalcanal.

The three are among 11 Kuwaiti tankers slated to fly the Stars and stripes (See ATTACK, Page 2)

Buying for Iran

Midland sheriff stings arms buyer

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — A self-proclaimed mercenary who said the Iranian government sent him to barter for $2 million in stolen missile parts was snared in a county sheriff's international sting operation, officials say.

Victor Manuel Fonseca, 47, of Lisbon, Portugal, was arrested Wednesday while inspecting crates he believed contained parts for the sophisticated Hawk missile system, Midland County Sheriff Gary Painter said.

Fonseca, arrested in an airplane hangar in this West Texas city while opening crates labeled "oilfield equipment," remains in the Midland County Jail in lieu of $500,000 bond and charged with organized criminal activity, Painter said.

The offense, a second-degree felony punishable by up to 20 years in state prison and a $10,000 fine, is a violation of Texas law. The case will be presented to a grand jury later, Painter said.

Authorities had hoped to net other arrests and an Iranian plane that was to be sent for the stolen parts, but Fonseca insisted on inspecting his cargo before calling the plane.

And that was impossible: Eight crates that supposedly contained stolen radar tubes and spare parts actually had nothing but gravel-filled barrels inside.

"We had to bust him. We didn't have anything to show him," Painter said. "He was just a mule who was used."

Fonseca told undercover deputies he was sent to Midland by Achmed

Kashani, who he described as an Iranian intelligence officer based in Madrid. He arrived in Midland Tuesday night with photographs of the parts to compare with the contents of the eight crates.

International arms dealer Mohammed Ali Hashemi told ABC's Night Line Wednesday night, however, that Kashani is not an Iranian government official and called the alleged arms deal "penny ante."

The scheme started when two arms dealers from Britain, one identified as Michael Aspin, contacted Austin-based security consultants Ron Tucker and Gary Howard to set up the deal, Painter said.

Tucker and Howard are close friends of Painters' who have participated in U.S. Customs undercover operations in the past, the sheriff said.

After a meeting in London and several telephone conversations on untraceable telephone lines in Painter's office, Fonseca said he was to inspect the parts, then contact Kashani and arrange for a jet freighter to transport the parts to Lisbon, with him, Tucker and Howard aboard. From there, the jet was to fly to Tehran, where payment of $2 million would be made to the two men.

Kashani had already deposited $93,000 in a London bank account to secure a plane, Painter said.

The case has been in the works for nearly six months, said Painter, who acknowledged that West Texas is an unusual spot for international arms (See STING, Page 2)

U.S. sends ambassador to Syria

WASHINGTON (AP) — The next step in improving U.S. relations with Syria will be the return of Ambassador William Eagleton to Damascus, U.S. officials say, but the Reagan administration is trying to prevent the move from being seen as a reward for the freedom of hostage Charles Glass.

Two administration officials, speaking only on condition of anonymity, said Wednesday a decision to send the ambassador back around Sept. 1 was made before Glass gained his freedom in Beirut on Tuesday.

"We don't want Eagleton to be a reward for Glass," one official said. Some U.S. analysts are convinced the Syrians, at U.S. behest, put pressure on Iran, which it is helping in the Persian Gulf war with Iraq, to free Glass and eight other American hostages also believed to be held in the Lebanese capital. In fact, the official said, the ambassador's return might be set back a little bit to separate it from Glass's liberation.

Despite the decision to send Eagleton back, Syria remains on the State Department's list of countries that sponsor terrorism. The others cited are Cuba, Iran, Libya and South Yemen.

The official said he knew of no consideration being given to removing Syria from the list.

Eagleton was withdrawn last fall to show strong U.S. disapproval of what American and British experts concluded was Syrian support for terrorism. High-level U.S. contacts with President Hafez Assad's government were banned by President Reagan, and a number of other diplomatic and economic sanctions were imposed.

But after Assad closed down the Damascus headquarters of Abu Nidal, a Palestinian extremist accused in the bombing of the Rome and Vienna airports in 1985 and a synagogue in Turkey in 1986, Reagan reversed his ban in June and sent U.N. Ambassador Vernon Walters to see Assad in July.

Walters talked to the Syrian leader about Glass and the other American hostages. After Glass's liberation — he said he escaped but U.S. officials are skeptical — Reagan administration spokesmen praised Syria "for its efforts to secure his freedom."

The praise was extended even while the spokesmen acknowledged they did not know how the television journalist got free after 62 days in captivity.

A Syrian official in Damascus said, meanwhile, that Walters had telephoned Assad and "expressed his deep gratitude and pleasure as to the results obtained by Syrian diplomacy in this field."

A U.S. official who worked on the Glass case, briefing a group of reporters Tuesday at the State Department on condition of anonymity, theorized that Syria had exerted pressure on Iran to free Glass. However, the official also pointed out that the Abu Nidal group operates in Syrian-controlled areas of Lebanon, despite the closing of the Damascus headquarters.

The Branding Iron

Birdwell loves work, students

By DEBE GRAVES
Staff Writer

Over the years as a teacher and as a principal almost all of Bluebonnet Elementary School Principal Howard Birdwell's students have loved him, and he has loved all of them... well almost all of them.

There is the student who committed various pranks, including crank phone calls, around town and left Birdwell's name as a calling card. Birdwell didn't know how much fun his errant student was having until the police came to question him concerning crimes he had supposedly committed.

Now he laughs about the event and it has joined numerous other memories about students he cherishes. "I love working with the children and I really get a charge out of it when the children come up and take my hand and show they trust me," he says.

Though some people fear principals at least one little boy found the marshmallow heart beating in Birdwell's chest. A repeat offender, the little kindergartner stood at attention while Birdwell advised him of his wrong-doings.

"I really chewed him out and then he suddenly grabbed me around the knees and, squeezing for all he was worth, began saying 'I love you Mr. Birdwell,' over and over." Birdwell readily admits the student melted his heart.

Another student who obviously loved his principal wrote a letter nominating the Birdwell family as family of the year in an annual program presented by a local church.

His own youth is responsible for a great deal of Birdwell's understanding of children, particularly migrant students. "My father worked in road construction and we traveled all over," Birdwell says.

He attended 27 different schools in the course of growing up. The longest stay in one school was one year and the shortest was six weeks. Birdwell says these experiences really help him understand some of the problems migrant students face.

Eventually Birdwell graduated from high school in McLean. He and his wife, Billie, are both graduates of West Texas State University and are members of the Phoenix Club of the WTSU Alumni Association, of which he is a past president and six-year board member.

The Birdwells have two daughters. Judy is married and teaches school in Oklahoma, and Leslie is a student at Texas Tech University, a "sin for which her father says, 'She's out of the will.'"

But Leslie doesn't seem worried—she just laughs and points out that her dad has a Red Raider's cap in his closet and that her parents made it to all of the Tech football games last year.

Birdwell holds a bachelor's degree in elementary education and a master's degree in school administration. He taught in the Amarillo school system for 10 years before moving from Canyon to Hereford in August, 1969. "We moved a tremendous distance," he laughs.

When the family moved to Hereford, Birdwell took a position as assistant principal at Aikman Elementary and Billie began teaching first grade at Northwest Elementary, a position she still holds. After one year, Birdwell became principal at Shirley and this is his sixth year as principal at Bluebonnet.

Birdwell is the 1987 president of United Way and has served on the United Way Board. He has also served terms on the boards of the local Red Cross and Campfire chapters.

The Birdwells are members of First United Methodist Church and he has been a member of Kiwanis since their move to Hereford. In Kiwanis he has served as chairman of all committees, secretary, vice-president, president and as lieutenant governor for the district. Birdwell now serves as bulletin editor in the organization.

Birdwell is a life member and past president of the Texas Elementary Principal and Superintendent's Association and is a life member of the Texas State Teachers Association and the National Education Association.

Birdwell counts birdwatching with a neighbor and photography (his wife says she can't keep him in film) as hobbies. The family home testifies to his other hobbies—woodworking and computers.

"I really enjoy the woodworking classes offered in night school here," Birdwell says. He has made beautiful lampshades which are used in the living room of his home.

Birdwell has turned his interest in computers into an extension of his profession by teaching BASIC, word processing and data base computer classes during the summer months from the computer room he added to his home.

Local Roundup

Aerial spraying scheduled Saturday

The City of Hereford will conduct aerial spraying for mosquitoes Saturday.

The spraying will begin about 8 a.m., after sunrise. Beekeepers and persons affected by the spray should take necessary precautions.

Sophomore orientation scheduled

Hereford High School officials have scheduled sophomore orientation on Thursday, August 27, at 7 p.m. in the HHS auditorium. All sophomores and their parents are urged to attend the meeting where information about classes and school schedules will be discussed.

Miscellaneous thefts reported

A juvenile was taken into custody for theft of a cassette tape, and miscellaneous other thefts were reported on Wednesday, according to Hereford Police Department officers.

Three separate incidences of theft of cases of Budweiser beer were reported. Also reported taken was an $800 camera from a car parked in the 100 block of Douglas, a dog from the 300 block of Ave. B and cigarettes from a store on East First.

Other offenses reported include an incident of criminal non-support, a barking dog and the discovery of several unreported items of clothing located in the front yard of a home in the 100 block of Douglas.

The Hereford Fire Department was dispatched to the 600 block of Stanton where smoke was reported in an attic. Five citations were issued and no accidents were reported.

Weather

Today's forecast is short and sweet—clear skies and lots of heat. Tonight will be clear with a low of 68. Friday will be sunny and hot with a high of 98. South wind will be 10 to 20 mph.

Babbling Brooks

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

My mother hit the wild blue yonder Tuesday, the day after one of the country's worst air disasters, and she was a bit worried.

Mom is not a grizzled veteran of flight. When she got on the plane Tuesday night in Amarillo, it was only the fifth flight she had been on in her 55 years, so she would have been jittery even had there never been an airplane incident in the history of aviation.

"I really am worried," Mom said worriedly when she called Tuesday to let me know she was going to Phoenix to spend a few days with her mother, who has been in and out of the hospital for the past six weeks.

"Mom, don't worry. You're flying on the airline that has the best safety record in the world. They've only had one incident—not a crash, an incident."

"Of course, it happened in Amarillo, and the plane skidded off the runway."

"Thanks a lot," she said. "And that flight from Detroit, wasn't it going to Phoenix, too?"

She hung up on me.

It has come to our attention that Kim Blackwell has posted notices throughout the city stating that he is not the secretary of Concerned Citizens and is not a member of the organization.

He points to an "erroneous"—his quotes—story on July 24 about allegations levied by Concerned Citizens toward the Hereford Police Department.

Mr. Blackwell had introduced himself as secretary of Concerned Citizens to a Brand reporter, other media, and several Hereford policemen, including at least one such introduction in the presence of a Concerned Citizens board member.

We stand behind our July 25 story.

Mr. Blackwell is not currently a member, nor is he secretary, of Concerned Citizens.

The other part of the posted statement is about a wedding on June 28. Kim says he was not a bridesmaid for the Burns-Schilling wedding and did not wear an apricot taffeta formal length dress fashioned with a basque waist enhanced by a V-type scalloped neckline.

I'm sure that's correct. We must be dealing with at least two Kim Blackwells.

That reminds me of a running joke we had in Dimmitt and in football press boxes around the area.

The guy who does the Oklahoma football games on the radio is also named John Brooks, and there used to be a couple of ex-OU football players, who knew John Brooks did OU play-by-play, living in Dimmitt.

At the time, me John Brooks was doing football and basketball play-by-play in Dimmitt, and, as it turned out, sounded close enough to OU John Brooks (you could hear him on an area radio station) to have kept a football coach snowed for his one-year stay in Dimmitt.

The guy just couldn't get over the fact that a guy from Dimmitt, Texas would do the Dimmitt football games on Friday night, especially since we were a bad 3-7 team that year, then get in a charter jet and go to Iowa City, Iowa or Lincoln, Nebraska or wherever OU was playing that weekend.

I don't do OU football games any more, but bridesmaids do, usually, wear floor-length dresses.

In fact, we should make it a law. When everybody wore mini-skirts, I went to a wedding when everybody wore mini-dresses. I'm a leg man, but that was a little ridiculous.

Music To Soothe Lions

Susan Shaw, Denise Teel, Terri Laing, Jan Walser and, not pictured, pianist Linda Gilbert. The group recently recorded a tape which is being offered for sale.

Singers entertain Lions Club

A Hereford sextet, "Gentle Touch", entertained Hereford Lions Club members during a regular weekly luncheon meeting Wednesday at the Community Center.

The sextet is composed of Jan Walser, Terri Laing, Denise Teel, Susan Shaw, Robbi Ames and Ginger Wallace. Linda Gilbert accompanied the group at the piano. Mrs. Walser also performed a "boogie" number at the piano. A tape was recently recorded by the group and is on sale at $7 each.

J.D. Bryant, Lion president, reported to members that the recent carnival netted $4,066 to be used for worthwhile programs. He said officers felt the net was "very good considering we paid for some new booths which should last for a number of years."

Introduced as new members of the club were Jerry Brock, Gerald Cash and Buzz Abalos. Bryant also announced the club would host a swimming party for Lions and their families Friday night at the Green Acres pool. The Lions are planning a garage sale in September.

Texas officers have experience dealing with foreign operatives

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — The sheriff and two publicity-shy lawmen who directed the sting operation that resulted in the arrest of a middleman in an Iranian weapons deal are accustomed to dealing with foreign operatives on the job.

Austin-based security consultants Ron Tucker and Gary Howard have provided Midland County Sheriff Gary Painter with tips and intelligence for narcotics arrests for the past two years, Painter said.

"They assist in undercover operations on an as-needed basis," Painter said earlier. "They have helped us in several narcotics operations."

Painter, who is serving his first term as county sheriff, said Howard and Tucker approached him in March to set up the sting after two British men contacted them trying to obtain arms for Iran.

The sting resulted in the arrest Wednesday of Victor Fonseca, 47, of Portugal, as he inspected crates he believed to contain missile components. Fonseca was acting as a middleman for an Iranian intelligence officer, Painter said.

Howard, a former U.S. Border Patrol agent, and Tucker, a former narcotics officer with the Texas Department of Public Safety, have worked on sting operations for the U.S. Customs Service and the U.S. Department of the Treasury before, Painter said.

The two men, both 39, are currently involved in a $1.4 million lawsuit against the federal government.

Tucker and Howard say in the suit that the U.S. Customs Service hired them in 1981 to conduct a sting against British arms merchant Ian Smalley.

The suit says they never were reimbursed for expenses involved in setting up the sting, which the government aborted 16 months after it began and before the weapons were sold to Smalley.

The two established many intelligence contacts during operations for the government, they say.

For the past two years, Howard and Tucker have been providing intelligence to their friend Painter at no charge.

"Intelligence from Mexico that is going to affect West Texas — the sheriff is told about it," Tucker told the Midland Reporter-Telegram. "And if it is going on in Europe and is going to affect West Texas, he knows about it."

"We do it because he is a friend of ours," Howard said. "And he damn well needs the help."

Howard and Tucker were not being paid by Midland County for their part in the undercover operation that led to Fonseca's arrest, either, Painter said.

"I will go to the county at some point to try to get them reimbursed," Painter said, adding that Howard had paid for a flight to Europe as part of the operation.

Painter, 39, has been trying to persuade federal authorities to join some other investigations his department is conducting. Painter complained last week that federal authorities have ignored information he provided them about alleged terrorist training camps in Mexico.

The sheriff said an informant in Mexico had told him about five training camps run by Cubans, Colombians and Libyans scattered across Mexico. He said he warned federal authorities a year ago about the camps, but all he got was a warning from the FBI that he might have broken three federal laws by gathering intelligence outside the country.

Painter broke off contact with the informant, but said he felt he had done nothing wrong.

Medicaid is a federal-state program that helps pay for health care for the needy, aged, blind and disabled, and for low-income families with children.

Town angered by AIDS scare

MARLIN, Texas (AP) — The scare is abating after residents learned this week that a local insurance salesman did not pass the AIDS virus to more than 50 children, but residents say the scars and fear will linger.

"The whole town was awfully upset thinking there was an AIDS epidemic," Police Chief John Trousdale said Wednesday. "Now they don't understand how they could have made such a big mistake."

Officials initially believed Jimmy Glenn Etheridge, 38, had sexual relations with more than 50 children, but now say later tests showed he did not have AIDS and that the number of children involved was less than 25, few of whom lived in the Marlin area.

And a health official told the Waco Tribune-Herald Wednesday that all but one of the area children suspected of having sexual relations with Etheridge have been interviewed, but that none has admitted a sexual encounter.

The official, who was not identified by the newspaper, said the children's statements may not be true. But if they are, he said Etheridge's computer notations of his sexual escapades with more than 25 young boys may have been fabricated.

Since Etheridge was shot and killed June 30 by a 16-year-old boy with whom he lived, some elderly residents refuse to go out, young people are buying condoms and some people have reportedly moved away.

And although the AIDS threat is over, officials still are concerned that the children might need counseling.

"A small community like Marlin tends to be shocked by things like this," said Jack Meece, who owns Jack's Drive In. "If the community was not aware of the AIDS problem, it is certainly aware of it now."

Quenton Holloway, 17, said he was relieved that the AIDS scare proved unfounded, but concerned about the impact on the community.

"They should have been more sure before they put the name of this town all over the world and put it to shame," he said. "One kid I know said his people were moving because of it."

Etheridge, who moved to Marlin from Monroe, La., 18 months ago, lived in a middle-class white neighborhood but often sold life insurance to single mothers in the black area of town.

"I knew who he was," said D'Angelo Williams, 19. "You'd see him around. I wasn't worried about AIDS. I bought condoms — everybody bought condoms."

In some ways, Marlin's reaction to the potential AIDS outbreak was caused by ignorance, said Richard Butler of the Texas Department of Health's Temple office.

As many as 60 elderly residents normally show up at the town's public health clinic for free dental care, but last week there were only 10, he said.

"They were afraid to even go out of their houses," Butler said.

Officials preparing for papal parade

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Rescue workers are prepared to handle the 500,000-person crowd expected to hear Pope John Paul II celebrate Mass next month, but deaths are still a possibility, the city's health director says.

Hot weather and individual health problems could contribute to the casualty list when the pope visits San Antonio Sept. 13, Dr. Fernando Guerra, director of the San Antonio Metropolitan Health District, said Wednesday.

"It would be foolish to say that there would not be any deaths. When you have that many people gathered at any place where you don't have the ultimate or absolute control ... it may be that someone might come on to the site and within a matter of minutes of being there will die," he said.

"That's not because they went to the papal visit. That's more than likely because of some catastrophic event that was already developing," Guerra said at a news conference.

Guerra and other officials had gathered to reassure people that medical workers are prepared — despite charges leveled by Guerra's predecessor, Dr. Katharine Rathbun, who said hundreds could die because of poor planning.

Guerra, a pediatrician, said elderly people, those with medical problems and children up to 7 years old should not attend the Mass because they would be unable to handle the heat and claustrophobic-like conditions.

The Rev. David Garcia, chairman of the papal Mass site committee, said 750 portable toilets and more than 800,000 gallons of water will be available at the Mass site.

Red Cross volunteer Chairman Bob Heckman said about 600 volunteers, including doctors and nurses, will staff 36 first-aid stations at the site and 23 others around the papal parade route.

"We feel we can get to anyone who needs our assistance," Heckman said. "We won't be able to get to them in two minutes, but we'll get to them as fast as we can."

Army medical helicopters and ambulances will be available at the site to transport people with serious injuries, officials said.

Jack Funk, associate administrator of Santa Rosa Medical Center and chairman of the papal visit medical committee, said officials expect about 15,000 people will need attention for heat exhaustion, cuts, sprains and sunburns.

Pilot mistakes continue with Flight 255 accident

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indications that the crew of Northwest Airlines Flight 255 ignored a basic but crucial takeoff procedure have intensified concern about an industry already shaken by mystifying pilot mistakes on other recent flights.

Federal investigators revealed Wednesday that the pilots of the Northwest jetliner that crashed Sunday near Detroit may not have lowered the jet's flaps to takeoff position, a critical maneuver required to give the plane proper lift.

The setting of the flaps prior to takeoff is fundamental to flying and considered by pilots as one of three "killer items" for which the consequences can easily be catastrophic.

"If they did it, it's a monumental thing," said Jim McIntyre, a veteran TWA pilot and chairman of the professional standards committee of the Air Line Pilots Association.

McIntyre and other pilots interviewed expressed disbelief that such an oversight could have occurred. "If it did happen it has to have been some distraction or other manifestation or a combination of factors," the pilot said.

ATTACK

Stripes and be provided with U.S. Navy escorts in the gulf. The purpose of the Reagan administration operation is to protect Kuwaiti vessels from attacks by Iran, which accuses Kuwait of supporting its enemy in the 7-year-old Iran-Iraq war.

Eight of the 11 Kuwaiti tankers have so far sailed north through the gulf. One of them, the supertanker Bridgeton, hit a mine July 24 on the first convoy and is waiting at Al-Ahmadi to begin its return trip.

Also at Al-Ahmadi are the three tankers that sailed in the second convoy.

Only one of the 11 tankers, the gas carrier Gas Prince, has completed a round trip through the gulf.

It was not clear whether the latest deals.

"I think it indicates the desperation that they have to get this type of equipment into Iran," he said. "They're looking anywhere they can to try to buy it."

"They were told this is a remote area, close to the Mexican border, and that we could get the stuff into Mexico, fly it out or do whatever they wanted with it," Painter said. "It was a ruse we used."

The sheriff said he expects Iranians to continue efforts to get arms illegally in the United States, but said he doesn't expect to hear of them again in West Texas.

"I hope they got the message not to mess around with Texas," he said.

A U.S. Customs spokesman told ABC News that his agency didn't know about the sting and called the operation "highly unusual and highly questionable."

Painter responded by asking, "How can you question success?"

In Houston, U.S. Customs spokesman Charles Conroy said he had heard about the sting but did not know enough about it to comment. Although Customs officials generally are involved in that kind of operation, Conroy said he knew of no such involvement in this case.

"They have no authority to enforce federal law unless they were deputized," Conroy said, referring to arms-export laws.

convoy stopped during the night, as the last one did, to avoid traveling in the dark through waters that might be infested with mines.

As with previous convoys, the Navy maintained strict security about the departure of the convoy from a staging area in the Gulf of Oman, just outside the Persian Gulf.

In Bahrain, officials wouldn't say when or where the body of an American killed in the crash of a Navy helicopter was found. The SH-3D Sea King chopper crashed when it came in too low for a landing on the deck of the USS LaSalle, command vessel of the nine-ship U.S. Middle East Force.

Five of the nine men survived the crash. Two are still missing and presumed dead.

ABC News broke the story Wednesday night because Howard and Tucker had met with network officials in Washington earlier this summer to arrange for a television crew to tape the sting's culmination, Painter said.

Painter had complained last week that federal authorities had ignored information he provided them a year ago about alleged terrorist training camps in Mexico.

In return for the information, he said all he got was a warning from the FBI that he might have broken federal laws by gathering intelligence outside the country.

Painter, however, said he felt he had done nothing wrong.

Interior design takes woman to Canada

By GAYE B. REILY,
Staff Writer

One college degree wasn't enough for Betty Rudder of 328 Douglas; a life-long interest in interior decorating has sent her back to school, as well as to a recent, fun-filled convention in Canada.

A Hereford resident for the past nine years, Rudder entered Texas State Technical Institute (TSTI) in Amarillo last September to study interior design technology. "I had always been interested in interior design; I've taken several decorating magazines over the years and I enjoy dealing with fabrics and wallpaper," she said.

Rudder's presidency in TSTI's student chapter of American Society of Interior Designers enabled her, along with her husband, Milton, to attend the ASID convention in Toronto, Canada, last month.

"The convention featured an expo of interior designers, students, retail merchants, and displays of interior design fashions," said the energetic woman. "Speakers from around the country were present as workshops and seminars were offered relating to personal development and interior design concepts."

One of Rudder's favorite design celebrities present was Antonio Torrice, who has used his degree in psychology to design interiors for children, the elderly, and the handicapped. "This Italian from Boston was dynamic; he has studied the effects of colors on people and uses this knowledge to serve people's physical strengths and weaknesses," she said.

Torrice demonstrated such a technique by instructing a child to paint four main items in a picture of a room a favorite color; Torrice would then decorate the room around such a color choice. "Studies show that children's grades increase by 30 percent if they are surrounded by a subtle, pleasing environment," Rudder added.

Mario Buoto, the "Prince of Chintz", provided a humorous program while General Electric demonstrated various types of lighting. John Solidano, author of a monthly magazine column, was on hand to illustrate the art of employing classical architectural designs in new interiors.

John Naisbitt, well-known author of such books as "Megatrends," discussed design development and business development. "This convention was a wonderful experience—I learned a great deal and Milton had a great vacation!" Rudder laughed.

"Milton has been very supportive of my interest in interior design. His work at AZTX Cattle Co. keeps him busy but he thought he needed to see what my interior design studies were all about; that's why he went to Canada with me," said Rudder.

The trip to Canada was not all work, however, as the Rudders attended a party in Casa Loma, a Flamingo Pink party, and visited the Royal Ontario Museum, to name a few activities. "The Duke and Duchess of York were staying at our hotel while we were there; I had great fun writing postcards, telling everyone that 'Andy and Fergie say hi!'"

Rudder is not the first Hereford resident to commute to TSTI for the interior design program. "Carmen Flood, Alice Raifs, Janet McCathren, Lucy Rogers, and Sheila Herr are among those who have gone or are currently enrolled in the program," she noted. "Two different types of certification exist and the program is flexible."

Rudder, impressed with TSTI's interior design program, noted that it is only one of four technical schools in the nation to possess FIDER accreditation. "FIDER stands for Foundation for Interior Design Education Research; it set rigid standards for interior design and elevated it to an art and science."

A teacher who has taught English, history, and speech, Rudder is delighted that TSTI's program focuses on interior design and doesn't repeat many basics she'd had in college. "We've studied the types of glass used in windows, different floor and wall coverings so we can talk to builders in their terms. I've even had classes in drafting where I had to draw up blue prints of my home; interior design is more involved than most people realize."

In addition to color and light theory, Rudder has even had a course pertaining to the selection of proper pens to use in drawing designs on paper. "This class featured over 100 pens," she said. A study in retail/commercial settings also yielded interesting facts. "Most department stores spend more decorating dollars on their cosmetic sections," she noted.

Rudder is interested in current attempts by national legislators to require licensing of interior designers. "I think this would be a positive move as people want someone they know is well-trained for their expensive decorating needs."

The age span in Rudder's TSTI classes ranges from 18 to 80, with both men and women in attendance. "Interior design is fun but it is a lot of work," Rudder acknowledges. "I find this study invigorating and stimulating—I never believed in being bored!"

And Rudder should have her wish granted. She already has plans to create a workshop in her back yard; then she hopes to gradually redecorate her home while finishing her studies at TSTI. She won't have to worry about boredom!

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My co-workers and friends tell me I am beautiful. I have a mirror so I know they are right. I am also an interesting person and a nice human being.

You must know from the letters you receive that even for a beautiful and intelligent woman, it is not easy to meet a man of quality these days. That is why I ran ads in newspapers and magazines.

From the beginning, I was prepared to believe the information these men put out about themselves. It burns me up that I was such a trusting fool. I have met 33 men, Ann, and every last one has exaggerated his height from one to four inches.

I am 5-foot-7 and feel more comfortable with a man who is a few inches taller. The last man who responded suggested that we meet in a restaurant. I just returned from that meeting and I'm furious. He wrote that he is 6 feet tall. Actually, he is 5-foot-8 or maybe 5-foot-9 in elevator shoes.

I spoke two sentences to him: "Just because you say you are 6 feet tall does not make you 6 feet tall. You are a liar and I want nothing to do with you." Then I left.

In my opinion, this sort of thing symbolizes deceit and lack of integrity, precisely what is wrong with the man-woman equation today. Thanks for letting me get this off my chest. — P.J. (Seattle)

DEAR SEATTLE: Your letter symbolizes something else — the mindless preoccupation with inconsequential details when evaluating a potential spouse.

I wonder how many terrific men you have passed up because they weren't "tall enough."

Granted, correspondents should not misrepresent themselves, but ruling out a man for reasons of height is just plain dumb.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You've got some nerve. I don't know how you keep your job. A reader wrote to you recently to say her cat catches a rubber ball with her left paw. (Big deal!) She wanted to know if it is possible that her cat is "left-handed." So you go and bother one of the world's most distinguished neurologists, Dr. Fred Plum, of the New York Hospital and Columbia Medical Center.

I find it outrageous that you would intrude on a man of his caliber with such an inconsequential "problem." It is even more mind-boggling that Dr. Plum would bother to answer. I am sure he had better things to do. — Bug-Eyed in Manhasset, L.I.

DEAR BUG: I'm sure he did, too, but how nice that Dr. Plum would take the time to help me out.

This is a splendid example of the generosity of my consultants. They realize that not all the problems that appear in this space are earth-shaking, but they always take my calls and provide an answer. Lucky me!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is there an organization for people who suffer with bouts of depression? I've had melancholy spells three or four times a year since 1967 and have sought psychiatric help. No one has been able to pinpoint my problem. Therapy on a continuing basis is too expensive. I believe in self-help groups. Is there one for a person such as me? — Blue in California

DEAR CALIF.: Indeed there is — Recovery, Inc. This splendid organization offers support to "nervous" and former mental patients and it's free. Write to national headquarters. The address is: 802 N. Dearborn St., Chicago, IL 60610. They do a fabulous job.

Ann Landers' booklet, "Sex and the Teenager," explains every aspect of sexual behavior—where to draw the line, how to say no, the various methods of contraception, the dangers of VD, the symptoms and where to get help. For a copy, send $2 and a No. 10, self-addressed, stamped envelope (39 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Great Britain issued the first postage stamp in 1840.

Apply for college financial aid early

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Starting early is a big advantage in applying for college financial aid, says an administrator.

The junior year in high school is not too soon to start learning about the application process, says Diane Gorrell, director of financial aid at the College of Wooster here.

She has these suggestions for high schoolers and their parents:

— When you start to write away for college information, ask for financial aid materials as well. Start the financial aid process by January of your senior year.

— Watch for information sessions each January when financial aid officers of local colleges visit area high schools.

— Keep copies of your financial records, like tax returns on part-time jobs, as well as other official documents.

— Talk to a financial aid officer; find out if the school you're interested in has any specific guidelines or deadlines. Ask about work-study plans and obligations for paying back loans.

— Ask about grants and scholarships (which do not have to be paid back or earned through work).

— Be aware of all the options; don't limit your choice of a college because of the cost. Financial aid packages and work-study awards can vary from school to school.

— If you have applied for admission to a specific college, don't wait to hear about the admission decision before applying for financial aid. Send in the form about the same time as your entrance application.

Trip taken by Good Sam RV Club

The Whiteface Good Sam RV Club went to Pendaries, N.M., Aug. 12-14 and enjoyed fishing, hiking, games, cook-outs, and potluck suppers.

Those attending with their RVs were: Lou Ann LaFever of Hereford, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sumner and Tracey of Martinez, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Mayes of Dimmitt;

Also, Messrs. and Mmes. Bert Brown, H.L. LaFever, Clyde Russell, Howard Gore, Grant Hanna, Osber Wertenberger, John Schneider, Bill Patton, Jake Mosley, Tommy Carnahan, and M.W. Sumner, all of Hereford.

The group has been invited to join other Good Sam groups in Cone, Texas in September for a camp out. On the agenda for October is a trip to the Eastwood ranch in New Mexico as a weekend trip.

The next regular meeting is set for Sept. 10 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Campbell. It will be a hamburger cookout.

The Alaska gold rush began in 1897.

WTSU nursing program set

Friday will be the first day of a gerontological nursing certification review held at West Texas State University.

The two-day event, sponsored by WTSU's division of nursing, will be held in the Science Building located on that campus.

The two-day program, a preparatory course for the American Nurses' Association gerontological certification examination, will provide instruction and review of the major concepts and theories related to the health care needs of older adults.

Additional information will be provided by physical assessment of the elderly, care of the chronically ill, rules and regulations of long-term treatment and psycho-social factors affecting the older population.

The seminar will also include a review of test-taking skills.

The registration fee for the review is $100, however, special rates are available for groups of five or more.

For more information or to preregister, contact the continuing education office at (806)656-2441.

THESE ARE NOT DOGS

AI/OLU, S.C. (AP) — The terms "debarter" and "dog hairs" don't always refer to man's best friend, according to Georgia-Pacific Corp.

The forest products firm says a debarker is a machine that removes bark from logs before they are processed for lumber or plywood. Dog hairs refers to protruding fibers on the surface of a sheet of paper.

Tech's Dykes embraces old football philosophy

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer
LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — While he's got a few new tricks up his extra-large sleeve, Texas Tech coach Spike Dykes embraces an old and familiar football philosophy: "Don't fix it if it ain't broke."

Dykes inherited the first winning Tech team of the 1980s last December and he plans no sweeping changes or fancy formations this fall.

"We'll just continue to throw too much," he laughed. "There's no reason to change that. Everybody likes to see 'em pass."

The sky-minded Red Raiders achieved moderate success in compiling a 7-4 record last year but lopsided losses to Miami, Baylor and Texas A&M suggested the boys from the South Plains could be a little erratic.

"They beat us like a tied-up goat," said Dykes.

"The one thing we had to do was find some offensive balance and consistency in everything we do, especially offensively. We've spent a lot of time on the basics, and I believe it really is going to pay off for us."

Dykes has nine offensive starters and six defensive regulars returning from a team that ended seven consecutive losing seasons at Tech and earned a bowl bid for the first time since 1977.

When David McWilliams jumped ship to return to the University of Texas, Dykes, Tech's defensive coordinator, made his head coaching debut in a 20-17 Independence Bowl loss to Mississippi.

He since has assembled a coaching team with close to 200 years of experience and insists it is among the best in the nation. And he likes his legacy.

"You can tell we had a winning season last year by the morale," says Dykes. "Our kids feel as good about themselves as they have in a long, long time.

"They aren't hoping, they aren't wishing and they aren't projecting. They have won football games in which they were underdogs and they feel they can be competitive."

Dykes said the Raiders are not yet Southwest Conference contenders, but, with the proper team chemistry, they could emerge in November to battle for the crown.

"Team chemistry — it's something you have or you don't have," he said. "You can't put a price tag on how important leadership is."

Waiting impatiently to accept the leadership role is Billy Joe Tolliver, the Raiders' flashy but erratic junior quarterback.

"I've been around here three years and it's time to play like it and start acting like it," he says, adding that the Raiders have the personnel to win the host role in the Cotton Bowl.

"The big goal, of course, leads up to Dallas on Jan. 1 and that's what we're looking for," he said.

The Raiders must find a tight end, plug some big gaps in the defensive secondary and improve their kicking game, but, as Dykes says, the nucleus is there for an exceptional team.

Tolliver has a proven backup in Aaron Keesee while three of the league's top six rushers — James Gray, Isaac Garnett and Ervin Faris — return for the Raiders.

A small but crack receiving corps of Wayne Walker, Tyrone Thurman and Eddy Anderson is back after combining to catch more than 2,000 yards of passes in two seasons. And Thurman, a tiny terror at 5-3 and 130 pounds, is one of the premier punt returners in the nation.

Offensive guards Jeff Keith and Mike McBride rank among the best in the SWC and linebacker Mike Johnson is being hailed as a candidate for All America.

Preseason favorites Arkansas and Texas A&M are on Tech's seven-game home schedule, which could be a factor if the Raiders find the consistency and intensity Dykes says they need to become contenders.

"We've got a chance," Dykes conceded.

Caminiti's double rallies Astros over St. Louis 2-1

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Ken Caminiti has only been in the major leagues for 30 games, but already he can recognize the chemistry of a winner.

"You can smell it," Caminiti said. "A lot of times when we were going bad, I'd notice that we'd get down on ourselves in the dugout. We're not doing that now."

Caminiti contributed to Houston's chemistry Wednesday night with a 2-run double in the seventh inning, rallying the Astros to a 2-1 victory over St. Louis.

The victory marked Houston's sixth in a row and their 10th straight victory in the Astrodome.

"When I first came up, we were hitting the ball but now we're doing all the other things it takes to win," Caminiti said. "Now it's all starting to fall together."

Caminiti's game-winner ended a shut out attempt by Cards starter Joe Magrane, who had allowed only a first inning single by Bill Doran until the seventh inning.

Houston starter Bob Knepper, 6-13, walked Vince Coleman to start the game.

Coleman went to second on Knepper's wild pitch, took third on Ozzie Smith's groundout and scored on Tom Herr's ground out to shortstop Dale Berra.

That stood up until the seventh when Doran and Alan Ashby got singles to start the inning and Kevin Bass reached base as Doran was forced at third base.

After Glenn Davis struck out, Caminiti drove a curve by Magrane just out of the reach of right fielder Jim Lindeman, scoring Ashby and Bass.

"It's a big disappointment," said Magrane, 6-5. "This was a very big game for us and I just didn't get the job done. I got the two outs but I couldn't finish the job."

Cardinal Manager Whitey Herzog thought Lindeman should have caught Caminiti's hit. But Lindeman said he did his best.

"I did all I could to catch that ball," Lindeman said. "I missed it by a couple of feet maybe. It was a line drive, there was no slice on it. I was just too far away to catch it."

There was more drama in the ninth when Astros reliever Larry Anderson walked Smith with one out and Tom Herr reached base on an interference call against Ashby.

Anderson then got Jack Clark to hit into a game-ending double play, starting with shortstop Berra.

"He's got to me some times and I've gotten him a couple of times," Anderson said. "My biggest trouble has been trying to rush when I'm behind a hitter. Tonight I didn't rush."

NCAA subcommittee wants football playoff on agenda

By DOUG TUCKER
AP Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — This could be the last year that polls determine the national college football champion.

A special subcommittee that has been studying various playoff plans will ask the NCAA Council to put a one-game format on the agenda for the January 1988 convention, a source told The Associated Press.

Whether schools would approve a playoff is still unknown. But if it is approved, the first official NCAA football champion could be crowned following the 1988 season.

A news conference was scheduled today at Kansas City to make the subcommittee's decision public.

"I'm really not sure what we're going to recommend at this point. We still haven't gotten together with the full Special Events Committee," DeLoss Dodds, the subcommittee chairman, said Wednesday during a break in meetings at Kansas City. "We'll know for sure by tomorrow when we hold the news conference."

However, a source who asked not to be identified said the council would "most likely" be asked to give schools a chance to vote for the first time on one of the most-discussed ideas in sports. Neither the subcommittee nor the council would necessarily recommend adoption of the playoff.

"It's going to be put up or shut up time on this issue," the source said. "We've been talking about this for how many years? It's time to let people decide one way or the other, or at least find out what they're thinking."

The policy-making council would automatically follow the recommendation of the committee, an NCAA official said. A playoff plan was on the agenda once before at an NCAA convention, in 1976, but was withdrawn before coming up for vote.

Historically, coaches and administrators have opposed a football playoff. In a show of hands at a special NCAA meeting in 1982, schools voted almost unanimously against even conducting a feasibility study. But in the wake of last January's commercially successful Fiesta Bowl showdown between No. 1 Miami and No. 2 Penn State, opinion seems to be shifting.

Estimates on the revenue potential for a football playoff run as high as $40 million. And, in an anonymous survey of Division I-A coaches and athletic directors this summer, Dodds' subcommittee found that a one-game playoff was favored 65-33.

The subcommittee met with representatives of the College Football Association and the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics to hammer out a playoff format and apparently settled on a one-game format as the most acceptable format for all concerned. Teams picked by the postseason football committee would meet in either a domed or a Sun Belt-area stadium following the Jan. 1 bowl games.

Dodds, athletic director at Texas, said respondents to his poll voted 91-22 in favor of kicking off the championship game at 6 p.m. on the Sunday prior to the National Football League's Super Bowl.

Jockey James McLaughlin won the Belmont Stakes six times in seven runnings from 1882-88.

The largest crowd in American League history was 86,288 at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium in 1948 for a World Series game between the Indians and Boston Braves.

Score of 30 wins final Wednesday scramble

The final Wednesday Night Scramble of the 1987 season resulted in $200 in prizes for each member of the winning team.

Kevin Hucks, N.D. Kelso, Mike Allred, and John Yocum shot a 30 in Wednesday's scramble at Pitman Municipal Golf Course. The prize total had grown a few weeks because of ties.

Since this week's scramble was the final one of the season, a playoff would have been held if there had been a tie. But Hucks, Kelso, Allred, and Yocum were the only team shooting a 30.

Four teams tied for second place with scores of 31. Those teams were: Bernie Capps, Jerry Stevens, Jeff Shelton, and Martha Jones; Cal Garrett, Daniel Olsen, Charlie Chisholm, and Jerry Shipman; Matt Albracht, Robert Kubacak, Robert Cabezuola, and Randy Hamilton; and Kyle Mines, Sammy Davison, Mary Harman, and Steve Landers.

Fifteen teams competed in the scramble. Four teams had scores of 32, and six teams had scores of 33.

Who's Got It!

After winning 1986 national title

Penn State lost almost everything

After winning everything last season, Penn State lost almost everything.

Gone from the 1986 national champions are 15 starters, including the leading rusher, leading passer, leading receiver, leading scorer, leading tackler, leading interceptor, placekicker, punter and long snapper.

"I don't think we've ever had as many areas to almost start from scratch as we have with this group," says Coach Joe Paterno, whose next victory will be No. 200.

Only three starters return on offense — split end Ray Roundtree, tackle Stan Clayton, guard Steve Wisniewski — and four on defense — inside linebackers Trey Bauer and Pete Gifopoulos, safety Marques Henderson, cornerback Eddie Johnson.

"If you're talking about a national championship contender, we're not strong anywhere. I don't see how with this squad," said Paterno, whose assets include senior Matt Knizner at quarterback and do-everything tailback Blair Thomas.

Pittsburgh was 5-5-1 in Mike Gottfried's debut but the second-year coach promises that "we will, in the very near future, have Pitt back into the Top Ten of America's college football teams and challenging once again for a national championship."

Gottfried's top priority is to find a quarterback to replace John Congemi, Pitt's second-leading career passer. He will choose between senior Sal Genilla and redshirt freshman Larry Wanke.

However, they do have 260-pound Craig "Ironhead" Heyward, the 1986 rushing leader with 756 yards, including 254 on 39 carries against then-No. 1 Miami. Heyward's younger — and much smaller — brother, Nate, will be the fullback.

Pitt lost nine starters but has 45 lettermen returning. As usual, the offensive line looks good, led by guard Mark Stepnoski, but there's not much depth among the receivers.

After a 10-2 record in 1984, Boston College slipped to 4-8 in '85 but rebounded to 9-3 last year and return six starters on offense and five on defense. The offense will feature the same pass-oriented attack, while the defense includes a solid linebacking corps led by Bill Romanowski.

Syracuse lost five of its first six games last year but finished 5-6. Orange coach Dick MacPherson has quarterback Don McPherson, who comes into his senior year as the school record-holder in passing yards and touchdown passes. He will be joined by six other starters on offense and nine on defense.

Despite West Virginia's 4-7 record, Coach Don Nehlen's overall mark is 52-29-1. A rigorous off-season training program is expected to help return the Mountaineers to the ranks of winners.

Temple lost career rushing leader Paul Palmer — he led the nation last year — and probably will put the ball in the air more with new quarterback James Thompson throwing to tight end Mike Hinnant and wideout Keith Gloster.

Rutgers will play the season without tailback Matt Prescott, last year's leading rusher, who tore up a knee in the spring. The next seven rushers are back. The Scarlet Knights return eight starters on offense and six on defense. They will rely heavily on quarterback Scott Erney, who took over midway through the 1986 season and threw for 1,160 yards and six touchdowns. The main task on defense is replacing both inside linebackers, including All-East Tyrone Stowe.

Army returns one of the nation's top wishbone quarterbacks in Tory Crawford, whose 1,078 rushing yards last year were the most of any Division I-A quarterback and third-highest in West Point history.

The Cadets return only six offensive starters and three on defense from the team that started against Navy.

Navy, under new Coach Elliot Uzelac, has gone to the wishbone after losing 32 of 58 lettermen and 17 starters, including all 11 on defense. The Midshipmen have good receivers and the offensive line should be solid.

Dorsett says both legs worked well

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Although his team suffered a 29-0 drubbing in a preseason opener with San Diego, Dallas Cowboys veteran running back Tony Dorsett had at least one good memory of the game.

Both legs worked well after off-season surgery on both knees.

"It was good to get that uncertainty out of my mind," Dorsett said after Saturday's loss, the sixth consecutive defeat for the National Football League team. "I guess you could say I came out smelling like a rose."

For Dorsett, who had 1,000-yard seasons nine times in his NFL career and now lacks just 733 yards to be the league's No. 2 all-time leading rusher, last year was a washout.

"I couldn't stride out the way I do, couldn't make stops and cuts," he said. "Pain is the reason the knees wouldn't do what they needed to do. And I was scared, too. When you experience an injury like that for the first time in 10 years, you become a very realistic person."

Dorsett had never suffered a serious injury until last season, when Dallas went 0-5 in the preseason and 7-9 for its first losing season since 1965.

The 5-11, 190-pound Dorsett suffered a severe ankle strain in the 1986 opener. And in the third game he hurt his left knee, partially tearing ligaments in an injury.

Then the other knee began to ache. "You realize that the next play might be your last one," he added.

Off-season surgery was inevitable, but Dorsett said he was doubly scared when his doctors told him arthroscopic surgery was needed on both knees.

The operations were followed by rehabilitation, including jogging, swimming, bicycling and weightlifting. More pain followed — both physical and mental.

"You felt the pain, the discouragement, and you begin to think 'Heck, man, is it all worth it?'" he said. "And you know all the time you're doing this, you could turn around and something could happen after all this work."

Despite all his hard work and some contact work during the Cowboys' training camp at Thousand Oaks, Calif., Dorsett said he still had apprehensions before the San Diego game.

"Not a big concern, but something in the back of my mind," he said. "I needed to know how my knees would react out there — getting pulled and tugged and shoved."

Dorsett was smiling after Saturday night — his stride was back and so were the darting cuts and the speed. Playing only in the first quarter, he gained 32 yards on five carries, including 19 on his first.

"It was such a relief in that I don't have to think about it anymore," Dorsett said. "I answered that question for myself and now I don't have to worry if I can take the pounding anymore."

Royals cool off Rangers

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Bob Stoddard got a win and John Davis got a save, something the Kansas City Royals had been waiting to see all season.

They combined to cool off the Texas Ranger hitters Wednesday night while the Royals ran wild in an 11-6 victory that put them at the .500 mark in the American League West.

"Bob got in front of the hitters and that's what he had to do," said Royals Manager Billy Gardner. "It was good to see him get untracked."

Stoddard got his first victory since September of last season when he was pitching for San Diego in the National League.

It was his first victory in the American League since September, 1984 when he was with Seattle and downed the Rangers.

Davis earned his first career major league save.

Stoddard yielded only three hits in five and one-third innings of relief.

"It felt good to finally get a victory," Stoddard said. "I kept the ball down and felt like I was in control."

Texas built a 6-3 lead on homers by Jerry Browne, his first in the majors, Pete Incaviglia, and Ruben Sierra as they chased starter Bud Black.

The Royals rallied off Rangers' starter Bobby Witt, 6-6, on homers by Danny Tartabull, George Brett and Frank White. Kansas City scored six runs in the fifth inning while Stoddard was shutting off the Texas hitters.

"I thought the key for us was when Bob shut them down in the third inning," Gardner said. "That picked us up."

Witt said "I just didn't have it. No slider, no fastball. I was terrible. I'm very disappointed in the way I pitched."

Rangers' Manager Bobby Valentine said "We hit the ball well off Bud Black but just couldn't get anything going off Stoddard. He did a good job. It was the same old story, our pitching just wasn't up to the mark."

Stoddard said "It's been a long time since I pitched that well. I don't get an opportunity to save or win games. It's really a good feeling for me."

"I've been staying sharp just hoping this time would come. This is my first Royal win and I really wanted it."

Brett said "Stoddard was the reason we won the game. He did a great job and held them."

The Royals moved to within five games of division-leading Minnesota while Texas dropped nine and one-half games behind the Twins.

Roosters crow at contest

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Collin spent much of the morning in a dark box and when he finally emerged, thinking it was dawn, he went on to win the Illinois State Fair rooster crowling contest. "The birds crow more if they think it's morning," Collin's owner, Jennifer Koons, 16, of Hudson, said of her winning strategy Tuesday.

Collin, who is only 8 months old, crowed 137 times in an hour to beat seven other roosters named everything from Stallone to Little Richard, winning Jennifer $250.

Jennifer egged on Collin by pressing a hen up against his coop during the contest. "None of the roosters have been with females, and they like to show off," she said.

Other contestants blew on their birds or lightly tapped their coops in an effort to prompt yet another cock-a-doodle-doo.

Jennifer has been raising birds for 11 years and has participated in four previous crowing competitions at the state and local levels.

Collector's items sent to auction

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dozens of player pianos and other music machines from the pre-jukebox era collected by a big, bald cable car foreman nicknamed "The Big Cherub" are going on the auction block.

The sale scheduled Tuesday is expected to raise about $250,000 for the estate of Charles A. Smallwood, a San Francisco native who died last year at age 73.

Smallwood's fascination with 19th century machinery led to a collection of more than 50 player pianos, nickelodeons and other coin-operated music machines.

The advent of the jukebox in the 1930s made these machines obsolete, and most were scrapped. But Smallwood, who loved to tinker, rescued many from the saloons and bawdy houses of Virginia City, Nev.

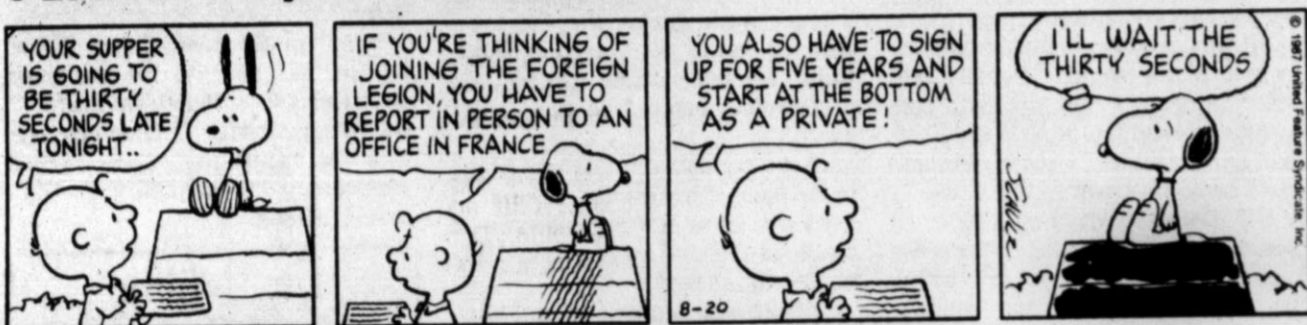

Smallwood also photographed streetcars and interurban electric trains, beginning around 1930. "Charlie was a huge, bald man, he must've weighed 300 pounds, and at the Western Railroad Museum ... his old friends called him, 'The Big Cherub,'" said San Francisco Chronicle reporter and transit system historian Harre W. Demoro.

The first Presidential news conference to be televised was held by President Eisenhower on Jan. 19, 1955.

Plums make dessert special

By NANCY BYAL
Better Homes and Gardens
Food Editor

Any variety of plums, as long as they're fully ripe, will work in this elegant, European-style tart. You'll be able to find fresh plums all summer long, but supplies are usually best—and prices lowest—in August.

PLUM AND ALMOND TART

Pastry for a 9-inch 1-crust pie
1 cup finely ground almonds (about 3 ounces)
1-3rd cup sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon finely shredded lemon peel
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon almond extract
8 to 10 plums, halved and pitted
2 tablespoons margarine or butter
1-3rd cup currant jelly, melted
Toasted sliced almonds (optional)

On a lightly floured surface roll pastry to a 12-inch circle. Transfer to a 9-inch quiche dish or pie plate. For quiche dish, trim edges of dough even with rim of dish. For pie plate, fold edges of dough under and flute. In a small mixer bowl combine ground almonds, sugar, egg, lemon peel, cinnamon and almond extract. Beat with electric mixer on low speed until well combined. Spread evenly in pastry. Place plum halves, cut side down, on top of almond mixture. Dot with margarine. Bake in 375-degree oven for 50 minutes or until crust is browned and juice from plums is nearly evaporated. Cool to room temperature. Brush with melted jelly. Sprinkle with sliced almonds, if desired. Makes 9 servings.

COOKING WITH PLUMS — Fresh plums are a summer treat. They taste delicious in a tart, brushed with melted currant jelly and sprinkled with sliced almonds.

Social Security

BENEFICIARIES SHOULD UPDATE EARNINGS REPORT

By Jim Talbot
Social Security Manager
in Amarillo, Texas

Over 700,000 letters go out this month to Social Security beneficiaries in target groups considered most likely to be overpaid because of excess earnings under the annual earnings test. The letters invite them to update their estimates of their 1987 earnings, if necessary, to avoid overpayment problems.

The estimates were included in the earnings reports working beneficiaries who earn over the annual earnings limit are required to send in by April 15. Beneficiaries report how much they earned the prior year and provide an estimate of how much they expect to earn during the current year. Earnings over the annual limit reduce the benefit $1 for every $2 of earnings over the limit. Current benefits are adjusted based on information contained in the earnings report.

The 1987 annual exempt amounts are $6,000 for people under 65 as of 1987 and $8,160 for people 65 through 69.

When something happens that causes a person to earn more than the estimate he or she provided to Social Security, the change should be reported to Social Security immediately.

Repayment is generally done by withholding a portion of future checks, although the overpayment may be repaid in a lump-sum.

People may update their earnings reports by phone or by mail. Just call (806) 376-2241.

Rummage Sale Helpers

Sellable items are still needed by Kings Manor and Westgate for their rummage sale set for Saturday in King's Manor's Lamar Room from 8:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. Elizabeth Casad and Nila Cockrell, from left, affix prices to items already on hand. The fundraiser will benefit both retirement centers. Donations of sellable items may be made at either place between 8-5 and will be accepted through Friday by Bea Noland and Helen Kirkeby, activity directors at Kings Manor and Westgate, respectively.

Amarillo's party August 29-30

The whole Panhandle is invited to help Amarillo celebrate its 100th birthday during the city's Giant Birthday Party August 29-30, according to B.R. Barfield, co-chairman of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce Centennial Committee.

The two-day extravaganza will include "Railroad Days" at the Amarillo Civic Center and Centennial Air Show '87 at Amarillo International Airport, Barfield said.

The Chamber's Centennial Committee and Santa Fe Railways are co-sponsoring Railroad Days. The air show is a project of the Texas Aviation Historical Society, a Chamber affiliate.

A Sixth Street festival billed as "Old San Jacinto Centennial Salute" is set for the preceding weekend, August 22-23. The event will be held in Amarillo's antique shop district between Western and Georgia on Sixth Street. Saturday's noon to dark activities at the civic center will include tours of 12 full-size, state-of-the-art railroad cars on the Santa Fe Railway tracks; a 9 p.m. western dance headlined by the Maines Brothers Band and preceded by an 8 p.m. square dance exhibition.

Sunday's agenda will feature free ice cream and cake provided by the Women's Forum from 4-6 p.m. near the fountains in the civic center courtyard.

Following a 4:30 p.m. patriotic Amarillo Symphony performance, two special presentations to the City of Amarillo will be made at 5 p.m. Sunday in the Civic Center Coliseum — the Chamber of Commerce Arts Committee will present a carousel horse decorated by 11 local artists and valued at $15,000 and Santa Fe Railway representatives will present a locomotive bell.

The presentations will be followed by a ground-breaking ceremony for the Centennial Plaza.

Among the ongoing Railroad Days activity: non-stop entertainment on two stages; all kinds of exhibits—modern and pioneer; food vendors; horse-drawn carriage, surrey and hay rides; railroad and Centennial memorabilia sales; beer gardens; and photographers.

Confederate Air Force reenactment of World War II battles — among other aerial displays — are planned for Amarillo Air Show '87, according to Don Johnson, air show chairman. Shows begin at 1:30 p.m. August 29-30 at the airport. On display from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. daily will be stationary aircraft, military exhibits and a slide show by the Air Force Orientation Group.

Old San Jacinto's Centennial Salute will kick off with a 10 a.m. Saturday (August 22) parade. Sidewalk vendors will offer arts and crafts, antiques, collectibles and food. Clowns and pony rides will add to the lively atmosphere, said Jamie Cavins, president of the Sixth Street Merchants Association.

The city owes its birth to the laying of the Ft. Worth and Denver City Railroad line through the area in 1887, and Railroad Days will pay tribute to that railroad origin.

August 30, 1887 marks the day of an election designating Amarillo (named Oneida at the time) as the county seat of Potter County.

Racing pigs set to run

If you have ever seen Racing Pigs you will have the opportunity at the Amarillo Tri State Fair scheduled for September 21-26, 1987.

How are the Pigs trained to race? In horse racing the jockeys keep the horses running, at the dog races the dogs chase a rabbit—in pig racing the pigs race for an Oreo cookie. The first one to the finish line gets the Oreo Cookie and the others get pig feed.

The audience also gets into the act as volunteers from the audience are selected to be cheerleaders for each

Pig plus a marshal is selected to operate the starting gate. The Pigs will be racing several times daily on their oval track, and they race around the track at about 15 miles per hour.

It's fun for the whole family to observe this unique and different attraction at the Tri State Fair.

Polish leader Wojciech Jaruzelski invoked emergency powers in 1981 and put the military in charge of the government.

Names in the News

LONDON (AP) — The crowd went wild when Madonna removed her frilly red underpants in the first of three concerts here, and some returned the favor, tossing their unmentionables onto the stage.

"Stop throwing your underpants up here," the rock singer yelled at the crowd of 77,000. "First of all, they're not my size."

Others who attended Tuesday night's two-hour concert at Wembley Stadium fainted from the heat or were bruised in the crush as the crowd surged toward the stage. Several were passed to safety over the audience's heads to a backstage infirmary.

Police arrested 10 people, most for being drunk, Scotland Yard said.

Celebrities attending the concert included rock stars George Michael and Bob Geldof, actor John Hurt and comedian John Cleese.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ron Schwary, producer of the new CBS series "Tour of Duty," was pleased when he learned that the show would be filmed on location in Hawaii because it means he'll be near an old fraternity brother.

Schwary's "big brother" in Sigma Chi at the University of Southern California in 1964 is also involved in a CBS show filmed in the islands.

The show is "Magnum P.I." and the old frat brother is Tom Selleck, star of the long-running detective series.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor William E. Brock is being treated at Georgetown University Hospital following an eye operation, a Labor Department spokeswoman says.

Brock underwent surgery Tuesday for a detached retina, which he suffered last weekend, said spokeswoman Ann Amling. Brock was admitted to the hospital for observation Sunday night.

A hospital spokeswoman contacted Tuesday night refused to give Brock's condition.

CHICAGO (AP) — Oprah Winfrey's talk show will be close-captioned for the deaf and hard of hearing beginning Sept. 8.

"I've always held that 'The Oprah Winfrey Show' is a show by and for everyone," Miss Winfrey said. "And I'm grateful that we're able to take full advantage of the technology that enables us to reach the hearing impaired."

The captioning will be done by the National Captioning Institute, a non-profit corporation near Washington, said Michael King, president and chief executive officer of King World, distributor of the show.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Justine Bateman of NBC's "Family Ties" television show was in good condition following an emergency appendectomy last week, her agent says.

"She's been getting lots of well-wishers, and she feels terrific," Scott Schwartz said Tuesday.

The 21-year-old actress was taken to the hospital last Thursday after complaining of abdominal pain, said spokeswoman Nancy Ryder.

BUTTE, Mont. (AP) — Motorcycle daredevil Evel Knievel's plan to establish a museum about himself in a vacant school faces a big hurdle: a growing population.

The Butte stuntman has asked the school system for a 20-to-30-year lease on the Webster-Garfield School, but the district may need the classrooms for students, Superintendent Pete Carparelli told school trustees Monday night.

Carparelli said county birth rates and elementary school enrollments had made him cautious about Knievel's proposal.

The "Evel Knievel and Friends Museum" would feature 25 rooms of paraphernalia collected by the daredevil. That includes 30 motorcycles, toys and promotional items bearing his name, and items from his pursuits outside stunt riding, such as golf and art.

In a presentation to trustees this spring, Knievel said the museum would draw 100,000 people a year and gross between $1 million and $3 million annually.

The board postponed a decision.

ANN MCDONALD

Ann McDonald selected as featured artist

The featured artist for the month of August at the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center is Ann McDonald of Ralls, Texas.

The photographer's works may be seen from 8 a.m. - noon and 1 p.m. - 5 p.m., Monday through Friday at the Center. An admission fee of $2 is charged; children under 12 are admitted free.

Photographs on display are all part of limited editions. Subject content ranges from the scenic outdoors to flowers to animals, to name a few.

Many of her photographs have been chosen for citations and travel-

Device shortens hospital stays

ATLANTA (AP) — A new device can shorten hospital stays and improve people's ability to bend their knees after knee joint replacement surgery, reports Arthritis Today.

The publication says the device uses a technique called continuous passive motion to automatically bend and straighten the knee for several days after surgery. The procedure must be used within the first 24 hours after surgery to be most effective, it says.

ing circuit of Lubbock Art Association in the Classic, Membership and Photography shows; 1984-85 Texas Fine Arts Association Citation Show, regional and state winner, Austin, Texas, included in circuit tour of the state and had the only photograph chosen.

Other juried show participation took place in Post, Texas, Spring Art Show where McDonald received the Best of Show in Photography, 1985, 1986; the Caprock Photographers Annual Show, Post, Texas; "Focus on Oil" annual photography show at the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum in Midland, where there were selected four separate shows to be one of 50 to exhibit; the Crosby County Art Festival; and the State Fair of Texas.

Booth rental deadline set for Festival

The beautiful weather and relaxing atmosphere of the San Antonio Riverwalk should once again combine to make the 13th Annual March of Dimes Arts & Crafts Festival a huge success.

The show will feature over 140 displays of original works, including pottery, stained glass, country crafts, and many more specialty items. Taking place Labor Day weekend, along with the Grand Prix also being held on the river, the Festival will attract a crowd of thousands.

Booth fee for two days is $100. Applications for entry should be in by August 28.

Spaces will be given on a first come, first serve basis. The show runs September 5-6 from 10:00 a.m. - 6:00 p.m. both days.

Joining in this festive weekend will help support the March of Dimes. For more information call (512)647-7700.

Hereford area collegians receive WTSU scholarships

Soon-to-be West Texas State University freshmen from the Hereford/Summerfield area have received Don and Sybil Harrington Honor Scholarships, based on their membership in the National Honor Society, for the 1987-88 academic year.

They are: Jessie J. Castillo, Kyle R. Streun, Francisco Rodriguez, Monica L. Devers, Shannon M. Hacker, Judy L. Hamby, Mandy L. Lytal, Charles A. Hund, Kathy D. Matthews, Leann R. Paetzold, Denise A. Paetzold, Jennifer L. Bankston, Christie L. Gragson, Mark A. Artho and Jill Cocanougher of Hereford and Kristi R. Powell of Summerfield.

Scholarship recipients have received awards beginning at $200, with higher amounts determined by their academic achievement level.

Awards will be automatically renewed for subsequent semesters for those students who maintain a 3.0 grade point average.

The Don and Sybil Harrington Honor Scholarship was established in 1979 with an endowment from the Don and Sybil Harrington Foundation. "The interest from the endowment currently provides approximately $175,000 annually to make the scholarship possible," Director of Admissions Lila Vars said.

The Don and Sybil Harrington Foundation, which is based in Amarillo, began as a trust in 1951 and was incorporated in 1971. From 1927 until his death in 1974, Mr. Harrington worked a successful oil and gas partnership. Mrs. Harrington still serves as chairman of the foundation's board.

Gerber products coupons to benefit March of Dimes

Gerber Products recently launched its third coupon promotion to raise funds for the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation.

A free-standing insert which includes a form for consumers to order Gerber coupons and an offer for a free Child Safety Handbook appeared in more than 45 million newspapers throughout the United States in mid-July.

Two previous Gerber promotions have raised $165,000 for the March of Dimes with redemption funds to be generated through January 1988. These coupon promotions, combined with the Free Standing Insert, are expected to generate about $500,000 for the March of Dimes.
