The Branding Iron

New librarian making change

By DEBE GRAVES
Staff Writer

The children's reference section of the Deaf Smith County Library will have a brand new set of children's encyclopedias available as a result of some of the changes being made by new County Librarian, Rebecca Walls.

Walls has nothing but praise for her predecessor, Dianne Pierson, who left the library in July to take a position with the Waste Deposit Impact Committee, and says she will make only minor changes but that the children's reference section is an area she plans to build.

Walls, assistant librarian for five years, says her biggest challenge has been picking up on all the data Pierson had memorized.

"There are so many little things, for instance quirks in the computer system we use, which we all relied on Dianne to know. Now I am challenged to learn them because the staff are relying on me," says Walls.

Walls has been employed with the library since 1978 and will be seeking a person to fill the position she vacated to take the promotion. "The job requires a college degree, so I will not be able to promote from within the current staff," she said.

She was born in Amarillo but was raised, and graduated from high school, in Texline. She holds a Bachelor of Science degree in home economics from Texas Woman's University, in Denton, and taught school in Matador before marrying her husband, Jerry, who is a respiratory therapist employed by St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo.

"After Jerry and I married we lived in Lubbock for two years and then moved to Hereford in 1974," Walls says. The couple have two children, Stephanie, 12, and J.O., 9.

Between work and family obligations Walls stays very busy; however, she does find time for church work. She teaches Sunday School and children's choir at First Baptist Church, and works with team sports at the Y.M.C.A.

Additionally, she engages in oil painting projects such as landscapes, still life and Tole painting and sewing (she made four of the costumes worn in the Chamber Singer's presentation of Scrooge last December).

Her artistic talents have been displayed many times at the library, including the carousel which currently stands in the foyer.

The demands of newly-acquired responsibilities are engaging much of her free time these days, and nights. "I have read book reviews every night since Dianne left," she laughs.

Reading book reviews to select purchases for the library is a major portion of her new job, as is supervising the work of six other library employees and overseeing the maintenance of the library and equipment.

...with library carousel

Since so much of her work time is spent reading and guiding her son in his reading, Walls says she doesn't have much time for pleasurable reading of her own; however, when she does have time to curl up with a good book it will be a mystery or romance novel or a craft book.

Local enrollment steady with 1986

First-day enrollment figures for Hereford public schools were almost exactly the same as first-day figures in 1986.

4,516 students were enrolled in school Tuesday—two less than one year ago. School officials speculated that more students would enroll during the remainder of this week and through next week.

The only increase over 1986 came in the elementary grades, where 2,458 students were enrolled Tuesday, up from 2,419 in 1986.

Junior high enrollment was 1,004—down 10 from last year. Hereford High School had 839 students enrolled Tuesday, off 11 from 1986.

Ag workers pay changes

A new pay schedule for agricultural workers who are paid according to how much they harvest went into effect Tuesday, according to Texas Ag Commissioner Jim Hightower.

"The state minimum hourly wage for agricultural workers was raised to $3.35 during the 70th Legislative Session. Since most producers pay farmworkers based on how much produce they pick, rather than for how long they work, it was necessary for the existing 'piece rate' schedule to be updated," Hightower said. The old piece rate was based upon a state minimum wage of $1.40 per hour.

Farmworker Liaison Olga Moya of the Texas Department of Agriculture explains the benefits of the increase. "This means that farmworkers picking black-eyed or hull peas will be paid 8 cents per pound rather than 3 cents per pound. Someone picking green or snap beans now will be paid 12 cents per pound instead of 5 cents. Those workers picking cherry, hot or sweet peppers will receive $7.46 per 5-peck basket instead of $3.11," Moya said. "At the same time, citrus workers who pick oranges and grapefruit will receive 92 cents and 54 cents per full citrus bag, respectively, compared to the old rate of 38 cents for a full bag of oranges and 22 cents for a full bag of grapefruit," Moya said.

According to Moya, the new piece rates will have their greatest impact in South Texas and the South Plains, where most of the state's fresh produce is harvested.

"For farmworkers, every penny counts. That's why it is so important that Texas producers throughout the state be aware of the changes in wage rates and be able to implement them," Hightower said. "Anytime there is a change, there are bound to be some questions and some confusion. Olga Moya is very knowledgeable about the changes and is available to help producers with their questions. She is only a phone call away."

Moya can be reached in Austin by calling 512/463-7427.

UN extends Iran's time limit

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Despite growing U.S. impatience, the U.N. Security Council is giving Iran more time to agree to a cease-fire in its war with Iraq before considering worldwide sanctions against the Islamic country.

The delay appears to be a victory for the Soviet Union, which contends more diplomacy is needed, and a snub of the United States, which has said the council should act on sanctions if Iran doesn't give its answer by Friday or if it rejects a cease-fire.

Differences among the Security Council members have widened since July 20, when the 15-nation council unanimously approved a resolution demanding a cease-fire. Iraq has endorsed the measure but Iran has taken an ambiguous position, saying it neither accepts nor rejects the measure.

Car stopped following chase

TULIA, Texas (AP) — Two men who allegedly took a sports car for a test drive up the Texas Panhandle were finally stopped by a reserve policeman flying a twin-engine plane.

Jim L. Cox used his Cessna 172 Tuesday to stop the Datsun 280-Z just outside Palo Duro Canyon after officers from the Department of Public Safety, Swisher County and Tulia police chased the car at high speeds for about 25 miles.

Cox stopped the car, which police said reached speeds as high as 140 mph, when his landing gear snagged its roof, officials said.

The Datsun was reported stolen about 1:30 p.m. Tuesday from the Ford dealership in the town southeast of Lubbock, Slaton Police Chief Barbara Fowler said.

A DPS trooper spotted the car going through Tulia, more than 60 miles to the north, about 5 p.m. as it ran two red lights. Two other Tulia policemen and deputy and another trooper joined the chase.

Cox, who is also manager of the city's airport, said he heard the pursuit on a police radio at the airport and decided his help was needed.

"According to the radio, (the car) was just leaving everybody behind," Cox said. After stopping the vehicle, Cox managed to land his wheel-less plane without injury.

Arrested in connection with the incident were David S. Scott, 17, of Indianapolis, Ind., and Michael L. Miller, 22, of Lore City, Ohio.

Justice of the Peace Earl Cox of Tulia set bonds Wednesday of $15,000 on Scott and $5,000 on Miller. Scott was charged with felony counts of aggravated assault on a peace officer and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Miller was charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Scott and Miller remained in the Swisher County Jail Wednesday night.

The pair had taken a 1984 Honda auto to the Slaton car dealership to inquire about body work and then took the Datsun for a test drive, said Ms. Fowler.

Authorities say the Datsun was only a few miles away from the winding roads of Palo Duro Canyon. "(The driver) could very possibly have killed himself" in the canyon, Cox said.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says we should all aim for service, not success, and success will follow.

One of our neighbors says she is worried about the eyesight of her two teenagers. The daughter can't seem to find anything to wear in a closet full of clothes, and the son can't find anything to eat in a refrigerator full of food.

School is underway; the first football games are scheduled this week, and those are sure signs that Christmas is not far away! A Hereford-Canyon sophomore football game kicks off the local grid season today, and a pep rally is set at 7:30 p.m. in Whiteface Stadium for the varsity gridlers who will be going to Andrews Friday. The public is invited to the pep rally which follows the soph game.

Any one out there ever hear of a "sparkle party"? A recent column by Roy McQueen, Snyder Daily News, aroused our interest about such a party. We'd never heard of such a thing.

"Sparkle parties", according to McQueen, were the rage back when he was young—a fifth or sixth-grader. What it involved was getting a bunch of friends together for a party, standing in a dark closet and popping a Wint-O-Green Life Saver into your mouth.

According to Roy, if you crack the Life Saver between your teeth in a dark room, tiny blue-green lights flash. He admits the tactic was really just an excuse to get that special someone in a dark closet with you, but the idea intrigued us, so we decided to try it. Roy is a good practical joker, so it was with some reservation that we took time to go to the store, find the particular brand of Life Saver and give his "sparkle party" story a try.

We didn't want to look like an idiot if it didn't work, so we went into a closet alone with a mirror. The first try was difficult as we tried to crack that Life Saver and nothing happened. Then we kept our mouth open on the second try and, sure enough, a couple of bluish-green lights accompanied the awful noise.

Feeling secure that it did work, we told the better half we were going to take her to a "sparkle party." But when we invited Lavon into a dark closet with us, she was leary and told us she had a headache!

We finally convinced her that it would be an unusual experience, and we went into the closet with a couple of the white pieces of candy in our shirt pocket. We positioned ourselves just right and told her to keep her eyes on our lips. We slipped in a Life Saver, crunched down on it and scared the living daylight out of her. She saw the brief, bluish-green lights but was concerned about our dental work.

To complete the tale, McQueen says someone asked why this happens and scientists have come up with an explanation: "When a Wint-O-Green Life Saver is cracked, negative and positive electrical charges first separate into pockets of like charges. Then, like tiny lighting bolts, the opposite charges recombine, exciting nitrogen molecules to produce a blue-green glow. But such fracture emissions are not completely understood."

Of course.

Christensen named top fan

Gary Christensen, Brand sports editor, has been selected as the season's first "Whiteface Fan of the Week" for the football season.

The "feature fan" each week is on the sidelines with the team and rides the bus with the team on out-of-town games. This year, readers are nominating the fan through a coupon in The Brand, the nominating coupon for the Clovia game was published in Wednesday's issue.

The "Fan of the Week" is announced each Tuesday at the Whiteface Booster Club meeting. Christensen was cited for his coverage of all Whiteface teams and for his recent research on Whiteface football records and statistics.

See today's Sports page for details on the Horn's first game at Andrews. Kickoff time has been changed to 8 p.m.

ABM interpretation

Nunn battles treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam Nunn says the administration's efforts to broaden interpretation of the 1972 Anti-Ballistic Missile treaty will slow down Senate ratification of any treaty to remove nuclear missiles from Europe.

Nunn, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and a leading opponent of the broad interpretation the administration proposed in 1985, outlined the warning Tuesday in a letter to Reagan. The administration's interpretation of the 1972 treaty would allow early deployment and testing of the "Star Wars" missile defense system.

The letter, released by the Georgia Democrat's office Wednesday, comes as U.S. and Soviet officials in Geneva, Switzerland, are in the final stages of negotiations on a treaty to eliminate medium-range nuclear missiles in Europe.

Nunn said in the letter that if the legal doctrine the administration has used to justify the broad interpretation of the ABM treaty is in effect when a European missile treaty is submitted to the Senate, he will demand that senators be given the complete negotiating record that led to the agreement.

Nunn has argued previously that the broad ABM treaty interpretation is not supported either by the negotiating record or by the record of the Senate ratification debate, including testimony by Nixon administration officials about the meaning of the treaty.

Abraham D. Sofaer, the State Department's legal adviser, told Congress earlier this year that the negotiating record of the ABM treaty justifies the broad interpretation regardless of what the Senate was told by Nixon administration officials.

"In effect, the Sofaer doctrine holds that if the Senate is misinformed by executive branch officials as to the meaning of a proposed treaty, that is simply too bad," Nunn said in the letter to Reagan.

"Sofaer has put the Senate on notice that if Congress relies upon the testimony of your administration as the meaning of the (intermediate nuclear forces) treaty, it will be at its own risk," he said.

Nunn told Reagan he will demand that the Senate review the negotiating record before voting on any treaty to ban nuclear missiles in Europe "unless the Sofaer doctrine is either abandoned or significantly modified."

Nunn said he does not want to delay Senate ratification of such a treaty, but he warned Reagan that Senate review of the six-year negotiating record "will obviously be time-consuming" and will require that the negotiating record be declassified and made available to the public.

"I find this situation deplorable and hope that the Senate will not have to follow this course of action," Nunn said in the letter.

"I would much prefer that we return to a method of conducting treaty ratification proceedings wherein the Senate can confidently rely upon the representations of the executive branch officials."

If the Sofaer doctrine is not abandoned or modified, Nunn recommended that the administration start compiling the negotiating record and submitting parts of it to the Senate before the treaty is completed. He also recommended that the administration begin declassifying documents in the negotiating record.

An earlier Nunn effort to keep the administration from adopting the broad interpretation of the ABM treaty produced a stalemate in the Senate over the 1988 defense authorization bill.

Senate Republicans have blocked action on the bill since May because it includes a Nunn amendment to prohibit the administration from spending any money on Star Wars tests that would violate the traditional interpretation of the ABM treaty, unless both houses of Congress approve.

Committee report attacks Bork

WASHINGTON (AP) — An analysis released today by the chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee says the White House is conducting a "transparent effort" to make Supreme Court nominee Robert H. Bork appear as the ideological equivalent of retired Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr.

The report was requested by committee chairman Joseph R. Biden Jr., D-Del., and was written by two committee consultants. It is a broad attack on a White House position paper issued last July that glowingly extolled Bork's record as a federal appellate judge.

Biden, who has announced his opposition to Bork, called the White House account a distortion and said the committee report was attempting to "depict Judge Bork's record more fully and accurately."

Issued 12 days before the start of Bork's confirmation hearings before the Judiciary Committee, the analysis:

—Called Bork a pillar of "conservative activism" rather than "the apostle of judicial restraint and moderation described in the White House position paper."

—Said Bork rejected the right of citizens to be free from governmental interference in their private lives.

—Accused the nominee of attacking "virtually all" of the nation's basic antitrust laws.

—Accused Bork of favoring a narrowing of many First Amendment protections, favoring prior restraints on the press, limitations on release of information under the Freedom of Information Act, protection of only political speech but not artistic expression, and calling for reintroduction of some religion into public schools.

—Contended Bork opposed "virtually every major civil rights advance on which he has taken a position," including laws on public accommodations, open housing, restrictive covenants, literacy tests, poll taxes and affirmative action.

—Contended Bork would refuse to adhere to Supreme Court precedents, noting that he said the Supreme Court ruling granting a woman's right to abortion — Roe vs. Wade — was "by no means the only example of unconstitutional behavior by the Supreme Court."

At the heart of the new analysis is a rebuttal to the White House claim that Bork and Powell — the latter a respected conservative — agreed with each other in nine of 10 relevant cases that advanced from the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington to the Supreme Court.

Referring to the White House position paper, the new report said "it thus continues its transparent effort to depict Judge Bork as the ideological equivalent to the retired Lewis Powell. Such depiction has no basis in fact."

The Biden-released analysis said the White House "seriously misrepresents some of those cases," including a sexual harassment case in which the administration study portrayed the two men in agreement when they actually were on opposite sides.

The new report was written by committee consultants Jeffrey Peck, a Washington attorney, and

Political gaffs already littering 1988 campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bob Dole's trip to Managua, Bruce Babbitt's media buy, Pat Robertson's libel suit — were they good ideas or bad? Or how about the Southern primary?

Campaigns often are best remembered by the ideas that turn sour. It's 14 months until Election Day 1988 and there already is a bumper crop of questionable decisions.

High on anyone's list of past political gaffs would be Walter F. Mondale's pronouncement that whether he or Ronald Reagan won the 1984 election, the American people would see their taxes increase in 1985.

Reagan lost no time tagging his Democratic opponent as an advocate of higher taxes.

Dole may benefit eventually from his impromptu confrontation with Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega in Managua on Monday. After the session between Ortega and a congressional delegation that included the Kansas Republican and four other legislators, Dole complained that Ortega had used the visit for a "propaganda rally."

Later, the four Republican senators and one House Democrat issued a statement saying the meeting "was not a serious discussion; it was a staged media circus."

Maybe Dole's mini-debate with Ortega will play well with U.S. voters. But it also might give his rivals an opportunity to ask whether he really expected to have a "serious discussion" with Ortega.

Babbitt decided last spring to spend $250,000 on a massive media buy in Iowa in order to boost his name recognition in the state that holds the first caucuses of the 1988 campaign.

The former Democratic governor of Arizona certainly needed a way to get Iowans to pay more attention to him.

But he may have spent too much too early. Not even the politically acute folks in Iowa were paying that much attention that early. So the money was spent, the commercials ran and Babbitt remains an also-ran in the polls.

Robertson was outraged when former Rep. Pete McCloskey of California, a fellow Marine officer during the Korean War, said the television evangelist had avoided combat by having his father, a U.S. senator, intercede for him.

Not only did Robertson denounce the accusation, he sued McCloskey, a step that guaranteed the question of his military service would remain alive throughout the campaign.

But when it comes to ideas that have unintended consequences, none may match the Southern primary, the brainchild of Democratic politicians determined to give the region a stronger voice in determining their party's next presidential nominee.

Foremost in their minds was the belief that if nearly all Southern states voted on the same day, March 8, they would support someone from the conservative wing of the party.

The trouble with that strategy was that the conservatives who looked best to the Southerners — Sen. Sam Nunn of Georgia and former Gov. Charles Robb of Virginia — aren't running.

That leaves the Rev. Jesse

Christopher Schroeder, a law professor at Duke University.

The White House report last July concluded that Bork "has consistently demonstrated throughout his legal and judicial career that he is committed to the idea of judges confining themselves to interpreting the law rather than advocating their own ideas of wise public policy."

"Further, in such areas as the First Amendment, privacy and civil rights, Judge Bork has demonstrated an open mind as his views have evolved and matured over the years, sometimes changing significantly over time as new evidence has been presented to him," the White House study said.

Life expectancy at record high

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fewer Americans are being born today, but those who are arriving can look forward to the longest lives ever, according to new government calculations.

Life expectancy climbed to a record high last year, while at the same time the nation's fertility rate fell to an all-time low, the National Center for Health Statistics reported Wednesday.

Marriages and divorces, meanwhile, fell to the lowest level in a decade.

The center reported that life expectancy for Americans born in 1986 reached a new record high of 74.9 years, up from 74.7 years reported in 1985.

The highest life expectancy was 78.9 years for white females, up from 78.7 a year earlier. White males saw an increase from 71.8 to 72.0 years, according to the center, a part of the Department of Health and Human Services.

Its annual summary of national vital statistics added that for blacks, men's life expectancy rose from 65.3 years to 65.5, but women's declined from 73.7 to 73.6.

Meanwhile, the center reported that total births were down slightly, to 3,731,000 babies nationwide, compared with 3,749,000 in 1985.

That represented 64.9 live births per 1,000 women aged 15 to 44, 2 percent below last year and "the lowest rate ever recorded in the United States."

The drop follows the trend of recent years, as many young people have postponed marriage and families to pursue education and careers.

There have been some years in which total births rose, but the fertility rate fell because of the growing number of women in the age group most likely to have children.

Now, however, those women are moving into the older parts of that group and total births also have started to fall, the statistics indicate.

Turning to marriages, the center reported 2,400,000 in 1986, down about 25,000 from 1985.

That represents a national marriage rate of 10.0 per 1,000 people, down from 10.2 a year earlier and the lowest rate since 1977 when it was 9.9.

The all-time high marriage rate occurred in the boom immediately following the return of the soldiers after World War II, when 1946 recorded 16.4 marriages per 1,000 people. The bottom was in the Depression year of 1932, with 7.9.

There were 1,159,000 divorces last year, down from 1,187,000 a year earlier. That represented a drop from 5.0 divorces per 1,000 to 4.8 last year.

That is the lowest divorce rate since 1975 when it was also 4.8. The record high divorce rate was in 1979 at 5.3.

Still room in the Inn for Papal visit

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Most major hotels and motels are rapidly filling for the Sept. 13 visit by Pope John Paul, but visitors can still find rooms, a survey reveals.

Fewer than 650 hotel and motel rooms remain for pilgrims planning to visit the city during that weekend, the San Antonio Light reported today.

Local inkeepers say persistent overnight visitors should be able to find a room as late as next week.

"If they make four telephone calls, I'm sure they'll find a room," said Roland Schuster, public relations director for the San Antonio Hotel and Motel Association.

Most major downtown hotels Wednesday reported few vacancies on the Saturday before the pope's arrival.

"On that Saturday, I'm just about booked," said Gerhard Scheiner, general manager at the Holiday Inn-Riverwalk. "I only have 17 rooms open and those should be sold out by this weekend."

Officials have estimated that 500,000 local residents and out-of-town visitors will attend the outdoor papal Mass.

Reservation operators at the Emily Morgan Hotel, the Fairmont

Hotel, the Hyatt Regency, La Mansion Del Rio and the Marriott-Riverwalk reported no or few rooms were available Sept. 12.

The Four Seasons Hotel and Travelodge on the River both reported several vacancies.

Schuster said about 640 rooms remained available this week. The vacancies are spread among the association's 75 member hotels and motels across city.

Since most large groups already have made travel arrangements, Schuster said most of the late travelers are individuals or families.

"There should be plenty of individual rooms left," said Schuster, who also is general manager at the St. Anthony Inter-Continental Hotel. "Their best chance is to pick up the telephone and call."

A large "wash-out factor" of last-minute cancellations should create some additional vacancies, Schuster said.

Major airlines reported plenty of vacancies on flights arriving and departing San Antonio on the weekend the pope arrives in the city.

Southwest Airlines reported vacancies on flights to and from Houston and Dallas Sept. 12-14.

Accent on Health

Birth, Death Certificates Fees Increased
The Texas Department of Health (TDH) has announced that fees charged Texans for vital records searches and birth and death certificates will increase beginning Sept. 1.

Fees for each certified copy of a birth certificate, the first certified copy of a death certificate, and each records search when the certificate is not already on file will increase from $5.00 to $7.50.

The fee for additional certified copies of a death certificate included in a single request will remain $2.00 each. The fee increases will apply at TDH in Austin, at county clerk's offices statewide, and at local registrar's offices.

The TDH Bureau of Vital Statistics, which records the state's births, marriages, divorces, and deaths, among other data, has seen "a tremendous surge in the number of people requesting certified documents in recent months," according to J.L. Howze, chief of the bureau. "In spite of the increased demand," he said, "the legislature reduced general revenue funding for the services by 50 percent, making this fee increase necessary."

Howze said that the new Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) law requiring all new employees to show the employer proof of citizenship has greatly increased the number of requests for birth certificates. "About 350 people a day walk in to our office in Austin to request birth certificates—almost double the number coming in last year," Howze said. "And we get about 1,650 such requests through the mail daily. With such a workload, our limited staff has had to extend the turnaround time for some mail-in requests to as much as six weeks."

Not only to U.S. employers require proof of employees' citizenship, but birth certificates also are required for children entering Texas schools for the first time. Howze said birth certificates requests for the Austin school children alone have increased by about 10 percent. Applicants for Social Security, Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), passports, retirement benefits, even enrollees in Little League baseball need birth certificates, Howze said.

Death certificates are most often used in insurance and estate settlements and sometimes may be requested by authorized genealogists.

Howze explained that the Vital Statistics Bureau in a normal year conducts more than a million records transactions in its Austin facilities. Files, dating to 1903 when the bureau was established, contain more than 26 million records of births, marriages, divorces, and deaths in the state.

Howze said that properly qualified applicants may request and receive certified copies in person or by mail at the Texas Department of Health, Bureau of Vital Statistics, 1100 West 49th Street, Austin, Texas 78756-3191.

Vintage aircraft show slated

An air tragedy three months ago—a tragedy for the city of Slaton—has grown into what promises to be one of the largest vintage aircraft airshows ever staged in West Texas.

The show will be the West Texas Air Fair, all-day Sept. 6 at the Slaton Municipal Airport/Gaulding Field on FM 400 north of the city.

The show is expected to bring 50 to 70 World War II vintage aircraft—from twin engine bombers to Japanese fighters—to the field, along with hot air balloonists, aerobatic pilots, remote control aircraft modelers and more.

The gate will open at 8 a.m. Sept. 6 for guided tours and hot air balloon ride views of the aircraft. The remote control modelers will demonstrate their skills at 11 a.m. Pre-show ceremonies will be at 12:30 p.m. And, the airshow itself will be from 1-4 p.m.

Advance tickets are now on sale for the airshow at a variety of locations in Slaton and, in Lubbock, at all First Federal Savings Association offices, L&H Drug stores, Powers Jewelry, Lubbock R.C. Hobbies, the South Plains Mall office and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce office.

The $3 per person advance tickets will guarantee the holder of parking on the airport. At the show, individual tickets will also be $3 and $10 carload tickets will be sold, but those buying tickets at the show may have to park away from the airport and be bused to the show site.

The show was born in the mind of Lubbock Businessman Jack C.

Gaulding.

It is now being staged in his memory.

The CAF Colonel and former CAF general staff officer had taken over operation and development of the Slaton Airport in 1966. After remodeling and revitalizing it, he formally reopened the airport with a small airshow in the fall of that year.

That first show led Gaulding and the Slaton chamber to begin planning a much larger event, under the name West Texas Air Fair, for 1987.

The tragedy of Gaulding's death in an airplane crash in New Mexico on May 9 sent the planning into shock, but out of the shock came both the chamber and Gaulding's many CAF friends determination to stage West Texas largest airshow in Gaulding's memory.

The response was overwhelming, CAF and chamber officials say.

From New Mexico, Oklahoma and all over Texas came commitments for aircraft participation in the show—aircraft with names right out of the history books.

Wayne Turner of Lubbock, the commander of the Panhandle Squadron of the CAF, says that some 55 vintage aircraft are confirmed for the show and that 10 others are probable.

The Slaton Chamber of Commerce found cooperation from sources throughout the Lubbock area, Chamber President Jim Davis says. "It was as though all we had to do to get help was ask," he says. "Slaton has become totally involved and the support from Lubbock has been tremendous." The Lubbock Chamber, the balloon club, the remote control modelers and so many more have joined in, he says.

"Jack Gaulding's death was a tragedy for all of us," he says, "but for me, at least, it became the driving force behind trying to give West Texans a spectacular view of what Jack most loved—the CAF's 'Warbirds.'"

Ann Landers

AIDS scare prevalent

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last night I had sex with 4,096 people. Impossible, you say? You're wrong.

I'm a divorced woman who has had a faithful lover for quite some time. Last night I had too much to drink and like a crazy fool I had sex with a man I had seen several times at our tennis club. He admitted having sex with eight "perfectly respectable" female partners over the last year.

I worked a chart backwards the same as in our tennis seeding. I took those eight women and assumed that they had also slept with eight men each, and each of those eight men had had sex with eight women, etc., etc.

By using simple arithmetic progression, after only three series I realized that I had been exposed somewhere along the line to 4,096 persons, plus one.

How can I assume that there was no one in that family tree who was not an AIDS carrier—if only through a blood transfusion? I understand there are 10,000 carriers in our state alone. How do I know I haven't been "seeded," and I don't mean tennis?

From now on I am sticking to my lover and hope to make him my husband for life. I pray he will never have to pay a price for my having exposed myself to 4,097 people. Sign me -- Scared

DEAR SCARED: You have focused on the aspect of AIDS that makes it such a terrifying disease. Add to the nightmare this horror: A person can have the AIDS virus without knowing it and infect a partner.

More and more it appears that the only way to ensure staying healthy is abstinence or a monogamous relationship with someone who is perfectly safe.

Tri State Fair to feature rides

The Bill Hames Shows, Inc., has added a classic Chance Dentzel-Style, Grand Carrousel to their lineup of amusement rides appearing at the Amarillo Tri-State Fair, September 21-26th.

The 50-foot replica of a turn-of-the-century carrousel seats 68 passengers on 60 elaborately detailed horses and in two ornate chariots, all dating back to the great era of carrousel carvers. Custom made especially for Bill Hames Shows, this spectacular carrousel is the first and only portable carrousel manufactured and sold that features the famous Bradley and Kaye carrousel figures. The predominant colors of the carrousel are red and white, and all horses are white to lend a dreamlike quality to the carrousel.

Whitefaces kick off season at Andrews

By GARY CHRISTENSEN
Sports Editor

After a month of practicing and scrimmaging, the Hereford Whiteface varsity football team is excited to get the 1987 season under way.

Hereford plays at Andrews at 8 p.m. Friday. The kickoff time is different from the one that had been listed before in the Herd season schedule.

Last year, in the 1986 season opener, the Whitefaces shut out the Andrews Mustangs 28-0 at Hereford. But Hereford head Coach Don Cumpton sees Andrews as an improved team.

"We feel that Andrews is better than they were last year. They've got Coach Stapler, who won state at Sweetwater two years ago," Cumpton said.

W.T. Stapler is starting his first season as the Mustangs' head coach. He coached at Boswell last year.

In preseason scrimmages, Hereford outscored Guymon, Okla., six touchdowns to one and outscored Lubbock Monterey two touchdowns to none. Andrews was outscored by Borger in a scrimmage, two touchdowns to one, and then scored two touchdowns against Crane while not allowing any touchdowns.

Hereford's touchdowns in the Monterey scrimmage were both scoring passes thrown by quarterback Raymond Romo. Rodney McCracken caught an 11-yard touchdown pass, and Marcus Brown caught a 40-yard touchdown pass.

"We were a lot crisper on defense against Monterey. We hit a lot better and played with more intensity on defense. We need to take that and improve each week," Coach Cumpton said.

"We're ready to play. Our players and coaches are tired of practicing and scrimmaging. We're ready to turn on the scoreboard and see what happens. We're excited to be playing this week," he said.

Among the standouts for Andrews in its preseason scrimmages were junior quarterback Joe Don Finley, senior split end Kid Estrada, junior halfback Michael Hernandez, senior halfback Neil Martin, sophomore fullback Kelly Carnejo, and sophomore tight end Robert Morris. Estrada caught two touchdown passes in the Mustangs' scrimmage against Crane — a 38-yarder from Finley, and a 52-yarder from senior quarterback Robby Carruth. Estrada had a 37-yard pass reception against Borger.

Hernandez rushed for a 32-yard touchdown run and also a 29-yard run against Borger.

The Whitefaces have 24 returning lettermen, including seven defensive starters and four offensive starters.

The defensive starters who return are all seniors — Michael Phibbs, Lee Young, Derrell Page, Richard Castillo, Edward Martinez, Robby Collier, and Rodney McCracken. The offensive starters who are back this year are seniors Tommy Ramirez, Chad Clements, Jim Bob Parker, and Marcus Brown.

The rest of the returning lettermen are these: Tim Long, Brent Berry, Trent Bowling, Fidencio Cantu, Johnny Beltran, Russell Brownlow, Joe Medrano, Chris Bullard, Raymond Romo, Bill Ruckman, Kevin Lindell, Kyle Andrews, and Roger McCracken.

In the preseason, Cumpton has said he would move several players from last year's defensive unit to this year's offensive unit, to utilize their talents in the best ways for the team.

"We're going to play a lot of people in the first couple of games, to give them experience and get ready for district play," Coach Cumpton said this week.

"We feel that we're improving both offensively and defensively. Defensively, we've come a long way from our first scrimmage. We've been happy with our kids' progress on both sides of the ball.

"We've been going a month, and we're at the point where it's important to play — and it's important to play well early to build confidence. When you play well, the score will take care of itself," he adds.

The Whiteface Linebackers

Corked bat joke has become serious crisis

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — What started out as a joke between Houston reliever Dave Smith and a friend has turned into a very serious crisis for Astros outfielder Billy Hatcher.

Hatcher was ejected from Tuesday night's game against the Chicago Cubs for using a corked bat that Smith says was given to him by a friend to use in batting practice.

Hatcher faces a possible suspension for using the illegal bat and the Astros could lose their most consistent hitter at a critical time in the NL Western Division race.

"A friend of mine did one as a joke," Smith said Wednesday night. "He told me to try it in batting practice and see if it made a difference. With my swing, I couldn't tell any difference."

"With all the controversy this year, we just wanted to see if there was a difference."

Smith said he always returned the doctored bat to the clubhouse before games. He said a bat boy may have accidentally placed it in the team's batting rack Tuesday night.

Umpire crew chief John McSherry said the bat contained 3-4 inches of cork and had been sent to the league office.

Astros Manager Hal Lanier said he did not know that the corked bat was being used in pitcher's batting practice.

"If I would have known, I'd have made damn sure the bats weren't in the bat rack during the game," Lanier said.

Lanier said he couldn't agree with Cubs Manager Gene Michael, who called for a three-month suspension without pay.

'Y' flag football, girls' volleyball deadline Friday

Friday is the registration deadline for boys who want to play in the YMCA flag football leagues and also for girls who want to play in the YMCA volleyball leagues.

Signup fees in the flag football leagues and volleyball leagues are $9 for each YMCA member and $15 for each YMCA non-member.

The flag football season begins on Sept. 12, and the girls' volleyball season starts on Sept. 14.

First and second grade flag football games will be on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The third through sixth grade leagues will have games on Saturdays.

In the girls' volleyball leagues, the fifth and sixth graders will play regular volleyball; the third and fourth graders will play regular volleyball, except that four hits will be allowed per side; and the first and second graders will play wallyball — volleyball on a racquetball court.

For more information on the boys' flag football and girls' volleyball leagues, contact the Hereford and Vicinity YMCA at 364-6990.

"I don't condone cheating either," Lanier said. "I feel the same as he (Michael) does. I just say it a little different."

If Hatcher is suspended, it should not be longer than the 10-day suspension given to Philadelphia's Kevin Gross and Minnesota's Joe Niekro.

"Why make it more serious for a guy corking than a guy using sandpaper?" Lanier asked. "I see no difference. They gave Gross 10 days and I guess that's the severity they wanted to take."

Hatcher said all of his regular bats were broken, so he unwittingly grabbed the corked bat.

"Hatcher has been using a lot of people's bats," Lanier said. "He used Jose Cruz's one time, he used Denny Walling's one time."

"Then he picked up the one that Dave Smith uses in batting practice. It's a shame that it's happened."

Hatcher's ejection continued the league's study of the possibility that some batters have loaded their bats with cork or shredded rubber to add distance to their drives.

Howard Johnson of the New York Mets, Pedro Guerrero of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Candy Maldonado of San Francisco have had their bats checked. Managers have the right to ask that one bat per game be confiscated for examination if they suspect tampering.

The Cubs also were involved in incidents involving Johnson and Guerrero.

"The big thing about it is it takes away from the kind of season Billy has been having," Astros batting coach Denis Menke said. "Everybody will say he's having a great year because he had a corked bat and that's not true."

"He's having a great season because he dedicated himself to it."

Flag scramble won on 10th hole Wednesday

A team composed of Bob Baker, John Robinson, Owen Seamonds, and Dick Zinser, won a Flag Scramble conducted Wednesday by the Hereford Men's Golf Association.

Each team had 33 strokes and placed a flag at the spot where the team had completed its allotted shots. The winning team completed the 10th hole to capture the title.

Max Goforth, tournament chairman, announced the association will have another scramble tournament next Wednesday beginning at 5:30 p.m. All members of the association are invited to enter. Membership dues are $10 a year.

AT&T ANNOUNCES UPCOMING PRICE CHANGES FOR SOME TEXAS INTRASTATE SERVICES

AT&T announces the following price changes for some of its Texas intrastate services. These changes, which more closely reflect the actual costs incurred by AT&T in providing these services, will become effective on October 1, 1987.

- SDN (Software Defined Network) Schedule B prices will be reduced an overall 7.1%. Schedule C prices will be reduced 4.4% for the initial 30-second rate period of each call.

- WATS 80 service prices for both the initial period 80-hour usage and additional period usage will increase 5%.

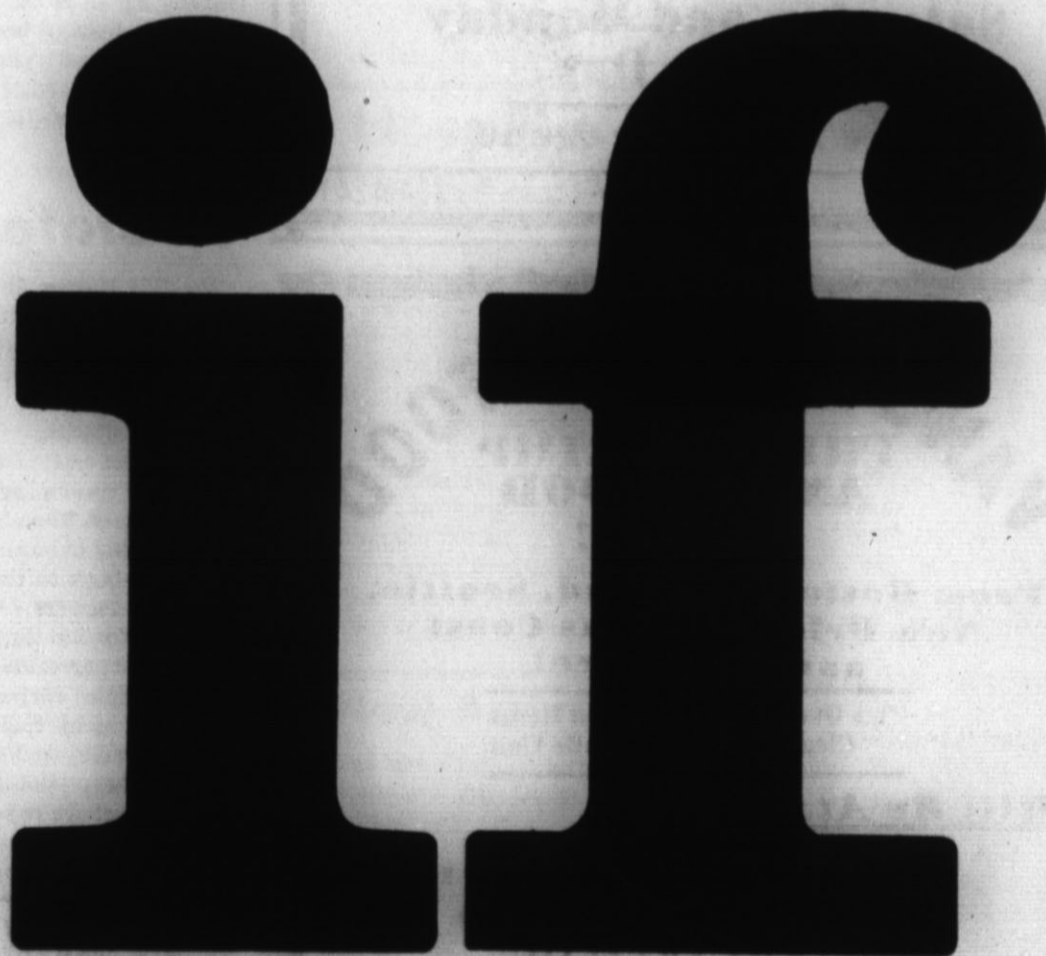

- The monthly prices for AT&T's Private Line Service will increase up to $25 per channel termination for Analog services and 10% for Digital Data Services.

- A $25 monthly surcharge will also apply to any private lines which may be used to access the local exchange network, unless certified as exempt by the customer. The $25 surcharge, which was previously authorized by the Public Utility Commission of Texas, is a flow through of charges assessed by the Local Exchange Companies to AT&T for those Private Line services.

The combined effect of these price changes is expected to produce approximately $4.99 million annual revenue, which is approximately .5% of AT&T's annual revenues for all Texas intrastate services.

If you have questions regarding the changes for Private Line service, please call AT&T toll-free at 1-800-345-5092. If you have questions regarding the WATS or SDN price changes, please call our business consultants toll-free at 1-800-222-0400. AT&T's tariffs reflecting these changes will be filed with the Public Utility Commission of Texas on August 31, 1987, with an effective date of October 1, 1987.

Persons who have questions regarding this tariff filing may also contact the Public Utility Commission of Texas in writing, at 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or by calling the Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223, or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 for teletypewriter for the deaf.

With two homers, double, four runs scored

Bass is one-man wrecking crew in 10-1 win

HOUSTON (AP) — Kevin Bass was a virtual one-man wrecking crew as the Houston Astros ended a seven-game losing streak with a victory that left the Astros thinking they are back in contention in the National League West pennant race.

Bass had two homers and a double and scored four times to boost the Astros to a 10-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs Wednesday night.

"I'm not real emotional, but it was nice my folks were here in person to see it," Bass said. "I figure after 130 games, I had to have a good night. I guess it was time we broke the (losing) streak."

"We all helped get ourselves out of it," Bass, who had homers from both sides of the plate for the second time to set a National League record, said.

"I think defense won the game for us," Scott said. "We could have been down three or four to nothing but our guys in the field gave us a chance."

The victory pulled the Astros to within 4½ games of the division leading San Francisco Giants.

"Bass took over and we finally broke out of it (the slump)," Scott said. "I just threw the ball and let them hit it. We never trailed and that was the key."

"It sure makes it easier to enjoy the day off tomorrow," Scott added.

Both Houston centerfielder Gerald Young and left fielder Billy Hatcher made defensive gems that staved off potential runs for the Cubs.

The Astros pounded out 13 hits, but pitcher Mike Scott said it was the defense that should be credited for the victory.

Houston Manager Hal Lanier appreciated the return to hitting and scoring after picking up only nine runs in the previous five games.

"They've been giving 100 percent," Lanier said. "We still feel like we have a long way to go, but we still feel like we're in it (the race) if we have good hitting from our entire lineup like tonight."

"We have have to keep people form the fifth slot down like Kevin hitting the ball," Lanier added.

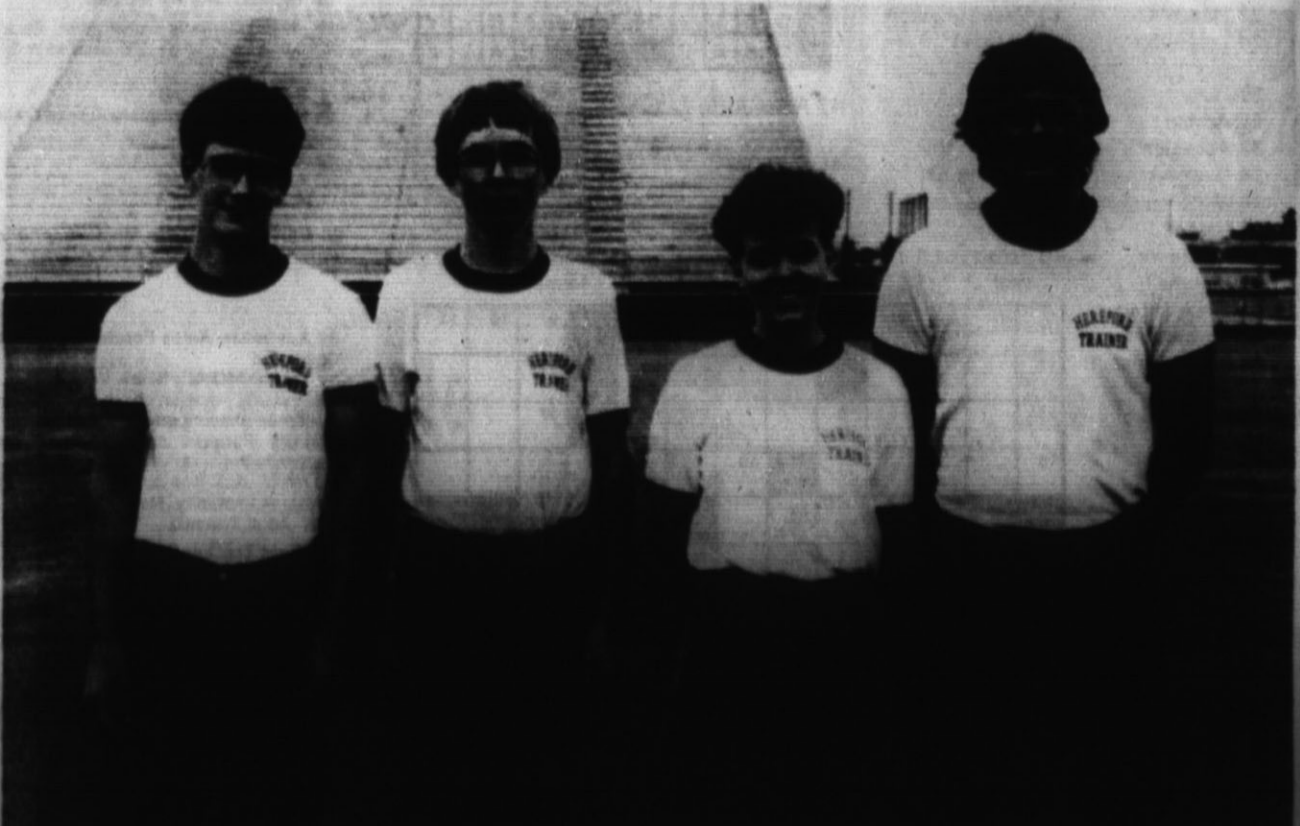

Chicago loser Rick Sutcliffe, 15-7, made no excuses about the seven hits and five runs he surrendered in 4 2-3 innings.

"I made alot of mistakes, both physical and mental and I couldn't get my breaking ball over," he said.

"It sure makes it easier to enjoy the day off tomorrow," he said.

BEING GRATEFUL

By Bob Wear
The value of gratitude is emphasized by taking a good look at ingratitude, what it is and what it does in the human experience. In fact, ingratitude is more than a lack of gratitude. All of its companions are evil; its influence is evil; and its destructive. It undermines the foundation of all that is decent and worthwhile.

Ingratitude in one's life makes the individual insensitive to all of the help and service received from others. More than this, it repels the good intentions and good impulses of the people who are trying to be useful and helpful. Ingratitude is like the cold wind that blows in the bleakness of winter when the grass is brown and the flowers are gone.

In the husband-wife relationship, ingratitude is perhaps one of the most common causes of unhappiness, and will eventually kill the spirit that gives meaning to the marriage. Let us also remember that unexpressed gratitude will cause about the same damage to a marriage.

In the parent-child relationship, ingratitude is the great offender. There are so many reasons for gratitude, and such great need for its frequent expression. Even if what is being done by all persons concerned is considered duty, all beneficiaries should be grateful and be expressive of this gratitude. A frequent 'thank you' will be a blessing to all concerned. Expressed appreciation makes the load seem lighter, the work a little easier, and the sacrifices worthwhile.

In all human association, ingratitude takes a heavy toll and spoils what could otherwise be one of the most effective sources of mutual encouragement. "How black and base a vice ingratitude is, may be seen in those vices with which it is always in combination; pride and hard-heartedness, or lack of compassion." - South.

Being grateful and expressing gratitude is a twofold blessing; a blessing to the person who is grateful and expresses the gratitude, and the one to whom the gratitude is expressed.

Fifty-six members of the Continental Congress signed the Declaration of Independence. Although the Declaration was adopted on July 4, 1776, many of the delegates did not sign the document until later in the year, and one, Thomas McKean, said later that he did not sign until 1781.

Whitehead leads call for ban on surrogate mothers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mary Beth Whitehead, whose unsuccessful fight to keep "Baby M" made her the nation's best-known surrogate mother, is joining in a new coalition to stop the paying of women to have other people's children.

Mrs. Whitehead and other surrogate mothers in the coalition on Monday denounced surrogate-parenting contracts as a form of reproductive "slavery," and called for a federal ban on the practice.

The women, joined by feminists and a public-policy group, announced the coalition to warn of the legal and emotional dangers of bearing children on behalf of others.

The group, being organized by the non-profit Foundation on Economic Trends, will try to keep women from entering surrogate-parenting contracts and help current surrogate mothers cope with the birth of their children, organizers said.

Foundation president Jeremy Rifkin said the group would also try to unite "several hundreds" of surrogates into a national support network and would press Congress for a law banning all commercial surrogate-parenting contracts.

Such a contract, upheld earlier this year by a New Jersey judge, cost Mrs. Whitehead her rights to the infant girl named "Baby M" by the court.

But Mrs. Whitehead, who sees her baby for an hour a week pending an appeal of her case, argued for the rights of biological motherhood.

"I don't want equal rights. A woman has more rights to a child. That's the way it is," said the 30-year-old Brick Township, N.J., resident.

"The mother is the heart," she added.

New Jersey Superior Court Judge Harvey Sorkow, in a March decision said to be the first of its kind, barred Mrs. Whitehead from seeing her child.

Sorkow upheld the validity of a $10,000 contract in which Mrs. Whitehead willingly agreed to bear the baby for the childless William and Elizabeth Stern.

Mrs. Whitehead agreed to be inseminated with Stern's sperm, and to turn the baby over to the couple after its birth. Once the child was born in March 1986, Mrs. Whitehead reneged.

Harriet Blankfeld, executive director of the National Center for Surrogate Parenting, said Mrs. Whitehead and the others offer a one-sided view of the practice.

"You're not viewing the vast majority of surrogate mothers, who are quite content," said Blankfeld, whose agency sets up surrogate arrangements.

Mrs. Whitehead declined to discuss her recent separation from her husband, Richard, which she attributed to the stress of the court battle.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Keep poinsettias in total darkness

By Polly Fisher

DEAR POLLY — I set my dying poinsettia plant outside this spring and, much to my amazement, it is now a huge, beautiful plant. What should I do to make it bloom this winter? — NANCY

DEAR NANCY — We give these directions every year, but so many people are interested in bringing their poinsettias back into bloom that I think they are well worth repeating. Although I can't absolutely guarantee blooms, here's the procedure to follow:

Starting as early in October as possible, keep the plant in total darkness for 14 hours each night for about 10 weeks. This can be done by moving the plant into a very dark closet or covering it with a large cardboard box each night from 5 p.m. to 7 a.m. Remember that poinsettias are one of the plants most sensitive to artificial light. Even the smallest amount of stray light may delay or inhibit the flowering process.

Night temperatures should be maintained at 65 degrees. Temperatures below 60 degrees at night may cause a delay in blooming time.

Each morning return the plant to a window where it will receive four to six hours of direct sunlight.

Water and fertilize the plant at three- to four-day intervals.

Discontinue the darkness-control procedure when the poinsettia is coming into full bloom, which should be early in December. Household light at night will no longer affect it. If all went well, your poinsettia should have a display of brightly colored bracts for another holiday season.

I'm sending you a copy of my newsletter "Caring for Christmas Trees and Holiday Plants," which has other poinsettia care tips, as well as information on keeping your Christmas tree fresh throughout the holidays and directions for growing other favorite holiday plants such as amaryllis, Christmas cactus and narcissus. Others who would like this issue should send $1 for each copy to POLLY'S POINTERS, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1216, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to include the title. — POLLY

DR. GOTT Manicurist faces small risk

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a licensed manicurist and work six days a week, eight to 10 hours a day. I am constantly inhaling fumes and dust that come from making sculptured nails. Is there any harm in this?

DEAR READER — The materials you use contain aromatic hydrocarbons; that is, volatile oil-based solvents. If you were allergic to these fumes, you could have a reaction to them. This might include watery eyes, cough, sore throat, lightheadedness and headache. If you work in a confined environment that is poorly ventilated, you might experience problems because of the high concentration of vapors. However, most manicurists ply their trade in open rooms with plenty of air circulation, so I doubt that you are risking a health hazard. I am not aware of any recognized danger in working with the dust that is produced by sanding sculptured nails.

Many manicurists work in beauty parlors — and I am more concerned about the chronic inhalation of aerosol hair spray in such an environment. To date, however, there have been no reports of ill health attributable to this occupational exposure.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I walk 2.1 miles in 38 to 40 minutes. Is this considered "brisk" walking?

DEAR READER — Yes. This would be equivalent to a pace of 3 to 4 miles per hour.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My feet are so flat that my arches touch the floor and are calloused. Is there anything I can do?

DEAR READER — Flat feet do not necessarily produce any ailments. However, some flat-footed people may experience foot and back pain after running or prolonged standing. Arch-support insoles may be of help in such cases. These devices can be purchased in shoe stores and can be switched from one pair of shoes to another, depending on need.

If you are having aches and pains that you believe may be caused by flat feet, see a podiatrist for specific advice.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have very bad posture, so I wear a back brace. My husband says it's just a crutch and tells me to exercise. What do you think?

DEAR READER — Before giving an answer, I would have to know the reason for your back brace. Do you have a spinal curvature, severe arthritis or chronic back strain? Was the brace prescribed by an orthopedic specialist?

If posture is your only problem, you might be better off straightening up and performing exercises to strengthen your back muscles. A physical therapist might be more helpful than a back brace. If, on the other hand, you have a structural abnormality and are under a physician's care for it, the brace would be appropriate. Ask your doctor about this.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Is depression curable, or at least controllable?

DEAR READER — Some forms of depression appear to result from chemical imbalances within the brain. These imbalances can be corrected or controlled by a new class of medicines called tricyclic anti-depressants. These drugs are useful, but should be prescribed only by doctors who are familiar with their use.

For Dr. Gott's complete discussion of problems and treatments of the prostate gland, write for your copy of Dr. Gott's new Health Report on THE PROSTATE GLAND. Send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

As part of the exhibit, COMSAT Corp. is offering live, two-way interactive video between U.S. and Soviet citizens. Soviet citizens in nine cities will see information technologies such as video discs, touch screen computers and copying machines.

Newspaper Bible

WORLD'S MOST NOTORIOUS FRAMEUP

EARLY in the morning the chief priests, elders and teachers of religion—the entire Supreme Court—met to discuss their next steps. Their decision was to send Jesus under armed guard to Pilate, the Roman governor.

Pilate asked Him, "Are you the King of the Jews?" "Yes," Jesus replied, "it is as you say."

Then the chief priests accused Him of many crimes, and Pilate asked Him, "Why don't you say something? What about all these charges against you?"

But Jesus said no more, much to Pilate's amazement. Now, it was Pilate's custom to release one Jewish prisoner each year at Passover time—any prisoner the people requested.

One of the prisoners at that time was Barabbas, convicted along with others for murder during an insurrection. Now a mob began to crowd in toward Pilate, asking him to release a prisoner as usual.

"How about giving you the 'King of Jews'?" Pilate asked. "Is he the one you want released?"

(For he realized by now that this was a frameup, backed by the chief priests because they envied Jesus' popularity.)

But at this point the chief priests whipped up the mob to demand the release of Barabbas instead of Jesus.

"But if I release Barabbas," Pilate asked them, "what shall I do with this man you call your king?"

They shouted back, "Crucify him!"

"But why?" Pilate demanded. "What has he done wrong?" They only roared the louder, "Crucify him!"

Then Pilate, afraid of a riot and anxious to please the people, released Barabbas to them. And he ordered Jesus flogged with a leaded whip, and handed Him over to be crucified.

In the Middle East, a bargain is sometimes still sealed with salt, much as it was a thousand years ago.
