Top administrator

Raymond Schroeter, principal at LaPlata Junior High School, was honored as the district's top administrator Monday at the New Teacher Banquet. Giving Schroeter his award is Aurora Dominguez, past president of the Hereford chapter of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association. Also honored Monday was Hereford school board president John Fuston.

Jubilee tickets available

Tickets are still available for the Thirteenth Annual Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department Country-Gospel Music Jubilee Sept. 26 at 7:30 p.m. at the Hereford High School Auditorium.

The show will feature Jerry Presley, a second cousin of Elvis Presley, presenting a Tribute to Elvis. Presley and a 10-piece group will present many of Elvis' greatest hits plus other 50's and 60's songs.

Back in Hereford this year are Tokyo Matsu and Jeanette Lunsford.

Matsu, called the "Queen of the Country Fiddle," will be performing many traditional songs, including "Orange Blossom Special" and "Rocky Top."

She has performed with country greats including Dolly Parton, George Jones, Barbara Mandrell and Charley Pride.

Lunsford, a long-time gospel singer, will be singing her own "In the Midst of the Storm" and other favorites.

Tickets are $7.50 each and are available at the sheriff's office and at Big Daddy's Truck Stop.

County buys computers

By DEBE GRAVES
Staff Writer

Deaf Smith County Commissioners committed $79,127.42 for various expenditures, set new fees for the offices of the Sheriff, Justice of the Peace, District and County Clerks and made several appointments during their regular session on Monday.

The largest of the expenditures was $59,117 for an IBM computer system and software to be installed in the courthouse. The acceptance of the IBM bid was recommended over a bid from NCR by members of a committee the commissioners had appointed to study the various pros and cons of each system.

The computer system will be paid, in full, out of revenue sharing funds, which will be repaid out of departmental budgets using monies they have been spending to lease computer services. Commissioners expect a savings of up to $20,000 by purchasing the computer system outright rather than through a 60-month lease-purchase.

Stevens Chevrolet was the single bidder for the purchase of a new patrol car for the Sheriff's office. Their bid for a 1988 Caprice was accepted at $10,510.42, with Commissioner Bill Brady dissenting.

Michael Carr, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce executive director, received a commitment of $8,500 from the commissioners for his organization's Industrial Foundation. The foundation was formed 15 years ago to seek out industries interested in moving into the county.

District Clerk Lola Faye Veazey received $1,000 to renew an insurance policy she is required to carry. Commissioners also instructed Veazey and County Clerk David Ruland to raise law library fees, charged when certain types of cases are filed, from $10 to $20 in compliance with Senate Bill 320.

It was decided not to initiate a $50 per case fee for handling trust funds, allowed by Senate Bill 584, due to the complex nature of collections.

Justice of the Peace Johnnie Turentine was granted the permission to initiate a $10 fee for ordering defensive driving courses for violators, as allowed in changes in state laws which became effective September 1. She also advised commissioners that in accordance with Texas law she will be charging additional fees for violators of liability insurance laws.

The Commissioner's Court set new fees for the Sheriff's Department, as ordered in Senate Bill 715. The fees are in the median range when compared to other Sheriff's offices in the State, according to Sheriff Joe

Teachers need parental help

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

The president of one of Texas' top teacher organizations said Monday that parents must become more involved in their child's education if teachers are to succeed.

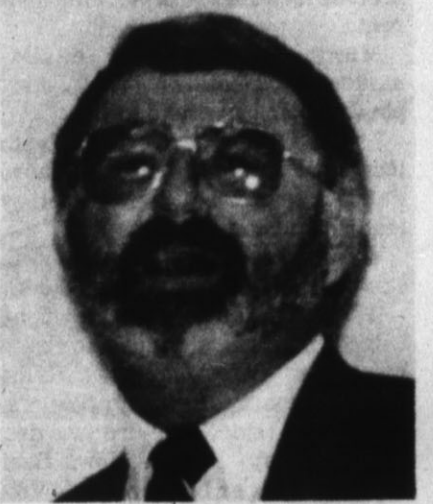

Wendell Whittenburg of Sweetwater, president of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association, spoke at the annual New Teachers Banquet sponsored by the local chapters of TCTA and the Texas State Teachers Association at the Hereford High School Cafeteria.

Honored at the banquet were John Fuston, Hereford school board president, as a "Friend of Education," and Raymond Schroeder, principal at La Plata Junior High School, as the local system's top administrator.

"Rather than one major problem, we have a lot of little problems," Whittenburg said. "There was a black cloud over a lot of us because of House Bill 72 (which led to widespread changes in Texas education), and a lot of us were down in the dumps."

"I think the biggest problem is the lack of parental involvement in our schools. I'm not talking about the parents who come to open house and every other activity—I'm talking about the parents who should come to the school when the three-week reports go out and say 'Little Johnny is failing' but never show up."

"We need to reach those parents who say that we want our children to have it better than we have it and that education is the way to do it. We need those parents involved in what is going on at school."

Whittenburg said parents may become more easily involved now than they were able to only a few years ago because Texas schools "are getting away from New Math and New English and getting back to the basics—learning the same things their parents learned."

"Parents, more than anything else, just need to make sure their child is doing their assignments, studying, doing what they need to do. If parents will just make sure of that, it will help a lot."

Whittenburg also said teachers have a new enthusiasm for their work because the days of worry about evaluation instruments, career ladder and other sore spots are, for the time being, over.

"It's time for us to get on with the business of teaching," Whittenburg said. "The state didn't freeze or cut our salaries, or our career ladder. We're ready now to live with these changes and make them work."

System dumps rain in state

A fast moving storm system dumped heavy rains in parts of North Texas today and forecasters said the thunderstorms were expected to spread across the state.

Some local flooding was reported near the Red River, authorities said. As much as six inches of rain fell at Ladonia, Texas. Winds of up to 60 mph downed trees and power lines near Commerce, Texas, said the National Weather Service.

About 4½ inches of rain fell in two hours at Fairlie, authorities said.

Sales tax check higher

Hereford will receive a sales tax rebate check of $48,056.92 this month—just over $1,000 more than the check received for the same period in 1986.

For the year, Hereford has received $48,056.92, down 9.8 percent from the 1986 total for the first nine months. Over the state, sales tax payments this year are down nearly six percent from 1986 figures.

Canyon is the only large area city to record a jump in figures over a year ago—up 3.1 percent. Other figures for area cities include Dimmitt, $110,498, down 21 percent; Vega, $18,528, off 11 percent; Amarillo, $2.5 million, down 5.9 percent; Pampa, $89,116.78, 17.46 percent lower than 1986;

Borger, $87,507, off 9.92 percent; Dumas, $438,573, down 10.28 percent; Littlefield, $181,043, down 3.88 percent; Levelland, $484,607, off 17.38 percent; and Lubbock, $2.28 million, off 5.5 percent.

The September checks represent sales taxes collected in July and reported to State Comptroller Bob Bullock by August 25.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Enclosed in an obituary from the Idaho Statesman. Although I did not know Pamela Sue Goldsmith, I was touched by it. She must have been a very special lady.

How many times, Ann, have you reminded us in your column of the wisdom of communicating our thoughts and love to the living? I am pleased to be able to share this clipping with you. It reminds us that while death brings sadness, it can also bring peace and closeness to loved ones who still have their lives to live. Here's the obituary:

Pamela Sue Goldsmith, 40, of Boise, died peacefully at 10 p.m. Sunday, shortly after sunset on Father's Day. During her six-month illness she received an enormous amount of love from her friends and family. Despite the illness, her last days were happy. We want to thank all who helped in so many ways.

Memorial services will be held in the outdoors that Pam loved so much. She will be surrounded by green grass, tall trees and blue sky in Veteran's Park. The service will be conducted by family and friends. It will be a time to mourn, share memories, see old friends, heal ourselves and sing and celebrate the life of a wonderful woman. Please bring your memories of Pam's life to share with us.

In spite of her fondness for fashion, Pam wore jeans and boots to her father's funeral because that is how her father always saw her and how she saw herself. Friends are invited to honor Pam by wearing their favorite clothes, casual or dress.

Her legacy is the inspiration she gave us and the changes she brought about in our lives of those who loved her.

Instead of sending flowers, we ask that you take a friend to lunch or dinner and tell him or her the things we often think of only after someone is gone.

And now this is Ann saying thank you for sharing a unique obituary. I am sure that Pamela Sue Goldsmith loved it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In regard to "Vermont Lament," I resent the writer who referred to the two old blue-haired ladies in tight jeans in the airport as "American Buffaloes!" If they are comfortable in what they are wearing, no one has the right to call them names. They aren't hurting anyone.

My hair is considered wild by most people. It is shaved on one side and is a blazing cranberry color. Big deal.

I am comfortable with who I am and how I look. I enjoy being a little eccentric. As long as I can hold a job and be a contributing member of society, no one has the right to say that what I am doing is wrong.—A Fort Worth Punk

DEAR PUNK: I agree with you. I also respect your right to do anything you please with your hair. While cranberry hair may not be a big deal in your social circles it just might limit your job opportunities. But if you choose to express yourself in this way, go right ahead.

A reader who signed himself "Under 30 Michigander" expressed the following thoughts. I believe they are worth sharing:

"The world hasn't crumbled because of the changes we've seen in the last 25 years. From long hair, tie-dyed shirts and love beads of the '60s to leisure suits, disco shirts and permed hair of the '70s to running shoes, paisley prints (again), miniskirts (again) crew cuts (again) and, yes, spiked purple hair. No harm is done and life goes on."

Learning CPR may save lives

Medical personnel and life guards aren't the only people who need to know how to do CPR, or cardiopulmonary resuscitation, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service health education specialist.

"The composition of your family, where you live and your lifestyle may make it important that you know CPR," says Dr. Mary Ann Heussner.

In cases of drowning, suffocation, electrocution, automobile accidents, or heart attacks someone trained in CPR can provide proper lifesaving measures until trained professionals take over, she says.

According to the health educator, people who should have CPR training include the following:

- Parents of young children.
- People who provide day care for children in their homes.
- people who live in homes with backyard swimming pools, or a pond where family members swim, and apartment-dwellers who live in complexes where no life guard is on duty at the swimming pool.

-People who provide care for an elderly parent or relative in their homes.

-Rural families that live some distance from medical facilities and families in those areas that have limited ambulance service.

-Individuals who engage in boating, swimming, water sports or higher risk outdoor activities, especially if they are done in remote areas with limited access to medical facilities.

If your family falls in one of these categories, Heussner suggests taking CPR classes which are offered by local units of the American Red Cross, American Heart Association and other health agencies.

"For a short investment of your time, you'll be better able to handle a medical emergency in your family," emphasizes the specialist.

In Borger cross country meet

HHS girls run to second place finish

Five Hereford High School varsity girls placed in the top 25 to help their team to a second place finish in the Borger Invitational Cross Country Meet last Saturday.

Hereford placed sixth in the varsity boys' division, third in the junior varsity boys' division, and third in the junior varsity girls' division.

The next meet on the season schedule is the Plainview meet on Saturday, Sept. 19. The Hereford meet is scheduled on Saturday, Sept. 26. Both meets begin at 10 a.m.

Hereford had 63 team points in the varsity girls' race at the Borger meet in placing second behind Perryton which had 44 points. The HHS girls who placed in the top 25 were: Nancy Garza, third; Alina Benitez, fifth; Sally Garza, 15th; Carolyn Rieves, 17th; and Yvonne Padilla, 23rd.

"These girls ran well. It's great to have five runners in the top 25. We're getting where we need to be," Hereford Coach Martha Emerson said.

Hereford sophomore football team suffers 21-14 loss

Hereford High School's sophomore football team saw its season record fall to 0-2 Saturday when Lubbock Coronado returned an interception for a touchdown with nine seconds left in the game.

Hereford twice held the lead in the game, played at Whiteface Stadium, but suffered a 21-14 loss to Lubbock Coronado.

This Thursday, Hereford's sophomore team plays at home against Clovis, with a 7 p.m. kickoff.

Hereford gained a 7-0 lead in the first quarter last Saturday. Jim Hillwig caught a pass from quarterback Chad Schroeder for a 36-yard scoring play. Eddie Cantu was successful in the extra-point attempt.

Lubbock Coronado tied the game at 7-7 later in the first period, and neither team scored in the second quarter.

Hereford moved back into the lead, 14-7. Zane Watts caught a pass from Schroeder for a 31-yard touchdown play, and Cantu kicked the extra point. Lubbock Coronado tied the game up, 14-14, in the third quarter, and then won the contest with the interception return — a 70-yarder — in the closing seconds of the game.

"We had a tie game, and the coach's decision was to try to win the game. I take the blame for the loss," Hereford Coach Stan Carter said.

"At the time, I thought a win was better than a tie. It was a heart-breaking loss," he continues.

"Our offensive line played a great game. They blocked well for both the pass and the run," Carter said, noting that the offensive line players are Charles Romero, Anthony Tijerina, Chad Muse, Cameron Gulley, and Richard Perez.

"Our quarterbacks, Chad Schroeder and Jason Walterscheid, threw the ball well and ran the team well. They cut down on a lot of mistakes," Coach Carter adds.

Hereford had 275 yards total offense in the game.

A varsity volleyball match with 16 tie scores in three games could have gone either way Saturday before Hereford suffered a loss to Clovis.

The match in Hereford was the final non-district match for the HHS varsity before beginning District 1-4A competition today. Today's action has Hereford hosting Lubbock Dunbar — the junior varsity match at 6:30 p.m. and the varsity match at about 7:30 p.m., at the HHS gym.

Hereford beat Clovis 15-10 in game one of last weekend's varsity match, and held a 15-14 lead in game two before losing 17-15. Clovis went on to win game three, 15-13.

In the junior varsity match, Clovis took game one, 15-4, but Hereford came back to win the next two games, 15-7 and 15-5.

Season records are 2-6 for the Hereford varsity and 6-1 for the Hereford junior varsity.

In game one of the varsity match, Hereford led 3-1, Clovis led 5-3, and Hereford led 10-6 before Clovis closed to within one point, 11-10. Hereford then scored four straight points, with Wisty Mars recording a kill for the game-winning point.

Hereford moved out to a 3-0 lead in game two before Clovis scored eight straight points. Later, Clovis held an 11-8 lead, but Hereford tied up the game at 11-11.

The score was tied three more times before Clovis evened the match at one game apiece with a 17-15 win.

After ties of 1-1, 2-2, 3-3 and 4-4 in game three, Clovis gained an 8-4 lead. Hereford tied the game at 8-8 on a dink by Mars, who hit an overset ball by Clovis.

A service ace by Cande Robbins gave Hereford a 9-8 lead, and a good serve by Tricia Kahlich made the lead 10-8. Clovis, however, scored four straight points for a 12-10 lead.

Clovis also led 13-11 before

Hereford tied the game at 13-13. The game began to look like one that nobody wanted to win, since no points were scored after several serves. Clovis got a couple of breaks and won game three, 15-13.

Dried fruit excellent alternative to candy

Dried fruit can be a sweet and nutritious alternative to a candy bar for your child's snack lunch or after-school snack.

"Like candy, dried fruit tastes sweet and has a chewy texture which appeals to children, but it also contains fiber and some vitamins and minerals," says Dr. Alice Hunt, a nutritionist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

"Most dried fruits have 3-5 grams of fiber per 100 calories, so they can make a real contribution to the 20-30 grams of fiber needed each day," she explains. "A 100-calorie serving of dried fruit also provide 3-11 percent of the Recommended Daily Allowance for iron."

Hunt adds that some dried fruits, including apricots, peaches and prunes, contain significant amounts of vitamin A.

"One big advantage of dried fruits over candy is that they contain virtually no fat and do not have artificial colors or flavors," she adds.

According to the nutritionist, commercially prepared fruit rolls, wrinkles and bars are conveniently packaged for lunches but don't measure up nutritionally to dried fruit.

"Fruit rolls are high in sugar and starch, and typically contain less than 2 percent of the Recommended Dietary Allowance for vitamins or minerals. They are, however, often fortified with added vitamin C," she remarks.

Fruit rolls don't contain the fiber that is found in fresh or dried fruit either, Hunt notes.

Dried fruit and fruit rolls shouldn't replace fresh fruit in the diet of adults or children, advises the nutritionist. The process of drying causes fruit to lose water content, so it contains more calories and less vitamins, minerals and fiber than an equal amount of fresh fruit.

But dried fruit can make a convenient snack and a nutritional contribution to the diet when it's eaten in place of candy and other sweets, Hunt emphasizes.

Some dried fruits, especially light-colored ones, are treated with sulfites to keep them from browning. The nutritionist suggests that people who are sulfite-sensitive carefully read the package labels to make sure they are getting fruit that does not contain sulfites.

Diaz graduated from Texhoma High School in 1982 and is scheduled for enlistment in the regular Air Force in February 1988.

Upon completion of the six-week Basic Training Course at Lackland Air Force Base near San Antonio, Texas, Diaz is scheduled to receive technical training in the General career field.

In conjunction with the vocational skill, she will be earning college credits towards an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force while attending Basic and other Air Force technical training schools.

DR. GOTT

Safety of donor sperm

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Because of my husband's extremely low sperm count, both of our children have been conceived through artificial insemination with donated sperm. Now I'd like a third child but am concerned about AIDS. The sperm bank says that the sperm is donated by medical students who have been screened genetically and physically, are of good moral character and excellent health. What do you think?

DEAR READER — AIDS is spread by transmissions of body fluids, primarily blood and semen. Therefore, there is a risk of AIDS during artificial insemination. Banked semen is carefully checked and is generally considered safe because of meticulous screening. Nonetheless, no medical tests are perfect and, in theory, no semen sample can be guaranteed free of the AIDS virus, no matter how fastidious the donors and the testing procedures are. However, I believe that you are safe in conceiving another child, providing the semen comes from a reputable facility and the procedure is completed under competent medical supervision.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My dentist

recommended large doses of vitamin C during treatment. The other day, looking back so to speak, I spotted one of the 1,500-milligram time-release tablets lodged intact in my stool. Is this due to a faulty tablet or inefficient digestive system?

DEAR READER — Pills sometimes do not dissolve during digestion. The reasons for this are not clear. Although it is probably normally efficient, your digestive system was unable to break down the time-release coating of the pill. Time-release pills — and some other medications — usually have a shell-like coating that may be harder to digest.

I suggest that you change to regular vitamin C tablets. You'll have to take more (because the dose per pill is less than that of the time-release variety), but they are more likely to dissolve.

DEAR DR. GOTT — In 1969 I had a blood clot the size of a large lemon removed from the right side of my brain. It was discovered at the time that I have Von Willebrand's disease. Would this explain my frequent nosebleeds?

DEAR READER — Yes. This disease is an inherited clotting disorder that causes easy bleeding.
