Battelle boosts UW over top

United Way of Deaf Smith County campaign chairmen and board members celebrated a successful 1987 campaign drive Thursday at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center after learning the campaign had exceeded its $120,000 by almost $10,000.

The final total—$129,749—was pushed far over the goal because of large contributions from Battelle Memorial Institute employees and a $3,000 corporate gift from Battelle.

Battelle employees gave $15,289, while other workers affiliated with the Salt Repository Project here, including the Department of Energy, CER, Maxima, SMS and Parsons-Redpath kicked in to make the SRPO's total contribution $19,775.

"Those contributions had major significance in our campaign," said UW President Howard Birdwell.

Other local contributions totalled $114,460, with several other gifts and a special campaign at Deaf Smith General Hospital still to come.

Five of the nine UW divisions reached or exceeded their goals, including Agriculture, $3,827; Golden Age, $8,736; Major, $36,387 plus Battelle staff contributions; Metro, $17,903; and Pacesetters, $23,647.

also contributing were many Hereford civic and service clubs, including the Hereford Lions, Pilot Club, Rotary, Kiwanis, Whiteface Kiwanis, Golden K Kiwanis, and Ambulances.

"We want to say thank you to our campaign chairmen and board members, but especially to all of our contributors," Birdwell said. "It tickles me to death that we have made it two years in a row."

Senate okays one-site bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite last-minute appeals from Texas' two senators, the Senate passed a measure limiting the Energy Department's search for a high-level nuclear waste site to one of three sites already chosen.

Sens. Lloyd Bentsen and Phil Gramm opposed the bill Thursday because they said Texas still has a one-in-three chance of being picked as the host state, a decision DOE is required to make under the bill by Jan. 1, 1989.

The Energy Department has chosen Deaf Smith County, Texas, Yucca Mountain, Nev., and the Hanford Nuclear Reservation in Washington state as the final three candidate sites under terms of the 1982 Nuclear Waste Policy Act.

While the amendment does not specify which of three sites will be chosen, Yucca Mountain is widely regarded as the frontrunner for a variety of reasons, including its location in the middle of a nuclear weapons testing range.

Despite the tilt toward Nevada, both Texas senators chose to vote against the bill because they said Texas could still be the site picked by DOE.

In an overwhelming 63-30 vote, the Senate attached the amendment sponsored by Sens. J. Bennett Johnston, D-La., and James McClure, R-Idaho, to a $16 billion energy and water appropriations bill slated for a vote next week.

"The bottom line is that by Jan. 1, 1989, the secretary of energy is not going to be in a position to make a final determination as to the single site that is to be categorized," said Gramm, a Republican.

Bentsen, a Democrat, argued that the date should be pushed to 1991 to avoid having the decision made by a lame-duck energy secretary.

"The Senate committee on environment and public works has suggested a single-site selection deadline of Jan. 1, 1991, and I find that much more reasonable and realistic," Bentsen said.

The amendment also postpones further consideration of a site in the eastern United States until the year 2010, which both Texas senators have objected to consistently in the past.

One portion favored by Gramm was a federal incentive payment of $100 million annually to the host state.

"Obviously, if you want somebody to take a garbage heap that society has to have, you've got to compensate them to do it. I believe that the compensation ideas is the correct way to go about this," he said.

But Gramm said the measure needed a provision guaranteeing the state chosen by DOE will accept the repository. Under the current measure, any governor could veto such a designation, he said.

"I think it makes no sense for us to go out and spend $3 billion digging three different holes with no guarantee that any of the three states where the shafts are sunk will allow us to build the repository in their states," Gramm said.

In a separate move that narrows the chances Texas will be chosen as the primary site, Gramm attached an amendment barring the DOE from buying any land at the Texas Panhandle site until late 1988. The agency can still lease lands.

In addition to the purchasing prohibition, the Gramm amendment sets down procedures for land appraisal that acknowledge "the unique geophysical attributes" of the Deaf Smith County site.

This is designed to force the government to come up with significantly more money to purchase Texas lands during preliminary examination of the site, another disincentive — considering the other sites are on federal land.

As a safety valve, Gramm also included a provision giving the landowners or their heirs first right to repurchase any land bought by the government for site characterization or repository development.

Kennedy clears hurdles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anthony M. Kennedy's Supreme Court nomination is clearing early obstacles to Senate confirmation, with a conservative Republican dropping potential opposition and a leading Democrat declaring "his prospects are good."

Kennedy's nomination was in even better shape Thursday than when it began the day before, as a new spirit of cooperation pervaded the White House and Congress after two earlier nominees failed.

In a great relief to Kennedy and the White House, prominent conservative Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., declared after meeting with nominee, "I think he'll make a fine member of the Supreme Court."

Helms, who two weeks ago left the impression he could filibuster against the federal appellate judge, said he wouldn't make a final decision until the Senate Judiciary Committee completed confirmation hearings.

But Helms said he felt "very comfortable" after meeting the 51-year-old jurist from Sacramento, Calif.

"He's a very impressive gentleman," Helms said. "I was pleased with what I heard."

President Reagan also met with Helms to reassure him about the nomination. Reagan also chatted amiably with Judiciary Committee Chairman Joseph R. Biden Jr., D-Del., who led the successful fight to defeat the first nominee for the court vacancy, Robert H. Bork. Reagan's second nominee, appellate judge Douglas H. Ginsburg, asked the president to withdraw his name last Saturday after Ginsburg's admission of past marijuana use.

Biden said Reagan requested early confirmation hearings, and the senator told reporters he would try to comply. "I know of no one who wants to move this slowly," he said.

Biden said he and the committee's ranking Republican, Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, would meet with the Senate leadership on a hearing timetable, and then sit down "sometime next week" with White House chief of staff Howard H. Baker Jr.

Thurmond, who met with Reagan along with Biden, predicted that conservatives in general would support Kennedy — even though Thurmond said two weeks ago that some conservatives were uneasy with Kennedy's record as a conservative judge.

And Biden added that "his prospects are good, based on what we've read and heard so far" from judges, students taught by Kennedy in law school and attorneys. But he cautioned there is much still unknown about his more than 400 written opinions.

Four indicted by grand jury

By DEBE GRAVES
Staff Writer

A mother, arrested for trying to smuggle marijuana to her son imprisoned in Deaf Smith County Jail, was among four people indicted on Thursday by Deaf Smith County grand jurors.

Petra Estrada Mendoza was arrested by a Department of Public Safety officer when he noticed her trying to slide foil-wrapped marijuana cigarettes under the northeast door of the exercise area of the county jail. The officer and a passerby noticed the woman and stopped to see what she was doing crouched by the jail door.

If convicted of the third-degree felony, Mendoza faces a two-to-ten year term in Texas Department of Corrections and up to a $10,000 fine.

She is the mother of Valdomare Mendoza who is serving time in the county jail for two counts of violation of probation. He was placed on probation for a 1985 guilty plea to charges of delivery of marijuana.

According to District Attorney Roland Saul, she also faces, in county court, charges of possession of marijuana. "Officers found baggies of the substance in her car at the time of her arrest," he said.

Bond for the woman was set at $5,000 which Saul said "she made almost immediately."

Grand jurors also returned a felony indictment against Juan Orasco Lopez, Jr., for driving while intoxicated; David Glenn Manning, indicted for aggravated robbery; and indicted James Edward Stubbs, Jr., for bail jumping and failure to appear.

Budget talks become grim

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mood has shifted from upbeat to grim as congressional and White House negotiators hold their 15th day of bargaining today over how to shrink the federal deficit.

Thursday's meeting included consideration of a three-month delay in cost-of-living increases due Social Security recipients and federal workers and retirees in January, participants said. But lawmakers later said those options, which would be tremendously unpopular politically, were not taken seriously.

Negotiators have been trying to reach agreement on a plan that would cut about $30 billion from the deficit this year and more than $45 billion next year. The package would include about $10 billion in new taxes for the 1988 fiscal year, which began Oct. 1.

Officials leaving Thursday's session in the Capitol sought to ease expectations about the closed-door talks, in contrast to a day earlier, when lawmakers insisted that a deal could be closed at any time.

"We haven't reached any decisions this afternoon," said House Majority

Jet is forced down at Amarillo

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — A United Airlines jet carrying 52 people was forced to make a precautionary landing today when smoke was discovered in a lavatory.

No one was injured, officials said. The smoke was believed to be caused by electrical problems, said officials with the airline and air traffic control tower.

"The only thing that I know is that they said they had an electrical fire in the forward restroom," said Amarillo International Airport Control Tower Supervisor Earl Bean. But United Airlines spokesman Joe Hopkins in Chicago said, "There's some question whether there was a fire."

The Boeing 737 was en route from San Antonio to Denver, he said. It landed in Amarillo at 7:57 a.m., Bean said.

Bean said the carrier no longer serves Amarillo.

Hopkins said the passengers would be flown to Denver on a Continental Airlines flight.

Nevada is singled out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate version of a $16 billion energy and water development bill virtually singles out reluctant Nevada as the future burial ground for the nation's high-level nuclear wastes.

By a 63-30 vote Tuesday, the chamber approved a major overhaul in the five-year-old nuclear waste program. The measure not only would make Yucca Mountain, Nev., the probable site for a permanent repository, but it would scuttle plans under current law for an identical facility somewhere in the upper Midwest or East.

The Senate resumes debate on the bill today.

The new plan, adopted after bitter debate in the Senate and sure to face stiff resistance in the House, would reward the repository state with $100 million in annual federal payments. Likewise, it would pay the host state for a related, interim facility called an MRS — for monitored retrievable storage — $50 million annually.

In an unorthodox move that skirted the Senate Environment Committee, Sens. Bennett Johnston, D-La., and James McClure, R-Idaho, rewrote the 1982 Nuclear Waste Policy Act by attaching their plan to the energy and water appropriations bill.

Though the legislation does not specify Yucca Mountain as the preferred site for disposing of nuclear reactor fuel and other high-level wastes that will remain dangerous for 10,000 years, it clearly tilts toward that location, on the government's atomic test site.

Under current law, Yucca Mountain, as well as sites at the Hanford nuclear reservation in Washington state and Deaf Smith County, Texas, are candidates for exploratory work — including the drilling of deep shafts — costing nearly $6 billion.

Johnston's measure calls for that exploration to be done in sequential, rather than simultaneous, order, in hopes that the first site to undergo major testing will prove suitable for the repository — and that work at the other two can be canceled at a savings of $3.9 billion.

Technically, it would be left to the Energy Department to decide by Jan. 1, 1989, which site should be moved to the top of the list. But the legislation indirectly favors Yucca Mountain by revamping the priorities of certain criteria to be considered by the department.

One is cost, and Yucca Mountain is

Mayors discuss PCBAN

Mayors representing eight Panhandle towns met in Amarillo Thursday night to discuss goals outlined by the Panhandle Citizens for a Better Amarillo Newspaper, Mayor Wes Fisher of Hereford reported this morning.

Fisher said 15 people attended the meeting and agreed to support the committee's program. The Hereford mayor had called the meeting. Tom LeGate, mayor pro-tem, was also present. Other towns represented were Amarillo, Canyon, Dalhart, Dumas, Spearman, Dimmitt, and Friena.

Fisher outlined the goals and objectives that were announced at the initial PCBAN meeting Thursday morning. The project is aimed at The Amarillo Globe-News, with the committee's goal being "to demand professional, constructive and objective news coverage in the Panhandle," according to Paul Engler, chairman of PCBAN.

Fisher said mayors of 19 communities were invited to the meeting, "but some were unable to attend because of short notice."

Veteran negotiator puts East-West relations first

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mikhail Gorbachev hasn't set foot in America yet, but a veteran American negotiator already is looking beyond the Dec. 7 summit meeting with President Reagan to a larger arms control treaty and general improvement in East-West relations.

However, the official, Edward L. Rowny, is strongly against abandoning the U.S. Strategic Defense Initiative, known popularly as "Star Wars," even if there were no U.S. and Soviet missiles left on earth.

Rowny, who negotiated over strategic weapons in Geneva and now is a senior adviser to Reagan and Secretary of State George P. Shultz, said Thursday that "even if we and the Soviets were to reduce to zero, we would still want an SDI program."

One reason, he said, is that other countries would be in a position to consider a nuclear attack if the United States were unable to defend itself against ballistic missiles. Also, Rowny said, the Soviets still would have the capability of suddenly breaking out of the treaty.

The centerpiece of the Reagan-Gorbachev summit is to be a treaty to ban intermediate-range nuclear missiles. Over three years, 364 U.S. and 683 Soviet missiles would be destroyed. Nuclear arsenals would be reduced an estimated 4 percent to 6 percent overall.

But U.S. and Soviet negotiators in Geneva are still grappling with measures to guard against cheating. The chief U.S. negotiator, Max M. Kampelman, is being rushed to the Swiss city for talks Sunday night and Monday with Yuli M. Vorontsov, a deputy Soviet foreign minister who plays a leading role in arms control decisions.

Shultz may have to go to Geneva for a pre-Thanksgiving meeting with Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze if knotty issues remain, though Charles E. Redman, the State Department spokesman, said Thursday there were no plans for such a trip.

According to Rowny and other U.S. officials, the Soviets have not provided enough detail about missiles they may have in reserve, and they also are resisting a U.S. demand for inspection of SS-25 installations.

The SS-25 is an intercontinental ballistic missile, which would not be restricted by the treaty. But Rowny and Redman said the SS-25 in its first stage of construction looks exactly like the SS-20, which would be banned.

As a result, the United States wants to send American inspectors to SS-25 sites to make sure the missile is not being modified to replace the SS-20.

In Moscow, the Soviet foreign ministry spokesman, Gennady Gerasimov, accused the United States of making unacceptable "last-minute, final curtain proposals."

Rowny denied that the U.S. side was "trying to get into the ICBM problem."

But, he said, since the missiles look alike "we have to see them. It's something that has to be resolved."

TALKS

Leader Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash. "Perhaps last night there was a little too much euphoria."

Sen. Pete V. Domenici of New Mexico, ranking Republican on the Senate Budget Committee, said the negotiators had moved closer in several areas, but he conceded, "There were plenty of disagreements."

Looming ahead is a Nov. 20 deadline set in the Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction law. Without an agreement by that day, the law will automatically impose $23 billion in spending reductions, divided evenly between defense and domestic spending.

Lawmakers have said failure to agree to a plan by then would damage the business world's confidence in the U.S. government and its resolve to cure persistent federal deficits.

Rep. William H. Gray III, chairman of the House Budget Committee, told reporters that participants believed they were close to an agreement Wednesday night, but problems emerged Thursday "with regard to a whole plethora of issues."

Officials familiar with the talks said White House negotiators on

Carlucci says

Nothing sacred in Pentagon budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank C. Carlucci, who is expected to be approved next week as the new secretary of defense, says nothing in the Pentagon budget should be "sacrosanct" during efforts to cut the federal deficit.

"We have to look at everything," he said Thursday, although he refused to be specific about what, if any, weapons might have to be canceled.

The deficit-cutting effort could mean "we may be looking at a smaller military force," Carlucci testified at a confirmation hearing before the Senate Armed Services Committee. About half the Pentagon budget is taken up by personnel costs such as military pay, housing expenses and related items.

"I'd rather have a smaller force that is effective than a larger one that is ineffective," he said.

"Nothing can be sacrosanct" in the effort to cut the deficit, he said.

The Armed Services panel planned today to vote on Carlucci's nomination and no opposition was expected, according to Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., committee chairman.

The full Senate is likely to vote next week and "I fully expect that you will be confirmed," Nunn told Carlucci during Thursday's hearing.

Carlucci, currently Reagan's national security adviser, was praised generously by senators of both parties, who noted that he has spent almost three decades in a variety of high-level federal jobs, including a two-year stint as deputy secretary of defense.

Carlucci was nominated by Reagan last week to replace Caspar W. Weinberger, who is retiring after a seven-year tenure during which Pentagon spending doubled. Weinberger will remain in office until Carlucci is confirmed.

Carlucci was cautious in his statements Thursday, breaking no new ground as he defended administration policies on a variety of national security issues.

Many of the senators' questions and comments involved the Pentagon budget, which has been a chief subject of negotiations between legislators and the White House in the effort to reduce federal budget deficits. Carlucci has been involved in those talks.

Nunn cited a "need to bring the defense budget into sync with fiscal reality," explaining that the Pentagon assumes it will receive increases of 3 percent above inflation for each of the next five years. That is "an unattainable level," said Nunn, noting that defense budgets have been cut in each of the past two years.

Child may have been deported by mistake

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A 3-year-old girl is back in her mother's home today after a mixup that led police to think the girl had been accidentally deported along with her Mexican baby sitter.

Lysette Guadalupe Gomez was reported missing Wednesday along with the maid who had moved in with the Gomez family Monday, police said.

The baby sitter, 18-year-old Maria Jesus Gonzalez-Armandaris of Juarez, took the girl across the Rio Grande Wednesday to deliver a letter to a former employer.

But she was turned back by border authorities when she tried to return to El Paso, said Mike Williams, chief agent for the U.S. Border Patrol in El Paso.

"At that time, she gave the name for the baby as Elizabeth Acosta Juarez of Mexico and said she was a friend of the (child's) family," Williams said after Lysette was returned to her mother Thursday afternoon.

El Paso police and Mexican authorities detained the woman and baby Thursday as she tried a second time to re-enter the United States, Williams said.

Police at first had treated the matter as a kidnapping, although they suspected Ms. Gonzalez-Armandaris had left the house with the baby, been picked up by the Border Patrol and taken to Juarez.

Police do not intend to file charges because there was no criminal intent, said Gus Massey, El Paso deputy police chief.

"I don't see where anybody did anything wrong," he said. "These maids are scared. You never know what they're thinking. Maybe she thought they were going to take the child away from her."

Her fear probably prompted her to say the baby was Mexican, he said.

The Gomez family told police they had taken in the maid Monday and knew her only as Maria de Jesus.

"I don't think anybody feels it was a kidnapping," Williams said. "It does raise some questions regarding hiring somebody you barely know."

Rock star grateful for drug conviction

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rock singer David Crosby says he's grateful for his drug and weapons convictions, which cost him five months in prison before they were thrown out by an appeals court.

"Even though they put me in the penitentiary on a case they shouldn't have, I feel gratitude because it may have saved my life," Crosby said after a Texas appeals court ruled Thursday he was caught in an illegal search.

"I hope other people will learn from my experience and avoid drugs. I've been clean for nearly two years now and I have the state of Texas to thank for it," he said.

Crosby, who became famous with The Byrds and later with Crosby, Stills and Nash, was arrested in 1982 in his dressing room at a night club in Dallas. He was convicted on cocaine and handgun possession charges.

"Because I'm no longer a convicted felon that means that I get my vote, which is very, very valuable to me. I care a great deal about it," he said. "It also gives me my right to travel and means I'm off parole and that's nice."

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ruled, 5-4, that a Dallas policeman had no right to search Crosby's night club dressing room on April 12, 1982. The policeman found Crosby crouching on the floor with a propane torch in one hand and glass pipe in the other. On his lap was a bag of cocaine, according to court records.

Police also found a pistol after they took Crosby to city hall. He was sentenced to five years in prison for the cocaine conviction and a three-year sentence, to be served at the same time as the cocaine sentence, for unlawfully carrying a weapon in a tavern.

The dressing room search was illegal because the officer testified he went into the dressing room after "I got curious as to whether there was a law being violated or not in there," the appeals court said.

Crosby, who had acknowledged that he had a drug-use problem, was released from prison Aug. 8, 1986.

The appeals court will be asked to reconsider its decision, Dallas County Assistant District Attorney Donald Davis says. If the court refuses, Davis said a decision would be made on whether to retry Crosby.

The fact that Crosby has served time in prison would not influence the retrial decision, he said.

A retrial seems improbable because the Court of Criminal Appeals ruling means prosecutors could not use as evidence anything that was taken in the improper search, defense lawyer Jay Ethington said.

A majority opinion by Judge M.P. Duncan's said a ruling that the search was legal "would be providing peace officers of this state with the power and authority to conduct general, exploratory searches."

"This will not, nor can we constitutionally, do," Duncan said.

Judges agreeing with Duncan were Sam Houston Clinton, Marvin Teague, Chuck Miller and Charles Campbell concurred.

Presiding Judge John Onion and Judges W.C. Davis, Bill White and Michael McCormick dissented.

the easiest and cheapest place to drill. Hanford, by contrast, has the hardest geologic medium—basalt—and the Texas site, for starters, would involve the added expense of buying up private farmland.

Another elevated priority would be avoiding adverse effects on ground water resources. On that score, the Hanford site is near the Columbia River; the Texas site is over the Ogalala aquifer, and hence they are more likely to be eliminated even though Nevada officials insist there are serious potential problems—like earthquake faults weakened by atomic tests—at Yucca Mountain.

Most of the waste program, estimated to cost upwards of $40 billion when the repository and the MRS are completed around the turn of the century, is being financed through assessments against the 108 commercial nuclear plants. "This bill will save the (utility) ratepayers $3.9 billion," Johnston said.

Meanwhile, current requirements that a second nuclear repository be built east of the Mississippi would virtually be scrapped under Johnston's plan, a feature that angered western lawmakers but delighted those from Maine and other candidate states in the East and upper Midwest.

Assistant Republican leader Alan Simpson of Wyoming said the Energy Department cannot have sufficient data by 1989 to choose Yucca Mountain or any other site on a sound scientific basis. But he agreed the legislation is full of "code words" to guarantee the Nevada site will be picked, and declared, "It's going to be a real floppola."

The interim MRS facility, itself costing $3 billion or more, would be built in the late 1990s. The Energy Department has picked Oak Ridge, Tenn., as the MRS location, where wastes would be cooled for five years to 10 years before forwarding to the permanent repository.

The Tennessee delegation has opposed the MRS feature, but Sen. James Sasser, D-Tenn., supported Johnston's plan after winning a modification that calls for a congressional commission to review the question of whether an MRS is necessary.

Sessions will include filling out applications taught by John Matthews-Vocational Counselor for Hereford Schools; correct forms needed for employment as well as resume writing presented by Gerald Cash and Herb De La Rosa of the Texas Employment Commission and job interviewing techniques led by Christy Wright who has experience as an employment consultant. Final presentation will be on projection of employment for Deaf Smith County presented by Beverly Harder, Deaf Smith County, County Extension Agent.

More information may be obtained by calling the County Extension Office at 364-3573.

Passport derives from two French words "passer," to pass, and "port," meaning harbor. Originally granting permission to enter a nation's ports, the documents were issued to ships as well as to people. The earliest passports were "letters of transit" written by rulers or other authorities.

Footprints left on the Moon by Apollo astronauts will remain visible for at least ten million years, plenty of time for humankind to visit a nearby star with a suitable planet and leave footprints on its surface.

In 1980, one million children between the ages of ten and 15 were part of the labor force.

Following an Old Testament observance which is still noted by some Jewish families today, they will celebrate the Feast of Booths, or Sukkot, to give thanks for the harvest.

They will build a booth and decorate it with leafy branches, fruit, grain and vegetables. Members of the congregation are asked to place their gifts of food in the booth at the morning worship service Nov. 22.

Other services of Thanksgiving are scheduled in the church, beginning with the Seekers Class dinner at noon Sunday, Nov. 15, in Fellowship Hall. Bro. T's Class will have its covered dish dinner the evening of Nov. 21 in the home of Ike and Suzanne Stevens, 102 Nuaces.

The annual stewardship campaign in the church will close with a Thanksgiving dinner in Fellowship Hall at noon Nov. 22. It is being conducted now with Temple Abney as general chairman. Ernest Langley is chairman of the dinner program, Donna Warrick and Carol Sue LeGate of table decorations.

 On average, Americans living in an urban area spend far less of their after-tax wages on food now than they did in 1939. Housing, however, takes a bigger bite of the average paycheck.

Accent on Health

Infant Mortality Continues Decline
 The Texas infant mortality rate dropped to 9.5 per 1,000 live births in 1986, setting a new record low, according to figures released by the Texas Department of Health's (TDH) Vital Statistics Bureau.

The new death rate for infants (less than one year old) was 3 percent lower than the record set last year of 9.8 per 1,000. In 1984 the rate was 10.4 per 1,000.

Some 2,918 infants died in 1986, compared to 3,067 in 1985. Since the infant mortality rate is a traditional index of the quality of health care, officials attribute the reduced rates to better prenatal and postnatal care.

Records show that in 1960, the infant mortality rate was 37.5 per 1,000 live births. It declined to 30.3 in 1965, to 29.1 in 1970, to 26.1 in 1975, and to 12.1 in 1980.

In all, Texas mothers gave birth to 307,003 babies in 1986, marking two years in a row that births have exceeded 300,000.

had prevailed in 1986, some 11,513, or four times as many babies, would have died. Since only 118,637 Texas residents of all ages died in 1986, (at a rate of 7.1 per 1,000) the babies of 1986 represent an increase of 106,366 in the state's population.

As of July 1986 the estimated population of Texas was 16,982,000.

Other statistics gathered by TDH show that although there were 194,777 marriages in 1986, there were also 96,465 divorces.

The age groups of husbands and wives 25 to 39 comprised the largest group of divorcing couples, with 10,564 divorces during the year.

The data also may indicate that the more children a couple has, the less likely they are to seek divorce. Some 48,716 divorces involved no children; 24,043 involved one child; 17,810 involved two children; 5,897 involved three children; and so on, until only 16 couples with nine or more children were divorced.

During World War II, Italy surrendered unconditionally to the Allied powers in 1943.

Hints from Heloise

DEAR READERS:

Thanksgiving day is here! The aroma of cooking turkey, the fellowship of friends and family abundant.

May every one of you have a beautiful, blessed and, most important, safe Thanksgiving. Remember to be thankful for all we have today and God bless you.

We have received so many requests for one of my favorite poems it's a pleasure to reprint it. Lord, we humbly ask Thy blessing.

On the turkey and the dressing.
 On the yams and cranberry jelly.

And the pickles from the dell.
 Bless the apple pie and tea,
 Bless each and every calorie.
 Let us enjoy Thanksgiving dinner.

Tomorrow we can all get thinner.

For all Thy help along the way,
 We're thankful this Thanksgiving Day.

We're thankful too for all our dear ones.

For all the far away and near ones.
 Although we may be far apart,
 We're together in my heart.
 Keep us in Thy loving care,
 This is my Thanksgiving prayer.

P.S.: Anyone who wishes, may help with the dishes!
 Thanks to Dorothy Gormick again for the fitting poem.

Enjoy your holiday. — Heloise CHRISTMAS ORNAMENTS

Dear Heloise: Every year each person in our family buys a Christmas ornament for the tree.

As the years pass, we forget which one belongs to whom. So, we have assigned each person a different color ribbon and they are easy to tell apart.

Every year I make sure to have enough of each color ribbon so that I can code the ornaments. — D.P., Alberta, Ala.

PINEAPPLE PLANT

Dear Heloise: I recently came across this clever idea. I take the top of a pineapple and plant it in a pint jar of water. It takes root and sprouts, making an exotic palm-like plant. — K.D., Salina, Kan.

I love to root avocado seeds. But I am definitely going to give a pineapple top a try. — Heloise

CAUTION

Dear Heloise: This is such a terrible thing that you don't even consider it, but I want to share this unfortunate happening, hoping that it spares someone else.

A friend's husband died and, as usual, they put the funeral announcement in the paper. While the family was at the funeral, their home was burglarized.

So, I suggest someone stay at the homes of families attending funerals. Anyone could look in the paper and burglarize their homes while they are away. — R.D., Kanona, N.Y.

It's sad but true. It's well worth the peace of mind to have someone stay at the home, just in case. — Heloise

WRONG FUELS

Dear Heloise: When burning fuels in your fireplace, there is one important thing to remember: Never burn heavy oiled papers or chemically treated wood products, such as railroad ties or outdoor lumber.

They can release dangerous toxins into the air. — Ginny Hampton, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Send a money- or time-saving hint to Heloise, P.O. Box 795000, San Antonio, Texas 78279. I can't answer your letter personally but will use the best hints received in my column.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a college student living with three other women. We are all good friends, but now I realize that I never should have tried to live with these slob.

When I lived at home I was expected to clean up as I cooked, or at least afterward. My roommates leave dishes for days. I cannot get to the sink, stove or our limited counter space. I am tired of cleaning up incredible messes only to find another one the next day.

I scrub the bathroom every weekend. These two can't stir themselves to rinse their own hair or toothpaste out of the basin. Newspapers and magazines are under the tables, on the chair and strewn all over the place. I am not a nut about orderliness but I like clean dishes and it would be nice if I could find my pocketbook after—I put it down.

Please don't tell me to move out. I've been looking for months, but single flats that allow dogs start at $450 here, if you can find one. Also, these pigs moved in with me, into the great low-rent house that I found. Any suggestion?—Hopping Mad in Bryn Mawr

DEAR HOPPING: Who let those pigs move in? Didn't you take a look at their digs before you said OK so you'd have some idea of what to expect?

I get this gripe often and I tell the complainers exactly what I'm telling you. Learn from this sorry experience. Next time before you agree to share your space find out something about the living habits of your prospective roomies. When you're in the middle of the mess and hear "oink oink," it's too late. You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am about to be married and instead of this being the happiest time of my life—it has become a nightmare.

People are coming out of the woodwork asking to be invited. I can't believe the nerve of these clowns—begging, hinting, whining and demanding that we include their son, daughter, boyfriend, parents, etc.

I am absolutely miserable and furious. The arguments I have had with my parents, his parents, and friends from both sides have made a nervous wreck out of me. Here it is, my wedding. I am paying for it and it seems I must add dozens of extra people to the guest list because my parents and future in-laws don't want to "make enemies."

I don't have the nerve to cancel everything and sneak off and be married by the justice of the peace. Believe me, that solution is very appealing right now, but my parents would never forgive me.

Writing this letter has made me feel better. Seeing it in print and knowing that a few million people will read it and decide not to pressure a bride to be invited to a wedding will be the best gift of all.

Thanks, Ann.—Sweating It Out in Ohio

DEAR SWEATING: Here's your letter. And since you didn't ask for any advice I won't give any. I'm glad I was able to give you such a nice present. I didn't have to shop for it and it didn't cost me anything.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please tell newscasters to stop saying, "There was a near miss" over O'Hare or Santa Barbara or wherever. There's no such thing. What they mean is a near hit. If it's a miss, it's a complete miss.—L.R., Thief River Falls, Minn.

DEAR MINN.: Of course you're right. Isn't it amazing how the obvious eludes me?

Ask Dr. Lamb

Prostate Problems

BY LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I read in your column that every man over 40 should have his prostate checked every year. I didn't have a prostate check for years. The doctor said I should have come sooner. It was cancer. He said if you are over 75 — I'm 83 — if they remove your testicles and you have a blood test every six months and a bone scan you should be safe.

I read that prostate cancer is the third largest killer of men. I asked if it would be more sure to remove the whole prostate and he told me it was very expensive and I might die.

I have had my testicles removed. Should I have the whole prostate removed too?

DEAR READER: The choice of treatment for cancer of the prostate depends entirely on how advanced it is and just how malignant it is. Recent studies do suggest that early cancer that has not spread is best treated in younger men with either total removal of the prostate or by radiation treatment.

In older patients, it is often correct to simply stop the testosterone hormone stimulation to the prostate cancer, then it will not grow fast enough to become a problem. That is done by castration. In some instances it is helpful to give estrogen.

Castration and hormone therapy often produce remarkable improvement even if the prostate cancer has spread. The other factor that must be considered is the person's health. It is remarkable how well older people tolerate major surgery, but each case is different.

You will learn more about your condition after reading Special Report 71, The Prostate Gland. I'm sending you a free copy. Others who want this report can send $1.00 and a long, self-addressed envelope with 39 cents postage to THE HEALTH LETTER 71, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713. Incidentally, prostate cancer is the second or third most common cause of cancer deaths in men, depending on how you group cancers. That is somewhat different from being the third most common cause of death. I hope you will live many more enjoyable years.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I was interested in your column about the woman who had polio as a child, recovered and recently experienced muscle weakness. I had polio as a child and am now 61. I fell and broke my hip because my knee gave way. A therapist gave me strengthening exercises which I must continue.

I wish I had continued such exercises over the years. You missed the point entirely when you said too much exercise may not be helpful. I hope that lady will continue to do

DEAR READER: There is a new problem, called post-polio syndrome. It can cause muscle atrophy and paralysis in people who appeared to have recovered. When the respiratory muscles are involved, some of these people have had to return to respirators or have a tracheotomy to breathe at night.

It is believed that, because of further degeneration of the nerves which supply the muscles, atrophy occurs. One cause is continued overuse of those muscles. While exercise is important to maintain strength, there is a danger in doing too much. The margin between benefits and harm is rather narrow.

That is why polio patients who have muscle weakness or want to follow an exercise program need professional guidance by a rehabilitation center. The problem is too complex for them to decide on their own what exercise program they should follow and which muscles should be rested.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

CHARLES DEMUTH EXHIBITION
NEW YORK (AP) — A survey of the work of Charles Demuth (1883-1935) will open at the Whitney Museum of American Art Oct. 15.

The retrospective, consisting of more than 120 paintings and watercolors, will close Jan. 17, 1988.

The museum says, "Demuth was a masterful colorist whose watercolors range from delicate nature studies of fruit, flowers and vegetables to striking portrayals of bohemian life in New York's night clubs and jazz halls. A pivotal figure in the avant garde circles that introduced modern art and literature to America, he pioneered the distinctly American style of Precisionism, which fused European modernism with industrial subject matter."

In ninth grade game Thursday, 14-13

Stanton upsets La Plata

By GARY CHRISTENSEN
Sports Editor

An emotionally charged Stanton ninth grade football team upset district champion La Plata 14-13 Thursday night at Whiteface Stadium.

The game was the season finale for both teams, and was the last time that the two junior high schools would play in football contests. Stanton finished the season with a 3-5-1 record and La Plata finished at 8-2.

The first half was a defensive struggle, with the only scoring in the half resulting after a blocked punt.

Stanton was punting from its own 16-yard line in the first quarter. La Plata's Oscar Garcia blocked the punt and the Mavericks gained possession of the ball at the Stanton eight-yard line.

Greg Urbanczyk gained four yards in the first down play. Then Chris Tardy rushed the last four years for a touchdown with 5:27 left in the first period. Amado Lopez kicked the extra point for a 7-0 La Plata lead.

Neither offensive team could get a first down in the rest of the first quarter. Stanton, in its first possession of the second quarter, drove from the Dogie 25 to the Maverick 29 before giving up the ball on downs.

Later, Stanton used up a lot of time in that quarter but could get only to midfield. With just a few seconds left in the half, Stanton's Stephen Banner intercepted a La Plata pass.

Stanton did not take long to score in the second half. In the second play of the half, Jose Nava raced 81 yards for a touchdown.

The extra-point run attempt failed, and Stanton trailed La Plata 7-6.

In the rest of the quarter, La Plata had the ball all the time except for one Stanton possession in which the Dogies did not get a first down. La Plata moved from its own 42-yard line to the Stanton three-yard line in a possession that extended into the fourth quarter.

La Plata had a first-and-goal at the seven and failed to score. A run for no gain, a run for four yards and an incomplete pass left the Mavericks with a fourth down at the three.

In the fourth down play, La Plata fumbled the ball after losing 13 yards in the play.

Stanton needed five plays to take the lead. A 23-yard pass from Max Mungia to Anthony Gale was the first big play of the possession.

Stanton had a third-and-11 at the 38-yard line. Larry Brown found an opening and outraced some La Plata defenders for a 62-yard scoring play with 6:02 left in the game.

Mungia, who had a tough night throwing the ball with only one completion in 11 attempts, completed a pass for an important two-point conversion and a 14-7 Dogie lead.

La Plata quickly got itself on the move. Starting from their own 24-yard line, the Mavericks marched to the Stanton 28, where they ended up with a fourth-and-17. Big plays included 15-yard runs by both Chris Tardy and Greg Urbanczyk.

In that fourth-and-17 play, T.J. Head completed a pass to Garrick McPherson for a 20-yard gain.

La Plata scored with a 13-yard pass in a third down play. Head completed the touchdown pass to Matt Bromlow with 1:50 left in the game.

Maverick Coach Ed Coplen decided to go for a two-point conversion and a win, even though Amado Lopez's consistent kicking this season would most likely mean a tie game, 14-14.

The play called for the two-point attempt was Head handing off to running back Cody Page, and Page throwing a pass. Lopez did catch the pass, but the officials ruled that Lopez was just out of the back right hand corner of the end zone.

It was a controversial call in the eyes of Coach Coplen, who was called for a 15-yard penalty for going onto the field and questioning the call.

That left Stanton in the lead by one point, 14-13.

La Plata then had to attempt an on-sides kick from the 25-yard line instead of the 40. The kick did not go 10 yards, but Stanton did fall on the ball and ran out the clock to preserve the upset victory over La Plata.

Stanton's Jose Nava and Larry Brown both had 100-yard rushing games. Nava had 108 yards in 10 carries, and Brown totaled 107 yards in 14 carries.

Chris Tardy led La Plata with 107 yards in 21 carries, and Greg Urbanczyk had 61 yards in 12 carries.

Colvin, Fogo lead Stanton 7th grade over La Plata

By GARY CHRISTENSEN
Sports Editor

The rushing efforts of Petey Colvin and Shawn Fogo helped power the Stanton seventh grade football team to a 26-0 halftime lead enroute to a 26-12 victory over La Plata - and the district championship - Thursday at Whiteface Stadium.

The win in the 1987 season finale gave Stanton a 5-2 record. La Plata finished the season at 4-3-1.

Colvin scored both of his touchdowns in the first quarter. The first one came in the third play of the game - a 58-yard run with 6:21 left.

The second of Colvin's touchdowns was a 59-yarder with 1:26 left. The two-point conversion attempts by Stanton after Colvin's touchdowns failed.

Fogo scored both of his touchdowns in the second quarter. Fogo rushed 47 yards for a touchdown with 7:02 left. Teammate Vincente Castillo rushed for a two-point conversion and a 20-0 Stanton lead.

Then with just 15 seconds left in the first half, Stanton had a third down at the 13-yard line - after losing five yards in two plays.

Fogo carried for a 13-yard touchdown run, crossing the goal line with nine seconds left. A pass failed for a two-point conversion, leaving Stanton with a 26-0 lead.

Before Fogo scored his second touchdown, the Dogies had two touchdowns called back because of penalties. Richard Wilbanks caught a pass from Chad Sandoval for what would have been a 60-yard touchdown play, but a clipping penalty at the five-yard line nullified that touchdown and the play was officially 55 yards.

Sandoval completed a pass to Easiel Saleem for a three-yard touchdown pass, but an ineligible receiver downfield was the penalty in the play.

La Plata had only 31 yards total offense in the first half. Stanton played a conservative game in the second half to coast to victory.

La Plata did get a pair of touchdowns in the fourth quarter. Mark Washington of the Mavericks blocked a Stanton punt and recovered the ball at the Stanton 44-yard line.

A seven-yard run by Nathan Henderson and a 12-yard pass from Richard Sanderson to Drew Radford helped set up the first touchdown.

Sanderson scored with a 20-yard run with 4:20 left in the game. A two-point conversion run attempt failed.

The other touchdown came after a Stanton punt went minus two yards, giving La Plata possession of the ball at the Stanton 43-yard line.

Two passes from Sanderson to Jason Paetzold covered the 43 yards, with Paetzold catching a 14-yard touchdown pass as the buzzer sounded to end the contest.

Stanton's Petey Colvin and Shawn Fogo combined for 206 yards rushing. Colvin had 145 yards in 10 carries, and Fogo had 61 yards in seven carries.

La Plata had only 39 yards rushing as a team. Richard Sanderson completed 7 of 13 passes for 93 yards, including three to Jason Paetzold for 49 yards.

BIG RULE CHANGE
MISSION, Kan. (AP) - Bud Wilkinson, who has been looking at college football for about 50 years as a player, coach and commentator, was asked what he considered the most significant change in that time.
 "The substitution rule," Wilkinson replied. "It has resulted in every squad being three different teams - the offense, the defense and the special units. I think it has greatly reduced the value of physical conditioning. In one play a receiver who caught a pass for a touchdown had to line up to cover the next kickoff. Now he goes to the bench."

FENCE STRADDLER
AMES, Iowa (AP) - Athletic director Max Urick of Iowa State says his job frequently consists of straddling a fence, trying to please people on both sides.
 "On one side you have the educators trying to pull you their way when it comes to student athletes," he said. "On the other side are the coaches, boosters and thousands of fans wanting you to lean their way."
 Urick's blunt summation:
 "If you're not careful, pretty soon you'll fall off the rail."

In eighth grade football game

Stanton beats La Plata 22-0

By GARY CHRISTENSEN
Sports Editor

A Stanton offensive unit led by Leo Brown, Mark Drumm, John McBride and Santos Rincon, coupled with a Dogie defensive team that limited La Plata to 104 yards total offense, powered Stanton's eighth grade football team to a 22-0 victory Thursday at Whiteface Stadium.

The victory gave Stanton a final season record of 2-4-1. La Plata fell to a final mark of 1-8.

Brown quickly put Stanton into the lead with a 45-yard touchdown run in the fifth play of the game. Santos Rincon rushed for a two-point conversion and Stanton led 8-0 with 6:08 left in the first quarter.

Early in the second quarter, Stanton capitalized on a La Plata mistake to score a touchdown. La Plata had a fourth-and-six at its own 25-yard line, and a bad snap from center resulted in no punt.

Stanton took over at the 25. Fourth plays later, in a fourth down play, quarterback Drumm found receiver McBride for an 18-yard touchdown pass. A two-point conversion attempt failed, and Stanton's lead was 14-0 with 6:13 left in the first half.

The Mavericks moved just into Dogie territory in their next possession, but two holding penalties hurt La Plata's chances to get a first half touchdown.

Stanton nearly scored again in the half, but McBride was stopped one yard short of the end zone as time ran out. McBride caught a pass from Drumm in a play from the 15-yard line.

Three plays before that, La Plata's Clay Wallace had intercepted a Stanton pass, but the interception was nullified by a La Plata penalty before the interception was made.

In the third quarter, Stanton again took advantage of a La Plata mistake. Stanton punted the ball from the La Plata 46-yard line.

A La Plata player touched the ball at the 19-yard line but did not fall on it, and Stanton recovered the ball.

After a five-yard penalty was called on La Plata, Stanton's Santos Rincon gained seven yards and six yards to put the Dogies at the one-yard line.

Quarterback Drumm scored with a keeper with 4:31 left, increasing the lead to 20-0. Leo Brown rushed for a two-point conversion to make the margin 22-0.

La Plata moved from its own 20-yard line to the Stanton 31 where the Mavericks were faced with a fourth-and-nine. Running back Roger Ramirez was able to get only five yards in the play, and Stanton took over possession of the ball.

Stanton ran off a lot of time before giving up the ball on downs at the La Plata 30-yard line.

The last three minutes of the game included a pair of turnovers. Stanton's Edward Tijerina intercepted a La Plata pass, and La Plata's Roger Ramirez recovered a Stanton fumble.

Stanton was led in rushing by Santos Rincon with 80 yards in 16 attempts and by Leo Brown with 58 yards in nine attempts.

Mark Drumm completed four of eight passes for 71 yards. All of the completions were to John McBride.

La Plata did not have any passing yards. Chad Burns was the leading ball carrier for the Mavericks with 49 yards in 12 attempts, and Roger Ramirez had 32 yards in five carries.

Michigan State, Indiana to battle for Rose Bowl berth

By The Associated Press

Although the Rose Bowl is in the picture, 13th-ranked Michigan State didn't watch any films this week.

The Spartans will be at home to Indiana, ranked No. 16 in this week's Associated Press poll. Last year, with the same scenario, Indiana came away with a 17-14 victory.

Michigan State Coach George Perles won't even show the Spartans the films of that game.

"I want to keep things positive this week," Perles said.

In last year's game, the Hoosiers committed just one turnover to Michigan State's five while rolling up 153 yards on the ground and 147 through the air. The passing yards all came from backup quarterback Dave Kramme, who came in when starter Dave Schnell suffered a shoulder separation.

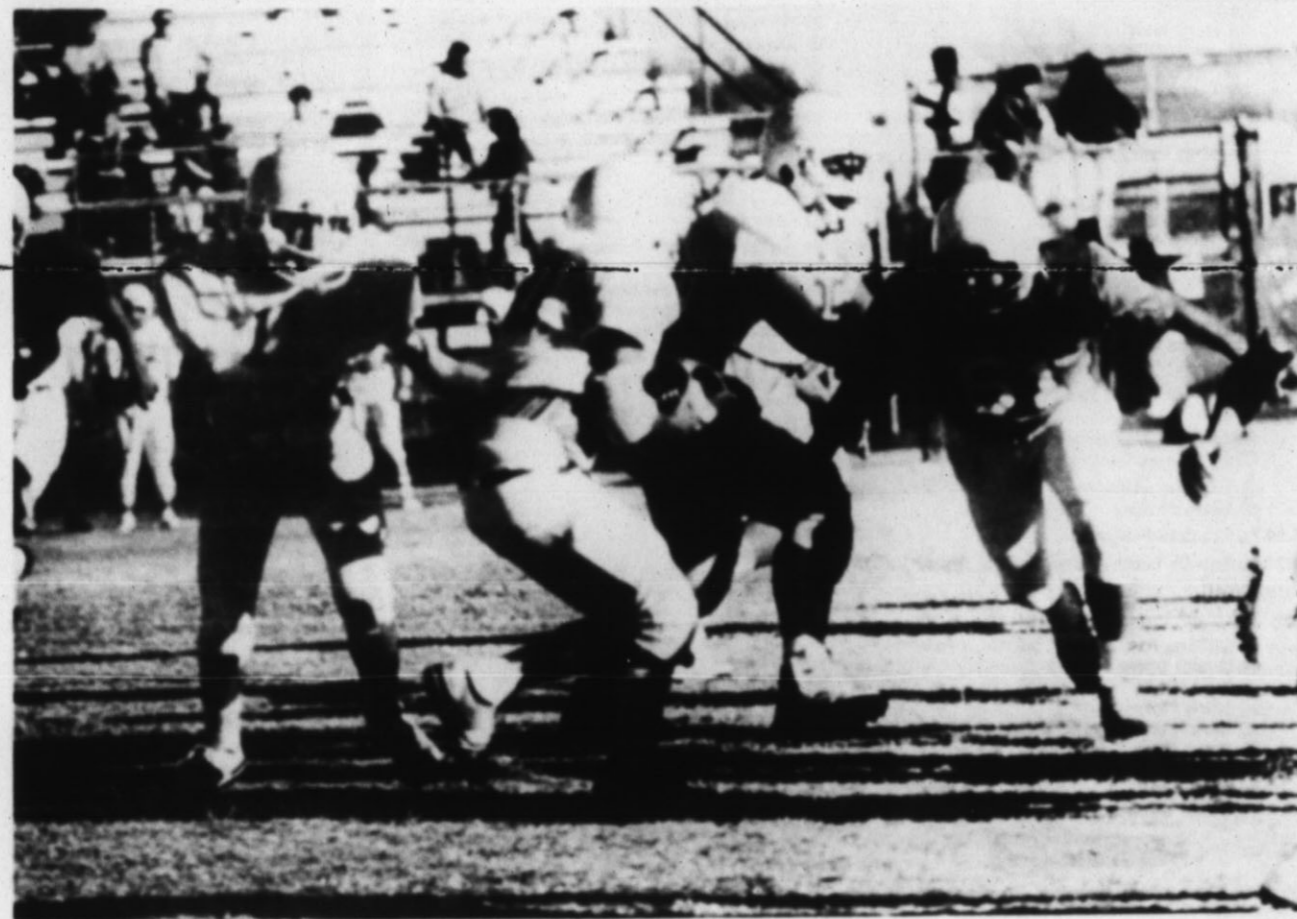

Kramme will be the starter this week while Schnell recovers from an appendectomy that kept him out of last week's game against Illinois.

A Michigan State victory will give the Spartans the Big Ten Conference title and a trip to the Rose Bowl. If Indiana wins, the Hoosiers must also beat Purdue the following week in order to represent the conference against the Pac-10 winner on New Year's Day.

Indiana is 5-1 in the conference and 7-2 overall. Michigan State is 5-0-1 and 6-2-1.

Former Hereford High School quarterback

Mike Scott to start for ENMU

Former Hereford High School quarterback Mike Scott has been given the starting job for Eastern New Mexico University on Saturday against West Texas State University.

Scott, a freshman who redshirted the 1986 season, will start in place of Tommy Gonzalez, who suffered a knee injury in ENMU's 30-7 loss to Texas A&I last week.

The Greyhounds, 9-1 with Gonzalez at quarterback, have a 3-1 record in the Lone Star Conference. Saturday's conference game against WTSU, 4-5 overall and 1-2 in the conference, begins at 1 p.m.

Gonzalez completed 84 of 170 passes for 1,146 yards and 13 touchdowns, with eight interceptions, before suffering the season-ending injury. Scott's statistics are 25 completions in 42 attempts for 330 yards and two touchdowns, with two interceptions.

Scott, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Scott of Hereford, lettered three years in football and baseball at Hereford High School, two years in basketball, and was an all-district selection in football.

In the 1983 season for the Hereford Whitefaces, Scott completed 73 of 140 passes for 1,180 yards and seven touchdowns. His 73 completions rank fourth on the all-time school list, and his completion percentage of .521 is the second best percentage.

Scott's 1,180 yards in one season are third to only Todd Shires, 1,758 yards in 1986 and Mike Wartes' 1,561 yards in 1970. Scott averaged 107.3 yards passing per game.

ENMU's leading ball carrier, Rufus Smith, will be among the teammates in the backfield with Scott. Smith has gained 495 yards in 91 carries for a 70.7 average per game in seven games played.

Tommy Neal, who has played in all 10 of the Greyhounds' games, has 530 yards in 140 carries, and Eric Craig has 594 yards in 108 attempts in 10 games played. Also, Randy Johnson has totaled 416 yards in 72 carries in seven games.

Saturday's game is the final game of the 1987 season for the Greyhounds. Coach Don Carthel, about the game against Texas A&I, said, "Texas A&I has great talent, and executed very well."

"There is no other team in the nation in division II as talented as A&I. I just hope that the pollsters will remember that we got beat by the number one team in the nation if we finish up 10-1."

Concerning the game this week against West Texas State, Carthel said, "West Texas is a good team and is improving every week. They have a lot to play for, but not as much as us."

Eastern New Mexico leads the all-time series against West Texas State 4-3. ENMU scored wins in 1934, 1935, 1936 and 1937. West Texas State has three straight wins over ENMU, in 1938 and 1946, plus a 50-3 win over the Greyhounds last season.

Walker gets starting nod for Cowboys

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas coach Tom Landry now says the Cowboys' future rests in Herschel Walker and indicated that Walker would start at tailback for the first time this season Sunday in New England.

That could mean the end of an era for 33-year-old Tony Dorsett, who has gained more than 1,000 yards in eight of his 10 seasons with the Cowboys.

Dorsett met with Landry Thursday, and afterward the coach said, "Tony has been a great player for us, and I'd rather have him finish by making his goals and doing the things he wants to do. Sometimes that's not possible. I'd love to see it happen that way, but I won't do anything that's detrimental to the team."

For a season and a half, the Cowboys have struggled with the problem presented by two Heisman Trophy winners in one backfield.

Injuries to both running backs last year kept coaches from resolving the dilemma, but this season the running game and the team (4-4) have languished despite both runners' being healthy.

Since the NFL players' strike ended in mid-October, Walker and Dorsett have expressed the need for the Cowboys to feature one back rather than trying to share the workload.

"Our future rests in Herschel. Everybody knows that, even Tony knows that," Landry said. "He knows where we're headed. We're moving through a transition period where eventually we'll put him (Walker) at starting tailback."

Dorsett, however, said he is unclear about the situation after his meeting with Landry.

"I said, 'Coach, I can see what's going on. I want to know what my role is.' I still haven't got a definition, but everybody knows that Herschel is the future back," Dorsett said.

"I don't know exactly what his thinking is. I am not going to spend a whole lot of time trying to figure it out. But we are going to try and make this work," he added.

Despite Walker's starting Sunday, Landry said, "Tony will come in sometime along the way. We'll still have formations where they'll both be in there at times. But our basic one will be with Timmy (Newsome) at fullback and a tailback running the ball."

Landry explained the situation to Walker in a meeting on Wednesday: "I just talked to him along those lines. I told him that his future is with us and what we're expecting of him."

Walker, 25, said reports that came out of a telephone conference call with New England writers, indicating he would like to be traded and was considering quitting after the 1987 season, were misleading.

"I answered questions that they gave me and they probably took those answers and left out the questions, which is unfair to me. But it's also unfair to them the way I answered the questions," Walker told the Dallas Morning News.

"I met with coach Landry and I just wanted to let him know that I'm here to play football. I'm frustrated but I'm not saying, 'Take me out, I'm going to leave.' If I can become better at my role, I'll be more comfortable."

Dorsett will have little choice but to accept his role as well, since the league's trading deadline was Nov. 3. The Cowboys said they made no attempt to trade Dorsett and would be prohibited from doing so until after the Super Bowl.

Dorsett has struggled since the end of the strike, averaging 1.8 yards on 36 carries, while Walker has been averaging 4.3 yards on 34 carries.
