City Taxi

James Parker is ready to roll in Hereford with the opening of his taxi service named

City Cab.

Taxi service is rolling

By DEBE GRAVES
Staff Writer

It has been a while since Hereford had a taxi service.

One long-time resident says the last one he can remember went broke a few years ago, when the city when wet and residents no longer needed the service of a cab to drive them to Umbarger or Dimmitt to pick up the alcoholic beverages which they couldn't purchase in town.

Taxi service returned to Hereford this week with City Cab, opened by James and Virginia Parker.

"We had three calls the first day, which is pretty good considering our advertising has been limited to copies of information sheets and business cards with the phone number (364-6644) printed on them," James said.

The Parkers moved to Hereford, in August, from San Angelo, where he drove a cab for 15 years. Though he says most experiences have been good, he does recall a few times when the business of driving strangers around town was scary.

"I was beaten by a drunk late one night," he said. "But the most frightening experience was driving a cab after three guys killed another driver for a little over $13. We were all nervous then."

His most humorous experience involved an elderly woman.

"There are so many funny things that have happened but the one which really stands out in my mind is when an elderly woman hailed me and I took her all over town hunting for an apartment. When she didn't find one she wanted, she directed me to her son's house. Come to find out she had run away from a nursing home. Her son threw a fit. Then he paid me and took his mom back to the nursing home."

To operate a taxi service, Parker possesses a chauffeur's, or Class A, driver's license, on which he proudly states he has no tickets. His rates are the same for in- or out-of-town trips but are discounted for senior citizens.

Additionally, the city requires he produce proof each month that a qualified mechanic has checked over the car and he said he is required to keep accurate records of each trip because he must pay two percent of his gross to the City of Hereford on the first of each month.

Parker, whose wife works in the dietary department at King's Manor, only owns one cab now and he takes calls 24 hours a day; but he plans to expand the operation as business grows.

Reagan bitter over report

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — President Reagan feels "personally put upon" by a congressional finding that the Iran-Contra affair sprang from a climate of disrespect for the law, his top aide says.

White House chief of staff Howard H. Baker Jr. also said Thursday that at one time he feared the arms-to-Iran furor would paralyze the Reagan presidency, if not end it.

Baker said that while Reagan "really, really did not like" the report released Nov. 18, the president is moving "full-throttle" on superpower arms-control initiatives, efforts to attack the federal deficit and other issues.

Baker, however, in an impromptu question-and-answer session with Cable News Network and NBC News, acknowledged for the first time that he had had doubts whether Reagan could weather the scandal of clandestine arms sales to Iran and a diversion of proceeds to the Nicaraguan Contra rebels.

"It's good to go back and think about where we were in the spring, and where we are now," Baker said as the president relaxed with his wife, Nancy, and members of the family at his 688-acre ranch nestled in the Santa Ynez Mountains north of Santa Barbara.

"When I came on board in March, you know, the real question was, 'Is this man going to survive? Is this the end of the Reagan administration, if not impeachment, at least immobilization?'" the chief of staff said. "And now, here we are near the end of the year, and he's going full throttle."

Baker refused to say whether Reagan wants to grant pardons to Rear Adm. John M. Poindexter and Lt. Col. Oliver L. North, two former White House aides who are central figures in the continuing investigation of the affair by independent counsel Lawrence E. Walsh.

William Clark, who formerly served as Reagan's national security adviser and then headed the Interior Department before returning to private law practice in California, has urged Reagan to grant pardons to the two military officers, sources have said.

Reagan said last week he thought the House-Senate congressional investigative committees had "labored and brought forth a mouse" with the Iran-Contra report.

The committee's 690-page final report on the nearly year-long investigation concluded among other things that Reagan had fostered a climate in the White House that produced a "cabal of zealots" which overtook foreign policy-making and stripped it away from the normal checks and balances, such as congressional oversight.

Baker said Thursday that Reagan "really feels personally put upon by many of the implications and many of the assertions in the report."

"It did not destroy him by any means, did not immobilize him, and he's still the strong, vigorous president he was when he was elected," Baker added. Baker said Reagan anxiously awaits signing a treaty with Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev to eliminate the superpowers' arsenals of intermediate-range nuclear missiles.

Reagan is overjoyed at the recovery of his wife, Nancy, from surgery to remove her cancerous left breast, Baker said.

The Reagans are scheduled to return to the White House Sunday.

Soviets get physical

MOSCOW (AP) — Thirty percent of Soviet citizens are overweight, two out of three get little or no exercise and 70 million smoke. What this population needs, according to a government report, is a healthier lifestyle.

The resolution of the Communist Party and the Soviet Union's government outlines a new health care system that stresses preventive medicine for the nation's 272 million people.

Developing a habit of daily exercise for Soviets was the most important factor in the new health program, said Health Minister Yevgeny I. Chazov.

He said students will be required to double their exercise time to as many as eight hours a week.

The Soviet Union has the world's highest number of doctors per capita, but they are also among the lowest-paid workers in the country. Medical care is entirely state-funded, but the quality is far below that in developed Western countries.

"For many years insufficient attention has been given to the forming of a healthy way of life," the health care resolution says. "More than two-thirds of the population do not go in systematically for sports activities, up to 30 percent have extra weight and some 70 million people smoke."

Few details were given, but the resolution said the number of weight-

Police have issued 27 citations and investigated three minor accidents since Wednesday morning.

Weather should warm

After a winter storm fizzled out Thanksgiving, temperatures should warm through the weekend.

Tonight will be fair and cold, with a low of 22. Saturday will be fair and not so cold with a high of 45. Wind will be light and northwesterly tonight and Saturday.

Sunday, temperatures should reach near 50. This morning's low at KPAN was 24 after a high Thursday of 34. .04 inch of moisture was received from less than an inch of snow that fell this morning.

UW makes allocation

United Way of Deaf Smith County has made its allocations to 13 member agencies following a successful 1987 UW campaign.

At the time the allocations were made, the UW had $130,000. According to UWDC official Wayne Amstutz, the total is now over $132,000, with pledges continuing to trickle in.

Agencies receiving allocations, by percentage, were:

- Red Cross, 12.27 percent;
- Big Brothers-Big Sisters, 14.38

percent;

- Boy Scouts, 11 percent;
- Camp Fire, 13.54 percent;
- Family Services, 7.62 percent;
- Girl Scouts, 1.27 percent;
- Salvation Army, 3.38 percent;
- Senior Citizens, 8.46 percent;
- YMCA, 12.69 percent;
- High Plains Epilepsy, 3.08 percent;

-Childrens Rehabilitations, .77

percent;

-Rape Crisis-Domestic Violence,

3.85 percent;

-UWDC administration and campaign expense, 7.69 percent.

New members were named to the budget and admissions committee, including Don Graham, Andy Radford, Helen Rose and Philip Shook, all named to three-year terms. Retiring from the committee were Jack Mars, Bud Eades, John Dominguez and Steve Wright.

The annual UWDC meeting will be held Jan. 12 at 12 noon at the Cason House for a dutch-treat lunch.

Louisiana inmates talk, Atlanta prisoners balk

Cuban inmates negotiated a possible release today of 27 hostages being held in a detention center in Louisiana, but talks to free 94 hostages in the Atlanta federal penitentiary broke off, officials said.

Most of the action occurred away from public view, inside the fire-ravaged Oakdale, La., detention center and Atlanta prison.

However, in a dramatic development, a Cuban inmate and a federal official in Oakdale shook hands before a television camera Thursday night and spoke of signing a hostage-release agreement today.

"We need to have ... all four (Cuban negotiators) to sign," the unidentified official said on a WBRZ-TV videotape released to news organizations. "That's when the other 27 will be released."

One of the hostages taken when the Cubans seized the compound in a riot Saturday was released Thursday night.

At a news briefing early today, U.S. Justice Department spokesman Mark Sheehan refused to confirm an agreement had been reached.

"I will not confirm or deny that the negotiators' comments are valid," Sheehan said. "I don't know with certainty what will happen tomorrow."

As to how to interpret the videotape, he said, "The handshake was an indication of the tone of the negotiations."

In Atlanta, Justice Department spokesman Tom Stewart said no further talks were scheduled, but FBI official Wayne Davis said the inmates told an FBI negotiator Thursday night "they'll reconsider their position tomorrow morning."

The Atlanta talks broke off after about 1,100 rebellious Cuban prisoners held a mass meeting and voted against a proposal to free 50 hostages.

Davis said authorities at the 85-year-old penitentiary remain hopeful because of signs the inmates are more unified.

A gate at the prison was decorated with 94 yellow ribbons placed by hostages' relatives, who spent a tense Thanksgiving waiting for news. The relatives shared a holiday meal, and heard a telephone message from Attorney General Edwin Meese promising that "the safety of your loved ones is our paramount goal."

The Atlanta siege began Monday night with rioting that resulted in one Cuban inmate being shot to death and at least 12 people injured.

If a deal is struck in Oakdale, it would end the five-day siege in which the year-old, $17 million facility was heavily damaged by fires set by inmates.

The hostage released Thursday night, William Hoffpaur, is a detention center guard at Oakdale in his early 30s, said his brother-in-law, Mike Marcantel.

"He said they were treated royally," said Marcantel. "They never were abused — physically, mentally, any kind of way."

Hoffpaur was taken to a hospital for rest and observation, and doctors would not let him meet with reporters.

J.D. Williams, a Bureau of Prisons regional deputy commissioner, did not say why Hoffpaur was released.

Negotiations have centered on Meese's offer of a moratorium on a deportation accord with Cuba, according to Sen. John Breaux, D-La.

The proposal to free 50 of the Atlanta hostages came up Thursday night as three inmates met for 90 minutes with an FBI negotiator and three prominent Cuban exiles. It was not known who made the proposal.

Davis said the inmates later discussed only three hostages.

"They substantially reduced their side of the bargain," Davis said. "We likewise substantially reduced our side."

Federal officials would not discuss what offers were made in Atlanta or Oakdale.

Reporters were allowed to observe only the opening of the Thursday night session.

The Cuban inmates rioted after a U.S.-Cuban agreement was announced Friday that could result in their being returned to the homeland they fled in 1960.

Authorities have said that while a desire to remain in the United States was the central demand, the Cubans have disagreed among themselves over whether to also hold out for freedom and clemency.

Stewart said nine more inmates surrendered Thursday night, and estimated the total of Cuban inmates in the Atlanta prison at 1,140.

Since Monday, 257 Cubans have surrendered in Atlanta. Most of them have been moved to other prisons, along with 171 of the 194 U.S. prisoners.

Student test scores may be way off base

NEW YORK (AP) — If scores on most standardized tests are to be believed, America's grade school children are like the tykes living in humorist Garrison Keillor's mythical Lake Wobegon, Minn.: all "above average."

A nationwide survey by Friends for Education Inc., a 700-member West Virginia watchdog group, found that "no state is below average at elementary level on any of the six major nationally-normed, commercially-available tests."

A draft copy of the 26-page report contended that the scores being tallied in every state on the Iowa Test of Basic Skills, Metropolitan Achievement Test and other standardized tests "give children, parents, school systems, legislatures, and the press misleading reports on achievement levels."

Scores included in the survey, conducted by mail and telephone in August, were sent back twice to state education departments for verification, according to Dr. John Jacob Cannell, a Daniels, W.Va., physician who founded Friends for Education, wrote the report and paid for the research with $11,000 of his own money.

Among the findings: —Eighty-two percent of 3,503 school districts surveyed reported above-average scores for elementary students.

—In the 18 states where local districts choose and administer tests, cities such as New York, Boston, Hartford, Conn., Trenton, N.J., St. Louis, East St. Louis, Ill., Kansas City, and Grand Rapids, Mich., reported above-average scores.

—Each of the remaining 32 states which test children statewide reported above-average scores, including Southern states which rank low by most measures of school performance.

In South Carolina, which ranks 47th in graduation rates and 50th in college entrance exam results, 62.9 percent of fourth graders scored above average on the Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills (CTBS), according to the survey.

Babbling Brooks

By JOHN BROOKS

I know a lot of you probably don't like snow.

Sure, snow is a pain in the uh-huh, and can be literally if you fall down on certain parts of your back anatomy.

Yes, you have to get the road plowed, the driveway cleared, the sidewalk shoveled, the car fixed, the tire chained, the dog unburied, the cow hayed, the dryer vent unplugged, and the kids defrosted, but hey, that's part of the fun of snow.

Perhaps you would appreciate snow a little more if you grew up a desert rat, like me.

You see, I was born and mostly-raised out in a place they talk about on the weather all the time.

"The hot spot in the nation," as weathermen are wont to say, Coolidge, Arizona, smack in the middle between Phoenix and Tucson, where men are men and air conditioners are necessary.

I suppose I saw snow when I made my appearance, for my birth came in the midst of a wide-sweeping storm—people tell me it came a heckuva storm here, too—in early January, 1956.

Thanksgiving night of 1963 was the next time it snowed in Coolidge. Actually, it didn't snow. It slushballed. Moisture fell out of the sky in little balls that would have made the quality-control guy at the ice cream joint happy.

It was weird. It also hurt like the dickens when those things hit your head.

The first legitimate snow I ever saw came on May 30, 1965, on my next-to-last day in Arizona. No, it didn't snow in Coolidge—it was about 100 in Coolidge that day.

I had an aunt that was graduating from college at Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff. My mom, sister, granny and I made the trip north.

When we got to Flag, it was a winter wonderland three weeks away from summer.

Now, when you live in Coolidge, Arizona, there are certain things you don't know about snow.

For instance, did you know that snow is frozen water? Did you know frozen water is the main ingredient in ice? Did you know ice is slippery? Did you know you can fall down and hit your head?

Little Johnny the desert rat knew none of this. Little Johnny fell and hit his head.

After my mother and grandmother drug me into the graduation, I sat through the whole boring ceremony, then got ready to go to my aunt's house.

I also found out it's cold when it snows.

By the time we got to my aunt's house, I knew I had frozen to death. To warm up, I stood on my aunt's floor furnace.

It took awhile to regain a semblance of body temperature. Then, I began to feel something in my feet.

It was not blood rushing back through my extremities.

I jumped off the floor furnace and took off my shoes.

The floor furnace had burned perfect waffle patterns in my soles. If you look close on my bare feet today, I have an Eggo indelibly etched under my callouses.

We finally got back home that night—a four-hour drive was doubled, but we made it.

The next night my mother married my stepfather—the fall in the snow, frankly, was a highlight in my life compared to that—and, two days later, we moved to Texas.

The day we arrived in Texas, I saw another first. It was the tornado that wiped out Hale Center. I got to see the whole thing.

I was ready to move to Flagstaff. I'll take snow over a tornado any day.

Israel vows revenge

KIRYAT SHMONA, Israel (AP) — Israeli leaders vowed to avenge an attack by a hang-gliding guerrilla that left six soldiers dead. A Syrian-based group claimed responsibility and Israel said Syria also bears some of the blame. Meanwhile, an Israeli army officer investigating the infiltration near the Lebanese border said it appeared the guerrilla could have been stopped at the main gate of the army camp if he attacked, but a guard apparently did not act in time.

The 10-member inner Cabinet of senior ministers held an emergency meeting Thursday to consider Israel's response to the attack.

"We believe that the attack in northern Israel was carried out by the organization of Ahmed Jibril and we will do everything we can to punish him," the Itim news agency quoted Foreign Minister Shimon Peres as saying Thursday.

Gen. Ehud Barak, the deputy commander in chief of the army, also blamed Jibril's organization, the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine-General Command for the attack. He told reporters that "in due course they will pay the price."

In the bloodiest infiltration from Lebanon in nearly a decade, a guerrilla flew a motorized hang glider from Lebanon and landed in northern Israel Wednesday night. The guerrilla launched a rifle-and-grenade ambush on a passing army truck, then attacked a military outpost.

He killed six soldiers and wounded seven others before being shot dead. Israeli soldiers wounded a civilian who they mistook for a guerrilla.

On Thursday Israeli troops tracked down and killed the pilot of a second glider. He had been shot down in southern Lebanon the night before but hid out until morning, the army command said.

Jibril's organization, a Syrian-based splinter group of the Palestine Liberation Organization, said Thursday it was responsible for the attack.

It issued a communique in Damascus, the capital of Syria, saying five commandos flying hang gliders took part in the attack. One of the pilots was killed, another captured, and three returned safely to base, the communique said.

PLO chief Yasser Arafat ordered his forces in Lebanon on full alert in case of possible Israel reprisal attacks, a PLO statement said.

Israel's usual response to guerrilla attacks in the past has been bombing raids on Palestinian bases in Lebanon. It has carried out 22 such raids this year, killing more than 100 people.

Israeli leaders blamed Syria for Wednesday's attack.

"We know that for several years Jibril is training in Syria... terrorist squads, including operators of hang gliders," said Barak, adding that the training was being done "with Syrian knowledge."

Douglas reveals threats in letters

WASHINGTON (AP) — The late Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas suspected federal agents of trying to plant marijuana at his ranch and feared that a Pennsylvania mob might lynch him for his role in the Rosenberg spy case.

Those and other glimpses of the personal life of Douglas, who in 36 years on the high court built a reputation as a fierce defender of individual liberties, emerge from "The Douglas Letters."

The book, edited by Virginia Commonwealth University history professor Melvin I. Urofsky, offers insights on Douglas' views on foreign and domestic affairs, constitutional freedoms and political realities.

Personal letters included in the collection reveal fascinating glimpses of Douglas, who retired from the court in 1975 and died in 1980.

Douglas, in a 1970 letter to two of his Cascade Mountains ranch neighbors, wrote that he suspected federal agents spotted on his land were "planting marijuana with the prospect of a nice big TV-covered raid in July or August."

"I forgot to tell you that this gang in power (the Nixon administration) is not just in search of the truth. They are 'search and destroy' people."

Douglas, who retired from the court in 1975 and died in 1980, continued that he wasn't even sure what marijuana looked like or whether it would grow in the harsh climate of the central Washington Cascades.

In an angry letter to Defense Secretary Robert McNamara in 1967, Douglas demanded that Air Force planes stop producing sonic booms over the Cascades because it was spooking horses.

Douglas wrote McNamara that the Air Force reaction to the complaints had been "callous."

"I assure you, Mr. Secretary, that your 'villagers' here are not as voiceless and impotent as your 'villagers' in Vietnam," Douglas said.

In a letter to Robert Lynd in 1959, Douglas recalled the "volatile atmosphere" around the country when he issued a stay in the case of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, who were executed in 1953 for espionage.

"The atmosphere seems to be as inflammable as that in a gasoline plant," Douglas said in his letter to Lynd, who along with his wife had done the Middletown sociological surveys.

Douglas said he had received one letter from some western acquaintances who promised a "lynching party when I reached that part of the country" and described a mob that surrounded him outside a Pennsylvania motel.

"That was the only real mob I had ever seen face-to-face and I thought surely they were going to move into action," Douglas wrote. "But they broke forth into loud cheers and applause."

In other letters and memoranda, Douglas:

—Urged that the Sierra Club launch a campaign to have a plaque installed on Mount Hood commemorating the man who vetoed the idea of putting a chair lift to the top of the Oregon peak.

—Revealed that he was visited by several "gentlemen from our Central Intelligence Agency" who were "preparing a list of things that they would have me look into" during a 1950 trip to Iran.

Urofsky was given access to the Douglas papers by Cathleen Douglas Stone, the justice's last wife. The book is published by Adler & Adler Publishers, Inc., of Bethesda, Md.

loss clinics and programs to help people quit smoking will be expanded beginning next year.

The resolution was unusually frank in its disclosure of the scale of problems Soviets have with obesity and smoking. The Tass report made no mention of health hazards related to alcohol abuse, which remains a major problem despite an official anti-drinking campaign launched in May 1985.

The report said the government plans to introduce annual compulsory medical checkups of the population.

Children, war veterans, pregnant women and farm workers will be required to have annual checkups beginning in 1991, and the physicals will be extended to the rest of population after 1996, the resolution said.

Although the Soviet medical system employs 1.2 million doctors and 3.3 million medical assistants, preventive health care is a little-known practice in the Soviet Union.

Among medical services targeted for radical improvement are women's consultation centers, which have been opened in recent years to advise women on medical matters, including birth control. Chronic shortages in supplies have hampered the centers' effectiveness, and abortion remains the only form of birth control available to most Soviet women.

Consultation centers, as well as maternity hospitals and children's medical centers, will be given priority funding, the resolution said. No further details were provided.

The official news agency Tass carried an accompanying interview with Chazov, who called on Soviets to start with themselves in adhering to Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev's drive for social reform.

The 58-year-old Chazov, a co-winner of the 1985 Nobel Peace Prize for his work with international physicians for the prevention of nuclear war, was named health minister in February.

Letter to the Editor

Dear editor: Because your newspaper appears to be based on honesty, integrity and matters of relative fact, I would like to respond to a recent letter.

On Nov. 10, Anita Guest of Bovina expressed her opinion on what she called the "Hereford Incident." In the article she was expressing her opinion that a man who sells the family lawn mower and passed checks belonging to his wife was a poor example of a father and husband. She also said that alcoholism and drug addiction were not diseases.

I am to assume that Ms. Guest is listed among the members of the Psychiatric Association and has published Nobel Prize-winning concepts on alcohol and drug addiction. If this is not the case then she need not talk about this she is not qualified to talk about.

Because I was the person who the lady discussed, I have taken initial steps to overcome my drug problem.

I have admitted to myself and others that I have a problem.

I am doing something about it through counseling.

me, and through their understanding. I'm putting my life back together. I'm getting a college education. I feel better about myself and can see very clearly now.

I can understand what Jesus meant when he said, "Let he who is without sin cast the first stone."

The prison experience is a cold chapter in my life, and it is my desire to put it behind me so I can come home to my sons and wife.

I would ask that you people stop criticizing Amarillo Daily News reporters. Why don't you criticize Raul Sanchez or the district attorney? Sanchez is the one with a police record, and he was the man who was getting paid to use drugs and party with taxpayers' money. Sanchez is the one who got 72 persons for sales without anybody being a witness but himself.

While some of you spend your time on criticizing newspapers that write about Hereford and the Hispanics, I remain behind bars for something I didn't do.

Thank you for letting me express my opinion.

SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTIST

The Seventh-Day Adventist Church in Hereford recently completed a survey in Hereford.

350 surveys were distributed, with 214 returned. They were distributed in eight "major neighborhoods in the community," according to Dan Schiffbauer Jr.

On religious convictions and practices, the survey said: -210 believe there is a God, and two were not sure. -185 said there is life after death. -207 said Jesus is the son of God and the Savior of mankind. -196 said Christ is coming again.

In the second section of the survey, dealing with community issues: -44 said the greatest need was more activities and concern for the youth, 32 said the greatest need was for more unity, love and concern between community groups, 21 said there was a need for more spirituality and religious commitment;

-For community program, 96 chose marriage or family life seminar; 71 a seminar on how to make Christianity real; 43 a health screening clinic; 59 a stress management seminar; 42 wanted Bible studies; and 42 chose a stop smoking clinic.

106 of the 214 respondents were split evenly between Baptist and Catholic, while other denominations were represented by at least one respondent.

Plans finalized for bazaar

Hereford Rebekah Lodge No. 228 met in regular session Tuesday evening at Odd Fellow Hall with 14 members present.

Noble Grand Anna Conklin presided at the routine business meeting. There were 58 visits to the sick, 34 cheer cards, 14 dishes of food and 14 flowers reported for the week.

Emphasis was placed on the Bazaar-Flea Market to be Saturday, Dec. 5, at Odd Fellow Hall, 205 E. Sixth Street, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Hand crafts, ceramics, bake sale items and other wares will be available and stew and cornbread will be served.

Booths are available for exhibitors for $10. Call 364-4114 or any member of the lodge if interested.

Susie Curtsinger, aided by Conklin, served as hostess to Jo and Anthony Irlbeck, Irene Merritt, Shirley Brown, Karrol Rettman, Merle Boozer, Dorothy Lundry, Faye Brownlow, Verna Sowell, Rosalie Northcutt, Leona Sowell, and Dora Lea Howell.

The average American household watches TV for seven hours and two minutes a day according to A. C. Nielson reports.

McBrayer speaks to sorority

Dr. Duffy McBrayer, who has been in practice in Hereford for over 19 years, spoke to members of Alpha Iota Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority recently when the group met for a business meeting.

Dr. McBrayer specializes in family practice and is a Diplomat of the American Board of Family Practice. His local practice includes obstetrics and he is associated with the Family Medical Clinic.

Following the lecture, President Beckie Fry called the meeting to order. Plans for the Valentine social were made and the results of the Westway Extension Homemakers Club's Country Christmas bazaar held recently were given.

Members present included Mary Jane Anvik, J-nice Betzen, Camille Beville, Glenna Calaway, Fry, Dona Hendrickson, Wanda Huseman, Elizabeth Jesko, Gay MacLaskey, Dee Ann Matthews, Rhonda Nicklaus, Christi Smith, Jaime Neeper, and Marrie Leverett.

Public invited to dance

The public is invited to the Senior Citizens Dance from 8-11 p.m. Saturday at the Hereford Community Center.

Tickets are priced at $1 per person and may be purchased at the door. Olga Harris will be playing records for the dance which is being sponsored by the Line Dancers.

WORKING TOGETHER
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Group homework assignments can benefit students and their instructor, a University of Rochester professor says. Sidney Shapiro requires students in his electrical engineering circuits course to work in groups of four to six, believing that this reduces competition and increases understanding of the course material. Shapiro also finds that by conferring with each other, students increase the "ah-ha" factor — the chance of discovering a novel solution to an engineering puzzle.

HEAT WAVES ARE DEADLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Heat waves do far more damage than people realize.

The National Weather Service estimates that heat waves kill between 200 and 400 people in an average year. By contrast, tornadoes and hurricanes kill fewer than 150 combined. What's more, the actual number of deaths caused by sudden hot spells is probably even higher than figures show, since the weather service only counts people who died from heat exhaustion and heat stroke — not the heart attacks and other fatalities that rise with the heat.

In many ways, heat waves are also harder to deal with than other forms of nature's fury. Even if weather experts could predict heat waves, they'd have little to tell the public, except to hunker down, stay cool and wait.

A calorie is the amount of heat necessary to raise the temperature of one pound of water one Fahrenheit degree.

Wheeler, Plains meet here in playoff game

For the second Friday in a row, Hereford is the site of a high school football playoff game.

Tonight's game, set for an 8 p.m. kickoff at Whiteface Stadium, has Wheeler meeting Plains in a Region I game in the class 1A playoffs.

Wheeler, 9-2, won the District 1-1A championship and defeated Bovina 28-0 in the playoffs last week. Plains, 10-1, won the District 3-1A championship and scored a 42-8 victory over Grandfalls-Royal last week.

Tickets for the playoff game are $4 for adults and $2 for students.

Wheeler is led by running backs Bubba Smith and Grayson Benson who have a combined rushing yards total of more than 2,275 yards.

Smith leads the Mustangs with 1,178 yards and 24 touchdowns, and Benson has 1,099 yards and 15 touchdowns.

St. Anthony's boys win sixth grade basketball tourney

St. Anthony's School won the Walcott sixth grade boys' basketball tournament earlier this month.

St. Anthony's defeated Wildorado 34-10 on Nov. 13 and then beat Walcott 54-18 in the tournament championship game on Nov. 14.

In the girls' division of the tournament, St. Anthony's lost to Wildorado 22-12 on Nov. 13 and fell to Walcott 26-20 on Nov. 14.

Mark Kuper led the St. Anthony's boys with 14 points in their 54-18 vic-

Plains quarterback Shame McMinn has completed 116 passes in 230 attempts for 1,720 yards and 13 touchdowns. Scott Lowrey has 38 pass receptions for 596 yards and Jeff Ashburn has caught 37 passes for 491 yards.

Plains has its own 1,000-yard rusher in tailback Michael Diaz, who has rushed for 1,129 yards.

Sixteen teams are still alive in the state in the class 1A playoffs. The other Region I game has Vega playing O'Donnell at 7:30 p.m. today in Sudan.

The other class 1A playoff matchups across the state tonight and Saturday are: Paducah versus Throckmorton; Munday versus Baird; Tenaha versus Coolidge; Maud versus Wortham; Bremond versus D'Hanis; and Flatonia versus Skidmore-Tynan.

tory over Walcott. Chris Williams and Cameron Betzen each scored eight points and Justin Lueb added six points.

St. Anthony's held a 22-7 halftime lead and a 32-13 lead after three quarters of play.

Kuper was also the high scorer for St. Anthony's in the 34-10 win over Wildorado. Stacey Sanders had seven points, and Betzen scored six points. St. Anthony's led at halftime, 13-4.

Melissa Berend was the leading scorer for the St. Anthony's girls in both of their tournament games. She scored six points against Wildorado and 14 points against Walcott.

For opening of college basketball season

Hotbeds include Taiwan, Ireland

By The Associated Press

Taiwan, Ireland and Puerto Rico join those traditional early-season tournament hotbeds of Alaska and Hawaii as college basketball gets into full swing starting today.

Teams are going all across the world this weekend, taking the first steps along a path they hope will lead to the NCAA Tournament championship game on April 4 at Kansas City.

"I don't like to go on the road to begin with. I just don't like to travel," Syracuse Coach Jim Boeheim said. "At least we're at a place that's colder than home."

The No. 1 Orangemen are in Anchorage in the Great Alaska Shootout, along with No. 9 Michigan and No. 17 Arizona. Syracuse, which lost to third-ranked North Carolina in last Saturday's Tipoff Classic, plays Alaska-Anchorage in the opening round tonight.

Boeheim could have gone farther. Clemson and Oregon State play tonight in Taipei, Taiwan.

"The flying time (13 hours) is long enough, but when you have a 4½-hour delay in Tokyo and an extra hour in Seattle, it makes for a long day," Oregon State Coach Ralph Miller said.

A nice compromise might be Hawaii. Seventh-ranked Kansas and No. 11 Iowa are there in the Maui Classic and No. 16 Georgetown plays

HHS girls play Palo Duro in Amarillo tourney

Hereford High School meets Palo Duro today at 7 p.m. in a first-round game of the Amarillo-Girls' Invitational basketball tournament at the Palo Duro High School gym.

In other first-round games, Dumas plays El Paso Jefferson at 3:30 p.m., Clovis goes against El Paso Coronado at 5:15 p.m., and Tascosa meets Lubbock Estacado at 8:45 p.m.

The winner of the Hereford-Palo Duro game will play the winner of the Tascosa-Estacado game in the semifinals at 12:10 p.m. Saturday. The losers of those two games will play at 10:35 a.m. Saturday.

Hereford High School has a 1-4 season record. Next Tuesday, Hereford plays at Clovis, N.M., with a varsity game at 6:30 p.m. and a junior varsity game at 8 p.m. Hereford's varsity will play in the Clayton, N.M., tournament on Dec. 3-5.

at Hawaii-Loa.

For other flyers, there's Cork, Ireland. That's where Canisius, St. Louis University and the Iona Gaels will be this weekend.

For hoops with a Caribbean beat, Virginia Commonwealth and Arkansas State are in Puerto Rico for the San Juan Shootout.

Meanwhile, the semifinals of the Big Apple NIT are tonight at New York's Madison Square Garden, where No. 14 Florida plays Iowa State and Seton Hall takes on New Mexico. The NIT is one of 18 tournaments this weekend.

The Great Alaska Shootout usually draws big names and three of this year's eight entries are in the Top Twenty.

"I think the idea is to get us national exposure playing the best in the nation," Alaska-Anchorage Coach Ron Abegglen said.

Michigan begins with three starters back from the team that went 20-12 last year. Arizona has all five starters back from an 18-12 team plus Steve Kerr, a fine 3-point shooter who missed last season after knee surgery.

Kansas, Iowa and Georgetown will compete in Hawaii's Ala Moana Tournament, which will also feature West Virginia against Oklahoma State and Alabama against New Mexico State.

Kansas' opening-round game is against Chaminade, the NIAA school whose past upset victims include then-No. 1 Virginia and nationally ranked Louisville and Southern Methodist.

leads the Jayhawks, who should be helped by 6-foot-10 junior-college transfer Marvin Branch and 6-6 Archie Marshall, who missed last season following a knee injury in the 1986 NCAA semifinals.

Iowa Coach Tom Davis will see a lot of familiar faces when his Hawkeyes open against Stanford. Davis was Stanford's coach for three years and recruited most of the Cardinal players.

Fifth-ranked Kentucky also gets a touch of Hawaiian flavor, but closer to home. The Wildcats open their season Saturday against Hawaii at Lexington, Ky.

In other weekend attractions, Indiana Coach Bobby Knight, last seen pulling his Hoosiers off the court in an exhibition game against the Soviet national team, leads the sixth-ranked defending national champions against Miami, Ohio, on Saturday.

Tonight, No. 10 Wyoming faces Denver. On Saturday, it's No. 4 Pittsburgh against Robert Morris, No. 15 Duke against Appalachian State, No. 19 Oklahoma against Texas A&M and No. 20 DePaul against Pepper-

Dallas loses to Vikings despite White's 346 yards passing

Cowboys' playoff hopes becoming slim

By DAVE GOLDBERG
AP Football Writer

IRVING, Texas (AP) — The Minnesota Twins won baseball's World Series despite only the ninth-best record in baseball. The Minnesota Vikings have the best non-strike record in the NFL but will probably have to take the wild-card route to reach the Super Bowl.

The Vikings, 7-1 in games played by their regulars, just about assured themselves a wild-card playoff spot by beating the Dallas Cowboys 44-38 on Thursday. Darrin Nelson's 24-yard touchdown run with 6:09 left in overtime gave Minnesota its fifth consecutive victory and put a severe crimp in Dallas' playoff hopes.

Minnesota, 7-4 overall because its replacement team went 0-3 during the 24-day NFL players strike, is now two games ahead of Dallas in the race one of the NFC's two wild-card playoff spots. New Orleans, 7-3, is the other likely wild card. With only four games remaining, the Vikings or Saints would have to fall apart for Dallas to have a chance.

The Vikings still have a mathematical chance of catching the Chicago Bears, who lead the NFC Central race by two games. A loss on Sunday to Green Bay would drop the Bears to 8-3, setting up a Dec. 6 showdown with the Vikings at Minneapolis.

"We're not 7-4, we're 7-1," yelled linebacker David Howard, but most of his teammates were more realistic.

"It's just one of those unfortunate things. It's a hole that we were in that we had to get out of," said defensive end Chris Doleman, who had three sacks, two of which caused fumbles.

"It's a hole we're in that we've got to get out of. Whatever happens, you've got to give us credit for getting this far."

"It's just something we have to put behind us," said Nelson, who had 118 yards on 16 carries and his first two touchdowns of the season.

The Vikings nearly let this game get away by three times allowing Dallas to come back from 14-point deficits. The last comeback occurred after Rick Fenney's 1-yard scoring run with 8:24 left gave Minnesota an apparently safe 38-24 lead.

Quarterback Danny White, who had his best game in two years despite an ailing right wrist, threw scoring passes of 14 and 18 yards to Mike Renfro, the latter with 2:08 left in regulation.

White, who completed 25 of 41 passes for 346 yards and four touchdowns and also ran for another score, saw it all go for naught when a ball slipped out of his hand in overtime.

The errant pass went directly to Minnesota's Scott Studwell, who wasn't near a Dallas receiver. Studwell's 12-yard return set up Minnesota's 63-yard drive to the game-winning touchdown.

"I can't remember one that was as personally disappointing as this one. I lost the game," said a tearful White, who sat out last week's game because of problems with a wrist still aching after being broken last season.

"All I had to do was execute but I got brave too many times," White said, "and the defense can only cover up for you for so long."

The Dallas defense tried all day to find an answer to the Vikings' Anthony Carter, who caught eight passes for 184 yards and two touchdowns. His 24-yard reception of a Wade Wilson pass moved the ball to the Dallas 26 midway through the extra period.

Then the Vikings, admittedly calling plays with the idea of getting better field position for kicker Chuck Nelson, gave the ball to Nelson.

"It's our most basic play," said Darrin Nelson, who also had a 52-yard touchdown run in the third quarter. "I just run up the middle and look for daylight and run whichever way I think I should."

Just as on his earlier scoring run, Nelson broke three tackles on the way to the end zone.

"All I wanted to do was move it closer," Minnesota Coach Jerry

Burns said. "Then I looked up and I saw Darrin in the end zone so I didn't have to worry about it."

"We just couldn't contain their skill people, Carter and Nelson," Dallas Coach Tom Landry said.

"You can't keep that type of an offensive team off the scoreboard very long. Now we get 10 days off before we play our next game and nobody feels worse than I do."

Mission, 11-1, with the most prolific passing attack in the state, clashes at 7 p.m. Saturday with Sugar Land Willowridge, 10-2, in one of the highlight games of this week's regional round of the playoffs.

Mission quarterback Lupe Rodriguez over the past two years has set Texas high school records for most career passing yards, most passing yards in a season, and most touchdown passes for a game, season and career.

Two Mission receivers, Nati Valdez and Frank Hernandez, finished 1-2 in the state among Class 5A pass-catchers, with Valdez hauling in 77 for 1,183 yards and Hernandez 76 for 1,391 during the regular season.

Valdez has broken the single-season record for catches and Hernandez has the single-season record for most yards.

The Mission-Willowridge game will be played at Judson.

Other outstanding games also are on this weekend's playoff calendar.

Of the 16 Class 5A football teams still alive, five remain undefeated and untied.

Waco fans get the 5A teams ranked No. 1 and 2 in a Saturday doubleheader at Baylor Stadium. No. 1-ranked Plano (12-0), the defending state champion, plays Langham Creek (8-2-2) at 2 p.m. followed by No. 2-ranked North Mesquite (12-0) against Cypress-Fairbanks (9-3) at 6 p.m.

Also, Denton (12-0) hosts Odessa Permian (10-1) Saturday afternoon in Denton, Midland Lee (11-0) plays Arlington (10-2) Saturday afternoon in Fort Worth, and Houston Stratford (12-0) battles Aldine MacArthur (10-2) Saturday night at Rice Stadium.

West Orange-Stark, the defending 4A champion, is one of four teams in its class still with perfect records, but must play Houston C.E. King, another team that still is unbeaten and untied. West Orange-Stark (11-0) and C.E. King (12-0) play Saturday night in Huntsville.

Schertz Clemens (11-0) plays Gregory-Portland (10-1) tonight in Corpus Christi, and West Columbia (12-0) takes on Tomball (10-1-1) tonight at Katy.

Eight teams are undefeated in Class 3A. Southlake Carroll (12-0) plays Linden-Kildare (11-0-1) tonight in Tyler and Newton (12-0) collides with Cameron Yoe (11-0) tonight at Huntsville.

In the other 3A playoff games involving an unbeaten team, McGregor (11-0) plays Kermit (11-1) Saturday night at San Angelo, Gladewater (12-0) plays Springtown (10-2) tonight in Grand Prairie, LaGrange (12-0) plays Hebbornville (9-1-1) tonight in San Antonio, and Cuero (12-0) plays Floresville (10-1) tonight at Seguin.

In 2A, top-ranked Refugio is one of four teams still with 12-0 records. Refugio plays Manor (11-1) tonight at Austin, LaVernia plays Schulen-burg (10-1-1). Pilot Point plays Mart (11-1) tonight at Bedford, and New Deal plays San Saba (10-2) tonight at Abilene.

Three Class A teams still are undefeated and untied. Top-ranked Munday (12-0) takes on Baird (9-2) tonight in Stamford, Paducah (12-0) takes on Throckmorton (9-1-1) tonight at Electra, and Skidmore-Tynan (11-0) battles Flatonia (10-1) tonight at Yorktown.

Only one of eight six-man football playoff teams remains unbeaten. Rochester (11-0) plays Christoval (9-2) tonight at Winters.

The Texas Association of Private Schools state championship game is tonight at Mineral Wells. The finalists are Abilene Christian (12-0) and Canyon Creek (7-5).

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have read your column for years and respect your advice.

I need an opinion about the behavior of my wife and 14-year-old stepson. Is he too close physically to his mother? She asks him to rub her feet almost every night. She also rubs his.

They sit at opposite ends of the sofa and massage one another for hours.

Tonight the boy was lying across his mother's lap as she was rubbing his neck. When he got up I saw visible signs that he was excited.

Although my wife and I have a satisfactory sex life, I don't go in much for touching. I come from a family where there was no affection shown. We never saw our father hug or kiss our mother. I'm afraid my wife may be getting hands-on affection from her son because she doesn't get it from me. What do you think, Ann? — Worried in Arkansas

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You need a family counselor at once. The relationship between you wife and her son sounds borderline incestuous or heading in that direction. Those mother-son massages must stop.

By your own admission you do not give your wife enough affection. Now is an ideal time to change that. A good counselor can help you break the sound barrier.

Get going. The whole family needs help.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a secretary working in a large office with about 40 others.

Three years ago, during the course of lunchroom conversation, I'm ashamed to say that I made some derogatory comments about a newly hired secretary (I'll call her Sue). My remarks were not based on fact but merely gossip.

Of course someone repeated my comments to Sue. I was embarrassed to learn that my remarks, for which I had no proof, were exaggerated and quite damaging.

Three years later, I find myself working closely with Sue and I have come to respect her. Every time I pass her in the hall or talk with her during the business day, I am filled with guilt.

She has never mentioned those comments to me and now that so much time has passed, I believe she may have forgotten. I'd like to clear the air once and for all, or is it best to leave sleeping dogs lie? — Feeling Guilty in California.

DEAR GUILTY: You can be sure that Sue has not forgotten. Hurtful rumors and hearsay gossip have a life of their own.

It is never too late to apologize. The two most welcome words in the English language are, "I'm sorry." Tell Sue today and I'll bet you will feel 100 percent better tomorrow.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We recently attended a church wedding. There were 500 guests and it was a beautiful affair. There was one flaw, however. When the vows were taken, the phrase, "for better or for worse, for richer or poorer, in sickness or in health, till death do us part," was omitted.

It seems to me that this is a serious deletion in light of the high divorce rate in this country. I know that during our 37-year marriage the memory of my vows has kept me from calling it quits many times. Anyone who is honest will tell you that marriage certainly does get worse and sometimes unbearable.

How about it, Ann? Am I right? — Glendale

DEAR G.: These days many couples write their own vows and leave out whatever they don't like. I believe the matter is intensely personal and should be left to the discretion of the two principals.

Social Security

Before any Social Security benefits can be paid, a worker must have enough credit for work covered by Social Security to be insured, Jim Talbot, Social Security manager in Amarillo, noted recently.

Social Security credits are measured in units called "quarters of coverage." Both wage earners and self-employed people earn these credits based on their total annual earnings.

A wage earner's earnings are generally covered from the first dollar earned during the year up to the maximum that counts for Social Security, $43,800 for 1987. A self-employed person's earnings are covered, however, only if net earnings amount to $400 or more. If net earnings are at least $400, then total earnings are covered up to the Social Security maximum. In 1987, a person earns one quarter of coverage for each $460 of covered annual earnings. If total 1987 annual earnings amount to $1,840 or more, the person earns four quarters. No more than four quarters of coverage can be earned in any year.

The amount of covered earnings needed for four quarters of coverage will increase automatically each year to keep pace with increases in average wage levels.

The general rule is that a person needs one quarter of coverage for each year after 1950, or after the year, a person reaches 21, if later, up to the year he or she reaches 62, become disabled, or dies before reaching 62.

For example, a person reaching 62 in 1987 needs 36 quarters of coverage to be insured for retirement benefits. No one ever needs more than 40 quarters to be insured and a person cannot be insured for fewer than six quarters.

More information about Social Security credits can be obtained at the Amarillo Social Security office, located at 3601 W. 15th, Amarillo, Tx. The telephone is (806) 376-2241. A free leaflet, "How You Earn Social Security Credits," is available there.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING
Classified advertising rates are based on 14 cents a word for first insertion ($2.80 minimum), and 10 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN.
1 day per word	.14	2.80
2 days per word	.24	4.80
3 days per word	.34	6.80
4 days per word	.44	8.80
5th day FREE

Ten days (2 free) is $15.00 minimum; 15 days (3 free) is $23.00 minimum; one month is $31.80 minimum.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid-word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $3.95 per column inch; $3.25 an inch for additional insertions.

LEGALIS
Ad rates for legal notices are 14 cents per word first insertion, 10 cents per word for additional insertions.

ERRORS
Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

ARE YOU PUTTING ME ON? MAKE THE CONNECTION FOR SAFETY! A MESSAGE FROM THE NEWSPAPER AND THE DPS TROOPERS

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: My name is Rusty Combes. Your column about head injuries caught my attention. I am the victim of an alcohol-related crash that occurred in Austin, Texas, on April 23, 1981. The crash initially left me unable to walk or talk, since I hit the left part of my brain. The right side of my body was partially paralyzed. I have had to exercise my muscles daily to regain their flexibility. Today I can walk and talk. I swim, stretch and exercise every day to maintain my muscles. Now I'm trying to help other young people by speaking to them about how alcohol fogs the mind and can cause an automobile crash that affects the rest of one's life. I feel extremely blessed to come back from a crash that left me in a coma for 53 days. I'm ever so grateful to be able to impact young lives today. I'd like to send you a copy of the talk I use.

DEAR RUSTY: Normally I protect people's names in my column, but I realize you want the opportunity to do more to help young people understand the high cost of driving and drinking. Congratulations on your recovery and your efforts. Send me your talk with your address and I'll send you a copy of Special Report 84, Understanding Alcohol and its Effects. You may be able to use the medical information about how alcohol affects driving performance and how it affects a person's health. Others who want this report can send $1.00 and a long, self-addressed envelope with 39 cents postage to THE HEALTH LETTER, 84, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

Alcohol does a lot more harm than cause automobile wrecks, even though that is certainly one of its major tolls on society. It causes early senility, heart disease, high blood pressure, sexual failure, liver disease; it destroys marriages and is a major factor in crime. It is a serious drug habit.

Studies show that if a person has a head injury and has been drinking alcohol, the alcohol will increase the area of brain damage. There are at least 50,000 motor vehicle accident deaths each year in the United States that are alcohol related.

DEAR DR. LAMB: Very frequently I read about preventing heart attacks. Recommendations run the gamut including losing weight, quitting smoking and eating low-cholesterol foods. It seems to me that avoiding excess stress when possible would be just as important. Could I please have your opinion?

DEAR READER: Stress is an important factor. In terms of preventing heart disease it usually operates by affecting the risk factors you have read about. People smoke, or smoke more, because of stress. They fail to exercise, drink more coffee and raise their blood pressure. Total cholesterol levels may also increase, at least temporarily, from stress.

But not everyone responds to stress this way. If none of these risk factors are increased by stress, then there is no evidence that stress causes heart attacks.

If you already have heart disease, then mental or emotional stress can increase your blood pressure and your heart rate, increasing the work of the heart. That is why we like to have patients who have had a recent heart attack avoid stress.

But I must add that, even if you have little or no stress in your life, if your risk factors are increased from smoking, high blood pressure or a high total cholesterol, your risk of a heart attack is just as great as if the increase had been caused by stress. The risk factors are the important thing, but the point is that they can be affected by stress as well as by other factors.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I fainted the other day. My doctor had me take a brain scan and a heart monitor. Nothing showed up. Then he gave me a blood test and found out I was low on potassium. So I'm taking vitamins for it, plus a B-12 shot. Will you please explain to me what potassium is? It makes me real tired and faint. My right hand goes to sleep a lot. I'm 71 years old.

DEAR READER: I can't be sure what is causing your symptoms, but it is true that a low potassium level will make you feel weak and tired. So will an anemia, and B-12 is given for B-12 deficiency anemia.

You have two major types of salts in the body — sodium salts, as in sodium chloride (ordinary table salt), and potassium salts. The sodium is mostly outside the cells, in your bloodstream and body fluids. The potassium is mostly inside your cells. Both are essential to normal cell functions.

A low potassium level may affect the cells of the heart muscle so that a person is prone to heart irregularities. The proper balance of sodium and potassium is essential to life. Our foods are rich in sodium and potassium. The best source of potassium is really fruit and fruit juices. Orange juice is a good example. Bananas are also a good source of potassium. Milk is a frequently overlooked source of potassium.

Please read my new Special Report 82, About Your Sodium and Potassium Balance, which I'm sending you. Others who want this report can send $1.00 and a long, self-addressed envelope with 39 cents postage to THE HEALTH LETTER, 82, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713. It will give you more details on these salts and the foods that contain them.

A frequent cause of disturbed balance of sodium and potassium is medicine. The diuretics people take to eliminate fluid or to lower blood pressure are powerful agents in stimulating the loss of both sodium and potassium through the kidneys. There is a difference in diuretics. Some spare or actually promote the retention of potassium.

It is important for everyone taking these medicines to know whether they wash out potassium as well as sodium. If so, additional potassium is important. You can get it by eating potassium-rich foods. If not, loading up on potassium-rich foods could be dangerous. In any case, anyone taking these medicines should have their sodium and potassium level checked with a blood test at frequent intervals.
