Two arrested in drug bust

By DEBE GRAVES
Staff Writer

Two Hereford residents were arrested and 32 individually wrapped doses of heroin were seized during a raid by Hereford Police Department officers on Monday night.

Roy Mendoza, 26, and his 27-year-old wife Rebecca were arrested as they were exiting a car parked near a home in the 400 block of Ave. H.

According to a report by a member of the local Special Reactions Team. As the pair exited the car, officers, assisted by the SRT, swarmed the area and called for the couple to surrender. An officer grabbed Mendoza as he was reaching back into the car for his jacket. A .32-caliber gun was found in the jacket.

Street value of the brown heroin was placed at $800 and a small amount of marijuana was discovered when Mendoza was searched at Deaf Smith County Jail.

Justice of the Peace Johnnie Turrentine arraigned the couple early this morning. Bond was set at $25,000 for Rebecca Mendoza who was charged with possession of heroin with intent to deliver.

A $25,000 bond was also set for Roy Mendoza who was charged with possession of heroin with intent to sell. A $2,000 bond was set for him on an unauthorized weapon charge and a $500 bond was added for possession of less than two ounces of marijuana.

Other incidences reported by the HPD include a call to a residence on Ave. E in reference to a mental subject; report of a suspicious person in the 100 block of Ave. B; a slashed tire on a car parked in the 200 block of Star; and a burglarized storage shed in the 100 block of Kingwood.

Twelve citations were issued and the fire department was dispatched to a vehicle fire located four miles south of Austin Road.

Four named to CofC board

Temple Abney, Doug Josserrand, Rocky Lee and Berta Ottesen have been elected as new directors of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, it was announced Monday. The four will take office in January for three-year terms.

Seven candidates were listed on ballots mailed to chamber members, including Jeryl Baker, Jeff Brown and Gary Yosten. Directors whose terms expire include Bill Harris, Terry Bromlow, Doug Manning and Mike Bowles. Bowles will remain on the board in the past president position.

Holdover board members will be B.J. Gilliland, Fred Rivera, David Emerick, Lajean Henry, Carol Sue LeGate, Larry Malamen, Allan Parson and Ike Stevens.

Committee to strive for 'responsible journalism'

Following a meeting Monday with 25 Amarillo businessmen, concerning a series of articles about Hereford in The Amarillo Daily News, the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce announced this morning the formation of a regional committee on responsible journalism.

Amarillo, rather we are seeking support of our cause from major advertisers in The Amarillo Daily News," he added.

Asked about a report in the Amarillo newspaper Tuesday that the chamber was urging Hereford residents to boycott Amarillo businesses, Bowles replied that "the Amarillo paper has misrepresented things before."

Mike Carr, executive vice president of the chamber, said more than 200 letters have been mailed to advertisers in the Amarillo newspaper. The letter points out "the unfairness and total lack of concern for our town on behalf of the Amarillo Daily News" and urges businesses to "take our message seriously and evaluate your advertising."

In his statement this morning, Bowles said "we are emphasizing that advertising dollars are being mis-used by the journalistic efforts of the newspaper." He added that "this is not a boycott, it is a mutual agreement between Amarillo businesses and citizens of the area to bring about more responsible journalism in the regional newspaper."

"The goal of the committee will be to strive for a regional newspaper that will help build instead of being destructive to the area," said Mike Bowles, C of C president.

Paul Engler, an Amarillo businessman, will be chairman of the new committee. Bowles said the committee is being formed this week and probably will hold its first meeting next week. He added the committee will be made up of representatives of the entire Panhandle trade area. "We will ask communities to submit names of citizens to serve on the committee," said Bowles.

"We received support from the entire group of businessmen," said Bowles. "They understand that we are not mounting a boycott of

Cocaine conviction

Pesina appeal is denied

Yet another in a lengthy series of appeals of sentences in a 1985 Hereford drug bust has been denied by the Seventh District Court of Appeals in Amarillo.

The 17-year, $1,500 fine sentence handed down by a 22nd District Court Jury to Martin Richard Pesina was upheld by the court.

Pesina's attorney, Sam Ogan of Lubbock, argued unsuccessfully that Judge David Wesley Gulley erred in four different areas of the trial: admitting evidence of an adjudicated extraneous offense; admitting evidence that he offered to commit an extraneous offense; excluding evidence alleging that undercover agent Raul Sanchez used drugs; and overruling Ogan's objection to District Attorney Roland Saul's final arguments.

In each case, Gulley's decision was upheld.

During the trial, testimony from Sanchez, Pesina and Lt. David Wagner of the Hereford Police Department pointed out a fight took place between Pesina and Sanchez after Sanchez had given Pesina $180 to buy a quarter-pound of marijuana.

Sanchez told Wagner that Pesina had been avoiding him since he had given the money, and Sanchez told Pesina to return the $180. Pesina, according to testimony, said he would get the money, then pushed Sanchez aside. Sanchez then grabbed Pesina and the men began scuffling. It was soon broken up, and both went home.

The appeals court said that testimony was allowable because Pesina, in his testimony, denied delivery of any drugs to Sanchez, attacked the officer's credibility, introduced evidence that Sanchez had motives for fabricating a case against him, and accused him of fabricating the case.

Justice John T. Boyd, in writing the opinion, said the evidence was relevant to rebut those defensive theories.

Ogan argued that his inability to question Sanchez about his possible use of drugs, charges that he had a close relationship with Nicky Garcia, a known heroin user according to testimony in the trial, and allegations that Sanchez had once been treated for drug abuse, was an error of the court.

Boyd said "that error was harmless. Sanchez denied such use and there is no evidence in this record to the contrary."

The fourth point of the appeal was dismissed out of hand because it was related to the admissibility of the evidence concerning the attempted purchase and sale of marijuana.

County sets septic hearing

By DEBE GRAVES
Staff Writer

Septic tanks and recommendations concerning the county jail were among the topics of discussion during Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court on Monday.

Commissioners set a public hearing on Dec. 14 to view the adoption of septic tank standards for county residents. The standards must be set in compliance with the state's Private Sewage Facility Act which will be enforced by the Texas Water Commission.

"If we do not set the standards the state will step in and do it for us and that will cost us (the county) a bundle," Commissioner Bill Bradley said.

County Judge Tom Simons reported that the county jail passed a recent inspection pending follow-through on the recommendation that four employees be added. "We have 90 days to take action on the recommendation that we add three more jailors and a cafeteria supervisor," he said.

It was estimated that the additional employees will cost the county $100,000 and, since that additional amount was not budgeted for the fiscal year which began Oct. 1, the commissioners instructed Jail Administrator David Castillo and Sheriff Joe Brown to check into the possibility of raising the revenue by taking overflow prisoners from other area jails.

Commissioners selected Brown, Graham and Company, P.C., as the accounting firm to provide an audit of county funds for the 1986-87 year. The fee estimate of their proposal, which was selected over that of Gerhardt and Puckett, was $10,000-to-$12,000.

Commissioners then authorized Simons to approve a new contract between the Waste Deposit Impact Committee and the state. The contract is expected to be finalized later this week.

Simons also presented a letter of resignation from Administrative Assistant Wanda Spain. Commissioners voted to accept Spain's resignation effective Nov. 27. She has accepted a position as executive secretary to the program director at the Battelle Project Office.

In other business the commission -Granted a request to hire a replacement employee for the part-time student position at the county library.

-Approved the purchase of a microfilm reader for the library.

Total cost of the machine is $1,355 but the county's portion will be $500 to be paid out to the library's equipment budget.

-Discussed, but took no action on, a fire alarm system and emergency lighting system for the courthouse, as recommended by their insurance company.

-Tabled action on implementing a "cafeteria" benefits plan for employees.

Collier is winner

Jerry Collier is the winner of last week's Hereford Brand Football Contest, breaking a tie with Lloyd Olson, who also missed eight games.

Most of last week's entrants had tough sledding in the contest, which saw two ties and several upsets. Even though the Baylor-Arkansas game, which was inadvertently left out of the entries for last week, was counted right on all entries, a majority of those entering missed 11 or more games. Two ties, Floydada-Friona and Nazareth-Happy, were counted as misses.

Collier will win $25 in Hereford Bucks, and Olson will win $15 in Hereford Bucks.

Coming out on top in a six-way tie for third was Jean Davis, who will win $10 in Hereford Bucks. Also tying for third, but further away on the tiebreaker, were Larry Watts, Mike O'Rand, Jim Hillwig, Velma Estrada and Dorothy Schumacher.

Winners have until 5 p.m. next Tuesday to claim their prizes at the Brand offices at 313 N. Lee.

This week's contest appears in this issue of the Brand.

Adams in dumps over waste bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — You might call it the search for a word to describe the search for a dump.

Dump as in nuclear dump. The kind no state wants.

Sen. Brock Adams, D-Wash., held the Senate floor last week and deplored the decision-making process at the Department of Energy, which is responsible for selecting a site — somewhere — for a nuclear waste dump.

The state of Washington is on the department's short list of three states — Nevada and Texas are the others — of final candidates to house the nation's first permanent underground dump for nuclear waste.

No way, said Adams, speaking for his state.

He noted that a colleague, Sen. Harry Reid, D-Nev., has characterized the Energy Department's behavior in the selection process first as "rude," then as "obnoxious."

That doesn't even begin to express his feelings, Adams said.

The words that would do that, he said, probably could not be printed in the Congressional Record or a family newspaper.

"I am tempted to say that the Department of Energy's behavior has been 'inappropriate' but somehow that does not capture the full range of emotions I feel my constituents feel," Adams said.

So he said he had turned in desperation to his office's copy of Webster's Collegiate Thesaurus.

"There I found words like 'lumpy,'

'raw,' 'rough,' 'unpolished,' 'primitive,' 'imperfect,' 'lacking in social refinement,' 'disrespectful,' 'uncouth,' 'ungracious,' 'brusque,' 'crusty,' 'surly,' 'boorish' and even 'loutish.'

"But they do not really do the job," the senator said.

"In fact, the word that came closest to being both printable and expressive is the word 'vulgar,' he said.

"At least it is suggestive of what I feel."

Local Roundup

Sales tax receipts dip

Hereford will receive a check this month for $55,725.63 from State Comptroller Bob Bullock as the city's share of the state sales tax.

That is down from the $64,188 received a year ago. To date in 1987, Hereford has received $515,937, down nine percent from 1986 figures through the first 11 months.

Several area cities are showing small increases in sales tax rebates, according to figures from Bullock's office. Other area cities checks this month include Dimmitt, $16,939; Friona, $13,423; Canyon, $35,281; Amarillo, $1,276 million; Borger, $110,000; Pampa, $137,160; Dumas, $54,366; and Levelland, $68,145.

All but Canyon and Dumas are higher than the checks received last November. For the year, only Friona and Canyon are showing small increases.

Parents meeting is Sunday

A meeting for parents of children in Chapter I and Chapter I Migrant programs in the Hereford public schools will be held at the San Jose Catholic Church parish hall at 716 Brevard.

Many of the programs, designed to give special help to students, will be discussed, and all interested parents are urged to attend the meeting.

Weather should warm

After another chilly night tonight, temperatures should warm considerably by Wednesday afternoon.

Tonight will be clear and not quite as cold, with a low near 30. Wednesday will be sunny and warmer with a high of 65. Winds will be light and variable.

This morning's low was 22 at KPAN after a high Monday of 49.

Teamsters sue Safeway

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A partnership that borrowed $4.3 billion last year to buy Safeway knew the supermarket chain would have to fire employees and sell off large blocks of stores to satisfy the debt, a lawsuit charges.

Teamsters union Local 745 alleged in a suit filed Monday in El Paso federal district court that Safeway's buyers fraudulently enriched themselves by gutting the chain financially.

In a move intended partly to block the sale of Safeway's El Paso division, the Teamsters asked the court to stop Safeway from selling off any more assets, to appoint a receiver to take charge of the company, and to award unspecified damages. The suit called last year's leveraged buyout "unlawful, unfair and fraudulent."

The Teamsters represents truck drivers and warehouse workers fired last week by Safeway's El Paso division as part of the sale of the 59-store division to Furr's Inc.

Lubbock-based Furr's began managing the stores Sunday — under the Safeway name — pending final Federal Trade Commission approval of the sale.

Safeway has been selling some of its divisions to service its debt. Kohlberg Kravis Roberts & Co. of New York acquired Safeway last year in the $4.3 billion leveraged buyout after The Dart Group of Maryland attempted a hostile takeover of the supermarket chain.

Safeway knew the leveraged buyout would result in lost jobs and pensions because its profits would not be enough to pay the debt, James L. Hicks, attorney for the Teamsters, said after the suit was filed Monday afternoon.

Babbitt says

Pot shouldn't be only issue

AUSTIN (AP) — Marijuana use alone shouldn't have disqualified Judge Douglas Ginsburg from consideration as a Supreme Court nominee, says former Arizona Gov. Bruce Babbitt, a Democratic presidential candidate who himself has admitted to experimenting with the drug.

"What I said at the time and would say now is I don't think of itself that should have barred him from consideration, no. What you want to do is see the entire record," Babbitt said Monday.

Ginsburg asked President Reagan over the weekend to withdraw his name from consideration for a seat on the nation's high court, citing the "clamor" over his admission about having used marijuana as recently as 1979.

Babbitt, who said he experimented with the illegal drug "maybe a half dozen times, probably a little less" in the 1960s, told a Capitol news conference he doesn't know whether that will become a campaign issue.

"That's for all of you to decide," he told a news conference. "If you want my personal opinion, I doubt that it would be the deciding factor in how I cast my vote for a candidate."

However, personal character is becoming an increasingly publicized issue in politics, Babbitt noted. "Everything in this new era enters into the calculus," he said.

"If you can't borrow anymore or can't steal any, you've got to sell something," he said by telephone from his Dallas office. "They knew they'd have to sell whole divisions. The effect of that is people lose their jobs. Assets get sold just to pay a debt."

Jim Hutton, spokesman for Safeway's El Paso division, said Monday he did not know of the suit and referred questions to Safeway's legal adviser in Oakland, Calif. The legal adviser did not return a message left by The Associated Press on an answering machine.

Teamsters continued picketing El Paso Safeway stores on Monday, and began handing out leaflets at Furr's stores, urging potential customers to shop elsewhere. Most customers ignored the protesters.

Opponents of the sale to Furr's charge that Furr's will have a near monopoly of the region's supermarkets. Furr's has promised to sell 12 stores to eliminate the FTC's only objection to the acquisition of the El Paso division. Jan Friederich, Furr's chief executive officer, said Sunday the Safeway stores would retain their name and continue to sell Safeway brand products.

The Teamsters believe the FTC will approve the Safeway sale, so the union hopes to buy time to renegotiate a deal with Safeway. Local 745 business representative Jim Barlow said Monday from his El Paso office. He said the union wants Safeway to make Furr's hire the union members as a condition of the sale.

Union workers said Safeway had been negotiating in bad faith for months, and that Furr's and Safeway were determined to bust the union.

"They wanted to break the union and cut the wages," fired warehouseman Gilbert Salas said Monday as he picketed an El Paso Safeway store with two companions. "It was greed, greed and break the union."

Salas, forklift mechanic Herbert Mains and trucker Raymond Higginbotham, all members of Teamsters

Local 745, said Furr's made a pretense of accepting applications and interviewing them for jobs.

"They did all that because they told the press and the public they were giving us a chance to work," Salas said.

Furr's officials did not answer repeated phone calls made Monday to their Lubbock offices.

There are too many obvious discrepancies in the stories, i.e. two of the men involved in the Hereford drug bust were "good husbands and wonderful fathers, who were always there for their children." There is just no way anyone is going to make me believe that a man who will steal and cash his wife's checks, sell the family lawn mower, as well as other possessions, to buy drugs is a "good" father. How about, "he was always there for his children." Was he there for them while on the street selling, (or even buying) and by his own testimony, using heroin? If he was there, then why wasn't he there on the night he was arrested? If he was arrested by a narcotics agent, in the early hours of the morning, he obviously was not at home being "a good husband and father."

Of course, this is all the fault of the drug agent who arrested him. Agent Sanchez was supposed to have looked into the faces of men who were not at home, being there for their families, men, who by their own admission were heroin users, and think, "this is a good husband and father who doesn't have a bowling alley or movie theater to attend and while away the hours, basically a good man, so he should not be arrested?" Ridiculous!

Just one major discrepancy is how can Mrs. Pesina, who is 'broke,' have the $90 to pay for gasoline to visit her husband in prison about once a month? Mrs. Mendoza states that in nineteen years of marriage, she and her husband have never had any problems, is drug addiction no longer a problem? When did drug addiction and its ramifications cease to be a problem and become a fact of life? When are we, (and you, as a newspaper, dedicated to true reporting, I would hope) going to stop using circumlocutory and call things by their true name and meaning? Personally, I am so tired of hearing about alcohol and drug abuse being referred to as a disease. Why not call it what it is, illegal and sinful?

Some of the gentlemen involved (that were arrested) say they never sold drugs to anyone, they "only used them." This is supposed to make it all better? Hogwash! I, too, live in a small, west Texas town, in fact much smaller than Hereford, which has no movie theater, no bowling alley and practically nothing else, does this justify me to go to the streets at 4 a.m. to buy heroin to overcome my boredom? I really don't think so.

Yes, I firmly believe that education is the ultimate answer. It is the answer to most if not all of the world's problems, but in the meantime why not seek gainful employment? Not only to keep busy, so as to not have time to roam the streets selling (or buying) drugs, but in order to support a family? Then and only then will a man be a good husband and father.

Arab summit struggles over strategy to end war

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Arab leaders will negotiate for as long as necessary to forge a common Arab approach toward ending the Iran-Iraq war, Jordan's foreign minister said.

Taher Masri said the leaders discussed the war behind closed doors for nine hours at the Arab summit on Monday. They also discussed moves to end Egypt's diplomatic isolation, calls for an international peace conference on the Arab-Israeli conflict and Lebanon's economic crisis.

Summit delegates have expressed doubt a unified position could be reached on the 7-year-old Iran-Iraq war, but Masri said at a news conference that the leaders would continue talks "until they reach decisions. There's no deadline for the summit."

No schedule was announced for today, but Jordanian Crown Prince Hassan told reporters Monday that "we are still talking about these issues and still threshing them out with a great deal of seriousness."

Leaders of the 21-nation Arab League are attending the summit conference, which opened Sunday.

The emergency gathering was called to rally support for a ceasefire between Iran and Iraq. Both are Moslem nations, but Iran is predominantly Persian and most Arab countries directly or indirectly support Arab Iraq.

In Jerusalem, Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir said Monday the Arab world remained as hostile towards Israel as it was 40 years ago when the Jewish state was established.

Speaking at an international conference of Jewish journalists, Shamir said, "Less than one hour's drive from here, in Amman, Jordan, a large gathering of Arab leaders is now taking place."

"I watched this scene yesterday evening on television and I noticed that much is being said about Arab unity against Israel. It seems that, in rhetoric at least, nothing changed in the past 40 years."

Eight Arab leaders, including feuding presidents Saddam Hussein of Iraq and Hafez Assad of Syria, met for four hours Monday night. Syria supports Iran against Iraq.

That session followed a five-hour meeting of all 21 delegations earlier in the day.

Among others attending the late Monday talks were King Hussein of Jordan, President Ali Abdullah Saleh of North Yemen, Sheik Jaber al-Ahmed al-Sabah of Kuwait and Saudi Crown Prince Abdulla Bin Abdul-Aziz. They have been pressing for possible sanctions against Iran for rejecting United Nations resolutions calling for a cease-fire and negotiations to end the war.

Also present were Syria's Assad, who is Iran's strongest Arab ally; President Chedli Benjedid of Algeria and Sheik Zayed Bin Sultan al-Nahayan of the United Arab Emirates. They opposed punitive actions against Iran.

Hassan said the Arab world must reach a common stand on the Persian Gulf war and other conflicts or risk being carved into spheres of influence.

"I refer specifically to the naval presence in the gulf waters, which of course bears very little relation to the justification for that presence," he said.

The United States and some of its Western allies have warships in the gulf to protect international shipping from war-related attacks.

comment that summed up the presentations.

"We have had a long duration of low income," said Marlin school Superintendent Joe Campbell. "Our area has been depressed since the production of cotton declined and since Swift closed the meat-packing plant five years ago."

Gatesville breezed through the hearing, drawing no opposition.

"We were pro-TDC before it was fashionable," said Gatesville Mayor Pro Tem John Ward, noting there is already a prison in his area.

But Amarillo's proposal drew intense local opposition, mostly from people who live in the Estridge neighborhood, a few miles from the prison site.

"They rented a great, big plane and flew down here," opponent Lucy O'Brien said of the prison backers. "What they don't have is the citizens of Amarillo behind them."

"We highly recommend the city of Childress," said Wiley Chaney, an Amarillo resident who lives a mile from the prison site.

Hughes said the Amarillo site "is ideal for a prison."

"We feel very confident a facility can be constructed there that would give the maximum security for the people in the Amarillo area."

Also Monday, the board postponed action on selecting sites for four, 500-bed prisons that will be built and run by private companies.

"utterly ridiculous."

"The people of this community ought to wonder whether their prosecutor is doing his duty, she said before sentencing the protestors, all first-time offenders, to jail terms ranging from 90 days to 6 months and maximum $200 fines.

About a week later, a different judge sentenced two more protestors, who had fled to avoid trial, to deferred sentences.

Letters to the Editor

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter is reprinted from Monday's edition of The Amarillo Daily News.)

Dear editor:
To say that I am amazed and astonished would be the understatement of the century. Along with a good many others, I have been following "The Hereford Incident" in your newspaper, and if I may, I would like to say I have never seen a more blatant case of bad and biased reporting in my entire life! The absolute worst being by Jane Grandolfo. If I wanted sensationalism, I would have purchased my reading material at the supermarket check-out stand.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please print this letter. I hope it reaches my sister, whom I have not seen since 1979—and perhaps some others as well.

DEAR MISSING PERSON: It has been eight years since we last saw you. We have no idea where you are or why you left home. Will you please call collect and let us know that you are alive?

Every night we pray that we will get some word. Mom and Dad walk around with tears in their eyes. Your pet canary stopped singing when you left and then he died.

We have contacted every agency we can think of in the hope of locating you. We've talked with the police, county judges, state officials and federal authorities. They all tell us that you are an adult and you have a right to privacy so nothing can be done.

We don't want to invade your privacy, we just want you back in our lives. I beg you, please call home now. If there is no answer, try until you reach us. And forgive us if we ask too many questions. We aren't nosy, just anxious. So many unanswered questions have gnawed at us for years.

I reject the heart-wrenching conclusion that you are dead. But if we knew for sure, we could stop hoping and praying that tomorrow will be the day you telephone or walk through the front door.

Please let us hear your voice again.—Heartbroken in Paradise, Texas

DEAR FRIEND: Here's your letter. I hope it moves your sister to make that call. Let me know if something wonderful happens. You have my prayers.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm writing about my stepdaughter, who is 18. "Eve" graduated from high school last spring. She is very bright but completely unmotivated.

Every evening she has the same conversation with her girlfriend.

"Hello, Molly. How ya been?"
 "What dya' know?"
 "Where dja' go?"
 "What dja' wear?"
 "Who dya' see?"
 "What dja' eat?"
 "Who paid?"
 "How dja' get home?"
 "Heard anything from Ed?"
 "Yeah, he's a creep but when you look at what's out there he doesn't look so bad."
 "Think I'll wash my hair and see what's on TV."
 "Call me if anything exciting happens."
 "Bye now."

I married Eve's father two years ago. He had been a widower for seven years and we moved here in January.

My husband is a dear but I'm afraid he spoiled his motherless child, which I suppose was understandable. We all get along fine, but it bothers me to see this bright girl with no goals and no interests. How can I help?—Blue Grass Woe

DEAR WOE: You and your husband should sit down with Eve and discuss alternatives. Either she goes to school or to work. Set limits and bring in a family counselor.

I see you live in Danville, Ky., the home of Centre College. It is one of the finest small colleges in the country. If that campus doesn't turn her on, nothing will.

Are you struggling with decisions about sex and needing more information to help you make them? Ann Landers' newly revised booklet, "Sex and the Teenager," can be like talking to a good friend. To receive a copy, send $2.50 plus a self-addressed, stamped No. 10 envelope (39 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Breast self exam training presented at study club

L'Allegria Study Club met Nov. 5 at the home of Karen Payne with Sylvia Khuri serving as co-hostess.

The business meeting was called to order by President Jody Skiles. Correspondence was read and announcements made. Members heard progress reports from standing committees and other club matters were discussed.

Cathy Guseman, program chairman, introduced Liz Gifford and Barbara Gray, both of the Breast Screening Center of the Amarillo Diagnostic Clinic. They presented the program entitled "Breast Self Exam Training." Discussing the history of the center, Gifford noted that the need for such a facility was apparent in view of the statistics of women who have breast cancer sometime during their lifetime, coupled with the fact that there was no other "low dose" mammography unit in the Panhandle.

Mammography, she explained, is a breast X-ray which is the most effective test for detecting breast disease in its early stages. Gifford also said that in the past, higher dosages of radiation were used for mammography, limiting the diagnostic procedure to high risk patients. At the present time, however, and with the utilization of almost negligible dosages of radiation, the procedure is safe and simple. It is used as an early detection tool with the recommendation of the American College of Radiology and the American Cancer Society.

Gray described actual steps and procedures followed upon a woman's visit to the center. She explained that screening consists of three steps of equal significance as follows: a mammography, visit physician to discuss results of mammography, and a monthly self breast exam, best performed one week after menstrual flow ends.

It was noted that mammography can detect cancers too small to be felt by hand, yet most breast cancers are first discovered by women themselves. She added that other than screening, one of the major purposes of the center is to teach women how to effectively perform the breast self exam. Members viewed a film on the proper technique of performing the exam on themselves.

Gifford and Gray ended the program with the clear message that early detection through breast screening is the key to saving a woman's life from breast cancer. While the majority of breast disease is not malignant, breast cancer does strike one of every 11 women. In those few cases where cancer is present, it is important that it be detected and treated in its earliest stages while potential for cure is best.

Members present were: Margaret Carnahan, Kay Lynn Caviness, Carmen Flood, Guseman, Poppy Head, Glenda Keenan, Barbara Kerr, Khuri, Selsey Metz, Shelly Moss, Karen Payne, Hilda Perales, Brenda Reinauer, Jody Skiles, Ella Marie Viegel, and Judy Wall, and Jan Weishaar.

Quality care depends on patient, doctor

A partnership in which patient and doctor share the responsibility for maintaining or restoring health can contribute to quality health care, according to a health education expert.

"Becoming an active partner in your health care starts by choosing a doctor you can communicate with," says Dr. Mary Ann Heussner. "Select a doctor who will listen, ask questions and thoroughly explain a diagnosis or treatment."

She emphasizes that patients have equal responsibilities to communicate by giving complete and accurate information to their doctors and asking questions when they don't understand.

"Since you're paying for expert medical advice, never hesitate to question your doctor about anything you don't understand," Heussner advises. "Don't be reluctant to ask the doctor to translate medical jargon into plain language or to take notes if you wish."

Heussner, who is a specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economics program, notes that it may be especially important to ask questions about diagnostic tests, medications and the costs, risks and benefits of treatment alternatives.

To take a more active role in your health care, the specialist advises the following steps:

-Keep a record of your personal health history. It will be helpful in providing information the doctor may need for a diagnosis. A Family Health and Medical Record is available through county Extension Offices.

-Prepare in advance for a doctor's visit. Be prepared to provide the doctor with specific information on your current problem, symptoms, family medical history, current medications and personal habits.

-Read labels on over-the-counter medicines and take prescribed medicine according to directions. Make sure you know how and when you should take the medicine and for how long. Ask about side effects, and if there are any foods, beverages, medicines or activities that should be avoided while taking the medication.

Ask Dr. Lamb

Hearing Loss BY LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB: Three years ago I started having trouble hearing. The diagnosis was otosclerosis, and a behind-the-ear hearing aid was prescribed. I was told there was a loss of hearing in both ears, but that the left ear was worse than the right, so the hearing aid was prescribed for the left ear. It seemed to work very well.

Earlier this year, I noticed that I again couldn't hear all that well, even with the aid. I was tested by an audiologist who told me that I have nerve deafness and should purchase another hearing aid. I got an in-the-ear model for my right ear. I have been wearing two aids now for about three months. Is there a difference between otosclerosis and nerve deafness?

DEAR READER: Otosclerosis and nerve deafness are not at all the same thing. Otosclerosis involves the tiny ear bones in the middle ear chamber that resonate to transmit sound waves in the air. If they are fused by new bone formation and can't oscillate, you will lose your ability to hear sound transmitted through the air, although you can still hear sound by bone conduction, through the skull bones.

Nerve deafness means that the inner ear, the cochlea and its nerve endings, or the acoustic nerve to the brain, or the brain itself, fails to transmit nerve impulses caused by sound waves. That is the common type of hearing loss that occurs as people get older.

Now you can have both, or a mixed form of hearing loss. You may have had otosclerosis originally and now also have nerve deafness.

Some forms of otosclerosis can be corrected by surgery that frees the small ear bones, or provides other means for the transmission of sound waves through the air.

You will appreciate the different hearing problems better when you read my new Special Report 87, About Your Hearing that I'm sending you. Others who want this report can send $1.00 and a long, self-addressed envelope with 39 cents postage to THE HEALTH LETTER/87, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

Incidentally, the current thinking of most audiologists is to fit the ear that hears speech best with the hearing aid when both ears have significant impairment. You may even pick up the sound with a microphone on the worst side of the head and route the signal to the ear that hears best.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am a 22-year-old female and recently broke out with chickenpox. Before I broke out with it I had been trying to get pregnant. I am concerned about the effects of chickenpox on an unborn child. I am not currently pregnant, but I would like to try again as soon as my chickenpox clears up. Should there be a lengthy waiting period before I try to get pregnant?

DEAR READER: If you have already had the chickenpox and are not yet pregnant, it can have no effect at all on any future pregnancy. You don't need to delay getting pregnant.

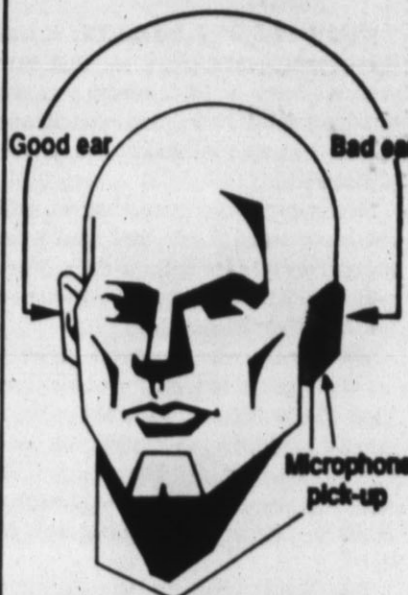

Rarely, a woman who has had chickenpox in the first four months of pregnancy will give birth to a baby that is low in weight. It may have some brain abnormalities, eye abnormalities and limb atrophy, and some scars on its skin suggesting it has had chickenpox itself. These findings are similar to defects that are known to occur with other viral infections.

If a woman has chickenpox within two weeks of delivery, there is a danger that the baby will contract a severe form because the baby will not have obtained any antibodies from the mother for protection.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

One boys' runner also qualifies for state meet

HHS girls win regional championship

Hereford High School's girls' cross country team won the regional meet at Mae Simmons Park in Lubbock last Saturday, and will advance to the state meet along with one individual from the HHS boys' team.

This is the first time in school history that a cross country team is going to the state meet.

The HHS girls, led by Nancy Garza's first place effort and Alina Benitez's third place finish, won the meet with a team total of 50 points.

Garza, who placed 20th in the state meet last year, had a winning time of 12:17. Benitez had a time of 12:41.

Other members of the team, and their placings and times, were: Sally Garza, 11th, 13:30; Carolyn Rieves, 19th, 13:45; Elia Hernandez, 22nd, 13:48; Yvonne Padilla, 24th, 13:50; and JoAnn Tohm, 35th, 14:27.

Benny Carrasco placed fifth in the regional boys' race to earn a trip to the state meet, which is scheduled this Saturday in Georgetown.

Hereford's varsity girls finished 31 points ahead of both Granbury and Canyon. The top three teams qualified for the state meet.

Hereford Coach Martha said, "Nancy has done a tremendous job all year long. Alina has also been a top competitor all year and this was her best race of the year."

"Sally has had an injury and in spite of it, ran her best race of the year. Carolyn has sat out four meets this year because of an injury, and has not gotten to train as much as she needed to but ran her two best races of the year at district and regional," Coach Emerson continues.

"Elia ran her best race of the year Saturday also. Yvonne was sick three days early last week, and was not at her best but gave all she could. JoAnn also had her two best races of this year the past two Saturdays.

"These seven girls are a team. When one or two have an off race, the others seem to rise to the occasion and give a little more. I am extremely proud of each one of them.

"We're not sure what our competition will be at the state meet, but we think we have a chance to do well — we do intend to give everything we have. Powderly North Lamar is the defending class 4A champion. They have five returning from that team and are ranked No. 1 in class 4A," Emerson adds.

Carrasco, a junior, is going to the state meet for the second year in a row. His fifth place time at the regional meet was 16:11.

"This was Benny's best time of the season and the highest placing any young man from Hereford has finished at a regional meet," Coach Emerson said.

Carrasco placed seventh in the regional meet last year with a time of 16:51, and then placed 14th in the state meet.

The state meet is scheduled at Southwestern University in Georgetown. Saturday's schedule includes the class 4A girls' race at 10:40 a.m. and the class 4A boys' race at 12:20 p.m.

All team scores for last Saturday's regional girls' race were: 1. Hereford, 50; 2. Granbury, 81; 3. Canyon, 81; 4. Big Spring, 99; 5. Azle, 103; 6. Burkburnett, 129; 7. Joshua, 139; 8. Carter-Riverside, 225; 9. Castleberry, 238. Granbury claimed the second place trophy on the tiebreaker — a higher finish by the sixth runner of the team.

Convenience Vs. Quality

Time has become more and more important to today's consumer. With many women now embarking on dual careers, quality of family and personal time is increasingly difficult to manage.

Just because you're busy doesn't mean you can't serve the best. Convenience doesn't have to mean compromise. Arrowhead Mills offers you a wide variety of quick fixing quality mixes, so you can spend your time where it matters most.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

Recently, while I was drinking my morning coffee, the handle came right off my coffee cup, spilling the hot contents on me as well as the floor.

I used some glue and fixed it. Well, about a month later my daughter was drinking some lemonade and the handle came off again!

I hate to think what could have happened if she had been drinking hot chocolate. She would have gotten burned. Or what if I would have had company?

From now on I won't glue handles back on. I will use the broken cups for soup bowls, cereal bowls or planters.

An ounce of prevention is better than the pain this accident could have caused. — Molly, Leadville, Colo.

I couldn't agree more. It's just not worth taking a chance. — Heloise

CARPET SQUARES

Dear Heloise: I placed a piece of leftover scrap carpet in front of the cat's litter pan and it works well to catch the excess litter he scratches out of the box.

I can just vacuum the carpet. — Patty Gregory, Dublin, Va.

OVEN TEMPERATURES

Dear Heloise: What does it mean when a recipe says to cook in a slow oven? What temperature is that? Please give us a list of temperatures from a slow oven to a hot one.

Thanks so much. — Linda, Slaida, Colo.

I would be delighted to pass on a chart for oven temperatures in degrees, Fahrenheit.

Very slow oven: 250-275

Slow: 300-325

Moderate: 350-375

Hot: 400-425

Very hot: 450-475

Good luck with your baking! — Heloise

ADDRESS LABELS

Dear Heloise: Those little address labels have so many uses.

One of my favorites is to place them on a roll of film when it's being taken for developing.

It is much easier than trying to print around the roll of film, and it also makes it easier for the cashier to record your name and address.

They are the greatest. — A Reader, Salina, Kan.

EXTRA UMBRELLA

Dear Heloise: Keep an extra umbrella in your car, under the seat, just in case it begins to rain while shopping.

It sure has proved to be handy for me, especially when I am on my lunch break. I can get back to work — dry! — Josephine Frederick, Los Angeles, Calif.

I just bought two umbrellas on sale for only $2.99 each and you can bet I am going to put one in the car and keep the other for guests. — Heloise

SOAP PADS

Dear Heloise: I cut my steel wool soap pads into four mini-pads and place them all back into the box. Now I don't feel bad when I dispose of one after a couple of uses. — Marge Scoles, Colorado Springs, Colo.

DEAR HELOISE:
I buy large (30-gallon) garbage cans on sale and use them to store out-of-season clothing, blankets and just about anything I want to keep safe from our damp basement.

Storage in the basement is much more organized too. — Sheree Burlington, W. Medford, Mass.

And for those who don't have basement storage, putting a sturdy piece of wood over the can, then a pretty tablecloth or sheet on top can create an extra end or bedside table. — Heloise

Send a great hint to:
Heloise
P.O. Box 795000
San Antonio, Texas 78279

GROCERY SHOPPING

Dear Heloise: I keep a legal-size envelope attached to my refrigerator with a magnet. On the envelope I write grocery items and inside the envelope I put all the coupons I may need.

I also keep a file of local newspaper ads with specials from the grocery stores. I keep these ads in the file until the next week's features are posted. — Cha Grenn, Las Vegas, Nev.

HIGHCHAIR HELP

Dear Heloise: If your baby's high-chair has a dirty, stained metal tray, try running it through the dishwasher. Mine came out sparkling clean and looked like new. — Mrs. Kristine Conway, Merrimack, N.H.

GARDEN TOOLS

Dear Heloise: After purchasing new tools, I rough up the handles with sandpaper, paint them with polyurethane and put a band of colored fluorescent tape around each handle.

This protects the handles, makes them easier to wipe clean and if accidentally left outdoors or lying on the ground, they are easy to find. — D. Whitcomb, West Lebanon, N.H.

POTTING LARGE PLANTS

Dear Heloise: When I have a large houseplant that needs to be repotted, I have my husband or strong son carry it outside for me. Then I get the garden hose and turn the plant on its side and let the water from the hose loosen the soil. The plant can then be easily removed from the pot without a lot of struggling. — Jenny Kilgo, Oklahoma City, Okla.

GIFT WRAPPING

Dear Heloise: I just love Christmas and all the wrapping and decorating. The only thing that I hate is that my back bothers me from the constant stooping and bending when wrapping presents.

I've discovered I can avoid a backache by wrapping them on my adjustable ironing board.

Know how to use guides on product packages

Most products in food stores have dates and handling directions on them, even though manufacturers are not required to put this information on packaging.

"The date stamped on product packages can indicate product freshness and serve as a guide to safe storage time, if you know how to use it," says Marilyn Haggard, a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutrition specialist.

She explains that the "sell-by" date is the last day the product should be sold, the "use-by" date indicates how long the product will retain top eating quality after purchase, and the "expiration date" tells the last day the food should be eaten or used.

"Reading handling directions can also help you make sure food remains safe to eat," says the specialist. All perishable products must give handling instructions, such as "keep frozen" or "Keep refrigerated," notes Haggard. Some meat and poultry products may be labeled "ready-to-eat" or "fully cooked", which means no further cooking is necessary.

The specialist advises checking the labels of aseptically packaged products, since many will require refrigeration after opening.

"Although some product labels carry directions on how long and at what temperature to cook a product, the directions are not required or verified by the U.S. Department of Agriculture," she remarks.

"When cooking instructions are not included on the label or you have some doubts about them, the safest course is to cook the product thoroughly," Haggard adds.

Women at Work

Source: Statistical Abstract of The United States

In Sweden, 47.1 percent of the labor force is female, and almost 80 percent of all adult women work. In West Germany, just 38.8 percent of the labor force is female, and only 50 percent of women have jobs.

COMPETITION

NEW YORK (AP) — The Juilliard School recently presented $32,000 in special prizes to five pianists in the ninth annual Gina Bachauer International Piano Scholarship Competition. Twelve pianists from the United States and abroad took part in the final rounds.

The recipients were Gustavo Romero, 22, of Chula Vista, Calif.; Dan-Wen Wei, 22, of the People's Republic of China; Jeannie Yu, 20, of Korea; Alvina Chiu, 23, of Taiwan; and Christina Kiss, 29, of Franklin Lakes, N.J.

Sound financial plan can benefit remarried couples

A budget and spending plan can benefit any family, but for remarried it may be critical, says a consumer economist specialist.

"Finances, children and child-rearing have been identified by researchers as the major problems in many marriages," says Bonnie Piernot, "with finances often ranking the highest."

People entering a remarriage often have assets—and debts—to bring to the new marriage. When couples share this information prior to the wedding, it will make it easier to develop a financial plan, says the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist.

"Fluctuating income from child support can be a major strain on the new family's budget," Piernot says.

One recent study of remarried couples in Kentucky found that when child support was awarded, 36 percent either never received it, received it irregularly or regularly received it but not in the full amount, she reports.

According to the specialist, a financial plan for remarrieds can involve saving ahead for large annual or semi-annual bills and unexpected expenses, so they won't be caught short by fluctuating income.

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The Archbishop of Canterbury, the most Rev. Robert Runcie, will meet with representatives of the Greek Orthodox and Coptic churches during a week-long visit to Egypt.
Runcie, the spiritual leader of the Church of England and the world's 70 million Anglicans, arrived here Monday.

In Cairo, he will take part in a prayer service officiated by Pope Shenouda at the Coptic St. Mark's Cathedral.
Later, Runcie will meet in Alexandria with Greek Orthodox Patriarch Parthenios.
He will return home Oct. 5.

NEW YORK (AP) — Comic Kevin Nealon joins the rest of the regulars as a full-fledged cast member on "Saturday Night Live" when it begins its 13th season Oct. 17.
The show, thrashed by critics for several seasons, made a comeback last season with the return of original producer Lorne Michaels and a mostly rookie cast. The same cast is returning for the first time in almost a decade.

The rest of the cast includes Dana Carvey, Nora Dunn, Phil Hartman, Jan Hooks, Victoria Jackson, Jon Lovitz, Dennis Miller and featured player A. Whitney Brown.
Nealon was a "featured player" last season.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Baseball great Hank Aaron will attend a fund-raiser to benefit an art gallery at Fisk University, his wife says.

Singer Della Reese will perform at the Fisk Jubilee Gala on Oct. 7 aboard Opryland's General Jackson showboat.
The Van Vechten Gallery houses the Alfred Steiglitz Collection, donated to the university by artist Georgia O'Keeffe, Steiglitz's wife.

HOUSTON (AP) — King Juan Carlos I and Queen Sophia of Spain got a close look at medical achievements during a stop here on their tour of the United States.

At the Texas Institute for Rehabilitation and Research, they were greeted Monday by Amy Thompson of Kansas City, Mo., who suffered a gunshot wound to the head on Halloween and uses a wheelchair and speaks through a computer. She welcomed the royal couple by printing out a message for them.
April Begnaud of Port Neches took off her artificial arm and demonstrated how it works. She gave the queen a wooden bead necklace she had made.

The royal couple also met noted heart surgeon Dr. Michael DeBakey on Monday as they toured the Texas Medical Center.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Pop singer El DeBarge got out of jail on $1,000 bail two days after being locked up for not fulfilling a community-service sentence he received on his plea of no-contest to creating a disturbance.

The 25-year-old singer had entered the plea last year after a college student accused him of assaulting her when she refused his advances.

He had been ordered to perform 80 hours of community service, which included the option of giving a benefit concert, and was fined $100.

ROME (AP) — Marcello Mastroianni, who recently won critical acclaim for his role in the film "Dark Eyes," is returning to the stage after a decade away.
The 64-year-old Italian star this week began rehearsing "Unfinished Score for a Mechanical Piano," which opens Nov. 15 and is directed by Nikita Mikhalikov, who also directed "Dark Eyes."

Mastroianni portrays Mikhail Platonov, a wealthy, aging man obsessed by memories of his youthful love for a woman, whom he meets again in a chance encounter.
Mastroianni won the best actor award at this year's Cannes Film Festival.

Newspaper Bible

That evening as usual they left the city.
Next morning, as the disciples passed the fig tree He had cursed, they saw that it was withered from the roots!

Then Peter remembered what Jesus had said to the tree on the previous day, and exclaimed, "Look, Teacher! The fig tree You cursed has withered!"

In reply Jesus said to the disciples, "If you only have faith in God—this is the absolute truth—you can say to this Mount of Olives, 'Rise up and fall into the Mediterranean,' and your command will be obeyed. All that's required is that you really believe and have no doubt!

Listen to Me! You can pray for anything, and if you believe, you have it; it's yours!

But when you are praying, first forgive anyone you are holding a grudge against, so that your Father in heaven will forgive you your sins too."

By this time they had arrived in Jerusalem again, and as He was walking through the Temple area, the chief priests and other Jewish leaders came up to Him demanding, "What's going on here? Who gave you the authority to drive out the merchants?"

Jesus replied, "I'll tell you if you answer one question! What about John the Baptist? Was he sent by God, or not? Answer Me!"

They talked it over among themselves. "If we reply that God sent him, then he will say, 'All right, why didn't you accept him?'"

But if we say God didn't send him, then the people will start a riot." (For the people all believed strongly that John was a prophet.)

So they said, "We can't answer. We don't know." To which Jesus replied, "Then I won't answer your question either!"
