

Around Town

A lot of folks were fairly comfortable Saturday morning—until they found out that the temperature here Friday night dropped to nine above. Fact is, it never did get above freezing all day Friday, when the high was recorded at 32 degrees.

A castor bean meeting has been scheduled for 8 o'clock Wednesday, Feb. 25, at Hotel Jim Hill. Contracts, seed varieties and other phases will be discussed. The 1953 support price this year will be nine cents, according to PMA office.

John Estes is back with his "Grass Roots" column this week. We had two telephone calls about the odors resulting from manure which Francis Hardwick spread on his lawn this week. This is something for John to work on as we understand the commercial fertilizers do not have such bad odors. It might prove embarrassing to John, however, as we understand that his boss, Howard Gault, did the same thing.

Tuesday night is "Brother's Night" at the Rebekah Lodge. Sponsors said all brother members are urged to be present.

District Judge Howard H. Schultz and District Attorney Floyd Richards, both of Dalhart, will be here next Wednesday to take care of non-contested cases now pending in District Court.

Frank A. Gyles announces a District 13 encampment of VFW at Tulia Feb. 28 to March 1.

To aid rural workers, the Red Cross office will remain open all day Saturdays until the close of the roll call drive, Corinne Jennings, executive secretary said.

Mrs. Ansel McDowell, 511 East Fifth, won the Piggly Wiggly coffee maker Saturday, when she estimated weight of the giant birthday cake exactly on the nose at 618 pounds.

Neil Witherspoon Undergoes Surgery

Neil Witherspoon of Hereford underwent surgery early Wednesday morning for tumor of the brain.

Reports Friday afternoon from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Witherspoon, said that he was doing as well as could be expected.

Two aunts, Mrs. Jiggs Hartman and Mrs. Oleta Houser left Friday to go to Dallas.

Hedrick Attends Sister's Funeral

Mrs. Dorsey died at the home of a sister, Mrs. C. M. McCullough in Borine early Thursday morning.

JUNE NEEL is shown operating The Brand's new, modern teletypesetter machine, which operates very much like an electric typewriter. The machine perforates holes in a one-inch tape, which is then placed in the Linotype machine (photo lower right) for transmission into type from which your paper is printed.

JUDGE LEONARD FOSTER demonstrates how he set type when he came to Hereford as a printer on The Brand in 1915. Each letter was tediously picked out and placed in the line by hand. Foster says four columns in one day was exceptionally good in those days, whereas the average operator on a teletypesetter can average four columns in one hour.

TAPE RUNS through the Linotype machine causing the letters to operate as if they were punched manually. Actual operation is highly similar to an old-fashioned player piano.

THIS IS HOW YOUR newspaper type looks on tape before going into the Linotype machine to be moulded into actual letters and words. The line above was picked at random and reads: "tissue paper, the paraffin prevents moisture from penetrating to the..."

New Teletypesetter Goes Into Brand Office This Week

A far cry from the days when each single letter of your Hereford Brand was tediously set by hand, installation of a modern teletypesetter machine this week placed The Brand in the category of very few small town newspapers to put the equipment into operation in Texas.

The teletypesetter machine, highly similar in appearance to an electric typewriter, cuts characters in a one-inch tape when the individual letters are struck. The method, in addition to being fast, is also considered more accurate.

The tape, when perforated, is then placed on an ordinary Linotype machine. It runs through the teletypesetter apparatus on the machine, causing it to work the keys just as though an operator were sitting at the keyboard. Actual operation, once the tape is cut, can well be likened to operation of the once popular player piano.

Approximately 50 percent of the reading matter in this issue of The Brand was set on the new machine.

An average operator can punch tape equivalent to four columns of type an hour on the new equip-

Slight Decrease In School Membership Noted As Second Semester Starts Here

Total membership in Hereford Schools at the opening of the second semester was 1957, Geo. Graham, Superintendent, reported this week. This is 18 fewer students than began the September term in 1952, he said, when the enrollment was 1975.

High School showed a mid-term drop from 456 in January; Junior high dropped from 313 to 295. Central school gained 16, jumping from 532 to 548 and Shirley gained from 549 to 558. Dawn kept exactly the same figure of 66.

Schools closed last May with 283 in high school, 272 in Junior high, 510 in Central, 514 in Shirley and 55 in Dawn. The total was 1,736, a figure 210 under the beginning membership in September, 1952.

Gasoline Fire Puts Mother, Four Children In Hospital

dren, Gene age 10, and Don age 4, still remained in the hospital here Saturday as the result of first degree burns suffered when fire broke out in their home West of Hereford Friday afternoon. Two other children, Jimmie Charles age 3, and Sharon Kay age one, were treated for burns and released Friday afternoon.

Fire broke out in the two-room house, just north of the Bumper station about one-half mile west of here around 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. The blaze resulted when another son, Bubba, age 5, overturned a gallon jar of gasoline which Mrs. Leinen set on the table before putting it into a gasoline washing machine which stood in the kitchen. Mrs. Leinen went into the bedroom to see about the baby and the boy overturned the jug. Gasoline poured out over the kitchen and was ignited by a butane stove.

Bubba, the 5-year-old who started the blaze, ran out the front door screaming. The mother and other four children were trapped inside the house, which had no door in the bedroom. Mrs. V. L. McCool, a neighbor just west, rushed to the scene and Mrs. Leinen handed her the baby through the window, which she smashed out as a means of escape. Other spectators began to arrive and helped remove the children, along with Mrs. Leinen, from through the window. Morris Easley and Archie Scott also arrived on the scene and had the blaze well under control when the fire department arrived.

Bubba, the boy who started the fire, was the only one to escape without injury. Mrs. Leinen and the four children were rushed to the hospital for treatment. The baby, Sharon Kay, was not burned but suffered minor cuts when being handed out through the window. First degree burns were reported for Gene and Don. Mrs. Leinen, burned worse than the children, was able to sit up in bed Saturday morning. Most of the burns were reported to be on her arms and back.

Actual damage from the fire, other than injuries, was not too heavy as spectators and firemen moved most of the household furnishings into the yard. Estimates set the loss at around $250.

Mr. Leinen, an employee of Wallace Construction Company, was working out in the country when the accident occurred and did not learn of the fire until Friday night.

Wheat Damaged By Dust, High Winds This Week

The dust storm and high wind Sunday, followed by more of the same Thursday, accounted some wheat loss in this area. The exact amount was not estimated, however, Soil movement, considered by old timers as the worst seen here in 20 years, left zero visibility on highways.

Scattered losses have trickled in from all parts of the territory, but damage was nothing to compare with the "dust bowl" days, due to the comparatively small acreage in wheat this year, and to improved farming methods.

Six Seek Insurance

Only six out of 211 persons carrying government crop insurance had Friday reported losses to the PMA office in Hereford. Producers have 15 days in which to report, however, and other claims may be filed. Warning was issued to producers to be sure to have inspections made before plowing up their fields.

Many farmers were at work Saturday and Sunday, also Wednesday and Thursday with rotary hoes and chisels in an effort to check blowing on their fields.

Most of the losses in this area were on dry land farms. A few irrigation farmers also reported damage, however. Some early wheat was completely covered by dust, and dirt, while late stands were snapped off or blown out in a few instances.

Much heavier losses were estimated in the North Plains area. Perryton indicated considerable loss from 50-mile-an-hour winds. Damage to each car was estimated at about $500 by D. R. Dowdy, highway patrolman from Canyon, who investigated the accident.

Collision Caused By Blowing Dust; One Hospitalized

T. C. Calley of Taos, N. M. is in the Deaf Smith County hospital as a result of injuries received in an accident near Dawn Thursday afternoon.

The 1952 Chevrolet driven by Calley collided head-on with a 1953 DeSota driven by Carl Martin Holter of San Diego, Calif, about three miles east of Dawn Thursday afternoon. Visibility of the drivers was impaired because of the blowing dust.

Holter was traveling west on Highway 60 and was attempting to pull off the pavement until the dust in the air cleared. Calley, traveling east, was also attempting to pull off the highway but got over into the wrong lane and the two cars collided head-on.

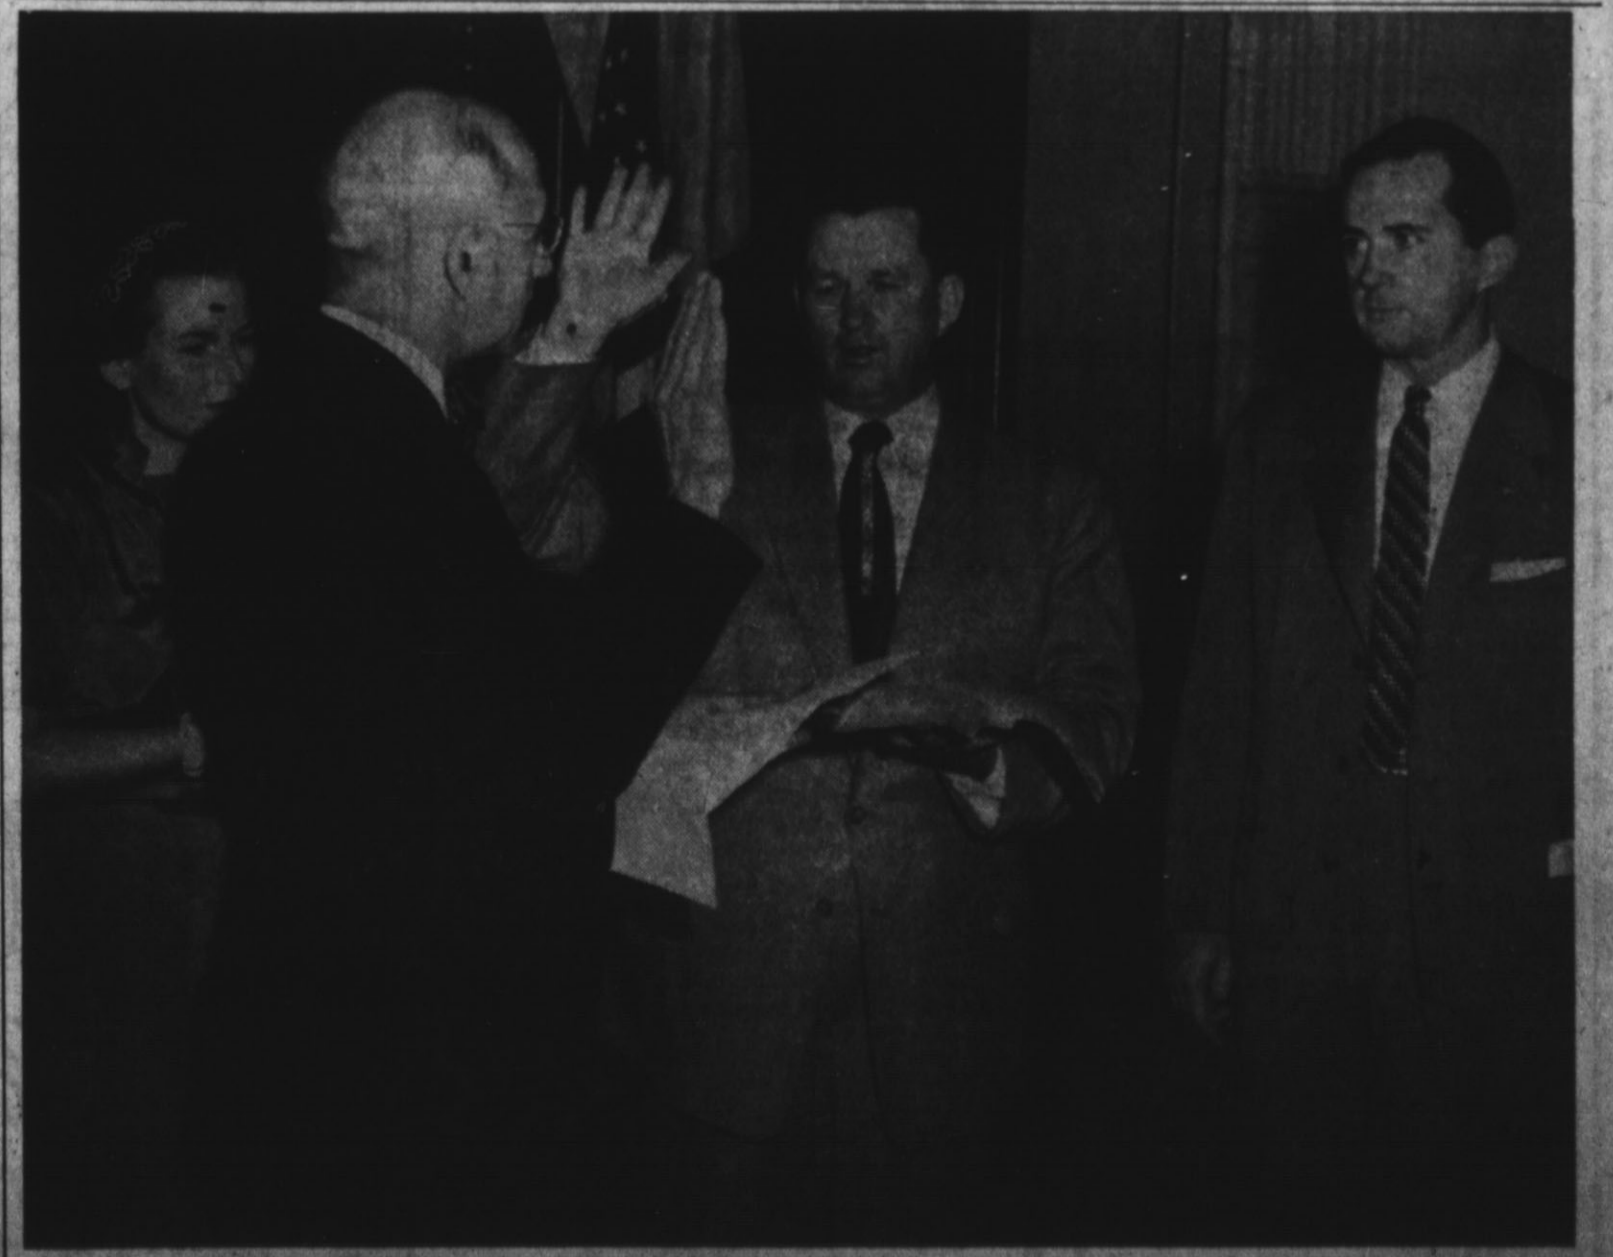

Both of the men were accompanied by their wives. No one else was injured in the accident. Damage to each car was estimated at about $500 by D. R. Dowdy, highway patrolman from Canyon, who investigated the accident.

GRASS ROOTS

This column has had a long vacation and though I feel that dead dogs are better off left where they are I don't believe that I can hurt anything by taking up space in the paper with Grass Roots. I'm not sure just when this epistle was discontinued but I do know that quite a lot has taken place in agriculture since that time. I can't begin to tell it all in one sitting but Jimmy Gillentine says I can write just as many of these as I want. TERMS: Net Cash—30 Days.

Two items of agriculture seem to dominate the coffee conversations this time of year: Application of inorganic fertilizer and chiseling to stop blowing. The majority of our irrigation farmers are applying or will apply fertilizer this year and all of the dryland tillers of the soil are running chisel type plows to hold the land down. Heard a fellow who lives in the Northwest part of the county comment the other day that running your tractor was a waste of money. All one has to do is suspend your plow from the REA line and plow it as it sails by.

On the fertilizer subject for a few lines or so. I have any number of technical books that cover the subject of soils and fertilization. These works are highly technical and would make the lingo used by a bunch of doctors pouring over an X-Ray sound like simple language. The one, real thing we know about soil from all this high brow reading is that First, soil is dynamic and secondly, soil is highly complex. It is this second jewel of information which we are chiefly concerned with. To aid us in our

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I take proper care of meat?
A. When the meat comes from the store, unwrap it and place on clean platters in the refrigerator. When meat is wrapped, a certain amount of warm air from the butcher shop is enclosed, and if the paper is not removed, the cold air of the refrigerator has no chance of reaching the meat to protect it from spoiling. Paper also drains out the juices of a freshly-cut piece of meat.

Q. How can I remedy flattened places that appear on the map of a rug after changing furniture around?
A. Dampen a chamois, fold it several times and place it over the mark. After several hours, remove the chamois and the mark will have disappeared.

Q. How can I make a good and cheap sachet powder for dresser drawers?
A. By mixing one-half ounce of lavender flowers with one-half teaspoonful of powder cloves.

Q. How can I break in a new pen point?
A. A new pen point can be broken in by first dipping it into ink, holding in the flame of a lighted candle for a second, and then wiping dry with a cloth. It will hold ink as well as a point which has been in use for some time.

Q. How can I make the flower pots look attractive?
A. Cover the pots with two or three thicknesses of paraffin paper, then with crepe tissue paper. The paraffin prevents moisture from penetrating to the tissue paper.

If the window sash is hard to raise, pour a small amount of hot lard between the window frame and the casing, and also smear it along the sash rope and on the roller.

The hair will keep in curl for a longer time if a teaspoonful of ordinary tea is steeped, a little sugar added, and this applied to the hair.

Wall Paper Cleaning
If one's wall paper is of the washable variety, go over it gently with a mild soap and water; never scrub. Otherwise, dry clean with a soft brush or a porous rubber sponge, using some cleaning paste. Be sure not to apply pressure, but remove the dirt with light strokes.

"House Baby" Is Six Feet Tall

AUSTIN (AP)—The baby of the House takes a lot of kidding. "What does the baby think?" a bunch of representatives will throw at him.

And the baby will straighten up his lanky six feet and three inches out of his big leather chair and declare: "The baby thinks things are going all right."

He's Rep. Jamie H. Clements of Crockett, 22 years old last Dec. 9, the youngest member of the legislature.

"We think we'll call him Li'l Abner—clean-cut American youth," jibed Rep. Maury Maverick Jr., San Antonio, who was sitting in the House with Clements and a bunch of representatives one lazy afternoon.

"Uh-uh, and have you ever met Saint Maverick?" Clements tossed right back. Maverick got kidded because he introduced the lobbyist control bill.

Clements won out over four opponents in the race last year in Houston and Walker counties of East Texas.

He's in his second year in law school at the University of Texas, but dropped out at the end of the semester this January to spend his full time as a representative. He isn't married; he and another law student have an apartment together near the University.

So far, Clements hasn't introduced a bill, but he's supporting the natural gas compressor tax, elimination of cross-filing and teacher's pay raises.

His territory includes Huntsville, and he wants to help the Texas Prison System get a new building at the Eastham prison farm just outside Huntsville.

He is co-author of a bill to up the penalty on sale of narcotics to minors and he thinks the lobbyist control bill by Maverick is a good one.

"No, the lobbyists haven't been bothering me," he said. "They've been around, though, to get acquainted."

Clements calls himself a Stevenson Democrat. "And I have very little sympathy with the Democrats for Eisenhower, if there can be such a thing as a man supporting a Republican and remaining a Democrat."

Doctor Says He Was Not Run Out Of Guam At All

SNYDER, Tex (AP)—Dr. John J. Battenfield of Snyder, former medical director of the only civilian hospital on Guam, told The Snyder Daily News he and other American doctors were not run out of Guam by European refugees, as reported by a Washington newspaper.

The Daily News quoted Battenfield as saying the Washington newspaper painted the wrong kind of picture about conditions of the hospital and the group of physicians who had been selected from a large number of displaced persons from Europe.

The Washington story said the refugee physicians seized control of Guam's civilian hospital, chased out most Americans, and imposed their rule of private medical practice.

No Hands Since He Was 13, But Happy Gets Along Swell

FORT WORTH (AP)—"Oh, I'm sorry," said Frank (Happy) McKeown. "I didn't know there were ladies on the elevator."

He removed his hat—with his elbows.

Happy McKeown has no hands. He stepped off the elevator into the hotel lobby, and a pretty girl walked by. She smiled.

"Hiya, honey," he said. "Let's you and me go out tonight. I'll take another guy along to hold hands with you."

So it went during McKeown's combination business and pleasure visit to Fort Worth. He lives in Stephenville and makes his living as a traveling salesman of subscriptions to the National Bottlers Gazette.

Happy likes just about everybody except sympathetic people. "I hate the guts of sympathy," he said.

He was 13 when he lost both arms to the elbow in a machine in a Passaic, N. J., rubber factory. That was about 50 years ago. He knows what it's like not to care about going on living. But shortly after World War I, he found a road out of his mental depression, and he's been following it ever since.

A friend brought a small boy to see him, a lad born with stumps instead of arms. Happy taught him how to do some of the little everyday things that people with two arms and hands take for granted.

Since then he has taught thousands of children and grownups without hands how to get by as he does—without hooks or other devices. He also has learned to teach legless people how to get around.

He has spent much of his time since World War II working with servicemen in hospitals all over the South.

Happy strides into a ward to face a cold, suspicious audience of ex-GI's and goes into his wordless routine. He shoots pool, bowls, eats with a knife and fork, throws, catches, bats a baseball, plays the piano, shaves himself with a straight razor.

When he undresses himself down to a pair of tights and then dresses himself the man without hands has the audience in his palm.

McKeown then writes a letter with a pen, folds the paper, puts it in an envelope and seals it.

By the time he takes out a comb and pretends to comb his gleaming bald head, the GIs are with him to a man.

"They look at me," said Happy. "and I can hear them saying, 'Look at that poor so-and-so, no arms, no teeth, and no hair.' And they are no longer feeling sorry for themselves. Now they're ready to start helping themselves."

Albany Fandangle parade and won fancy bridles.

They reached the age of 90 last June. Robert vowed then he would live to be 100. He also said he wanted to make $50,000—a feat he's already accomplished several times.

Robert and John live about 200 yards apart in this little West Texas town. Together they run 17,000 acres of ranch holdings. John has an additional 4,000 acres.

Robert delights in telling of the old days and of the time he rode a cattle train to St. Louis and returned by way of Louisiana with lumber in 1907 to build the house he still lives in.

Horses have fallen on Robert and cattle have chased him up trees, but he never has been seriously ill. He has survived two automobile wrecks with only minor injuries.

Although Robert declares he's still as good on horseback as ever he admits that he's quit taking chances. He is determined to reach his century goal.

Houston University Plans Course In TV

HOUSTON (AP)—The University of Houston, which opens a television station of its own in April, is studying the possibility of offering college credit for courses televised for study in the home.

A survey conducted by the University's psychology department indicates 46.7 per cent of Houston television owners are interested in taking courses, via television, for college credit. University officials would have been pleased with a response of from 15 to 20 per cent.

"Personally, I think such a play has tremendous possibilities," said Dr. W. W. Kemmerer, University president. "There is no reason why housewives and the sick—those who can't leave home—should not continue their education."

He thinks television might prove to be at least a temporary answer to classroom shortages which the University and many other institutions now face.

Not all courses can be offered on television, for credit, but Kemmerer says there are many possibilities.

He explained that lectures comprise about 50 per cent of all classroom instruction and that courses predominately of a lecture nature should make ideal television subjects. He cited American history, a required course for freshman students, as an example.

"Courses which require much laboratory work would not make good television courses, but laboratory demonstrations could be televised," he said.

John C. Schwarzwalder, chairman of the University's radio and television division, said results of the survey were surprising.

"We figured not more than 15 or 20 per cent would be interested in TV courses," he said. "The outcome means we will have to reorganize a lot of our television plans."

The University now is preparing plans for another survey to determine the types of courses television owners would like to receive.

"So far, we believe the most popular courses will be in psychology, crafts, building, elementary business practices, and, possibly, the cultural area," Schwarzwalder said.

He explained that the University is considering using a system now in use at Western Reserve University, whereby TV viewers will be supplied course outlines and other material for a small fee. Should the viewer desire to receive credit for the course, he would pay the University's regular tuition fee for the course.

Quizzes would be mailed to the University and returned after grading.

"At Western Reserve they have found that grades of television students are slightly better than those in the classrooms and the percentage of television students finishing a course is slightly greater than among students on the campus," Schwarzwalder said.

"However, that is easily explained in that anyone who is interested enough to study by television is usually interested enough to make good grades."

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hanna

Golden Wedding Anniversary Is Observed By Mark Hannas Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hanna of Lubbock, West Texas Pioneers, marked their golden wedding anniversary at an open house held in their honor at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Roger Corbett, Sunday. The couple's three daughters, Mrs. Corbett, Mrs. F. H. Jeanes of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Edward Allen of Lubbock, were hostesses for the anniversary fete.

On February 16, 1903, the young couple eloped and were married by a Church of Christ minister in Lockney. He was an assistant there in a photographers' studio and she was one of the young ladies who visited the shop. It was love at first sight and the old story ending "they lived happily ever after" came true, climaxing with the open house affair with old friends and relatives gathered to extend felicitations.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hanna are native Texans. He was born in Meridian and she in Bartlett. After their marriage they moved to Plainview and then to Hereford. Then they moved away from Hereford for a while, but returned in 1927 and for 19 years, he operated a photograph studio here. Mrs. Hanna assisted in the studio.

In 1946, the couple moved to Lubbock where they also did photography work. Now he is retired, and spends most of his time at home with her since she suffering a stroke a year ago. Photography has been his main interest too long; however, for him to quit it entirely and all the new developments are watched and tried, especially the color pictures.

The couple is proud of their eight grandsons, one granddaughter and three great-grandchildren.

Open House Is Held

A golden wedding cake was placed on the anniversary table which was laid with a hand-made cro-

LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Years Make No Difference When Brownies Are Served

Nothing says happy birthday so well as birthday cake, whether you are honoring a wee lass or lad of three or four or a nice person of sixty or seventy whose heart is still young. Individual brownies cut in squares, topped with birthday candles, make attractive birthday refreshments and if it is an adult you are honoring fill your best coffee pot with piping hot coffee and place it on the birthday table. Mrs. N. E. Milburn enjoys giving parties for her little son, Nick, and for adult friends and very often she uses her favorite brownie recipe. They are simple and easy to make and always turn out right.

Here is her recipe:
Brownies
1 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup melted butter
1 egg
1/2 cup flour
1 tablespoon vanilla
2 tablespoons cocoa
1 cup chopped pecans
Beat eggs lightly, add sugar, melted butter, cocoa and flour. Blend well and add vanilla and nuts. Pour in a small oblong pan and bake in a slow oven 25 minutes. When cool cut in squares.
Another recipe Mrs. Milburn likes to use when she is in the mood for a party is a little different. Husbands like this one too.

Marshmallow Pies
30 marshmallows
1/2 cup coffee
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 pint whipping cream
1/2 cup toasted pecans
Melt marshmallows in coffee over low heat. When dissolved, allow to cool then add vanilla and nuts, and then add cream which has been whipped, folding slowly in to blend. Pour into two baked until ready to serve.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN—Are Texas teachers going to get more money?
The answer is maybe so. A bill to give them $600 per year pay increase is now in legislative process.
The bill, by Senator A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris, easily passed its first test. The senate education committee approved it unanimously and moved it along to the senate floor.
Teachers jammed the senate chamber for the committee hearing.

Senator Aikin said the bill, if passed, would cost the state $2 to $5 million dollars a year.
Those speaking for the bill included R. L. Proffer of Denton, former state senator and now president of the Texas State Teachers Association; Willie Kocurek, businessman and member of the Austin school board; and Mrs. Rae Files Still of Waxahachie, teacher and former member of the House of Representatives.
There were no witnesses against the bill.

If the Aikin bill passes, where will the money come from to pay the teachers?
Governor Allan Shivers, who is writing a series of articles about teachers' pay, suggested the following solution:

"1. Transfer part of the available school fund, which goes to all districts on a strict per capita basis regardless of need, over to the Gilmer-Aikin minimum foundation fund, which guarantees a decent standard to the less prosperous schools, and
"2. Return to the original proposition of one local dollar for every three state dollars of Gilmer-Aikin support."

Not only public school teachers but also those in colleges and universities, are also presenting their arguments for more money.
Dr. Logan Wilson, new president of the University of Texas, said in a speech that "salary-wise, this institution ranks at or near the bottom of the list of members of the Association of American Universities, and I think the citizenry and their elected representatives must be aroused to make concrete improvements."

Another bill passed out of committee is one that regulates optometry. This one is highly controversial and kept the House Public Health Committee in session until well after midnight.

The bill, sponsored by the Texas Optometric Association, was supported at the hearing by Dr. Ira Woods of Littlefield, a member of the State Board of Optometry Examiners, who said "There is a racket in eye glasses which we want to eliminate." He added: "There is a minority of optometrists... who don't recognize professional standards and use unscrupulous means of advertising. Then, there is a large octopus of chain store optometrists in Texas."

Strongly opposing the bill was Dr. N. J. Rogers of Beaumont, who contended that "The people of Texas will be paying higher prices for glasses if this bill passes."

Dr. Rogers, operating under the name of the Texas State Optical Company, has 24 shops. Speaking against any restriction on advertising, he said "if any man can show me how a window display or a neon sign reduces visual care in Texas, I'm for the bill." Rogers labeled the bill as strictly an anti-advertising measure designed to stifle competition and drive his firm and many others out of business.

Optometry is not a profession like law, medicine, or dentistry, in the opinion of Dr. Roberts. It is rather, he says, a semi-profession, in that it entails both eye examination and selling glasses. He pointed out that "all optometrists have to pass the same examination before they can be licensed to practice."

The House has passed a bill by Representative Bill Daniel of Liberty to construct two new state buildings in Austin.

The state now owns the necessary land, which is just south of the capitol. One building would be for the courts, the other for state offices.

The state at present rents a considerable amount of office space, and the rent could be applied on payment for the new buildings.

Twice before, the House has passed this measure, which on both occasions was killed in the Senate.

Texas eyes turned to Washington again as Governor Shivers went there seeking to get the tidelands returned to the state.

to hearings on tidelands legislation before the Senate interior committee and the House judiciary committee.

"I hope legislation will be passed disposing of the overall tidelands question," Shivers said.

Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, wants the Legislature to give him 130 more patrolmen and to restore the narcotics division of six agents.

"We can't police Texas with six men," Garrison admitted, "but we can pinpoint cases. And we can get results." The narcotics division has not functioned since 1939, when the last appropriation for it was made.

The additional patrolmen would give Texas a total of 600, Garrison said, which is only about half the number set by various formulae. California has 1,600.

The State Parks Board is fighting for authority to install additional cabins at Inks Lake, Possum Kingdom and Lake Texhoma.

A bill by Representative Jack Fisk prohibits the board from issuing bonds to construct lodges consisting of more than 12 units.

The House State Affairs committee has reported the bill favorably.

A group of motor court operators is supporting the Fisk bill and contending that it is "socialistic" for the state to have lodges in its parks.

The parks board retorted that "private capital will build the structures, private hotel companies will own the furnishings and pay taxes on them. The private operators will make payments to the state in lieu of rent and taxes on the buildings and land that will far surpass any amount that taxes could amount to."

Passed by the Senate was a bill appropriating $3,225,000 for new state tuberculosis hospitals at San Antonio and Harlingen. A committee voted to permit a minority report to the House on prohibiting school officials from requiring teachers to belong to the Texas State Teachers Association. Attorney General John Ben Shepperd, ruling on a point of law, reduced his own pay by $2,000 per year.

Set for hearing February 24 is a bill to authorize the construction of toll roads by governmental-unit "districts." The Texas Research League set up shop, succeeding the Texas Economy Commission, and will do research on governmental operations and problems. Thomas Evans Riddle, 106, the only Confederate veteran here, received 15 marriage proposals after claiming a share in the estate of the late Samuel D. City Still Minus Three Candidates

Wanted: A mayor and two city councilmen! During recent weeks several meetings have been held and groups have advanced the names of individuals to run for the three city offices which will soon be vacated. None of these men have, to our knowledge, agreed to serve in the capacity of city officials.

Meanwhile, the final date for filing, March 7, is drawing near. Hereford needs a slate of qualified business men to take over the jobs. The city in recent years has very well kept pace with the growth of the community, but it is easy to recall the days when progress in city affairs was sadly lacking. Such a situation can easily arise once again if the people who live in it continue to find themselves "too busy" to devote some of their time to the community.

With a city manager, the job of mayor and commissioner is greatly simplified. The commission continues, however, to approve purchases, establish policies and generally set the pace for developments within the city. It would be a shame to see Hereford revert to the status of a mediocre fire department, inadequate police system or drab wasteland instead of parks. Instead, the town needs to continue striding forward. It needs to add zoning ordinances, inspection codes, sanitation measures, and to continue improving the good situations which have been created. On the other hand, these programs can be carried to the extreme. The city could easily be indebted and bankrupted to a point which no thinking citizen would want or approve.

These things -- the real future of Hereford -- rest with the new city commission which will be elected here April 8. The election will be the first held under the new Home Rule Charter, and it is highly important that good, substantial citizens be selected. Advancement of two or more tickets would be the ideal situation. Some have mentioned one or more women in the city offices, and the idea seems an excellent one.

Meanwhile, unless some filing is done within the next 15 days, Hereford, "The Town Without a Toothache", may also become the town without a city commission.

Even Sandstorms Could Be Worse

Possibly the least said about the weather last Sunday (also Wednesday night and Thursday) the better. Anyway, that is how a lot of us feel.

Denying or ignoring shortcomings is not always the best policy, however. Out here on the Staked Plains, sandstorms have become widely known as the worst possible liability. Folks who live here should be the first to admit the short-coming -- and the first to compare it with other areas.

Actually, no ideal location has been discovered since the original Garden of Eden.

Ask some of the servicemen about those monsoon periods where it rains 30 and 40 days and nights in one long session. Ask the folk in Wisconsin and Maine about the sub-zero weather for long, long months. While floods ramaged down the Mississippi river last Spring, the Panhandle sat high and dry, even sending Red Cross donations to help those unfortunates. Cyclones, typhoons, erupting volcanoes! All over the world, every day, we read of disasters, most of them worse than our sandstorms.

The dusts are certainly disagreeable. They are even depressing. However, we have yet to hear of one actually killing scores of people like the heat waves in Chicago. Bad as they are, there are still quite a few weather hazards that can be worse.

Traffic Controls Build Good Towns

First a series of traffic changes were announced here this week by the City of Hereford. These alterations are being made systematically and with the idea of arriving at an over-all traffic system for the community.

Third Street, Fourth Street and eventually Sixth Street will be designated as express thoroughfares, connecting with Park Avenue and with Highway 51. General traffic will flow at a reasonable speed, according to the plan, while intersecting streets will afford numerous stops. The plan will allow the average motorist to get easily on a through street and continue on his way without too many unnecessary stops. Schools will, of course, bring about a few exceptions.

Hereford is perhaps too small for such a plan, but its inauguration now should improve conditions immediately -- and should provide for future growth with reasonable planning. Many small cities today are definitely hamstrung because no such thought and planning were provided several years ago.

An overall plan of this type, we feel is not only worthwhile, but necessary. In addition to saving lives today, it will save much money and many more lives in the future.

Here's Chance For Fame And Fortune

Every man, woman and child in the United States chews 130 sticks of gum a year. That's an average. The original cost, like quite a few other things, is comparatively cheap: $1.30 per person, or $5.20 for the average family of four. To say the least, it is very small in comparison with the cost of cigarettes, cigars and numerous other habits.

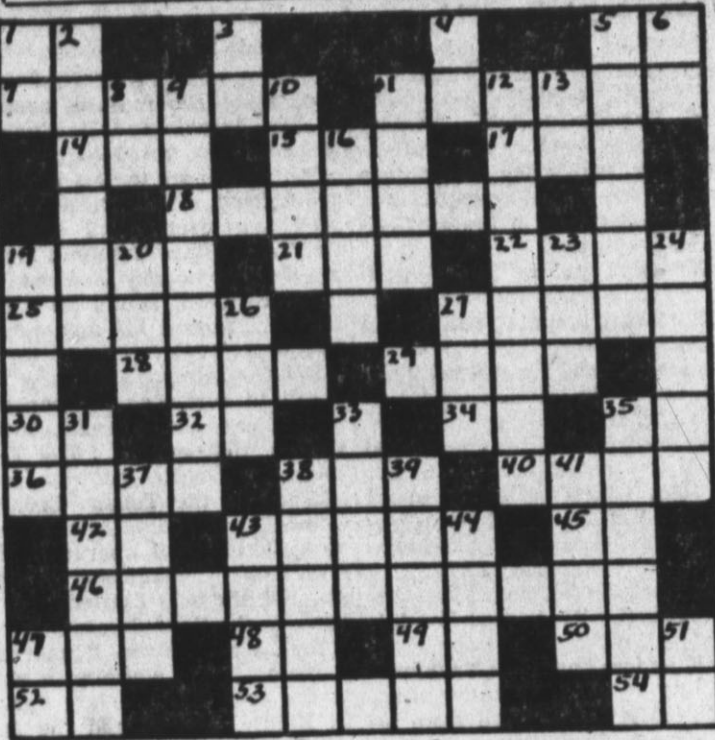

History records that American pioneers chewed the resin of black spruce and other trees in earlier days. Chicle was first imported to this country as a substitute for rubber and was, by accident, discovered to be an ideal base for chewing gum. Since that time, around 1860, the fad has spread to such an extent that most foreign countries have come to consider Americans and chewing gum as synonymous.

In these days of high tension living many people declare that they "let off steam" by chewing gum. Certainly, gum chewing is a factory in nerve control -- for the fellow who is doing the chewing, that is. Big league ball players are among the most ardent gum chewers. Stenographers, are possibly the most notorious, and the "small fry" runs a close second.

The parking of used gum wads, however, is another story. There is not a soda fountain or cafe table in Hereford (or the United States, for that matter) which is not literally plastered underneath with wads of parked chewing gum. Chewing gum has, in addition, become a universal headache to the cleaning industry. People likewise think very little of disposing of gum on sidewalks, often creating hazards for unsuspecting souls who travel the public walks.

Whereas, ash traps are provided in most public places, it seems high time that some enterprising person invented a disposal unit for used wads of chewing gum. In addition to making a fortune, the individual should certainly be considered favorably for the Nobel Peace Prize. Solution of the problem, we believe, would tend to more harmonious living than any other single achievement of which we can think.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Chewing Gum Isn't Too Bad -- But Please Watch Where You Park It

Do you think people should chew gum in public? If so, how should they dispose of the gum when they are through?

ROGER CORBETT -- Dry Cleaner

By golly anplace but on their clothes. I bet I have taken a ton of that stuff off peoples clothes. I don't think people should chew gum in public but I don't mind if when they dispose of it they will put it someplace where it won't get on clothes. I don't know what they can do with it though where it won't get on clothes or shoes. It makes a mess either place.

RUTH LOERWALD -- Office Worker

Sure I like to chew gum. I don't mind people chewing gum but I think they should use a Kleenex or paper napkin to dispose of it.

NORMA TOMLINSON -- Fountain Employee

I don't mind people chewing gum if they won't stick it on the bottom of a table. They should put it in a napkin or a piece of paper and roll it up and throw it away.

Anonymous Employee -- Greenhedge Cafe

If they chew gum in public they should roll it in a paper napkin to dispose of it. I don't think people should chew gum in public, however, as most of them don't know how to chew it properly.

REV. R. H. CAGLE

We discourage it of course. I think it is considered impolite to chew gum in public. I think that would eliminate the last part of the question but we do find that some people stick it under their chairs at church. Some people forget what they are doing they are so used to chewing gum. They just forget themselves.

MRS. VANNIE VINSON -- Clerk

I don't think they should even chew it in public but if they do when they go to get rid of it they shouldn't stick it under tables or counters but should get a piece of paper or napkin and wrap it up and put it in a wastebasket.

Gaylord Newell has celebrated another business birthday and the birthday cake looked larger and prettier than ever but we can imagine what a relief it must have been to the ones who served it to be able to hand out the last crumb.

We're having family troubles out at our house.

Sis, one of our surplus dogs seems to think (if dogs think) that her daughter is entirely incapable of taking care of her five little puppies.

If there's so much as a whimper from their direction she dashes out to see about them and then whips the mother dog for her negligence.

Thursday night when winter slipped in for a brief visit one of the pups managed to fall out of the granary and put up such a protest that we had decided to see about him when the howlin ceased suddenly.

Next morning the mother dog was curled up asleep by the front door and there was "granny" down in the granary hallway with the lost pup still baby sittin.

We are gettin material together for a little book that we would like to get printed by Pioneer Day this year so if you have been here for twenty five years or more and know any good stories about the early settlement of Deaf Smith County we would like very much to have them in the next couple of weeks.

We will use mostly humor but will be glad to have anything that will be of interest to the old-timers or their families. Mail them to Route 3 or call us to pick them up and be sure to give your name as we will use them with the story.

I'll Never Forget

By "Uncle Andy" Thomas

Andy Thomas

I came here in June, 1902, from Cook county--Dexter. We left there in April but it rained so much that the creeks all got up and washed all the bridges out and we had to stay in Duncan, Okla. for nearly a month waiting for the creeks to go down. Then when we got started there wasn't any bridges from Ardmore, Okla. until we got out here by Canyon.

I haven't seen as much rain since I got to the Panhandle as we had that time in Oklahoma.

We had two wagons when we came here. We rode in one and the other team followed us all the way out here.

I was the second man in Deaf Smith county to buy as little as a quarter section of land. I paid $3.30 an acre for it and on ten years' time. It has sold since for $200 an acre I have been told.

The next year I was here. I bought another half section. Me and another man had bought it together and I bought it from him for $3.30 an acre.

When we first came here, we worked for Summy Higgins for $30 a month and boarded ourselves. I worked there for two years and a half and left there with forty head of cattle--them all paid for--and my land payments made and I had a dugout. I had been farming for myself. I had been farming that 60 acres there in feed all this time that I was working for Uncle Summy.

I bought 40 canner cows at $12 per head and raised feed and sold the first cows out of these cattle that ever brought $75 per head--grade cows.

When I came here people would come and tell me where I could buy some cows. They would sell them to me on 12 months for $12 a head and the call the next year would more than pay for the cow. I bought some of my cattle from John and George Day, Henry Vaughnson and Summy Higgins.

I ran that 22 section ranch for $30 a month and farmed 300 acres and never had a riding implement. I had old walking listers. The planter was made out of a can with holes punched in it and when it rolled, it dropped the seed in the row.

We burned cow chips all together. There were as many as twenty people spent the night in that 14x28 feet dugout of ours--lots of times. Jim Burnes lived several miles from us and he had fourteen kids. He always left the two oldest boys at home to do the chores when he came to see us but, anyway, counting his wife and himself that was 14, and there were four of our children and my wife and I--so that made 20 people. We had too sack carpeting all over the floor of the dugout, and Mrs. Burns and Lola would just make down pallets all over the place and spread those kids all out.

The people thought more of each other than they do now. Why you could meet a fellow out on the highway in a wagon and could stop and talk to him even if you didn't know him. You would find out who he was and where he lived. I knew everyone in the county then. People thought nothing of riding 12 to 15 miles to tell you about a deal where you could get some more cattle or something. They used to ride and tell me when someone was going to sell some of their canner cattle when I was trying to start me a herd. Now if you are making a deal a fellow will go out of his way to jump in and get ahead of you.

I sold the land for $25 per acre and the cows for $75 per head--112 head of them. I sold everything I had but two bulls in 1917 and went to New Mexico.

I blowed it all out and came back to Hereford in 1924 flat broke and $400 in debt.

When we lived out northwest of Dawn we went to the Palo Duro

WATER OR GAS?

A mysterious "water well" at St. Cloud, Minn., is going quietly about its business . . . today producing hundreds of gallons of high octane gasoline.

The gasoline -- "pure enough to run in an automobile engine" -- began pouring out of the well after it was dug last week by a concrete product company. So far, about 250 gallons of high octane gasoline and 118 gallons of lower grade gasoline have flowed from the well.

Nobody is able to give an explanation. No gasoline leaks have been found in the area.

Company officials -- apparently unperturbed -- are pumping the gas out and storing it. Portales Tribune.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's Note: The Bootleg Philosopher has run across some odd news, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

I've been readin lots in the newspapers lately about the big problems confrontin President Eisenhower, and up on top of the list of course is the serious problem of fallin farm prices, especially cattle prices.

But I was out here on my Johnson Grass farm the other afternoon when I noticed a newspaper caught in the branches of a tree and while I was walkin toward it I got to speculation if I could reach it without tiptoin, there are some people who would even clumb a tree to get hold of a newspaper, others who would even pay out hard-earned money to subscribe to one, but I like to keep things in balance and am perfectly willin to read nearly any paper if it's in easy access and I can get hold of it without gain to any trouble, and when I found out it was in arm's reach and not caught too fast I pulled it down and rested a while in the sun and fell to readin it.

I can now announce President Eisenhower is in for more trouble than he ever suspected. Not only are cattle prices and farm prices fallin, not only is the world situation tense and nerve-wrackin, not only are taxes from a previous administration high and the budget unbalanced and the solutions almost ungraspable, but accordin to this newspaper the fishin problem has gotten critical.

An expert has made a national survey and discovered that the "increase in fishing pressure has brought a decrease in the average catch per fishing trip". In fact, the expert has found, "the average catch nationally has dropped to well below one fish per hour."

I do not know how the expert arrived at his figures, I know he didn't ask me how my luck has been, and while I personally have never fished by the hour or gauged my success by the number of fish I caught personally any fishin trip is successful if it doesn't turn cold or rainy at the time; with a tractor standin ready, catchin fish is one of the poorest ways I know of judgin the worth of gain fishin, the same as where you go is not nearly as important as just goin when you're tryin to get out of earshot of a naggin woman; at any rate, to get on, you can see havin this drop in the number of fish bein caught thrown in Eisenhower's lap right on top of fallin cattle prices, fallin cotton prices, fallin wheat prices, etc., is more than he's entitled to receive. Personally, my sympathies are with him. He didn't have a thing to do with it or the fallin prices either and he's entitled to a fair chance.

A President can survive the wrath of the cattlemen, maybe the price will go back up next month, but you get the fishermen upset and there are shoals ahead. What this country needs is fewer experts, or experts who know how to keep their mouth shut. I'll tell President Eisenhower right here, I don't care how far down the catch per hour drops, he can count on me and Herbert Hoover and Jim Lipscomb. Yours faithfully, J. A.

Texans In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—What the Texas Legislature does about realigning congressional districts in the state is a matter of keen interest and concern to the Texas members of Congress.

With the 1950 census Texas gained one representative. Elected as the 22nd member of the House delegation last November was Martin Dies of Lufkin, who represents the state at large just as do Senators Lyndon B. Johnson and Price Daniel.

Well aware that redistricting is the responsibility of the state legislators, and that it's a long way from Washington to Austin, the congressmen plainly don't want to issue statements suggesting what ought to be done. It's not much of a secret, however, that most of them hope their own respective districts won't be cut up.

The point was brought up in a humorous way, although there was more than a shade of truth in it, at a recent Texas congressional delegation luncheon.

Congressman Paul Kilday, of San Antonio, as delegation chairman, was introducing the new members. A number of visiting Texans were on hand as guests of their respective congressmen.

When he introduced Brady Gentry, the new member from the Tyler-Longview-Kilgore area, the latter got up and with a smile quipped:

"I'm mighty glad to be here, but it might be short and sweet. I see that a bill under study down in Austin would put most of my district in with Wright Patman (Texarkana) of the first district. He's only been here 24 years."

A few days later, Reps. John E. Lyle of Corpus Christi and Clark Fisher of San Angelo, mulling over the situation in Lyle's office, took down from the wall a big map of Texas which was blocked off in various colors to show all the existing congressional districts.

"Wow! Look at what a district I would get under the bill outlined here in this story," said Fisher, holding a clipping from a Texas newspaper.

"It would make me the main Mexican border congressman. My district now barely touches the line, but under this proposal it would run from several hundred miles up along the Rio Grande into the Big Bend country."

Lyle observed that his district would also be reshuffled somewhat, and that he would become the fourth Texas border congressman, since the Laredo area would be assigned to him. The other two, Reps. Lloyd Bentsen of McAllen and the lower Rio Grande Valley, and Ken Regan of the El Paso-Midland area, would have some of their counties lopped off since their districts have increased so sharply in population in recent years.

Although none of the congressmen wants to express his views out loud and be accused of trying to interfere with the State Legislature's business, many of them say privately they think Harris County should be divided into two districts.

It now is represented by Albert Thomas of Houston. If divided, each district would still have some 400,000 population and be considerably larger on that basis than the national average of approximately 375,000.

Around The Capital

Two Texas school superintendents and their wives, enroute to an Atlantic City educator's convention, ran into some unsheduled excitement on their brief stop-over here.

The two couples, Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. Brown of Greenville and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur O. Echols of Olney, had parked their car on the capital grounds and gone on to a hundred yards when they heard the crash of glass.

It was broad daylight, and looking back they saw a young hoodlum running away from their car with a traveling bag and a suitcase. He had thrown a brick through the window.

A capitol policeman in a squad car happened to be nearby and also heard the commotion. Brown jumped in the car with them and started pursuit. Ducking up an alley, the culprit dropped the bag, which contained several suits and dresses. He disappeared through a yard and was not seen again. The suitcase he kept was small, and fortunately only contained a few items, such as cosmetics and shaving accessories.

The Texas State Society of Washington is to hold a formal dinner at the Mayflower Hotel, Feb. 27, in honor of the two Texans with high posts in the Eisenhower administration—Federal Security Administrator, Oveta Culp Hobby of Houston and Secretary of the Navy Robert Anderson of Vernon.

Mrs. Hobby is to be introduced by Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, and Anderson by Bonham's congressman Sam Rayburn—the minority party leaders of the Senate and House.

The Texas Society on that night also will elect a successor to the outgoing president, Rep. Olin E. Teague of the Bryan-Corsicana district. Two vice presidents and five new directors also will be elected. The remaining five directors have one more year of their two-year terms to serve.

Mary Gilliland presided at the tea service. Allie Fullwood, Ola Hacker and Ella Cockrell, assisted in serving. About 40 women attended the meeting.

Chosen to serve with her were: vice-president, Judy Nell Tomison, secretary and treasurer, Barbara Pinnel, reporter, Glenda Homfeld, song leader, Regina Edwards, drill leader, Eulaine Perry; counting demonstrator, Wanda Pinnel; poultry demonstrator, Barbara Banks; Miss Clara Redman, 4-H agent, gave a talk on the qualities of a good record book.

Judy Pinnel was hostess for the group.

The next meeting will be held on March 3 with Eulaine Perry.

Patriotic Meet For Rebekahs

After the regular meeting of the Rebekah lodge Tuesday Mrs. J. P. Cockrell had charge of a patriotic program which consisted of a flag drill by Mrs. Mary Gilliland, Mrs. Allie Fullwood and Mrs. Ola Hacker.

Mrs. Gilliland gave a reading, "Our Flag" which was followed by the song "America". Allie Fullwood gave a patriotic reading and a scrambled word contest reviewed the life of Washington. After the singing of "God Bless America" tea was served from a lace laid table centered with greenery and covered with cherries. The arrangement was flanked with miniature flags and red candles in crystal holders.

Streu's Diary

February 20, 1953

DEAR DIARY:

Jean came home from the Gift Show, and so help me, some of the stuff she bought beat her here—bunch of Treasure Craft copper and brass items and seeds of green and red elves—or pixies—or something. Why anyone in their right mind would pay good money for such stuff is beyond me—but I hope they do.

Have received a couple more shipments of much-desired RCA Victor TV sets—we now have several models on the floor—and more coming—it is difficult to mention specific models because they are coming and going out too fast. Never have the same display two days in a row. We like it, tho'. I have been like a mother hen with a brood of ducklings—have been driving around to see if our antenna jobs were standing—and despite the high winds—all are up right (at this writing, at least).

Been receiving some comment on Streu's radio program (Tues., Thurs., Sat. at 2:20 on KPAN), some comment is favorable and some otherwise—I always say it is impossible to please all the people all the time. I have also contended for many years that the difference between publicity and notoriety is meager. To which philosophy I might add that I would rather be notorious than completely ignored.

These high winds always seem to tear up a few windmills—and, as is customary of this time of year, we have an excellent stock of Aermotor mill parts. And, speaking of parts, we carry parts for Crestaloy wrenches, Rainking lawn sprinklers, roller skates, fishing reels, and many other items. Not a very profitable business, this parts business, but there is a certain satisfaction in being able to render service to the community. Service has always been a watchword with Streu's.

The many friends of our son Oliver will be glad to know that he will be home for about ten days starting the 21st. We have killed the fattest calf, and I expect to put on five or six pounds while he is here 'cause his mother, sure does cook up a storm for that boy.

I should finish this here Diary with a witty saying of some sort, but I somehow find myself at my wit's end.

NELLIE... A MURDERER... H-HOW COULD SHE DO SUCH A THING?

STOP MOANING, BAGGS, AND GRAB THAT RIFLE SHE DROPPED! THOSE WOLVES WILL TEAR HER TO SHREDS!

COMPLETELY UNNERVED BY THE FAILURE OF HER VICIOUS SCHEME TO GAIN CONTROL OF THE COFFER INDUSTRIES, NELLIE FIRES AT HER MAROONED COMPANIONS JUST AS A PACK OF HUNGRY WOLVES ATTACKS!

SAVE ME! SAVE ME! OOOO HELP!

MERCIFUL GOODNESS, LOOK OUT! WE'RE ON A CLIFF! NELLIE FELL INTO THE CANYON!

THERE! WE'VE SCATTERED THE WOLVES! NOW LET'S SEE WHAT WE CAN DO FOR HER!

THERE'S LITTLE HOPE! THERE'S NO TELLING HOW DEEP THAT SNOW-CHOKED CANYON IS...

SHH! LISTEN! A MOTOR!

JOHNNY HAZARD

by FRANK ROSSIN

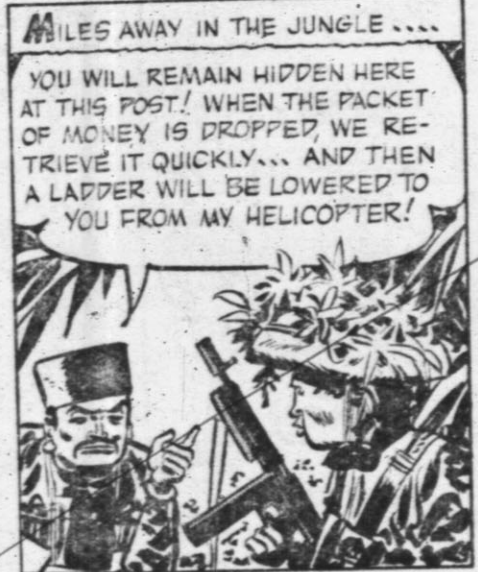

IF YOU'LL PARDON MY BUTTING IN, GENERAL HOVISS, THAT'S A TOUGH DECISION TO MAKE... GIVING IN TO BLACKMAIL OR GIVING THE RATS A BLASTING!

THAT'S WHERE YOU'RE WRONG, CORPORAL! ACTUALLY THERE IS NO DECISION TO MAKE!

THE SCAVENGER LEADER HAS CONTACTED THE U.S.A.F. AND MADE HIS DEMAND FOR THE RANSOM OF JOHNNY AND LIZ! HOWEVER, HE HAS MADE IT CLEAR TO THEM THAT BOTH ARE DOOMED TO DIE, REGARDLESS OF RANSOM PAYMENT!

MAYBE I'M GETTING SOFT, BUT I'M MORE INTERESTED IN SAVING LIVES THAN I AM IN SAVING MONEY! WE PAY UP NOW... AND MAKE THEM PAY LATER! GET THE FINANCE OFFICER ON THE PHONE!

MILES AWAY IN THE JUNGLE....

YOU WILL REMAIN HIDDEN HERE AT THIS POST! WHEN THE PACKET OF MONEY IS DROPPED, WE RETRIEVE IT QUICKLY... AND THEN A LADDER WILL BE LOWERED TO YOU FROM MY HELICOPTER!

AS FOR YOU TWO... YOU SHALL HAVE THE HONOR OF WATCHING YOUR VAUNTED AIR FORCE SURRENDER THE RANSOM PAYMENT... WITHOUT FIRING A SHOT!

BUT HE STILL HASN'T FOUND CUTOUT! THERE'S ONE LONG CHANCE...

JUST TWO HUNDRED YARDS AWAY, IN AN OLD JUNGLE PIT...

OOOH... MY ACHIN' HEAD... WHAT HAPPENED?...

GOTTA GET OUT OF HERE... JOHNNY'S IN TROUBLE... LIZ... WHERE'S MISS LIZ...?

SLOWLY... PAINFULLY... CUTOUT DIGGS STEPS IN THE SOFT JUNGLE EARTH!

WHEW! MADE IT... GOTTA FIND JOHNNY... MISS LIZ...

THE SCAVENGERS ARE STILL HERE! MUST GET TO THE RADIO... CALL FOR HELP!
