DOE lists buys, figures

By SPEEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

Comparison figures and totals on staffing and procurements by the Department of Energy and its contractors highlighted a routine weekly briefing session this morning at the Hereford Community Center.

Bob Wunderlich, deputy manager of the Salt Repository Project, announced an increase of seven staff members for a total of 241 project personnel in Texas. That total includes 149 transfers, 73 local hires and 19 non-local hires.

The number of Hereford staff members was reduced from 63 to 59 because four of those listed as residing in Hereford are temporary staffers who will not be here permanently, explained Wunderlich. This change also reduced the number of school-aged children from 19 to 17. The total of 59 includes 30 local hires and 29 transfers or non-local hires.

The number of personnel in Amarillo now stands at 114 and includes 46 in Canyon, 3 in Vega and 25 undecided. The number of school children, representing transferred staff and non-local hires only, includes 61 in Amarillo, 32 in Canyon and 17 in Hereford. The local breakdown shows 1 in kindergarten, 3 in first grade, 4 in third grade, 3 in grades 4-6, 4 in grades 7-9 and 2 in high school.

Wunderlich reported the estimated annual payroll for the 59 Hereford staff members is more than $1.8 million. The full complement of staff members for DOE and its contractors for the fiscal year 1987 is expected to be 348. Projections for adding staff members were reported at 35 for the remainder of October and 19 in November.

The total for local procurements increased by about $22,500 since last week. Between mid-February and this week, the SRPO has committed more than $4.8 million in procurement actions, said Wunderlich. This includes $2.6 million for the Hereford offices and $1.7 for Amarillo. The local total includes the lease for the Lomart building.

Renovations for the Lomart building are underway and some Battelle personnel have moved in this week, reported the deputy manager. He announced that next week's briefing will be held in the conference room of the new Battelle offices. It will start at 7 a.m., as usual, and will include a brief tour of the offices.

Wunderlich reported that negotiations are underway for two more office buildings—an administration office (12,000 square feet) and a records office (about 9,000 square feet). Procurement for telephone service and other miscellaneous bids are due soon.

Listing topics of general interest, Wunderlich reported that public participation programs were held last week in Hereford and Vega; the Land Acquisition Plan was issued two weeks ago and all comments are due by Nov. 6; and work continues on preparing the Consultative Draft of the SCP for issuance on Jan. 8, 1988.

"A policeman is a composition of what all men are—a mingling of a saint and sinner, dust and deity. Less than one-half of one per cent of all policemen misfit the uniform."

"He, of all men, is at once the most wanted and most unwanted. He must be such a diplomat that he can settle differences between individuals so that each will think he won."

"But, if a policeman is pleasant, he's a flirt; if he's not, he's a grouch."

"He must be able to whip two men twice his size and half his age without damaging his uniform and without being brutal."

Hereford's Christmas Stocking Fund is making plans for its 1987 holiday campaign. The charity organization is administered by a committee of 15 anonymous individuals, representing a cross-section of the community, who guide the group's work in helping make Christmas brighter for the needy in the community.

Anyone interested in volunteering to help the committee in this year's efforts can contact Speedy Nieman or John Brooks at The Brand office, 394-3930. He will pass along the names to the committee. The Brand serves as the fund-raiser arm of the organization. Last year, local residents donated a record $10,000 for the committee's work in reaching the less fortunate.

Who's being victimized here

Someone in this picture will have to kiss a pig Thursday at the annual Halloween Carnival at the Bull Barn. Superintendent Charles Greenawalt, left, who said, "I went to school all these years for this?" Whiteface Booster Club President Terry Bromlow, and Herd head coach Don Cumpton are possible pig kissers for the Pilot Club fund-raiser. The person receiving the most money votes will have to kiss the pig, with proceeds going to the club's scholarship program. The pig grunted, then refused comment on the entire affair.

Homecoming events begin

Homecoming activities are continuing at Hereford High School, with major events planned Thursday and Friday.

The annual Homecoming carnival will be held from 5 to 8 p.m. at the Bull Barn, and the annual Homecoming pep rally will be held at HHS at 2:15 p.m. Friday. The Homecoming parade will follow the pep rally at 3 p.m., and activities will be capped off by the Hereford-Dumas football game Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Whiteface Stadium.

Sponsored by the HHS Student Council, the carnival will feature games for all ages and several food booths.

The parade, also sponsored by the SC, will begin at HHS and will go down Main Street Friday afternoon. Floats and other entries will be in the parade from school organizations, and the community has also been invited to have parade entries. All parade entries must be in the HHS parking lot by 8:30 a.m. Friday.

Homecoming queen candidates include Stacy Bromlow, Deanna Hobbs and Darlene Rodriguez, all seniors, and attendants Wendy Connolly, a junior, and sophomore Ann Weaver. The Homecoming queen will be crowned at Friday's pep rally, and will also be honored during pre-game ceremonies Friday night.

Clements says SSC bonds needed

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas bid for the "super collider" could fail if voters do not approve the issuance of $500 million in bonds to help lure the project, says Gov. Bill Clements.

But he also said lawmakers approved another $500 million in bonds as a "safety net" to help protect the state's bid for the federal project that could mean billions of dollars for the Texas economy.

The Nov. 3 election ballot includes the proposal that would allow the sale of the bonds to support the Texas bid for the project.

"The important thing to realize here is that everyone must understand that if Proposition 19 fails, we probably will not get the project. The project will actually hinge on the passage of Proposition 19," Clements said at a Tuesday news conference.

Lawmakers approved the issuance of $500 million in revenue bonds in connection with the project.

With voter approval, an additional $500 million in general obligation bonds, which carry a lower interest rate, would be sold to raise money for the super collider.

No bonds would be issued if Texas does not get the project that has attracted bids from 26 states.

Clements said it is possible that the $500 million in general obligation bonds and the $500 million in revenue bonds will both be issued, if voters approve the general obligation bonds.

Peter Flawn, chairman of the site selection committee for Texas, said it might take both kinds of bonds to attract the project.

"I think with a billion dollars in bonding capacity to put on the table to work with the (U.S.) Department of Energy, we stand an excellent chance of winning this thing. With $500 million I think our chances are significantly reduced," Flawn said.

Four Texas sites — Amarillo, Hudspeth County, Midland-Odessa and Waxahachie — have been forwarded by Texas to federal officials.

The super collider would use a 52-mile underground tunnel to smash atoms.

"The super collider would not only become essential to advanced experiments but be a vital element in teaching tomorrow's scientists, educators and leaders," Clements said.

Jack Blanton, chairman of the pro-super collider fund-raising drive, said, "The only consequential opposition that we have is a lack of understanding of the constitutional amendment" on the ballot.

Meanwhile, Tuesday, the Texas Libertarian Party continued its push against Proposition 19.

"The exorbitant cost of the super collider will siphon money from the needs of higher education. It will devour the available funding for education and research, leaving little for basics like textbooks, desks, buildings and salaries," said Gary

HISD eyes policy changes, career ladder

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Several changes in school policy, and a look at the current bilingual education project, were prime topics considered Tuesday night by the Hereford school board.

The board also accepted bids for new computers for the vocational education program, approved a group health insurance program, and examined possible future classroom needs.

Changes in school policy included: —Minor changes in retention-promotion guidelines for students in the first, second and third grades, with new, harder reading programs.

"The new reading series is to help our children," said board member Kathy Moore. "Our goal is not to expect too much, but to have higher expectations of our children."

The new program will be explained to parents in a letter accompanying report cards, which will be issued Thursday.

—A change in grade point classifications, beginning with this year's freshman students, that will change point designations on honors, advanced, regular and developmental classes.

Under the current system, students in developmental classes are given "minus" points in determining grade points. Under the new system, they will, instead, be given "zero" points, and points will be raised accordingly for other programs.

—Minor changes in the career ladder procedures, making it slightly easier for a teacher, once placed on Level 2, where a teacher receives about a $1,500 bonus, or Level 3, where bonuses of about $3,000 are given, to remain on those levels, provided they remain at or above the district average on teacher observations.

—Curriculum guidelines were changed to allow students to check other students' work, provided teacher re-check the papers before the grades are entered into the grade book, or for peer tutoring purposes.

The board opted to keep the school district's health insurance with Gilliland-Nieman Associates of Hereford, with a 16 percent increase on costs, including a new, 2 percent "tax" tacked on by the state.

Minor changes in the plan include paying 100 percent of all costs for personnel using Deaf Smith General Hospital once they have met their deductible, and no more need to "pre-certify."

The board accepted the low bid of $1,025 each for 10 personal computers, IBM "clones", from Golden Rule Computer Concepts of Amarillo.

The board also looked at a report on bilingual education in the HISD, and learned their will be federal funding cuts that could force the board to either cut back on the program or fund more of it through local tax dollars.

The program has already gone through some cutbacks, with most aides eliminated at the third grade level and some funding already done through local dollars because of deletion of about 30 percent in federal funds over the past three years.

UW nears halfway in pledges

With two weeks left in its 1987 campaign, United Way of Deaf Smith County has reached 46.5 percent of its goal, with $56,854 in pledges and contributions.

At the weekly report luncheon Tuesday, UW committee chairmen reported they have received $56,854 toward the 1987 goal of $120,000.

At the same time last year, the campaign had received $69,000. However, many cards are still out, and officials are hoping for large contributions from employees from several large. The Golden Age Division is still the division closest to its goal, having picked up $6,829 of its $8,000 goal.

Other groups, their contributions so far and their goals, include:

- Agriculture, $2,247, with 64 percent of its goal obtained in just 10 days' work;
- General, $742, trying for $2,000;
- Major, $10,755, shooting for $40,500;
- Metro, $11,169, with an especially large increase in contributions from Bluebonnet, Northwest, Tierra Blanca and Aikman schools, with a goal of $17,500;
- Pacesetters, $11,010, toward a goal of $22,000;
- Professional, $5,406, with a goal of $11,000;
- Special, $8,790, toward a $11,500 goal;
- Whiteface, $905, with a goal of $4,000.

Contributions to the United Way of Deaf Smith County benefit several programs, including Big Brothers-Big Sisters, Campfire, Boy Scouts, Family Services, Girl Scouts, Rape Crisis-Domestic Violence, Red Cross, Salvation Army, Senior Citizens, YMCA, Childrens Rehabilitation Center, and the High Plains Epilepsy Foundation.

Local Roundup

Trio arrested

Three persons were arrested by Hereford police Tuesday, who also issued seven citations and covered two, non-injury, accidents. A man, 32, was arrested on charges of DWI and failure to maintain a single traffic lane, and a man, 41, was picked up for DWI. An 18-year-old woman was remanded to jail for failure to pay fines.

Offenses investigated by police include a boy, 12, who was questioned by detectives and who confessed to the burglary at WAC Seed on Oct. 18; a boy, 16, was questioned and released concerning a theft at Save 'n' Gain; a woman told police a man who was not welcome at her house kept coming by to visit with her sisters; a woman complained that a man kept driving by her house and cursing her, but she refused to file charges; a woman said a man keeps calling her at work and harassing her, but she refused to file charges; and a radar detector was stolen from a vehicle at 419 Paloma Lane.

Gaddy is new inspector

Marvin Gaddy, former city inspector in Dalhart, assumed duties this week as the new Hereford city inspector. Gaddy will be the city's first full-time inspector in several months, and will be making building, plumbing and electrical inspections.

Rain chance continues

A good chance of showers and thunderstorms—just in time to disrupt harvest—is in the forecast for tonight and Thursday. Tonight should be cloudy with a 40 percent chance of thunderstorms and a low of 50. South wind will be 5 to 15 mph. Thursday will be partly cloudy and cooler with a 30 percent chance of thunderstorms. Highs will be around 65, with south wind 10 to 20 mph. ## Babbling Brooks

To those of you complaining about the "easy" football contest: We don't make the schedules. It's as hard to select the games as it is to get them all right.

The first two weeks of the year, we had a bunch of hard games. The first week, of course, you don't really know who's going to do what. Most of the picks are made by reputation.

The second week, there are a lot of upsets, because the guys who should have won the first week are mad and up for the game and win.

After that, it balances out. Except for Pittsburgh and Notre Dame, and a few other flukes.

We don't want to include Ivy League and Division III football games, but, if we continue to have 20-way ties for second place, we may have to do a little more searching for some good 'uns.

I'm glad to be at a paper where we have "Fearless Forecasters" picking the games.

I had missed forecasting games for quite some time. Back when I quit-usted college and went to work at KDHN in Dimmitt, the paper in Dimmitt ran a contest, and I usually did just good enough to finish about fourth each week and just miss the Cotton Bowl tickets at the end of the season by about two games. I was consistent, but not quite there.

There was also a little contest in town that was a lot of fun. About 20 of us would guess the winners on about 15 games, and each of us would put $1 in the pot. Once a month, we'd throw in $2, and the extra buck would go into a pool for special games at the end of the regular season.

The special games were playoff games—last year I was cheering like mad for Hereford, because I had the Herd in the playoffs.

Our playoff schedule was unique. 10 of us would get a certain number of teams in the playoffs. The worse you did in the regular season, the more teams you got in the playoffs.

The bad part: You would end up playing "yourself" sometimes, along about the quarterfinals, cutting your chances for a state champion. You only got paid if your team won the whole thing.

Anyway, it's fun to pick 'em, and we hope you enjoy picking 'em in the Brand every Tuesday.

Making Carnival Plans

Hereford High School student council members have been busy making plans for the homecoming carnival set from 5-8 p.m. Thursday at the Bull Barn. Invitations to the event have been sent to all local schools. A variety of booths will be set-up including darts, baseball throw, car

Researchers find blood pressure control cells

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Researchers have identified a pea-sized cluster of brain cells that serves as the master control for blood pressure, a finding they say may lead to new treatments for hypertension.

The identification of the control area also should speed research into the underlying causes of high blood pressure, Dr. Donald Reis of Cornell University Medical Center in New York City said Tuesday.

An estimated 58 million Americans suffer from high blood pressure, which can lead to heart attacks and strokes, according to the American Heart Association. In 90 percent of those cases, the cause of the hypertension is unknown.

Reis said that increasing evidence suggests that only adrenalinproducing brain cells in the master control region govern high blood pressure. Abnormalities in those cells could be the cause of the large number of unexplained cases of hypertension, he said.

He noted, however, that the abnormality may lie not with the production of adrenalin but with the production of other yet-to-be-identified substances by those cells.

Other researchers have helped to identify the tiny region, called the rostral ventrolateral medulla, but Reis said he and his colleagues were the first to suggest that the adrenalin-producing cells are the critically important ones.

Reis described his findings at the American Heart Association's annual high blood pressure meeting.

The area lies in the lower brain stem, near where the brain connects to the spinal cord, Reis said. Nearby regions control breathing and other automatic functions, he said.

Dr. Edward Frohlich, chairman of the heart association meeting, said that blood pressure is controlled by many factors, but "this is one important mechanism that has been worked out."

Reis' most recent experiments suggest that the widely prescribed anti-hypertension drug clonidine exerts its effect at least in part by acting on these brain cells. Doctors had thought that it affected only blood vessels, not the brain.

The drug attaches to certain chemicals called receptors on the outside of the cells, thus altering their function.

The existence of the receptors led Reis and his colleagues to search for their natural function, in the absence of clonidine. The researchers subsequently found a clonidine-like substance that is produced naturally in the brain.

"We find there is this material in the brain that may act to regulate blood pressure," he said.

State eyes $80 million bill to improve MHMR

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas would spend $80.6 million to improve mental retardation services under a proposed settlement to a 13-year-old class action suit that state officials described as fair.

The Legislative Budget Board on Tuesday reviewed the Lelsz vs. Kavanagh lawsuit settlement, which has been agreed to by attorneys on both sides and is expected to be signed in Dallas federal court Thursday.

"I think it's a good settlement," said Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, board chairman. "I think it's probably the best result that could have been achieved."

Gov. Bill Clements, who is not on the board, also said he "signed off" on the proposal.

"It's as fair as you're going to get," said House Speaker Gib Lewis, board vice chairman. However, Lewis said he was concerned about the cost of the proposed settlement.

The court-ordered shifting of the mentally retarded from state to community facilities when possible leaves state schools "with less population, but still with the same amount of overhead, and it's putting a very heavy financial burden on the state at a time that we don't have the money to spare for those extras," Lewis said.

The Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation estimates that it would cost an extra $17.7 million in fiscal year 1989, $31.7 million in fiscal year 1990 and $31.2 million in fiscal 1991 to comply with the settlement agreement, said Tom Suehs, deputy commissioner for management and support.

The agreement ultimately will increase the staff-to-client ratio by 15 percent over the next three years in state schools, including doctors, nurses and physical therapists, the department said.

The negotiated agreement of the lawsuit over care of the mentally retarded is the second accord in less than two months, MHMR Board Chairman Roger Bateman said. An agreement was signed in September in the RAJ vs. Miller lawsuit over care of the mentally ill.

Total estimated cost of both settlements to the state is $26.2 million for 1988-89 and $78.4 million in 1990-91, Suehs said.

Officials said money could be shifted within the department budget initially, avoiding the need for lawmakers to meet before the 1989 regular session. An emergency appropriation will be required at the beginning of that session, they said.

The agreement on care of the mentally retarded requires the department to begin the process of complying with Accreditation Council on Developmental Disabilities standards at the Austin, Denton, Fort Worth and San Antonio state schools, the department said.

In the 18-month period prior to the initial accreditation at the four schools, interim improvement measures will be established for medical services, behavior treatment programs and the prevention, reporting and investigation of client abuse and neglect, the department said.

Some parts of the agreement already have been implemented, including education of school-age clients by the local school district and joint development of individual educational programs for those clients, the department said.

Bell to provide operator services

New technology in the telephone network is allowing Southwestern Bell Telephone to provide operator assistance on local and some long-distance calls to Hereford customers. As of Nov. 2, 1987, customers whose telephone numbers begin with 364 will receive operator assistance directly from Southwestern Bell for the first time since the breakup of the Bell System in January, 1984.

Customers are being notified prior to the conversions by a special insert in their monthly telephone bills.

After the Bell System breakup, Southwestern Bell retained the Directory Assistance function, while other operator services were provided under contract by AT&T. But the divestiture agreement made provisions for Southwestern Bell and the other local Bell companies to provide their own network facilities and personnel for local operator assistance. About 1,500 AT&T operators and staff employees will have rejoined Southwestern Bell Telephone in Texas by the end of the year.

"Southwestern Bell is the local telephone company, and it's important that we have as much personal contact as we can with our customers," said Gary Stevens, Area Manager-External Affairs. "We're delighted to again provide a full line of operator assistance functions."

He said the returning operators are experienced professionals who will provide top-notch service.

Under the new system, Southwestern Bell Telephone operators will provide assistance for calls within the company's long Distance Service Areas. Customers will continue to dial "0" zero for assistance with collect, person-to-person, calling card or third-number billed calls, to interrupt a call, or to verify that a line is busy.

Customers who need operator assistance with calls placed between long distance service areas will dial "00" zero zero to reach an operator of another long-distance company.

Gary Stevens said Hereford customers should refer to their telephone directories for more information about Long Distance Service Areas.

There is no change in the rates charged for operator assistance as a result of the new dialing arrangement. And there is no change in "One-Plus" or "Zero-Plus" calling. Zero Plus, where the customer dials "0" plus the telephone number, remains the most convenient way to reach an operator for help with calls, said Gary Stevens.

The new system also enables Southwestern Bell Telephone to better control expenses associated with operator services. "This is made possible by technological advances in our network that automatically route operator-assisted, long-distance calls directly to long-distance operators," said Gary Stevens.

More detailed information about the new dialing plan can be found in the bill insert recently sent to all customers in converting exchanges.

"We want customers to know that if they do need assistance, simply dial '0', and a Southwestern Bell operator will be there to help them," Gary Stevens said.

capital. Twenty-nine of the dead were children, the official reports said.

"It is time to punish these blood-thirsty murderers," Iraq's government-owned Al-Thawra newspaper wrote in an editorial today.

Four long-range missiles have hit the city of 4 million people since Oct. 4, but this was the first major casualty toll reported.

In London, meanwhile, the British Defense Ministry said Tuesday that the mine hunter HMS Brecon found two mines off the United Arab Emirates coast in the Gulf of Oman, just south of the Strait of Hormuz that leads into the Persian Gulf. The area was a busy anchorage until last summer, when a U.S.-operated supertanker hit a mine.

Iran is widely accused of sowing the explosives.

The United States, Britain, Italy, France and other countries have sent navy ships to the gulf to sweep for mines and protect commercial vessels in the oil shipping lanes.

A convoy of reflagged Kuwaiti vessels was in Kuwait today to take on fuel, following a 550-mile journey through the gulf. The Reagan administration agreed last summer to reflag 11 Kuwaiti tankers and protect them against attack by Iran, which accuses Kuwait of aiding Iraq.

A Kuwaiti newspaper reported Tuesday that China had agreed to reflag Kuwaiti oil tankers and send military vessels to protect them.

The daily Al-Seyassah quoted unidentified sources as saying the agreement would be officially announced shortly.

Britain also has reflagged Kuwaiti tankers, while the Soviet Union has leased three vessels to the Arab state.

Italian Premier Giovanni Goria said Tuesday that Italy would not withdraw its warships from the gulf as demanded by pro-Iranian Kurds who said they were holding three missing Italian engineers.

Last month, Italy sent three mine sweepers, three frigates and two support ships to the gulf after an Italian container ship was attacked by what Italy said was an Iranian speedboat.

Wall Street says Texas outlook up

DALLAS (AP) — A Wall Street brokerage firm says the worst is over in Texas and is advising investors to cash in on the state's investment opportunities.

A Salomon Brothers Inc. report says the Texas economy has "bottomed out" after two years of rising unemployment and decaying economic conditions. The firm's analysts also predict Dallas will be the state's first metropolitan area to rebound from the state's economic slump.

"We wanted to make the case that it is now time to seriously consider Texas investments," said Robert Hopkins, an analyst who worked on the report. "Everybody is asking us, 'When is Texas going to turn around?' We feel Texas has bottomed out and that's important for our clients to know."

Unless the national economy takes an unexpected downturn or oil prices tumble again, the state likely will see slow, steady economic growth over the next few years, Hopkins said.

"There is a fundamental, positive attitude that Texas is going to turn around at some point. That's what we tried to answer," Hopkins told the Dallas Morning News. "It's somewhat unique — 15 years ago when New York was in the bottoms, nobody was asking when New York was going to come back."

The report cited J.C. Penney Co.'s pending move from Manhattan to Dallas as an indication that Texas is still viewed as an affordable, attractive state for business.

"Of all the major metropolitan areas in Texas, the broadly diversified Dallas economy is now viewed as a desirable, yet inexpensive business location; thus, it seems the most poised for economic recovery. Office users seeking lower costs with a strong labor pool will find Dallas most attractive," the report said.

Texas lost 194,000 in the last three years, its unemployment rate climbed to 11.1 percent, and office vacancy rates peaked at 30 percent in some urban areas, the report said. Personal income fell to about 10 percent below the national average between 1982 and 1986, it said.

But Salomon Brothers cautioned that real estate and financial areas still show signs of trouble, citing commercial construction as an area where continued declines are probable.

Tip joins book ranks

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Robert Michel, columnist William Safire and Kennedy confidante David Powers say that Tip got it all wrong.

They, along with Sen. Barbara Mikulski and columnists Rowland Evans and Robert Novak, are among the figures who are challenging the accuracy of former House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill's published memoirs.

As Mikulski, D-Md., puts it, "Tip got his memoir mixed up."

Tip, busy on the road selling his book, could not be reached for comment. He's been promoting it in Cleveland, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Washington and Chicago.

But his memory — and memoirs — are defended by his son and the columnist who helped O'Neill write "Man of the House: The Life and Political Memoirs of Speaker Tip O'Neill."

Right or wrong, the book is selling faster than the publisher can print copies, even as critics question the accuracy of some of Tip's tales.

Abundant Life

BITTER OR BETTER
By Bob Wear

We can control many of the happenings in our lives, and should be wise and energetic in doing so. There are, however, other happenings over which we do not exercise full control. All of us know that these happenings must be accepted, in some way; and we do have some choices about how we do this. It is not always easy to make the right choice, but we do have great potential for learning to make the choice with which we can live effectively. We can permit the things which happen to us to make us 'bitter or better.'

We may be mistreated in some instances, we may be hurt by misplacing our confidence in others, there will be illnesses, there will be limitations and reverses, and we will be aware of the imperfections and injustices in human behavior; and there are other happenings and situations which are undesirable. All of these things will affect us, and some of them have the potential to be devastating; and this is what we must avoid.

Our possibilities for coping successfully are very real, and realizing that this is true is our first step. We can accept the happenings, good and bad, more or less as we wish. For instance, we can permit undesirable experiences to lead to more undesirable experiences; but there is no kind of law that makes such action inevitable. We can let our failures lead us on to other failures, but we can also let our failures provide some of the lessons we need to learn. Yes, we do have a choice.

Victorious living can be a reality for us. We must learn that trials, difficulties, sufferings, disappointments and such like can be used to strengthen and enrich our lives. There may be times when we need some help in learning how to wisely control our responses, and there is help available to us.

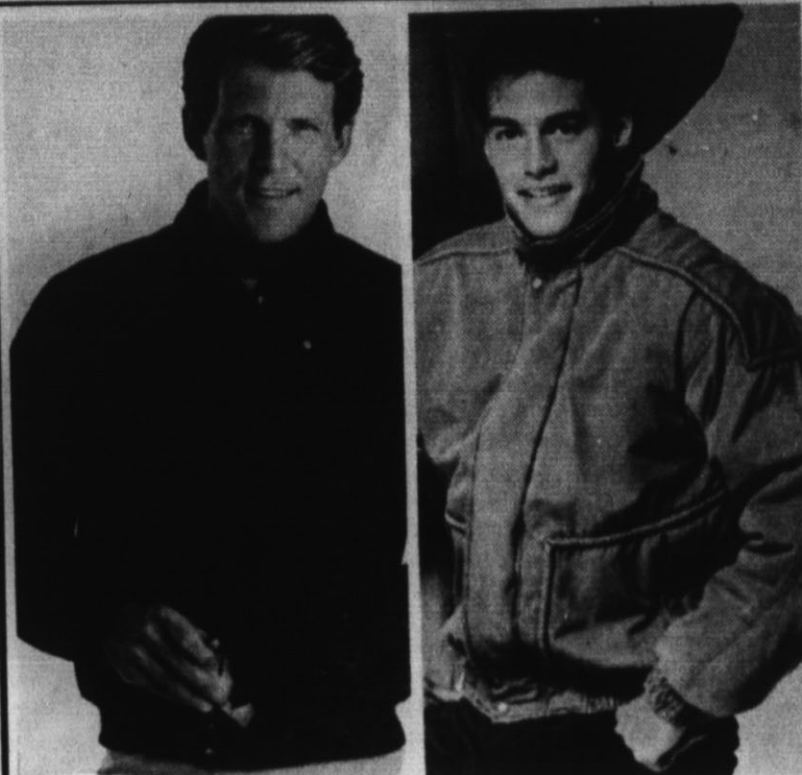

Our wise response will issue from the well-formed value system, and will be made effective by the quality of our faith.

Wins Trip

Commercial loan secretary Ruth McSherry at First National Bank became the lucky winner recently of a trip for two to Las Vegas. FNB employees competed in teams of a point system by signing up new accounts. The other five members of McSherry's team will each receive a free night in Amarillo. Congratulatory balloons were provided by Balloon Express.

Tips offered for a safe Halloween

Halloween evokes images of goblins, witches, and other cleverly-disguised children who go trick-or-treating each year. But it also can bring images of danger if parents, motorists, and homeowners do not take certain safety precautions, according to the Texas Medical Association.

Costumes, especially dark-colored ones, are difficult for motorists to see at night. Parents should include reflective tape or reflective liquid "paint" (available in hardware stores) on costumes and bags to improve a child's visibility.

Make certain the costume is not so long that a child can trip on it, or so loose that it may catch on bushes and other obstacles.

Cloth masks and entire head masks can block a child's vision or breathing. Instead, consider painting a mask on the child's face with cosmetics or grease paint.

Parents should review safety rules with their children, including walking on sidewalks or staying to the side of the road, and not eating any candy or fruit they receive until it has been checked at home.

Motorists must be especially attentive on Halloween. Slow down and drive with extra caution through residential areas.

About six percent of all American households now have computers.

Reading an insurance policy easy

Even when consumers do a good job of comparison shopping among companies for insurance coverage, they seldom take the extra step of reading the actual policy after buying it.

Why bother to wade through the often hard-to-understand terminology? Family financial experts say it could save you a few surprises if you ever have to make a claim on the policy.

"An insurance policy is a contract which should be read, just like any other legal document," explains Mary Clayton Nance, a specialist with the home economics program of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Policy language can be difficult to understand, but it has evolved, in part, out of court cases. Precise language is needed so the policies will stand up in court," she adds.

The specialist says that if you know what to look for, reading a policy may be easier. The typical parts of a property/liability policy are:

Declarations page. This separate cover-sheet is fastened to the policy. It states the policyholders, property and liability to be covered, and the types and amounts of coverages purchased, including deductibles.

Insuring agreement. This section spells out the responsibilities of the policyholder, such as paying the premium, providing accurate information or following procedures for filing a claim. It also states the responsibilities of the insurance company to pay legitimate claims, represent covered parties in court or perform other services stated in the policy.

Conditions of the policy. The coverage provided by the policy, and the requirements of the policyholder and insurance company in the event of a claim are stated in this section. Exclusions. This part describes properties and losses for which coverage is not provided in the policy, and lists conditions under which coverage doesn't apply.

Endorsement. Any written document which changes or modifies the policy in some way is an endorsement. Adding coverage, for example, would require an endorsement.

Nance advises consumers to read their insurance policies for a better understanding of exactly what it does and does not cover, before claim becomes an issue.

Pageant slated Man of the Year

Finally, a national pageant for men! The first ever Texas U.S. Man of the Year Pageant, the state's official preliminary to the U.S. Man of the Year Pageant, will be held the weekend of Nov. 7-8 in San Antonio. Deadline for entries is Nov. 2.

A very new concept in pageants, the Man of the Year Pageant stresses the same characteristics as the Miss America Pageant, specifically a positive role model for the youth of today. Competition consists of personal interview, which counts for 50% of the total score, formal wear (tuxedo) and swimsuit, which each count 25% of the total score.

Good taste will dictate the attire in Swimsuit competition with no bikini or 'speedo' style suits allowed. Personality, self-confidence, articulation, and goal orientation will be emphasized throughout the pageant.

Contestants must be at least 18 years of age, may be married or single, must be a U.S. citizen, of good moral character, and in good physical condition. The pageant has no upper age limit.

The national finals will be held December 13-18 at Convention Hall in Atlantic City, New Jersey (home of the Miss America Pageant). It will be hosted by perennial pageant emcee Bert Parks and will be videotaped for national television syndication in February/March.

The Texas U.S. Man of the Year will be awarded an all expense paid trip to Atlantic City for the national finals, a cash award, gold "Man of the Year" logo pin, and other prizes. The Texas winner will join the California Man of the Year with roles in the Polofilms, Inc. movie, "2056 Brigade."

The Texas Man of the Year Pageant is being produced by Thomas Daniel Productions, who also produces the Texas Mother/Daughter Pageant. Entry forms may be obtained by contacting Thomas Daniel Productions at 8480 Fredericksburg Road, Suite 288, San Antonio, Tx. 78229 or by calling Gary Young, Executive Director, at 512-697-8055.

A pencil equipped with an eraser, the first of its kind, was patented by Hyman L. Lipman of Philadelphia in 1858.

Hereford wins 1-4A tennis championship

Varsity Doubles Player

Matt Keenan, pictured here in a home match earlier this season, is a varsity boys' doubles player for the Hereford High School tennis team. Keenan and doubles teammate Matt Coplen scored a win Tuesday in Hereford's 10-8 team tennis victory at Canyon. The win gave Hereford its second straight District 1-4A tennis championship. Hereford High School claimed the District 1-4A team tennis championship Tuesday with a 10-8 win at Canyon in a match that was a battle of unbeatens in district play.

The win clinches the district title for Hereford, which is now 6-0 and has one district match left to play — at Dumas on Saturday at 3 p.m. Canyon dropped to 5-1.

Hereford and Canyon were tied 8-8 with two boys' singles matches left. Brian Thomas defeated Chris Canon of Canyon, 6-2, 6-2, to put Hereford ahead 9-8.

Hereford Coach Ruben Vargas said Hereford held a lead over Canyon in sets when the match was tied 8-8, and that Hereford would still have won the district championship if Thomas or Brad Barrett had lost a singles match. Sets totals are the first statistic used in a tiebreaker if there had been a 9-9 tie in the match.

Barrett lost his first set, 6-3, to Stanton Foster of Canyon. But Barrett came back to win the next two sets, 7-6, 6-3.

Other winners for Hereford in boys' singles matches were Kevin Hansen, Matt Coplen, and Rick Alley. Hereford swept the boys' doubles matches, with the teams of Hansen and Barrett, Thomas and Steven Hope, and Coplen and Matt Keenan scoring wins.

Kristie Allison and Bridget Baker of Hereford each won girls' singles matches.

The regional tournament is scheduled on Oct. 30-31 in Lubbock.
