As Luck Would Have It

Judas Knocked Over The Salt And That May Have Started It

NEW YORK (AP) - Today is Friday the Thirteenth. It is the only one in 1977 and, as luck would have it, it falls in May. What could be worse?

"Nothing." Shawn Robbins said. stroking her cat. "But I don't believe in superstitions. I collect them, I find them fascinating, but I'm not superstitious."

Shawn Robbins can say that. She can spit in today's eye because she is a psychic. She knows, in advance, that today holds no evil for her even though it is a Friday the Thirteenth that falls in May, the direst kind.

May 13, as spook specialists such as Shawn Robbins know, is the ancient Roman festival of Lemuria. Woe are us.

Lemuria is the dreadful night when Lemurs, the malevolent souls of the dead, hover about. Placate them. Make them a midnight sacrifice.

"Most superstitions have their origins in religion." Shawn Robbins said. Others trace back to practical "Friday the Thirteenth? The 13th apostle at the Last Supper was Judas Iscariot. The next day was Friday. We all know what happened. By the way, did you notice in the da Vinci painting that Judas has knocked over the salt? Interesting."

As for a superstition rooted in necessity, here's one from Shawn Robbin's copious collection: A coachwhip snake will catch you at night and whip you to death. Tell that to your slave if he is inclined to run away.

The superstition about walking under a ladder has elements of both origins.

Some say a ladder casts the shadow of a cross. Tread on it at your peril. Others, including Shawn Robbins, say a ladder casts the shadow of a ladder and the only reason for avoiding it is to keep from getting paint-splattered.

Shawn Robbins discovered her psychic powers 23 years ago, when, as a girl of eight, she foretold her grandmother's death

A few more accurate predictions and she discovered, as she explained it, that these weren't just lucky hunches. Over the years she has worked into the major league of psychics, predicting airplane crashes, finding criminals for the New York police, serving as seer in residence for the National Enquirer.

She took time out recently probably knew she wouldn't be busy - to share some lesser know superstitions from her collection. Take them with a grain of salt. Then toss the salt over your left shoulder. Here they are:

Carry a rabbit's foot tomorrow. Not just any rabbit's foot. Carry the left hind foot of a rabbit that has run in a graveyard.

Don't get married in May. Wait until June, the month of Juno, patroness of happy marriages. As the Scots have warned us: "From the marriages in May, all the bairns die in decay."

Nixon Ignored Kissinger Advice

BY BARRY SCHWEID Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)- A relaxed Richard Nixon, casting himself as coolly in charge of his own foreign policy, says he initiated overtures to China, faced the Russians down in the 1973 Middle East war and rescued Egyptian President Anwar Sadat from "a coup of worse."

In a taped interview with British television personality David Frost, Nixon said he had to overcome the reservations of Henry Kissinger to maintain U.S. military operations in Cambodia in 1970, despite demonstrations at Kent State and other universities.

And, again over Kissinger's warnings of possible political and diplomatic implications. Nixon said he ordered the Pentagon to "send everything that flies" to Israel to help the Jewish state snap back from the 1973 Yom Kippur attack by Egypt and Syria.

Thursday night's telecast over an informal network of 155 television stations was the second of five programs expected to bring Nixon approximately $1

Nixon appeared as confident discussing world affairs in Thursday's taped interview as he had appeared uneasy in dealing with his Watergate downfall in last week's telecast.

Nixon, the only man to resign the presidency, assessed the world leaders he met while president and called Kissinger, who became both secretary of state and national security chief, "a genius" who had to have things his way. Of the world leaders he met, Nixon with his finger on the nuclear button." Nixon called Kissinger an emotional intellectual who "likes to say outrageous things." He said Kissinger, who likes being a celebrity, constantly feuded with William P. Rogers before succeeding him as secretary of state.

The late Chairman Mao Tse-tung of China had "a devilish sense of humor" and lived very simply. Despite debilitating strokes he maintained control over China until his death last year.

After the Watergate scandal forced Nixon's resignation, Kissinger was sometimes critical of his old boss. In a dinner conversation in Ottawa, Canada, in October 1975, for instance, he was overhead describing Nixon as an odd and Besides, he went on, "after such accounts appear. I know that I always get a call from Henry on the phone explaining that there's been either a misquotation, or misinterpretation, or what have you.

'And. I have always said to him,

'Forget it.'" Kissinger could not be reached for comment on Nixon's observations. An assistant in his downtown Washington office said the former secretary of state would have nothing to say. A call to his home in Georgetown was taken by an answering service and not returned.

Surveying his achievements, Nixon said he conceived of the possibility of an initiative toward China before he ever met Kissinger, who nevertheless pursued it "with enormous enthusiasm.

In the Middle East, he said, he cautioned the Soviets not to move in military forces during the 1973 war and rejected as "sheer madness" a proposal by them that they act jointly to impose a

To help Israel repulse the attack by Egypt and Syria, Nixon said he ordered a massive airlift of American weapons. But when Israeli forces crossed the Suez Canal and surrounded the Egyptian third army Nixon said he persuaded them not to destroy it.

Former Board Members Hear New School Plan

Dr. Harrell Holder, superintendent of Hereford schools, used an overhead projector to outline his proposal to reorganize the school campuses, during the school board banquet honoring past board members Thursday evening in the high school cafeteria.

Holder had first publically outlined his proposal Monday night when he appeared as guest speaker for the Parent-Teacher-Stuc pat organization.

In both the Merday affair and Thursday's banquet, Holder presented a plan to move the ninth grades into high school, the sixth, seventh and eighth grades into Stanton and La Plata junior high schools and the kindergarten through fifth grade pupils from Shirley into the other elementary buildings.

The plan, which Holder first revealed at a special school board meeting in April, would make the Shirley campus an annex for the High school.

There currently are 73 students and two teachers -- a 36.5 to 1 ratio -- at Shirley. Under the new plan, the highest student-teacher ratio would be at Bluebonnet-27.3 to 1.

The plan, Holder said Thursday, would eliminate the unbalanced Mexican-American percentage at Shirley. Mexican-American youngsters presently make up 72 per cent of the Shirley enrollment.

'All four elementary schools currently have more minority students," Holder

Holder, as he did Monday, mentioned an alternative plan to the former school board members and others in attendance at the banquet. The plan would involve placing all seventh and eighth-grade students at La Plata and using Stanton as an adjunct to the high school. Ninth graders would be placed on the high school campus under the plan. James Gentry, school-board president and master of ceremonies at the banquet. presented awards to retiring board members Lynton Allred and Jim

Early Morning Showers Icing On Dryland Cake

A thunderstorm system which moved into the county at about 4 a.m. today added icing to the cake for many local dryland farmers as it deposited additional rainfall on the sprawling dryland wheat fields in the county's western section and brought rainfall totals in many areas well

THIS MORNING'S rains came on the heels of showers which fell Saturday and Monday, and should help to insure that grain will be harvested from much of the county's dryland wheat acreage which was not destroyed in brutal sandstorms in February and March

Rains also fell in areas which had not received moisture earlier this week, with totals of at least .50 inches common in

The city of Hereford recorded .41 inches of precipitation this morning according to KPAN radio, to bring the week's rainfall total for the city up to the brink of the one inch mark at .99.

A spokesman for Easter Grain in that community south of Hereford reported that .50 inches of moisture fell-there, and a secretary at Dawn Co-Op to the east of Hereford indicated that she did not have a figure on rainfall at that community, but estimated it at .50 inches

Carter To Sign Public Works Bill .

WASHINGTON (AP)- President Carter is preparing to sign a $4-billion public works bill that supporters say could create as many as 600,000 new jobs.

With 25 mayors from some of the nation's major cities expected to look on, the President planned to sign the legislation this morning in the White House Rose Garden.

Carter mentioned the jobs bill Thursday as he held a nationally televised news conference in which he discussed his summit trip to Europe and defended his domestic policies.

The President was asked about Democratic liberals' criticism of his economic policies. In turning aside such complaints, Carter listed the jobs bill as an accomplishment, then also listed appropriations for local governments, a summer jobs program and his proposal to revamp the funding of the Social Security

What the FCC has done is sanction contrived competition in some of our most profitable markets, principally in services for business and Long Distance.

Rates for these services carry a far greater share of the cost of providing telecommunications service than have home rates. But, if we are forced to lower these rates to compete, or if we lose these revenues, then more of the common costs of the business will be shifted to the average family.

The FCC has decided this new course of regulated competition benefits our customers. We don't think so. Higher rates for These policies -- approved by a government experiment with competition certainly don't seem justified to us.

Be A Friend, Have A Friend

I think the most important thing we teach our kids is to be responsible human beings. When you look about, you can find a lot of adults running around who really don't know the meaning of the word. Webster defines responsible as "accountable" or "answerable." My definition to kids is "if you say you're going to do something, you just gotta do

Probably the greatest frustrations I suffer involve adults who default. They either find something better to do or (get this) FORGET. I contend that we remember what is important to us. Of course, there are people like myself who must write everything down in order to remember, but nonetheless.

they come through like champs. In this area of forgetting, the hardest pill to swallow is that you and the things you value are just not that big a deal to someone else.

Teaching a child to be responsible starts with assigning him reasonable chores, for example emptying trash, making bed, setting table, feeding dog. Then decide what will happen if the chores are not done. Stick to your decision and don't fight or give in. Let a child be independent.

We all fall into the trap of "It's easier and quicker to do it myself." This may be true, but it certainly doesn't promote responsibility.

Begin gradually and soon you will discover that the little person has grown into a strong. responsible adult.

The other afternoon, my son received a mimeographed sheet that was one of the funniest pieces of fiction I've ever read. The heading on it read, "THINGS TO BRING TO

Maybe if I were a new mother sending her son to camp for the first time, I could have taken it seriously, but I'm an older mother and I haven't had such a good laugh since my doctor told me to get off my feet for a few days in 1973. How's this for humor?

Bring three pairs of shoes. (A kid who owns three pairs of shoes can only mean one thing. His gym shoes have come apart in three pieces.)

Stationery. In a waterproof container. (Preferably in a U.S. mailbox with a message written on it and stamped the day before he goes to camp. It's the only way you're going to hear from him.)

Soap: You never know when they might carve something Flashlight for finding way to outdoor restroom: (Be prepared to have your child say on the last day of camp, "So that's where the bathroom is.") Comb, toothbrush and other Giletries: If God had meant for children to permanently wrinkle. He'd never have made them

Four changes of underwear the didn't start live with that

Towels, two bath, one hand and a facecloth. (Label them towels as most campers do not recognize them.)

The trick to camping is to be "cool." Never act like you know what a pair of pajamas are, a raincoat and boots, a pillow or a bathing suit. (I know of one mother who sent hangers to camp with her son and he had to change his

I suppose there was at time when I was quite complete about filling in the forms. But all that has changed. Under Allergies, I listed showers, doing dishes, making beds and finding his way home from anywhere. Under personality traits that may help the counselor. I

I waved to my son who looked at us like he had never met us before. "Where are your parents?" asked the counselor.

Our eyes met in mutual amazement as he said, "They couldn't make it. They re-too busy.'

NEW WINE AREA WASHINGTON (AP) - Californía's Salinas Vailey has developed into an important fine wine district in the last ten years, National Geographic says. Better known for its artichokes and onions, the valley now has 37,000 acres planted with wine-producing grapes.

The cool breeze that blows off Monterey Bay helps make the valley good wine country, as does its sandy, granitic soil, which gives wine a stronger flavor."Thick, rich, black soil gives you a lot of tonnage but not much flavor," explains Dr. R. G. Peterson, president of the Monterey Vineyard. "If the vines have to fight to survive, the wine will be better.'

The Salinas Valley also has another advantage. The vines grow from their own roots. In France and in most premium wine growing regions of Cali-fornia, grape vines have had to be grafted onto roots that are resistant to phylloxera, a louse that attacks leaves and roots.

State-Line [Special] Twenty people attended the monthly meeting of the Rosedale Community Center in Bellview, N.M. Thursday evening.

Hostesses for the May meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Burnett and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Mitchell.

The group enjoyed playing games of "42", Rook and Skip-bo. Leonard Mitchell, president, conducted a short business meeting. This is the last spring meeting for the center as wheat harvest time is approaching. The next meeting The refreshment bar was covered with a yellow cloth with a border of white daisies and centered with a spring floral arrangement of yellow Iris. The hostesses served assorted homemade cookies, angel food cake, pound cake, salted nuts, fruit punch and coffee to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Cross Jr., Jordan Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs Rucker, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Pulliam, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Allen. Cleve Johnston of Clovis, Mike Cross, Susan and Joey Wyatt, Cindy Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Burnett.

Miss Coffey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O.B. Coffey, was named second alternate at the New Mexico Regional Science Fair in Roswell, N.M. recently.

Her entry, "Are Shells and Mollusks Useful?" will not be eligible for competition in the International Science Fair unless one of the other Regional winners is unable to attend.

During her week-long stay in Cleveland, Debra will view the scientific displays, attend banquets and assemblies, and have the opportunity to attend several guided tours.

Financial contributions from a number of local organizations including the Texico Women's Club, the Texico Chamber of Commerce, the Texico Fire Department, the Riding Club and Kiwanis have made Debra's trip possible.

State-Line [Special] The Pleasant Hill Woman's Club met recently, for the homecoming for former members. The Pleasant Hill Club is fifty years old with the club being organized on June 8, 1927, in the home of the late Mrs. Gene Gooch, with Mmes. Henry Kaemper, Ed Lovett, T.C. Greathouse, G.A. Thorton, Norton, Grady Pierce, Ruth James, Faye Smith. Ada Singleterry, Jessie Black and John Donahey.

The first president was Mrs. T.C. Greathouse. Of the original members and officers, only Mrs. Thornton, Mrs. Smith and Mrs Donahey survive.

At the meeting, Mrs. Thornton was presented with white and pink carnations, symbolic of the club's flowers, Mrs. Nora Bocox also received carnations in honor of her being the oldest active member. The club motto is "To Serve."

The present officers are: president, Mary Lou Jesko; vice-presidents Alice Pierce and Beverly Pierce; secretary-treasurer, Diane Porter; and reporter, Lueta Clark.

The roll call was answered with "The Year I Joined the Club." Jane Williams presented the program "Tip Toe Through the Years." The incidents were obtained by going through the scrap-books and selecting some of the highlights. Some of the oncidents of special interest were the unusual amount of pink and blue showers for the members, kidnap breakfasts, minstrel shows, style shows, flower shows and tacky days.

The club originally met in a dug-out for many years, until the Pleasant Hill School consolidated with Texico. At that time the community obtained the building to be used for club meetings and all community affairs.

Hostesses: Robin Furford, Thelma Eskew, Monte Baldreige, Barbara Timble, Beverly Pierce and Lueta Clark, served ham, french bread, coffee and tea with the members bringing covered-dishes to complete the State-Line [Special] Opal Moore of Broadview was hostess to members and guests of the Bellview- Broadview Extension Club Tuesday. The afternoon meeting was held at 2 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the Broadview Church of the Nazarene. Thirteen members and one guest, Mrs. Francis Hoagland, answered roll call.

Mrs. Ralph Northcutt of Clovis, president, was in charge of the business meeting. The club will hold its last spring meeting, with a change of date to May 16th. A fun day will be held at Ute Lake with a luncheon to be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs Rucker.

Christene Hardisty, Home Demonstration Agent, presented the afternoon meeting on quick method "Gold Leafing Craft". She displayed several articles she had completed.

The serving table was laid with a white Damask cloth and centered with a white basket filled with over one hundred red satin rose buds, babybreath and greenery. This basket of roses had been presented to the hostess recently when she attended the New Mexico State Delta Kappa Gamma Convention held in Roswell N.M. April 22-24th. Members presented this floral arrangement to her as outgoing State President, and one rose for each (25 yrs) of her membership and one rose for each member in the Clovis and Portales Delta Kappa Gamma Chapter. The centerpiece was flanked by red candles in hand-blown crystal holders.

The hostess served apricot crepes, New Orleans muffins, stuffed dates, pink lemonade, chiffon pie, jello, fruit float punch and coffee.

Women attending the meeting included Mrs. Clinton Burnett, Mrs. Ralph Northcutt, Mrs. Earl Allen, Mrs. Leroy Bailey, Mrs. Missela Boney. Mrs. Ralph Burnett, Mazie

Mrs. Gibbs Rucker, Christene Hardesty, June Tunnell and Mrs. Francis Hoagland.

State-Line [Special] Miss Paula Bold of Grady was honored on her 15th birthday with a surprise party by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burnal (Bud) Bold and co-hosts Mr. and Mrs. Ron Hutchison.

The social event was held in the Fellowship Hall of the Broadview Church of Nazarene on April 21st. Active relay games were directed by Mrs. Bold and Mrs. Hutchison; also table games were enjoyed during the evening.

A large double sheath birthday cake with white frosting was decorated with a standing pink net heart with a boy and girl silhouette encircled with pink candles and rose buds. Homemade ice cream was served to thirty guests including members of the Grady 9th grade class of Grady School.

State-Line (Special) A group youths and their sponsors from the Rosedale Baptist Church presented a musical program last week at Westgate Nursing Home in Hereford.

Jimmy Schell, music director of the Rosedale Baptist Church, Mrs. Paul Harrison, youth director, Rev. Richard Clymer, pastor of the church, and Mrs. Kenneth Osborn, pianist, accompanied the following youth to Hereford: Sammy Brown, Tommy Clymer, Jimmy Lambert. Danny Duncan, Susan Wyatt, Delinda Duncan, Deborah Allen and one visitor, Lori Miller of Texico.

Jimmy Schell led the group in singing selected gospel songs. Tommy Clymer rendered a guitar solo and Sammy Brown played a piano solo.

Fresh Greens, Vegetables Combine for Dinner Salad

Greens and other raw vegetables are best served clean, cold, crisp and dry-except for salads of wilted lettuce or spinach in which a hot dressing is poured on the raw vegetables," she advised.

To prepare vegetables for a salad, wash them' well under running water. Use cold water for most items, but try lukewarm water for crinkly leaves--as it opens the creases in leaves to let sand and soil wash out easily.

Cut or tear salad greens before serving. Cut raw vegetables immediately before serving the salad--to avoid loss of nutrients. Cooked vegetables in salads are best if they are tender, but firm enough to hold their shape. Some salad favorites are green beans, asparagus and pickled beets. Other salad items--for varie-

Consumers Should Choose Travel Agents With Care

COLLEGE STATION— Many travel agents can help plan satisfying vacations--but others are just plain fraudulent, warns Claudia Kerbel, a consumer information specialist. While reputable travel agents have the information and expertise to help vacation planners, other agents misrepresent tours and accomodations, omit certain costs from the 'total-price' information or fail to explain all the details of a trip," she said.

Mrs. Kerbel is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University

Although consumers have little protection against travel agency fraud, there are safeguards they can practice. the specialist added.

-- Look for agents who are members of the American Society of Travel Agents or International Air Transport Association. These trade organizations may be able to help consumers with a complaint against a member agent.

-- Deal with established, local agents-- people who will be in business after your vacation. Also, ask friends to recommend an agent--or ask an agent for names of people they served, and contact those people for recommendations. -Read any contract an agent asks you to sign-to determine refund rights if an airplane flight is cancelled or if you cancel the trip. Always learn the cancellation policy at the time you make a reservation.

-- Make certain everything that is promised is included in the contract you sign--including accomodations, facilities and services. Otherwise, make sure the contract states that these items are not included.

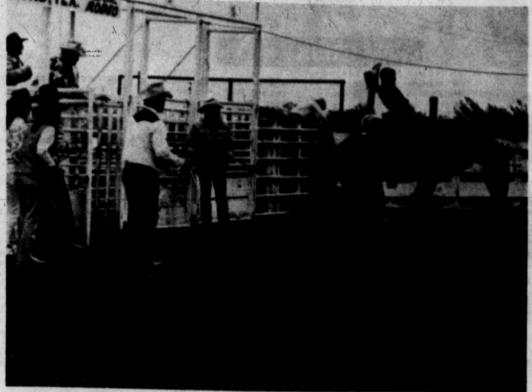

Do not rely on oral promises or agreements -- or pretty pictures in brochures.

MOM'S DAY HISTORY

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) -Mother's Day, first observed here in 1908, has origins going back to the ancient Greeks.

According to Hallmark researcher Sally Hopkins, a spring festival was held annually in Greece and Asia Minor honoring Cybele, goddess of nature and motherhood. This custom spread to Rome about 250 B.C. as the festival of Hilaria. The three-day period of dancing and feasting began on the Ides of March.

Nowadays, Mother's Day is celebrated not only in the United States but in Austria. Canada, Mexico, China, Japan, the West Indies, parts of Africa and in most South and Central American countries. To mark the occasion, Americans are expected to send more than 200 million Mother's Day cards this

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) -For casually erratic Ben Crenshaw, golf is more than a challenge. It's an adventure. It's golf with a grin and a "gosh what's next?"

When he's good, he's great. When he's bad, he's beautiful if you can find him.

He does indeed visit unusual and isolated places. "I finally convinced myself I don't need a driver." grinned Crenshaw, 25, the surprise co-leader entering the second round today of the $200,000 Colonial National Invitation. "I went to my three wood. It's-a lot easier from the fairway." He and Al Geiberger, a former winner here, slashed five shots from Colonial's par 70 treachery and shared a one-stroke lead in the chase for the $40,000 top prize. "A 65 here is just great for me.' said Gentle Ben, who one-putted 11 greens to offset persistently erratic tee shots and other foibles. On one hole, the 6th, a "Goodawful" tee shot took him into the trees, down an adjacent fairway and finally to the green for a miraculous bogey.

At the 7th, he hit a tee shot so bad it turned out good-clearing a hazardous wooded area - and he collected one of his six birdies of the day.

Some may recall that Ben eagled the 68th hole at the Byron Nelson Classic last week. then took bogies at the final two holes to permit Ray Floyd to elbow past him for the title.

But Thursday was a remarkable day here in every sense. uncommonly clear and calm, and a near-record 23 players seized upon the conditions to slip under par. Behind Crenshaw and Geibe-rger, who birdied the final two holes, were a trio of 66s. including Roger Maltbie, Chi Chi Rodriguez and John

The happy-go-lucky Rodriguez wrecked a potential 64 with a spectacular six on the par 10th hole, but shrugged it off with a Puerto Rican cliche:

"A double bogey in golf is like death and life, it's going to happen.

Masters kingpin Tom Watson, the leading money winner with $190,940 to date, headed a quartet of 67 shooters despite the fact that his putter "feels like a sledgehammer in my hands.

Crenshaw's old University of Texas golfing buddy Tom Kite also was at 67 with Gary McCord and Ed Sneed, the' latter floundering with bogeys at two of the three closing holes.

Two former Colonial champions, Julius Boros and Rod Curl. were among seven tied at two-under-par 68, and defending champion Lee Treving was among 11 at even par.

"I feel like a million dollars," bubbled Trevino, who is being treated daily by Texas Christian University trainer Jim Sullenger for his ailing back. "Man." said the Merry Mex. "he saved my life...After only two days, I can almost reach down and grab

It was just three days ago that Trevino, rubbing his back. asserted that "I don't think I'll be a threat to anybody, except maybe my wife, until 1978."

FAITH TEACHES US THAT ALL OF LIFE IS LEARNING

t graduation time, whether high school, college or a specialized institution of learning, we are reminded that education in the skills of life is an infinite thing; that you can always add to the knowledge you need for your chosen career, and that there is always something new for you to learn. Likewise, your religious training is concerned with the development of your character, and this process should continue for the rest of your life on earth. By attending the Church of your choice you will learn the nature of this divine curriculum from which there is no graduation, but for which you will receive a degree of happiness and serenity obtainable from no other source of learning.

The very spring and root of honesty and virtue lie in the felicity of lighting on good education.

— Plutarch

of a biology professor. The student, a junior majoring in secondary education who once played football at Tyler Junior College, had been praised as dedicated and hard working by the victim, officers

Police said Dr. W. Carl Roddy, 33, was shot about seven times as he stood in the entry to his office talking to the gunman while another student waited in Roddy's office.

Investigators said the witness who had been in Roddy's office told them she heard no argument or discussion before the shots were fired.

Officials said the 29-year-old man who police identified as Roddy's killer had taken a course in parasitology under Roddy last semester.

School authorities showed reporters a note attached to a form in the student's record in which Roddy said the student "is one of the hardest working, most dedicated students that I have ever had in parasitology.'

Dr. Lynn Sharrod, dean of the school of mathematics and science, said the student had a B in lecture and a C in laboratory work in the course he took this Spring from Roddy.

Texas Eastern is a two-year state-supported upper level institution with an enrollment of about 1,500 students.

Mexican-Americans To Resist Carter's Illegal-Alien Proposals WASHINGTON (AP)- A group of Mexican- Americans told Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell Thursday that Mexican- Americans would resist many proposals being considered by the Carter administration for dealing with illegal aliens.

Bell met for 90 minutes with a group calling itself Chicano Rights, Inc. Members of the group arranged the meeting with Bell after they picketed a meeting he attended in San Diego last month.

The Mexican- Americans' spokesman, Herman Baca of San Diego, said afterwards that their major point with Bell was the failure of the administration to consider the status of the millions of Mexican- American citizens and legal aliens.

"Our communities are virtually under a state of siege" because of intensified government efforts to find illegal aliens and send them back to Mexico, Baca said.

US To Give Isralies Weapons Consideration

designed armaments.

Carter's announcement came just two hours after he and a group of senators who support Israel worked out an agreement to grant Israel special treatment. The senators agreed in exchange to shelve an amendment aimed at giving lawmakers the power to circumvent

Carter's arms policy. Thursday's events capped an all-out lobbying battle between the State Department and the Israeli embassy and its backers. The department wanted to exclude Israel from a category of preferred nations that receive priority consideration in arms metters.

Led by Undersecretary of State Lucy Wilson Benson. department lobbyists argued that including Israel in that category would upset the Arabs at a sensitive point of Middle East negotiations.

They also argued that the United States needed to adopt an "even-handed" policy toward the Middle East antogo-

Although first inclined to go along with the Israeli exclusion. sources said it was not until Carter got an emergency phone call from an aid while he was flying home from London on Tuesday that he realized a confrontation had developed.

He decided the State Department has misled him and he arranged for the Thursday meeting where he agreed to accept the Israeli position.

The Israeli embassy issued a statement while it welcomed the stand, while sources said privately that Carter had made a very important reaffirmation of a policy that certainly would not please some officials at the State Department.

employes are aggressively interested in benefits rather than wages alone. Most benefits Castillo To Try Stopping Flow

WASHINGTON (AP)- President Carter, in a White House ceremony, is swearing into office a Mexican-American who will be responsible for curbing the flow of illegal aliens from his ancestral homeland. Leonel Castillo, former controller for the city of Houston. has been selected to serve as commissioner of the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Castillo will be charged with stopping the movement of illegal aliens into the United States. Although no reliable figures exist, the INS estimates that between four million and 12 million illegal aliens are in the United States, most of them from Mexico and the Caribbean.

His duties will require him to walk a fine line between enforcing the law and pleasing Mexican- American groups who lobbied for his appointment and will expect him to represent their views. Meanwhile, Carter is considering a package of proposals to deal with the problem that were drafted by an administration task force. Carter is expected to send the proposals to Congress by the end of the month. Work on the package continues, but several administration sources say it will contain some elements that may not please Mexican- Americans.

One such item is a penalty for employers who knowingly hire illegal aliens. It probably will be a civil offense punishable by a fine. The administration believes the penalty is essential to dry up the job market for aliens and destroy their incentive to sneak across the border.

But some Mexican- Americans say the penalty may give employers an easy reason to refuse to hire Spanish-speaking people, including legitimate residents. Mexican- Americans say they would prefer increased efforts to enforce minimum wage and work standard laws against employers who exploit alien labor, which the administration also proposed to do. .

Controversy also may surround the amnesty proposal, which Castillo and Carter say must be part of an equitable program. The President will decide when to cut off the date for amnesty eligibility, but one proposal is to offer amnesty to all aliens who have been in the country since the early 1970s. No one knows exactly how many that would leave stranded. Castillo has said immigration quotas for Mexico ought to be raised, but the task force has not recommended that, sources say. Castillo's actions will be monitored by Mexican-Americ-

Inc., which met with Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell on Thursday.

"We'll be watching to see how he Castillo does. It's too early to say right now." said Herman Baca, the group leader. Baca's group made it plain it did not like the way the INS was run under Castillo's predecessor, Leonard Chapman. "Our

Oklahoma Convicts Differ On Drug Law

McALESTER, Okla. (AP)-The only two convicts at the Oklahoma State Penitentiary who are subject to possible execution have differing views on the state's new lethal drug

The law, signed by Gov. David Boren on Tuesday, would provide that executions be by drug injections rather than in the electric chair. Warden Richard Crisp said

Warner H. Irvin, 41, of Oklahoma City told him "the sentence will never be carried out in my case." Irvin, convicted of killing an armored car driver and the robbery of about $800,000. believes the death sentence in his case eventually will be commuted by the courts.

The other prisoner, Richard Hagar, 27, of Del City, an Oklahoma City suburb, told the warden, "If it execution does happen, it makes no difference to me which way it's done."

Hagar was sentenced to death for the fatal shooting of Anthony D. Corley of Enid last September.

Fourteen other prisoners who originally received the death sentence were convicted under the old death penalty law which was held unconstitutional. Their terms were commuted to life imprisonment.
