Smiling with pride

Bob Baum proudly displays his various brands, desk pieces and needlepoint. Through his art, the 71-year-old craftsman provides a spark of Western spirit in many parts of the United States.

Local man gains acclaim from a variety of talents

By LINDSAY RADFORD
Summer Intern

Compelled by visions of the past, Bob Baum ignores the hardships of age to pursue his talents with wood, metal and even a needle and thread. Just past 71 this remarkable man is famous across the country for his various talents. His work can be found as far as Tennessee, California, Montana and even Luxembourg.

"Throughout my life I've always enjoyed being creative with my hands. It's something that comes naturally for me," said Baum.

As a young man, Baum studied the art of woodcarving. The physical limitations of age, however, provided the necessary reasons for discovering other hidden talents.

"With age I lost some use of my hands. Woodworking became more and more difficult so I switched to working with metal and needlepoint," Baum said.

Needlepoint was an ideal way for Baum to exercise his hands during the cold winter months. "It's something that takes a great deal of patience but I've grown to enjoy it. My wife has always sewn and she helped spark my interest," remarked Baum.

Specializing in branding irons, the artist began this hobby while living in Oklahoma. "For 18 years I worked as a mechanic. Metal is a good material for someone with a little creativity," he said.

Most of the brands created by Baum at that time were sold to ranches including an ostrich farm in Colorado. "It was one of the funniest things I've even made. The brand even looked like an ostrich," remarked Baum.

In 1962, Baum moved to Hereford where he continued to practice his skills as a craftsman.

"People would see my creations here and there and soon they began placing orders. I still make regular branding irons, but now I also make miniature brands as desk pieces," answered Baum.

Working in his garage, he has made over 170 brands. On average, production time is five hours.

The desk pieces come in a variety of shapes and sizes. Generally, an individualized branding iron is mounted onto a wood background. A magical western scene is created with a yucca plant and a piece of drift wood placed on the background.

"I try to make my work as authentic as possible. Branding irons are a dying art," said Baum. I hope

I can catch some of the beauty of the past for others to view."

He pays particular attention to his branding irons. "A branding iron is like your name. If it isn't made correctly then it's not a part of who you are," he said.

Most people use their brands for decoration, to personalize their saddles and tack or as gifts. They're especially popular at Christmas.

"If you don't have a registered brand you can always use your initials," replied Baum.

Competing in numerous art contests, Baum displays his work throughout the midwest. "People are fascinated by what can be created with a little imagination. You can make a cannon out of an old spark plug just by adding wheels," Baum said.

These competitions have allowed Baum to make a name for himself. "I have sent work all the way to Tennessee, California and even to Luxembourg," he said.

His favorite piece of work is an old ranch scene which includes a bunk house, barn, and a tack room with a saddle hanging inside.

Baum is disappointed by the lack

New U.S.-Japan trade pact hailed, disputed

By MARTIN CRUTSINGER
AP Economics Writer

TOKYO (AP) - President Clinton and Japanese Prime Minister Kiichi Miyazawa proclaimed a new era in the stormy history of U.S.-Japan trade relations today, but almost immediately a dispute arose over just what the two sides had agreed to.

Clinton and Miyazawa announced at a joint news conference that they had reached agreement on broad ground rules to govern future trade negotiations. The administration hopes those negotiations will sharply reduce America's huge $50 billion trade deficit with Japan.

However, in briefings later in the day, the two sides had divergent views about how America's use of trade sanctions would affect the agreement.

U.S. officials said nothing in the agreement would prevent the United States from unleashing its most potent trade weapon, a section of U.S. trade law known as Section 301, that allows the president to impose punitive tariffs on foreign goods if another country is found to have erected unfair barriers against U.S. products.

However, Japanese officials said there would be an exchange of side letters in which the Japanese would clearly state that if the United States does impose sanctions, the Japanese have the right to stop negotiating in that particular area.

U.S. officials conceded that the agreement would be accompanied by side letters, but did not disclose the details. They also conceded that the framework agreement was only a broad outline of how the trade imbalance will be reduced.

"The framework presents the rules of the game, not the game," said W. Bowman Cutter, the chief U.S. negotiator. "Results will flow from it, but it depends on our perseverance."

The U.S. side sought to get a broad commitment from Japan that it would slash its worldwide trade surplus in half within three years and boost purchases of imports by one-third.

Japan branded that demand "managed trade" and said it would never agree to inflexible numerical targets.

In the end, the two sides compromised in language in which Japan pledged to make a "highly significant" decrease in its trade surplus by pursuing a "significant increase" in purchases of foreign manufactured products, allowing both sides to argue over the interpretation of those words.

To accomplish the broad goal of trimming Japan's trade surplus, both countries agreed to negotiations involving specific products in five broad categories with progress to be monitored at semiannual meetings by the U.S. president and Japanese prime minister.

Products to be covered include autos and auto parts, computers, telecommunications, satellites, medical equipment, financial services and insurance.

To measure progress in opening Japan's market in each of these areas, the two sides agreed to establish "sets of objective criteria."

But the agreement does not specify what would constitute such a benchmark and U.S. officials conceded they would have to bargain product by product on the measurement tool to be used.

The agreement also commits the United States to reduce its budget deficit and improve its international competitiveness.

In their joint appearance, Clinton praised Miyazawa for his "wisdom, determination and genuine leadership" in pushing ahead with the negotiations. Tears welled in Miyazawa's eyes during Clinton's comments. Miyazawa is widely expected to be forced out as prime minister in the upcoming elections.

Clinton blasts North Korea for military development

By BARRY SCHWEID
AP Diplomatic Writer

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) - President Clinton denounced North Korea today for raising the specter of "nuclear annihilation" and seeking to develop long-range missiles that could threaten Japan.

He said the United States would be "resolute" in pressuring North Korea to open its fuel storage sites to international inspection and would not engage in endless negotiations with the communist government.

"The nightmare of nuclear annihilation is too real," Clinton said in a speech to the South Korean National Assembly.

In a speech to the South Korean parliament, Clinton also said "America intends to stay" in South Korea with its troops as long as necessary. The United States has 36,000 troops stationed there.

"We'll stay as long as the Korean people want us and need us," Clinton said. "Peace depends on deterrence. Our commitment to an active military presence remains."

Bringing strong messages to the bitterly divided Korean peninsula, Clinton suggested North Korea risks retaliation if it develops nuclear weapons.

"Our goals remain firm: we seek a non-nuclear Korean peninsula," he told South Korean lawmakers. "North Korea must understand our intentions. We are seeking to prevent aggression, not initiate it."

Clinton said North Korea "has nothing to fear from America" so long as it doesn't build nuclear weapons.

He also accused the communist government of "indiscriminate sales of Scud missiles" like those used by Iraq in the Persian Gulf War.

Clinton's tough words were designed to pressure the reclusive communist government in Pyongyang to open its nuclear facilities so that international inspectors can determine if North Korea is developing nuclear weapons.

He was visiting South Korea four days before the scheduled resumption of U.S. negotiations with the communist government of North Korea on the nagging nuclear issue.

"No specter hangs over the region more darkly than the danger of nuclear proliferation," Clinton said, adding that North Korea's intransigence posed "a nightmare of nuclear annihilation."

On Sunday, he'll get a chance to look North Korean soldiers in the eye as he visits the demilitarized zone that separates the two Koreas.

Earlier, Clinton said that North Korea's suspected program "is of great concern not only to the United States and the Republic of Korea but to all in this region." He spoke after meeting at the presidential Blue House with South Korean President Kim Young-sam.

"We agreed to consult closely on our joint efforts to achieve a full resolution of this issue," Clinton said after the meeting with Kim. "And we are resolute to take additional steps if they are required."

Former Brand publisher Gillentine dies at age 85

James M. "Jimmie" Gillentine, publisher of The Hereford Brand from 1937 through 1971, died Saturday morning. He was 85.

Gillentine died at 8 a.m. in Drellam Retirement Village in Dallas.

He was associated with the Brand for almost 35 years before selling the paper and Southwest Offset Printing in December 1971. Services will be at 2 p.m. Monday in First Baptist Church with the Rev. Doug Manning of Fellowship of Believers and Dr. Ron Cook, pastor of First Baptist Church, officiating.

Burial will be in West Park Cemetery under direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home. Gillentine was born on April 11, 1908, in Fort Worth. He married Clara Castleberry in 1934 in Wellington. She died in 1987.

He moved to Hereford on Feb. 15, 1937.

During his tenure at the Brand, Gillentine converted the paper from a weekly to a semi-weekly with the first Sunday edition, on July 4, 1949, and under his leadership the paper won many awards.

He purchased a one-half interest in the newspaper a year after arriving here, then bought the remaining interest in 1949.

He was active in the Panhandle Press Association all the years with the paper, and served as its president in 1947.

The association named Gillentine to its Hall of Fame at

Texas health officials facing same virus as in New Mexico

By CHIP BROWN
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - Health officials say they are hopeful most of the 16 Texas cases being investigated for the rodent-borne virus that has killed at least a dozen people in the Southwest will end up testing negative.

Texas Health Commissioner David Smith said Friday the 16 reports have come from doctors in 12 counties all over the state who have observed patients with symptoms that fit the mysterious illness known as hantavirus.

Jeff Taylor, an epidemiologist with the Texas Department of Health, said of the 16 possible cases, six people have died, including an East Texas woman who apparently contracted the strain of hantavirus from rodent droppings near her home in Zavalla.

But Beverly Roy, a nurse epidemiologist with the department, said, "Most of the reports are not patients that we suspect will be positive for the virus. But we are taking them all very seriously and investigating all of them.

"We expect maybe sporadic cases, but we don't expect the outbreak situation that is going on in the Four Corners area," Ms. Roy said.

Until now, the rare illness had been found only in New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado and Utah. Most cases were clustered where those states meet, called the Four Corners.

Smith said blood and tissue samples from the Texas cases have been sent to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in Atlanta for testing. However, he said the test results are still incomplete.

This week, the CDC in Atlanta found hantavirus antibodies in the blood of the 58-year-old woman from Zavalla, who died last month. CDC officials said Thursday her death probably was from the virus. However, they are waiting to test tissue samples from the woman before declaring hers a definite hantavirus death.

"It's strong enough (evidence) that we felt it was important to make clinicians aware that this illness may be occurring in other geographic areas," said Dr. Ruth Berkelman, deputy director of CDC's Center for Infectious Diseases.

As many as 22 deaths have been linked to hantavirus, according to the CDC. The illness is spread through close contact with rodents and their droppings.

It causes muscle aches, shortness of breath and fever and can evolve into pneumonia and cause respiratory failure in a short period time, health officials say.

The CDC says deer mice probably are spreading it because dozens of the animals trapped in the Four Corners area carry antibodies to hantavirus.

The East Texas woman had not traveled to the four afflicted states. Texas officials on Thursday trapped mice at a barn she owned for testing. The woman's office said arranged immunizations, officials said.

Taylor said the 12 counties in Texas where the possible cases have been reported are: Harris, Dallas, Dallam, McLennan, De Witt, Angelina, Howard, Wichita, El Paso, Nacogdoches, Gregg and Austin.

Local Roundup

County posts agenda

Deaf Smith County commissioners have a short agenda for their regular meeting Monday, beginning at 9 a.m., in the courthouse. Among business items are to consider selection of an engineer for the Campbell Street project, to decide on tax abatement for Newton Trucking, to consider holding a public hearing on erecting traffic signs on county roads and to hear about a proposed discount prescription service for employees.

TAAS tests to be given

The summer administration of the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills test will be conducted this month for high school students. The writing portion will be given on July 13, the reading part on July 14 and the math section on July 15. Students who were in the 10th, 11th or 12th grade this past spring are eligible to take any section of the exit level test not yet mastered. Call the high school, 363-7620, for more information.

Immunization schedule noted

The Texas Department of Health has announced its July immunization clinic scheduled for Hereford. Vaccines against polio, diphtheria, lockjaw (tetanus), whooping cough (pertussis), measles, rubella, mumps and HIB (hemophilus influenzae type B) will be offered. Charges are based on family income and size and ability to pay. Funds are used to help keep the clinic open. Regular clinics will be held from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. on July 15, 22 and 29. The clinics are held in the Health Department offices, 205 W. Fourth St., Suite B.

Flooded churches turning to prayer around Midwest

SIoux FALLS, S.D. (AP) - They've tried sandbags, levees, dams and all have eventually fallen if the river wanted to come through. So waterlogged Midwesterners are turning to a higher power.

Roman Catholic churches in the Sioux Falls area have been given a sample prayer service that deals specifically with the current travails, said diocese spokesman Jerry Klein.

"The idea is to pray both for favorable weather and the relief of those affected by the flood," Klein said.

The diocese's chief clergyman, Bishop Paul Dudley, plans a special Mass Monday for flood victims.

"We're very conscious of the financial problems that have been created by the flood and will continue for some time to come," Klein said. "We're also aware of the great deal of emotional and physical strain that's very real for people."

During services, pastors often ask those with problems in their congregations to come forward for help, said Zastrow, pastor of the Grace Lutheran Church in Nunda.

BAUM----

of pride some people place in their work.

"So many people mass produce their work in hopes of a profit. The value of the product simply declines. Your work has to be meaningful to you, otherwise it's not worth anything substantial," answered Baum.

Attempting to change this, Baum has worked with Boy Scout troops teaching them his many talents. "I've trained more individuals in wood-working than anything else," he said.

Baum believes some things can't be taught, however. "The pride you find in your work and the desire to create beautiful pieces has to come from within," emphasized Baum.

Expanding on his talents, Baum continues to discover new and exciting hobbies. Not only can he transform a stainless steel nut or pipe into an elegant ring, he can also create unique and often complicated puzzles.

"People always complain that puzzles are hard. They're not hard, they're just confusing," he said.

Artistic talent can be found in all branches of the Baum family. "My wife loves to sew and she still knits her own socks. My daughter also enjoys Indian beadwork," said Baum.

The next public display of Baum's work will be at the Christmas art show in Hereford.

HJH Roundup

By CAROLYN WATERS

H.G. Wells put it so aptly when he said, "Civilization is a race between education and catastrophe." The outcome of that race, today, is by no means a sure thing.

Illiteracy is still on the rise in America. This is a serious problem since our future depends on a well-educated population.

The fact that reading scores are up in some of HISD's schools will only encourage us to strive harder to help our students to further increase their scores and hopefully their love of reading.

Many of the HJH teachers are attending college or workshops this summer. Mrs. Gilbert, Mrs. Henderson and Mr. Chand will be attending an extensive science workshop to prepare for a relatively new science program. Mrs. Cortez, Mrs. Buckley and I will be in Austin this week attending a Middle School Academy hosted by the University of Texas and the Texas Education Agency. Volleyball camp begins this week and some of our teacher-coaches will direct this activity.

Reports indicate that a number of our students are still involved in camps and training through churches, Scouts and 4-H.

Education is a debt due from present to future generations states George Peabody. The time to pay that debt is now. We know that educators cannot do this job alone. Education and the emphasis on good study habits and good grades begins at home. Reading to and with your children helps to increase their study habits. Do take advantage of the excellent reading program through our local library.

Anniversary tea planning

Red imported ants coming into area

By JEAN PAGEL

Lubbock, Texas (AP) - Red imported fire ants have built their mounds for decades in Texas' humid, warm coastal areas.

Then isolated colonies of the swarming species began turning up in West Texas, though, and the ants still survived.

Are the destructive pests adapting to harsh winters and dry climate? Research at Texas Tech University shows it's possible.

Sherman Phillips Jr., associate professor of entomology at Tech, said his work indicates Lubbock's red imported fire ants are less prone to desiccate, or dry out, than are those from East Texas. The species could be developing a thicker wax coat, Phillips said.

"It might be that we just have to face up to the fact that they're here," he said, plucking one of the tiny critters from among thousands running crazily inside an office tub.

The red imported fire ant - scientifically called the Solenopsis invicta - migrated to the United States in the 1950s from Brazilian flood plains.

Most of the heavy infestation in Texas has occurred east of Interstate 35. But isolated colonies started showing up several years ago in Wichita Falls, Abilene, San Angelo and Midland. Entomologists blame much of the far-flung migration on the transport of infested trees and grass from East Texas.

Lubbock is the northernmost Texas city where the ants have been found so far.

In their march across Texas they run off native insects, kill young wildlife, eat farmers' seeds and blow out circuit breakers. People have died from their stings.

Researchers describe the species as aggressive, invasive, advanced and almost impossible to stop.

"What we're noticing is, you can push the population back down, but they will come back in larger numbers," Phillips said. "Chemicals provide only temporary relief."

Texas Tech's two-year study on 5,000 acres in Refugio, Victoria and Calhoun counties in South Texas recently documented the damage that red imported fire ants can inflict on an ecosystem.

Graduate student Craig Allen said the study showed that the ants ran off other insects at the base of the food chain. The tiny attackers also burrowed into quail eggs and attacked fawns' eyes, Allen said.

Terry Ervin, associate professor of agriculture economics at Tech, cited 1989 cost estimates for damage caused in Texas by the red imported fire ant: $6.5 million in medical bills; $5.7 million to agriculture; $11.2 million to electrical components and circuit breaker boxes; and $500,000 to golf courses.

But sometimes the invasions prove helpful, Ervin said. Texas cotton growers and cattlemen saved about $20.4 million and $17.5 million, respectively, in 1989 because the ants drove off ticks and cotton-munchers, he said.

Phillips predicted the red imported fire ant will wreak more ecological havoc than the notorious Africanized bees.

He called Lubbock the ants' door to the West: "We just don't know yet whether that door is open or closed."

Poll shows discontented people all over the world

WASHINGTON (AP) - In good times and bad, Americans seem to have an overriding, downbeat evaluation of the national condition: They think things were better before and will be worse later, says a pollster who has analyzed years of readings of the national mind-set.

Everett C. Ladd, executive director of the Roper Center for Public Opinion Research at Storrs, Conn., also finds that discontent with the way things are going economically has become rampant in the world's richest economies.

People in Japan, Great Britain, France, Germany, Spain, Italy and Canada, in a variety of polls taken by Ladd's and other polling organizations since last fall, have said that their homelands' economic situations were bad and getting worse, he said.

Ladd offered a theory to explain the widespread pessimism: a bad news syndrome. All those countries, he noted, have similar communication systems "which make large doses of negative coverage a constant in the experiences of their citizens."

Ladd's evaluation of what polls from the present and past reveal about the industrial world's attitudes will be published next week in the Public Perspective, a Roper Center publication, and in The American Enterprise, a magazine of the American Enterprise Institute, a conservative think tank.

"There is survey evidence that Americans have long been anxious about the status of things that are important to them," Ladd said. In 1948, when his organization asked people whether the next few years would bring better or worse times or little change, nearly twice as many said "worse" than "better."

And in July 1963, "before John F. Kennedy's assassination, when Camelot supposedly still reigned in the national psychology, just 34 percent of those polled by Gallup pronounced themselves 'satisfied ... with the honesty and standards of behavior of people in the country today.'" its annual convention this year.

His granddaughter, Dana Durham, accepted the induction plaque at the April 3 luncheon.

Gillentine also served as president of the Texas Press Association in 1957-58.

In addition, he served on many boards and committees in Hereford.

He was a member of the Hereford Independent School District board, the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce board and was a member of Lions club, serving as president in 1943-44.

He was a member of the organizing board of Hereford Country Club and he and his late wife, Clara, were active in First Baptist Church.

Survivors include a son, James M. Jr. of Richardson; a daughter, Sara Durham of Sacramento, Calif.; and seven grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Jim Gillentine III, Ryan Gillentine, Andrew Gillentine, James David Durham, Brent Gillentine and Bo Bo Castleberry.

Ready to smoke

Volunteers at King's Manor Methodist Home worked Friday evening to wire two whole beefs to frames before smoking them for Saturday's Founders Day Barbecue. The meat -- estimated to be some 1,500 pounds of beef, began cooking at midnight Saturday and smoked over mesquite wood gathered from the Scharber Ranch north of Adrian until the barbecue at 5 p.m. Here, the volunteers are using heavy wire pushed through the meat and around metal bars and oak posts to hold it in place over the smoke. Those working on the project were: Kenneth D. Hart, Mark Landrum, David Euler, Mark Hicks, Craig Solomon, Rog Morris, Terry Gilley and Virgil Walker.

Concert scheduled

Lisa Hilton will be the featured soloist at a concert Sunday at the Church of the Nazarene. The concert will be held at 6 p.m. in the church. It is open to the public.

$111 million lottery winner, fiancée in hiding; still must claim winnings

FOND DU LAC, Wis. (AP) - Listening to his fiancée apparently paid off big for Leslie C. Robins. Friends and relatives say the 30-year-old English teacher bought a lottery ticket at his girlfriend's urging - and won $111 million.

"I don't think he has played (the lottery) more than 10 times," said co-worker Joe Sagen, who said he celebrated with Robins at a bar after the winning numbers in the multi-state Powerball lottery were announced.

Robins and his 24-year-old fiancée, Colleen De Vries, reportedly left town Thursday to avoid reporters and are hiding out in Florida while they plan their next step.

"He is very humble. He just wants to be an ordinary guy," said Sagen, a counselor at Sabish Junior High School who golfs and plays basketball with Robins.

Only one ticket sold in Wednesday's drawing of the Powerball lottery, played in 14 states and Washington, D.C., had the winning number combination. It was sold in Fond du Lac, and under Wisconsin rules the winner has 180 days to claim the prize.

In Tampa, Fla., Robins' parents - Charlie and Carol Robins - confirmed to The Associated Press on Friday that their son had the apparent winning ticket and that he and a friend flew in from Milwaukee the night before.

De Vries' grandparents, John and Alice De Vries of Waupun, said Friday they had yet to hear from her.

"Their lifestyle is going to change so dramatically they won't know what happened," the grandfather said.

De Vries works as a nurse at a hospital in Hartford, Sagen said.

Without her urging, Robins probably wouldn't have played the lottery because he had lost money on a recent gambling trip to Las Vegas, Sagen said.

"It couldn't have happened to a nicer person," said Sharon Simon, a teaching colleague.

Teen activist to continue anti-abortion participation

By JAY JORDEN
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) - An ardent anti-abortion activist, charged with juvenile delinquency for her activities, said today she will participate in a weekend round of protests as part of a national campaign.

Jamie Tellier, 15, said a pretrial hearing in her case was delayed this morning in state district court when her attorney did not appear. The ninth-grader said she will participate in Operation Rescue's protests at Dallas-Fort Worth area clinics.

Protest plans will be finalized in a rally this evening at Metroplex Chapel in Euless, Texas, Miss Tellier said.

"Hopefully, we will have a great turnout," said the teen-ager, who has been arrested up to 30 times in the Dallas area in what she has called civil disobedience for religious reasons.

Protests scheduled Saturday will target three Dallas clinics, she said, with "rescues" planned Monday and Tuesday.

"A rescue is when you physically put yourself in front of the clinic doors, where you go before the law - even if that means being arrested," she said. "You go inside the clinics, pass out literature, sing and pray."

"A protest is when you stay on the sidewalk and obey the law," she said.

Operation Rescue spokesman Tom Cyr says his group plans to target 13 clinics in the Dallas-Fort Worth area as well as the homes of some doctors who perform abortions.

Six other cities around the country are targeted for 10 days of revival-like rallies and street demonstrations, beginning tonight.

"For the actual activists' activities we have planned prayer, protests and rescuing. Part of that effort is sidewalk counseling. That's really where the mothers are approached and presented with the opportunity for the group to help her bring her baby to term," Cyr said, adding that his group has not applied for any permits.

Ed Spencer, spokesman for the Dallas police department, said officers have no special plans. He said permits would depend on the group's activities.

Debi Gilbert, spokeswoman for A Choice for Women in Dallas, said the clinic will take extra precautions. Ms. Gilbert said that protests have increased lately. She said three people who passed out literature recently were arrested and charged with criminal trespassing.

"We really don't take any precautionary measures. We have protesters every Saturday," said the woman who answered the phone at West Side Clinic in Fort Worth.

Ms. Gilbert said security has been hired for the escalated protests and doors at the clinic will be locked. Patients will have to show identification, she said.

Miss Tellier said she's hampered by her judicial proceedings in Judge Catherine Evans' court. If convicted and judged delinquent, she could be placed in a Texas Youth Commission institution until she is 21, authorities said.

"Do you want a strong and stable local economy?"

The answer to having one is not complicated. What it takes is a thing called local investment and reinvestment - your willingness to keep your savings dollars invested locally, and our willingness to reinvest your savings dollars in backing our High Plains economy. An excellent formula for economic health.

Hereford and the High Plains were built on local money, local money reinvested in our community by local financial institutions like ours, and local money provided by the savings deposits of people like you. Money that did not flow back into our community from the Wall Street stockbrokers, the eastern insurance companies, or the mutual funds!

Everyone wants a strong and stable local economy that all of us can count on now, and that our children and their children can count on for the future.

The concept of "hometown economics" is far from new. It's the foundation we've been building on for a lot of good years, and still the answer to our community's future.

We ask you to always think about investing locally first...and count on us for local reinvestment.

We're "The Bank That Banks With You."

Christmas in July? That's what we have at the library! Susan Hicks is currently displaying some of her Christmas oriented needlepoint. Susan has been doing this kind of work for about 25 years, and her experience shows. She says that her favorite is usually the one she's currently working on, but her Santa Clauses have piqued her interest because of the research she has done. Susan designs most of her own projects. She explained to me the different types of needlework, as well as some of the varieties of different types of needlework, as well as some of the varieties of materials available. All the old tapestries are needlepoint, she tells me, and stitched with either wool or silk, which is the reason for their longevity.

Susan is married to Mark, and is the mother of Jeff, Jennifer, Joshua and Jordan. She and her family are very active in 4H and attend the First United Methodist Church. She also substitutes in Hereford Schools. This month when the mercury edges the 100 degree mark, drop in the air-conditioned library and look over Susan's Christmas needlepoint. It's guaranteed to cool you off!

It's nice to be back in Hereford after a brief respite. (After getting carried away by a current on a California beach, it's nice to be anywhere...but that's another story). Boy, you people sure let it get dry here while I was gone!

If you have a weakness here at Deaf Smith County Library, it's that none of us know much about science fiction. Fortunately, some of our patrons do, and one was even nice enough to give us several sci-fi books. The two going out this week are not new according to the publication date, but they are new to us: Pegasus in Flight by Anne McCaffrey, and The Time Patrol by Poul Anderson.

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) - For everyone who's tried to figure out Madonna and failed, help is now available.

Among this summer's new offerings at the University of Colorado at Boulder is "Studies in Gender & Performance: Madonna Undressed."

The teacher, assistant journalism professor Polly McLean, says the point is intellectual stimulation. "to get students to apply critical means of analysis to areas that are contemporary in society - to single Madonna out and profile her, like we profile Shakespeare in English."

At a recent class, students watched Madonna's racy music video, "Erotica," featuring the pop star in various stages of undress and a variety of sexually suggestive situations. Afterward, the 35 students debated the video's artistic merits, or lack thereof.

VERSAILLES, Ky. (AP) - Five horses died in a fire at a farm owned by "Star Trek's" William Shatner.

Spontaneous combustion of plastic bags ignited Tuesday's fire in the colt barn, Belle Reve Farm officials said. Eight other horses were rescued. The metal barn was destroyed.

The horses killed were worth several hundred thousand dollars, farm officials said.

A couple of works of historical fiction are also going out this week. The Ruthless Yeoman, by Valerie Anand, is the story of a young girl of the thirteenth century. Isabel of Northfield yearns to be free from the bonds of serfdom, and aligns herself with those who eventually bring on the Peasants' Revolt.

Gilbert Morris has issued another installment in the "House of Winslow" series. The Crossed Sabres is Book 13 in the continuing saga.

Okay, you Kennedy assassination freaks...here is Conspiracy of One, billed as "the definitive book on the Kennedy assassination." The author is Jim Moore.

Also on the non-fiction shelf is Foo, A Japanese-American Prisoner of the Rising Sun: The Secret Prison Diary of Frank "Foo" Fujita. Looks like the title pretty much explains the book. I will mention that Fujita was one of two Japanese-Americans to have been a POW of the Japanese, which carried the implicit threat of torture and execution as a traitor.

The last Family Film of the season will be this Thursday (July 15). Return to Oz sounds like a remake, but is neither that nor a musical. Frank Baum and his son wrote lots of Oz-oriented books and introduced dozens of characters other than the four or five you can name off the top of your head. This live action movie, a Touchstone Production, introduces a few of those other characters. The movie begins at 7:00 p.m. and runs two hours, so be sure to be on time. There will NOT be popcorn at this showing, but we WILL have free water! One warning to those who have become accustomed to seeing strictly G-rated movies at the library: Return to Oz is rated PG, and I have no idea why. Since there will be no more Family Films until September, we hope to see you at this one.

By the way, the library has a lot of the Oz books, and the readers at my house have enjoyed them immensely. They claim that the Hollywood version has cheated millions into believing they know the "real" story. (I guess you could say they know the "reel" story.)

Speaking of the Family Film, it's about time we placed our order for the coming season. We welcome your comments or suggestions. We thank the Friends of the Library for providing us with this family entertainment through the year.

TO RENT OR BUY?

Do you own your own home? Have you ever rented? Do you remember responding to a listing and meeting with the owner or agent for the inspection? After your decision to commit, the lease was signed, making your decision final. At the end of the lease you had the option of renewing, (usually at higher rate) or moving again. And the worst part, you had nothing for all the money spent! Does this scenario sound familiar? If you are currently renting, ask yourself why. When you purchase a home your monthly payments turn into equity, and if you decide to relocate, you can use your equity to purchase a new home. In addition you may also get a tax break. If you are a renter and would like to look into the advantages of home ownership, give us a call perhaps we can show you how to turn your monthly rent payment into the pride of home ownership.

Most teams still in hunt in AL

By The Associated Press

In the American League, it's down to a 13-team race.

Every club, except perhaps Milwaukee in the East, has some hope heading to the All-Star break.

Toronto leads New York by one game in the AL East, and the Chicago White Sox are just one game ahead of Kansas City in the West.

The West is separated by only 7 1/2 games from top to bottom. The last-place Twins are in contention despite two eight-game losing streaks and a 10-game slide.

Texas, even without Jose Canseco, is two games out in the West followed by Seattle and California, both three out. Oakland, which trailed by nine games on June 27, has moved to within five.

Over in the East, the Blue Jays have maintained their slim lead over the Yankees even though they have lost eight of their last nine games. New York is 2-6 with two games left on the West Coast.

"We just haven't been able to get anything going," Toronto manager Cito Gaston said. "We haven't come up with the key hit when we've needed it."

In the AL Friday it was Texas 4, Toronto 2; New York 3, California 2; Baltimore 15, Chicago 6; Detroit 10, Kansas City 3; Minnesota 10, Milwaukee 6; Oakland 4, Boston 2; and Seattle 6, Cleveland 4.

Rangers 4, Blue Jays 2

Rafael Palmeiro drove in four runs with a two-run homer and a single as Texas beat Toronto at the SkyDome for its sixth victory in seven games.

Roger Pavlik (5-4) gave up one run on six hits in 6 2-3 innings for the victory. Former Toronto stopper Tom Henke, the fourth Texas reliever, entered to a standing ovation and struck out Ed Sprague to end the eighth en route to his 16th save.

Todd Stottlemire (5-7) was the loser.

Athletics 4, Red Sox 2

Mike Aldrete's two-out, two-run homer snapped a sixth-inning tie and Troy Neel added his second straight two-homer game to power Oakland past Boston at the Coliseum.

Ron Darling (2-4) won for the first time in six starts by pitching five-hit ball over six innings. Paul Quantrill (4-6) took the loser.

Tigers 10, Royals 5

Eight of the first nine Detroit batters scored in the first inning, and the visiting Tigers held on to beat

Kansas City. The Tigers are 1 1/2 games out.

Detroit had six hits - all singles - and two walks in the first as Royals starter Chris Haney (5-2) lasted just one-third of an inning. The Tigers scored seven runs off Haney, six earned, on five hits and two walks.

Sean Bergman won his first major-league game.

Yankees 3, Angels 2

Jimmy Key outpitched Mark Langston in a matchup of All-Star left-handers and Danny Tartabull hit a go-ahead homer in the eighth inning as New York beat California. Key (11-2) recorded his third complete game with six strikeouts and one walk in his first appearance at Anaheim Stadium since his one-hit shutout on April 27.

Langston (9-3) gave up 12 hits in pitching a complete game.

Giants smash Phillies

By The Associated Press

The great National League showdown - a preview of the playoffs - is anything but at this point.

Call it the great midseason mauling.

The San Francisco Giants had a season-high 23 hits and routed the Philadelphia Phillies for the second straight time, 15-8 in a battle of division leaders Friday night at Veterans Stadium.

Steve Scarsone had four hits and three RBIs for the visiting Giants, while Barry Bonds had three hits and two RBIs. Paul Faries, Royce Clayton and Kirt Manwaring drove in two runs apiece for the Giants.

The Giants batted around in the first and second innings to take an 11-0 lead. San Francisco made it 13-0 in the third on RBI singles by Clayton and Manwaring.

Elsewhere in the NL, it was Chicago 5, Houston 2; Atlanta 5, Florida 1; Montreal 6, San Diego 1; Pittsburgh 4, Cincinnati 1; Los Angeles 6, New York 2, and Colorado 5, St. Louis 4.

Cubs 5, Astros 2

At Chicago, All-Star Mark Grace returned to the starting lineup and hit a homer and an RBI single for the Cubs. Grace, who missed six starts with a hamstring injury, singled home a run in the first and hit his ninth homer in the fifth.

Both hits came off Doug Drabek (7-9), who went into the game with a 15-7 career mark against the Cubs.

Mike Morgan (6-9) gave up five hits in 8 1-3 innings.

Austin prepares for arrival of NFL champion Cowboys

By CHIP BROWN
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP) - Is that Troy Aikman or Elvis? Are they the Dallas Cowboys or the Beatles?

It's hard to tell the way Austin is swirling into a frenzy in anticipation of the Cowboys' arrival at St. Edward's University for training camp beginning July 16.

A Super Bowl championship will bring new fans to St. Edward's and new fences to stand behind. The barricades were installed to give players more freedom getting to and from the practice field.

A narrow path known as "autograph alley," where fans traditionally mob the Cowboys for signatures, also has been altered to safeguard the NFL's youngest team.

"I guess it's a lot like protecting rock stars from fans," said John Lucas, vice president of student services at St. Edward's and one of the camp's chief organizers.

"With the number of people expected this year, we became concerned and changed the fencing system to control the crowds. People were always trying to get closer and closer to the players."

It seems like a century since the Cowboys trudged to Austin four years ago for training camp after a 1-15 season.

If the Cowboys weren't worth sweating for in the city's jalapeno-like heat back then, they certainly are now.

These days, America's Team means something again. And true fans, borderline fans and even people who couldn't care less but want to be trendy and spy on the Super Bowl champs are lining up to melt with the players through drill after drill at the monthlong camp.

Many of the changes have been designed with the fans' best interests at heart, such as added security, more parking and plenty of extra vendors selling food and Cowboys' memorabilia.

"We are anticipating the crowds will be significantly larger," Lucas said. "Specifically, we have put a lot more people on traffic control and security and even added a second off-site parking location."

"I personally can't imagine it getting much worse than it's been in the past," said Super Bowl MVP Aikman, who added that he will attend camp despite a back injury.

Yes it can, Lucas said, noting that Aikman is likely the focus of much of the hysteria.

"Troy is like the lead rock singer," he said. "The crowds tend to move with him. When he practices, they shift with him wherever he is doing his drills."

The shrieks for the blond-haired, blue-eyed quarterback's wristbands, shirt and even his pants are expected to be louder than ever.

Fans also climb over each other to get to offensive lineman Nate Newton, running back Emmitt Smith and wide receiver Michael Irvin.

The vendors can't wait. "We are gearing up," said Glenn Kelly, owner of Mr. K's Sports Cards and Comics, which is located just a block from St. Edward's.

"We are putting on extra staff and getting as much memorabilia as we can. We have ordered thousands of dollars worth of extra stuff, mainly Cowboys cards and photographs for people to sign."

Kent Redding, president of Campus Lifestyles, is in charge of merchandising on St. Edward's property during the camp. He has added a second circus-style tent to sell everything from Cowboys pitholders to troll dolls carrying a football and wearing a Dallas uniform.

"Before, we carried mostly basic merchandise like caps and T-shirts and shorts," Redding said. "But now we have increased our inventory dramatically with things like aprons, cups, mugs, erasers, pens, pencils and boxer shorts."

"We had to start our planning earlier this year because the Cowboys merchandise is so hard to get," Redding said. "There is a lot of it, but it's in such demand."

Redding is so enthusiastic, he has put up a billboard advertising the camp and installed a hotline, telling fans when the Cowboys are practicing.

"We have gotten some calls from people wondering if Aikman is OK and wanting to know if he will be practicing," Redding said. "We joke with them and say we haven't gotten in on the team meetings yet."

"But the interest is clearly there."

Lucas says the crowds will likely pack the training camp over the first two weeks. He said the crowds will likely dwindle after the Cowboys return from London, where they will play Detroit in a preseason game Aug. 8.

Training camp ends Aug. 20. "We get tremendous crowd support throughout training camp and we appreciate it," Aikman said.

It takes more than blind luck to pin down the right home.

Former Longhorns find happiness with Canada's Toronto Argonauts

By SUZANNE HALLIBURTON
Austin American-Statesman

AUSTIN (AP) - Johnny Walker was negotiating to play for the San Antonio Texans - a Canadian Football League franchise in his hometown that ended up folding after only two weeks - when he received a friendly phone call from former teammate Butch Hadnot.

"Hey, Johnny, Toronto needs you," Hadnot told Walker, trying to sell the former University of Texas wide receiver on joining him in Canada.

Walker listened and eventually signed with the Argonauts, one of the glamour franchises of the CFL.

Walker and Hadnot were two stars of the 1990 Texas team that won the Southwest Conference championship but was thrashed by Miami in the Cotton Bowl.

Now, their chances appear excellent of being among the 17 Americans on the club's main roster, or at least making the practice squad when the regular season starts this weekend.

Walker, a sure-handed receiver who owns the UT record for passes caught in a season (55, 1989), desperately needed a team such as Toronto to appreciate his talents. Earlier, Walker had been too talented for his own good. He wasn't able to make up his mind between baseball and football.

He had bounced from playing Class A baseball in the Atlanta Braves' organization to football for the Green Bay Packers and the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Wherever he went, it seemed someone was frowning upon his attempt to be a two-sport star. So he focused on football, but he became a victim of a numbers game in the training camps of both the Packers and Steelers and didn't make the teams' final rosters.

Hadnot, meanwhile, needed a familiar face such as Walker's to keep him focused as he tried to jump the wide gap between college and professional football.

Hadnot, a running back, might have been entering his senior year with the Longhorns this fall, bulldozing his way through defensive lines the way he did in 1990 when he was the SWC newcomer of the year.

Instead, he left Texas last summer after being suspended by Coach John Mackovic for breaking team rules and then flunking out of school. He didn't help himself with Mackovic by inquiring with Texas A&M coach R.C. Slocum about the possibility of transferring from UT to its longtime rival.

Both Walker and Hadnot have found a comfortable niche 1,500 miles from where fans can recall their glory days. Or their disappointments.

This time last year, Walker was anticipating a trip to Latrobe, Pa., where the Steelers conduct their training camp. He had given up on the Braves, who had made him their fourth-round draft pick two summers before.

Walker, who had been told by many scouts that he was too slow for pro football, made it through several cuts but eventually was waived.

Walker still had enough money saved from his six-figure baseball signing bonus to pay for his schooling. So he contemplated his future and took some classes at Tarleton State in Stephenville, where his fiance was going to school.

"I guess I was kind of disappointed for a little while," Walker said. "Like it or not, it comes to a point in an athlete's career when he's faced with having to do something else. I knew I would still get plenty of opportunities; I needed to decide if I wanted to pursue them."

Walker decided the CFL, with its liberal rules on offense, could be to his liking. He was contacted by San Antonio's new franchise. But the Texans almost immediately went bust in late January.

Word of mouth brought him overtures from several other CFL teams. Eventually, Walker signed with Toronto, which knew they would be without the services of former Notre Dame star Raghob "Rocket" Ismail, who did not sign a new CFL contract.

In his first CFL game - an exhibition June 21 against the Ottawa Rough Riders - Walker was named the player of the game. As an outside receiver in the Argonauts' run and shoot, Walker caught three passes for 63 yards and scored a touchdown.

"I love this. I have been dying to play the run and shoot for a long time," he said.

While Walker contemplated his future in Stephenville, Hadnot was going through growing pains in his hometown of Kirbyville in Southeast Texas waiting for the CFL season to start.

Hadnot had spent the final two games of the 1992 CFL season with Toronto before moving back home. He made ends meet by working at a local paper mill. He also found a job selling hamburgers at a McDonald's in nearby Jasper.

A month before camp began, Hadnot's agent set him up with the trainer of the NBA's San Antonio Spurs to improve the running back's speed and conditioning. The trainer put Hadnot through cardiovascular workouts as well as the typical weight lifting and running regimen.

Once he got to camp, any time Hadnot was feeling down, he'd look to Walker, whose presence reminded him of happier times, when the running back was the toast of Austin for most of the fall of 1990.

"Just him being here brings back memories of when we were in the Cotton Bowl," Hadnot said. "Those thoughts make me practice a little harder, and they make me want to believe in myself more and help my teammates."

Walker saw that Hadnot probably needed some familiar support.

"I think I'm a help to him," Walker said. "He hasn't been through many of these things, and I think he looks up to me like a big brother."

Hadnot suffered somewhat of a setback against Ottawa. His chief competition, a running back from Kansas State, tore a knee ligament in the game's first quarter, leaving the way open for Hadnot.

The first time he touched the ball, Hadnot caught a lob pass from the quarterback and dashed for the sideline. For 39 yards, Hadnot felt like his former self as he galloped into the wide open secondary. And then a defensive back clipped him from behind.

Hadnot limped off the field with a sprained left ankle, the same ankle that hindered him for much of his sophomore season. He was expected to miss only a week of practice.

Hadnot wants people to know he's changed his life by turning to religion. He says he's up every morning by 6:45 for Bible study.

"I like what I'm doing now," he says. "I've turned my life around. I know I can get back on track. I knew if this wasn't meant to be, God wouldn't give me this chance. Everything I do now, I give thanks to Him."

Sure, you could go on stumbling through the housing market. Running into dead ends and getting cornered with too little information.

Or, you could nail down that new home the easy way. By consulting an experienced real estate agent.

An agent can point out options you may have missed. Get you inside interesting homes that you may never have seen otherwise. Even do a lot of the groundwork, so you don't have to.

Like researching financing packages. Checking through the multiple-listing service for homes that fit your needs -- and your pocketbook. Negotiating with the seller. And arranging for inspections. He or she will even be there at closing.

So instead of forging ahead without knowing what's out there, get some help from an expert. A real estate agent.

Inside The Hereford Brand, you'll find both qualified agents and valuable information about home buying. Everyday, the real estate classifieds list many properties and agents. And The Brand's Sunday housing section examines the latest market trends and housing opportunities.

With the right guide, hitting your mark can be child's play.

Youth attend TFB citizenship event

Three young persons from the Deaf Smith/Oldham Counties area recently attended the 31st annual Citizenship Seminar sponsored by the Texas Farm Bureau.

Michael Broome of Charlotte, N.C., a motivational speaker who spoke on "You and America -- Two Great Champions," and Texas Rep. Susan Combs, discussing "Our Inherent Rights."

Special speaker for the seminar, also, was Curtis Childers, Texas FFA president.

Selected by the Deaf Smith/Oldham Farm Bureau for the experience were Nathan Betzen, Yvonne Meiwes and Cameron Betzen.

During the five-day event in San Angelo, speakers emphasized American heritage and the capitalist free enterprise system, said Roddy Allred of Wildorado, president of the Deaf Smith/Oldham Farm Bureau.

Approximately 400 high school juniors and seniors from more than 150 counties participated in the seminar.

On the speaking agenda were Jack Jackson of Fort Worth, whose topic was "Free Enterprise Principles/Projects;" Basilio Bachor, a Polish immigrant, addressing the seminar on "Living the American Dream," and S.M. True of Plainview, TFB president.

Also addressing the seminar were

East Texas flooding takes toll of fruit, vegetable crop

AUSTIN -- Flooding and heavy rains recently are taking a toll on East Texas fruits and vegetables, by keeping growers from doing maintenance work and causing problems to the roots.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said that rains of 18 inches at Jacksonville and 12 inches in the Tyler area left fields flooded.

Early blueberries and blackberries are being damaged by soft spots. Though the berries were ready for harvest, workers could not get into the fields. Later berries should be a good crop, said Perry.

Orchards of apples and peaches were in danger of root loss and the East Texas peach crop was threatened by brown rot because farmers could not apply fungicides.

The agriculture department estimated that a 20 percent loss of cantaloupe would not be unusual because of the rain. The watermelon crop may suffer a 10 percent loss and tomatoes, 18 percent.

Farmers also must cope with an abundant crop of weeds that grew with the rains.

Despite some gloomy news, there is some good news -- the sweet corn crop is described as good and late berries should be plentiful and top quality.

Rodriguez-Maldonado vows exchanged here

In a Saturday afternoon ceremony in the Hereford Community Center, Miss Martha Elva Rodriguez and Xavier Maldonado exchanged wedding vows. Reading the vows was Deaf Smith County Justice of the Peace Johnnie Turrentine.

Mr. and Mrs. Jose G. Rodriguez of Hereford are parents of the bride. The groom is the son of Bertha Figueroa and Jesus Maldonado, both of Hereford.

The entrance to the Community Center was decorated with a white tulle arch and candelabras and unity candle.

Attending the couple were her sister, Elizabeth Robles, matron of honor, and the brother of the groom, Savino Castellon, best man. Bridesmaids were Camila Romero and Lesvia Brown, cousin of the bride. Groomsmen were Manuel Romero and Mike Leamon.

Flower girl was Erica D'nae Rodriguez, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noe Rodriguez. Joshua Olivo, son of Sylvia Olivo, was ring bearer. Music was provided by Claudia Holguin, pianist, and Laura Lucero, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white tulle gown. The bodice was overlaid with hand-beaded lace and a portrait neckline. The long sleeves were accented with hand-beaded lace. The floor-length skirt featured an overlay. The detachable chapel-length train was accented with a bow. The hemline was edged with hand-beaded lace.

Tear-drop pearls accented the crown-shaped headpiece. The bride's bouquet was white tulle and peach roses and tear-drop pearls.

The bride's attendants wore peach faille gowns designed with a dropped waist and short sleeves. The full skirt featured a high-low hemline. They carried two peach silk roses with teal flowers tied with peach and white ribbon.

A reception honored the couple in the Community Center ballroom, after the wedding. Olivia Brown, cousin of the bride, served cake, and Laura Lucero of Clovis, N.M., cousin of the bride served punch. Mary Shows, aunt of the groom, attended the guest registry.

A 1988 graduate of Hereford High School, the bride attends Amarillo College, pursuing an associate degree in nursing.

The groom also was graduated from HHS in 1988 and will attend Amarillo College this fall. He is employed at the Autoplex.

Guests attended the wedding from Fort Collins, Colo., San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Houston, Amarillo, Midland, Austin, Fort Worth, Phoenix, Ariz., Kansas and Clovis, N.M.

Mammography unit will come here Aug. 6

The Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center and High Plains Baptist Hospital mobile Mammography Unit will be in Hereford Friday, Aug. 6, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Exams will be by appointment only at South Plains Health Providers, 603 E. Park Ave. For information or to schedule an appointment, call 1-800-377-HOPE(4673).

The total cost of the screening is $70. This includes the x-ray, physical breast exam, and the radiology fee for reading the mammogram. Funding has been provided by the Texas Department of Health to allow for free breast screenings for women who qualify.

The greatest benefits of a toy are the joy and self-esteem that children experience when they play with it.

The major goal of the clinic is the early detection of breast cancer. This is best done by following the guidelines of the American Cancer Society: (1) Learn and perform breast self examination every month; (2) Have a physical exam every year; (3) Have a mammogram according to age recommendations; under 40--one baseline mammogram; 40 to 49--a mammogram every 1 to 2 years; 50 and over--yearly mammograms.

Davis reception scheduled

A reception, from 2 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. on July 17, will honor Lillian and Wilbur Davis, marking their 50th wedding anniversary.

Hosting the event at the E.B. Black House will be Patti McCrary and Ellen and John McCrary, all of Dallas, friends of the couple.

Wilbur Davis was serving in the U.S. Army when he and Lillian Cupell of Canyon, were married in Hereford on July 17, 1943.

Their home has been in Hereford since he completed army service. They were employed at Hereford Hardware for 23 years. Davis is employed now at McCaslin Lumber.

Mrs. Davis formerly worked for Sully's Vending and Holly Sugar.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis attend First United Methodist Church. He is a member of the Lions Club, Senior Citizens and DAV.

S.S. benefits rise if you don't retire at 65

BY JIM TALBOT, AMARILLO
Social Security Manager

Reaching 65 years of age may be a significant rung on life's ladder, but it doesn't mean you have to retire and begin collecting your Social Security benefits.

Many people choose to extend their working life, and when they delay their retirement they are increasing the amount of the benefit they will eventually receive. People who continue working beyond age 65 increase their Social Security benefit in the following way:

* Each additional year you work adds another year of earnings to your Social Security record. Higher lifetime earnings result in higher benefits.

* Your benefit is also permanently increased--depending on your age--by a certain percentage when retirement is delayed. For example, a person born in 1928 would increase his or her benefit by 4 percent each year worked beyond age 65.

Even though you delay your retirement, be sure to contact us to discuss applying for Medicare when you reach age 65. In some circumstances, your Medicare premium will be higher if you delay applying for the medical insurance.

About 25 percent of cruise vacations are booked by families with children.

— YOUR EYES —

ABOUT BIFOCALS

Bifocals are convenient. Instead of having to carry two pairs of glasses with you, you can wear one comfortable pair that does two jobs. In most cases, the top portion corrects distance vision; the lower one corrects near vision.

However, bifocals take some getting used to. Basically, you want to lower your eyes, not your head, when you read, so that you are looking through the lower part of the lenses. Hold the reading matter closer for more comfort. It's easier to read a newspaper if you fold it into book-size quarters and move the page.

The only hard part is stairs. It's important not to look down while you walk, even on stairs.

Make sure the frames are properly adjusted so the near-vision segment is in the right place. If you sense eyestrain of any kind, bring in your glasses to be tested and re-adjusted.

O'Neal, Cervantez are married in Saturday ceremonies in Dallas

Tina Michele O'Neal and Albert Cervantez, both of Canyon, were united in marriage in a ceremony in the City Place Convention Center in Dallas Saturday evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.L. O'Neal of Mesquite. Mr. and Mrs. Teodoso Cervantez of Hereford are parents of the groom.

Mark Weatherford of Ferguson Road Baptist Church of Dallas officiated.

Attending the couple were her sister, Tammy O'Neal, maid of honor, and the groom's father, Teodoso Cervantez, best man.

A friend of the bride, Jason Vaughan, stood with her, also. Groomsman was George Cervantez, brother of the groom. Ushers were Brad Clark and Douglas Wygal.

Flower girl was Brittany Dunlap, daughter of Karen and Brian Dunlap, and ring bearer was Christopher Mouchantal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Mouchantal.

Kay, Chaffin was pianist and addition music was recorded, including "Love Will Be Our Home" and "I Will Be Here."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional wedding gown of white satin and lace. The bodice was cut with a v-shaped waistline and overlaid with Alencon point lace which extended over the shaped neckline. The full skirt was accented with a deep border of lace which extended into a scalloped edge and flowed into a chapel-length train.

She wore a floor-length veil of tulle and carried a bouquet of calla lilies, baby's breath and greenery. Jewelry included her grandmother's diamond earrings and a pearl necklace.

The maid of honor wore a gown of teal taffeta with a teal organza overlay.

A reception in the City Place Convention Center included a disc jockey for the dance. The bride's table featured a five-tier cake decorated with fresh flowers. The groom's cake was chocolate amaretto with chocolate strawberries.

Assisting with the reception decorations were Angie Nevaro and Linda Brunette.

After the reception, the bride and groom were driven by horse and carriage to the Adolphus Hotel. They planned a wedding trip to Tampa, Fla.

The bride is a 1988 graduate of North Mesquite High School and received a bachelor of science degree in biology from West Texas A&M

Red Cross Update

Donations for disaster assistance to flood victims are now being accepted in our office. Donations may be mailed to the Deaf Smith chapter of American Red Cross at P.O. Box 1371.

The board of directors will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at the Red Cross office.

A lifeguarding class will begin Monday at 6:30 p.m. at the City Swimming Pool. Cost of the class is $8.50 for the book and $6 for the pool fee. Those planning to take the class should be good swimmers and must have current CPR and First Aid certificates before a certificate can be issued.

Infant car seats are available at our office for a $10 rental fee. When the child weighs 18 pounds, the seat should be returned to us and $5 will be refunded. These seats are provided to the chapter by the Safe Riders Program of the Texas Department of Health.

Special thanks to Jerry Walker and West Texas Rural Telephone for making a pager available to our chapter. To use the pager, call 357-2482 and leave a message at the tone.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I lost our small business, and our dream home is mortgaged to the hilt.

How did this happen to a couple who worked their hearts out and put their last dime of retirement funds into a business? Did the business fail? No, the business is thriving.

Four years ago, my husband took in a partner--his trusted "best friend". At the time, I was putting in 15-hour days to keep the overhead down. A little voice inside kept telling me that this trusted friend was not to be trusted and that he was no friend.

Well, as the result of some very clever paperwork, all legal, we discovered that we no longer owned the business. We had been fired by this "friendly" partner, who never worked a day in the business. He put in $35,000. We put in $400,000.

The point I want to make to all women everywhere, whether they are in business or not, is this: Just because your husband puts a document in front of you doesn't mean you have to sign it. My husband kept telling me, "You don't know anything about business, so don't butt in." Believe me, if a woman can run a house, she can run a business. There is nothing magical about "business" that only men can understand.

And please don't let anybody tell you that men are better equipped than women to make decisions. Listen to the little voice inside. If something doesn't feel right, speak up. Remember that intuition can be an extremely valuable compass. Use it, even though it might cause an argument. How I wish I had! And so does my husband.--Maitland, Fla.

DEAR MAITLAND: I wonder how many women who see your letter will hand it to their husbands and say, "Read this, honey."

I'm a great believer in trusting one's gut. My own gut has never failed me. What one feels is often more important than what one thinks.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I knew I had to respond when I read your column on European men as lovers vs. American men.

While I was living in France a few years ago, one of the women's magazines published an article discussing at length why AMERICAN men were better lovers than their European cousins. The author interviewed French women who had had lovers from both continents. Almost all of them said American men were much more sensitive to a woman's needs, whereas European men were primarily interested in their own needs and how best to show off their virility.

I've come to the conclusion that European men seem sexier to American women because they are from a different culture. The same can be said of American men--according to European women. In other words, "different" has a tendency to be perceived as "better." My personal observation is that some men are wonderful lovers while others are simply awful, and geography has nothing to do with it.--Outspoken in Pasadena

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been reading your column for years, but I never dreamed that I would pick up a pen and write to you. It was this morning's column that did it.

That woman from Virginia who complained because her husband calls her "Babe" instead of using her name really brought back some tender memories.

I was married for 27 years to a wonderful man who called me "Darling". Five years after he passed away, I married a man who never called me anything. It was, "Hey, you..." That marriage lasted 20 months.

Now I keep an ear open for what married people call one another. It can be a real clue to the way they feel about each other.--Indianapolis Memories

DEAR MEMORIES: That letter from "Babe" generated a staggering amount of mail. Most of the letters were very loving and tender--and then there were a few that sounded a lot like these:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I certainly did sympathize with the woman who became annoyed when her husband called her "Babe," even though she told him she did not like it.

My name is Elizabeth, and I hate to be called Lizzie. Whenever my husband got mad at me, he would call me Lizzie. One day we ran into an old school chum, who greeted my husband with, "Hello, Skeezix." He turned red as a beet. I knew at once he hated the name that had probably plagued his childhood. He never called me Lizzie after that because he knew what was coming.--Erie, Pa.

From Madison, Wis.: I was annoyed when you sided with the man who called his wife "Babe" after she told him she didn't like it. Had I been sitting in your chair that day, I would have told him to find a nickname that was acceptable to her. And if he insisted on called her Babe, (a) she should refuse to answer, (b) if they are on the phone, she should hang up on him, and (c) if they are in bed, she should take her pillow and go sleep on the living room couch.--Forty-eight Years with "Honey"

And now, dear readers, a sign-off from Ann. All those comments reminded me of the home we were raised in. Our mother's name was Rebecca. Our father's name was Abe, but we never heard those names when we were growing up. It was always, "Mama," "Papa," "Honey," "Dear" or "Sweetheart." I realize now how lucky we were.

Women's Division to celebrate anniversary

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

A quarter of a century ago a group of women formed what has become an institution in Deaf Smith County -- the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division.

The group will celebrate its silver anniversary on Sunday with a tea.

The tea -- which is open to the public -- will be held from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. in the E.B. Black House, 508 W. Third.

Special guests will be most of the women who have served as president of the Women's Division. Of the 25 who have held that office, most still live in or near Hereford.

Current president Linda Daniel said she has not heard from two past leaders -- 1977 president Donna VanderZee, who lives in San Antonio, and 1980 president Frances Berry, who lives in Tempe, Ariz.

One past president, 1969 president Clara Gillentine, is deceased.

There has only been one two-term president of the Women's Division, Lavon Nicman, who served in 1974 and 1975.

In addition to recognizing the past presidents, the tea will feature a visit by Miss Hereford Dusty Saul.

Miss Saul will perform "Prelude in C Sharp" by Rachmaninov, the talent piece she played during the pageant.

The women's division was founded on July 9, 1968, with 50 charter members approving the by-laws of the group.

Virginia Adams was selected as the first president.

"We are the oldest probably in the Panhandle and have the largest membership," Mrs. Daniel said. The only exception might be the Amarillo chamber's women's division.

Its purpose, she said, is multi-fold. "To be a helper to the chamber of commerce," she said, "To enlist the talents and training of civic-minded women to serve the betterment of the community in which they live."

Currently, the division has 111 members. Mrs. Daniel said the membership meets four times a year. Meetings are set at various times to accommodate the schedules of working women.

The Executive Board -- made up of six women who are elected to two-year terms by the membership -- meets monthly.

The division oversees the activities of 18 committees which plan and carry out a variety of civic activities.

The committees are: Animal Action, Beautification, Beauty Spot of the Month, Blood Bank, Christmas Carousel, Christmas Lighting Contest, Christmas Tree Ceremony, Decorations, Finance and Budget, Jubilee, Fine Arts, Little Miss Hereford, Miss Hereford, Membership, Public Affairs and Publicity, Tour, Welcome and Woman of the Year.

Potential members do not have to be part of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce to participate in the women's division, Daniel said. Dues for the Women's Division are $20 a year.

Dallas rite completes two-nation wedding

A ceremony in Fort Worth on June 14 was the American portion of a wedding combining traditions of two countries and uniting Lara Elizabeth Wall and Thomas Edward Bach in marriage.

The couple first exchanged vows on May 14, in a civil ceremony in the historical Rathaus built in Germany in 1187. Attendants were Rhea Wessel of Seligenstadt, Germany, maid of honor, and Stefan Bach of Heusenstamm, Germany, brother of the groom.

The ceremony in Fort Worth was held in First United Methodist Church, officiated by the bride's uncle, the Rev. Jim Dorff, pastor of First United Methodist Church of Gainesville, and the Rev. Weldon Haynes of the Fort Worth church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wall III of Fort Worth and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Langley of Hereford and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wall II of Bay City, Mich.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Emil C. Bach of Heusenstamm, Germany, who hosted a champagne breakfast after the May ceremony and hosted a dinner in Heusenstamm this weekend.

Attending the bride in the Fort Worth ceremony were her sister, Catherine Lee Wall of Fort Worth, maid of honor; Charla West of Kansas City, Mo., matron of honor; Angie McTee of Lubbock and Meg Darden of Shallowater, cousin of the bride, bridesmaids.

The groom's brother, Stefan Bach, was best man, and groomsmen were Christian Becker of Frankfurt, Germany; David Larcina of Toronto, Canada, and Daniel Wall IV of Fort Worth, brother of the bride.

Flower girl was Emily Sproule of Omak, Wash., cousin of the bride, and ring bearers were Chip Darden of Shallowater and Chad Sproule of Omak, cousins of the bride.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a sheath gown of candlelight silk, designed with a fitted bodice accented by a Queen Anne neckline and appliques of Alencon lace. The straight skirt featured a scalloped hem with lace and seed pearls. The cathedral-length train fell from the waist of the gown.

The bride carried a bouquet of white roses and gardenias centered with lily of the valley, stephanotis, baby's breath, baby mums and peach roses. Pews of the church were marked with peach bows and ivy complementing the altar bouquet which combined tall peach gladiola, stephanotis, lilies, caladiums, lemon leaves and ivy.

After the ceremony, a luncheon reception honoring the couple was hosted by the bride's parents at the Petroleum Club of Fort Worth. Members of the houseparty were Melissa Burke of Plano, Erika Hayes of Ann Arbor, Mich., Karen Rea of Paris, Texas, and Michelle Morgan of Wichita Falls.

The bride was graduated from Sherman High School and Texas Tech University. She is employed by a firm operated by a former Hereford exchange student, Frank Hergert, and located in Roedermark, Germany.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Giessen University. He is the owner and the chief executive officer of Schollmayer GmbH, Inc., of Dietzenbach, Germany.

A kitchen shower was given for the bride in Sherman prior to the wedding. A bridesmaids' luncheon was hosted by aunts of the bride, Barbara Dorff of Gainesville, Camille Sproule of Omak and Carolyn Darden of Shallowater. The bride's parents hosted a Western theme rehearsal dinner at their home.

After a wedding trip to Hawaii, the couple planned to live in Seligenstadt.

Among guests at the dinner in Heusenstamm this weekend were the bride's parents, brother and sister.

Auxiliary hears reports, picks new officers

The American Legion and its Auxiliary, Unit 192, held its annual ice cream social Tuesday night with auxiliary officers being elected and members hearing reports from Girl and Boys State delegates.

Officers elected were Betty Jo Carlson, president; Troyce Hanna, vice president; Clara Trowbridge, secretary-treasurer; Dorothy Shannon, chaplain; Bernice Layman, historian-reporter; and Ruth King, sergeant-at-arms.

Kinann Campbell and Jill Walsler gave reports on their trip to the Girls State convention in Seguin in June. Chris Lyles and Tommy Benton also gave their reports on the Boys State convention. Carlson introduced the Girls State delegates, and Post Commander Bob Lohr introduced the boys.

The Auxiliary members served as hostesses and held a brief meeting prior to the social.

Brownlow-Stormer vows read

Susan Faye Brownlow, daughter of Emory and Dorothy Brownlow of Hereford, and Fred Anthony Stormer III, son of Fred and Rose Stormer of Portland, Ore., were united in marriage July 3 at St. Elizabeth's Parish in Lubbock. The couple will reside in Washington, where the groom will attend law school and the bride will complete her master's degree in educational psychology.

Stay on the road to safety

Students at Grinnell College have compiled a booklet of advice for motorists who may become stranded on the highway.

The pamphlet also contains a state-by-state comprehensive list of emergency telephone numbers.

BEFORE YOU LEAVE

- Plan travel routes to avoid unsafe or unfamiliar areas.
- Fill your tank with gas.
- Check all fluids.
- Test air pressure in the tires.
- Tell someone your route and estimated time of arrival.
- Keep in your car a blanket, a "Send Help" sign, a spare tire and jack, basic tools such as a screwdriver and wrench, a flashlight, quart of oil, five dollars and a pen and paper.

WHEN YOU'RE EN ROUTE

- Pay attention to your surroundings. Look for landmarks and highway mile markers.
- Park only in well-lighted areas where an attendant can see you.
- Lock your car at all times.
- Drive to a public place if you're bumped from behind and don't feel safe stopping.
- Don't get out of your car without looking for danger first.

-Don't pick up hitchhikers or ride with anyone you don't know.

IF YOUR CAR BREAKS DOWN

- Park as far off the traveled portion of the highway as possible.
- Turn on the four-way emergency flashers.
- Open the hood.
- Tie a light-colored cloth to the antenna or traffic-side door handle.
- Place a "Send Help" sign in your window.
- Try to stay with your vehicle until a police officer arrives.
- If anyone stops to help, stay in the car, crack open the window and ask him or her to get the police.

-If you do leave the vehicle, leave a note with your name, the date and time you left, the direction you're going, what you're wearing, a description and license number of any vehicle you get in and the driver's name.

As Russian troops approached his bunker in 1945 in Berlin, Adolf Hitler committed suicide along with his wife of one day, Eva Braun.

Swedish-born engineer Gideon Sundback of Hoboken, N.J., patented the zipper in 1913.

FEATURE HOMES

© BY W.D. FARMER, F.A.I.B.D.

By entering this home between two levels, you have access to either the main areas of the home or the garage and future areas on the lower level.

From the foyer and up the half staircase your attention is directed to the vaulted ceiling living room, and the kitchen with breakfast bay. The living room includes an atmospheric corner fireplace. A cased opening gives direct access to the formal dining room and this leads into the large kitchen. The range is placed in an angled cabinet and there is ample room for a breakfast table in the bay window.

There are three bedrooms and two complete baths on the opposite side of the stair entry way. The two front bedrooms share a hall bath, while the master suite includes a garden bath. The master bed room has an octagonal tray ceiling and a large walk-in closet. The garden bath includes double vanity sinks, separate shower and garden tub and is topped off with a vaulted ceiling.

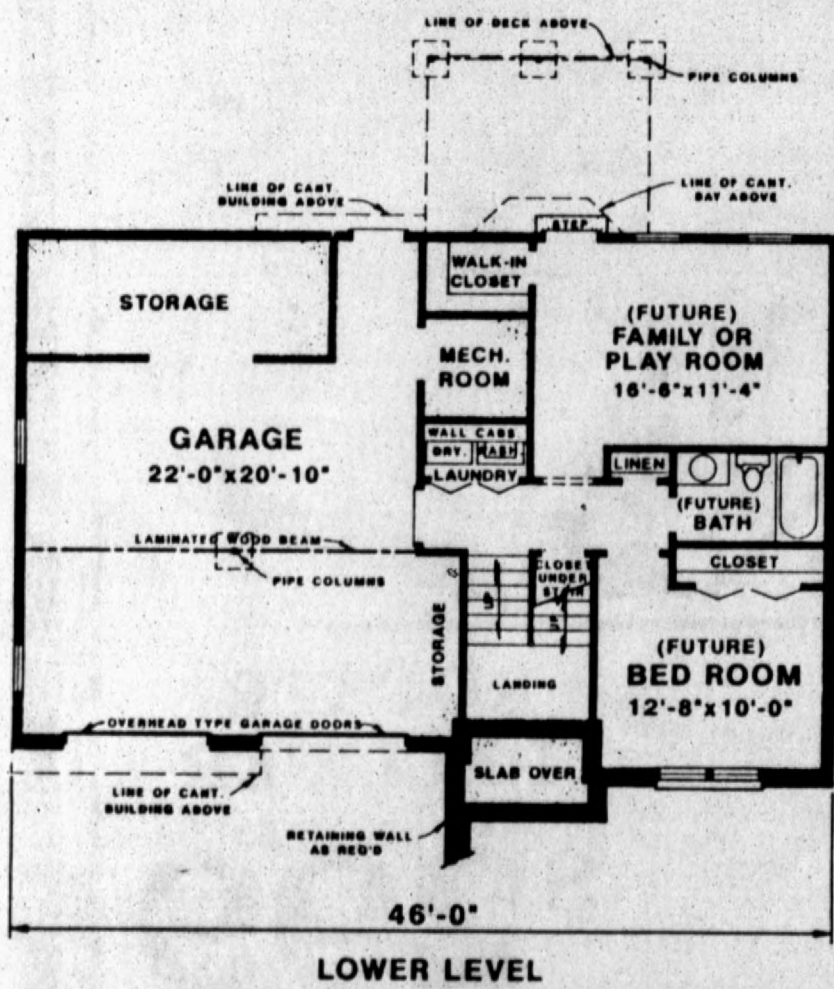

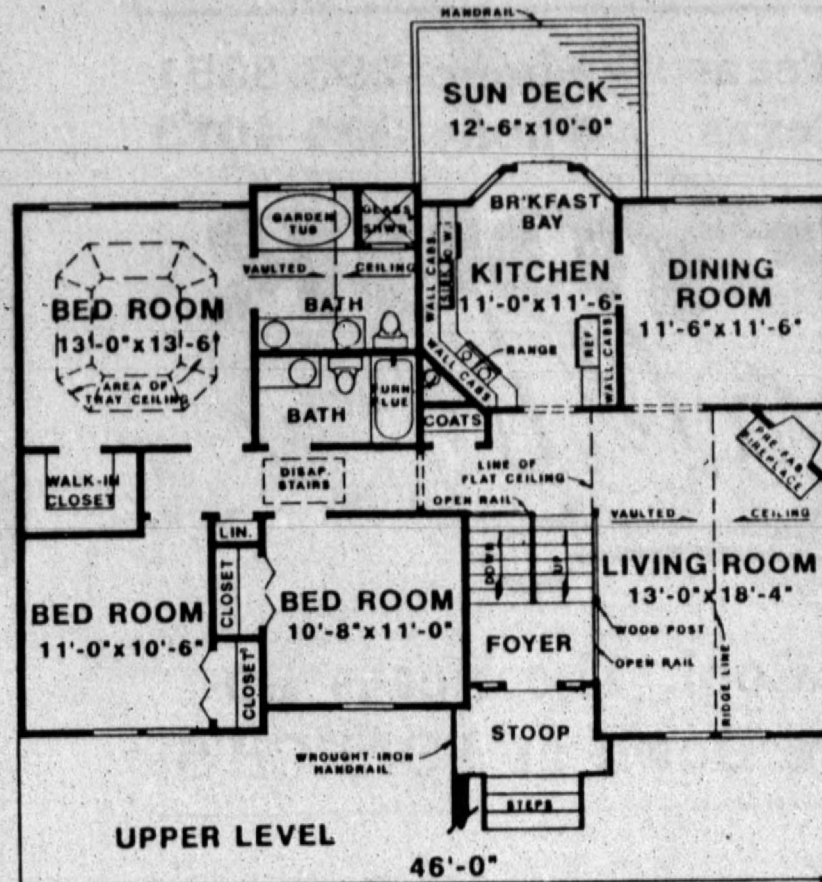

The downstairs portion of the plan includes an oversized double garage with a large storage area and a laundry room. Space is also provided for a future family room or play room, and an additional bedroom and bath.

The exterior of this home is country traditional with gables galore. The arched top entry and arched top window in the living room create a large open, airy and light home. The exterior is constructed of a combination of horizontal wood siding and brick.

Plan 381 S.F. has 1,392 square feet of heated living space on the upper level and 560 square feet of future space on the lower level.

This is a computer generated plan. All W. D. Farmer plans are furnished with special construction details for energy efficiency and are designed to comply with FHA and VA requirements. ## Borders give room new appearance Decorating on a budget doesn't mean you have to settle for less than the best. It does mean that decorating ought to be as economical as it is attractive.

One of the best ways to assure that it is, is to install wallcovering borders quickly and easily. Installing borders is an inexpensive home improvement that results in a custom, high-style look.

"Think of the walls," says the Wallcovering Information Bureau, "as the easiest, yet most effective way to revive the looks of a tired room." Just by adding borders, you can transform the room's entire appearance. Although most borders are designed to coordinate with other wall-coverings, they can be used on plain walls to create a feeling of architectural dimension and visual interest.

Borders needn't be restricted to walls. They can also be used to add a dash of color and style when used to silhouette fireplaces, mantels, kitchen or bath cabinets or other furnishing to emphasize wall or door panels, or to create the looks of panels.

When used as trim around windows or doors, borders can be mitered or overlapped at the corners. To miter a corner, overlap the two borders. With a straight edge and a razor knife, cut the top layer diagonally. Take away what's trimmed and the corner is perfectly mitered.

By overlapping the vertical border, it's possible to visually heighten windows or doors. To create an illusion of wider windows or doors, overlap the horizontal border. Many borders are pre-pasted for ease of installation and washable for easy cleaning. Just follow the manufacturer's instructions.

Decorative borders that are both pre-trimmed and pre-pasted enable you to do it yourself to change the look of a room in about an hour. All that's required is to dip the borders in water and smooth them onto the walls.

Borders, like other wallcoverings, can be purchased at paint and wallpaper stores, specialty shops and decorating centers. The sales people at these retail outlets are also good sources of information on colors, styles and patterns and how to use borders to achieve the look you have in mind.

Borders change room

In a child's room, the decor may be updated simply by changing the border as the youngster grows older. Walls should be covered with a contemporary or traditional wallcovering which will coordinate with this year's Teddy bears or next year's bicycles.

Simple checks may save service call

By READER'S DIGEST For AP Newsfeatures

Is your TV picture or sound not what it should be? Here are some simple checks to make before calling the TV repair technician:

- If there is no picture, sound or light, make sure the set is plugged in. Then test the wall outlet with a lamp you know is working. If there is no power, replace the fuse or reset the circuit breaker in your home's main electrical control panel. Also reset the TV circuit breaker, if there is one, on the back of the set.

- Check connections and wires. Unplug the power cord and examine it for signs of broken insulation, burn marks or loose prongs at the plug.

- If the picture is not what it should be, look for the adjustment knobs and screws on the front and rear panels. Most are for correcting picture problems and should be used as instructed in the owner's manual. Allow the set to warm up before making adjustments.

- If the picture is constantly grainy on a set with a mechanical channel selector, jiggle the tuner knob. If the picture clears, unplug the set. Remove the channel selector knob. Spray tuner cleaner (available at electronics supply stores) through the opening. Replace the knob. The picture may be distorted for about a half-hour afterward.

- If you have a roof antenna and your TV reception is poor, check out the problem by hooking up a set of indoor rabbit ears for comparison. If this improves reception, you know the roof antenna is the problem.

- Check the lead-in wire that connects the antenna to the TV. Loosen and then tighten the connections at the set, at the signal splitter (if you have your FM radio or a second TV connected to the antenna), and at the antenna.

- Twin-wire antenna lead-ins often become loose and drooping in their projecting standoff brackets. When the lead-in flaps in the wind, the TV picture flip-flops and color fades in and out. Make sure that this wire is fitted snugly along its entire length.

- Unplug the TV set before cleaning it.

- Let the set cool before cleaning the face of the picture tube. Spray the face with a commercial glass cleaner and wipe it with a soft cloth.

- Except for the TV screen, avoid using spray cleaners directly on the set. You may damage the wiring or clog the ventilation or sound-producing holes. Instead, spray the cleaner onto your cleaning cloth.

- TV cabinets are usually made of plastic or wood veneer.

- Clean plastic exteriors with mild soap and warm water, using a cloth wrung nearly dry to prevent drips. Dust wood veneer cabinets frequently with a soft, clean, slightly damp cloth. To clean metal cabinets, chrome or any other shiny trim, use a soft cloth moistened with a bit of rubbing alcohol, white vinegar or window cleaner.

SAFETY PRECAUTIONS:

- Unless you're skilled in electronic appliance repair, never remove the back cover of your TV set or perform internal repairs. An error in reassembly might cause radiation to escape or a fire hazard. Moreover, touching parts inside the set might cause a severe shock, even with the power cord unplugged.

- The power cord plug of some sets has one prong with a widened tip. The wide prong is meant to fit only the wide, or neutral slot of the wall receptacle. Never file the wide prong down or try to plug it into an extension cord or plug rather than the outlet.

- Don't block the ventilation slots in the cabinet or place the set near a radiator or in a small, enclosed space.

- If the cabinet is damaged, there may be a shock hazard. Have a trained technician examine the set.

Farmer plans have appeared in many national publications and appear regularly in newspapers throughout the country, including The Hereford Brand.

Cuomo makes court claim

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) - New York Gov. Mario Cuomo claims he's a tougher basketball player than New York Knicks enforcer Anthony Mason, but he didn't have the chance to prove it.

Both men were dressed in suits - Mason a lime green and Cuomo basic blue - when the Knick stopped by the governor's office for a visit Thursday.

Cuomo is an avid Knick fan. The governor also plays basketball twice a week with members of his staff.

Reminded that he shares a style of play with Mason, the reserve forward known for his hard stares and hard fouls, Cuomo said he is tougher.

"They put you out of the game where he plays," Cuomo said. "I own our league."

One play could run you clear of home buying interference.

Financing, Down Payments, Price negotiations. Inspections. All obstacles that could block you from buying a home.

But one move could get you right through that red tape. A call to an experienced real estate agent.

An expert agent can coach you smoothly through the entire home buying process. From using the sophisticated multiple listing service to find the home that fits your needs and your budget. To tackling financing options. Setting up and monitoring inspections. Negotiating price. And even maneuvering you through closing.

So when you need a skilled teammate, get someone who really knows the housing field--a real estate agent.

Read The Hereford Brand for more information about qualified agents. Every day, the real estate classifieds list many properties and agents. And on Sundays the housing section examines the latest market trends and home buying opportunities.

Getting the right coaching now could mean the difference between confusion and closing.

THE TEN CANNOTMENTS

I've long been a fan of President Abraham Lincoln. Perhaps it was because I was raised as a farm boy in the mid-west as he was. Maybe it was because he loved to read and I love to read. Or, it may have been because he was tall and thin and I always wanted to be tall and thin. In any case, Lincoln was one of my history hero's.

In more recent years as I study his life in detail, I find two characteristics that I admire more than all others. The first is courage, and the second is common sense. Lincoln possessed large amounts of both of these two traits.

Lincoln was certainly a man of courage. It takes a great deal of courage to get up again after you've been knocked down. And Lincoln was knocked down a lot. Early in his life he failed in business, but he got back up. Later, he failed to win reelection as a politician, but got back up. He lost a major election to the senate, but got up to run again. This time he was elected to the office of President of the United States.

His term as President also tested his courage. He took on the tough decisions and did what had to be done. He guided America through the Civil War years with a caring, but courageous hand.

Uncommon sense

Perhaps what I've learned to appreciate most about Lincoln was his common sense. As I look around this great country of ours today, I see little evidence of common sense. Whatever happened to practical people who made sound decisions based on a study of reality? Did "horse sense" disappear with the coming of the automobile?

There certainly seems to be a shortage of practical wisdom. In fact, common sense is so scarce that we might be more accurate to call it uncommon sense.

Lincoln's wisdom and insight have been shared by many writers. Recently, I ran across some of his truisms that I hadn't seen before. These simple, common sense sayings are worth sharing. Collectively, they are known as "Abe's Ten Cannotments."

I share them with you, with the hope that you will pass them along to others. Send a copy of this column to a friend or family member. Mail a copy to your congressman or senator. You might even send a copy to our President. Address your letter to: President Bill Clinton, 1500 Pennsylvania Ave., N.W., Washington D.C. 20500.

Abe's top ten

- You cannot bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift.
- You cannot help small men by tearing down big men.
- You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong.
- You cannot lift the wage earner by pulling down the wage payer.
- You cannot help the poor man by destroying the rich.
- You cannot keep out of trouble by spending more than your income.
- You cannot further the brotherhood of man by inciting class hatred.
- You cannot build character and courage by taking away man's initiative and independence.
- You cannot establish security on borrowed money.
- You cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves.

Don't you agree that these are wonderful truths? I believe we must profit from history whenever we can. We should focus on learning from those whose wisdom has passed the test of time.

Although Abe's Ten Cannotments are more than 150 years old, they are still valid today. I encourage you to use them, share them and take them to heart. Courage, common sense and leadership will never be out of style.

You may write to Don Taylor in care of "Minding Your Own Business," PO Box 67, Amarillo, Texas 79105.

All City Board meetings are available to all persons regardless of disability. If you require special assistance, please contact City Hall, 224 N. Lee Street, Hereford, or call 364-2128 at least 24 hours in advance of the meeting.

IRISH NOVENA to St. Jude. Holy St. Jude apostle and martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need. I pray to you now, Holy Saint, that will help me in my time of need, please pray for all who invoke, please pray for all who invoke your aid, and help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known, to help others to pray to you also. Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Marys and 3 Glory Bes. This Novena has never been known to fail. Say this Novena for 9 consecutive days. Publication must be promised. Thank you St. Jude for prayers answered.

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS AND PARTIES:
You are hereby notified that CATTLE TOWN, INCORPORATED has applied for Texas Air Control Board (TACB) Permit No. 22624. This permit, if approved, will authorize construction of a Cattle Feedyard in Hereford, Parmer County, Texas. The location of the existing facility is 9.0 miles southwest of Hereford on U.S. Highway 60. This facility will emit the following air contaminants: particulate matter from feed mixing/handling and products of combustion from the burning of natural gas (volatile organic compounds, nitrogen oxides, sulphur dioxides and carbon dioxides). A copy of all materials in the public file is available for inspection and reproduction at the TACB Lubbock Regional Office at 4630 50th Street, Suite 600, Lubbock, Texas 79414, telephone (806) 796-3494, and at the TACB Central Office, 12124 Park 35 Circle, Austin, Texas 78753, telephone (512) 908-1000. The facility's compliance file, if any exists, is available for public review in the regional office of the TACB. Inquiries about the permit application should be directed to the TACB Permits Program in Austin or the TACB Lubbock Regional office. You may submit written comments concerning the permit application to the TACB Executive Director in Austin. All written comments received within 30 days after the second publication of this notice shall be considered by the Executive Director in determining whether to issue or not issue the permit. All written comments will be made available for public inspection at the TACB Central Office in Austin. This notice is to be published on (a) and (b). Any person who may be affected by emissions of air contaminants from the proposed facility may request the Board to hold an informal public meeting and/or contested case hearing on the permit application pursuant to Section 382.056(d) of the Texas Health and Safety Code. The Board is not required to hold a contested case hearing if the basis of a request is determined to be unreasonable. All requests for a contested case hearing must be received in writing within the 30-day comment period regardless of whether an informal public meeting has been held or scheduled on this matter. Before a permit can be issued for this facility, the applicant must demonstrate that all emission sources are in compliance with all TACB Rules and Regulations and all applicable Federal Regulations. This includes the application of "best available control technology" to each new or modified emission source and compliance with all ambient air quality standards.

'Last Flying Boat' takes a risky trip across Africa

"The Last African Flying Boat," airing Sunday as a presentation of ABC's "World of Discovery," re-creates flights by Great Britain's Imperial Airways from Egypt to Mozambique during the 1930s.

BY JOHN CROOK

In the late 1930s, the Empire flying boats of Imperial Airways linked the British colonies of East Africa, from Egypt to southerly Mozambique. Half a century later, London-based journalist Alexander Frater, producer-director David Wallace and a camera crew made a harrowing attempt to re-create that journey over an Africa that now poses far different challenges.

"The Last African Flying Boat," airing Sunday, July 11, on ABC's "World of Discovery," chronicles their journey with actor Roy Scheider as narrator. A BBC co-production, it is edited from a longer documentary that won a 1990 British Academy Award.

"I joined them in Nairobi," says series executive producer Dennis Kane. "It was great fun and just as scary as it could be. Flying through a war zone in that albatross of an airplane that did 90 miles an hour, top speed, was a little frightening, especially when you know on the ground they had missiles."

Indeed, While the flights of the past were made in posh British aircraft flying over British-held territory, the contemporary travelers found themselves flying over five independent countries and two war zones, where rebels routinely shoot at passing aircraft. The Catalina, the airboat bearing the group on their expedition, is described in the documentary as being "about half a century old and frail as a dragonfly," and the engines frequently threaten to conk out during the trip.

American pilot Jim Ladegard emerged as "a latter-day John Wayne" during the journey, recalls Kane, and the pilot's grimly set jawline becomes a recurring visual theme during the film, whether he's trying to assess damage from running into a flock of birds or just trying to convey to a grinning but uncomprehending Khartoum merchant specifically what piece of hardware he needs.

Kane, who numbers 25 Emmys among his honors, says he is proud of the British award for "Last Flying

Roy Scheider

Boat" and has high praise for his colleagues on the trip.

"In fact, we're just finishing one on the monsoon with the same gentleman, Alex Frater. It will be out next year, and it is absolutely beautiful," he says.

"The Last African Flying Boat" shares its setting with last May's "World of Discovery" outing, an examination of the wildebeest migration across the Serengeti Plain. That's not simply coincidence.

AT A GLANCE

SUNDAY: Fox rolls out "Danger Theatre," spoofing action shows of the late 1970s and early '80s. Air routes that linked the British colonies to Africa in during the 1930s are retraced in "The Last African Flying Boat" on "ABC's World of Discovery." Kenny Rogers, Jere Burns and Reba McEntire star in Part 1 of "The Gambler Returns: Luck of the Draw" on NBC. The conclusion airs Monday. Comedian Mark Weiner fronts the new kids' series, "Weiner-ville," on Nickelodeon.

Kenny Rogers

MONDAY: Adam (Adam Arkin) and Eve (Valerie Mahaffey) tie the knot on CBS' "Northern Exposure." Top athletes are honored on ABC's "Jim Thorpe Sports Awards." On Fox, two buddies (Andrew McCarthy and Jonathan Silverman) share a vacation with a corpse (played to deadpan perfection by Terry Kiser) in "Weekend at Bernie's."

TUESDAY: CBS tosses out the Major League All-Star Game from the new Camden Yards stadium in Baltimore. Kathy Ireland is host of a behind-the-scenes look at the world of modeling in Fox's "Look of the Year." Five couples who have seen their golden anniversaries advise a divorce-prone generation on PBS' "P.O.V."

WEDNESDAY: Sam (Scott Bakula) and Alia (Renee Coleman), the evil leaper, square off on a 1957 college campus in a two-hour "Quantum Leap" on NBC. Neal Patrick Harris ("Doogie Howser, M.D.") guest stars.

THURSDAY: Cary Elwes and Rob-in Wright star in the Rob Reiner fairy tale "The Princess Bride" on the USA Network. Watch for Billy Crystal and Carol Kane in whimsical cameos.

FRIDAY: Jacqueline Kennedy (Roma Downey) struggles to persevere over great adversity in part 2 of "A Woman Named Jackie." The conclusion airs next Friday. For something lighter, treat yourself to The Nashville Network's "1993 Crosby Clambake." "M*A*S*H" star McLean Stevenson hosts.

SATURDAY: James Belushi fights crime with a ferocious four-legged-partner in the 1989 action-comedy "K-9" on CBS.

BOAT

"Most of the wildlife stuff we have done comes out of Africa," Kane explains. "So much of Africa is still undiscovered. We're also finishing up a piece called 'The Small World of Africa,' all about those little creepy-crawlies that can zap you if they decide to."

That program has been in the works since 1989, delayed by the prolonged drought in South Africa that virtually erased the so-called wet season. "Any time you're dealing with little invertebrates, the weather plays a tremendous part," he adds.

Either the monsoon or "Small World" program probably will launch a new cycle of "World of Discovery" around mid-October or so. For now, Kane is hoping an audience tunes in for "Last Flying Boat."

"It gives a real taste of what's cooking in Africa today, from Cairo all the way down to Mozambique and in-between."

Hall and Koz light up late night; mystery symbols unveiled

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: Could you print some information on Arsenio Hall? How old is he, is he married, and where can I write to him? -Cheryl Gale Ficklin, Natchitoches, La.

A: Hall, a 35-year-old bachelor, began his show business career at age 7 with a magic act he performed at weddings where his father, a Baptist preacher, officiated. His love of music, particularly drumming, led to a stint as a disc jockey at his college radio station. He entered comedy on a dare in 1979 and soon relocated to Chicago, where he was given a career-boost by singer Nancy Wilson. A move to L.A. led to opening gigs for performers such as Aretha Franklin, Wayne Newton and Tina Turner. In 1983, he became host of ABC's "The 1/2 Hour Comedy Hour." Four years later, he replaced Joan Rivers on Fox's "The Late Show," where high ratings and strong audience reception led to his role in "Coming to America." Paramount then offered him his own syndicated late-night talk show. It began in January 1989 and recently reached its 1,000th episode. Hall's role as host has brought him numerous awards, including a People's Choice for Favorite Late-Night Talk Show Host and TV Guide recognition as Television Personality of the Year and TV's Best Dressed Man. When not working on his show, he dedicates his free time to causes such as drug education, AIDS awareness, and the fight against urban violence. Fan mail may sent in care of

Arsenio Hall

Paramount Television, 5555 Melrose Ave., Swanson Bldg., 2nd Floor, Hollywood, CA 90038.

Q: Could you give me some information on Dave Koz, the saxophonist who often appears on "Arsenio"? Can you print his address? -Jenny Dawson, Macon, Mo.

A: Born and raised in Los Angeles, Koz discovered the sax in junior high school. After graduating from UCLA with a mass communications degree, he made his recording debut on the Commodores' 1985 album "United." This led to session work for such artists as Chaka Khan, U2 and Richard Marx. He has two solo albums. Koz's work may be heard on the new "General Hospital" theme, and in January he performed at President Clinton's inauguration. You may write him in care of "Arsenio" at the address above.

Q: I am a fan of the "Star Wars" trilogy, and would like the address of George Lucas. -Michael Gough, Mt. Pleasant, Texas.

A: Write Lucas at P.O. Box 2009, San Rafael, CA 94912.

Q: Several weeks ago you referred to a film about the aftermath of a terrible plane crash. I believe the film is "Fate Is the Hunter," not "Cry of the Innocent," as you indicated. It stars Glenn Ford, who investigates the crash of a plane piloted by his friend (Rod Taylor). The concern in the film was whether the crash was due to alcohol abuse, but Ford proved it was the result of a freak mishap. -Jack A. Graves, Turlock, Calif.

A: I stand corrected. "Fate Is the Hunter" (1964), starring Ford, Taylor and Suzanne Pleshette, is indeed the movie in question. It is not available on video.

Q: What is the meaning of the little upside-down horseshoes and the little black squares with a little white square in the center of them that appear at the end of some TV listings. What do they mean? -Bernard Sanfelice, Orangevale, Calif.

A: The horseshoes are supposed to be headphones, which indicate programs broadcast in stereo. The square symbols (TV sets) indicate closed captioning.

Send questions to Let's Talk, Features Department, TV Data Technologies, P.O. Box 961009, Fort Worth, Texas 76161-1009. Because of the volume of mail received, personal replies cannot be sent.

SOAP WORLD

Lucci opens 'AMC Shoppe' on QVC

BY CANDACE HAVENS

Looking for that special gift for a soap opera fan? No problem! Soap opera-related items are flooding the market, and fans can't seem to get enough. There are soap opera trading cards, T-shirts, sweat shirts, watches and albums - all for those die-hard soap fans.

Michael Damian recently released an album of songs that are fan favorites from "The Young and the Restless." "Reach Out to Me" is available in record stores across the country, and Damian says the fans helped him choose which songs to include in the album. "My fans have been incredibly supportive of everything I've done over the years. At last I am able to give them an album of songs that not only I love, but they do, too."

On Saturday, July 17, Susan Lucci introduces an exclusive line of "All My Children" tie-in products including apparel, jewelry and collectible memorabilia, available only to viewers of cable shopping network QVC. "This is the first network television venture in the electronic retailing business with QVC," says Mary Alice Dwyer-Dobbin, ABC senior vice president of daytime programming.

Merchandise available from the AMC Shoppe includes sweatshirts from Pine Valley University, Pine Valley pins and a limited edition Erica Kane Family Portrait plaque featuring Susan Lucci's photo and autograph.

While several of the soaps have individual stars merchandising their own lines, "AMC" is the first soap to put a label on the market.

What about the viewer who isn't an "AMC" fan or maybe just wants to look like a favorite soap star? Not to worry, there is a bevy of soap stars with their own clothing and accessory lines. Linda Dano (Felicia, "Another World") has her own accessory line and question-and-answer segment on QVC. Patti Weaver (Gina, "Y&R") has her own hat company. Shell Kepler (Amy, "General Hospital") has a complete line of casual clothing called Lacy Afternoons. The list goes on, and as the popularity of soap operas grows, more will be added.

HIGHLIGHTS

Sunday, July 11, Fox throws open the trap door to "Danger Theatre," a half-hour lampoon of action series of the '70s and '80s. One of the two regular parody segments is "Tropical Punch." Adam West, TV's Batman of the 1960s, stars as the tough-but-incompetent detective Capt. Mike Morgan. This send-up of "Hawaii Five-O" has Morgan and his crime-fighting team, including a 300-pound former sumo wrestler, bungling their way through their mission of keeping the peace, often wreaking havoc in the process.

Birds Do It **½ (1966) Soupy Sales, Tab Hunter. A janitor at Cape Kennedy blunders into an experiment that gives him the power of flight and makes him irresistible to women. 2:00. July 12 1:30am.

Bitter Harvest **½ (1981) Ron Howard, Art Carney. A Midwestern dairy farmer tries to prevent the spread of a deadly disease which has already affected his family and cattle. 2:00. July 14 8pm.

Black Legion **** (1937) Humphrey Bogart, Ann Sheridan. Bigotry takes on frightening proportions when a disgruntled auto worker falls under the spell of a hooded hate group. 1:23. July 12 2pm.

Black Robe *** (1991) Lothaire Bluteau, August Schellenberg. A priest's mission to bring religion to the Indians of Canada leads to a better understanding of himself and those he intends to educate. (In Stereo) 'R' (Adult situations, brief nudity, violence) 1:41. July 13 10pm.

Bless the Beasts and Children **½ (1971) Billy Mumy, Barry Robins. Six problem boys try to stop the senseless destruction of buffalo by freeing a herd scheduled to be shot for sport. 'PG' 1:49. July 12 12pm.

Blink of an Eye ** (1992) Michael Pare, Janis Lee. A soldier trained in the psychic arts attempts to rescue a kidnapped nurse from a band of Middle Eastern terrorists. (In Stereo) 'R' (Adult language, violence) 1:31. July 11 7pm; 17 10:30pm.

Blood Hook * (1987) Mark Jacobs, Lisa Todd. An insane fisherman turns the annual "Muskie Madness" tournament into a bloodbath by casting for human victims. 'R' (Adult language, adult situations, graphic violence, nudity) 1:25. July 15 10pm.

Body Chemistry II: The Voice of a Stranger ** (1992) Lisa Pescia, Gregory Harrison. An abusive patient's radical sex therapy sparks danger for himself, his therapist and his new-found girlfriend. (In Stereo) 'R' (Adult language, adult situations, nudity, violence) (CC) 1:24. July 11 12:10am; 13 9pm.

Book of Love **½ (1991) Chris Young, Keith Coogan. A man looks back on his awkward teen-age years after his divorce from a high-school golden girl is finalized. (In Stereo) 'PG-13' (Adult language, adult situations) 1:27. July 12 12:30pm.

Boomerang ** (1992) Eddie Murphy, Halle Berry. A Manhattan marketing executive's irresistible appeal to women lands him in hot water. (In Stereo) 'R' (Adult language, adult situations) (CC) 1:58. July 11 3:55am; 13 7pm; 14 3:20am; 16 8:30pm.

The Borgia Stick *** (1967) Don Murray, Fritz Weaver. A suburban duo who work for organized crime try to break their mob connections. 2:00. July 12 1pm; 13 8am.

Born Beautiful ** (1982) Erin Gray, Lori Singer. A top New York fashion model embarks on a career change by helping a teen-ager break into the highly competitive world of modeling. 2:00. July 13 9:05am.

Borsalino *** (1970) Alain Delon, Jean-Paul Belmondo. Two young hoodlums carve a violent path to the top of 1930s Marseille's criminal underworld. 'R' (Adult situations, violence) (CC) 2:03. July 12 1:20am.

The Wackiest Ship in the Army *** (1961) Jack Lemmon, Ricky Nelson. A World War II Naval lieutenant embarks on a dangerous mission with a dilapidated vessel and a crew of misfits. 2:00. July 11 9am.

Warlords of Atlantis ** (1978) Doug McClure, Cyd Charisse. After an accident at sea, members of a scientific expedition stumble upon the long-lost underwater city of Atlantis. PG (Mild violence) 1:36. July 14 5:15pm.

Warpath ** (1951) Edmond O'Brien, Dean Jagger. A man seeks vengeance against three bank robbers responsible for the death of his fiancée. 2:00. July 17 12pm.

The Waterdance ** 1/2 (1992) Eric Stoltz, Helen Hunt. A young novelist's struggle to overcome his own crippling disability has a rejuvenating effect on his fellow patients. (In Stereo) R (Adult language, adult situations, brief nudity) 1:46. July 12 7pm.

Weekend at Bernie's ** (1989) Andrew McCarthy, Jonathan Silverman. Two novice insurance agents try to hide the fact that their boss has been murdered when they arrive at his beach house for a weekend party. (In Stereo) (CC) 2:00. July 12 7pm.

Westworld *** (1973) Yul Brynner, James Brolin. A computer malfunction results in bloodshed when the robots at an adult fantasy park turn on their human visitors. 2:00. July 16 12am.

Where the Day Takes You *** (1992) Sean Astin, Lara Flynn Boyle. Teen-age runaways take the law into their own hands to save their leader from trumped-up murder charges. (In Stereo) R (Adult language, adult situations, violence) 1:47. July 14 9pm.

Where the Red Fern Grows ** 1/2 (1974) James Whitmore, Beverly Garland. A Depression-era youngster living in Oklahoma develops a deep fondness for a pair of hunting dogs. G 1:37. July 13 12pm; 14 12:30am.

Whiskey and Ghosts (1976) Fred Harris, Tom Scott. Davy Crockett's ghost roams the West. 2:15. July 17 2am.

White Comanche ** (1967) Joseph Cotten, William Shatner. A peace officer settles a long-running quarrel between a set of twins, the offspring of an Indian mother and a white father. 2:00. July 16 10pm.

Wholly Moses! ** 1/2 (1980) Dudley Moore, Laraine Newman. Tourists to the Holy Land learn about the life of Herschel, a long-forgotten, would-be prophet, in this parody of biblical epics. PG (Adult language, adult situations) 1:49. July 13 5:15pm.

Wild Hearts Can't Be Broken *** (1991) Gabrielle Anwar, Cliff Robertson. A Depression-era teen's career with her high-diving horse is challenged when she is blinded. Based on a true story. (In Stereo) G (CC) 1:28. July 11 2:30am.

The Wild One *** 1/2 (1954) Marlon Brando, Mary Murphy. A small town is besieged by violence following the arrival of a rowdy gang of motorcyclists. 1:19. July 12 8am.

A Winner Never Quits ** 1/2 (1986) Keith Carradine, Mare Winningham. Based on the true story of one-armed ballplayer Pete Gray and the handicapped boy he inspired. PG 1:37. July 14 7:30pm; 15 2:30am.

Without a Trace ** 1/2 (1983) Judd Hirsch, Kate Nelligan. When a small boy doesn't return home from school, his mother and a compassionate cop embark on a seemingly hopeless search. PG (Adult language, adult situations) 2:00. July 14 10:30am.

Wolfen *** (1981) Albert Finney, Diane Venora. The slayings of a rich industrialist and his wife lead to a New York detective's encounter with a race of super-intelligent wolves. 2:00. July 13 8pm.

Women in Chains ** 1/2 (1971) Ida Lupino, Lois Nettleton. An undercover parole officer is trapped inside a prison when her only link to the outside world dies. 1:30. July 11 2:15am.

Write to Kill ** (1991) Scott Valentin, Joan Severance. An aspiring mystery novelist finds himself with a real whodunit on his hands when his brother is murdered by racketeers. (In Stereo) R (Adult language, adult situations, violence) 1:40. July 17 3:15am.

Young Einstein ** 1/2 (1988) Yahoo Serious, Odile Le Clezio. Australian satirist Yahoo Serious' account of the Tasmanian apple farmer who wowed the 1905 scientific community with rock 'n' relativity. (In Stereo) PG (CC) 1:29. July 11 8am; 14 4:45pm.

Zelly and Me ** 1/2 (1988) Isabella Rossellini, Glynis Johns. A loving nanny and a stuffed-animal collection provide small comfort for an unstable orphan entrusted to a domineering grandmother. PG (Adult situations) (CC) 1:27. July 15 8am.
