Grand Science Prize

Diana Duncan's exhibit on forming compounds won the overall grand prize at the Hereford Science Fair Thursday. High school biology students selected the Shirley fifth grader's project. Her demonstration and the individual division winners will be taken to the High Plains Regional Science and Energy Fair in Canyon March 25-26. (Brand Photo)

Little Miss pageant scheduled April 23

The date of the Little Miss Hereford Pageant has been set for April 23, the theme being "Under the Big Top." Entry blanks will be available beginning March 28 at the Chamber of Commerce office, and the deadline for entry will be April 8.

Divisions include Cutest Miss, 4 years to kindergarten; Miss Petite, first through third grade; Little Princess, fourth through sixth grade; and Miss Junior High, seventh through ninth grade.

Members of the Little Miss Hereford committee include Mary Herring, chairman; Marsha Winget, Dodi Brookhart, Carolyn Hays, Janice Faulkner, Eileen Alley, Helen Lee.

Also, Claudia Wilson, Mary Thomas, Nanette Ashby, Cathy Guseman, Sharon McNutt, Kathy Paetzold, Lucy Rogers, Donna Jones, Neil Rhoton, and Shirley Wilson.

Spelling bee winners listed

Deaf Smith County spelling bee winners from elementary schools who will be participating in the Junior Bee include: Bluebonnet - Jill West, Delia Gonzales, Tonya Holmes, and Mark Scott; Shirley - Amanda Hernandez, Poppy Richardson, Pat Rhodes, and Brooke Perkins.

Also, West Central - Matt Coplen, Mike Manchee, Stuart Mitts, and Scott Simons; St. Anthony's - Rick Alley, Delinda Hernandez, Cami Struve, and Richard Perez; Walcott - Trisha Teel and Rebecca Solomon. Winners from the junior high schools who will participate in the Senior Bee include: La Plata - Michael Holmes and Trina Morgan; Stanton - Craig Rogers and Walter Brockman; Walcott - Lori Derr and Becky Alexander.

The winner of the Junior Bee will spell with the Senior Bee entrants to determine a County Bee Winner.

The Junior Bee is to be held in Deaf Smith County Library at 1:30 p.m. April 5.

The following day at 1:30 p.m. on April 6, the winner of the Junior Bee will enter the Senior Bee with the Senior Bee entrants.

This year the local financial institutions are awarding a $50 savings bond certificate to the Deaf Smith County Spelling Bee winner - and $25 certificates to the first and second place alternates.

Pronouncer for the bee is Bera Boyd.

Senate panel okays social security reform

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate tax writers have given the full Senate a bipartisan Social Security rescue plan that closely resembles a $165 billion measure passed by the House, including an increase in the retirement age.

President Reagan, meanwhile, said he is looking "forward to a signing ceremony in the very near future."

Following a drafting session that lasted more than 13 hours, the Senate Finance Committee voted 18-1 Thursday night to approve the legislation. Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., the committee chairman, praised the measure and predicted "fairly broad support" in the full Senate next week.

The lone dissenting vote was cast by Sen. Steve Symms, R-Idaho.

Instead of raising the retirement age by two years in the next century, as the House bill does, the Senate committee provision combined a benefit cut with increasing the retirement age gradually to 66 between 2000 and 2015. It would have some effect on everyone born in 1938 or later.

All those retiring in the next century would be affected by a cut in initial pensions.

The House bill did not touch the payment to new retirees, but would raise the retirement age gradually from 65 to 67 by the year 2027.

The average retiree now gets a Social Security pension check equal to 42 percent of the final wage. The Senate committee would reduce that to 40 percent.

The Senate measure also would phase out over five years restrictions on how much retirees aged 65 through 69 can earn without losing benefits, starting in 1990. And it would liberalize the benefit formula for mothers who dropped out of the work force to raise children.

Although there are some technical differences, the Senate bill closely parallels provisions of the House-passed measure, including:

-A six-month delay in this July's scheduled cost-of-living increase in benefits.

-Increased payroll taxes on employees, employers and the self-employed.

-A levy on the benefits going to higher-income retirees.

-Mandatory coverage for new federal workers and employees of non-profit organizations after Jan. 1.

-Up to eight weeks of additional benefits for laid-off workers who have exhausted their unemployment benefits. The House bill provided 10 weeks.

-A "prospective payment" system for Medicare to pay hospitals at predetermined, fixed rates.

Legislators offered amendments to drastically alter those provisions or substitute others, but Dole made clear that he wanted to keep intact the recommendations of the National Commission on Social Security Reform.

However, the panel did vote 12-3 to allow a reduction in cost-of-living increases in benefits as a last resort to keep the system solvent during emergencies.

Under the amendment by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., those receiving more than $250 a month in benefits would be the first to have

Finishing high school gives well rounded education

By JERI CURTIS
Staff Writer

The many parents and grandparents who dropped out of school often harp on youngsters to "get an education."

Why?

"Just because you finish doesn't make you any smarter than the one who didn't," admits Robert Priest, assistant principal at Hereford High. Part of his administrative job includes counseling students who want to quit school.

"But, there is a sense of accomplishment that cannot be obtained in any other way," he firmly continues. "You need this feeling of accomplishment, of completion, to satisfy and boost your self esteem. We all have a need to feel good about ourselves."

"What I try to tell them is that we try to give them some alternatives in the ways they'll spend the rest of their lives," he explained. "If they make the perfect choice the first time, they really don't need education. But if they change their mind, if the economy changes, the job market changes, or marital status changes, they will need it to fall back on. The world is a changing thing and what you think you may want to may not even exist later."

To Priest, an education is a well rounded program in which the student would learn the fundamentals in academics, develop socially, develop a civic responsibility and establish a value system for himself which is in keeping with his needs and still fit in society. To him, high school should provide the chance for that through additional freedoms not allowed in lower grades.

The freedoms include:
- For many students, the availability of a car, the responsibilities and liabilities thereof.

-- Selection from 176 courses for the three years.

- Choice of many extra-curricular activities.

- And a chance for vocational training, which may become a career or for financial support in college.

"We try to use several things to point toward long range plans, like the counselors, Career Day, College Night, assemblies, just for food for thought," Priest said, noting that some countries do not give an option, sometimes as early as eighth grade kids are shuffled into ditch-digging or sciences.

"There are a lot of things more important than just learning facts," he added. "Hopefully they can learn to study."

He said time management and self-discipline are two main lessons learned in high school and are often learned not in an academic class, but in extra-curricular participation or on the job.

The edge a high school graduate has over a dropout, according to N.D. Kelso, who teaches government at Hereford High, is that interests are broadened. He said he wished students could take more electives. The longer and more diverse a person's schooling is, the better the defining of life goals.

Marilyn Leasure, Hereford High activities director, prefers the senior high student because of the maturity level. She, a math teacher, said once a person gets through geometry discipline, problem solving and thinking have been learned.

Johnny Martinez, band director, likes junior and senior high.

"Junior high kids are more easily motivated because they'll believe anything. The older they get, the more skeptical they get. It's harder to get senior high kids motivated, but once they get motivated it's like a train, it doesn't stop," he said.

'Should be lean, not mean'

Senators must mull over state financial woes

AUSTIN (AP) - The Legislature should be lean, but not mean, in chopping down the state spending bill for 1985-86 to fit Texas' declining revenues, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby says.

"We have a distasteful choice between passing the first tax bill in 12 years or allowing state services to continue to run down," Hobby said Thursday at the close of a 3 1/2-hour roundtable session on state finances.

"Frugality is important, but so is responsiveness to the legitimate needs of the people."

Comptroller Bob Bullock, who says he wants to run for governor in 1986, was a star performer at the unusual Senate session with a series of suggestions he said would produce $2.1 billion.

Bullock put state legislators in a quandry last Tuesday when he said new estimates of state revenue in 1984-85 were $1.5 billion below the $32.9 billion state spending bill recommended by the Legislative Budget Board.

The LBB bill had been based on Bullock's September 1982 revenue estimate that Texas was in good shape with $5.1 billion new money to spend, including a surplus of $1.3 billion left over from 1983-84 revenues.

Now, Bullock said Thursday, the Legislature has only $4.1 billion in new revenue in sight, with less than $1 billion left over from 1983-84, mostly because of plummeting oil prices and the effects of the devalued peso on the Texas border.

"Let us act now, before Bullock strikes again," said Hobby. "Let us complete our work in the regular session. The cost of a special session will only add to our problems."

"I can assure you that you are not alone among the states," Bullock told the senators and the crowded visitors' gallery. "Forty-seven states are facing budget problems. Thirty-three are looking seriously at tax bills. Thirty-eight are making budget cuts, many of them in addition to tax bills."

Bullock said "we've got troubles but we got options, too."

He "suggested" a $2.1 billion program to wipe out the $1.5 billion deficit of the LBB bill that would include:

- Raising $518 million by making some taxes payable in 1985 that normally would not be paid until 1986, in the state's next financial period. He said bills to do this would be introduced in the House and Senate.

- Increasing the state gasoline tax by 5 cents to a dime a gallon, for $850 million for the general revenue fund. "Twenty-eight states would still be higher," he said.

- Gaining $209 million by doing all new construction of major state buildings on a lease-purchase plan. Private firms would put up the buildings then lease them to the state which would pay 11

Investigation demanded

WASHINGTON (AP) - The State Department is demanding that Guatemala conduct a full investigation into the slayings of a local employee of the U.S. Agency for International Development and three companions, allegedly shot by Guatemalan soldiers last month.

State Department spokeswoman Carolyn Johnson said U.S. Ambassador Frederic Chapin conveyed to Guatemalan authorities on Thursday "our urgent concern that a full investigation be promptly carried out and those responsible ... be brought to justice."

Ms. Johnson said the Guatemalan government has told the United States that an army officer who was in charge of a patrol that stopped the four is being detained and is under investigation.

According to sources familiar with the incident, who spoke only on condition they not be named, the Guatemalan government has said the four victims - three men and a woman - were arrested by soldiers on Feb. 9, were driven to a bridge near the Mexican border and were shot while trying to escape, their bodies falling into a river.

The four people killed were all Guatemalans, including

Marriage champ looks for change

BLYTHE, Calif. (AP) - A 74-year-old who holds the world's record for most marriages has decided to end No. 25 after just three weeks, because his latest wife wants "to drink and have fun like these young ones."

"If everything goes right I'm going to get a divorce on April Fool's Day," Glynn H. "Scotty" Wolfe said Thursday. "There's no fool like an old fool, but I'd rather be an old fool than a dirty old man."

The certified marriage king, listed in the 1983 Guinness Book of World Records, took his most recent wedding march last Dec. 22, when he and Eileen Sheila Shelton, 23, pledged endless love in Las Vegas. After honeymooning there they set up house in their hometown of Blythe, 200 miles east of Los Angeles on the Arizona border.

The two signed up for classes at Palo Verde College along with 18-year-old Glynn Jr. - one of Wolfe's 40 children.

Wolfe carried his wife's books across campus and they helped each other with homework until the magic faded.

"We thought it was better if we cut it off. It was a lot of fun but we agreed to disagree," Wolfe said in a telephone interview. "She likes to drink and have fun like these young ones ... I knew that before but it's pretty hard when you're not used to that."

"These young ones have a lot of new things going," he added, "new actions, new songs, new lies."

The 25th Mrs. Wolfe has moved to Hollywood and there was no answer Thursday at the telephone number Wolfe gave for her.

The latest split sets a new record for Wolfe, whose shortest previous marriage lasted 38 days until divorce papers were filed. The longest survived five years. The Guinness book says he has long kept two wedding dresses - in different sizes - in his closet for ready use.

Wolfe's nuptial exploits, which began in 1931, won him an all-expense-paid trip to Japan for a world record television special last year.

At that time he had his eye on an Oriental bride, figuring a geisha would know how to make a husband happy. She backed out by letter, saying she thought she should marry another Japanese.

He's handling his own divorce in Riverside County Superior Court. The April 1 hearing date is fitting, he says, given that "I've been married on Valentine's Day, the Fourth of July, Christmas, New Year's, Easter and Washington's birthday. Marriage is fun."

Final arguments
rescheduled today

RICHMOND, Texas (AP) — Attorneys prepared final arguments today in the trial of Juan Ramon Ortiz, accused of killing an illegal alien, after a juror's illness caused an earlier postponement.

Ortiz, of Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, is accused of killing Roman Turcios, one of four people from El Salvador who were found dead in July on the banks of the Brazos River in Fort Bend County. The victims had been bound and shot in the head, authorities said.

Prosecutors have argued the slayings were an act of revenge in retaliation for the death of a smuggling ring member who had demanded a relative of two of the illegal aliens pay him more than the agreed-upon $500 fee for their release.

The state accuses Ortiz of belonging to the smuggling gang, which prosecutors say tortured the illegal aliens before shooting them. The smuggling ring, called Los Tejas, transported as many as 400 aliens a month from Nuevo Laredo to the Houston area, the state contends.

Clark also ordered a hearing be held after the trial to determine if another juror, Theresa Cable of Stafford, showed contempt of court by being almost three hours late to Thursday's session.

Pistol released by court used in slaying

DALLAS (AP) — A pistol returned by court officials to a convicted felon was used hours later to fatally shoot the man's wife, police say.

J.D. Walker was being held in lieu of $15,000 bond on a murder charge in the slaying of 42-year-old Letha Walker at the couple's home.

Walker, 36, was arrested about 7 p.m. Wednesday, shortly after the slaying. His wife died about three hours later at Parkland Memorial Hospital.

The handgun was returned to Walker earlier Wednesday. Kim Barham, chief clerk for County Criminal Court Judge George Shepherd Jr., said Walker pleaded guilty Feb. 14 to unlawfully carrying a weapon. State District Judge John Orvis, sitting in for Shepherd, sentenced him to a day in jail and court costs, she said.

Walker served his sentence Feb. 16 and then repeatedly visited the court to ask that his handgun be returned. "He's been down here four or five times wanting the gun," Ms. Barham said. "He kept wanting it and wanting it and wanting it."

Court employees initially refused to release the gun because the judge was on vacation and was not available to sign a release form.

Arrest three soldiers in death of Kline

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — An army sergeant and two privates have been jailed in connection with the shooting death of an American man last October, Defense Minister Jose Guillermo Garcia announced today.

Garcia said at a news conference that the three had been indicted following an investigation that found they had lied in their accounts of the death of 21-year-old Michael Kline of San Diego last Oct. 13.

Kline was killed on a highway 106 miles northeast of San Salvador. Kline's mother said at the time that he had been traveling in Central America.

Garcia said Sgt. Jose Desposorio Lopez Garcia and two army privates had been detained at their army base in Morazan province and would be handed over to a civilian court for trial.

Living is splendid on isolated Michigan's Beaver Island

BEAVER ISLAND, Mich. (AP) — With a stiff winter wind blowing off Lake Michigan, the lighthouse on Beaver Island can't be seen through the falling snow. But when it's cold, there aren't many people looking.

Separated from the nearest mainland by 32 miles of water, about 350 full-time islanders enjoy their isolation. "There's no place else as far as I'm concerned ... no robbery, no rape, no murders," says Bill McDonough, 21, who helps run the general store his grandfather opened in 1933. "We refer to this as our own place — the rest is the United States."

Even an underwater cable that carried power to the island for a decade wasn't missed after it was accidentally severed in December.

An old generating system keeps the island's power alive.

They don't really need the cable, and the weather won't allow its repair until spring.

With 58 square miles of land, mainly forest, Beaver is the largest island on Lake Michigan. Its village, St. James, is its activity center.

The winter's snowfall has been light in northern Lower Michigan this year, but on the island the weather has been more severe, and the county plow has been working.

"This is the time we like it best," says Archie LaFreniere, who has lived here all of his 70 years. "You got security and you don't have the pressure of people running over the top of you."

In the summer, campers, cottage owners and tourists ride a ferry from Charlevoix. But now, when the weather keeps boats off the water, the island is quiet. There's no one in sight during a midday walk down St. James' main street, which rings the frozen harbor.

Between December and April, groceries, mail, medicine, machinery and anything else the island needs must be flown in. A charter air company makes the 15-minute trip twice on most days.

But when weather grounds flights, winter visitors get anxious.

"All they want to know is 'When can we leave?'" says an islander passing time in the Shamrock Tavern, sometimes the only place an outsider can buy a meal.

For local residents, the physical isolation is a buffer against mainlanders with "their city ideas," LaFreniere says.

Isolation was what James Jesse Strang was seeking when he led his Mormon followers here in 1847 after a disagreement with Mormon leader Brigham Young. Strang's community, which crowned him king, displaced the Irish fisherman who had homes on Beaver.

By 1856, when the red-bearded, polygamous king was assassinated by two disgruntled followers, his flock had grown to 2,000 people.

But Strang's followers were driven from the island shortly after his death, according to island historians. The Irish returned, and the community prospered from lumber and fishing operations.

By the turn of the century, the population climbed again to about 2,000. Protected from the Great Depression by an abundance of Lake Michigan whitefish, the settlement thrived until after World War II, when overfishing and the lamprey eel depleted the bounty.

Sons and daughters of third-generation islanders were forced to the mainland to find work, and by 1950 the population dwindled to about 500. By 1960 it was down to 150, but during the next 10 years, vacationers discovered the island and created a new economic base.

Residents who earn a living from the tourists in the summer become jacks-of-all-trades when cold weather arrives. There is a little lumbering, a saw mill, some beaver trapping, some construction work and even fishing when the ice permits.

Only a handful of farms are still being worked in the warm weather. "They ran the soil pretty well out," says LaFreniere, recalling that the island had 40 active farms when he was a boy.

"This is our unemployment season, but it's our play time," says Barbara Rakowski, 35, superintendent, principal and one of five full-time teachers at the 65-student Beaver Island Community School.

Islanders describe their economy as "recession-proof." Officials at the Department of Social Services in Charlevoix say welfare statistics support the claim.

Four households receive payments under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children, and four receive food stamps, according to Doug McCombs, a spokesman for the department.

Hard life catches up with 88-year-old 'Border Angel'

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — Time and a hard life of scavenging for food and medical supplies for the poor has caught up with the tall, blue-eyed man known throughout the Lower Rio Grande Valley as the "Border Angel."

Frank Ferree, 88, who was to have received the nation's highest honor for volunteer service from President Reagan next month, died of natural causes about 8 p.m. Thursday at Valley Baptist Medical Center here.

Funeral services were pending at a Harlingen funeral home.

Those who knew and worked with Ferree during his 41-year tenure in this Texas-Mexico border region say he lived as he worked, among the poor.

Ferree gave the clothes off his back and shared the wilted produce and day-old bread he begged from merchants with thousands of sick and down-and-outers on both sides of the Rio Grande, his friends said.

He sought out wealthy patrons in the Rio Grande Valley to provide operations for the blind and crippled children and convinced pharmaceutical companies to provide medicine for his medical missionary work, they said.

But a longtime friend says people who didn't know Ferree will never understand his mission of mercy.

"Unless you're looking for miracles you can stand right beside one and never see it," said Smokey Boyle, a lay minister in Harlingen.

"He became a Christian," Boyle said. "He had done exactly what the Bible said for him to do, and he lived it, too."

Ferree suffered a heart attack two years ago and was partially paralyzed from a stroke. His condition had deteriorated over the past year and he was admitted to Valley Baptist on Wednesday, said his physician, Dr. Michael Ross.

Bill Starr, a former Valley newspaper reporter, said he didn't know if Ferree understood when Starr told him shortly before he died that Ferree had been awarded the President's Volunteer Action Award, considered the nation's highest honor for volunteer service.

Ferree, also known by his Spanish-speaking friends as the "Gringo Messiah" and the "Sainted Scavenger," was to have been one of 20 recipients throughout the United States of the national volunteer award at a luncheon with President Ronald Reagan April 13.

The award, created last year by Reagan, is co-administered by VOLUNTEER: National Center for Citizen Involvement, and ACTION, a federal volunteer agency, Sarah Harrison of NCCI said Thursday in a telephone interview from Boulder, Colo.

"We tried to explain to him what happened," said Starr, who had nominated Ferree for the award and was instrumental in getting him nominated twice for the Nobel Peace Prize.

"There's no way of telling whether he heard and understood or not," Starr said.

Ferree's award, in the human services category, was one of many presented to him for work with the poor.

Ferree had received numerous medals and honors from the Mexican government for his work among Mexico's poor.

"He'd just throw them (the medals) in an old tin can and maybe sell them for money for the poor," said Boyle, who met Ferree in the 1950s.

In 1977, President Jimmy Carter sent him regards for his "efforts to bring about good relations between Mexico and United States citizens."

A monument erected by the city of Harlingen in 1974 recognizes Ferree's efforts as founder and director of Volunteer Border Relief, an agency he has operated out of his own home since the early 1940s to distribute food, clothing and medicine to the needy on both sides of the Rio Grande.

their cost-of-living increase reduced or eliminated when the Social Security trust funds fall below a 20 percent reserve. The plan could be in effect by Jan. 1, 1985.

The Reagan administration contends that other provisions in the rescue package will keep the trust funds at or above a 20 percent reserve level during the rest of the decade.

The committee also agreed by voice vote to end the payment of Social Security benefits to non-U.S. citizens, who comprise 70 percent of the 314,000 people living in foreign countries, but still collect $1 billion a year in benefits.

As did the House, the Senate panel rejected arguments to delay Social Security coverage for new federal workers.

While the Senate panel followed the House in agreeing to an increase in the retirement age, House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., predicted Democrats would seek to return the retirement age to 65 in the future.

O'Neill and other House leaders met with Reagan at the White House Thursday to accept what O'Neill called "a few kind accolades" for House passage of the Social Security bill.

O'Neill said the session with the president produced "a handshake, a smile and a thank you."

Reagan issued a written statement praising "the responsible, bipartisan spirit" shown by the House in approving the measure on a 282-148 vote Wednesday night.

"The result has been a new lease on life for one of our most basic government programs, Social Security," the president said.

percent interest until paid out in 20 years. County and city governments could still collect property taxes until the buildings are paid for.

Letting the state spending bill provide that the two-year spending bill would allocate money to state agencies for certain items only if and when the money is available. He said if this covers 5 percent of the bill it could save up to $575 million.

Joe Kelly Butler, Houston, chairman of the State Board of Education, warned the Senate that the governor's plans for teachers salary raises and other school financing could raise local property taxes.

He said the governor's plan puts nearly $457 million in teacher salary increases but only increases state funding over the LBB bill by $321 million.

"The governor's plan shifts funds around," Butler said.

"What this does in reality is to shift funds from the more populous counties such as Dallas, Tarrant, Harris, Travis, Jefferson, Midland, Ector, and rural Texas and redistributes the money to Bexar County, El Paso County and the border areas."

Butler said this move "indicates the governor's program would require an additional $166 million more out of local taxes."

There have already been 49 rollback elections where school districts have raised taxes by more than 8 percent and unhappy voters called an election by petition, said Butler.

Patricio Ortiz who was working for a company hired by AID to teach Spanish to Indians in the Guatemalan highlands, Ms. Johnson said.

A Feb. 14 letter from Chapin to the Guatemalan foreign minister, made available to The Associated Press, said the four disappeared on Feb. 9 after they were stopped at a checkpoint by Guatemalan troops near the town of Ixtahuaca in western Guatemala.

The letter said the four were then seen driving off in their red Cherokee jeep toward Colotenango, across the Naranjales bridge and then toward La Democracia. It added that the four were "reportedly taken to the military post at Camoja, La Democracia."

The letter identified the missing as Ortiz, an employee of Inter-America Inc., a firm under contract to AID; Abel Ortiz, a bilingual teacher employed by the government; Catarina Jacinto Jimenez de Ortiz, Abel's mother and Patricio's sister-in-law; and Obispo Tzunun, a government employee.

The incident came to the attention of a congressional delegation headed by Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., chairman of a House appropriations subcommittee on foreign aid. During its visit in mid-February, the delegation sought information about the disappearances, one source said.

The source, who spoke only on condition his name not be used, said the military first denied knowing anything about the disappearances, but described the four as "communists." This week, however, the Guatemalan government acknowledged that the four had been arrested and were shot while trying to escape, the source said.

Earlier this year the Reagan administration lifted an embargo on arms sales to Guatemala, saying that respect for human rights in the Central American country had improved. Arms sales to Guatemala were cut off during the Carter administration because of widespread allegations that the conservative military government routinely tortured and killed its opponents.

Jimmy, Elizabeth Chagra convicted of tax charges

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — The income tax fraud conviction of Jimmy and Elizabeth Chagra marks the resolution of all existing charges stemming from the 1979 assassination of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr.

The El Paso couple unexpectedly waived their right to a jury trial at a pre-trial hearing Thursday and were convicted of income tax fraud.

Similar tax charges against Mrs. Chagra's father, Leon "Red" Nichols, were dismissed.

"This is it. It was such a quiet way for it to end," said

Assistant U.S. Attorney Leroy Jahn after the convictions. She and her husband, Ray, also an assistant U.S. attorney, have prosecuted four other trials related to Wood's murder.

The judge was shot May 29, 1979 in San Antonio as he prepared to drive to his office.

The tax case was moved to Shreveport from San Antonio on a change of venue.

U.S. District Judge William S. Sessions tentatively set sentencing for March 18 in San Antonio. Also scheduled for sentencing that day is Charles V. Harrelson, the man convicted of firing the shot that felled Wood, and Harrelson's wife.

Chagra, 39, has been acquitted of charges he paid Harrelson $250,000 to shoot the judge. Mrs. Chagra, 28, was convicted of conspiracy to murder Wood and to obstruct justice.

Three persons arrested

Three persons were arrested on traffic violations Thursday. One for driving while intoxicated, one for driving while license suspended and one for reckless driving.

One person was arrested after investigation on a domestic assault.

In separate incidents, police checked a harassment and an assault by threat at Handy Hut on West Park.

A car owner reported that his car had been scratched deliberately while parked in the 600 block of Austin Street.

Firemen reported two dumpster fires Thursday night and a smoke alarm run early today.

VISTA volunteer needed

Big Brothers-Big Sisters of Hereford, Inc. is seeking a person to serve as a VISTA volunteer for 40 hours per week. This person is to be paid a basic living allowance by the National Action Office of $168 every two weeks, plus other benefits, over a 12 month assignment starting April 15, 1983 and ending April 14, 1984.

The VISTA volunteer will work under the supervision of the Executive Director of BBBS of Hereford in areas of recruitment of other adult volunteers as Big Brothers and Big Sisters, light casework, group activities for the unassigned caseload, general office duties, & in other areas of agency work. Minimum age: 18 - no maximum age limit.

Retired persons are encouraged to apply. This allowance will NOT affect Social Security payments.

Anyone interested should contact Big Brothers-Big Sisters at 106 East 3rd St. for further information.

The deadline for applying for the position is Thursday, March 17.

Presentation opens Texas Easter Seal spring campaign

Governor Mark White was presented the first sheet of 1983 Easter Seals by the 1982 Texas Easter Seal Poster Child, Jaylee Murr. It has always been a tradition with the Texas Easter Seal Society that the Governor of the State of Texas does the honor of opening the annual Easter Seal Appeal in this manner.

The campaign, which began March 1 and continues through April 30, is highlighted by the National Easter Seal Telethon on March 27. The spring campaign enables the Society and its affiliates to provide therapy, orthopedic equipment, treatment and evaluation to disabled children and adults in Texas. It also helps to fund the Easter Seal Action Line, a toll-free number to call for information and/or assistance.

Jaylee was born with spina bifida, a birth defect caused by an opening in the spine that fails to close before birth. Jaylee's lower legs and feet are paralyzed, and she walks with canes and leg braces. Jaylee has a bright future because of her eagerness to learn and her high intelligence. "Her charming personality makes her a joy to be around," say her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roddy Murr of Azle, Texas.

The Texas Easter Seal Society urges your support and generosity in its 1983 spring campaign to meet the needs of Texas communities and their disabled citizens. For further information about Easter Seal services, call the toll-free number 1-800-492-5555.

5A semifinals today

Dimmitt, Borger, Snook reach state finals

AUSTIN (AP) — Spectator interest at the state schoolboy tournament shifted today to Class 5A, which includes a Houston Yates team loaded with college prospects such as a 6-foot-8 forward touted as a possible point guard and guards that check in at 6-7 and 6-5.

Yates, 37-2, and Fort Worth Paschal were matched in the afternoon semifinal. Bryan, which won one and lost one to Yates early in the season, and San Antonio Sam Houston play tonight.

Yates' 6-8 Rickie Winslow and 6-5 Carven Holcombe have drawn the most attention from college recruiters, who also like 6-7 Stacey Belcher.

Another highly sought recruit is 6-9 Raynard Davis of Sam Houston.

On Thursday, Snook made a bid for its sixth consecutive Class A championship by running away from Quitaque-Turkey Valley 51-28 in the semifinals, and Dimmitt — the defending champion in 3A — beat Lindale 63-47.

Snook will play Nacogdoches Central Heights, which defeated Maypearl 61-54 in its first tournament appearance, for the title on Saturday.

Dimmitt renews a rivalry with Van Vleck, which whipped Columbus 67-57, in another Saturday championship contest. In 1975, Dimmitt defeated Van Vleck for its second crown.

In Thursday night's 4A semifinals, Borger surprised

Silsbee, which had lost only once, 61-56, and Waxahachie outran Corpus Christi Flour Bluff 76-57.

Snook got 17 points from Darin Benford and 16 from Clint Thomas, a 6-2 leaper who can dunk the ball, in an easy victory over Valley. Snook is making its 16th appearance at the tournament and could win its ninth championship.

Wayne Johnson threw in 24 points before fouling out, and his sub — 6-0 freshman David Davis — scored four points and grabbed five rebounds in the final 3:55 of Central Heights' victory over Maypearl.

All-state guard Kevin Cleveland, the coach's son, tossed in 25 points for Dimmitt, which had little difficulty with a predominantly junior Lindale squad.

Van Vleck missed its first 11 shots and survived a stretch in which Columbus scored 18 unanswered points to avenge an earlier 12-point loss to the Cardinals. Despite the 18-point streak that gave Columbus a 35-28 lead, Van Vleck led at the end of three quarters 40-39 and pulled away in the final period.

Kelvin Prince scored 18, and Andre Martin and Edwin Williams each had 13 for Van Vleck, which attempted 86 shots from the field. Williams also had 26 rebounds. Troy Denley scored 17 for Columbus.

After his teammates had missed seven of eight possible free throw points within 38 seconds, Kevin Willis of Borger swished four in a row in the last 12 seconds of the game to clinch Borger's victory over Silsbee, which nearly made up a 13-point deficit in the final 4:07.

Terrance Sheppard put in 22 points and grabbed 15 rebounds for Borger, which has finished as a runner-up twice but never won a title. Delton Harper also had 22 points and 13 rebounds for Silsbee but fouled out with 31 seconds remaining.

Waxahachie broke an 11-11 tie at the end of the first quarter and stayed comfortably ahead of Flour Bluff, which was playing without starting postman Roger Durden, who hurt his ankle in the regional finals.

Mike Washington tallied 18, and Todd Alexander and Lloyd Price each scored 14 for Waxahachie, which outbounded Flour Bluff 47-30. Waxahachie is so deep in talent that 6-7 Frank Dyer is a sub.

Bobby Jackson scored 18, and Kevin Washington and Frank Fishtel each had 16 for Flour Bluff. Significantly, Durden's sub, Eric Miller, was scoreless. Durden had been averaging about 15 points a game in the playoffs.

Also on today's schedule were the semifinals in 2A, with Coppell playing Morton and Bartlett meeting Gladewater Sabine, which won titles in 1980 and 1981.

Canyon remains unbeaten

Borger comeback nips Herd, 6-5

Canyon remained undefeated, while Borger broke into the win column for the first time this season to highlight Thursday's opening round of the Deaf Smith County Baseball Tournament.

The Eagles, now 5-0, erupted for six runs in the last of the sixth to trip Caprock, 12-6. Borger pushed across four runs in the top of the sixth to post a come-from-behind 6-5 win over final Hereford in the day's final game.

In other games, Pampa scored the winning run in the last of the seventh to nip Plainview, 5-4, while Levelland used an 11-run fourth frame to rout Dumas, 13-3, in a game halted after five innings by the 10-run rule.

As a result of Thursday's game, Pampa and Canyon met in one semifinal contest at 11:15 this morning, while Borger and Levelland played at 4 p.m. The two winners will advance to tomorrow's 4 p.m. championship battle.

Thursday's first-round losers, Plainview-Caprock and Dumas-Hereford, played at 9 a.m. and 1:30 p.m., respectively.

Hereford appeared to be on the way to an opening-round win when it scored four runs in the bottom of the first to wipe out of 2-0 deficit.

The Herd expanded that to 5-2 when Mickey Stengel tripled home Brian Taylor in the fourth.

Sophomore Mike Scott got out of some early-inning jams, and appeared to be in control, until running into big trouble in the top of the sixth.

He faced four batters, and didn't get anyone out, before giving way to Robert Martinez.

But, Borger didn't stop there.

Kevin Simmons' two-run single off Martinez knotted the count at 5-5, then Bulldog pitcher Shane Wade brought in the winning run with an in-Hereford had a chance to take the lead in its half of the sixth when it loaded the bases with just one out.

But, Raymond Martinez hit a high pop fly behind second base, and Brian Taylor was thrown out at the plate when he attempted to score from third on the play.

Hereford took advantage of four Borger errors, a couple of walks and a pair of hits to score its four first-inning runs. The only hits in the inning were a leadoff single by Taylor and an RBI single by Raymond Martinez.

Scott, who was making his first varsity start, allowed nine hits, walked four and struck out five.

Four games are scheduled tomorrow. The seventh-place game will start at 9 a.m., followed by the consolation finals game at 11:15. The third-place game is set for 1:30 p.m., with the championship clash to follow.

Against No. 1 Cougars

SMU hopes for upset

DALLAS (AP) - Southern Methodist Coach Dave Bliss has decided to try a little psychological warfare on No. 1 ranked Houston before tonight's semifinal meeting at the Southwest Conference Post-Season Basketball Classic.

Bliss noted that Houston lost to Virginia earlier in the year probably because they had a letdown when they found out All-America Ralph Sampson wasn't going to play.

"Five minutes before the game I'm going to Houston and tell them Sampson's not going to play tonight," Bliss quipped. "Houston doesn't beat us with baskets. They beat us with touchdowns and conversions."

"We won't let the air out of the ball but we can't run against them. We won't stall, either," Bliss said.

Southern Methodist and Texas Christian rolled to relatively easy quarterfinal victories Thursday night.

SMU trimmed Texas Tech 76-69 despite Red Raider guard Bubba Jennings' career high 29 points and TCU slammed Texas A&M 65-53.

TCU meets No. 6 ranked Arkansas in the second game of tonight's doubleheader for the right to play in Saturday's noon championship finals.

SMU guard Butch Moore said the Mustangs were excited about getting another crack at the Cougars, who drubbed them twice this year.

"Houston has a lot of number one players and we're looking forward to it," Moore said. "They beat us by 36 in Houston and by 17 at our place. We're going to play our game and maybe something good will happen."

Center Jon Koncak scored 21 points for the Mustangs and got seven rebounds before he fouled out.

"Everything was falling for me," said Koncak. "I knew in the second half they would come out and front me to stop me and they did but the other guys picked up the slack."

SMU is now 19-10 for the year and Houston has a 25-2 record.

TCU, reaching the 20-victory mark for only the third time in the school's history, has nine losses. Arkansas is also 25-2.

The championship finals are at noon Saturday and will be televised to most of the nation by NBC.

Arkansas is the defending tournament champion, but Houston made it to the Final Four last year.

The Cougars swept through the SWC regular season race with a 16-0 record and have won 20 consecutive games.

Nicolette grabs lead in Bay Hill Classic

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — After longshot Mike Nicolette had nursed home an early, 5-under-par 66, the wind, cold and rain turned the first round of the Bay Hill Golf Classic into a horror show.

Jack Nicklaus made the turn 2 under par, then bogeyed three of four holes on the back for a 72, his first round over par this year. Masters champ Craig Stadler had the same score, even though he holed out from the fairway for an eagle-2.

Tom Watson, the U.S. and British Open title-holder, lost three shots to par on the last three holes and shot 73. PGA champ Ray Floyd had to make four birdies to salvage a par 71.

And those adventures took place early Thursday, before the weather turned more severe.

Even the host, Arnold Palmer, was not immune.

He sent a ripple of excitement of eager anticipation through a heavily bundled gallery when he opened up birdie-birdie and, after two holes, was tied for third in the first round of his own tournament. And Palmer, trailed by a big gallery of friends and neighbors as well as his wife, Winnie, kept it there, 2 under, for another six holes.

Then he, too, fell victim to the winds that gusted to nearly 40 mph. A windblown drive on the ninth started him on the way to a 6, a double bogey.

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Roger Chapman and Brian Waites of Britain shared the lead with Garry Cullen of Kenya, each with a 4-under-par 67 after the first round of the Kenya Open golf tournament.

A couple of holes later, Winnie remarked: "One more. Just one more. If he makes one more double bogey, I'm leaving."

She was next seen walking briskly through the parking lot at Arnold's Bay Hill Club. Arnold finished with a frustrating and deeply-frustrated 78.

But he was not alone. Only two men in the afternoon half of the field, which got the worst of the weather, broke par 71. Woody Blackburn and Bob Gilder had 70s.

Lanny Wadkins shot 80. Tom Purtzer had a 9 on his last hole. Don Pooley, who had a string of 22 consecutive rounds at par or better, wrote an end to that. He had a 77. Tom Kite, the defending champion and winner of the Vardon Trophy for the last two seasons, shot 76. Orville Moody picked it up after playing the first nine in 41.

Nicolette, a career struggler now in his fifth year on the Tour, started from the 10th tee, played the more difficult back nine first and so got past most of the trouble before the winds kicked up.

Joe Inman, another early starter, used the same formula for his 68 that put him in second, two shots back.

Donnie Hammond, Pat McGowan and Mark McCumber — all of whom played in the morning — shared third at 69.

College basketball roundup

Syracuse trips Georgetown, 79-72

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

Jim Boeheim didn't have to say much to his Syracuse basketball players before sending them out to meet Georgetown in the Big East tournament.

"If any team needed a win, it was us," said the Syracuse coach.

The 20th-ranked Orangemen had lost two regular-season games to the Hoyas — including one as recently as last Monday night — and a loss Thursday night would not only have bounced them out of the tournament, but quite possibly out of the NCAA playoffs as well.

They made sure that wouldn't happen, beating the 15th-ranked Hoyas convincingly, 79-72.

"Syracuse was better than us tonight," said Georgetown Coach John Thompson. "Monday night had nothing to do with it."

Shortstops passed over again

"Rautins and Santifer knew it was their last time around. They did a great job. They beat us."

Thompson referred to two of the Orangemen's seniors, Leo Rautins and Erich Santifer. Santifer scored 23 points and Rautins had 18 points, seven rebounds and six assists.

In the other quarterfinal games at Madison Square Garden, No. 8 St. John's defeated Pitt 64-53 behind Billy Goodwin's 16 points; No. 13 Villanova edged Connecticut 69-68 on John Pinone's free throw with 23 seconds remaining and No. 14 Boston College hammered Seton Hall 79-56 behind John Garris' 23 points, outscoring the Pirates by a whopping 53-20 in the second half.

"Connecticut played inspired basketball. Our patience down the stretch took its toll on them," said

Villanova Coach Rollie Massimino.

The Big East tournament was one of several played around the country Thursday night as teams continued to shoot for spots in the NCAA's post-season tourney.

Sidney Green scored 28 points to lead No. 9 Nevada-Las Vegas to 74-67 victory over University of the Pacific in an opening round game of the Pacific Coast Athletic Association tournament.

In other first-round games, San Jose State beat Utah State 80-66 behind Chris McNealy's 27 points; Fresno State defeated UC Irvine 86-68 as Bernard Thompson scored 24 and Ricky Smith hit a 12-foot bank shot with three seconds to play as Long Beach State upset Fullerton State 61-59.

In the Southern Conference, Willie White had 28 points as 18th-ranked Tennessee-Chattanooga pulled away from scrappy Appalachian State 71-58. George Singleton scored 17 points as Furman stunned Marshall 67-60. Winfred King scored 21 points and pulled down 19 rebounds as East Tennessee State took a 75-65 victory over The Citadel. Kenny Trimier's 24 points paced Western Carolina to an 86-62 victory over Davidson.

Ennis Whaley hit two free throws with 1:12 remaining to give sluggish Alabama the lead, and Terry Williams made two clinching free throws with four seconds to play as the Crimson Tide came back in the second half to trim Auburn 62-61 in the opening game of the Southeastern Conference tournament. Dale Ellis tallied 26 points, 19 in the second half, as Tennessee rolled past Florida 78-62.

Alabama Coach Wimp Sanderson said the key to the Crimson Tide victory was its man-to-man defense in the second half after playing mainly a zone defense the first 20 minutes.

Rick Lamb scored 22 points to spark Illinois State to a 79-61 victory over Bradley in semifinal action of the Missouri Valley Conference championships. Ricky Ross hit a 15-foot jump shot with four seconds left in the game to lead Tulsa past New Mexico State 49-48 in the night's second game.

John Devereaux poured in 25 points, pulled down 16 rebounds and blocked six shots as Ohio University whipped Toledo 70-59 to move into the finals of the Mid-American Conference tournament. Bowling Green was the other semifinal winner, beating Ball State 79-69 as Bill Faine scored 28 points.

"The thing I like is that we held Ball State to 47 percent shooting tonight, and they were coming off a 63-percent game against Miami," said Bowling Green Coach John Weinert.

Xavier guards Victor Fleming and Anthony Hicks scored 16 points each and spearheaded a pesky defense that forced Detroit into numerous turnovers on the way to a 90-70 victory in the semifinal round of the Midwestern City Conference tournament. Alfredrick Hughes scored 25 and Andre Battle added 17, as Loyola bounced Evansville 80-66.

Russell Davis scored 20 points and grabbed 12 rebounds and Robert Brown contributed 24 points as Long Island University rallied to defeat Fairleigh Dickinson 101-98 in overtime to gain the finals of the ECAC Metro North playoffs. Chipper Harris scored 32 points to lead Robert Morris to a 106-94 victory over St. Francis in the other Metro North semifinal.

In the ECAC South, Tony Robinson stole the ball and scored on a layup with four seconds left to nail down a 68-65 victory for East Carolina over George Mason. Also, Navy hit seven of 10 free throws down the stretch to hold off Richmond 74-69.

Darren Maloney scored 23 points and Chris Logan added 22 as Holy Cross rallied in the second half to defeat New Hampshire 89-77 in an ECAC North Atlantic game. Also, Tony Simms scored 34 points to lead Boston University to a 95-82 victory over Niagara.

Darryl Murphy and James Mitchell scored 14 points each to power Jackson State to a 63-61 victory over Mississippi Valley in the Southwestern Athletic Conference tournament. Alcorn State stopped Prairie View 98-55 as Aaron Brandon, David Clabon and David Williams scored 16 points each. Southern University defeated Grambling 77-68 as Glenn Bridges scored 14 points.

Kenneth Lyons scored a Southland Conference Tournament record 47 points as North Texas State stunned regular-season runnerup Louisiana Tech 87-73 in a first-round game. Jay Hansen scored 16 of his 20 points in the second half to lead Arkansas State to a 66-56 come-from-behind victory over Texas-Arlington. Joe Dumars scored 33 points and Kenny Jimerson added 32 to lead McNeese State to a 112-101 double overtime victory over Northeast Louisiana.

Alston, Kell gain entry into Hall of Fame

TAMPA, Fla., (AP) — The doors of baseball's Hall of Fame have opened for Walter Alston and George Kell. That means another long year's wait for the forgotten men of the game — the shortstops.

Phil Rizzuto, Marty Marion and the late Glenn Wright were passed over Thursday when the Committee of Veterans voted to induct Alston, 71, who managed the Dodgers over a 23-year span in two cities, and Kell, Detroit's flashy, good-field, good-hit third baseman.

For years there has been strong criticism that the Hall of Fame electorate ignored defensive geniuses and concentrated on long-ball hitters and strong-armed pitchers. Shortstops compose the least-represented position in the shrine in Cooperstown, N.Y.

Alston and Kell, whose credentials are indisputable, will be enshrined July 31, along with Brooks Robinson, the great third baseman of the Baltimore Orioles, and San Francisco's ace pitcher, Juan Marichal. They were elected earlier by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

In recent years there has been a strong campaign for Rizzuto, a member of the New York Yankees in the Joe DiMaggio era, among baseball's all-time outstanding fielders in the 1940s.

That was when Marion was doing outstanding things for the St. Louis Cardinals, a competitive team that won the World Series in 1942 behind the .276 hitting and flawless fielding of their great shortstop.

Oldsters had waged a lobbying campaign for Wright, another sure-handed, shotgun-armed shortstop who played with the Pittsburgh Pirates before World War II. But all were left wanting.

"I think the committee is waiting for next year when Pee Wee Reese (the Brooklyn Dodgers' great shortstop) will be eligible for the first time and they can put Rizzuto and Reese in as a pair," said one prominent baseball personality who serves on the committee. Sentimentality frequently enters into the Hall of Fame voting procedure, as in the case of the simultaneous induction of Mickey Mantle and Whitey Ford, old Yankee teammates.

A player becomes eligible for the Hall of Fame five years after retirement and remains eligible for selection by the baseball writers for 15 years if he can maintain a fixed voting count. Missing this, he must wait an additional five years before he becomes eligible for consideration by the Committee on Veterans. Kell thus gained admission to the baseball shrine on his first year of eligibility in the veterans class. Alston was chosen in a special category which includes managers and administrators.

Besides Alston and Kell, players given special consideration by the veterans committee were Charlie Grimm, the oldtime Chicago Cubs' first baseman and later manager; pitchers Vic Willis and Carl Mays; Ray Dandridge, an outstanding first baseman of the Negro Leagues, and umpire Al Barlick.

Following World Series

Life changes drastically for Porter

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — How does winning the Most Valuable Player award in the World Series change a baseball player's life?

"Well, I got on the Johnny Carson show," said Darrell Porter. "It would never have happened if I hadn't been the MVP."

The bespectacled, clerkish-looking catcher of the St. Louis Cardinals is able to speak lightly of having achieved a goal last fall that every red-blooded kid in the land must dream about.

He knows the fickleness of the public and press. If he had booted a couple of throws, failed to nail a few base stealers and batted .175, he'd never have heard the telephone ring.

Porter was in especially heavy demand — not because he was a clean-living, church-going, family-loving American hero.

Just the opposite. He was a man who had turned down the wrong road, got mixed up with booze and drugs and almost destroyed his family life and his career.

"I am still a drug addict, an alcoholic," he says frankly. "I will be the rest of my life."

Three years ago, while he was playing with Kansas City, this 31-year-old, 11-year veteran recognized that he was a prisoner — a captive, an addict of the bottle. And the situation was going from bad to worse.

"I was a sick man," he recalled. "I had a lot of idle time on the road. I began to drink, later smoke pot. I drowned my inhibitions. I was on a high and thought I felt good."

"Later I discovered it was phony. I can't explain what was going on in my mind. My relationship with my wife was deteriorating. It was awful. Soon I knew I couldn't handle it."

The date was March 12, 1980. That's when Porter, having been touched by the testimony of onetime alcoholic Don Newcombe, decided to enter a rehabilitation center for treatment.

In December, 1980, he was picked up as a free agent his old Royals manager, Whitey Herzog.

Always a fine defensive catcher and good handler of pitchers, he had a mediocre season at the plate in 1981, hitting only .224 and batting in only 31 runs.

Last season he again started poorly, especially at home, but picked up to finish with a .231 average and 12 home runs.

He caught fire in postseason play, hitting .556 in the league title series against Atlanta and against the Brewers in the World Series getting 10 hits, with a home run, two doubles and five RBIs.

"Any guy on this team could have been the MVP," he insists. "It just happened to come to me. I feel it was a reward for my faith."

"Some people refer to me as a born again Christian. Actually, I was converted when

SMU favored in NCAA meet

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Southern Methodist University, winner of only one national collegiate title in the school's history, was considered the slight favorite to capture the men's crown in the NCAA Indoor Track and Field Championships, which began today.

The Mustangs, runnersup in 1981 and fourth last year, were rated the team to beat this time because of their strength in the field events.

Only one final was scheduled today — the 35-pound weight throw at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti — with trials and semifinals for men and women in the other events at the Silverdome. The other 28 finals — 15 for men, 13 for women — were set for the Silverdome Saturday.

But today's one final was expected to set the tone for the Mustangs' drive toward the championship, which would go along with the national collegiate golf title SMU won in 1984.

In the weight throw, the Mustangs had the favorite, Robert Weir, and two other potential high point scorers in Richard Olsen and Anders Hoff.

Weir, the NCAA indoor champion as a freshman in 1981 and fourth last year, was ranked No. 1 on the basis of his world indoor best throw of 77 feet, 6 3/4 inches earlier this year.

Besides Weir, they had two other favorites — two-time defending champion Keith Connor in the triple jump and two-time winner Michael Carter in the shot put.

They also had the nation's fastest collegiate mile relay team, 600-yard runner Leslie Brooks and sub-four minute miler Paul Rugut.

Texas-El Paso's hopes rested with Johnsen, two-milers Gidamis Shahanga, Zakariah Barie and Sam Ngatia, two-time 440 champion Bert Cameron, quarter-miler Carl Meylor and sprinter Fabian Whymns.

Last year, Texas-El Paso easily won the title, with 67 points to 30 for second-place

Arkansas.

Among the women, who were competing in the meet for the first time, the team favorites were Nebraska and Tennessee. They finished 1-2 last year when the women's national championship was run by the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women.

Of the six individual winners returning from that meet, three were from Tennessee — Delisa Walton Floyd in the 600, Joetta Clark in the 1,000 and Benita Fitzgerald in the 60-yard hurdles.

Ann Landers

Better alternatives

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your advice to "Future Statistic in Saginaw" was so bad I had to write. To the woman whose husband gets drunk at parties and insists on driving home you said, "Insist that the strongest man in the house wrest the car keys from him even if it means a fight." It could also mean a brawl with broken heads and bloody noses, ruined furniture and a lot of people not speaking to each other.

A better idea is for the wife to have a set of car keys in her purse at all times. If her husband gets drunk, she should inform the hostess that she is leaving and ask her to please see that he gets a ride with someone who is sober, or call a taxi for him.

Another alternative: The wife should learn how to let the air out of the tires so the car will have to sit overnight.

To the wife who is tempted to call the police and have her drunken husband arrested, I say DON'T DO IT. Most men get mad as hell because they have to pay a fine and the insurance rates go up. If he loses his license, his wife has to drive him to and from work and it's a pain in the neck.

Of course, the best idea is to stick to tomato juice or soda water, but not many people want to hear this one.—W.S. In Eau Claire, Wis.

DEAR W.S.: Thanks for a good letter. The only part I don't go along with is letting the air out of the tires. That may be good for one shot, but what do you do for an encore?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The other day I received something in the mail I felt you should share with your readers. I hope you will agree and print it. Author unknown.—Nashville Fan

DEAR NASHVILLE: It's an upper and I'm delighted to run it.

A SMILE costs nothing, but gives much. It enriches those who give it. It takes but a moment, but the memory of it sometimes lasts forever.

None is so rich or mighty that he can get along without it, and none is so poor but that he cannot be made richer by it.

A SMILE creates happiness in the home, promotes good will in business and is the cornerstone of friendship. It can perk up the weary, bring cheer to the discouraged, sunshine to the sad, and is nature's best antidote for trouble.

Yet it cannot be bought, begged, borrowed or stolen, for it is something that is of no value to anyone until it is given away.

When people are too tired to give you a smile, give them one of yours. No one needs a smile so much as he who has none to give.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In a recent column you made the statement that herpes could be transmitted from a cold sore on the lip to the genital area via oral sex. I understand that the herpes virus that causes cold sores was a different strain from the genital variety. Please check your facts.—S.T. In Rifle, Colo.

DEAR S.T.: My facts are correct. Please check with your doctor (preferably a dermatologist). He will explain it to you in detail.

The Newspaper BIBLE

DON'T WAIT 'TIL THE DOOR IS LOCKED!

Someone asked Jesus, "Will only a few be saved?" And He replied, "The door to heaven is narrow. Work hard to get in, for the truth is that many will try to enter but when the head of the house has locked the door, it will be too late. Then if you stand outside knocking, and pleading, 'Lord, open the door for us,' He will reply, 'I do not know you.'"

"But we ate with You, and You taught in our streets," you will say. "And He will reply, 'I tell you, I don't know you. You can't come in here, guilty as you are. Go away.'"

"And there will be great weeping and gnashing of teeth as you stand outside and see Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, and all the prophets within the Kingdom of God—for people will come from all over the world to take their places there."

And note this: some who are despised now will be greatly honored then; and some who are highly thought of now will be least important then.

A few minutes later some Pharisees said to Him, "Get out of here if you want to live, for King Herod is after you!"

Jesus replied, "Go tell that fox that I will go on casting out demons and doing miracles of healing today and tomorrow; and the third day I will reach my destination. Yes, today, tomorrow, and the next day! For it wouldn't do for a prophet of God to be killed except in Jerusalem!"

"O, Jerusalem, Jerusalem! The city that murders the prophets, the city that stones those sent to help her. How often I have wanted to gather your children together even as a hen protects her brood under her wings, but you wouldn't let Me. And now—now your house is left desolate. And you will never again see Me until you say, 'Welcome to Him who comes in the name of the Lord.'"

Art more important than technology in aging jukeboxes

DENTON, Texas (AP) — They stand sentinel around the walls of the concrete back porch dance floor like aging socialites gowned in the grandeur of another era.

One or another of their younger sisters makes the music that sets the dancers' feet to whirling — but all eyes return again and again to the softly glowing, everchanging lights of the old Wurlitzer jukeboxes.

Model 1015 is now empty of records. But its chrome grillwork, its plastic panels that change from green to yellow to orchid, and its bubble tubes frothing from the wooden bottom to the gracefully domed top make any former glory as a music-making machine seem almost extraneous.

Bullet-shaped model 1100, the last Wurlitzer designed by the company's master artist, Paul Fuller, is programmed to play 24 favorites: among them "Teddy Bear" by Elvis Presley, "Quicksand" by Hank Thompson and Guy Lombardo's "Swanee River."

A.G. Bratcher walks among his jukeboxes, pointing out their finer details with pride. He loves them all, but clearly the old 1940's Wurlitzer models are his favorites.

"The art went out of jukebox design, as far as I'm concerned, when Fuller died," he said. "After that, they made better music, but they're just boxes."

Bratcher has nearly 20 of the machines scattered around his house and workshop: working models, dusty derelicts and half-renovated jukeboxes he's not quite through tinkering with. His inventory changes weekly; he's sold a dozen of the newer models since Christmas.

But selling jukeboxes isn't a business for the retired radio-television repairman. Collecting them is a hobby, and he sells the ones he can part with to buy parts for the ones he can't.

Right now he has his eye on a deluxe model 850 that uses Polarized film to create a prism effect that brings to life two peacocks on the front. The asking price is $5,000.

"It's a lot of money to pay for a jukebox," he said, "but I'll probably have to have it." Restored jukeboxes usually range in price from about $500 for the mundane modern machines to the $5,700 Bratcher says his model 1015 is worth, and even higher. A collector usually buys a machine in poor repair, then restores it to its former glory by using parts from other jukeboxes, buying them new from companies that reproduce the old materials, or in some cases, crafting parts themselves.

Bratcher currently is puzzling over how to mend a handmade starwheel from a jukebox bought from Mexico.

Wurlitzer isn't the only name in jukeboxes, but it is the most famous. Rock-ola, Seeburg, Packard and AMI are other early makers of the music machines. And it is the Seeburg that stands in most "juke joints" today.

According to "Jukebox The Golden Age," by Vincent Lynch and Bill Hewkin, the first coin-operated "automatic phonograph" was installed at the Palais Royale Saloon in San Francisco in 1889. But it wasn't until 1906 that the John Gabel Company brought out the first coin-operated music machine that offered more than one selection.

When electrical amplification was invented in 1937, the jukebox suddenly became capable of entertaining more than one person at a time — and still all for a nickel.

Wurlitzer and Seeburg competed for the fickle public's attention through the years, with their designers, Fuller and Nils Miller, creating more and more beautiful and elaborate designs.

Production was halted during World War II. When it resumed, the emphasis moved from beauty to sound, and jukeboxes evolved into the square, businesslike machines of today.

Bratcher loves the beautiful old machines best, but for the Saturday night dances he and his wife, Stephaanna, periodically give for 50 or so of their friends, the newer, acoustically superior models are used.

He owns more than 7,000 of the 45 rpm records and more than 200 of the old 78's. His record collection leans heavily to country-western, he said, but the room is crowned with a disco ball and some of the records are strictly rock.

Standing against the far wall, those grand dames survey the room and in their turn are surveyed with admiration and a certain amount of awe. Bratcher looks at them with fondness.

"I love to fiddle with them," he said. "I love the music they make. I love to dance to them — I just like it all."

Youthful labor

Workers over 45 accounted for only 32 percent of the civilian labor force in 1978, down from 38 percent in 1970 and 40 percent in 1960. By 1985, it is estimated these workers will account for only 20 percent of the labor force.

HEALTH Varicocele is common

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — For the past six months I have had a thickening in my left testicle. It has given me some minor pain and seems to make the left testicle hang lower than the right. The uncomfortable feeling is a slight heavy sensation, located at the top of the testicle but there is no lump.

My doctor has informed me that this is nothing to worry about and is quite common in men my age. I am 20, by the way. I have heard of something called a varicocele, a dilatation of blood vessels and wonder if this could be what I have, although the doctor says this thickness is the spermatic cord.

DEAR READER — You probably do have a varicocele. You are right that a varicocele is a dilated vein, somewhat like a varicose vein. It is the vein in the cord and can cause thickening.

If you have thickening from an inflammation your doctor would have treated you for an inflammation.

The varicocele vein (varicocele) is most often in the left testicle but it can involve both testicles. And it is normal for the left testicle to hang lower than the right, even if you didn't have a varicocele. Of course position can be markedly influenced by contraction or relaxation of the cremasteric muscles around the cord and testicle that raise and lower them for temperature control and other functions.

The ache you describe is common and is related to venous congestion of the testicle itself causing pressure on the sensitive testicles. It is made worse by standing. This problem is very common, to the point of being the usual thing in young men. It tends to disappear by age 35. You might get some help from wearing a scrotal support. If it bothers you too much you can lie down and the dilated veins will tend to drain. Look at yourself in the morning before you get out of bed and you will probably note that the thickening has disappeared.

DEAR DR. LAMB — While working strenuously on a hooked rug I noticed my shoulder was aching. One morning while lying flat on my back in bed something went SNAP at the front of my right shoulder. It caused much pain.

I went to a chiropractor who took X-rays and said it was not a broken bone or arthritis. He gave me 20 treatments on my spine and back of the arm.

After seven months I still have pain and cannot hook my bra in the back or swing my arm back as in bowling. If, as I now suspect, it was a torn ligament, will it heal? Or should I go to my doctor? Would he still be able to do something for me or is it too late?

DEAR READER — It depends on what you really have. I would certainly suggest that you visit your doctor. You may need an evaluation by a doctor skilled in physical medicine. If you have contracted muscles or a torn ligament, he may be able to improve your flexibility. If there are torn structures in the shoulder joint you may be a candidate for surgical repair. But see your doctor and find out what you have before trying to make any decisions.

Hand salute

Before the 19th century, British soldiers saluted by tipping their hats. Hand-raising as a formal greeting originated among cavemen to prove they carried no weapons. In feudal times, an armored knight raised his right arm to lift his helmet visor and to show his friend-ship by keeping his sword hand away from weapons. The gesture developed into the military salute.

FAITH TEACHES US THE MEANING OF REAL WEALTH

From the great love of money, the evil that springs
Is the same kind of trouble that avarice brings,
With the habit of wanting material things
That we usually cannot afford.
When we shorten our lives with all work and no play,
Then our taxes increase while the years fade away,
And the loss of our health is a high price to pay
For excessive financial reward.
If you'll go to the Church of whatever your creed,
There's a lesson you'll learn on the evils of greed,
For the only true riches that you'll ever need
Will be found in the love of the Lord!

— Gloria Nowak

"Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy."
—1 Timothy 6:17

Heaven does not choose its elect from among the great and wealthy.
