Reagan, Gorbachev to meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in 14 years an American president is going to the Soviet Union.

President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev will meet in Moscow from May 29 to June 3, and if their negotiators can unravel disagreements over the next nine weeks, they will sign a sweeping pact to cut long-range nuclear weapons.

"I wouldn't want to lay you odds," Secretary of State George P. Shultz said on the chances of reaching agreement in time.

The road to the summit is also littered with divisions on Central America, the Middle East, and above all, Afghanistan, where plans by the Soviets to end their 8-year intervention have hit a snag.

Reagan has been talking about going to the Soviet Union since the autumn of 1985 when he and Gorbachev were in Geneva for their first meeting. Not since President Nixon visited Moscow in 1974 and President

Ford went to Vladivostok later that year has an American chief of state traveled to the land Reagan once called "an evil empire."

GORBACHEV
... Hosting Reagan beginning May 29

On Wednesday, Reagan finally announced his plans, during a brief appearance in the White House rose garden with Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze.

"Muscovites are very hospitable people," Shevardnadze told a news conference. Reagan was offered a chance to visit other parts of the Soviet Union as well, "but I understand his options are limited," Shevardnadze said.

The summit's proposed highlight would be the signing of a treaty to scrap 30 percent to 50 percent of the superpowers' long-range bombers, missiles and submarines. But major differences remain, despite pronouncements that progress was made during Shevardnadze's three days of talks in Washington.

Asked if a treaty would be ready in time, Reagan said, "I have no way of answering that." Shevardnadze called it "a possibility."

The envisioned treaty would set a ceiling of 6,000 warheads on long-range missiles and bombers, but the two sides must still set sub-limits on the various types of weapons and decide how to verify compliance with a pact.

The compliance issue is especially thorny because the weapons are among the hardest to detect in the superpower arsenals: sea-launched cruise missiles, ballistic missiles on submarines and cruise missiles launched from bombers.

Shevardnadze said progress has been made on verification, but "much more work needs to be done," at the continuing round of talks in Geneva and at two more Shultz-Shevardnadze sessions, first in Moscow April 21-25 and then in the middle of May at an unspecified site.

The Soviets rejected Shultz's proposal for a freeze in supply of military aid to the Afghanistan government during a withdrawal of the Soviet Union's 115,000 troops and for three months afterward. The United States would stop aiding the Afghan resistance during the same period.

The two foreign ministers also apparently hit a dead end in talks about Central America.

The United States wants the Soviet Union to stop supplying weapons to Nicaragua, but Shevardnadze wants the United States to stop doing the same for other Central American nations before the Soviets will stop helping Nicaragua, Shultz said.

Shevardnadze talked about an active role for the Soviet Union in Arab-Israeli negotiations, but that would get in the way of talks between the warring parties, Shultz said.

Reagan gave Shevardnadze a list of dissidents the United States believes should be granted exit visas from the Soviet Union and the Soviet official said the permission would be granted "if there is a legitimate reason."

60-day cease fire signed

SAPOA, Nicaragua (AP) — The government and Contra rebels agreed to a 60-day cease-fire to negotiate an end to their six-year war, signing an accord that promises the rebels a role in Nicaragua's political process.

The agreement signed late Wednesday was the first concrete step toward ending the conflict that has killed more than 40,000 people.

The cease-fire is to begin April 1, with negotiators meeting again April 6 in Managua to work out a permanent truce.

Daniel Ortega, president of the leftist Sandinista government, unexpectedly traveled to this small village on the Costa Rican border for the signing, which followed three days of talks.

He called the plan "a great challenge for all Nicaraguans" and called on the United States "to support this effort and get ready to normalize its relations with Nicaragua."

"I think, I hope and I believe that we have made a start, a firm start to end this war that is killing sons of the same country, sons of the same mothers," said Contra leader Adolfo Calero.

Alfredo Cesar, another leader of the U.S.-supported rebels, said the nine points in the agreement are not solely an opportunity to achieve peace and agreement, but the only opportunity.

The agreement, he said, was made among Nicaraguans, full of good will and confidence in the future.

Neither the State Department nor the White House had any immediate comment on the agreement, which calls for the rebels to move into specified zones in Nicaragua during the first 15 days of April. Delegations from both sides will return to Sapoa on Monday to determine the zones.

The Contras also agreed to accept only humanitarian aid from a neutral organization. This would rule out (See CEASE, Page 2)

House sends $1.1 trillion budget to Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawmakers are crediting the budget summit accord between congressional leaders and the White House for the bipartisan ease with which the House sent a $1.1 trillion budget for fiscal 1989 to the Senate.

The spending plan, which alters some of the domestic priorities President Reagan had included in his own proposed package last month, was approved 319-102 on Wednesday by the Democratic-controlled House. In contrast to last year, when budget writers toiled several weeks longer amid staunch opposition by Republicans, GOP lawmakers this time voted 92-78 for the resolution.

"I think it would have been impossible without the summit," Rep. Delbert Latta of Ohio, ranking Republican on the House Budget Committee, said afterward.

"Democrats and Republicans in the House are trying to work together," said Rep. William H. Gray III, D-Pa., chairman of the budget panel.

The spending plan would produce a deficit of $134 billion. It would thus avoid spending cuts that would be required under the Gramm-Rudman balanced-budget law should the deficit miss the 1989 deficit target of $136 billion by more than $10 billion.

To achieve that $134 billion figure, however, lawmakers agreed to use economic forecasts made by the administration. Had the legislators used the more pessimistic projections from their own Congressional Budget Office, there would be $35 billion more in red ink, triggering spending slashes that are considered particularly untidy in an election year.

Shortly after the Dow Jones Industrial Average plunged 508 points last Oct. 19, administration officials and congressional leaders held four weeks of closed-door bargaining aimed at slashing the federal deficit.

The 1989 budget resolution approved by the House precisely met those summit targets, according to budget committee numbers.

Thus, the package provides $299.5 billion for the Pentagon in budget authority, the amount up to which the military can commit itself in new contracts, and $294 billion in outlays, or money to actually be spent next year.

In addition, it provides $148.1 billion in budget authority and $169.2 (See BUDGET, Page 2)

Deadline passes; one race vacant

Incumbent city commissioners Emory Brownlow and Bud Eades and school board member Steve Coneway have drawn opposition in the May 7 primary, while District Three on the school board drew no candidates as of Wednesday's 5 p.m. deadline.

Brownlow, Place Two commissioner, will be opposed by Irene Cantu, Eades, Place Four commissioner, will be opposed by Pete Lafuente Jr. The two at-large commissioners, Jerry Walsh and Paul Hamilton, are the only two names on the at-large ballot.

Coneway, who is completing his first term, will be challenged by Belia Aguilar.

Hereford school officials and a spokesman at the Secretary of State's elections division office in Austin were unsure this morning of how the vacancy on the District Three position on the school board ballot will be handled.

In the Deaf Smith County Hospital District election, which has an April 11 deadline for filing, only June Rudd has filed for one of three available positions, but more filing petitions were expected. All hospital board posts are elected at-large.

Police arrest one

A 45-year-old man was arrested Wednesday on charges of driving while intoxicated and leaving the scene of an accident at U.S. Highway 90 and McKinley Avenue, police said.

Hereford police stated that the man ran a red light, struck a vehicle and left the scene. Police caught the man further down the road.

He is now being held in the Deaf Smith County jail.

One of the storage rooms at the Hereford Mini Storage, 819 W. Park Ave., was discovered burglarized Saturday when the room's renter found that $700 worth of merchandise had been stolen.

The woman said an antique lamp, snow skis and a sewing machine were missing from the room.

She added that the room was probably burglarized between Feb. 15 and March 15.

Other offenses reported on Wednesday included theft of beer worth $11.89 in the 500 block of S. 25 Mile Ave., domestic disturbances in the 300 block of Miller St., trespassing was reported in the 900 block of Irving St.

Hubs caps valued at $120 were stolen from the 200 block of Avenue F, criminal mischief reported in the 200 block of Broadway, where a fence was damaged, and juveniles were reportedly kicking a truck into a neighbor's yard in the 500 block of Irving St.

The Hereford Fire Department was called to a grass fire in Deaf Smith County Wednesday night, but damage was minor, said Fire Marshal Jay Spain.

Two accidents were reported and 10 citations were issued.

Windy and cooler

Tonight will be windy early, becoming clear and cooler with a low near 32. North winds will be 20 to 30 mph and gusty, decreasing to 10 to 15 mph after midnight.

Friday will be sunny and cooler, with a high of 65. North winds will be 10 to 20 mph.

This morning's low at KPAN was 43 after a high Wednesday of 72.

Farmer productivity: 114 fed by one farmer

If you were an average farmer in 1939 in the United States, it took you 67 hours to produce 100 bushels of wheat, 108 hours for 100 bushels of corn, and 209 hours for a bale of cotton. For your efforts, you yielded per acre 15 bushels of wheat, 25 bushels of corn, and 154 pounds of cotton.

If you were an average U.S. farmer in 1986, it took you seven hours to make 100 bushels of wheat, three hours for 100 bushels of corn, and five hours for a bale of cotton. Your yield went to 34 bushels of wheat, 118 bushels of corn, and 630 pounds of cotton per acre.

Simply put, the son of a farmer in 1940 produces 80 percent more on the same land today.

An American farmer 100 years ago produced enough food and fiber for about 10 persons. Today's farmer and rancher produces enough to feed and clothe 114 people.

Yes, the American farmer produces more than American consumers need. Some of that over-production is absolutely necessary, looking at how farmers in some other countries provide food and fiber.

Using the same formula that determines an American farmer provides food and fiber for 114 people, farmers in other countries provide food and fiber for

—3.5 people in China;
—3 people in Japan;

—4 people in Brazil;
—8 people in Argentina;
—11 people in the Soviet Union.

Some of that extra food grown in the U.S. isn't all sold. Some is used in government programs at home in commodity distributions. Some is used in world programs that shipped over 6.1 million tons of food to the hungry around the world-at no charge.

Babbling Brooks

By JOHN BROOKS

I got a nice little reminder in Wednesday's mail that I don't have a degree.

I'll not go into detail, but it's a reminder that IF YOU'RE IN HIGH SCHOOL RIGHT NOW, GET SOME KIND OF DEGREE IN SOMETHING.

I wasn't looking hard, but I heard of a job open in Zxcvbnm, near my original hometown and a place where, if I had to leave Hereford, I would want to go next. So I sent the ol' resume, stories, and other goodies.

According to Asdfghjkl Qwertuop, executive editor of the Zxcvbnm Poluytre, "We feel that a person without a degree would not be suitable for the position we have available."

After sticking the knife into my back, Qwertuop proceeded to twist it several times.

"While you have several accomplishments and awards to your credit, we feel that that knowledge you would have gained while earning a degree would have been of immeasurable help to you in this position."

If no one else tells you this, for goodness sake take my advice. I don't care if it's in General Studies or Liberal Arts or even, for heaven's sake, Political Science, get some kind of sheepskin saying you graduated from some school after high school.

I'm not the only person to ever quit college after getting my studies underway. In fact, I'm proud of the two colleges I attended—Central Arizona College, where I was associate editor of the newspaper for a semester, and Hardin-Simmons University, where I edited the paper for a year.

The reasons for leaving CAC were simple. Out-of-state tuition was out-of-sight high, and I had a pushy aunt who decided that I shouldn't stay with my granny, who had welcomed me, while establishing residency so I wouldn't have to pay that out-of-state tuition.

So I went to HSU.

I rather enjoyed my two years there, and I'm still proud to say that I attended a fine school.

HSU, supported by the Baptist General Convention of Texas, wasn't so proud of me.

It could have been several things.

It could have been that I stated in an editorial that I felt it was two-faced of the administration to sponsor square dancing while not allowing other forms of dancing (they had shut down an aerobics class, and they sure didn't let us sway to any music in public).

It could have been that I soaped the fountain every Tuesday night for seven straight months.

It could have been that I held a membership to six private clubs in Abilene.

It could have been that I severely cut my arm while sneaking a girl out of my dorm room one night. It was my roomie's fiancee, and she had snuck in to "visit" with him. I had to sneak her out and broke the window in the process. She escaped unscathed, but attention may have been drawn to her leaving while my scream of "$!$" resounded through the entire West Residential Area.

It could have been my part-time job, which was helping three other guys load 100 cases of Coors onto an Atlanta-bound truck every Wednesday afternoon out at Pinkie's in Impact.

It could have been that I knew the way to Impact, the oasis of the then-dry Abilene, better than I did the way to my World Literature class.

It could have been that I insisted on playing poker with six other buddies in the lobby of the dorm.

It could have been any of those things, but they're all just excuses. I have been hit over the head with my lack of a degree so many times my head feels somewhat like Muhammed Ali's head.

The only degree I have is from the School of Experience, which doesn't mean squat in Zxcvbnm. The best advice I can give you as an ongoing student in that school is get a sheepskin.

Takeover rumblings in background

Texaco sees end of bankruptcy case

NEW YORK (AP) — After four years of tortuous litigation, Texaco Inc. has received permission to lower the curtain on its multibillion-dollar legal battle with Pennzoil Co. and the historic bankruptcy case stemming from it.

But while that particular act may be ending, the broader drama continues.

The nation's third-largest oil company widely is seen as vulnerable to a takeover attempt by investors who believe they can realize big profits by winning control of the company and then selling its assets.

Such raiders may have allies among the legions of shareholders that analysts say were disenchanted with Texaco management even before it became entangled in the legal morass that prompted its bankruptcy filing last April 12.

Texaco management has vowed to resist any attempt to dismember the company but many industry experts expect at least one full-scale takeover attempt, which could leave a much different Texaco standing once the battle is over.

U.S. Bankruptcy Court Judge Howard Schwartzberg on Wednesday confirmed Texaco's plan to emerge from bankruptcy protection, the keystone of which was an out-of-court settlement with Pennzoil.

Having agreed to pay Pennzoil $3 billion in cash to drop its $10.3 billion judgment against Texaco, the nation's third-largest oil company is gearing up for a reorganization involving sales of $3 billion worth of assets.

The White Plains, N.Y.-based oil giant's troubles began in November 1985, when a Houston jury made the unprecedented $10.3 billion damage award to Pennzoil after deciding Texaco improperly had interfered with Pennzoil's acquisition of part of Getty Oil Co. so that Texaco itself could buy Getty.

Texaco filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection to avoid posting what it said would be a ruinous $11 billion bond while appealing that verdict. It was the largest bankruptcy filing in U.S. history.

By last December, after a string of losses in the Texas state courts, Texaco chose to settle rather than risking everything on the chance that the U.S. Supreme Court would overrule the judgment.

The reorganization package approved by Schwartzberg was negotiated laboriously by committees representing Texaco's creditors, its shareholders, and Pennzoil. The plan takes effect — and Pennzoil will be paid — on April 7.

But a lot of bitterness remains, as well as some sticky issues raised during the bankruptcy negotiations.

All factions of interested parties favored endorsement of the reorganization plan, including 96 percent of the shares that were voted on the measure.

Texas judge says school financing needs upgrading to treat students as equals

AUSTIN (AP) — The judge who ruled last year that Texas' public school finance system was unconstitutional says it's time to adopt a new method that is fair to students statewide.

State District Judge Harley Clark of Austin suggested Wednesday that poor and wealthy school districts present a joint plan to the 1989 Legislature.

"I sense that this is the right time and you are the right people to fashion a system that will give to all a real opportunity for excellence," Clark told the Texas Parent-Teacher Association.

Clark on April 29 held the school finance system unconstitutional.

He later issued an injunction to stop state officials from distributing money to school districts under the current system. To allow time for a court appeal and possible legislative action, Clark delayed the injunction until at least Sept. 1, 1989.

The 3rd Court of Appeals in Austin has scheduled an April 6 hearing on an appeal of Clark's ruling. Clark said if the case goes to the Texas Supreme Court, a decision may not be made until after the Legislature convenes in January.

Clark recalled that the plaintiffs in the school finance lawsuit had alleged the system violated the Equal Protection Clause of the Texas Constitution.

He said 1985-86 school data showed, in the extreme, that the wealthiest school district had over $14 million of taxable property per student, the poorest $20,000. He said 200 wealthier school districts spent over twice as much per student as the 200 poorer districts.

Woman descends after 516 days atop telephone pole

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — She's $90,000 short of her fund-raising goal, but Mellissa L. Sanders was ready to descend from a record 516 days atop two telephone poles having gained a fiancee and the pride of her pole-sitting mom.

"I'm going to miss the birds on my balcony and the crazy drivers going by down below," said Miss Sanders, who late this afternoon planned to climb down from the 43-foot-high makeshift shack she called home for more than 1 1/2 years.

On Feb. 25, the 19-year-old woman who had hoped to raise $100,000 for cancer research broke the 488-day mark for pole-sitting set by Mark Sutton of Victoria, British Columbia, and listed in the Guinness Book of World Records.

During that time, in which she endured two winters and many meals of pizza and submarine sandwiches, she raised $6,000.

She said she stayed another month to raise more money, and reported $4,000 more in donations.

Even though Miss Sanders was far from the monetary goal, her mother, Mauri Rose Sanders, said was still "proud enough to burst."

"I feel like we both did it," said Mrs. Sanders, who broke a similar pole-sitting record in 211 days in 1959.

Her daughter's fiancee, 25-year-old Keith Seal of Monterey, Calif., was on hand Wednesday to help her prepare for her descent. They met after Seal read an article about Miss Sanders and telephoned her. They announced their engagement in August, before meeting.

"We've been engaged and we haven't even gone on a date yet," Seal said.

"He's great. He's been just great," said Miss Sanders, who grew up in Tucson, Ariz.

Her 6-by-7-by-9-foot shack was equipped with a plastic kiddie pool, television and a telephone that prompted regular $300 phone bills. For company she had her cat, Pole Cat.

She even refused to come down last February, when 70 mph winds buffeted her during a major snowstorm.

"I've had mirror after mirror up here, and every one has broken almost immediately," she said. "Maybe that's why I've had bad luck" in fund-raising.

Another bit of bad luck, her mother says, was in dealing with the man who initially sponsored the pole-sit, Dick Turner, as a way to advertise his restaurant, the South Pole, and raise money for a charitable cause.

Miss Sanders said she moved from Arizona to do the stunt when she heard from a relative that Turner was looking for a pole-sitter. Miss Sanders' sister, Rebecca, had cancer, but her disease has been in remission four years.

budget in outlays for domestic programs that are not controlled by automatic formulas. And it allows $18.1 billion in budget authority and $16.1 billion in outlays for foreign aid.

The $14 billion in new 1989 taxes called for by the summit have already been enacted into law.

The budget would grant a hefty increase to space and science programs, although only about half as much as Reagan wanted. It would also grant major increases in spending for education, the homeless, battling drugs and research and testing for AIDS.

The legislators ignored Reagan's proposals to end federal assistance to Amtrak, the passenger railroad, and to some development programs, and his effort to dramatically slash aid to mass transit programs.

Most federal agencies would be given a bit less money than they would need to keep up with inflation. But many urban and rural aid programs such as the Farmers Home Administration's rural development grants and loans, which Reagan had slated for substantial cuts, would receive the same amounts of money as this year.

And many programs geared toward helping low-income people, such as job training, would receive enough money to keep up with the rising cost of living.

Military and civilian federal employees would be granted 3 percent pay raises.

The budget resolution does not require presidential approval and sets spending targets. The actual money will have to be provided in later legislation.

Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said Wednesday he did not expect full Senate action on the budget before the second week of April.

Richmond faces top-ranked Temple in NCAA tourney

Spiders try to keep weaving magical web

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

The Spiders have had their fun. Now they get Number One.

If Richmond's Spiders hope to continue weaving their magical web in the NCAA Tournament's East Region, they'll have to ensnare the top-ranked Temple Owls tonight at East Rutherford, N.J. The unranked Spiders already have stung defending champion Indiana and Georgia Tech.

"Our goal at the beginning of the season was to get to the NCAAs," Richmond Coach Dick Tarrant said. "Once we got that, we decided to make Hartford our Final Four."

Richmond, 26-6, surprised the Hoosiers and Yellow Jackets at Hartford, Conn.

Eliminating Temple, which has won 17 straight games and is 31-1, might be too tall an order for the Spiders. They don't match up in size or quickness.

Temple beat the Tar Heels 83-66 at Chapel Hill. The Owls were knocked off the branch only once this season, a one-point loss at Nevada-Las Vegas. Richmond lost by 11 to North Carolina earlier this season.

The other game at the Byrne Arena tonight has Duke, 26-6, against another giant-killer, Rhode Island, 28-6. The fifth-ranked Blue Devils beat Boston University and Southern Methodist while Rhode Island knocked off Missouri and Syracuse, the latter the losing finalist last year.

Also tonight, in the Southeast Regional at Birmingham, Ala., No. 6 Kentucky, 27-5, plays Villanova, 23-12, and No. 4 Oklahoma, 32-3, takes on Louisville, 24-10.

On Friday night, in the Midwest at Pontiac, Mich., it's Vanderbilt, 20-10 vs. Kansas, 23-11, followed by No. 3 Purdue, 29-3, vs. No. 20 Kansas State, 22-8. The West, at Seattle, has No. 7 North Carolina, 26-6, vs. No. 10 Michigan, 26-7, and No. 2 Arizona, 33-2, vs. No. 17 Iowa, 24-9.

EAST
Duke, the ACC champion, must shut down the Rams' sensational backcourt of Tom Garrick and Carlton Owens, both averaging better than 20 points a game. They combined with forward Kenny Green to subdue Syracuse.

"The pressure is on Duke," Rhode Island Coach Tom Penders said. "If they lose to us, it's tough. I'm sure Jim Boeheim has to wear a mask up in Syracuse because he certainly wasn't supposed to lose to Rhode Island of the Atlantic 10."

"We're loose. We feel we have everything to gain and nothing to lose."

SOUTHEAST
Neither Louisville or Villanova are living in the past. Nor are they overwhelmed by their present.

The Cardinals, winners of the NCAA crown two years ago, face an Oklahoma team that has looked nearly unstoppable. The Sooners have scored more than 100 points 19 times this year and have lost just once in their last 19 contests. The Big Eight champions routed Tennessee-

Chattanooga and Auburn last week. Villanova, the 1985 champion, is the only Southeast survivor that didn't win its conference and is the only one of six Big East invitees to the NCAA that is still around.

They face Southeastern Conference regular-season and tournament champion Kentucky, which ousted Southern University and Maryland.

MIDWEST
Purdue is considered a heavy favorite to emerge from the Silverdome. The Boilermakers routed Kansas State 101-72 in December. Kansas and Vanderbilt, the other teams in Pontiac, were also-rans in their respective conferences.

The Wildcats are led by Mitch Richmond, who set a school record for points in a season. Purdue has a balanced attack that features Troy Lewis, Todd Mitchell and Everett Stephens.

Kansas is a one-Manning gang. All-American forward Danny Manning almost singlehandedly lifted the Jayhawks past Murray State and also was overpowering against Xavier, Ohio in the first round. He has 49 points in two games.

The Jayhawks face a Vanderbilt squad that needed a pair of 3-point field goals from Barry Goheen to force overtime against Pittsburgh. The Commodores then roared past the Big East regular season champs.

Vandy is no slouch inside, either, with 7-foot center Will Perdue.

WEST
Another set of Wildcats, the Arizona brand, also has a rematch of a regular-season game. Arizona beat Iowa 66-59 at Iowa City on Dec. 12.

Lute Olson, who used to coach the Hawkeyes, dismisses the earlier meeting.

"I'm sure they look at it like they have a revenge motive, and we would look at it that we beat them on their home court," Olson said.

"But I really think you can throw that all out when it's an NCAA Tournament game — so much riding on it now for both teams."

In fact, for the four teams at the Kingdome.

"It's a pretty nasty-looking four teams," Olson said.

North Carolina and Michigan breezed into the Sweet 16, the Wolverines beating Florida 108-85 and the Tar Heels routing Loyola-Marymount 123-97.

Volleyball tourney planned at YMCA

The "Spring Smash Volleyball Tournament" has been scheduled for March 31 and April 1-2 at the Hereford and Vicinity YMCA.

Co-ed open, co-ed "A," co-ed "B," open men's and open women's divisions are planned. Matches begin at 6:15 p.m. on March 31 and April 1 and at 2:40 p.m. on April 2.

Some co-ed divisions may be combined if a minimum of six teams do not sign up for a division. Entry fee is $30 per team, with an entry deadline of 10 p.m. March 29.

Co-ed teams that have played together for several years, and would like to play with men spiking, should enter the co-ed open division. Co-ed teams that have played together should enter the "A" division, and new co-ed teams, with less experience players, should enter the "B" division.

Admission for spectators will be $1 per person.

Teams are asked to list members on the entry form, as well as the division entered. For more information on the volleyball tournament, contact the YMCA at 364-6990.

Ways with Wine
by David Hutchins

THE WHITES OF BURGUNDY
People almost always associate the Burgundy region of France with red wines. Indeed, almost four-fifths of Burgundy's wines are red. However, this region also produces some of France's best white wines. The areas of Chablis, Cote de Beaune, and Maconnais each use the Chardonnay grape to produce magnificent dry white wines. Of course, each area has its own distinctive character. For instance, in Chablis and Maconnais, the mostly-fermented Chardonnay grapes are aged in stainless steel tanks. In the Cote de Beaune, many of the wines are fermented in wood. They are then transferred to and aged in small oak barrels. These wines display a depth of body and flavor that only wood can impart.
At THE STORE we love to talk about wines so come on by and let us answer any questions you may have about them. We are very proud of our extensive inventory of fine wines, domestic and imported. Whether your personal tastes lean toward wines from Napa Valley or toward French wines chances are we carry what you are looking for. Stop by 400 N. 25 Mile, 364-7802 and look us over. Mon.-Sat. 10-9, use our drive up door until midnight for beer and wine, on Sun. only beer and wine is available from 12-12.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I phoned your office to tell you that the reader who tried to explain how much a trillion is was way off. You asked me to send you the evidence. I said I would:

The reader wrote: "If you were to count a trillion $1 bills, one per second, 24 hours a day, it would take 32 years..."

He is wrong. It would take almost 32,000 years:

Here is how I came to that conclusion:

60 seconds per minute times 60 minutes per hour equals 3,600 seconds per hour times 24 hours equals 86,400 seconds per day times 365 days equals 31,536,000 seconds per year.

A trillion is 1 followed by 12 zeros. Dividing 31,536,000 into it is almost 32,000.

Your reader went on: "It has been figured that with $1 trillion, you could buy a $100,000 house for every family in Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Iowa..."

According to the Statistical Abstract of the United States, there were 5.7 million households in those five states in 1985. Let's account for population growth since then and round out that number to 6 million. A $100,000 home for each of those households would cost a total of $600 billion. Your reader goes on:

"...Then you could put a $10,000 car in the garage of each of those houses..."

($60 billion; total so far: $660 billion)

"...There would be enough left over to build $10 million schools for 500 communities..."

($5 billion; total so far: $670 billion)

"...And there would still be enough left to put in the bank and, from the interest alone, pay 10,000 nurses and teachers, plus give a $5,000 bonus for every family in those states."

($5,000 bonus times 6 million families equals $30 billion; total so far: $700 billion)

Remainder to put in the bank: $300 billion. At 5 percent interest (an outrageously conservative rate for such a mind-boggling investment), this would generate $15 billion per year. Divided among 10,000 nurses and teachers, this would provide $1.5 million per year, apiece. They're certainly worth it, Ann, but I suspect some folks would consider such salaries a bit extravagant.

I hope this helps. I had fun doing it.—Harry Broertjes, Copy Editor, The Miami Herald

DEAR HARRY: This is so far removed from my area of expertise that I would not have the audacity to question your figures. I wouldn't be surprised, however, if some of those computer buffs and math wizards out there came up with a different set of numbers.

Unless someone comes up with an error that is so obvious that even I can understand it, I'm going to accept your calculations as correct. Thankyou for taking the time to check this out.

Now You're Cooking

By GAYE B. REILY
Staff Writer

There are many children—and adults—in Hereford that are delighted Robin Morris is making her home here.

"I love taking care of children," said the enthusiastic minister's wife and mother of two children. "I try to find special family events we can do together, like riding bicycles and baking cookies."

Yet Morris' life does not totally revolve around her own children, Angela, four years old, and Brandon, who will soon turn two. The wife of David Morris, pastor of First Assembly of God Church, she also takes care of children in the church nursery, teaches children's church, and works with Daisys, age kindergarten through first grade, among her many church-based activities.

When she is not dealing with children, the brown-eyed brunette likes to sew and create oil paintings. A member of TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly), she is a displayer for Home Interiors Co. and lists cooking among her enjoyments. "I love to make casseroles and Mexican food is my favorite type of food. Mother taught me to cook and my favorite recipes are quick and simple," she said.

Morris enjoys decorating cakes for her family and has taken classes in candy making. In fact, making sweets is one of her favorite pastimes. "Some times Angela and I will mix up fudge, the kind you cook, and eat it all before it is cool!" she laughingly admitted.

The Morris family, residents of 312 16th Street, found their way to Hereford via a circuitous route. Raised in Springer, N.M., Morris graduated from high school there and attended Southwestern Assembly of God College in Waxahachie, Texas. It was there that she met David, and they have been married 11 years. They moved to Hereford four years ago from Cement, Okla., one of his pastorates. "We love living here in Hereford; everyone is so nice and friendly," she said, as she approaches her 31st birthday on March 31.

Following are some of her favorite recipes:

1 can cream of chicken soup
1 tsp. chili powder
½ lb. cheddar cheese
6 to 8 corn tortillas
Cook chicken and debone. Mix chicken, tomatoes, the soups, and chili powder in bowl.
Line bottom and sides of pan with tortillas dipped in broth. Spread chicken mixture then top with grated cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes.

BANANA SPLIT CAKE

Crust:
½ stick margarine
2 c. crushed vanilla wafers
Melt margarine in 9 X 12" cake pan. Pour crumbs into pan and mix with margarine. Press in bottom of pan. Add filling:
Filling
2 c. powdered sugar
2 tsp. vanilla
1½ sticks margarine (room temperature)

2 or 3 bananas
1 small can crushed pineapple
6 maraschino cherries
cool whip (small container)
Mix powdered sugar, vanilla, and margarine together, beat with electric mixer 3 or 4 minutes until light and creamy; spread on crust. Top with sliced bananas, then pineapple. Spread on container of Cool Whip; top with cherries which are halved.

NO BAKE PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES

2 c. sugar
½ c. cocoa
½ c. milk
¼ lb. margarine
1 tsp. vanilla
pinch of salt
½ c. peanut butter
3 c. oatmeal
In saucepan, mix sugar, cocoa, milk, and oleo. Put on medium heat and cook until mixture starts to boil; remove from heat and cool 1 minute. Add vanilla, salt, peanut butter, and oatmeal. Drop by heaping teaspoonfuls onto waxed paper. Makes 3 dozen.

Almost 70 percent of aerobic dance exercisers work out at least three times a week, according to the Reebok Aerobic Information Bureau. An International Dance-Exercise Association survey of 831 dancers found that 40 percent of them exercised three times a week, 12 percent exercised four times a week and 16 percent exercised five or more times weekly.

Outreach coordinator speaks to study club

La Plata Study Club met Tuesday in the home of Dorothy Mercer with vice president, Yvonne Simpson, presiding.

During the business meeting, the budget was accepted. Two resignations were read and accepted and an invitation from the Historical Association to attend one of the April luncheons was read.

Simpson appointed a nominating committee for the coming year's officers.

Juliann Thompson, the Hereford Outreach coordinator, gave an interesting program on domestic violence and rape. Both are far more common than is generally known. She said that 50 percent of the women would suffer abuse during their married lives, and at least that many children the same. She pointed out that children need to be informed as to the danger signals and encouraged to tell someone.

Refreshments were served to the following: Audine Dettmann, Peggie Fox, Mildred Fuhrmann, Dorothy Mercer, Mozelle Neil, Dorothea Prowell, Margaret Schroeder, Rosemary Shook, Yvonne Simpson, Betty Taylor and Avis White.

The next meeting will be with Mary Lyles at 127 Liveoak, April 19.

Brisket dinner set Sunday

St. Anthony's Caring and Sharing Committee will sponsor a benefit barbeque brisket dinner from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Sunday in St. Anthony's School cafeteria.

Tickets, which will be available at the door, are priced at $5 for adults and $2.50 for children 12 years of age and younger. Proceeds will go to the Problem Pregnancy Center of Hereford.

The menu will consist of brisket, potatoes, tossed salad, pinto beans, hot rolls and fruit cobbler.

Both poison oak and poison ivy are members of the cashew family.

Band leader Harry James died in Las Vegas, Nev., in 1983.

Hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
When your children live far away and have children, oh how lonesome one can get not hearing those precious gurgles and voices. I bought each of my daughters a tape recorder (inexpensive) and would "tape a letter" to the families and wait for their reply.
I have many of these tapes saved now. My oldest grandchild is 8, but I am assured of my own living history of birthdays, first teeth, haircuts, etc.
As a wedding present, I taped the entire nuptial mass for a cousin and they play it each anniversary! A high-school reunion lives forever with my tapes, too. — Mrs. M. E. Merriman, Shreveport, La.

Aren't tape recorders wonderful? So are you for sharing this absolutely, positively, best family-history hint this year. Who wouldn't love to hear those voices! Thank you ever so much for writing. Wish I could have heard this. — Heloise

LEFTEVER COFFEE
Dear Heloise: When I have leftover tea or coffee, I never toss it away. Instead I pour the leftovers in a clean ice-cube tray and freeze them.
I use them in iced tea or coffee; it adds flavor! — Vi Jones, Montrose, Colo.

BAKING SODA
Dear Heloise: I find that baking soda does a multitude of scouring jobs. For tea stains and water spots, I put some soda, vinegar and water in the vessel and let it stand and then rinse.
Even stuck-on food in skillets or pans can be scoured out. No scratches and no powder left. — Mary Ann Harl, Evansville, Ind.

COMPACT ASH TRAY
Dear Heloise: Recently I was visiting a friend who doesn't smoke. Since I do, I needed to find an ashtray. Well, I came up with a wonderful idea. I used an empty compact.
It can be washed out and used again and again. This sure solved my problem. — Mrs. Horton, Baltimore, Md.

CLEANING OUT DRAWERS
Dear Heloise: When I need to vacuum out my dresser drawers, I hate taking all the small knickknacks out. So, I place a square of cheesecloth over the vacuum hose. Now I can vacuum up all the dust and lint without moving everything else.
I don't have to worry about losing any of these little objects. — Patty Peck, San Marcos, Texas

This works wonderfully in my makeup drawer; I don't have to remove one brush or pencil. Drop in anytime. — Heloise

HANDY BOXES
Dear Heloise: I save the boxes that aluminum foil, plastic wrap and waxed paper come in.
They are handy for carrying utensils to an outing. They also hold small, tender fruit so it won't bruise. — Louise Silvas, Woodland Park, Colo.

PINK APPLESAUCE
Dear Heloise: When I open a jar of plain applesauce, I add three drops of red food coloring to it. It makes it such a pretty pink color. It looks much more appetizing, and the family loves it. — H.B., San Antonio, Texas

DEAR READERS:
Today is our consumer day, and we will be discussing the importance of keeping records.
Keeping important documents in order and in a place where they are easily accessible will save you hours of frustration. Both you and your spouse should be able to get to them easily. If you are single, you should designate someone who knows where to find them if you are unable to get to them.
Papers such as stock certificates, wills, life insurance policies and the deed to your home should all be kept in an insulated steel box or any other fire-resistant container somewhere safe in your home. Certain documents (i.e. will, insurance policies) should not be kept in a safe deposit box since it could be sealed in case of death.
Make a list of your documents and where they can be found. Be sure and list bank and/or savings accounts, birth certificates, military discharge papers, will(s), insurance policies, deeds to property you may own, titles to any automobiles, safety deposit box and any other documents. Make a copy of this list and give it to your lawyer and/or an adult family member.

KNOWING YOUR CAR
Dear Readers: Here are a few tips to help you over automobile-care jitters.
First and foremost, read the car-care manual that came with your car. Follow the recommended maintenance manual schedule; it's there for a reason! If you do not already have a reliable car-care repair shop that you feel comfortable with, you will need to find one. Ask friends for recommendations.

KNOW YOUR LIMITS...

SPEED LIMIT 65 Maximum legal speed for cars, motorcycles, commercial buses and light trucks in rural zones of Interstate designated highways.

SPEED LIMIT 55 Still the maximum legal speed permitted in most highway zones.

...it's to your safety advantage.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I've had chronic constipation since the birth of my first child, 23 years ago. I'm 45 and weigh 120 pounds. I eat fruits, vegetables and cereals and drink six to eight glasses of liquid daily, plus I exercise. I think I am doing all the right things. I've tried the natural vegetable powders mixed in juice, only to find myself so bound up after one week that I became ill and irritable. I feel as if my bowels have no muscles at all. I take a natural vegetable tablet every other day. Sometimes it works, and if it doesn't, I take another one the following evening.
To add to my discomfort, my hemorrhoids are enlarging and become very painful. My doctors have not given me any ideas for my problem. Is there any hope for people like me?

DEAR READER: Your letter certainly sounds like you are doing what you should. Bulk is important, but in some instances it does not solve the problem of constipation. Having difficulty in having a bowel movement is not the same thing as having an irritable bowel, which usually is helped by increased bulk. Your story raises the question of a problem with the muscles involved in the mechanics of a bowel movement. The muscles may be damaged by childbirth. In some individuals, the muscles that are supposed to relax actually contract when a bowel movement is attempted.

The entire colon may be very sluggish. This is called hindgut inertia. Changes in nerves that affect bowel function may be a cause for constipation — such as nerve involvement from diabetes or certain neurological diseases.

Straining at the stool makes hemorrhoids worse and then the hemorrhoids make constipation worse. I'm sending you a copy of Special Report 73, "Irritable Bowel and Constipation," for more specifics. Others who want this report can send $1 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to THE HEALTH LETTER 73, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.
You might wish to have your doctor refer you to a specialist in gastroenterology for further study and perhaps some help with your problem.

Since the onset of a debt crisis in 1982, Latin America has experienced little or no economic growth, lower standards of living, high unemployment, depressed levels of investment and reduced foreign trade levels, says the Inter-American Development Bank. In 1986, the regional gross domestic product (GDP) increased by 3.8 percent, but per capita GDP by only 1.4 percent. Despite this improvement, the level was still lower than in 1980.

Honoring America's Providers

Agriculture: The Commodity That Put Hereford On The Map.

A Bright Spot.

Every year since 1960, the U.S. has exported more agricultural products than it imported -- a bright spot in the shadow of the U.S. trade deficit.

A Farmer Comparison.

An American farmer provides food and fiber for 114 people.

Compared with a farmer that provides food and fiber for:

- 3.5 in China
- 3 in Japan
- 8 in Argentina
- 4 in Brazil
- 11 in the U.S.S.R.

Skill combined with technology make this production miracle possible.
