HISD meal program figures down, enrollment up

By REED PARSELL
Staff Writer

Participation in the free and reduced-price meal programs is down while overall enrollment is up in the Hereford Independent School District.

Larry Wartes, assistant superintendent of the school district, said the August report showed 1,989 students had their applications for free meals approved. Two hundred thirty-seven had been found eligible for the reduced-price program.

"This is going to fluctuate much," Wartes said, explaining there are many applications yet to be processed. There were 2,231 students receiving free meals at the same time last year, when 197 were not required to pay the full price.

Applications for the meal programs are different than they have been, Wartes said, as they are requiring more information. All application forms must now contain the following items: the total household income, the names of all household members, the social security numbers of all household members 21 years or older and the signature of an adult household member.

Whenever a household's income increases by $50 or more per month, it must be reported to the concerned school. If someone wishes to appeal the district's ruling on his eligibility, he can talk to the school's principal and/or request a hearing by first talking to Wartes.

An example of eligibility for the cafeteria programs would be a family of three people can receive free meals for the student(s) if the household's income falls below $10,686 annually. Reduced-price meals are possible for the same household should the family's income be between $10,686 and $15,207.

Approximately 40 percent of the students in HISD were approved for free meals by the end of August. Wartes said the percentage of free meals given out, though, might be closer to 80 percent. "I'm sure we have some kids here that never (or irregularly) eat in the cafeteria," he explained.

HISD officials are required by the Texas Education Agency to verify 3 percent of the meal programs' approved applications. Wartes said the local district will either do so by random or "error prone," where there is a strong reason to suspect a false application.

"We have the right now to verify anything that we think is wrong," Wartes said. "We have the authority, I guess you'd say, to investigate an application. That is, we'll follow the policies."

Lunch prices are now 80 cents for kindergarten through third graders, 90 cents for fourth through sixth and $1 dollar for all others. The reduced price for lunches is 40 cents at every HISD cafeteria.

Breakfasts cost 35 cents for elementary and 45 cents for secondary students, with 25 cents being the reduced charge.

"We would like to make the lunch program as attractive and as good as possible," Wartes said. "This is one of our goals. We hope that the (cafeteria employees) are friendly and see that this is a good program."

The assistant superintendent encourages anyone with questions about the meal or any other programs to phone school or administrative officials.

Enrollment figures, as of Tuesday, claimed there were 4,987 students in the entire school district. There were 4,987 at the same time last year.

Broken down, there are 457 first (432 on Sept. 13, 1982), 398 second (397), 410 third (317), 323 fourth (306), 382 fifth (371) and 389 sixth (380) graders. For all the elementary schools, there is a combined enrollment of 2,351 (2,363).

Junior high schools had a combined 1,198 (1,157) students enrolled as of Tuesday. There were 494 in the seventh (425), 419 in the eighth (385) and 375 in the ninth (346) grades.

At the high school, 889 (997) were enrolled. There were 389 10th (334), 382 11th (327) and 299 12th (336) graders.

As of Tuesday, there were 289 5-year-old kindergarteners (249). There were also 139 4-year-old kindergarteners (123) and 32 students in special education (38).

The above enrollment figures were presented to the HISD Board of Education at its Tuesday meeting.

Teachers groups back higher taxes for education

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas teachers' organizations have offered to work for increased taxes in order to get teacher pay raises and other improvements in state public school education.

"Our membership is on record as supporting a one-cent sales tax increase, which would net about $1.79 billion over the biennium, and a nickel-a-gallon gasoline tax increase, which would raise about $396.4 million at the same time," Sam Reed, president of the Association of Texas Professional Educators, told the Select Committee on Public Education Wednesday.

John Cole, president of the Texas Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, proposed a one-cent increase in the state sales tax dedicated to public school education to make up for a $100,000 homestead exemption for single homeowners and a tax exemption on their automobiles. He said this would give an additional $261 million for education.

Cole also said all of the public education improvements urged by TFT, including a 24-percent teachers pay raise, could be financed by raising Texas' 4.6 percent oil production tax and 7.5 percent gas tax to 12.5 percent, which is the tax levied in Louisiana.

Betty Pyle, president of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association, said her organization would "support a tax increase to fund a substantial pay raise for beginning as well as career teachers ... We are supportive of any reasonable plan for generating the additional revenue necessary to fund a renewed commitment to public education in this state."

The state's largest teachers' association, the Texas State Teachers Association, did not appear before the panel, saying it had been granted a separate hearing date with committee members Sept. 21 in Dallas.

The session with school teachers and administrators was another in a series of public hearings the select committee has held before making its recommendations to Gov. Mark White.

White has said he will consider the recommendations of the committee, and the support of its 22 members, in deciding when to call a special legislative session to consider teachers pay raises and other public school improvements.

The committee has public hearings scheduled through Oct. 29.

The Texas Federation of Teachers, which is part of the American Federation of Teachers, said it has 15,000 "education workers" as members.

June Karp of the TFT proposed a change in certification of teachers to provide a full year for student teachers plus another two years of probation. It also would give master teachers certificates to those with two years' experience who pass a special examination.

She said there should be a reorganization of schools to provide a dean of student affairs and a business manager in place of the current principal, who handles both academic and business tasks.

The TFT wants collective bargaining for teachers.

City gets rainfall

The City of Hereford received an official .17 of an inch of rain from a thunderstorm which passed through the area around 3 a.m. today according to radio station KPAN, the official weather reporting station.

Giving 100 Percent

Condemned prisoner nervous, hopeful

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A Texas death row inmate already twice spared from the executioner's needle says he fears his scheduled October date with death is "going to happen this time." James David Autry, 28, was convicted of capital murder in October 1980 for fatally shooting a Port Arthur convenience store clerk.

Prosecutors claimed he shot Shirley Drouet, 43, between the eyes rather than pay $2.70 for a six-pack of beer. He had been ordered to die on Dec. 17 and Feb. 21, but both executions were blocked.

In June, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans upheld Autry's conviction and death sentence.

Autry's attorney, Charles Carver, has said he would ask the U.S. Supreme Court to stay the execution and review the case.

Autry said he hopes the Supreme Court will stay his scheduled Oct. 5 execution.

"I hope they do," said Autry, the only one of 178 Texas inmates under the death sentence with a scheduled execution date. "But it looks like it's going to happen this time."

Charlie Brooks, a Fort Worth man convicted of 1976 slaying of an auto mechanic, was the first U.S. convict put to death by injection. He died Dec. 7.

Autry said he was told by law officers who last month transported him to Beaumont for the setting of his execution date that his appeal was being rushed through the courts because a brother allegedly had threatened State District Judge Leonard Gihlin.

"They said that my brother told them that if they killed me, he would kill the judge. But I don't believe my brother would do that," Autry said.

Gihlin admitted he had indirectly received a threat in December, but said it had no bearing on Autry's case.

Prosecutors claimed that Mrs. Drouet was shot to death April 20, 1980, while Autry and a companion, John Alton Sandifer, robbed the Sak-and-Pak convenience store.

The pair then fled the store with the six-pack of beer, but became concerned they would be recognized by two customers and returned to the store, prosecutors said.

Joseph Broussard, who discovered Mrs. Drouet's body, also was killed. Athanasios Svarhosa, a Greek sailor, was shot and suffered permanent brain damage.

County receives road fund check

(AUSTIN) — Texas Treasurer Ann Richards has mailed checks totaling $7.3 million in grants to the state's 264 counties for road construction and maintenance projects.

Deaf Smith County was mailed a check for $32,439.86 out of a total of $514,014.18 mailed to 27 Panhandle counties.

Other area counties and their grant amount include Castro, $26,126.95; Oldham, $15,525.81; and Parmer, $29,833.65.

Mattox slates press meeting

AUSTIN (AP) — Attorney General Jim Mattox invited news reporters to a press conference today, two days after he was indicted by a Travis County grand jury, accused of threatening a law firm.

Mattox said Wednesday was "business as usual" for him, and he brushed aside a suggestion by state Republican Party Chairman George Strake that he should remove himself from office pending his trial.

"That's what you would think of a fellow who's speaking for oil companies," Mattox said Wednesday. "I'm not worried about it."

Mattox was charged Tuesday with threatening to block government bond packages handled by the Fulbright & Jaworski law firm of Houston.

The felony indictment, the first against a Texas attorney general while in office, says

Mattox made the threat in hopes of getting a lawyer for the prestigious firm to stop trying to get a deposition from Mattox's sister in a $1.67 billion lawsuit with Mobil Oil Corp.

Mattox and Mobil are on opposing sides in the suit, and Mattox has accused Mobil of "leaking" adverse news tips (See MATTOX, Page 2)

Lions donate $5,000 to YMCA

The Hereford Lions Club voted to donate $5,000 to the Hereford & Vicinity YMCA's building fund drive Wednesday, acting upon a recommendation by the club's board of directors.

The Lions shied away from a three-year pledge, opting to make the $5,000 donation this year and leaving the door open for additional donations to the fund in future years.

REC honors safe drivers

Deaf Smith Electric Coop recognized safe driving efforts of 21 employees at a breakfast recently, honoring drivers with a total of 165 years of driving REC vehicles without an accident.

Boyd Collins and Tommie Weemes were recognized for 22 and 21 years of safe driving respectively. Pat Digby, a representative of Nationwide Insurance Co., presented commemorative pins and sponsored the breakfast held at the Thompson House.

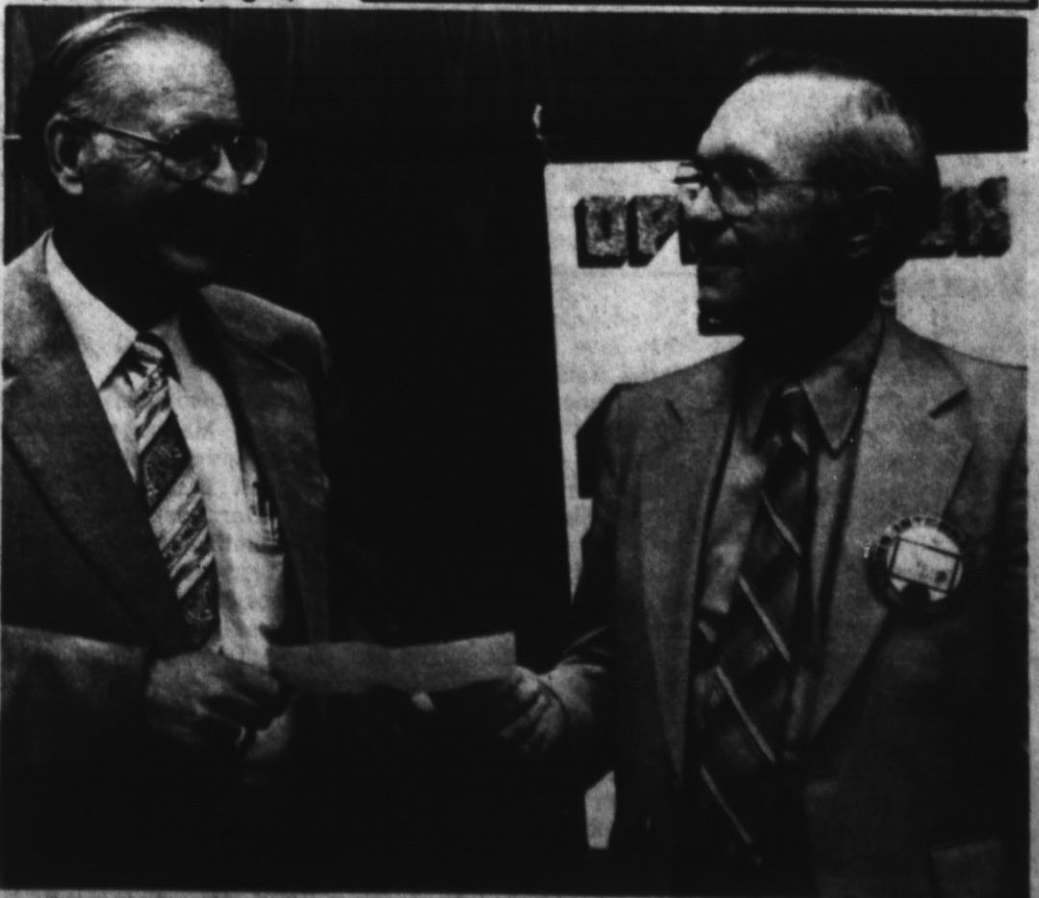

The total number of miles REC vehicles were driven from April 1, 1962 to March 31, 1983 were 528,807.

According to Dick Montgomery, Assistant Manager of the REC, "safety is the number one concern of the cooperative."

"When ever employees are exposed to accident-causing situations each day, it is important that safety practices be applied to transportation as well," he added.

Satellite Center Help

Wednesday as the first of 10 such donations to the center's fund for a new center on 25 Mile Ave. The Lions voted last week to make the $2,000 donation to the center.

Ann Landers Ex-wives feel guilty

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your column provides a wealth of valuable information not found elsewhere. Keep up the good work—especially in the area of homosexuality. Everything I know about this subject I learned in your column. And this is what I am writing about.

A co-worker was divorced recently from a bisexual man. You would never guess it from looking at him. The guy is very macho and the women go for him in a big way. His most recent ex-wife blames herself for the marriage failure. She said she couldn't make him love her enough to give up his homosexual pals.

The man has been married at least four times that I know of. I wonder if he thinks being married will make him heterosexual, or if he gets these women to fall for him because he enjoys punishing them. In any case, he has left a trail of guilt-ridden former wives who are suffering because they think his problem is their fault. He has fathered several children, some of whom know about his bisexuality.

Please give these people the word, Ann. Bisexuals need to know that they are basically homosexual, and no amount of love, sex or devotion from a woman will make them heterosexual.

People with whom these bisexuals become involved need to know it is beyond their power to straighten out a kinky male. Tell them to cancel the guilt trip.

This letter is poorly written, so please clean it up and print it.—Looking On But Not Standing "B!" In Denver

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 14 and have been smoking for a year. I wish I had a dollar for every time I smoked the last cigarette in the pack and swore I would never touch another one.

My parents don't know I smoke. When I smoke at home, I open all the windows in my bedroom and blow the smoke outside. If they knew they would kill me. I must quit this lousy habit before they find out. I am sure a lot of teenagers have the same problem. All of us would appreciate some suggestions.—Not Happy With Myself In Springfield

New members welcomed into Dawn Music Club

Dawn Music Club members met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Alfred Smith with Mrs. Osber Wertenberger serving as co-hostess.

Welcomed as new members were Mmes. Edgar Sowell, Gerald Parker and John Stribling.

Mrs. Carl Wimberley, president, gave a preview of the program schedules for the year and the club decided to continue its theme, "America: Its Music and Arts."

Also, during the business session, dues were collected and Mrs. J.B. Caraway, District I president of Texas Federation of Music Clubs, reminded members of the District I Convention slated Oct. 15 in Graver United Methodist Church. Elected as delegates to the event was Mrs. Reece Stewart and Mrs. Alfred Smith.

Mrs. Caraway also stated that plans are being finalized for the hosting of the State Convention to be held March of 1984 in Amarillo.

Mrs. Wertenberger reported on Howard Suttle, an Amarillo western artist, who devotes his time and effort to painting. He plans to travel to different locations to paint and take part in various art festivals. Mrs. Wertenberger quoted him as saying, "As long as I can see, and move a paint brush, I'll have something to do. I'll never be bored."

Other members in attendance included Mmes. Orval Galley, R.E. Curtsinger, H. V. McCabe, Bill Caraway, and Melissa and Arron Caraway.

The next club meeting will be held Oct. 11 at Dawn Community Center.

United States enjoys another America's Cup victory

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP
Special Correspondent
NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — Horns from a hundred boats sounded a victory chant as skipper Dennis Conner slid the ruby-red nose of Liberty across the finish line, leaving the United States — for a day, at least — still sovereign of the seas.

Those nightmarish, closely guarded fins of the challenger Australia II became almost moot in the opening test of the 1983 America's Cup yacht-racing series.
Good old-fashioned American ingenuity and superior seamanship won the day. Check your scorecard. It was the 79th triumph in 89 years covering 25 challenges over 113 years. The stubborn New York Yacht Club refuses to let the pot-bellied Victorian silver trophy get away.

Actually, those mysterious wings attached to the challenger's keel — never seen by a stranger kept from public view by armed guards — got only passing notice at the official news conference following Wednesday's race.

Somebody mentioned it to Alan Bond, the multimillionaire sponsor of the Australian challenge, and he changed the subject quickly.
But asked the day before if, now that the finals are under way, he might "raise her skirts and let everybody see what's underneath," Bond smugly replied:

"No, I don't think so."
After he had won Wednesday, Conner was asked if he lay awake at night and had nightmares over the thought that the fins might beat him.
"We try to draw on only those things we can control," he said. "As for those fins, it's like you run a horse at Belmont and have to face another horse with a blanket thrown over him. You don't know whether he's got three legs or four."

The mystery is certain to surface again should the Aussies, who lost by only 70 seconds after suffering a steering problem turning into the sixth and final leg of the 24.3-mile course on Rhode Island Sound, come back to win a race.

At the moment, with the Americans off to a head start doubted by many, it is beginning to look like a psychological ploy. The Aussies may be pulling a red herring across the sea path.
It created a lot of early excitement and considerable newspaper coverage in the early trials.
But it's beginning to appear that the free-spirited Aussies might be just trying to psyche the Yanks out of their foul weather gear. And maybe Conner and his board of strategy are pretending to be concerned when they may be laughing in their beer — Swan Beer, brewed by the conglomerate Bond.

It's inconceivable that Conner and American designers don't know all there is to know about 12-meter boats, with or without secret wings. They spend their lives in testing tanks.
Still, without any of those cloak-and-dagger charades, an America's Cup race — certainly one as skillfully contested as Wednesday's — is a sight to behold.

The day starts with hundreds of boats large and small — 12-foot beetle cats to towering ketches and schooners — sailing out to sea with 30,000 festive spectators.
Overhead a dozen helicopters hover over the scene like hungry vultures.
"There are the 12s — come quick," somebody yells.
Two lean craft with towering, beige-striped sails are outlined against a leaden sky. It's one time you wish you were Van Gogh or at least Norman Rockwell.

An hour before the noonish start, the two rivals prance around the ocean like playful kittens, sneaking in and out of the spectator flotilla. They come within a few feet of each other and cross bows, fencers touching swords.
But the correlation is more like that of a title fight. Electricity sizzles as the two rivals feel each other out — Smokin' Joe and Ali trying to stare one another down.
Then the flag goes up, and they're away. You don't have to be a salt to appreciate that.

It's an anachronistic sport borrowed from another time, lacking the violence and the defined qualities of the big, popular spectator sports.
There's no scorecard on the ocean. Because of the weird angles and lack of communication, it's impossible sometimes to tell which is ahead. Your head gets all jumbled with words such as "jibe," "windward" and "tack."

At times, the boats appear to be standing still. But excitement is there — pride, nationalism and a trophy that hasn't changed hands in 132 years.
And sometimes there's a familiarity, as, after crossing the finish line, Liberty's 11 red-attired crewmen sailed to within a few feet of the press boat and waved animatedly.
Winners all — and hams to the end.

Fuzzy Zoeller

Caddy aids leader

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Fuzzy Zoeller, armed with a 1-stroke lead after the first round, put his fate in the world's richest golf tournament — at least partially — in the hands of his caddy.
"I didn't get here until Tuesday," Zoeller said after he'd compiled a near-flawless, 9-under-par 63 in the opening round of the inaugural Las Vegas Pro-Celebrity Classic, which offers $1,050,000 in total prizes for five days of play over four courses at this desert resort.
"I haven't seen any of the courses. I've never played them before," Zoeller said Wednesday.

"In a tournament like this, you have to leave it to your caddy. It's like the Hope (the Bob Hope Desert Classic). I don't practice there, either."
"It's up to the caddy. It's his job. He'll get the yardage and we'll take it from there."
"Luckily, I've got a good one. Mike Mazzeo. We've been together six or seven years. He's a happy-go-lucky kind of guy, like I am. He knows how I play. He knows the things I need to know. He knows the kind of holes I like to use an iron off the tee. Heck, he could probably even play it for me."

At times, the boats appear to be standing still. But excitement is there — pride, nationalism and a trophy that hasn't changed hands in 132 years.
And sometimes there's a familiarity, as, after crossing the finish line, Liberty's 11 red-attired crewmen sailed to within a few feet of the press boat and waved animatedly.
Winners all — and hams to the end.

Cincy, Browns to battle

Bengals always good - Rutigliano

CLEVELAND (AP) — Though their "runaway beer truck" has been suspended and their quarterback is hurting, the Cincinnati Bengals always manage to play inspired football against their upstate rival, says Cleveland Browns' Coach Sam Rutigliano.
The Bengals and Browns meet tonight in a nationally televised National Football League game.
Cincinnati, whose starting fullback, Pete Johnson, was suspended for four games along with lineman Ross Browner because of alleged drug abuse, is winless after two games. Cleveland is 1-1.
"We bring out the best in each other," Rutigliano said. "We'll be fighting to stay in first place (in the American Conference Central Division) and the Bengals will be looking to get right back in it."
The effect of Johnson's absence was painfully evident to the Bengals on Sunday, when they lost 10-6 to the Buffalo Bills. Cincinnati was unable to score the go-ahead touchdown on four plays from inside the Buffalo 5-yard line with less than three minutes to play.
"When you can't get four yards in four tries at that stage of the game, you don't deserve to win," said Forrest Gregg, the former Cleveland coach who directed Cincinnati to a Super Bowl appearance two years ago.
Rutigliano conceded that the Bengals are likely to play a different style of ball with Johnson sidelined, and he noted, "If you check their history, they are a much better football team with Johnson, when he's running for 100 yards.

"In the role he plays, I don't know anybody that's better. Plus, he's not a bad guy coming out of the backfield (as a receiver). If he catches a swing pass, it looks like a runaway beer truck."
But Rutigliano was not ready to write off the Bengals just yet.
"Who's kidding anybody?"

They're a playoff-type team, period," he said. "They're still the team to beat in the AFC Central."
Cleveland is coming off a 31-26 victory over the Detroit Lions in which quarterback Brian Sipe fired four touchdown passes, bringing his season total to seven. His performance this year has been reminiscent of his play in 1980, when he was the league's most valuable player.
"Sipe looks like he's back to where he was about three years ago," Gregg said.

Sipe and Cincinnati quarterback Ken Anderson, who has been nursing a sore neck, have had some of their best performances in the Browns-Bengals series. Cleveland leads the series 13-12.
Sipe has more victories (seven), completions (234) and passing yards (2,722) against the Bengals than he has against any other NFL team.

Happy Birthday

You had a flat-top here,
But now let's shed a tear,
For today you're 40,
So face it old man,
You're in your prime,
If hair loss is a sign of antiquity,
It's your turn this time.

Dear Old James Robert

Rookie keys sweep

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

Len Matuszek was recently recalled by the Philadelphia Phillies from the minor leagues. He doesn't want to go back, and made some points for himself against the Montreal Expos.

"It's got to make you feel good when they run you out there in September in the heat of a pennant race," said Matuszek, a key figure in Wednesday night's 9-5 and 5-0 doubleheader sweep of Montreal.

Matuszek had two hits in the first game and a three-run homer in the second as the Phillies moved into first place by one game over the Pittsburgh Pirates, who beat the Chicago Cubs 6-3. The Expos fell into third place, 1 1/2 games behind the Phillies.

Matuszek, called up from Portland of the Pacific Coast League, says he has been shuttled between the majors and minors more times than he cares to count. "I saw a lot of players going up a lot quicker than me," said Matuszek, who says he had become discouraged over the last five years.

But this year he made up his mind to maintain a "right mental attitude" and show what he could do. "I felt if the Phillies didn't want me, some other team would," noted the first baseman.

In other NL action, Houston beat Los Angeles 4-2, Cincinnati stopped Atlanta 6-4, St. Louis edged New York 2-1 and San Diego whipped San Francisco 7-4.

Mike Schmidt hit a two-run homer in each game, giving him an NL-leading 36 for the season. His first round-tripper came in the fourth inning of the opener after a two-run blast by Joe Morgan, easing Steve Carlton to his 298th career victory.

Carlton notched No. 298 on his sixth attempt and boosted his season record to 13-15. The all-time major-league strikeout leader with 3,683, Carlton fanned eight and walked four in eight innings before getting last-inning relief help from Al Holland.

In the second game, Schmidt hit a two-run shot in the first inning and Matuszek slammed a three-run homer in the third for his first in the major leagues. Both came off loser Ray Burris, 4-7.

Marty Bystrom, 6-9, in his first start since returning from the 21-day disabled list, pitched a five-hitter for the Phillies.

"I changed a lot of things in my delivery to take strain off my arm," said Bystrom, who suffers from a strained elbow. "I got my mechanics straightened out, which is the key to control. The layoff gave me time to work things out. I felt strong the whole time."

Playing Today

Mancini to fight tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Ray "Boom Boom" Mancini will fight tonight in Madison Square Garden four days short of 36 years of the night his father, Lenny "Boom Boom" Mancini last fought there.

On Sept. 19, 1947, Lenny Mancini, then an aging middleweight, lost an eight-round decision to Rocky Castellani in a preliminary. He had been a highly-ranked lightweight contender in the early 1940s who had never gotten a title shot and whose career was interrupted by World War II in which he was wounded.

Lenny Mancini will be on hand when his 22-year-old son appears in the Garden in the main event as the World Boxing Association light champion defending the title against Orlando Romero, the WBA's top-ranked, but relatively unknown challenger from Peru.

"My father hasn't been in the Garden since then (the Castellani fight)," said the champion. "This will be an emotional night for him."

Brewers lacking punch of 1982

By BARRY WILNER AP Sports Writer

The Milwaukee Brewers soared to the top of the American League last year on the strength of their hefty hitters. Now, they are plummeting in the AL East because of a severe power shortage.

The Brewers, who came within one game of winning the 1982 World Series, hit 216 home runs last season while leading the league in runs and total bases. But their vaunted attack has sputtered in the second half of the season — only 44 homers in 71 games — and, in the last week, they've scored a total of nine runs in seven games, the last six of which they've lost.

Milwaukee fell 4-1 to the New York Yankees Wednesday night and stands 10 1/2 games behind first-place Baltimore in the East. The Brewers' pitching has been solid recently and their hurlers surrendered only seven runs in three games with New York, yet lost all three.

"Good pitching and no hitting," lamented Manager Harvey Kuenn. "It's one repeat performance after the other. One wasted pitching effort after the other. We've not hit so many nights in a row, it's tiresome. Maybe we're trying too hard."

"We're running out of alternatives. I've tried extra batting practice, I've tried no BP, I've tried shaking up the lineup, I've tried everything. I'm open to suggestions."

Orioles 5, Red Sox 0
As if the Orioles didn't have enough going for them with an eight-game winning streak — Baltimore has won 19 of its last 22 and has a 5 1/2-game lead over Detroit in the East — they apparently have one of their former aces back on track.

Dennis Martinez hadn't started since Aug. 6 or pitched in nearly a month. But he combined with Sammy Stewart for a six-hitter and Gary Roenicke smacked a two-run homer to lead Baltimore.

Twins 1, White Sox 0
Minnesota rookie Tim Teufel, who was called up from Toledo on Sept. 1, singled to knock in the only run with none out and the bases loaded in the ninth. The hit snapped a string of 17 scoreless innings by White Sox hurler Britt Burns.

Tigers 5, Indians 0
The Tigers have won six straight but can't gain ground on the Orioles. Glenn Abbott, acquired on waivers from Seattle on Aug. 23, befuddled the Indians with an assortment of offspeed pitches, throwing a four-hitter. Alan Trammell scored three times for Detroit.

Royals 1, Angels 0
Pinch-hitter Don Slaught singled in Hal McRae, who had tripled with one out in the 14th. Tommy John, 40, blanked the Royals over the opening 13 innings in the longest outing of his 21-year career.

Rangers 4, A's 2
Charlie Hough saw his consecutive-scoreless inning streak end at 36. But Larry Parrish provided all the runs Hough needed with a three-run double and a solo homer.

"Oh, I'm certainly not going to shut out team's forever, that's for sure," said Hough. "But I enjoyed it. It was fun."

Blue Jays 4, Mariners 3
Lloyd Moseby pinch-hit a double in a two-run seventh inning as Toronto won its fourth in a row. Reliever Doyle Alexander allowed four hits over the final six innings to pick up his fourth straight victory.

In the ninth, Seattle's John Moses was thrown out at the plate by right fielder Jesse Barfield on Tony Bernazard's double for the final out.

Cheering For the Herd

game. The Student Council has begun a project of sponsoring activities for the Senior Citizens this year. Future Farmers of America assisted with refreshments this week. (Photo by HHS Photography Department)

Castro County Fair celebration slated

Castro County Fair and Harvest Days celebration will be held Thursday through Sunday.

Arts, crafts, and commercial booths will be on display from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday. The public is invited to visit the Castro Co. Expo at 403 WE 4th.

On Friday, "Ladies Day" programs will include:

-10 A.M., "Self Motivation-Goal Setting" by Deborah Tardy, Success Motivation Institute.

-12 noon, "Nutritious Snacks" by Joy Gibson of Energas.

-2 p.m., "Color Me Beautiful" by Jimmie Glenn. On Saturday, the Castro County Museum will have a special open house from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. with a corn grinding demonstration.

For the kids, the Pet Show begins at 9:30 a.m. at the courthouse.

The Kiwanis Club is sponsoring the parade which begins at 11 a.m. The parade theme will be "Young At Heart." Further details may be obtained from Charles Richard, 647-5589.

A basket lunch for the Old Settlers Reunion begins at 12 noon at the Senior Citizens Center, 218 W. Jones.

Antique Car Show entries will be judged at 1 p.m. at the Expo. Trophies will be given in seven categories. For information contact Don Moke, 647-4264.

Young Homemakers will sponsor the Fun Olympics for children 3 to 10 years of age. From 2 to 3 p.m. there will be games and races with prizes for the winners. The entry fee for each child is $2.

The fiddlers contest is at 3 p.m. Area fiddlers are invited to compete for the $75-$50-$25 prize money. The third annual Bed Race will be at 5 p.m. Competition is stiff for this year's race in which four people push and one person rides a bed. Each team will be timed on a designated course in which they must remove their "patient," change the sheets, replace the "patient," and return to the starting point.

The fastest time wins $100 cash for their organization and the best dressed team wins $25. Defending champions are the Dimmitt Volunteer Fire Department.

The Dimmitt Square Dancers will sponsor a barbecue at 5:30 p.m. Tickets may be purchased from any of the dancers who will be using the proceeds to go into their building fund. They will also have a square dance at 8 p.m. All are invited to attend.

The community Follies begins at 8 p.m. at the high school auditorium. The production is directed by Doug Henry, high school choir director; Jeff Isaacs, an Amarillo College drama major; and Norma Trigo, a WTSU communications major. A Sunday performance will also be presented at 2 p.m.

Senior Citizens guests of HHS Student Council

The Hereford High School Student Council hosted members of Hereford Senior Citizens at the Whiteface foot-

WTSU carpools being formed

West Texas State University students interested in carpooling to classes may contact Jane Kerr in the Returning Student Program Office in the Student Union Building at WTSU.

"This program is open to anyone from anywhere," Kerr said.

"This is the first time for this type of program to be initiated through this office, but we think our specific group of students can really benefit from it," she said.

Kerr will collect the information and attempt to match persons who live in the same area for carpools.

Belgium

Belgium derives its name from the Belgae, the first recorded inhabitants, probably Celts. The land was conquered by Julius Caesar, and was ruled for 1800 years by other conquerors, including Rome, the Franks, Burgundy, Spain, Austria and France.

ball game against Canyon this past weekend as part of a new project the organization has begun this year.

Future Farmers of America provided refreshments for the guests during the third quarter. The Senior Citizens were also given football buttons and programs.

Members of Senior Citizens who participated were Homer Brumley, Sara Bell Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Pinky Matthews, Leta Kaul, Cecil Lady, Sam Sides, Dub Curtsinger, Leona Sowell and Walker Boston.

The Student Council will be sponsoring future activities for the Senior Citizens of Hereford.

YOU AUTO KNOW

Don Henslee

Q: One of the most exasperating problems I have ever run into is engine flooding. Is there a quick way to cure a flooded engine?

A: No. The first step toward curing a flooded engine is patience. Remember, flooding is often caused by pumping the accelerator, but never cured that way. So, first step: Don't Pump. Sometimes depressing the accelerator to the floor, and holding it there, while operating the starter will work. But, don't overdo it: the engine doesn't start the first or second time you try. You'll just be flooding it more. Since flooding is just that: too much fuel inside the intake manifold, a quicker fix may be to remove the air cleaner and simply blow into the carburetor to dry it out. The least painful way to cure a flood, however, is to just sit quietly for a few minutes, while the carburetor dries itself.
