Grant Hanna awarded 'Bull Chip'

By JOHN BROOKS Managing Editor

Grant Hanna was awarded the prestigious Bull Chip Award at the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Fun Breakfast this morning at the Hereford Community Center.

The breakfast was sponsored by Warner Seed Co. of Hereford. The multi-national seed company is celebrating the 25th anniversary of its founding in Hereford.

Hanna was honored for his work in the community for over 40 years.

Hanna originally came to Hereford during World War II, as the mess sergeant at the Prisoner of War Camp south of Hereford. Speedy Nieman, who presented the award, quipped that Hanna didn't learn much Italian cooking from the prisoners, but he perfected his chili recipe by using the Italians as guinea pigs.

Hanna met his wife, Troyce, here, and married her. After they moved back to Hereford, he has been active in farming and agriculture-related organizations, and has been active in the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Masonic Lodge, Oasis Shrine, First United Methodist Church, Golden K Kiwanis and the Hereford Senior Citizens Association.

Hanna in recent years is probably best known for his chili suppers which have helped raise thousands of dollars for many events. Nieman joked that Hanna was "a major stockholder in Roloids and Tums," but serious; added that Hanna was "a good man who serves a good bowl of red to help the people of Hereford."

Bill Lyles of Warner Seed told the overflow crowd at the community center how the company began 25 years ago with a small warehouse and $3,000. Today, the company supports 48 full-time employees in Hereford, more part-time persons during the summer, and has sales in many foreign countries.

A contingent of 15 Warner representatives from Mexico were at the breakfast. They told how Warner has 35 percent of all seed sales in Mexico. Warner is strong in many other countries in Central and South America and in Japan.

"We will continue to grow and have a quality product," Lyles said. "We have one of the best research programs in the business, bar none."

Lyles, on behalf of Warner, accepted a "Salute to Industry" award from Lewis McDaniel, industrial development chairman for the chamber.

Many announcements about upcoming events were made at the breakfast, including:

--The first in a series of economic development seminars was to begin today, with the public invited to attend any or all of the future sessions;

--Dawn Mason announced that the Hereford High School junior class will sponsor a chili supper from 5-7 p.m. Friday at Hereford Junior High;

--The Hereford Senior Citizens

Town shocked with shooting

PONTOTOC (AP) - In the area around the hamlet of Pontotoc, about 100 miles northwest of Austin, parents had to drive their children today the 20 miles to school in Mason, the county seat.

Because of a massive manhunt for a gunman who killed a resident in Pontotoc's general store on Wednesday, school buses didn't run Wednesday afternoon. And they weren't running again today.

Authorities sought Michael Joseph Griffith, 35, of Mason in the shooting of Ivan H. Herron, 58, of Pontotoc.

Officials said Herron was shot several times during a mid-morning struggle in the "Pontotoc Stop" country store.

Mary Ann Wells, 54, the manager of the store, said Herron got suspicious about her whereabouts and resisted when the gunman tried to force him into a rear room where she had been bound and placed under some boxes.

Authorities said Herron died of multiple gunshot wounds, which were believed to have come from a pistol, but shotgun pellets also were found.

The gunman fled in Mrs. Wells' pickup after her husband and several customers walked into the store, she told officers.

Pontotoc is on Texas Highway 71, about 20 miles northwest of Llano. Its population is about 200. Students in the rural area attend school in Mason.

Mason's schools were shut down on Wednesday and bus service stopped when word of a possible hostage situation circulated. School officials refused to let school buses run to the Pontotoc area or to the nearby communities of Fredonia, Camp Air or Katemey.

"We won't run the buses again until we know he is in custody or out of the area," Mason school superintendent Ted Kerr said.

Department of Public Safety spokesman Mike Cox said the gunman was wearing camouflage attire at the Pontotoc general store. He was described as 5-foot-6, 170 lbs., with brown hair and grey eyes.

Griffith, who reportedly made his living as a house painter, is a Mason native with a son and several nephews and nieces attending the Mason schools, and Herron was uncle of some of our children and grandfather to some," Kerr said.

Air embargo gets support

By CHRISTOPHER BURNS Associated Press Writer

The push for an air embargo against Iraq has gathered momentum with agreement by the five key U.N. Security Council members to limit cargo flights into Baghdad to those carrying medicine and humanitarian food aid.

The passenger-conveying air bridge that would remain intact under the new punitive measures brought more than 400 Westerners, including 110 American women and children, out of Iraq and to London on Wednesday.

The Americans were to fly on to North Carolina today.

British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher said the Security Council's five permanent members - the United States, Soviet Union, Britain, France and China - had agreed to extend to the air the embargo on trade with Iraq.

'Fund raising' may become permanent

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Bush administration is so pleased with its fund raising among allies in the Persian Gulf crisis that it will make such solicitations a permanent feature of U.S. foreign policy, a senior official says.

"This ... is a kind of a new invention in the practice of diplomacy," Deputy Secretary of State Lawrence Eagleburger said of the effort that has yielded $20 billion in pledges so far.

"You're seeing here something that I think is a new device we'll try to be using more often in the future," he told the House Appropriations foreign aid subcommittee.

But Senate Appropriations Committee Chairman Robert C. Byrd,

"We know there is a need to have an air embargo and a need to have it enforceable," she told a news conference while visiting Budapest, Hungary.

CRISIS IN THE GULF

The resolution is expected to be put to a vote in the 15-member council on Friday or Saturday, diplomats said.

Under its terms, participating countries could order aircraft headed for Iraq to land or be refused overflight permission. However, intercepted aircraft could not be shot down.

The U.N. embargo on trade with Iraq was approved just days after Saddam Hussein's forces overran Kuwait on Aug. 2. It has been largely successful, having cut off nearly all export of oil, Iraq's main source of income, and caused food shortages in Iraq that have led to rationing.

The call for extending the embargo to the air - a largely symbolic gesture - was led by France, which was angered by Iraqi raids last week on the French and other diplomatic compounds in Kuwait.

of Kuwait will depart Saturday, leaving behind hundreds of American hostages, mostly men. The Saturday flight and one arriving today from Kuwait at Raleigh-Durham airport in North Carolina will carry all remaining Americans who had permission from the Iraqis to leave, Ms. Tutwiler said.

As of Tuesday, there were about 1,269 Americans in Kuwait and 170 in Iraq. An estimated 82 American men are being detained by Iraqi authorities. Ms. Tutwiler said house-to-house searches by the Iraqis for additional Americans are continuing.

Members of Congress voiced strong opposition to an administration plan to sell upwards of $18 billion in Iraqi troops are trying to force all foreign embassies in Kuwait to close, but French, British, U.S. and other diplomats have held out.

Saddam has massed an estimated 360,000 of his troops in and around oil-rich Kuwait, which annexed after the invasion.

To counter the Iraqi threat, more than 100,000 U.S. soldiers have been rushed to neighboring oil giant Saudi Arabia and half as many are aboard warships sent to the region. Thousands of troops and dozens of warships from other nations also have converged.

So far, about 1,500 Americans have been allowed to leave Iraq and Kuwait on seven chartered flights, but 1,000 more remain behind.

Iraqi soldiers have seized at least 90 American men - as well as other Westerners - and are holding them at strategic locations as human shields in the event of war.

new weaponry to Saudi Arabia over the next several years, and to Bush's call for canceling $6.7 billion in debts Egypt owes the United States for past military purchases.

Voicing rare public criticism of the gulf deployment, Sen. Bob Kerrey, D-Neb., accused Bush of overstating the threat the invasion poses to the United States.

"I am profoundly uneasy about the instant deployment of over 100,000 American troops, sold to the American people on the false assertions that Saddam Hussein is Adolf Hitler, that our way of life is at clear and present danger, that we have as much at stake as we did in World War II," Kerrey said in a floor speech.

Ringling bells

Bells were ringing across the nation at exactly the same time to celebrate the 203rd anniversary of the signing of the Constitution. Members of the Buttons and Bows Camp Fire Club and the American Legion Auxiliary rang bells for 203 seconds. The independence guaranteed to the American people by the Constitution should be celebrated by appropriate ceremonies during Constitution Week, Sept. 17-23, and all citizens should pay special attention to our Federal Constitution and the advantages of American Citizenship.

Young children face danger as pedestrians

Flashing yellow lights warning motorists to slow down in school zones are reminders of the dangers involved when young children cross the streets.

Pedestrian accidents have become the second most common cause of serious injury and death for young school-aged children in the United States. Only automobile accidents involving children as passengers claim more lives.

"Some parents don't realize the danger involved when they allow young children to cross streets on their own," said Dr. Sara Anderson, family life specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Children think illogically and don't take precautions. They're also very inexperienced."

Researchers affiliated with the Harborview Injury Prevention and Research Center in Seattle, Wash., found in a 1988 study that parents have misconceptions and ambivalent feelings about children's pedestrian skills.

Although 94 percent of 2,464 parents surveyed believed that 5- and 6-year-olds were too young to cross streets alone, one-third allowed their kindergartners and almost a half allowed their first-graders to cross "quiet residential streets" without supervision.

Many parents are unaware that children this age generally are not developmentally ready to cope with traffic consistently, Anderson said. They may act like they know what to do, yet may not remember safety rules when they're alone.

It is estimated that more than 1,450 children under age 15 are killed as pedestrians in the United States each year. In 1989, 40 children (ages 5-14) were killed in Texas, while 1,501 were injured. Within that group, the children between the ages of 5-9 numbered 28 killed and 599 injured.

Nationally, in school-bus related pedestrian accidents, about 40 children are killed and 52 are injured each year, usually as they were boarding or leaving buses.

"Of the (40) children killed in loading zones, two-thirds are struck by school buses," according to a 1989 special report on school bus safety by the Transportation Research Board of the National Research Council. "Five- and 6-year-olds appear to be the most vulnerable to being struck by their own school bus," the report said.

This report agrees with other research concerning young children's pedestrian skills, Anderson said.

"Children have a difficult time perceiving danger," she said. "They have misconceptions that cars can stop immediately and that if they can see a car, the driver can see them." Also, kids cannot accurately judge from which direction sounds are coming.

Anderson reminded parents that they serve as role models, and children will emulate their actions.

"If the parent jaywalks, the child will think it's OK to do the same," she said.

"Parents should realize that their expectations may be too high for a young child, and they must make very sure the child is ready to cross streets alone," Anderson said. "With lots of practice and repetition, children will learn to cross streets safely."

Ann Landers

DEAR READERS: In my column of July 12, I published a letter from a high school student who wrote about her English teacher getting fresh. She wanted to know more about sexual harassment. I told her that sexual harassment by a teacher or a boss constitutes for dates, making sexual jokes or comments, inappropriate touching, attempting to kiss or fondle, or suggesting that sex will result in a promotion or a higher grade.

I then volunteered that the first institution sued for sexual harassment was Yale University and added, "Sorry about that, Yalies." I continued, "In 1980, an undergraduate sued her political science professor because he offered her an A in exchange for sex. She refused and received a C. The student filed a suit and won."

I now have before me a letter from Dorothy K. Robinson, general counsel for Yale University, asking that I set the record straight. The incident was just as I had presented it, with one small exception. The student LOST the case and Yale was exonerated.

A bouquet of skunk cabbage to the Boston lawyer who "researched" this for me and a size 7 dunce cap for yours truly for not double-checking.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A friend of mine, a vulnerable widow, found a lump in her breast a few months ago during self-examination. On the recommendation of her family doctor, she had a mammogram and then saw a surgeon.

The surgeon examined her, studied the mammogram and said a biopsy should be done. He told her not to worry, that he was so certain the lump was benign he was willing to bet her a 20-dollar gold piece that the biopsy would prove him right. She said, "You're on," and they shook hands on the bet.

Fortunately, the doctor's opinion was correct, and when she went back for a visit after the biopsy, he reminded her of their bet. When I heard that my friend had ordered the coin (it cost about $500), I told her she was foolish. In my opinion, that doctor took advantage of her and the "bet" was highly unethical.

I'd like your views on this, Ann. - H.B., New York

DEAR NEW YORK: Unethical, you say? I call it outrageous. I'll bet that doctor makes more money on bets than he does in his practice. He should be reported to the state or county medical society. Or both.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I add something to the "sex after marriage" flap that drew so many fascinating comments?

Be sure that the fire is out of BOTH furnaces before you decide to give up sex for crossword puzzles, a stationary bike in the bedroom or any of the other dumb substitutes mentioned by one nutty reader. I made the mistake of not doing that and my husband became involved with a widow who was my best friend.

A word to the wise is sufficient. - Concord, Calif.

DEAR CONCORD: Thanks for the testimonial. You didn't say, but I trust that you got back in the ball game and eliminated the substitute hitter.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 17 years old, and all my life I have heard people say, "Pardon my French," when they swear or use a dirty word.

This really puzzles me because so far as I know, the French people don't use any worse language than anyone else. So where did that expression come from? - Puffled in California

DEAR CALIFORNIA: I don't have a clue. How about it, readers? Any answers out there?

Fall the best time to head outdoors

It is a great time to be outdoors. The kids are in school, dove season is open and my favorite season is here. Fall in our part of Texas offers the best of the outdoors. The mornings are cool and the afternoons are warm. The Hunters can finally quit talking about hunting and start doing it. Smart anglers know that when the water skiers get off the lake the fish bite better.

One of the great events of the fall is when bass school up and chase shad. When you see bass busting shad, pick up a silver-with-blue-black RAT-L-TRAP by Bill Lewis and get ready for the time of your life. This is also the time of year to try a white or pearl worm. Game fish go on a feeding frenzy before winter sets in. If you find them schooled up and can't catch them, then give me a call and I will be glad to help.

The newest fishing line on the market is P-line. It is ultra-limp for good casting and sensitivity. Ultra-small diameter allows stronger line with less visibility to the fish. I know first-hand that it will jerk seven-pound bass out of the cattails. Remember the ol' cliché about the perfect fishing: unbreakable and invisible. Well, P-line is close to perfection. It is available from G. Pucci at P.O. Box 140-43 Park Lane in Brisbane, Calif., 94005.

FOR THE RECORD: The biggest bass from Lake Baylor is 11.97 pounds caught last spring by Joe Holland. I had the pleasure of seeing this truly beautiful bass and urge you to keep your hooks sharp and the nicks out of your line when fishing a salt craw in eight feet of water.

TOURNAMENT NEWS: Next Big Bass Tournament on Lake Baylor is Oct. 7. Early Entry fee is $50. After Oct. 1, entry fee goes up to $60. Lake is off-limits all day Saturday. Registration at the lake starts at 6 p.m. Saturday and 5 a.m. Sunday until official start time at 6:30 p.m. Entry is limited to 100 anglers and a full field will pay $2,500 for first place.

White River Lake will be the site of a Fun Tournament Oct. 6. Entry fee is $20 and registration at the marina starts at 5 p.m. Friday and 5 a.m. Saturday until official start time at 6:30 a.m. The best three-fish limit earns $1,000 based on 150 entries. Call me for more information at 353-3654.

Key Club golf scramble set

The Hereford Key Club will hold its fourth annual Four-Man Scramble Saturday at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

The 18-hole tournament, which is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m., will benefit the Hereford Senior Citizens Center and Big Brothers/Big Sisters. Entry fee for the event is $22.50 per player which includes green fees and chances to win prizes donated by local merchants.

A junior two-man lowball tournament will also be held for high school players. Entry fee is $15.

Toronto takes over AL East lead

By BILL BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

Teams that are a half-dozen games out of first place in September have a way of setting little goals for themselves.

"Let's only be a couple of games out when we start that series late in the month," they say.

Most of the time, the goals are a pipe dream, the fading gasp of a beaten team.

In the American League East, however, the Toronto Blue Jays are exceeding even their own hopes.

"I don't think anyone expected us to be one game up at this stage of the season," manager Cito Gaston said Wednesday night after the Blue Jays took over sole possession of first place for the first time since July 30.

A 7-6 victory over the New York Yankees, combined with Boston's 8-4 loss to Baltimore, gave Toronto a one-game lead.

Toronto trailed by 6 1/2 games on Sept. 4 and Gaston said the team was hoping to close the gap to three going into their three-game series at Boston.

Elsewhere in the AL, it was Oakland 7, Chicago 3; Cleveland 6, Milwaukee 3; Minnesota 1, Kansas City 0 in 11 innings; Texas 6, Seattle 5; and Detroit 12, California 5.

"You have to like our chances now," said Tom Henke, who picked up his 30th save with two strikeouts in the ninth, including Kevin Maas on a called third strike to end the game.

The Yankees, after trailing 7-1, came close to tying it in the eighth, but pinch-runner Jim Walewander

Herd takes on Coronado

By SAM WALLER
Sports Editor

For the first time that anyone can (or wants to) remember, the Hereford Whitefaces head into the third week of the season still looking for their first win.

Herd coach Don Cumpton is at 0-2 for the first time in 17 years as a head coach, and it's a condition he's ready to change when the Herd hosts District 3-5A member Lubbock Coronado (2-0) at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Whiteface Stadium.

"We need a win," Cumpton said, "there's no doubt about that. But we have improved some each week and I think we can do it. We're going to come out gunning' with both barrels blazin'."

While last week's 33-20 loss to Amarillo Palo Duro was a matter of not letting the Dons score at will, the Mustangs present the challenge of being able to score at all. Coronado has put a total of 27 points on the board in beating Class 4A teams Sweetwater (14-7) and Wolfforth Frenship (13-6). The Mustangs defense has allowed 400 total yards in the two wins while the offense has gained 328.

"They're a big, strong team," Cumpton said. "They don't have the speed that Palo Duro had. They're more similar to Tascosa, but they're probably a little better in some areas than Tascosa was and defensively they're probably as good as either Tascosa or Palo Duro. Offensively they just don't have the speed. They're not bad, they just don't have the speed Palo Duro had."

The Ponies' ball-control offense has been led by quarterback Chip Reed. The junior has completed 11 of 16 passes for 135 yards with one interception and rushed 19 times for 39 yards.

"He's a good player," Cumpton said of Reed. "I think he's the glue that kind of holds them all together. He's their catalyst. We've been real impressed with him."

Since Coronado relies mainly on running behind an offensive line that features 235-pound tackle Brett Goolsby and center Shane Sowell (255), most of the passes have been of the short variety. Running back David Mayfield (three catches for 59 yards) and tight end Steve Jones (three for 30) are the leading receivers.

Hard to hold

Steven Banner (32) of the Hereford Whitefaces tries to break a tackle during last week's 33-20 loss to Amarillo Palo Duro as Brady Wilson (62) and Cody Page hurry in to help. The Herd will host Lubbock Coronado at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Whiteface Stadium.

Mayfield has added 52 yards on nine carries.

The Mustangs' leading rusher fullback Gilbert Rodriguez - a 5-foot, 6 inch, 137-pound sophomore jitterbug who has carried 38 times for 104 yards. Rodriguez is the team's leading scorer with two touchdowns.

"They're a misdirection team so we're going to have to take care of our assignments," Cumpton said. "We've got to take care of the proper gap up and down the line. I think if we do that we'll be all right."

An added facet of the Pony attack is the numerous shifts, similar to the old Dallas Cowboys.

"They do a lot of shifting," Cumpton said. "They're basically run a Wing-T, but they shift somebody nearly every play. They'll (send the tight end in motion and) go from strong side on the right to strong side on the left, so you've got to make your adjustments after they get out of the huddle."

The key to Coronado's success has been the defense. Cumpton said while

Dodgers miss chance

By The Associated Press

If the Los Angeles Dodgers fail to catch Cincinnati, they'll have a pretty good idea of why.

For the third time in less than a month, the Dodgers blew a game at home they figured to win. This time, it cost them a chance to move within 3 1/2 games of the first-place Reds in the National League West. Cincinnati lost 5-2 at Houston.

With Fernando Valenzuela pitching, the Dodgers grabbed a 4-0 lead after three innings against San Diego, only to lose 9-4 when the Padres rallied for three runs in the fifth and six in the sixth.

"It was a tough loss," Dodgers manager Tommy Lasorda said.

"We're not completely out of opportunities," Lasorda said. "We just missed on this one tonight."

The Reds were 31-12 at the end of May, but only 52-53 since. They have lost four of six.

"Look around this room. Do you see anybody panicking?" Reds outfielder Eric Davis said.

The closest the Dodgers have been to first place since May 4 is four games, and they trailed by 13 1/2 on July 21.

Elsewhere in the NL, it was Pittsburgh 8, Chicago 7; Atlanta 5,

San Francisco 1; and Philadelphia 8, St. Louis 4.

Cheeses, vegetables make light summer salads

NEW YORK (AP) - Garden-fresh ingredients add special zest to summer salads.

The home economists who work with Polly-O cheeses have the following suggestions:

- For eye appeal, add deep dark greens such as spinach or watercress and colorful radicchio or ruby lettuce to the salad bowl.

- Use tender-crisp leftover vegetables such as broccoli, cauliflower or beans for garnish.

- If using fresh herbs in a salad dressing, reserve a few sprigs to garnish the salad.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Could a generous donation by Bill Cosby be enough to stave off bankruptcy for his hometown of Philadelphia?

Mayor W. Wilson Goode is open to offers from the world's highest paid entertainer.

"Maybe the answer to this problem really is to have Bill Cosby come here and just give us his salary for the next five years and we could bail our way out of this problem," Goode joked in an interview Monday on the Financial News Network.

He was responding to a remark by the interviewer, who said the city's newspapers gave "bigger play to Bill Cosby's salary than the problems of Philadelphia."

On Monday, Cosby topped Forbes' list of the world's 40 richest entertainers with two-year earnings projected at $115 million.

Philadelphia projects a $206 million deficit in its $2.1 billion budget by June, and several banks have refused to guarantee more borrowing by the city.

- Serve warm pasta tossed with raw, chopped vegetables and shredded mozzarella.

- Blend slices of mozzarella or ricotta with vegetables or herbs for a refreshing summer main course.

Abundant Life

BY BOB WEAR
The Risk of Living

In the living experience, we must accept a certain amount of risk. It seems that for some folk there is a greater risk, at least, some have less success than others in minimizing these risks. We admit and appreciate all of the dependable guidelines and accepted standards, and in varying degrees, most of us can make these work for us, to some extent; and this helps. We also recognize the absolutes and the specifics; the things which never change. The better we understand and submit to these, the more successfully we can deal with the risk that is involved in living.

We try to make it as sure as we can. Even so we know that we will not miss all of the rough spots, that we will not be able to remove all of the risks. There are not many guarantees; however, this is part of being human and is part of the reality in the living experience. Of course, we are thankful for the established laws of behavior; and for the many plans we are able to make work for us. Nevertheless, we must not permit ourselves to be discouraged, if we fail sometimes.

There are certain risks that we must take. It has been said, "Nature favors those who are sober, alert, intelligent and enthusiastic; most of all those who have the courage to take risks and who possess the will to succeed.... Whoever refuses to take risks pays the penalty of loss of life in one form or another." --Alexis Carrel.

There is no guarantee about our day-to-day-living, nevertheless we must plan and work with the never-ending possibility of accomplishing what we need to do. We must approach the challenges of life, with the wisest preparation; with firm resolve; with justified enthusiasm; and with the understanding that we can expect a fair share of success.

The risk of living sharpens our skills; increases our zest for life; enhances our accomplishments; and gives greater appreciation for the wholesome certitudes and their dependable support.

The homing instinct of the carrier pigeon is so great that these birds can fly more than a thousand miles over unfamiliar territory and still find their way home.

The Shakers and Movers In Our Town Have Something Special To Show You!

If there is one group in our community that is always beginning some new project, always completes what it starts and never rests on its laurels, it would have to be our senior citizens.

If you are skeptical, then we ask that you to attend the Hereford Senior Citizens' Center Open House Friday, September 21-22 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m, which will feature viewing of the center's newest expansion wing.

The center, which is considered a cadillac among many senior citizen centers across the entire state, continues to excel in offering new opportunities, new facilities and new directions for all of this area's senior citizens.

We encourage you to witness for yourself, this most recent monument to our senior citizens' efforts.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I've had low blood pressure at various times. I usually feel extremely tired, weak or dizzy like I have lost all energy. Once at work I almost passed out before I was told to lie down with my feet raised. Recently I had a breast biopsy and was very nervous. When the nurse took my blood pressure, it was 92/76. She didn't say it was dangerous, but she did say she'd hate to see me relaxed.

DEAR READER: The arbitrary rule is that a blood pressure of 90/60 or above is normal. Low blood pressure in otherwise healthy people is usually caused by the arteries being dilated so it doesn't require much pressure to pump blood through your body, or if blood pools in the veins in your legs and lower body when you stand up. That is because not enough blood returns to the heart to maintain pressure. That is a frequent cause for fainting.

Fainting or feeling faint on standing and fatigue are symptoms of low blood pressure but it may prolong your life. It is wise to be sure it is not caused by some underlying disorder that needs attention.

Hints from Heloise

Q. My home has wooden frame windows with standard window locks. I am planning a vacation and would like to know if there are any extra precautionary measures I can take to keep my home secure. — Jackie T., Albany, Ga.

A. Ask a trusted neighbor to watch your house and collect mail and newspapers or have a family member or good friend house-sit for you.

To better secure wooden frame windows, drill a hole about 4 to 6 inches above each window in the inside framework. Insert a bolt into each hole to secure it.

The windows can only be opened 4 to 6 inches (this does not give burglars space to enter through a window unless they break it). Just remove the bolts and fully open the windows when you want to. — Heloise

FAST FACTS

Other uses for metal clothes hangers:
1. Make a small leaf skimmer by bending the wire into a circle and covering with old pantyhose.
2. Use for hanging paper towels when camping.

3. Straighten and use to hang a bird feeder; squirrels can't get to it.
4. Use to organize gift ribbon and yarn.

5. Use as a trellis to hold up vines of potted plants.

SPIDER WEBS

Q. We are going to have a small Halloween party this year. I have all kinds of decorating ideas for the party, but I would like to do something unique to decorate the windows. Do you have any suggestions? — Kristian Kothmann, San Antonio, Texas

A. Draw eerie spider webs on the windows and include a spider or two. Use a black felt-tip marker for your masterpiece. The spider web shows up well at night and can be easily removed with window cleaner and paper towels. — Heloise

When swallows fly high it is an indication of good weather. The birds feed on gnats and flies, which are found farther from the ground when warm air rises. The rising air is generally a sign of good weather.

Crunchy Tex-Mex Burgers

NEW YORK (AP) - It's possible to have a delicious, crunchy hamburger without a lot of effort. Just coat the burgers with instant minced onion and broil or barbecue until done the way you like them.

Using instant minced onion is quick; no peeling, no chopping.
CRISPY ONION BURGERS
 1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
 1 tablespoon chili powder
 1 1/2 pounds ground beef
 1-3rd cup instant minced onion
 In a small cup combine cheese and chili powder. Shape ground beef into eight patties, 3 1/2- by 1/2-inch thick. Place an equal amount of the cheese mixture in the center of 4 patties. Place remaining patties over cheese, pinching edges to seal. Place onion in a shallow dish. Press burgers one at a time into onions, turning to coat on all sides. Preheat broiler. Place burgers on the rack, broil 6 to 8 inches from heat source for about 6 minutes per side. To cook on outdoor grill: on a rack 4 inches over hot coals cook burgers for about 6 minutes per side. Makes 4 servings.

State Fair of Texas set Friday, Sept, 28

Like the cool autumn breeze wafting the air is the exhilaration preceding the opening of the State Fair of Texas. This year's 24-day extravaganza, "Showin' Off!", will commence Sept. 28 - Oct. 21.

One of the largest annual expositions in the world, the State

Deposits can pay off big

Millions of Americans lose a day a week or 52 days a year of interest while they either wait for their paycheck to clear or while they delay a trip to the bank. Based on U.S. Department of Labor statistics, which numbers the workforce at 109 million and an average net weekly salary of $285.

A solution to the problem: Direct Deposit, say banking service that lets employers deposit employee paychecks directly into their bank accounts. It's a safe, secure and convenient way to get paid.

The U.S. lags behind its counterparts in Europe and Japan in using Direct Deposit by a margin of nine to one: only 14 percent of American workers use it, compared to nearly 100 percent of Japanese workers and over 90 percent of Europeans. American businesses spend up to 50 percent more administering payrolls and lose up to $5 billion worth of productive work hours each year, when employees take time off to go to the bank.

Fortunately, reports the National Automated Clearing House Association (NACHA), which represents 42 regional associations and over 16,000 member financial institutions, and increasing number of companies are discovering the advantages of Direct Deposit. In fact, some 72 percent of America's largest corporations offer Direct Deposit to their employees. More than 70 percent of federal employees now get paid by Direct Deposit, as do 50 percent of Social Security to the U.S. government? More than $100 million a year.

Fair of Texas showcases a colorful vista of events, exhibits and entertainments, spread across a 277-acre landscaped park with reflecting pools, lush lagoons and historic buildings. The Fair attracts over 3 million people each year.

New attractions planned for 1990 include the International Ski Flier Show, featuring risk-happy hot-dog skiers performing twists and layouts off a 35-ft. ramp, and the Hot Wheelz Bike Show, a California-style stunt-riding exhibition. Also new are the Animal Carnival, with a lineup of pig racing, goat racing, and performing canines, and Craftspectrum '90, a medley of handicrafts and arts, traditional and contemporary, housed under a roomy, tented pavilion.

Another highlight for Fairgoers is a series of free concerts on the Miller Main Stage, which will showcase the talents of Alan Jackson, Ricky Skaggs, the Fabulous Thunderbirds, the Charlie Daniels Band, Kathy Mattea, the Marshall Tucker Band, Patsy Torres, La Mafia, Joe "King" Carrasco, Garth Brooks, The Kentucky Headhunters and Mason Dixon.

An expanded version of the traditional auto show, this year sponsored by Exxon, spotlights the biggest new car showing in the Southwest, offering a comprehensive preview of shiny 1991 models, domestic and foreign. The auto show, consistently the Fair's most popular attraction, will also feature classics, concert cars, trucks and RV's. It will cover two full display halls in addition to outdoor displays, and includes a new outdoor musical revue thrown in for good measure.

Ribbon, trophy and prize seekers begin their quest at the Creative Arts Building, where a Texas tradition is unfurled. Contestants vie for honors in fashion, sewing, quilting, cake-making, cookie-baking and even T-shirt decorating and pumpkin-carving.

Livestock producers and breeders show off prize beef, cattle, sheep, swine and goats at the internationally-acclaimed Pan American Livestock Exposition. There are over 12,000 livestock entries annually. Other popular events include horse shows, junior livestock competition and sheep dog trails.

Red River rivals Texas and O.U. battle it out at the Cotton Bowl, Oct. 13, and a marathon high school band competition, the Parade of Champions, takes place at the Cotton Bowl on Oct. 8.

The Fair comes alive in lights each evening starting with the Lights Fantastic Parade featuring illuminated theme floats, bands, and equestrian units. The jet-age Cotton Bowl Laser Spectacular thrills audiences with dazzling laser-interpretations of music. Meanwhile, Big-Tex, with his 75-gallon hat, and the 212-foot Texas Star Ferris Wheel tower over the neon-sparking midway, which offers 60 exciting rides. More than 175 food concessions grace the grounds serving everything from the ever-popular Fletcher's corny dogs and Belgian waffles to salt-water taffy and fried ribs.

At the Music Hall, the national touring company production of Andrew Lloyd Webber's smash musical "Cats" will be presented in 24 performances from Oct. 2-21.

Historic Fair Park, home of the State Fair of Texas, is located just minutes from downtown, off I-30 in East Dallas. Fair admission is $7 for adults and $4 for kids and seniors. Exhibit buildings will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.
