Appeals court hopefuls visit

David Berchelmann and Louis Sturns were in Hereford Wednesday seeking voter support in their races for the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

It was a unique appearance for the two Republicans, and a unique event for Hereford. It may be the first time in history that two justices on the Court of Criminal Appeals ever visited Hereford at the same time. Both were appointed to the court and are now seeking election.

Sturns said one reason the two are making campaign visits across the state is that "there has to be more emphasis on the importance of the judicial branch of government in schools and in the media to rectify the problem of lack of name recognition of judicial candidates."

"Even people who are very intelligent and well-educated don't know where we fit into things," Sturns said.

The Court of Criminal Appeals, the state's highest criminal tribunal, handles on direct appeal all death penalty cases, and numerous other criminal cases taken first to intermediate appeals courts.

Berchelmann, of San Antonio, is the incumbent for Place 4 on the court and is challenged by Democrat Charles Baird of Houston. Sturns, incumbent from Fort Worth, is seeking the Place 5 seat where Democrat Morris Overstreet will challenge in November.

Berchelmann and Sturns are stressing the philosophical importance of their races and three other court contests in November.

"Right now, I think the court has a conservative majority, and I think David (Berchelmann) and myself and three other judges on the court tend to be those persons who are more conservative in our approach to interpretation of the law," said Sturns. "I'm concerned that if were to lose the election, it would tilt the court to a more liberal side," added Sturns, "and I don't think that's personally good for Texas."

As a criminal district judge in Fort Worth for about 3 1/2 years, Sturns said he had a reputation as a fair judge who was very interested in following the letter and spirit of the law. Sturns became the first black Texan to serve in a statewide elective office with his appointment by Gov. Bill Clements in March. Justice Berchelmann became the court's first Republican when he was appointed by Clements in December 1988.

Berchelmann expressed a judicial philosophy similar to Sturns'. "I'm not in favor of legislating from the bench. I believe in the separation of powers and the Legislature passes the laws and the court is there to interpret them." Berchelmann said he had about 7 1/2 years of trial court experience and almost seven years as a prosecutor.

Sturns said he believes more minority judges are needed but that minority lawyers must become more astute in choosing areas in which their party has a good chance to win. Also, he said he believes judges should be accountable to all they serve and that single-member districting would not be as beneficial to minorities as many may think.

Judicial candidates visit here

Louis Sturns, left, and David Berchelmann, candidates for seats on the state Court of Criminal Appeals, visited Hereford on Wednesday during their statewide campaign. The two Republicans are seeking the seats on the highest court of appeal in the state for all criminal cases.

We appreciate the numerous compliments received on our Deaf Smith County Centennial Issue of The Brand, published last Sunday. We printed about 600 extra copies of the edition, and now we're not sure that was enough. Our thanks to the County Historical Commission, Deaf Smith County Museum, and others who contributed in any form to the publication. A special thanks goes, of course, to the advertisers who made the edition possible.

Speaking of the county's Centennial Celebration, we hope you'll make plans to attend the parade at 10 Saturday morning, then take in the ceremonies at the courthouse and demonstrations and exhibits at Deaf Smith County Museum. There'll be food booths around the south side of the courthouse if you want to make a day of it!

Volcker denies interest rates caused collapse

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former Federal Reserve Chairman Paul Volcker denies that the high interest rates he encouraged in the early 1980s spawned the problems of the savings and loan industry later in the decade.

Volcker, appearing Wednesday before the House Banking Committee, said the industry's ill-advised excursion into risky investments, not the highest interest rates since the Civil War, proved its downfall.

"The industry could have survived that episode (of high interest rates) and the great bulk of it did," he said.

As head of the nation's central bank from 1979 to 1987, Volcker quelled the double-digit inflation of the 1970s by drastically slowing the economy with interest rates topping 20 percent.

"It was very painful, but I don't think it was the fundamental cause of what was happening in the late 1980s," he said at the second of a series of hearings exploring the roots of the S&L mess.

Banking Committee Chairman Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Texas, who once sought to impeach Volcker for his monetary policy, agreed that interest rates weren't the fundamental cause, but he said they were a contributor.

Volcker primarily blamed the losses on the expansion of S&Ls into investments outside their traditional role of mortgage lending and serving family financial needs, and on the inability of inexperienced S&L examiners to monitor the new business.

Bush officials seek new Mideast defense group

WASHINGTON (AP) - The sale of $7.3 billion in new weaponry to Saudi Arabia is just one step in creating a Persian Gulf "coalition defense" against the long-term threat posed by Iraq, say two senior Bush administration officials.

That sale will be followed by more sales next year to the Saudis, perhaps to their neighbors Bahrain and the United Arab Emirates, and new military help for Israel, Undersecretary of Defense Paul Wolfowitz and Undersecretary of State Reginald Bartholomew told Congress on Wednesday.

In doing so, the United States hopes "to build a Saudi and a gulf force capability that will, in effect, drive up significantly the costs to anybody looking to take a whack at them," Bartholomew said.

"We do not want to leave the road to Bahrain open, as it was on the second of August," the day Iraq invaded Kuwait, he told a hearing of two House Foreign Affairs subcommittees.

President Bush has asked Congress for permission to sell $7.3 billion worth of weapons, including tanks, attack helicopters and anti-missile defenses, to Saudi Arabia.

The two officials said the weapons would help the Saudis present a more credible deterrent to aggression from Iraq or elsewhere, and would permit them if attacked to resist long enough to allow reinforcements from friendly countries to arrive.

They noted that past U.S. military sales to the Saudis, some $50 billion

"The whole atmosphere during those years was not conducive to strict supervision and strict regulation ... it was not in the air, so to speak," he said.

Volcker was particularly critical of S&Ls' direct investment in commercial real estate projects as part-owners rather than as lenders.

"That is the single area that's bankrupted more savings and loans than any other area," he said.

"I thought that was a bad idea to start with ... I think that events have clearly demonstrated that it was even more catastrophic than I thought," Volcker said.

"It is just an area that inherently is rife with conflicts of interest and temptations for self-dealing."

over the past four decades, helped build many of the facilities that now are supporting Operation Desert Shield, the American-led international troop deployment in that country.

"Some have said that once Desert Shield is over Iraq will no longer be a threat because the U.S. and allied forces will have destroyed the Iraqi military," Wolfowitz said. "We cannot count on that ... No outcome is likely to permanently eliminate Iraq as a regional power."

U.S. strategy is based on a principle of "coalition defense," Wolfowitz said. He said that includes strengthening the ability of gulf nations to defend themselves, encouraging defense cooperation among countries in the region.

Cablevision adding two new channels, raising basic rate 11% to $16.75

New channels:

--HSE, Ch. 28, on Oct. 15

--TNT, Ch. 29, on Nov. 1

HSE will carry sports up to 24 hours a day. TNT has sports, movies and original programs

(Current 28-31 will move up 2 channels)

New price: $16.75 plus tax

Cablevision adds channels, ups rate

Hereford Cablevision is adding two new channels, bringing its programming to 32 channels, and is adding $1.75 to its basic rate.

Cablevision manager Lloyd Ames said the system will add Home Sports Entertainment (HSE), a Dallas-based sports network, to the system on Oct. 15, and Turner Network Television (TNT), from Atlanta, on Nov. 1. The channels will be part of the "basic" service.

To help pay for the new services and to pay for fee increases from other networks, the system will tack an extra $1.75 onto the basic rate. That will make the basic rate $16.75 plus tax.

The two new services charge a certain amount per subscriber, as do many of the other channels. The system has not increased fees in several years, but has had to shell out more for channels like ESPN, which has increased its fee since beginning to carry National Football League and Major League Baseball games.

HSE carries Southwest Conference, Big 8, Pac-10, Southeast

Conference and Independent college football, basketball and baseball games, Dallas Mavericks basketball, National Hockey League, and Texas Rangers and Houston Astros baseball. The service is now programming sports 18 hours a day and will go to 24 hours a day on Jan. 1.

TNT is part of the Ted Turner cable television family which includes TBS, Cable News Network (CNN) and CNN Headline News. TNT carries many classic movies, programs up to two new made-for-TV movies a month, the National Basketball Association and the first half of the season of NFL Sunday night games.

Ames said the last four channels on the system, C-Span, C-Span II, The Inspirational Network and Univision, will move up two channels each. HSE will be on Channel 28, and TNT will be on 29.

When the two channels are added, 28 of the 32 channels will be available to all subscribers. There are four "premium" channels: Disney, Showtime, Home Box Office and Cinemax.

Williams wants positive pledge

AUSTIN (AP) - With less than five weeks before the Nov. 6 general election, there has yet to be a statewide televised debate between Texas' candidates for governor.

On Wednesday, Democrat Ann Richards challenged Republican Clayton Williams to a debate, but Williams refused unless Richards signed a pledge to wage a positive campaign.

Richards said she didn't trust Williams to abide by such a pledge, calling it an excuse for her GOP opponent to avoid a face-to-face showdown with her.

"You cannot be John Wayne and run away from your opposition," Richards said. "You have got to stand up and take responsibility for the fact that you're trying to be the chief executive officer of this state."

Williams, a Midland businessman, has said in the past that John Wayne is his hero.

After a campaign appearance in Dallas, Williams said he and Richards will probably debate "if she'll be reasonable."

The debate over debates erupted at a news conference by the League of Women Voters, which announced it was canceling its Oct. 30 televised debate because both candidates refused to make a commitment to participate.

The nonpartisan organization denounced the gubernatorial race as shallow, negative and showing "contempt for a citizen's right to a political campaign waged with respect for the voters."

Richards, the state treasurer, appeared at the news conference and said she wants to face Williams at the League of Women Voters' statewide debate.

The Williams campaign called Richards' announcement a "nice stunt" but refused to accept any debate until she promised an issues-oriented race with positive television commercials.

Richards, who contends she's running an issues-oriented campaign, said she didn't want to sign a pledge because the Williams campaign "will be issuing statements on paper saying they are going to do one thing and then doing something that is entirely opposite."

In Dallas, Williams said debate negotiations were still going on. "It is very serious, and we will probably debate," he said. "But we want to defend ourselves when we do that."

Diane Sheridan, chairwoman of the League of Women Voters Education Fund, said she hoped Richards' acceptance of the Oct. 30 debate "will spur on Clayton Williams to make a commitment to a league-sponsored debate."

Ms. Sheridan said the group will have to cancel the debate if Williams doesn't accept their invitation by Friday afternoon.

In other political developments: - Williams predicted his vow to veto any tax bill will produce several special legislative sessions next year. Budget experts have said it will cost about $3 billion more to maintain the current level of state services.

- Richards was endorsed by the two largest police associations in the state.

News Digest

World, National

WASHINGTON - As Carl Gillis sees it, President Bush has a problem with hard-line anti-tax people in rural Georgia. "He done told us one time he wasn't going to tax. I think in the backside of their minds there may be a little backlash." That's a big political concern as lawmakers weigh the impact of the budget proposals in Washington on the folks back home.

WASHINGTON - A proposal to give $11.1 billion in new tax breaks to small corporations is being criticized as opening the door for wealthy investors to duck their share of federal taxes.

MANILA, Philippines - Mutinous soldiers seize a major southern city and are reported marching on the region's nearby military headquarters in what appears to be a new attempt to overthrow the government of President Corazon Aquino.

NEW YORK - The United States and the Soviet Union are in substantial agreement to reduce non-nuclear weapons in Europe and now will try to conclude a second pact slashing their nuclear arsenals.

WASHINGTON - The sale of $7.3 billion in new weaponry to Saudi Arabia is just one step in the establishment of a new "coalition defense" in the Persian Gulf to counter the long-term threat posed by Iraq, say two senior Bush administration officials.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. - A black record store owner says the all-white jury that convicted him of obscenity for selling a 2 Live Crew album "doesn't represent my community" and wasn't qualified to judge the recording. It was the first album deemed obscene in U.S. history, a music industry official said.

Texas

HOUSTON - Six natural gas pipeline companies have combined to build and expand a southern Alabama natural gas pipeline, making it one of the largest U.S. pipeline projects in recent years.

TEXAS CITY - The Texas Water Commission has granted a copper smelter a permit that allows the facility to release about 22 millions gallons of sewage into Galveston Bay daily.

FORT WORTH - For Mike and Teri Alexander, the wait is over - baby Faith has finally come home. The couple's 2-month-old daughter is the first child from Texas to successfully undergo experimental womb surgery.

AUSTIN - Santa and his reindeer won't be in Austin this year. The featured exhibits along with Christmas angels were cut from the annual Christmas light parade by the city council to help pay for a tree specialist.

HOUSTON - A 3-year-old girl has collaborated with her grandfather and another Houston businessman on a song that turns the tables on Republican gubernatorial candidate Clayton Williams.

TAYLOR - John Hughes, 28, resident free spirit, dedicated bachelor and budding entrepreneur, is peddling red, white and blue contraceptives in a black cardboard replica of the Air Force's B-2 bomber stamped with bold white letters: "Stealth Condoms." But Northrop Corp., which manufactures the B-2, is not amused.

CORPUS CHRISTI - A diversifying economy has helped the Corpus Christi metropolitan area recover three-fourths of the jobs it lost during the oil-patch collapse and other economic woes of the 1980s, officials say.

AUSTIN - Defending the Sematech semiconductor research group in the face of defense budgets cuts will be the most important task facing new Sematech chief William J. Spencer, industry analysts say.

WASHINGTON - Most Texans in the House were uncertain what they would do today in the budget vote that forces them to choose between higher taxes or economy-crashing automatic spending cuts.

WASHINGTON - Drug-fighting task forces that serve more than 200 Texas counties have been saved in the crime bill House members may vote on today.

WASHINGTON - Former Federal Reserve Chairman Paul Volcker says the savings and loan industry would have weathered unprecedentedly high interest rates in the early 1980s if not for the deregulation and poor supervision that followed in the middle of the decade.

AUSTIN - With less than five weeks before the Nov. 6 general election, there has yet to be a statewide televised debate between Texas' candidates for governor.

LAFAYETTE, La. - Alaska Gov. Steve Cowper says other states should learn from Alaska's mistakes when it comes to cleaning up oil spills.

Militant mutineers try to seize Manila

MANILA, Philippines (AP) - Hundreds of soldiers mutinied on the nation's second-largest island today and declared independence from President Corazon Aquino's government in what appeared the first step of a new coup attempt.

The Mindanao island mutineers seized the city of Butuan before dawn and later took over the military headquarters at Cagayan de Oro, a major port of about 200,000 people about 500 miles south of Manila.

They did not appear to encounter any serious resistance. A battalion of marines was sent to Manila from elsewhere on the main island, Luzon, to reinforce armed forces headquarters in case of attack.

The rebels were led by Col. Alexander Noble, a former chief of staff of Mrs. Aquino's guard force who has been at large since taking part in a bloody December coup attempt.

Witnesses said mutineers, wearing red, white and blue armbands, were marching around the streets of Cagayan de Oro in a virtual "victory parade," attracting large crowds of curiosity-seekers and distributing leaflets.

Witnesses estimated that between 300 and 600 rebels were with Noble.

Brig. Gen. Emiliano Templo, a military spokesman in Manila, said loyal forces held the Cagayan de Oro airport but flights to the city were suspended.

He said rebels were holding the military headquarters in the city but that loyal troops were also on the garrison facing the insurgents. Templo said the military was under orders to regain full control of the camp.

The armed forces went on nationwide alert and Mrs. Aquino appealed to the Filipino people to support her government.

"I'm calling once again on the people to rally against these troublemakers," Mrs. Aquino said on the radio. "The constitution will be upheld with force when challenged with force."

In Manila, a renegade leader of the December coup attempt, Commodore Domingo Calajate, released a statement saying the mutiny had "liberated" Mindanao from "the clutches of the imperialist-dominated and elitist" Aquino administration.

Families carry proud traditions

THE CLARK FAMILY

Earnest Brit Clark was born April 30, 1897 in Arlington, TX. He was the son of Harrison Lee Clark and Laura Story Clark who had four other sons and three daughters.

Brit arrived in Hereford in March of 1917 and went to work for W.P. McMinn at Summerfield. He returned to Arlington to enter World War I in July, 1918.

Brit returned to Claude in the summer of 1919 and from there to Summerfield. It was there that he married Lela Lorena Roberson on July 24, 1924. She was the daughter of the late J.E. and Minnie (McMinn) Roberson.

Brit farmed at Black and south of Summerfield and in 1928 they moved to their home two miles west of Summerfield where they were living when Lela died in May, 1950, in Hereford. Brit remained on the farm until the mid '50s when he moved to Hereford. He died Aug. 23, 1983.

The Clarks had two children—L.J. of Hereford and Harrold of Colorado Springs, Col.—and four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

CONKWRIGHT FAMILY

Colby and Dorothy (Flanery) Conkwright came to Deaf Smith County in 1926 and 1928, respectively, and have been active in many of the organizations and events that have developed the county into what it is today.

Colby, from Winchester, KY., became active in ranching and farming, while Dorothy, of Collin County, TX., taught school. The couple married June 14, 1934, and began assembling the C Bar ranch located on the Palo Duro Draw, north of Hereford. The ranch became noted internationally for its purebred Herefords.

Both entered into civic and community affairs, Dorothy active in Bayview Study Club and now holding honorary membership, the First Methodist Church and Methodist Women, AAUW, Deaf Smith County Historical Society, and Friends of the Library.

Colby was involved in many livestock organizations from local to national levels. He served as president of Consumer's Fuel Association, held directorships in Hereford State Bank, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, and Hereford Rotary Club.

Colby enjoyed working with youth, actively assisting in both 4-H and Boy Scout programs. He was proud of being a co-founder of the Hereford Livestock Show and in the growth that it achieved. He was a member of First Methodist Church and served it in several capacities.

Dorothy resides in the family home in Hereford. Colby passed away in 1985.

The Conkwright's son, Jim, graduated from Hereford High School and Texas Tech, marrying Janice Berry of Rosston, Texas. Involved in operation of the family ranch until its sale in 1983, both Janice and Jim maintain active roles in many civic endeavors in the community and elsewhere.

Currently, Jim is director of development of King's Manor Methodist Home in Hereford. Jim was also involved in many livestock organizations, is a former president of the chamber and held directorships in a number of civic organizations.

The couple has two daughters: Robin, a legal assistant in a Houston law firm; and Leslie, a junior student at the University of Texas.

THE ROBERSION FAMILY

The Jessie Pitts Roberson family moved to this country in October, 1901. He and his wife, Molly, and eight children arrived at Summerfield by train from Cleburne, bringing their belongings in a box car. They shared the N.A. Laughlin family dugout until their own dugout was completed.

Roberson's father, Thomas Wiley, known as "Uncle Tom," followed in November, along with brothers B.C.,

H.J. (Jack) Roberson was born Feb. 2, 1887 and married Minnie Owen in 1916 (both deceased). They had three children—Bill of Amarillo, Imogene Pogue of Spearman and Molly Jo Schofield (deceased). Clyde, born Feb. 19, 1889, married to Ethel May Laughlin in 1909 (both deceased). They, with sons A.J., Wayne (deceased) and Clyde Leslie moved to California in 1929. He died in 1960.

Thomas Wiley, born Aug. 19, 1891, married Linnie Mae Donald in 1921. Wiley served as county commissioner in 1934-40. They were J.B., Charles and D.B. and sister Mary Roberson Witherspoon. Uncle Tom was born in Tennessee Dec. 27, 1827 and married Lucinda Stephens Pitts in 1856. They moved to Cleburne around 1870 and she died before the move to Summerfield.

Jessie Pitts Roberson was born in Pontotoc, Miss., April 29, 1860, married Mary Elizabeth King at Winstboro Dev. 4, 1884. They had nine children born in Johnson County and a daughter born in Deaf Smith County. Maude, born in 1885, died at age nine.

charter members of Hereford Riders Club. They had three sons—Wiley Hicks (deceased), Donald of Yuma, Az., and Melvin (deceased).

O.B., born Feb. 12, 1892, married Grace McMahon in 1916 (both deceased). Their son Glenn Wesley and his family continued to live on the farm until his death.

Miles, born Feb. 9, 1895, was a vice president at First National Bank at the time of his death in 1963. J.P. Jr. (Dock), born April 29, 1896, married Madge Brady in 1927. They had three children—Wilma Clark, Weldon and Wanda Sue (deceased). They lived on the Brady homestead until moving into Hereford in 1962. He is deceased.

Mary Lou (deceased) was born, Jan. 29, 1898 and was a teacher in Lubbock schools from 1923 until she retired. Jeff Farmer, born Sept. 8, 1900, married Lassic Caldwell in 1925 (both deceased). They had two children—Edward Ray (deceased) and Clinton Eugene. Jeff was a county commissioner in 1944-48.

Lillian, born March 20, 1902, in Deaf Smith County, married William A. Smith (deceased) in 1926. They had a son, James Neil, who was a Hereford teacher.

In later years, the J.P. Robersons moved near the west edge of Hereford and developed a pure-seed farm.

ANTONIO ENCINEAS

Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Encineas came of Hereford in May 1942 from Tremintina, N.M., near Las Vegas. The encineas family originally came to work the potato and onion harvests, working for various farmers. The family lived in little camps east of town with the Tomas Gonzales family.

The family bought property on North 25 Mile Ave. in 1951 and raised their family here.

New men's store opens here

Brookhart's on Main, a new men's clothing store, held its formal opening here Wednesday when the Hereford Hustlers held a ribbon-cutting ceremony. A large turnout of Hustlers and guests watched as Dodie and Earl Brookhart cut the ribbon for the store at 309 N. Main. In addition to special presentations from the chamber group, the Rev. Charles Threewit pronounced a special blessing on the event.

Congress blamed for U.S. budget woes

WASHINGTON (AP) - As Carl Gillis sees it, President Bush has a problem with hard-line anti-tax people in rural Georgia. "He done told us one time he wasn't going to tax. I think in the backside of their minds there may be a little backlash."

Not that Gillis is against the president. He's a Republican National committeeman from Georgia.

But the people he's talking to, "the vocal ones," are strongly opposed to the budget compromise Bush is trying to sell to the country and Congress.

In Massachusetts, where a full-blown tax revolt is under way, the compromise also gets a negative reception, according to Republican Party chairman Ray Shamie.

"People don't blame the president," said Shamie. "They blame Congress."

As the House moved toward a vote on the outlines of the package of tax increases and spending cuts, there was a strong sense of bipartisan political nervousness around the country.

Clearly the most nervous are those in tough political races.

"If you're a marginal member (of Congress), this is a disaster," said Democratic pollster Celinda Lake. She described the electorate as a "very, very crabby and unhappy set of voters."

She said Democrats are "in a very hard place and conservative Republicans are making it harder for Democrats."

Conservatives like House GOP Whip Newt Gingrich of Georgia were quick to break with the Republican president on the budget compromises. Equally swift in putting distance between themselves and the package were GOP candidates.

Reps. Tom Tauke of Iowa, Claudine Schneider of Rhode Island, Lynn Martin of Illinois, and Bill Schuette of Michigan were among the first to declare their opposition to the package.

All are Republicans, all are challenging Democratic senators and are behind in the polls but remain within striking distance.

Rep. Pat Saiki, R-Hawaii, was the only GOP Senate challenger in the

But there also was a sense that the country needed to stand behind the president in a difficult time.

"My feeling is we have to do something," said Norm Riffel, the Nebraska GOP chairman. "We have to share in taking care of this deficit."

But candidates were less inclined to be supportive than party officials.

Former congressman Hal Daub, challenging Nebraska Democratic Sen. James Exon, said he was skeptical of the figures included in the compromise.

"They're very false numbers," he said. "They're not real-world numbers. They've painted far too rosy a scenario."

Alabama Republican Bill Cabaniss, challenging Sen. Howell Heflin, said the plan was "almost guaranteed to drive our economy into a recession."

"I think most Republicans recognize we're in a very difficult position," said Richard Schwarm, chairman of the Iowa Republican Party. "Republicans are truly divided over whether this is the best deal possible. How it falls out politically, I have no way of knowing."

In Iowa, and in neighboring South Dakota and Nebraska, similar complaints were heard about the proposed increase in the gasoline tax and the higher premiums for Medicare as well as cuts in farm programs.

Coffee time

Donna Brockman, director of Deaf Smith County Museum, and Jeri Bezner, chairman of the Museum Centennial Celebration, are showing off a coffee grinder used many years ago for preparing coffee beans. Items like these may be seen throughout the museum during the Oct. 6 celebration. All areas of the museum will be in motion beginning at 12:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Pioneer Study Club kicks off 81st year

"Focus on Aging" was the program subject of the Pioneer Study Club, hosted by Billee Johnson and Gladys Miller, for the first meeting of their 81st year.

The guest speakers were Lyndon Lamb, community resources development at Ceder Creek Hospital, and Cindy Simons, Hereford Clinic director.

They spoke on depression and gave 10 warning signs of depression including feeling sad, "down in the dumps," a marked diminished interest or pleasure in activities, diminished ability to concentrate inability to make a decision and others.

Stress management was discussed and way to make stress work for you were pointed out.

Club members learned that laughter is a great tension reliever and demonstrated this by participating in fun, games and tests.

President Rosemary Thomas presided over the business session. Billee Johnson, yearbook chairman, presented the year books. The theme is "A New Decade: Issues Concerning Pioneer Club Women."

Projects emphasis are on renovation of Mother's Park and a Community Wide shower for M.D. Anderson Cancer Hospital.

For the "My Turn" portion of the meeting, Mary Panciera gave her view of chemicals in drinking water.

A thank-you letter was read from the M.D. Anderson Hospital for the huge box of gifts sent this summer.

Plans were made to enter the Deaf Smith County Centennial parade on Saturday.

Federation counselor, Willie Wimberly gave a report that stated every club member belongs to Deaf Smith County Historical Society.

Lunch was served to Lyndon Lamb, Cindy Simons, Mary Jane Burrus, Jeanie Caison, Nell Culpepper, Maria Escamillo, Oleta Hoffman, Billee Johnson, Helen Langely, Gladys Miller, Mary Panciera, Mildred Sheffy, Rosemary Thomas and Willie Wimberly.

Plan water uses wisely

For those Americans who use ground water from wells-and wish they knew more about their water supply-a new toll-free information line has the answers

New from The American Ground Water Trust, the toll-free number-1-800-423-7748-offers fact and figures about three broad areas: ground water quality, ground water protection and water wells. You'll be able to listen to recorded messages and then leave a message at the end if you wish. The Trust will then mail you additional information, if you request it.

This new number could be a big help to the 123 million Americans who get ground water from over 13 million private wells and 100,000 public supply sources. By planning wisely, your water well can supply you with all the water you need for washing machines, swimming pool, bathrooms, garden irrigation and year-round heating and cooling-now and in the future.

Texas woman winner of 1990 beef cook-off

Kathy Rypkema of Bedford, Tex., has demonstrated her mastery of grilling beef by winning the Outdoor Barbecue category of the 1990 National Beef Cook-Off in Seattle, Wash., Sept. 20-22. She walked away with $5,000 and the new Pro KINGSFORD charcoal grill, as well as a year's supply of KINGSFORD charcoal.

Even though she's from the Southwest, Rypkema's recipe had a distinct Polynesian flavor. Her "Indonesian Beef Satay with Peanut Curry Sauce," featured thinly-sliced marinated beef flank steak, grilled on skewers. The Peanut Curry Sauce includes cream of coconut and creamy peanut butter.

Sixty-four contestants competed for more than $34,000 in cash and prizes at the 1990 cook-off, the 17th annual. The top prize, "Best of Beef," was won by Annette Erbeck of Mason, Ohio, with her dish "Pacific Rim Beef Salad."

The 1991 National Beef Cook-Off will be held Sept. 22-24 in Colorado

Springs, Colo. For more information, write to: National Beef Cook-Off, 444 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60611.

The National Beef Cook-Off is sponsored by the American National CattleWomen, Inc., in cooperation with the Beef Industry Council and the Beef Board. National contributors are TAPPAN and KINGSFORD.

Accent on Health

When representatives of 28 countries from around the globe met Sept. 29-30, at the United Nations in New York, they focused their attention on one of the civilization's oldest concerns--how best to protect and improve the health of children.

The world Summit for Children concentrated on solutions to the plight of nearly 40,000 of the globe's children younger than 5 who die each day from needless hunger and preventable disease.

In Texas, state and local agencies, service groups and church organizations helped publicize the summit by staging events such as candle light vigils in most metropolitan areas. The media aired public service announcements on behalf of children's health and sponsored other activities.

At the Texas Department of Health (TDH), Dr. Robert MacLean, Deputy Commissioner, said, "The conditions threatening the lives of so many children worldwide sometimes escape notice in the U.S. Our health care system, regardless of its known faults, succeeds in preventing the mass starvation and disease suffered in some of the world's poorer countries."

Dr. MacLean added, however, that health conditions for U.S. children still require improvement. Although, for instance, the U.S. has made special efforts to reduce the nation's infant mortality rate of 10 deaths per 1,000 live births in 1988 (the latest year with complete data), it still ranks 19th among developed nations with low infant mortality rates. In Texas, the infant mortality rate was slightly better than the national average in 1989, with 9.1 deaths per 1,000 live births.

Marge Tripp, TDH volunteer coordinator, said, "the kind of work TDH does on behalf of children of course is far more advanced than is hoped for worldwide in the foreseeable future."

"UNICEF is dedicated to the very survival of children worldwide, particularly in developing countries," Tripp said. TDH's maternal and child health, water hygiene, child nutrition and immunization programs already ensure against large-scale life-threatening conditions for Texas children.

Tripp, who not only works, at TDH, but also has been on the National Advisory Board for UNICEF since 1986, said, "My familiarity with children's programs is a constant reminder that the most vulnerable human beings--the very young--are utterly dependent upon anyone able to help them live until tomorrow."

"I don't think any of us should take for granted the availability of clean drinking water, nutritious food and basic health care when we are sick. Too many children have died for lack of such luxuries," she added.

For more information, contact Marge Tripp, Volunteer Coordinator, or Margaret Wilson, Public Information Coordinator, Public Health Promotion Division, at 512/458-7405.

Day trips can add to fall experience

The colors of autumn are upon us and now is the perfect time to enjoy the great outdoors. The trip doesn't have to be overnight or even to an exotic place. Just remember our weather. The mornings are briskly cool while the afternoons warm up nicely. If the rest of the country knew about our great weather, we would be overrun with new citizens.

I recommend any of the following day trips:
CAPROCK CANYONS near Quitaque has a beautiful little lake and lots of eager bass, catfish and bluegill to tempt the members of your family. Bird watching with binoculars is a treat for old and young alike.

COPPER BREAKS just south of Quanah is a state park with excellent camping and hookups. Take a fishing pole and enjoy some bank fishing or use a small boat on this small lake.

LAKE MEREDITH is the surprise of 1990. After years of below average fishing, conditions have improved and fishing is better than ever.

In September several bass clubs made the five-hour drive to Possum Kingdom Lake near Graham, and their two-day tournaments were won with eight pounds total. The Fun Tournaments at Lake Meredith only last three hours, and it takes six pounds to win. With gas prices going through the ceiling, why drive long distances when good fishing is in our backyard? I predict that the successful bass clubs will be adding Meredith to their 1991 schedules.

Brent Bresnik of Fritch, a member of the Morse Bass Club, won the final Thursday evening Fun Tournament at Meredith with 5.78 pounds and earned $515. David Condit of Amarillo, a Golden Spread Bass Club member, caught 4.42 pounds and pocketed $258. Pampa angler Gary Carter weighed in a beautiful smallmouth at 3.83 pounds and earned third-place prize money of $206. Fourth-place money of $129 was earned by Kelly Jones of Fritch. The good folks at Kan-Tex Seeds gave away a new Remington automatic shotgun, and lucky Carlos Cazares of Fritch is now ready for hunting season.

Who will win the Saturday fishing tournament at White River Lake? Who will win the Sunday Big Bass Tournament at Lake Baylor? It could be you. For information, give me a call at 353-3654.

For more fishing and hunting information listen to my radio show on KGNC (710 AM) at 6 p.m. every Wednesday. Guests have included Jimmy Houston, Roland Martin, Lonnie Stanley and local experts like Butch Colantano and Mickey Trousdale. See you on the radio.

Sox take AL East

BOSTON (AP) - The Boston Red Sox figure they're on a roll in winning the AL East championship for the third time in five years.

"If you talk about momentum, we've got a big snowball here that could roll down Mount Everest and tackle New York City," said Wade Boggs.

In the 162nd game on the final day of the 1990 regular season, the Red Sox won the division title Wednesday night with a 3-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

With an 88-74 record, Boston finished two games ahead of Toronto. However, it took a spectacular catch by right fielder Tom Brunansky for the final out to nail down the AL East flag.

That avoided a flight to Toronto for a scheduled division playoff today in the event of a regular season tie. A few minutes later, Baltimore wrapped up a 3-2 victory over Toronto.

Boston's victory wasn't the only major achievement in the AL. Detroit's Cecil Fielder became the 11th player in major league history to hit 50 home runs in a season and added his 51st for good measure as the Tigers pounded New York 10-3.

Elsewhere, it was California 11, Oakland 6; Cleveland 5, Kansas City 2; Milwaukee 6, Texas 3; and Minnesota 7, Seattle 4.

Mike Boddicker (17-8) allowed five hits and one run in seven innings and Jeff Reardon earned his 21st save as Boston won for the sixth time in its last eight starts.

Orioles 3, Blue Jays 2
 Five minutes after the Blue Jays learned they had been eliminated, they lost on Mickey Tettleton's home run with two out in the ninth inning.

Tettleton hit his 15th home run of the season off Toronto relief ace Tom Henke (2-4).

Tigers 10, Yankees 3
 Fielder walked and lined out before smashing a 2-1 pitch from rookie Steve Adkins into Yankee Stadium's upper left-field seats in the fourth inning. He hit a three-run shot off Alan Mills, another rookie, in the eighth and wound up with a major league-leading 132 RBIs.

"I did it! I did it!" Fielder shouted as he leaped in the air and pumped his fists after hitting No. 50.

Angels 11, Athletics 6
 Oakland's Willie McGee won his second National League batting title while teammate Rickey Henderson failed to win the AL crown.

John Orton and Max Venable drove in two runs apiece in California's seven-run fourth inning.

Henderson had one hit in three at-bats before leaving the game after four innings. Kansas City's George Brett edged him out .329 to .325. McGee didn't play but won his second batting title because his .335 NL average was frozen when St. Louis traded him on Aug. 28.

Indians 5, Royals 2
 George Brett singled in his only official at-bat and won his third career batting title, but it wasn't enough to give Kansas City a victory.

Brett was inserted as a pinch-hitter in the fifth inning and hit a sacrifice fly. He singled in his next at-bat. Brett also won batting titles in 1976 with a .333 average and in 1980 with .390.

Brewers 6, Rangers 3
 Mike Felder's tie-breaking triple keyed a three-run seventh inning that secured Teddy Higuera's sixth straight winning season.

Higuera (11-10) yielded seven hits and struck out eight in seven innings.

Twins 7, Mariners 4
 Loser Randy Johnson (14-11) hit Minnesota's Junior Ortiz with a pitch to score the go-ahead run in the fifth.

Winner Larry Casian (2-1) pitched well after the first inning, when he gave up Jay Buhner's two-run homer.

Herd ready to make changes

By SAM WALLER
 Sports Editor

The Hereford Whitefaces are going back to doing what they know best when they visit the Levelland Lobos at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

"We're going to play some smash-mouth football," Herd coach Don Cumpton said.

Cumpton has spent the week rearranging the Herd's offensive look. Changes have included shifting tight end Ben Weatherly to left tackle and installing defensive end Chad Burns as the blocking back in a three-back set.

"We've changed a few little things up," Cumpton said, "changed some personnel things. Hopefully, that will give us a spark and help us."

Cumpton said the idea behind the moves is to get the ball into tailback Matt Bromlow's hands more often.

"He's averaged 5.4 yards a carry," Cumpton said, "but we've only been giving him the ball 22 times a game. We need for him to carry about 35 times a game like he did last year."

With the move of Weatherly, who was third on the team with five catches, to the inside, Cumpton said the Herd will go with more different sets on offense.

"We're going to mix it up," he said. "We're going to try to spread the field a little more, split some people out and go with three wide receivers a little more. We're going to try to force the defense cover the whole field."

Cumpton said Weatherly will now wear jersey number 71 while Burns will don number 80, Weatherly's old shirt.

Cumpton said there will also be some changes in the Herd's defensive lineup.

"We'll play Bromlow some at safety. Chris Steward will play rover and move to safety when we rest Matt. Chris has also been working at wide receiver and we feel that when we do throw, we can go to him deep and have some big things happen."

The game will be the first road contest for the Herd (1-3) after three weeks at home. Cumpton said the team remembers well the last visit to

All piled up

Five Hereford Whiteface defenders make sure Wolfforth Frenship fullback Brandon Bennett (44) goes down during last week's 14-7 loss to the Tigers at Whiteface Stadium. Clockwise from left are rover Leo Brown, tackle Monroe Timberlake, end Mark Kreighshouser and linebackers Mark Daniel and Oscar Garcia. The Herd take to the road for the first time in a month Friday for a 7:30 p.m. game at Levelland.

Levelland in 1988.

"We've already gone over what to do when a helicopter flies by and they run the swinging gate," he said of the game that sent the Lobos to the district title. "And we remember them yelling 'Take your cow and go home,' after the game."

But 1990 has been a year of inconsistency for the Lobos (2-2). Both losses have been shutouts where turnovers kept Levelland out of the endzone.

"Against Pampa they got beat 20-0 and had six turnovers," Cumpton said. "They could have won that game as easy as not. They had like 20 first downs and Pampa had five, but they gave up the big play and had the turnovers.

"And last week (a 10-0 loss to Andrews), their game was very similar to ours. They had the ball on the 30-yard line behind 3-0 and had a chance to go ahead, then they lost it on a turnover. They've had some problems with their execution, and we can certainly relate to that."

Cumpton added that the similarities between the two squads are many.

"They had quite a few graduate just like we did," he said. "But they've got some key people back."

"We're about as big as they are and probably have as much speed. I think it's two very evenly matched teams. And I think the game's going to come down, for us, our execution - not giving anything away - and being able to stop them. They're pretty much a ball control type team."

The Lobos have totaled 1,125 yards through four games out of the formation with 832 coming on the ground. Fullback Steve Ochoa and

Oester finds meaning in final days

By BILL BARNARD
 AP Sports Writer

The "meaningless" final day of the regular season was anything but meaningless for Ron Oester.

Oester, left out of manager Lou Piniella's second base platoon of Mariano Duncan and Bill Doran, got a chance in the Cincinnati Reds' final regular-season game before the playoffs when Barry Larkin was hit by a pitch.

Although the Houston Astros won the game 3-2 on Ken Caminiti's RBI triple in the ninth inning, Oester went 2-for-2 with a pair of doubles, helping the Reds rally for a 2-2 tie in the eighth.

Oester has only 22 at-bats since Aug. 7, but he's 6-for-11 in the last five games.

Whitefaces favored by six points over Levelland

The Hereford Whitefaces enter Friday's game against the Levelland Lobos as a six-point favorite according to the Harris Rating System.

The Herd (1-3) is coming off a disappointing 14-7 loss to Wolfforth Frenship. The loss knocked the Herd down eight places to No. 56 in Class 4A and shaved three points off the power rating to 174.

The Lobos (2-2) have been plagued by many of the same woes the Herd has had. Levelland suffered its second loss, both shutouts, last week to Andrews 10-0. The Lobos come into the contest at No. 116 with a rating of 162.

DISTRICT 1-4A GAMES

The league continues to have its troubles as the season hits the mid-way mark.

Through the first four weeks 1-4A teams are a composite 4-20. Pampa owns half of those wins at 2-2 after handing Lubbock Dunbar its first loss of the season Saturday 34-22.

Pampa used the win to move up four places to No. 49 while the power rating held steady at 176. The Harvesters are the league's highest ranked team and will take this week off before opening the district season against Hereford on Oct. 12.

Big games, late heroics earn honors

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

It was a week of cliff-hangers and land-slides in Texas schoolboy football.

Schulenburg quarterback Bo Adams accounted for six touchdowns, running for four and passing for two, leading the state-ranked Shorthorns to an 86-8 victory over Flatonia. Adams' performance earned him a spot on The Associated Press Schoolboy Honor Roll.

Adams rushed eight times for 132 yards and touchdowns of 17, 6, 16 and 80 yards. He completed five of 12 passes for 91 yards and touchdowns of 19 and 10 yards.

Bloomington's Rodney Jackson rushed 310 yards on 19 carries and scored on runs of 30, 45, 12, 60 and 65 yards, helping Bloomington to a 42-7 victory over Skidmore-Tynan.

Garden City's Richard Morales helped deliver a 76-7 victory over Wink. He caught six passes for 154 yards and returned an interception 44 yards.

Texarkana Texas High has won three games in the last three years, and Lamarlo Smith helped make one of them possible with two kickoff returns for touchdowns, six tackles and an interception that killed a scoring threat in a 51-20 victory over Dallas Jefferson.

Other performers used the closing seconds to win games for their teams. Plainview's Sam Walker returned an interception 95 yards for the game-winning touchdown with 2:36 to play in a 14-7 victory over Lubbock Coronado.

Vega's Adrian Monzingo caught three passes for 94 yards and took the hosting Lubbock Monterey tonight while on Friday Canyon Randall hosts Frenship, Borger hosts Dunbar and Dumas visits Canyon High.

Monterey (2-1-1) at Caprock (0-4): The Longhorns have pretty much epitomized the district's problems, playing opponents close but not winning. Caprock fell 24-16 at Wichita Falls last week to drop three places to No. 118 and lose a rating point to 162.

The Plainsmen are fresh off routing rival Lubbock High 49-6 in the annual Silver Spurs game and come in at No. 92 in Class 5A with a 179 rating.

The Plainsmen are rated a 16-point favorite by Harris.

Frenship (2-2) at Randall (0-4): The Raiders took on their second straight Class 3A opponent last week and were handed a 33-6 loss by Childress. Randall actually gained three spots to No. 145 after losing, but lost five ratings points to 150. The Raiders are the lowest ranked district team.

Frenship used its win over Hereford to enter this week at No. 77 with a 169 rating.

Harris says Randall will get clawed again, this time by 16 points.

Dunbar (3-1) at Borger (1-3): The Bulldogs have gone downhill after winning their opening game, taking a 42-0 drubbing from tailback Brooks Broussard have shared the load as each come in with more than 300 yards. Quarterback Lance Patton has completed 21 of 46 passes (45.7 percent) for 213 yards with five interceptions. Jody Fortner has been the lead receiver with eight catches for 107 yards.

The Lobo defense, which gave up less than 180 yards per game last year, features six returning starters. Levelland has allowed 1,020 yards, more than a quarter of which came on Pampa's three long touchdowns in the season opener.

Cumpton said a win would mean more from the standpoint of having momentum entering district play.

"You need some momentum,

Sweetwater in their last outing. The loss sent Borger plummeting 25 places to No. 113 and took four points of its rating to 163.

The Panthers fell from the unbeaten ranks against Pampa, but with two wins over 1-4A teams may be closer to making the playoffs out of this loop than from their own. Dunbar holds down the No. 83 spot with a 168 rating.

The Panthers are picked by a point on the road.

Dumas (0-4) at Canyon High (3-1): The Demons haven't spread much fear since the season started, losing their fourth straight 20-0 to Monahans. Despite the loss, Dumas stayed in place at No. 138 with a 156 rating.

The Eagles have been just good enough to win, holding off Floydada 9-7 in their last outing. Canyon High is listed as the No. 72 team in 3A with a 164 rating.

The Eagles are picked to fly by the Demons by eight points.

obviously," he said. "I think that would really add to our approach and our preparation for beginning district next week. I think it's a momentum thing more than anything.

"Our players have had a good attitude and are working hard. We've had some good practices this week.

INJURY REPORT: OL Ralph Martinez (knee) and Brady Wilson (knee) are out. Martinez underwent arthroscopic surgery Monday and is expected to miss two to three more weeks. Wilson is suffering from a blood clot and must remain inactive. He is out indefinitely. DB Miguel Casas (knee) is listed as about 90 percent, but Cumpton said he will probably be held out one more week.

A good night's sleep.

Now AmWest has "DreamSaver™", a savings program designed to bring peace of mind to all those who worry about saving money.

Here's how it works: You tell AmWest how much you want to save every month, (as little as $25 if you like) and they'll deduct it automatically from a free checking account (that's right, free checking) and put it into a CD account.

Keep your money there for a full 12 months and it will earn a high-interest CD rate. Take it out early, and you'll get a penalty — three months interest or $50. So "DreamSaver™" not only helps you save money on a regular monthly basis — it helps you keep your hands off it too. In order to foster these goals, EnCoRe is focusing on environmental education and recycling.

Any funds paid to EnCoRe by recycling firms will be used by the organization for projects benefitting our community.

drama down to the final 10 seconds when he caught a 74-yard touchdown pass to beat Sunray 14-13.

Abilene High's Barry Reese cut it even closer, kicking a 40-yard field goal with two seconds left for a 13-10 victory over Abilene Cooper. It was Abilene's first victory of the year.

Reese also kicked a 43-yard field goal and punted six times for a 48.3 average. His longest was 66 yards.

There also were several outstanding quarterbacking shows.

A&M Consolidated's Tommy Preston threw for a career high 320 yards, completed touchdown passes of 24 and 15 yards, and ran 1 yard for another score. His performance helped lead the state's top ranked 4A team to a 31-17 victory over 5A Lufkin, which lost its first game.

Munday's Bobby Dockins had an all-around performance in a 32-7 victory over Electra, the Moguls' fourth straight victory over 2A opponents. Dockins completed four passes and three went for touchdowns. He also ran for touchdowns of 17 and 5 yards.

Blake Armstrong victimized Sulphur Springs by completing 15 of 27 passes for 347 yards and three touchdowns, two to Marcus Whitehead for 4 and 77 yards. That led unbeaten Athens to a 28-7 victory.

Arlington High's Ken Ferguson threw for a city record five touchdowns in a 51-0 victory over Burleson. He completed 17 of 25 passes for 254 yards and touchdown passes of 40, 11, 11, 12 and 74 yards.

In other outstanding performances:

-Granger's Michael Fisher rushed 268 yards and scored three touchdowns in a 26-13 victory over Bruceville-Eddy, giving him 940 yards and 13 touchdowns this season.

-El Paso Austin's Terrence Burton had 12 solo tackles, eight assists and forced two fumbles in a 21-12 victory over El Paso Bowie. Two of Burton's tackles were fourth down tackles on goal-line stands.

-Alan Green rushed 222 yards on 29 carries and scored three touchdowns, leading Baytown Lee to a 21-18 victory over Port Arthur Jefferson.

-Newton beat Hamshire-Fannett 42-32 aided by Bryan Foster, who rushed 248 yards on 27 carries and had touchdown runs of 27, 40, 46 and 1 yard.

-Liberty's Byron Brooks gained 247 yards on 20 carries and scored touchdowns on runs of 7, 19, 1, 71 and 1 yards in a 41-13 victory over Cleveland.

-Greg Black of Evadale completed 17 of 23 passes for 292 yards, including touchdown passes of 65, 8 and 19 yards in a 33-0 victory over Deweyville.

-Broderick Senegal completed 10 of 22 passes for 288 yards and two touchdowns, and Kevin Waddy caught two touchdown passes, leading Boling to a 32-22 victory over East Bernard.

-Ray Mickens rushed for 237 yards on 13 carries and scored on touchdown runs of 68, 40 and 33 yards, leading El Paso Addess to a 42-21 victory over El Paso Jefferson.

NL ROUNDUP

Elsewhere in the National League, it was Montreal 9, St. Louis 2; New York 6, Pittsburgh 3; San Francisco 6, Atlanta 3; Chicago 4, Philadelphia 3; and San Diego 7, Los Angeles 3.

The NL playoffs begin tonight in Cincinnati with Bob Walk pitching for Pittsburgh and Jose Rijo for the Reds, whose lack of hitting is a concern to Piniella.

Houston's Randy Hennis didn't allow Cincinnati a hit through six innings in his first major league start, but Oester broke the no-hit bid with a broken-bat double in the sixth.

Mets 6, Pirates 3
Playoff-bound Pittsburgh also lost its final game as Frank Viola became the 18th pitcher in history to win 20 games in each major league and Pat Tabler went 3-for-4 with three RBIs for New York.

Viola (20-12) was 24-7 with the Minnesota Twins in 1988 en route to the American League Cy Young Award. He is the 10th pitcher since 1900 to win 20 in each league.

Viola, who had lost his last three starts, allowed seven hits in seven innings. Alejandro Pena pitched the ninth for his fifth save.

Giants 6, Braves 3
San Francisco won its 49th home game, Matt Williams became the third Giants player in as many seasons to win the NL RBI title and Bill Bathe's first career triple proved decisive.

Williams' 122 RBIs topped Pittsburgh's Bobby Bonilla (120). Neither player had an RBI Wednesday.

Expos 9, Cardinals 2
Spike Owen and Nelson Santovenia hit run-scoring triples in the Expos' seven-run seventh inning that started with them trailing 2-1.

Cubs 4, Phillies 3
Chicago tied Philadelphia for fourth place in the East as Greg Maddux won his 15th game and singled in a run.

Maddux (15-15) allowed three unearned runs and seven hits, struck out nine and did not walk a batter in eight innings.

Padres 7, Dodgers 3
San Diego tied a single-game team record with four homers and Eric Show beat Los Angeles to become the first Padres pitcher to win 100 games.

Three Padres who went into the game with a combined 12 homers hit three in the third inning against Dodgers left-hander Dennis Cook (9-4).

Darrin Jackson hit the first pitch of the inning into the left field bullpen for his third of the season. Jerald Clark hit his fifth of the year one out later and Mike Pagliarulo followed with his seventh.

Now You're Cooking

BY KAY CRISMON
Staff Writer

The stories you are about to read are true. In August of 1954, a former Hereford Brand staff writer and teacher had finished her thesis required for her master of arts degree. Leta Stoner Kaul had interviewed many citizens of the Hereford area about the folklore and has given me permission to print a portion of these for your enjoyment.

One Spring Night ...told by Mrs. Harvey Cash

"People are often asking, 'What did you do in those days?' commented Mrs. Hester Cash as she was reminiscing about events of early days in this area.

"Our lives were full," she began; "we had good saddle horses and we all rode. There were old time singings. We found many things to do that were fun—just good, wholesome fun."

One time a singing was being held in the home of Mrs. Jim Carter. It was a cold, nippy night, and all of us young people had gone to the singing—on horseback, of course—and when the singing was over, like young people nowadays, it was still too early to go home. So we decided to have a chicken fry.

The boys swiped the chickens from their mothers' roosts, and the girls got hold of skillet, bread, shortening, pickles, and anything else that was handy.

We gathered up a big pile of cow chips and built a roaring fire. Then while the boys skinned the chickens, the girls put the skillet on and we soon had the chickens frying over the fire.

Never did chicken taste so good, and never was there jollity and fun than we had that night.

Fried Pies for Dinner ...told by L. Gough

One night while hauling posts from Mulberry Canyon (south of the present town of Claude) to the Dixon Creek pasture we made a dry camp. The leading horses were staked and the rest hobbled; and thinking they would stay with the leaders, we went to bed.

On arising next morning we discovered that thirst had more power over horses and mules than their staked leaders had. Being in charge of the outfit, I sent the two men with me on to the fence line with one wagon and I took the extra horse, struck the trail of the runaways and about sundown I found them on the head of Salt Fork. They had scented water, and horses and hunter all went in together to get a drink. It was the first the horses had had that day and the first I had had since morning. I caught a fresh mount, unhobbled the others, and took my course for the plains dugout which I figured was about 35 miles northwest, the nearest place I knew of for a bed and something to eat.

About two o'clock in the morning I sighted the outline of the hay stacks in the corral at the dugout. The plains dugout was a kind of headquarters for the fence makers and haulers and grub, fuel, and bedding was supposed to be there for the benighted traveler as I was that night. I put the horses in the corral, gave them some hay, and went into the dugout to get me a meal and sleep till day.

I felt in the fireplace to see if any kindling was there and something went "tah-tah," and I said all right you can have as much room as you need and I opened wide the door and quickly maneuvered the gentleman out in the open and then shot him. He was one of those prairie animals beautiful to look at, but with whom close contact is to be avoided as we did not like his perfume.

I went back into the dugout, started a fire, but not a bite of chuck could be found. I crawled into the bunk and slept till day and struck out to find the chuck wagon on the fence line. I got to camp about eleven o'clock that morning, and McVeigh, the cook, said, "Parson, have you had any breakfast?" I said, "Not since yesterday morning."

The cook said, "I haven't anything ready but these fried apple pies. You can begin on them." And, oh, boy, those fried apple pies were the best Christmas dinner I have ever eaten. From that day to this I have recommended fried apple pies for Christmas dinner.

Milk and Butter ...told by Mrs. W.B. Beach

Grass was good on the prairies in the summer and the milk cows did well. They gave more milk oftentimes than the family could use during the summer months. Too, there was cream and butter.

But it was in the winter time that dairy products were scarce. The winters were so cold that many of the families did not try to milk during the cold months. Snow often covered the grass, and so the production of milk would drop sharply. Sometimes the cows did well to find enough to live on.

The pioneer women used their ingenuity to spread out the dairy products over more months of the year.

Mrs. Jim Carter, of Castro County, would "put up" milk for winter. To do this, she would use a barrel, fill it with milk and allow it to clabber. She used this milk in making bread. Each time she dipped some out, she'd stir it up and cover it. The milk would last for quite a while to make bread.

Mrs. W.B. Beach used a 15-gallon keg to put up butter in. The butter would be worked every day for a week; then it was worked out into pound balls and each ball wrapped in a white cloth. The balls of butter were then put into the keg, covered with a strong brine, and then weighted down to be sure the butter was kept under the brine.

Sometimes some of the butter didn't stay fresh enough to eat and in that case it was used to cook with. But most pioneer cooks who stored it like that declare that most of the time it would keep sweet and fresh until it was used up. And, strange as it may seem, it was never too salty from the brine that preserved it.

The New Year's Dinner ...told by Mrs. W.B. Beach

It must have been January 1, 1894. The Ben Beach family wanted to usher in the New Year with their neighbors, so they had a New Year's dinner. Everybody in the county was invited and probably forty or fifty were present.

Mrs. Beach had cooked up all the dinner, and no one else was responsible for anything except an appetite.

It was a beautiful day. Some of the guests played croquet, and the children played on the prairie in front of the house. Everybody stayed all afternoon, and that night most of the children went to a party at the home of the Morrisons. Their parents had remained at the Beach home and were to get them when the party was over.

About ten o'clock that night it began to lighten in the northwest and in a short time snow began to fall. The snow was accompanied by a strong wind which drove it over the prairie and drifted it into every crack and crevice.

The party at the Morrisons turned out to be quite a long one because some of the parents were unable to get their children before late the next day, and only a few had left for their homes early enough to reach them before the storm struck.

Hot Coffee and Marmalade ...told by Mrs. Harvey Cash

One time a terrible prairie fire broke out south of Dimmitt. Mr. and Mrs. B.T. Bell had gone to visit their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Williams, who lived eighteen miles south of them. Of course they drove down in the wagon but had returned home when the fire was sighted. All the men in Dimmitt turned out to fight the fire which kept moving south and east.

Now, Mrs. Bell had a reputation for being a good cook. She always had something to eat. One of her specialties was a marmalade made of pie melons. She would cook the melons down until they were thick, put in sugar and spices, then store the marmalade in big crocks. It tasted like peach marmalade and was delicious.

So while the men were out fighting fire that night Mrs. Bell's first thought was of food for them.

"Those men will be back here tired and hungry and they'll need something to eat. We must get busy and have food ready for them."

Thereupon the women got busy—they dressed chickens, made dumplings, got sour dough biscuits ready to bake, made coffee, and set out some of Mrs. Bell's marmalade.

Sure enough! About three o'clock in the morning here came the tired, dirty, smoke begrimed men ready for something to eat.

It was like an oasis in the desert to find that good, hot food ready to eat.

The Turkey Supper ...told by Mrs. Harvey Cash

The OYO Ranch was located five miles north of Dimmitt. It was owned by W.A. Blackburn of Austin. B.T. Bell knew how to raise sheep, and he made a deal with Mr. Blackburn to manage the OYO after it had been stocked with sheep. So the Bells left their home near Round Rock and moved up on the Plains to the ranch where they lived several years.

Ira Aten owned a place two and a half miles east of Dimmitt, and he traded his prairie land for the old Bell home near Rock Road. The Bells moved there. They liked the Aten place. There were lots of trees on it—big cottonwoods and a grove of catalpas.

The Bells were very hospitable. They held an annual picnic at their home and there was always a ball game. The Bell boys could almost have had a "nine" of their own as there were nine of them.

Mama Bell was always interested in the church life of Dimmitt. Sunday School was held in the old school house, and once in a while a traveling preacher would stop and preach for them. Mrs. Bell wanted so badly to get an organ to use for the Sunday School.

Now this particular year she had raised lots of turkeys, so she decided to have a turkey supper to raise funds for the organ. The date was set, the turkeys cooked and all that went with a turkey supper at that time was prepared. Lumber was brought to make long tables to eat on. Chinese lanterns were ordered to hang in the cottonwoods. Yes, it would be a gala affair.

Everything was ready and everybody was there and it was time to eat. About that time it started raining. And "it was the worst rain you ever heard of," according to her daughter, Mrs. Hester Cash. Of course the supper had to be eaten indoors. It rained so hard that the people stayed all night, and they ate turkey all night. The turkey supper a failure? Indeed not, for it netted forty-two dollars, which was enough to buy the organ.

After everyone had left the next day there was so much mud on the floors that they had to take hoes to dig it out. But no one in the Bell household minded that. It had been well worth it.

Cost of admission is $1, and all proceeds will be used for student scholarships.

HOMECOMING PARADE, 10 a.m.-The Homecoming parade, featuring floats, band and University dignitaries, will begin in front of the First National Bank of Canyon and will travel down 4th Avenue to 26th Street ending at the WTSU Dining Hall.

OUTDOOR BARBECUE, 11 a.m.-12:30 p.m.-A picnic-style meal of barbecued brisket, ranch-style beans, cole slaw, rolls, pickles, onions, iced tea and lemonade will be served for $5 per plate for non-WTSU students and $3 for children under 12 and $3.25 for WTSU students without a meal card. WTSU students with a meal card may eat free. Tables will be set up on the lawn area between Cornette Library and Terrill Hall.

PRE-GAME CEREMONIES, 5:30 p.m.-The winners of the 1977 and 1979 Missouri Valley conference will be recognized and honored during pre-game ceremonies at Kimbrough Memorial Stadium.

WTSU VS. EAST TEXAS STATE FOOTBALL GAME, 6 p.m.-The 1990 Homecoming queen and her court will be announced during halftime of the WTSU-ETSU Interconference football clash at Kimbrough Memorial Stadium.

POST-GAME FAREWELL, 9 p.m.-This come-and-go event in the Jack B. Kelley Student Center will allow one final goodbye until next year.

For more information on any Homecoming 1990 activities, call the Ex-Students Association at 656-2311.

CLASSIFIEDS

Call Janey Allmon at the Hereford Brand, 364-2030, or come by 313 N. Lee to place your classified advertising. We reach thousands everyday!

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 14 cents a word for first insertion ($2.80 minimum), and 10 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy charge, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.14	2.80
2 days per word	.24	4.80
3 days per word	.34	6.80
4 days per word	.44	8.80
5 days per word	.54	10.80

If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO changes, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 More free. The regular charge for that ad would be $3.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing; all capital letters. Rates are $3.95 per column inch; $3.25 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 15-year-old girl from a good family. My parents are well known in this city. I have two terrific brothers.

Ann, please excuse my language, but I just had the hell scared out of me. My boyfriend and I had sex without any protection and I was three weeks late.

I was absolutely sure I was pregnant and didn't know what to do or who to talk to. No way could I go to my parents. We never talked about things like that. I was sure my mother would die of shock and my father would kill me.

I decided to confide in the best friend, "Jackie." She yelled at me at first but then she gave me some advice--go to a clinic and get tested to find out for sure if I was pregnant.

The next day, an hour before we were to head for the clinic, I discovered I wasn't pregnant.

Please tell your teen-age readers that if they don't use contraceptives they are just plain crazy. From now on I'm going to insist on a condom. If my boyfriend doesn't agree he can find himself another girl.

I feel so lucky that I didn't get caught I want to help other girls stay out of trouble. P.S. Don't suggest abstinence. It's almost impossible once you've crossed that line.--Relieved and Lucky in Pa.

condom can leak, break or come off. Go to Planned Parenthood or a gynecologist for a complete briefing on how to keep from getting pregnant. Not knowing can wreck your life.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 72-year-old widow who lives alone in this big, old, dilapidated house. I can't live here any longer because everything is breaking down and would cost a fortune to fix.

I put the house up for sale and my daughter, who is single, is heartbroken. She loves this place and insists that I sell it to her. She asked me to continue to live here, but I can't wait to get out.

The problem: should I sell my daughter this house and let her learn firsthand how expensive it is to live here? Or should I stick to my guns, knowing that she's being blinded by sentiment? I feel it would be cruel to let her get into this mess, but she refused to listen to reason. She believes that I am simply being mean and that I don't want her to have it.

What a dilemma! I'm torn between letting her learn one of the hardest lessons of her life and protecting her against a momentous headache. She would never be able to handle it. I know her, I'm her mother.-- Torn in the Midwest

DEAR R. AND L.: Thanks for a good letter, and now I'd like to add a few words.

Don't expect complete protection from a condom. Some experts say there's a 10 percent failure rate. A

Workshop planned

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, is once again offering the Tax Practitioner Workshops across the state of Texas, in the Fall of 1990.

These workshops are led by CPA's and attorneys who are experienced in the field of income tax reporting and planning. They provide valuable continuing education opportunities for tax professionals seeking CPE and MCLE credit.

This year twenty-six General Tax Workshops, designed for practitioners how work mostly with individual and small businesses, are offered in major Texas cities.

The nearest one will be in Amarillo on Nov. 15 and 16. Fifteen Advanced Tax Workshops are also offered. They are directed at the practitioner with substantial experience with individual returns, who does some business work, and feels the need to develop more skills in business related work. One will be offered in Amarillo on Dec. 3 and 4.

In addition to the General and Advanced Workshops, there will be four each of the Partnership Taxation and Estate Planning Workshops, and three each of the Income Taxation of Trust & Estates and Problem Resolution Workshops.

The Agricultural Tax Problems Workshop, which was introduced in 1989, will be offered this year in two locations--Amarillo and San Antonio.

We are also proud to announce a new S Corporation Workshop that is being introduced this year in response to numerous request for a workshop on this topic. It will be offered in Austin, Dallas and Houston.

For a brochure with a complete listing of the sixty Tax Practitioner Workshops offered in 1990, please contact your County Extension Agent, Beverly Harder, at 364-3573. Or you may contact the Tax Practitioner Workshop Office, Department of Agricultural Economics, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843-2124.

Household items can be recycled

Many household items, garbage and trash can be recycled with the separation process beginning in the home.

What can be recycled? The number one recyclable product is paper, including newspaper, office paper, cardboard, junk-mail, cereal boxes and grocery bags.

Newspaper and other paper products can be tied and bundled. Paper bags can be reused, magazines can be donated to doctor's offices, given to a friend or better yet, check them out at the library instead of subscribing.

Aluminum cans make up five percent of the total solid waste stream. Cans are the most common form of recycled aluminum. Aluminum siding, gutters, down spouts, storm doors and window frames and aluminum lawn furniture frames are all recyclable.

Iron and steel are the most recycled material used today. Scrap metal dealers were the most visible recyclers in business long before comprehensive recycling programs were established.

Glass makes up eight percent of our waste. All container glass is recyclable. More than 12 million tons of glass containers are collected annually and remelted with raw materials to create new glass bottles and jars or fiberglass.

The Glass Packaging Institute reports that 23 percent of any given glass: clear, green or brown. Not all recycling centers accept all three types. Most recycling center will not accept light bulbs, ceramic glass, dishes or plate glass, because they contain different materials than bottles and jars.

Plastics make up seven percent of the total waste--most of which is packaging.

The most common recycling products are soft drink and milk containers. Recycled plastics are used in flower pots, drainage pipes, toys, traffic barrier cones, carpet backing and fiber fill for pillows, ski jackets and sleeping bags.

Only about two percent of plastic waste is recycled.

Recyclable materials include wood waste, yard waste and kitchen waste. These wastes comprise 18 to 25 percent of solid waste and offer an excellent opportunity for recycling, especially composting.

Automobile tires, motor oil and bulk household items can be recycled. Usual items like old clothing, furniture and appliances are sold at garage sales or donated to charity.

Recycling reduces the amount of waste that is buried in landfills or incinerated.

Recycling cuts down on litter and conserves natural resources. However, to be successful in recycling depends on the availability of markets for recycled materials and products.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Warner to speak at meeting

Jean Warner of Mesquite will be the guest speaker at the Hereford Flame Fellowship meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 4, at the Hereford Community Center. The public is invited to attend.

"Sowing In Tears, Reaping in Joy" was written by Warner. She is also a teacher, and licensed minister. She is the Texas State overseer of Flame Fellowship and has spoken to groups, churches, seminars and conventions across the country.

DEAR MOTHER: Your daughter sounds like a headstrong, determined woman. You cannot protect her from her own poor judgement forever. I say, sell her the house and let her learn that it pays to listen to someone who is experienced and has her best interests at heart. If you refuse to sell the house to her she will probably hold it against you forever.

What's the truth about pot, cocaine, LSD, PCP, crack, speed and downers? "The Lowdown on Dope" has up-to-the-minute information on drugs. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Lowdown, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $4.45.)
