UWDSC posts big gain

The good news: the United Way of Deaf Smith County is $5,000 ahead of where it was after four weeks in 1989.

The bad news: only $47,501 has been collected or pledged toward the $125,000 goal.

That news was aired at the weekly report meeting of the UWDSC on Monday at the Ranch House in Hereford.

Over the past week, $11,486 in new pledges and contributions were reported by division chairmen and other volunteers. However, only 324 of the 2,489 potential "accounts," or participating persons and businesses, have completed their pledge cards...

"We gained over last week, but we have less than 40 percent of our goal," said UWDSC President Jeryl Baker. "We are going to have to do some hustling over the next three weeks to get there (the goal)."

Division chairmen will receive notices today or Wednesday on the accounts that have been completed. "If anyone needs help they should contact the UWDSC office now," said Baker, "not after Nov. 1."

Division chairmen at the luncheon received gift certificates furnished by Sirlain Stockade and Winn's. Each report meeting, four certificates are given away from Hereford businesses as rewards for increases over previous weeks and for the campaign to date.

Cavness is winner Commissioners discuss center

Gladys Cavness lost just four games and won the $25 first prize in the Hereford Brand Football Contest.

The prize is paid in Hereford Bucks, which may be spent at any business in Deaf Smith County.

Placing second, winning $15 in Hereford Bucks, was Keith Kalka. Keith missed just five games and was closest of five contestants on the Hereford vs. Levelland tie-breaker.

Finishing third, also missing five games, was Gregg Kalka. Gregg will receive $10 in Hereford Bucks.

Others missing five games but farther off on the tie-breaker were Karen Kitchens, Tracy Butler and Bobbie Kitchens.

Deaf Smith County Commissioners gave a tentative approval Monday to a proposed residential substance abuse treatment center in Hereford that would serve Deaf Smith County and the Panhandle area.

Larry Sheffield, chief probation officer for the 222nd Judicial District which serves Deaf Smith and Oldham counties, gave a brief overview of the proposed 60-to-85-bed facility. The unit would provide long-term care to persons who suffer from substance abuse that has led directly or indirectly to those persons being convicted of crimes.

As a term of probation, county and district judges could order a person to the facility, where they would enter a program of 8 to 12 months to treat their problem.

Sheffield explained the center would be a lock-out, not lock-in, facility; the public's access would be very limited, but persons in the facility would be free to leave at any time. If a patient does leave the facility before their treatment is over, that person will have violated probation and could be sentenced to

The boy darted in front of a late-model Suburban. The driver was not cited because the boy did not cross in or near an intersection. Matthew was in stable condition this morning at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Claytie celebrates his 59th

DALLAS (AP) - Republican gubernatorial nominee Clayton Williams celebrated his 59th birthday by renewing his promise to back the death penalty for drug dealers.

"Folks, I want to double the prisons - not the 1,800 beds that (Democratic nominee) Ann Richards says, but 60,000 more prison units," Williams told a group of his supporters who met here to celebrate his birthday Monday.

Williams also restated his plans to support the death penalty for those convicted of killing a child. The candidate said he would fund his programs with budget cuts - not new taxes.

About 30 abortion rights advocates picketed outside the downtown bank building where the birthday festivities were held. Some wore cutout masks of Williams' face.

Williams has said he would support abortion only in cases of rape, incest or where the mother's life was threatened.

Also on Monday, plans for an Oct. 30 debate between Richards and Williams were formally canceled by the League of Women Voters, which blamed the Republican candidate.

Williams has said he won't debate Richards unless the Democrat signs a pledge to stop all negative television advertising.

Richards spokesman Bill Cryer said Williams first should agree to debate. He also said Richards doesn't trust Williams to keep his side of a pledge against negative TV ads.

As an example, Cryer pointed to a Monday news release from Williams' campaign that compared Richards to unsuccessful Democratic presidential candidate Mike Dukakis.

"Like Dukakis, Richards is a captive of liberals and special interest groups," the release charged.

Among others, it says Richards is supported by "left-wing Hollywood liberals," the Gay and Lesbian Caucus, Wall Street brokerage houses, National Organization for Women President Molly Yard and death row inmates.

"The average person is who they're missing on that list - the average Texan earning an average wage, doing a good job keeping home and family together, as opposed to Clayton Williams and his big money friends, his insurance pals," Cryer said.

COUNTY

serve the full length of the original sentence in a county jail or a state prison.

The commissioners watched a video of the Brownfield facility shot by David Wagner, Community Services Director of the probation department. The Brownfield facility is one of only three such centers in the state and is the only unit serving West Texas.

Wagner and Sheffield explained the state would eventually pay the entire cost of building and operating the facility. The county would issue certificates of obligation to build the unit, then lease it to the state. The state would pay about $8,000 a month for the eight-year lease.

Sheffield and Simons said the state would rather pay for treatment at a facility like this than incarcerate someone in a penitentiary. The state's cost at a treatment facility would be about $28 per person per day, while imprisonment costs from $38 to $56 per person per day.

County officials will review documents that would set the project in motion, and will likely take action at the Oct. 22 commissioners court meeting.

Commissioners also discussed the county's liability on jail inmates that work on road crews or other areas, amended the 1989-90 budget, and learned the county will have a carryover of about $800,000, including all funds, into the 1990-91 fiscal year which began Oct. 1.

In other political developments Monday:

Richards denounced a federal proposal that would override the homestead protection in the state constitution by taking away protections for those who have bad debts with federal agencies or failed financial institutions. "No government agency has the right to take a family's home away," she said.

Also earning special recognition were businesses where employees gave their fair share or showed significant increases over 1989. Honored were Tip Top Oil Co., White Implement, Hereford State Bank, Hereford Butane, Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative, Goodin Fuels and Energas.

The first mailboxes were erected in Paris in 1653. However, messengers, fearful for their livelihood, put mice in the boxes to destroy the mail.

Holmes speaks at Women's Division

Debbie Holmes was guest speaker at the recent meeting of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division meeting held in the Heritage Room for the Deaf Smith County Library.

Holmes presented ways to assist club members in making concise and organized records of personal data. She stressed the importance of keeping up to date data in case of an accident or illness.

Personal records such as a will, insurance, savings accounts, stocks, social security data, and other information should be available for easy location in case of a serious illness or even death. Each member attending received a personal information record booklet from Hereford State Bank.

Members elected as new directors were Rhonda Clark and Debra Perry. They are replacing Ruth Newsom and Judy Barrett. The two directors shall assist the council in the forming and carrying out of all policies of the Women's Division and other duties directed by the president.

Halloween pumpkins, made by Perry, were placed on tables for decorations for the salad supper. The pumpkins were given as door prizes.

Stress tips given at meeting

Members of the North Hereford Extension Homemakers club met recently at the Hereford Country Club with Marcella Hoffman presenting a program on stress.

Edith Higgins read "A Silent Message" for opening exercise and roll call was answered by "Tips for Health and Safety".

A Thanksgiving lunch is scheduled at the Sirlain Stockade on Nov. 15 at noon.

Members attending were Higgins, Martha Lueb, Evelyn Crofford Naomi Brisendine and Hoffman.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Hundreds of Lucy lookalikes and near-Desis are out of luck. Two professional actors, Maurice Benard and Frances Fisher, will play the wacky couple in a TV movie.

The two were introduced Monday as the stars of "Lucy and Desi: Before the Laughter."

Hundreds of lookalikes, many of them amateurs, turned out for cattle calls in New York, Miami and Los Angeles during the search for perfect Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz.

Miss Fisher, who bears little resemblance to Miss Ball without makeup, has appeared in the TV movies "Cold Sassy Tree," "Home" and "Broken Vows."

New Arrivals

Gary and Shirley McCulloch of Hereford are the parents of a son, Mitchell Cole, born Oct. 4, 1990, at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo. He weighed 9 lbs. 9 oz.

Special guests for the meeting were Mmes. Sammie Allison, Darwin McGill and McGilvary.

The club voted to give memorial gifts to honor Mrs. Mary Morrow, member, and Charlie Holt, husband of member Elizabeth Holt.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I've read so much about dogs, cats and rabbits making terrific house pets. Well, I have a pet that I think is just as good — my pet white rat.

Yes, domestic rats are wonderful pets! They are clean, lovable and very intelligent. Mine is affectionate, follows me around and loves to go for rides on my shoulder. I know many of you are saying, "Yuck, rats," but they are not the type that scurry in sewers or garbage. They are sold in pet shops and are getting more popular.

They are economical to feed. Along with hamster food, they love leftovers, dry dog food, fruit and vegetables. They're perfect for apartments since they need very little room. — Nancy Suba, Canton, Ohio

We checked and the pet store said they really do make wonderful pets. This is a new one for me! — Heloise

LAUNDRY PROBLEM
Q. I'm attending college and have run into a laundry problem. The washing machine at home has a bleach dispenser, but the one I use here does not. How do I add bleach when the machine is running? — Bob Morgan, Houston, Texas

A. Fill the washing machine with water and then add the bleach and detergent. Let it swish around for a minute or so to dissolve the detergent before putting your clothes in. No surprises! — Heloise

What's part of your body and makes up 97 percent of the air you breathe?

If you answered "nitrogen," you're right. Nitrogen becomes part of the human body through the food chain. We each consume about ten to 13 grams of nitrogen a day. That's over 6,000 tons worldwide. Nitrogen is a natural element. It exists in a variety of forms and is in the air, the soil and all living things.

The mineral form of nitrogen is known as nitrates. Most soils hold sizable nitrogen reserves resulting from many years of organic matter build-up in the soil. New nitrogen comes from many different sources including plant decay, rainwater, animal wastes and commercial fertilizers. Nitrate forms when any of this nitrogen is broken down in the soil by bacteria.

Healthy crops have an enormous appetite for nitrogen. An average corn crop uses nearly six billion pounds of nitrogen, an average annual hay crop removes from the soil. Nitrogen is a key player in photosynthesis—plants can't live without it.

Sometimes, some of the nitrates in the soil get into the water that flows underground. Wells tap this aquifer for their water supply. City water is usually from sources other than wells, such as reservoirs.

Bradley earns honor

Dean Bradley of Hereford was presented the Friend of 4-H Award at the Deaf Smith 4-H Achievement Banquet on Monday at the Bull Barn. Mrs. Bradley was honored for her many years of service to 4-H from leader and judge to babysitter and chauffeur.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am appalled at the apathy in our country when it comes to voting. Did you see the recent statistics on California voters? Very few turned out to vote in the primaries. (They said it wasn't important.) These are the same people who wonder why they have such jerks running their city and state government.

It is imperative that Americans vote in primary elections. A few years ago my own city had a mayoral primary. Not a single person I worked with or knew socially bothered to vote. Due to the light turnout, we ended up with two disgracefully mediocre candidates for mayor. Consequently, a great many voters sat out the general election. All I heard was, "Why vote? There's nobody decent running."

Please, Ann, urge your readers to call the campaign headquarters and find out exactly where the candidates stand on the issues that are important. Follow their voting record and see if they keep their campaign promises. If they don't let them know you won't vote for them again.

Thank you for giving me space in your column.--L.I. M.M., Pa.

DEAR LT.: Your message is a good one. I'm happy to provide the forum. I believe it was Winston Churchill who said, "People get the kind of government they deserve."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Well, Annie, old girl, you really blew it. Usually you check with an attorney for legal advice. What happened? I refer to your response to the married woman with two children who said they were fathered by her lover. You told her that if she divorced her husband, she couldn't force her lover to pay child support.

The strongest presumption known in the law is that children conceived during a marriage are the product of that marriage. However, this does not always hold, at least in New York.

A man who is able to prove, with a blood test, that a child is NOT his is not liable for child support. On the other hand, even though modern genetic testing is now at least 95 percent accurate, such evidence is admissible only to exclude paternity, not to establish it.

Your advice from a personal standpoint might arguably be good, but from a legal standpoint, it stunk. With best regards, I am--James T. McCollum, Rochester, N.Y.

DEAR MR. McCOLLUM: Thank you for the comeuppance. If you promise not to write an advice column, I promise not to practice law. (P.S. Genetic paternity testing is now 99.6 percent accurate.)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently we were given a film that covered 30 years of our family's history. We converted it to video and it's terrific.

Unfortunately several people, when they noticed the camera, ducked, covered their faces and ran off outside the camera's range.

DEAR POP: Thanks for making an excellent point. The next time the family historians haul out the video equipment, folks, put on a happy face no matter how tacky you look. Do it for posterity!

Witches brew makes for a spooky Halloween

NEW YORK (AP) - A witches' brew of ideas for a safe, spooky and happy Halloween is conjured up by Meredith Brokaw and Annie Gilbar in "The Penny Whistle Halloween Book" (Weidenfeld & Nicolson, New York, $9.95).

This illustrated guide includes the story of the first Halloween, suggests appropriate activities for children from 2-year-olds to teens, and lists sources for ordering sound effects and make-up kits.

Ideas for making Halloween costumes with simple materials (a staple gun, glue, tape, needle and thread) are featured, plus party themes. Directions for making decorations and invitations - and party recipes (Tuna Spooks to Vampire Punch) - are included.

Some suggestions from the book: - Make ice cubes with raisins in them to look like insects. Serve in punch.

- Put trick-or-treat goodies in a homemade cardboard coffin. Let the kids lift the lid and get the candy themselves.

This book, with wonderful illustrations by Jill Weber and its age-appropriate activities, will be a resource for many years.

HALLOWEEN RECIPES

Try Hot Fudge Pudding Cake for a sweet, chocolate treat for Halloween. There's magic in this cake - and you don't use a pudding mix!

HOT FUDGE PUDDING CAKE
 3/4 cup granulated sugar
 1 cup all-purpose flour
 3 tablespoons cocoa
 2 teaspoons baking powder
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup milk
 1-3rd cup butter or margarine, melted

 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla extract
 1/2 cup granulated sugar
 1 1/2 cups packed light brown sugar
 4 tablespoons cocoa
 1 1/4 cups hot water
 Whipped topping

Heat oven to 350 degrees F. In medium bowl, combine 3/4 cup granulated sugar, flour, 3 tablespoons cocoa, baking powder and salt. Blend in milk, melted butter and vanilla. Beat until smooth. Pour batter into an 8- or 9-inch square pan.

In small bowl combine 1/2 cup granulated sugar, 1/2 cups brown sugar and 4 tablespoons cocoa. Sprinkle mixture evenly over the batter. Pour the hot water over top; do not stir. Bake 35 to 40 minutes in a 350-degree F oven or until center is almost set. Let stand 15 minutes. Spoon into dessert dishes, spooning sauce from bottom of pan over top. Garnish with whipped cream. Makes 8 to 10 servings. (Hershey's Cocoa)

"GHOSTLY GHOULISH GLUG"
 Vanilla ice cream
 Cold milk
 Hubba Bubba Bubble Gum soda

For each child, you will need a balloon-shaped glass, a 14-inch square of white plastic, a 12-inch piece of orange yarn, black marker and straw. Have the children draw ghostly grins on the white plastic square with the black marker.

Place a small scoop of ice cream in the glass. Top with 1/2 cup cold milk. Top with soda. Fill all the glasses, then refill with soda as the bubbles subside.

Place the plastic square on the top of the glass, gather the bottom and tie with yarn. Make a snip in the top of the plastic to insert the straw. The ghostly glug is ready to slurp!

Hint: If you wet the plastic, it will adhere to the glass, making it easier to tie with yarn.

GREMLINS IN THE MIST

One package angel-food cake mix
 Hubba Bubba Bubble Gum soda
 One package whipped topping mix

Bake the angel-food cake mix according to package directions, substituting the Hubba Bubba soda for the water in the recipe. Check cake after the first baking time listed, as it may brown quickly. Cool according to package directions. When cooled, place the cake on a round platter or covered pizza pan.

As you prepare the whipped topping, have the children make and decorate gremlins from construction paper. You can also use yarn scraps

Spikers sweep Randall

The Hereford Lady Whitefaces wrapped up the first half of the District 1-4A season Saturday with a 15-4, 15-7 win over Canyon Randall at the HHS Gym.

"The win keeps the Lady Whitefaces (13-5 overall, 4-1 in district) within a game of Dumas heading into tonight's second meeting between the teams at Dumas.

Lady Whiteface coach Brenda Reeh said she was pleased with the team's position in the league standings at the mid-way point.

"We're happy to have gotten past some tough teams during the first half of district," Reeh said. "I hope we have corrected some blocking that we made against Dumas the first time around. Maybe a few corrections will mean the difference against Dumas Tuesday. We will have some tough road matches this round (at Dumas, Pampa and Randall) so we must keep improving.

"We are still in the playoff picture so far this season. I believe we've still got lots of untapped potential that needs to be developed before the end of the season. We all know what is possible for us. Now it's just a matter of doing it."

Hereford took a 4-0 lead in the first game as Brek Binder and Robin White serve for two points each.

The teams made a full rotation with Randall getting the only point before the serve came back around to Binder, who made the score 5-1, before White ripped off seven straight points to give the Herd a 13-1 advantage. Shantel Cornelius had four kills in the run.

Cornelius picked up another kill on Teresa Baker's serve to put Hereford at game point before Randall scored it last points of the game. Jayme Moore then served an ace to end the game.

Binder served the Herd out to a 3-0 lead in the second game before the Raiders put up two points of their own.

Baker then ran the score to 7-2 for Hereford as Cornelius had three more

Herd opens fall golf season

After being pushed back a week by the weather, the Hereford Whiteface golf team opened its fall golf season Saturday with a triangular match at Amarillo Public Golf Course.

The Herd finished second in its group, carding a team round of 340. Amarillo Tascosa shot 323 to top the group while Canyon High was third at 353.

Jayson Mines paced the Herd with a round of 43-38-81. Mikel Walser was next for the Herd at 41-43-84 with David McCarter following at 41-46-87. Corey Newton shot 46-42-88 with Santry Hacker carding a 48-48-96.

Canyon High's John Dawson was the low individual in the group with a round of 75 while Greg Johnson led the Rebels with a 77.

The Herd golfers will host teams from area schools for triangular and dual matches at 8:30 a.m. Saturday at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

The Lady Whiteface golf team will open its fall season Saturday at Amarillo Public GC.

Waterfowl program scheduled

Game Warden Larry Nutt of Hereford will present a program on lead poisoning in waterfowl and eagles at 7 p.m. Thursday at Northwest Elementary School.

The program will include a video presentation on the effects lead shot has on waterfowl.

Nutt said beginning with the 1990 hunting seasons, it will be illegal to use lead shot when hunting for geese and ducks in Deaf Smith and Castro counties. Violation of the new regulation is punishable by a fine of between $25 and $500.

Nutt encouraged all waterfowl hunters and landowners leasing hunting right to attend the program.

For the match White led with 11 service points, including three aces, while Binder had eight, Baker five, Sanders four and Moore two. The Herd recorded seven service aces in the match while putting 39 of 45 serves in play.

Junior varsity coach Jill Harrison said the squad has made rapid strides during the season.

The Hereford Junior High and freshman volleyball teams made their home debuts Monday with matches against Borger.

Hereford dropped both seventh-grade matches with the Maroon team losing 8-15, 15-10, 15-4 while the White team fell 15-6, 15-12.

The Hereford Whiteface tennis team moved to within a match of clinching its fifth straight District 1-4A fall team title with an 18-0 win over Dumas.

In girls singles, Brenna Reinauer kept her record clean with a 6-0, 6-0 decision over Carolea Riddlespurger. Reinauer has not lost a game in district play.

Gina Alley downed Leslie Schroer 6-3, 6-0 while Trisha Munoz beat Heather Brice 6-2, 6-0, Robyn Sublett beat Thao Nguyen 6-1, 6-0, Trisha Teel defeated Misty Lesly, 6-2, 6-0 and Bri Reinauer dropped Tammy Greer, 6-1, 6-2.

Castillo paces harriers to 3rd at Lubbock

The Hereford Whiteface and Lady Whiteface cross country teams got a preview of the Region 1-4A course Saturday at the Lubbock Invitational Meet.

The Herd girls finished third in the large school division, scoring 103 points to place behind Amarillo Tascosa and Amarillo High in a field dominated by Class 5A schools.

Teresa Castillo led the way by finishing third in 12 minutes, 12 seconds, her best time ever on the Mac Simmons Park layout.

Castillo was followed by Brandie Webb (10th, 12:51), Lisa Zepeda (22nd, 13:12), Minerva Salazar (46th, 13:45), Renee Banner (48th, 13:46), Belinda Murillo (50th, 13:49) and Jill Dutton (105th, 15:05). Webb Zepeda and Banner all turned in their best times ever while Salazar posted her best clocking of the year.

"This was certainly a strong field of runners, mostly 5A," Coach Martha Emerson said. "I am really proud of these young ladies as well as the sub-varsity runners. We are making a lot of improvement each week. I hope we can keep it going. Borger is the team we need to catch."

In the varsity boys division, Hereford finished 15th out of more than 20 teams with 374 points.

Jack Borden led the team, finishing 31st in 17:14. He was followed by Armando Garza (76th, 18:18), Aurelio San Miguel (87th, 18:35), Raymon Lopez (107th, 18:54) and Jerry Gállegos (126th, 19:25).

"Even though the boys team did not place very high I was pleased with the times they ran," Emerson said. "We are improving and are probably third with other district teams."

The junior varsity girls placed fifth in the team standings with 146 points in a field that had more than 200 runners from 24 schools.

Caryn Hubner was the first Hereford runner to cross the finish line, placing 32nd in 14:39. Florence Zepeda (49th, 15:05) was next followed by Laura Rangel (54th, 15:10), Rita Soto (56th, 15:14), Rachel Martinez (78th, 15:35) and Veronica Hernandez (112th, 16:05).

Junior varsity runners competing as individuals included Gina Haschke (21st, 14:28), Michelle Garza (47th, 15:01), Karen Harder (50th, 15:05) and Nora Herrera (53rd, 15:07).

In the JV boys race, Pedro Dominguez placed 68th in 20:10 followed by Chancy Bainum (94th, 20:59), Eric Davis (110th, 21:47) and Chad Thomas (135th, 25:28).

Ties cause ranked prep teams to slip down list

By The Associated Press

Atlanta and Mexia, ranked No. 5 and No. 6 in The Associated Press Class 3A rankings last week, stepped up to play Class 4A ranked Henderson and Athens last week.

Atlanta and Henderson played to a 28-28 tie and Mexia and Athens played to a 21-21 tie and all four teams dropped in this week's voting by the AP's panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Atlanta dropped from fifth to sixth and Atlanta fell from sixth to seventh. Henderson tumbled from third to sixth and Athens dropped from seventh to eighth.

Aldine beat Aldine Nimitz 69-21 in its biggest offense showing of the season to remain No. 1 in 5A along with A&M Consolidated in 4A, Vernon in 3A, Groveton in 2A and Munday in A.

Sugar Land Willowridge was the only loser in the Class 5A rankings and dropped from No. 6 out of the top 10 after its second loss of the season. Willowridge, beaten earlier by Aldine, lost to Fort Bend Dulles 15-12.

Defending state champion Odessa Permian (4-1) returned as the No. 10 team.

No. 9 Georgetown lost to Austin Westlake 24-6 and dropped off the Class 4A list. Georgetown was replaced by Austin Reagan (5-0) at No. 10.

Childress is the newcomer in Class 3A, replacing Cameron, which lost to Elgin 26-13.

Lewis takes title at Shamrock TSHSRA

Regina Lewis of Hereford won the girls all-around title Sunday at the Tri-State Rodeo Association event in Shamrock.

Lewis used wins in barrel racing and pole bending along with a second place in goat tying and eighth in breakaway roping to total 24 points.

Lewis topped the field with a 16.957 clocking in the barrels and was timed in 21.273 in the poles. Lewis added a 9.247 in goat tying, just .016 seconds out of first place. Her time in breakaway was 6.256.

Refugio (2-2-1) fell from No. 9 out of the Class 2A rankings after losing to Karnes City 13-6. San Saba moved into the No. 10 spot.

In another battle of ranked teams, No. 5 ranked 2A Grand Saline beat No. 6 ranked Class A Coolidge 37-6. Coolidge fell to No. 9 and Thordale was replaced at No. 10 by Santa Anna (4-0).

Among other Hereford competitors, Amber Bruce took fifth in barrels (17.127) and fourth in poles (22.192) while Jennifer Smith finished sixth in goat tying (9.681) and seventh in barrels (17.413). Chasity Rickman placed fifth in goat tying (9.654).

In Saturday's action, Lewis tied for second in barrels at 15.909 and was third in both poles (21.780) and goat tying (9.025). Rickman was fourth in goat tying (9.368) and Bruce was eighth in barrels (16.019).

Bullpen woes leave BoSox down in ALCS

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) - The Boston Red Sox may win every time their bullpen is mentioned, but they really have a bigger question that needs answering.

Where are the runs going to come from?

The Red Sox have scored one run in each of the first two American League playoff games, prompting Boston reliever Larry Andersen to point out, "The only way we would have beaten the A's (in Games 1 and 2) would be to throw two shutouts."

"We felt the way we were swinging the bats, the way our offense was going, we could score a little bit more than that," Boston outfielder Tom Brunansky said.

A little bit more than one still would not have been enough as the A's dismantled the Red Sox reliever by reliever for nine runs in Game 1 and three of their four runs in Game 2.

The best-of-7 series switches to Oakland today with Boston's Mike Boddicker facing the Athletics' Mike Moore. Game 4 is scheduled to be held Wednesday afternoon.

The A's will be without shortstop Walt Weiss, who was injured in a collision at second base Sunday night and will miss the rest of the playoffs.

Weiss' status for the World Series, if the Athletics advance that far, will be determined at that time. But Weiss said Monday that doctors had told him it was "doubtful" he would be able to play any more this year.

"We'll just have to wait another week or so and see, but they don't think I'll be able to play," he said.

Weiss was hurt when he tried to turn a double play in the eighth inning. Boston's Ellis Burks made a hard but clean slide that wiped out Weiss and left him on the ground for several minutes.

Weiss was diagnosed as having a sprained medial collateral ligament.

The Red Sox refuse to dump all of the blame on their bullpen.

"If we score 10 runs, nobody is going to be criticizing the bullpen," Andersen said.

OK, it's not all the bullpen's fault. But the Red Sox, who approached the playoffs with a David-and-Goliath attitude, have twice been taken out of tight situations where their heralded heart could have carried them to what would be a huge upset.

"Sure, we've got a lot of heart," said Boston third baseman Wade Boggs, "but we've got to score some runs. We have to take some pressure off our pitching staff. You can have the biggest heart in the world and if you don't score some runs, you're not going to win."

Not only are the Red Sox unable to score, they've been unable to beat an Oakland team that has singled for 22 of its 25 hits and beaten Boston with baserunning. Where were those tape-measure homers? The Bash Club?

"They beat us with speed in Boston," Red Sox manager Joe Morgan said. "You take their speed away and we wouldn't have lost those two games."

"They didn't beat up on us like everybody thought they would," said Boston pitcher Greg Harris. "We stayed with them most of both games. They hit a lot of bloopers and you can't defend that."

The Red Sox don't seem to be able to defend their lack of hitting, either. Boggs, their No. 3 hitter, is 3-for-8 with a homer, but Boston's 1-2-4-5 hitters are a combined 3-for-28, a .107 average, in the first two games. The Red Sox are 0-for-13 with runners in scoring position.

"We're up 2-0, and that's a great feeling," Oakland manager Tony La Russa said. "But I don't expect the next two games to be any easier than the first two."

Revived ground game sparks Dallas victory

IRVING, Texas (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys may have uncovered an heir apparent to the likes of Tony Dorsett and Herschel Walker.

The heir's name? Emmitt Smith.

The rookie first-round draft pick from Florida helped the Cowboys to their 14-10 victory over Tampa Bay on Saturday, paying dividends on the $1 million bonus money he received from the team.

On Monday, the Cowboys celebrated their 100 percent improvement over the 1989 season. The victory doubled the Cowboys' victory total from coach Jimmy Johnson's NFL debut last year.

"Emmitt made some great runs," said quarterback Troy Aikman. "It's difficult to win just throwing the football. Now with Emmitt we have a balanced offense."

Smith scored the game-winning touchdown in the fourth quarter on a 14-yard run and gained 121 yards on 23 carries. It was the most yards rushing by a Dallas running back since Walker gained 134 against Cleveland in 1988.

Dallas only had one 100-yard rushing game last year. It came from Paul Palmer.

Smith missed all of training camp and had been slow to round into form.

"I had a feeling Emmitt was about to break loose and he did," Johnson said. "He's a big-time back who is only going to continue to get better."

Smith said he was happy to have his biggest day as a professional in a game televised back to his home in Florida.

"It was interesting because everybody back home had the opportunity to see me play and see what I can do," Smith said. "They want to see how well I can play at this level."

Tampa Bay linebacker Broderick Thomas was impressed.

"I didn't expect anyone to rush over 100 yards against us this season," Thomas said. "I take my hat off to him."

Tampa Bay coach Ray Perkins was flabbergasted by Smith and the Dallas running game.

"I didn't think they were a good running team," Perkins said. "They hurt us primarily on the draw with that tailback (Smith)."

The Cowboys, who play at Tampa Bay in two weeks, travel to Phoenix on Sunday.

Aikman said the Cowboys should get better now that they have a running game.

"If you look at a team like the New York Giants, they hit high completion passes because they can grind it out with the running game," Aikman said. "The running game helps the passing game."

Reds go up 2-1 in NLCS

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Perhaps there's some historical irony that the Cincinnati Reds, baseball's first professional team, are changing the way the game is played.

For a century and a half, baseball has been a nine-inning sport. No more, thanks to the Reds' Nasty Boys bullpen. Now, when you're playing Cincinnati, baseball is a five-inning game.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, who are running short on time, victories and hitting, are discovering just that in the National League playoffs. If you don't get to the Reds in five innings, you're going to get the Nasty Boys.

"You don't get too many chances to go ahead of them and it's been frustrating," Andy Van Slyke said after Monday's 6-3 victory gave the Reds a 2-1 lead in the best-of-7 series. "Their bullpen's been doing the job all year, and they're doing it now."

What they're doing is a job on the Pirates' strength, their 3-4-5 hitters: Van Slyke, Bobby Bonilla and Barry Bonds. The Killer Bs plus one, who combined for 82 home runs and 311 RBIs during the season, are 7-for-34 (.206) with no homers and two RBIs. Jose Lind, in a horrid late-season slump, has as many RBIs by himself.

"I'm really, really mad because you want to do the things you've done all year," said Bonds, who is 2-for-10 with no RBIs after driving in 114 during the season. "Maybe we're trying too hard."

Rob Dibble, Norm Charlton and Randy Myers have brought the hammer down hard on the Pirates' hammer men, limiting them to four hits and no runs and striking out 13. Dibble and Myers haven't given up a hit or a run and have struck out 11 in a combined 6 2-3 innings.

The bullpen dominance has admittedly pressured the Pirates into playing a hurry-up-and-score game that's not their style.

When Reds starter Danny Jackson pitched out of bases-loaded jams in the fourth and fifth, the sigh of relief from Reds' fans could be heard all the way down the Ohio River.

"It's hard to fall behind them three straight games... we've got to jump on somebody early and get ahead and keep that bullpen out of it," Pittsburgh manager Jim Leyland said.

"Maybe they can come back and beat us, but we also led in the first game (a 4-3 Pirates' victory) and I thought we could have won that, too," Dibble said. "Everyone was picking the Pirates and that's fine with us. Nobody gave us a chance."

Just like Pittsburgh, three of the Reds' top hitters - Eric Davis (1-for-11), Barry Larkin (2-for-10) and Chris Sabo (2-for-12) - are struggling. But Mariano Duncan (four RBIs), Billy Hatcher (.429) and Paul O'Neill (.429) are making up the difference.

Duncan hit a three-run homer and drove in four runs and Hatcher, traded by Pittsburgh in April, hit a two-run homer off Zane Smith as the Reds won their fourth straight in Pittsburgh. They won their final three regular-season games here in August.

So much for the home-field advantage in a series where the visitor has won two of the first three games.

"The thing about us is there are guys throughout the lineup who can hit the ball out of the park and guys who can run," Larkin said. "You can't pitch around one particular guy."

Pirates general manager Larry Doughty was reminded of his best trade and his worst trade on the same day, and he couldn't have asked for a worse result.

Smith, acquired from Montreal in August, allowed five earned runs in five innings after giving up just nine in his first 10 Pirates' starts. Hatcher, whom he dealt away in April for two minor leaguers, went 3-for-4 and gave the Reds a 2-0 lead with his second-inning homer.

Browns finally win in Denver, 30-29, on last-play field goal

DENVER (AP) - What can you say about a team that has blown halftime leads in all five of its games this season? The Cleveland Browns merely say thanks.

Rallying from a 19-13 halftime deficit and a 29-20 deficit in the final period, the Browns edged the Denver Broncos 30-29 Monday night on Jerry Kauric's 30-yard field goal as time expired.

It may have avagaged the Browns' season, which was looking dismal, and perhaps saved the job of coach Bud Carson as well. There were rumors even during the game that his job was in jeopardy with one more loss.

Carson denied it afterwards. Asked if he was given a win-or-else ultimatum from owner Art Modell, Carson said, "Never to me, no."

Some of his players thought otherwise.

"Bud's been under fire, we've all been under fire," cornerback Raymond Clayborn said. "But, hopefully we're now on the right track."

Quarterback Bernie Kosar added, somewhat more obliquely, "It was an important game, not only to the team but to the whole organization. It really meant a lot to a lot of people that we were able to pull this out."

Cleveland (2-3) rallied for a touchdown and field goal in the final 3:21.

After Denver had moved to a 29-20 advantage on wide receiver Mark Jackson's 16-yard scoring run on an end-around and a David Treadwell field goal following a Browns' fumble, Kosar drove Cleveland 80 yards in 11 plays. He hit Vernon Joiner for a 24-yard gain on fourth-and-2, and then immediately found Brian Brennan for a 24-yard scoring play.

On the next series, Denver wasn't able to make a first down and thus run time off the clock. A punt gave Cleveland the ball at its own 39-yard line with 2:04 remaining.

Kosar hit Joiner for a 15-yard gain and found Reggie Langhorne for 20 yards on third-and-10. Another third-down pass was good to Brennan for 15 yards to the Denver 12, and Kauric then converted.

"We couldn't come up with a play at the end," said Denver coach Dan Reeves, whose team fell to 2-3.

"This is five weeks in a row we haven't been able to put anybody away," said quarterback John Elway. "I wish I knew why."

Reeves praised the play of Kosar, who completed 24 of 38 passes for 318 yards and three touchdowns, with two interceptions.

"I thought Bernie played very well," Reeves said. "They gave him good protection, and he hung in there and made some good throws, some before the receivers made their last cut."

The Broncos, who had beaten Cleveland in 11 of 12 games, including three of the last four AFC championship games, ran out of ways to torment the Browns.

Elway and Bobby Humphrey, the NFL rushing leader who topped 100 yards for the fourth straight game, ran for touchdowns in the first half to give Denver a 19-13 halftime lead. Cleveland went ahead 20-19 midway through the third period as the usually immobile Kosar sidestepped the rush and hit fullback Kevin Mack for an 11-yard scoring play.

Denver then converted two turnovers into 10 points early in the fourth quarter to seemingly take control. But those who have watched the Broncos fail to hold leads all season knew better.

Rookie cornerback Alton Montgomery's interception set up the Broncos' first score of the final quarter, which came on Jackson's run following a 34-yard pass from Elway to Vance Johnson.

On the next play from scrimmage, Denver safety Dennis Smith recovered a Leroy Hoard fumble at the Browns' 32 and Treadwell kicked a 25-yard field goal with 7:21 to go.

The rest of the game belonged to Cleveland.

"This is really frustrating," linebacker Karl Mecklenburg said. "We didn't get enough pressure on Kosar. I don't think we sacked him once. They had so many key plays, especially on third and fourth down. We keep letting teams back in after we have them down."

Elway said the Broncos have "put ourselves in a pretty tough situation. Now that we've lost one at home, we've got to pick up one on the road. We've got our work cut out for us now, but it's not beyond hope."

Dykes ready to break losing habit

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - The weeks are beginning to repeat themselves for Texas Tech coach Spike Dykes.

"This is getting to be a bad habit coming in here after a loss," Dykes said at his weekly press conference Monday. "I hate that. It's a lot more fun when it's the other way around."

Despite being 1-4 overall and 0-3 in Southwest Conference play, Dykes still can find the bright spots in a 28-24 loss to Texas A&M with a road game against Arkansas Saturday staring him in the face.

The coach said he was pleased with his team's defense, which helped set up a touchdown and two field goals with two interceptions and a fumble recovery, against A&M last Saturday.

Dykes also praised the special teams, which set up a kickoff return for a touchdown on the last play of the first half.

But he was disappointed the Red Raiders could not finish off the Aggies after leading 13-7 at halftime.

"The good teams find a way to win," Dykes said. "We just aren't there yet. But we're playing a lot of young guys and I see them getting better every week."

Tech faces Arkansas (2-2, 0-1) Saturday in Fayetteville, Ark., where they have won only once in their last 14 attempts.

Dykes had high praise for the Razorbaks and quarterback Quinn Grovey.

"They scare the devil out of you," he said. "I don't think we've tackled Quinn Grovey yet. He is about the best you will see in the country."

Dykes said Arkansas will be spirited after suffering a 54-26 upset loss to Texas Christian at home last Saturday.

"I'm sure they are going to be breathing fire," he said.

Tech quarterback Jamie Gill, who played two series against Texas A&M before leaving the game due to dehydration, is expected to see more playing time against Arkansas, Dykes said.

Dykes also took time Monday to speak out against a decision by Southwest Conference presidents to enact one of the stiffest admission requirements for athletes in Division I-A.

"I don't like the rule myself. I thought they built these universities for kids," Dykes said.

"I think it is terrible you have to go through life with a brand on you because you didn't pass a stupid test. If they can't pass academically that's fine. But why not give them a chance?"

During a meeting in Dallas Sunday, SWC presidents finalized a proposal that will eliminate partial qualifiers from ever competing in athletics at an SWC school.

The proposal must first stand up to the scrutiny of league lawyers, but SWC Commissioner Fred Jacoby said Sunday he is certain the policy will be in place by August 1991.

The new rule requires recruits and walk-ons to score at least 700 on the SAT or 18 on the ACT entrance exams and to have at least a 2.0 high school grade point average in core classes.

Current policy requires student-athletes who do not meet both benchmarks to sit out of competition during their first year, but allows students three years of athletic eligibility if grades improve.

"To say you can never play in this conference? That's pretty severe isn't it?" Dykes said. "I thought this whole deal was for kids and it looks like to me like that's the last thing ever considered. That's probably the wrong thing to say. But that's the truth."

Dykes said he has had several players on his teams that were admitted into Tech as partial qualifiers and went on to graduate and become successful professionals.

"I believe in young people," he said. "And I know that some of them make mistakes. I also know that they put erasers on pencils because people make mistakes."

When asked why he thought the SWC was taking the lead in toughening up admission requirements, Dykes replied:

"I don't even want to guess. I am sure it would be wrong. I don't know."

Michigan doesn't relish being No. 1

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) - The No. 1 ranking, like an orphan on the doorstep, has been thrust into Gary Moeller's life, and the Michigan coach would just as soon slam the door and have it go someplace else - for a while at least.

"I'd be the happiest guy in the world if it were Jan. 2," Moeller said. "I'm not worried about the No. 1 ranking. It's nice, but it's not anything we want to talk about. At the end of the year, that's when you want to talk about those things."

Michigan (3-1) vaulted from No. 3 to the top spot in The Associated Press poll after Notre Dame and Florida State both were defeated over the weekend. This is the earliest in the 54-year history of the poll that a team with a loss on its record has been voted No. 1.

Michigan received 34 first-place votes and 1,453 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Undefeated Virginia, which didn't play last week, was second with 14 first-place votes and 1,384 points.

Once-beaten Miami jumped six spots to No. 3 with six first-place votes and 1,324 points. Rounding out the Top 10 are Oklahoma, Tennessee, Auburn, Nebraska, Notre Dame, Florida and Florida State.

The No. 8 ranking is the lowest for Notre Dame in two years. Eight teams received first-place votes, the most since 1985. Nebraska received two, while Oklahoma, Tennessee, Florida and No. 12 Houston each got one. All of those teams are in the top 10, although Tennessee has two ties and Auburn one.

None of which makes Moeller feel any better. He's trying to get his team ready for arch-rival Michigan State on Saturday, and the top national ranking is seen as just another distraction.

That might normally be dismissed as just so much over-coaching except for one thing: The winner of that intra-state showdown has advanced to the Rose Bowl the last four seasons.

"Being No. 1 is something you can never get completely out of your mind, and your players can't either," Moeller said. "You want to work to that end in a different way. You do it by keeping your focus on the game in front of you."

And history shows the Wolverines have been known to lose their focus after climbing to No. 1.

Michigan was No. 1 in the preseason poll a year ago but dropped to No. 2 before the opener against Notre Dame, then lost to the Irish.

In 1981, the Wolverines were No. 1 in the preseason poll but lost their opener at Wisconsin.

In 1977, with Rick Leach at quarterback, the Wolverines spent four of the first six weeks at No. 1 before losing 16-0 at Minnesota.

Michigan's only national championship since the introduction of the poll system in 1936 came in 1948 when the Wolverines went 9-0 in Bennie Oosterbaan's first year as coach.

Prior to this week, no team with a loss had been ranked No. 1 before November. The earliest No. 1 ranking for a once-beaten school had been Nov. 13, 1950, when Ohio State took over the top spot with a 6-1 record.

Ohio State, which was 20th last week, is one of four teams that dropped out of the Top 25 after losing on Saturday.

The others, with last week's rankings, are Michigan State

(18), Arkansas (21) and Fresno State (24).

Moving into the rankings were No. 22 Indiana, No. 23 Wyoming, No. 24 Mississippi and No. 25 Iowa. Indiana and Wyoming are undefeated, while Mississippi and Iowa each have one loss.

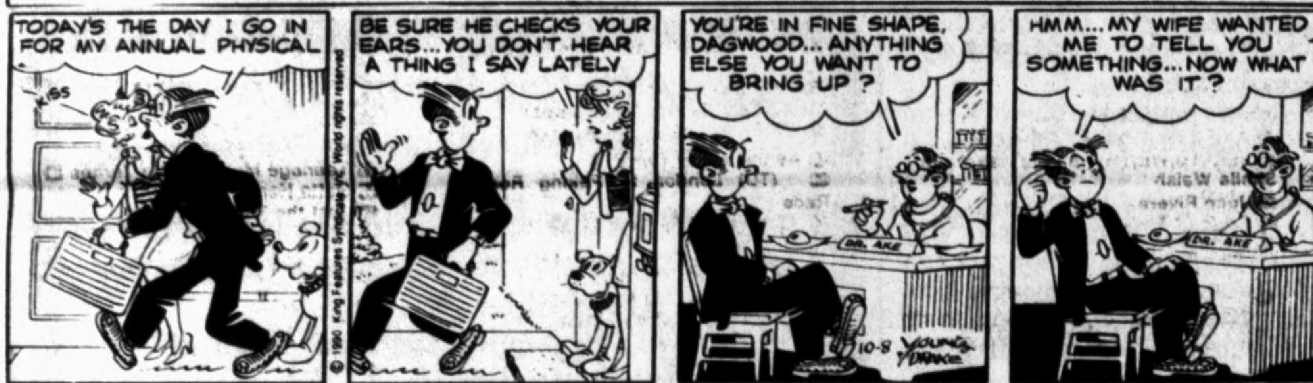

It's the first poll appearance for Mississippi in four years. Indiana and Wyoming haven't been ranked since 1988.

Illinois is ranked 11th, followed by Houston, Brigham Young, Colorado, Clemson, Southern Cal, Washington, Georgia Tech, Oregon, Texas A&M and Arizona.

The No. 18 ranking is the highest for Georgia Tech since 1984.

HEIGHT POTENTIAL

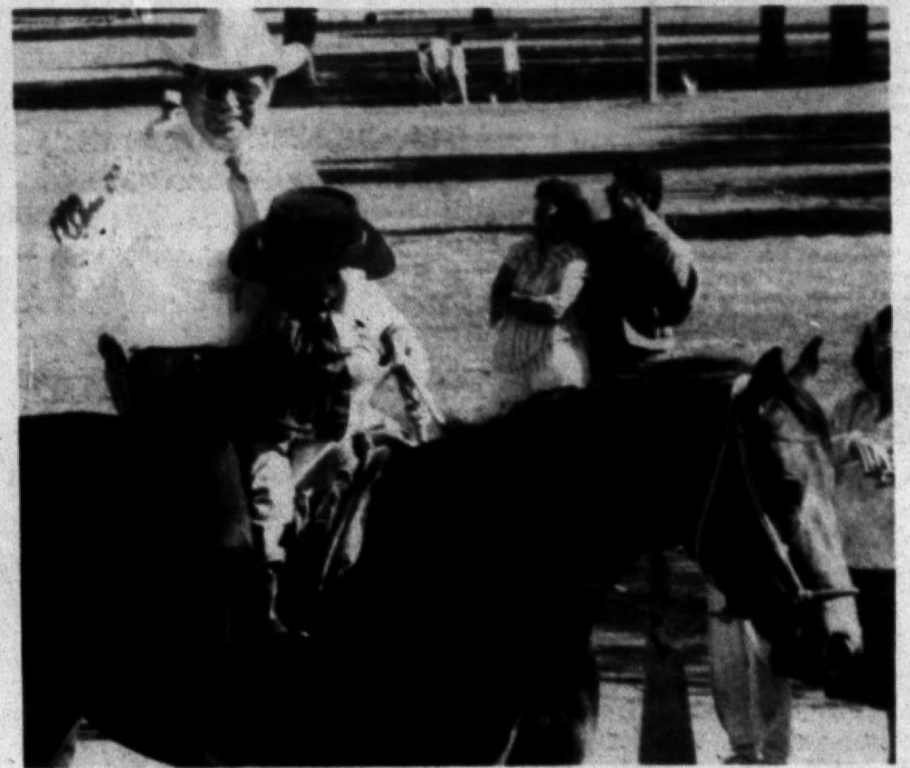

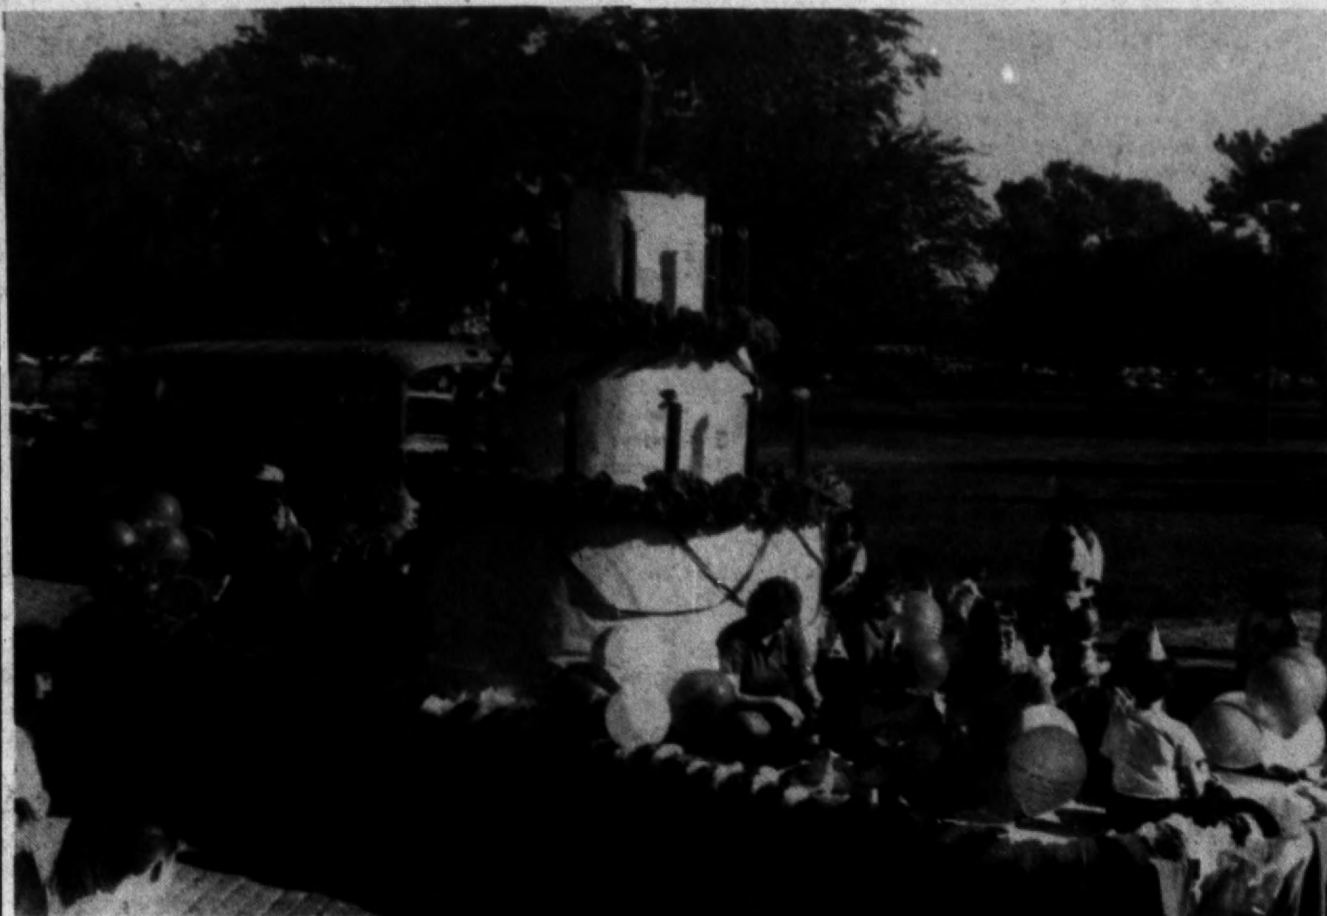

NEW YORK (AP)—Some 15,000 of the nation's estimated 2 million short-statured children may be helped to reach their height potential if their condition is detected early, according to the Human Growth Foundation.

When the condition is detected well before puberty, it can be treated with biosynthetic growth hormone, says the national non-profit organization of health care professionals and parents of children with growth disorders.

Only about one-third of parents measure a child's height despite emphasis by pediatricians that growth is one of the best indicators of a child's general health, according to HGF.

"It is essential for parents to realize that the short-statured child may have a serious medical problem causing the growth failure," says Dr. Joseph Zanga, pediatrician from Children's Medical Center, Medical College of Virginia.

Perot heads list of Texans on Forbes' list of richest

DALLAS (AP) - H. Ross Perot's fortune dropped from $2.5 billion in 1989 to $2.2 billion this year, but it was enough to keep the Dallas mogul at the head of the list of the wealthiest Texans.

Perot, whose fortune was built from Electronic Data Systems Inc., ranks 17th on the Forbes magazine list of the 400 richest Americans. The list, released Monday, drops Perot from eighth place overall last year to 17th this year.

Perot's plunge was not unique. Fifty-three of the Forbes 400 list suffered declines in net worth ranging from $100 million to $880 million, the magazine said in its Oct. 22 edition.

"This year the entire Forbes 400 list seemed to stop going up and, on balance, start going down," the magazine said.

"This year all kinds of things went down: real estate, media, banks, public stocks, private companies, you name it."

Texans accounted for $21.5 billion, or 7.8 percent, of the total $272.5 billion in the list of 400. Last year, Texans held $22.8 billion, or 8.4 percent, of 1989's $269 billion.

Behind Perot's technology-based fortune, the wealth of the next four Texans are linked to the oil industry, which has been given new life with rising oil prices in the aftermath of Middle East tension.

Robert Muse Bass of Fort Worth is listed 39th with $1.55 billion. His three brothers also are on the list: Sid Richardson Bass is 43rd with $1.4 billion, while Lee Marshall Bass is 44th with $1.4 billion and Edward Perry Bass is 68th with $975 million.

Ray Lee Hunt, whose wealth was based on oil and real estate, comes in 40th with $1.5 billion. He is the son of famed wildcatter H.L. Hunt.

Other Hunt offspring also are on the list. Margaret Hunt Hill, whose mother was H.L. Hunt's first wife, is listed 63rd with $1 billion, while sister Caroline Rose Hunt's $500 million ranks 183rd.

Harold Clark Simmons, whose money comes from buying large stakes in major companies, is ranked 53rd with $1.3 billion.

Missing from the list was developer Trammel Crow, an indication of the state's sagging real estate market. As recently as two years ago, Crow's fortune was listed at $775 million, but fell to $300 million last year, good enough for 356th.

Forbes said the richest American was John Werner Kluge, 76, the thrice-married entertainment entrepreneur who made his $5.6 billion fortune by building up Metromedia Co., a wide-ranging telecommunications company.

No. 2 is Omaha investor Warren Buffett, 60, who bought his first stock at age 11 and parlayed a savvy for picking stocks into a $3.3 billion fortune.

Third is debt-financed takeover specialist Ronald O. Perelman, 47, a Wharton business school alumnus who borrowed money to build an empire that ranges from the Revlon cosmetics company to Coleman camping products to savings and loans. Forbes pegged his wealth at $2.87 billion.

Shuttle enjoying success, preparing for return home

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) - Discovery's astronauts awoke early today to begin their final full day of a nearly flawless mission in which they dispatched the Ulysses probe on a five-year journey to explore the sun.

The flight, NASA's first shuttle mission in nearly six months, is scheduled to end Wednesday morning at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. Good weather is expected for the landing.

Commander Richard N. Richards and pilot Robert Cabana planned to run through a series of tests today to make sure Discovery's computers and control jets were ready for the fiery dive through the atmosphere and touchdown at the desert base.

Also, the crew of five was scheduled to stow cabin gear and retract the shuttle's robot arm back into the cargo bay. The arm was extended into space for an experiment.

Astronauts Bruce Melnick and Bill Shepherd were to run one more test of an experimental system that uses voice commands to control the shuttle cameras. Shepherd has had trouble getting it to recognize his voice.

Mission Control awakened the crew shortly before 2 a.m. EDT today with the songs, "Fanfare to a Common Man," a favorite of Cabana's, and the fight song for the University of Missouri, Richards' alma mater.

"You've been so good to us, we thought we'd give you two for the price of one," said astronaut Story Musgrave, the shuttle communicator in Mission Control.

"Well thanks Story," Richards replied. "We understand that first piece of music (Fanfare), the only time we played it prior to that (this) was STS-26. We really feel honored."

Discovery was used during the STS-26 mission, the first post-Challenger flight.

After the brief serenade, the crew quietly went about their morning tasks aboard the shuttle.

Their primary goal was accomplished Saturday with the successful deployment of the Ulysses sun probe. The $250 million European probe continued to speed through space on its roundabout trip to the sun.

It is headed towards Jupiter so it can use that giant planet's gravity to sling it back through the solar system and into a polar orbit around the sun. Ulysses is expected to pass over the sun's south pole in 1994 and the north pole in 1995.

Before the crew went to bed Monday, Mission Control's Kathy Thornton told them Ulysses still was doing "great - no changes."

The smooth flight has delighted NASA officials, who have been plagued by a number of problems in recent months.

Flight director Ron Dittmore described the mission Monday as one of the "cleanest" shuttle flights ever.

"The greatest pleasure comes when you work a flight and everything goes perfectly nominal," Dittmore said. "Hopefully, we're getting better every time we go."

The astronauts spent much of Monday working on experiments, but they took time out to sing "Happy Birthday" to mission specialist Tom Akers' wife, Kaye, who turned 34.

They floated in front of a shuttle TV camera as they sang. Mrs. Akers and other crew members' relatives saw the tape Monday afternoon at Mission Control.

After viewing the tape and another one showing the astronauts eating dinner and relaxing at the end of their work day, the families sent up this message: "You guys are really getting good at throwing unusual birthday parties. How in the world are you going to top this one next year?"

EDUCATION PROGRAM

NEW YORK (AP) - A program to educate the public about peripheral arterial disease, a circulatory condition that affects some 3 million Americans, has resulted in the screening of more than 50,000 people in the past four years, according to the National Council on the Aging.

The program, called Leg Alert, is supported by local hospitals and clinics.

The condition is marked by an ache, pain or cramping in the legs, calves and lower torso, caused by narrowed or blocked arteries that limit blood flow to the legs.

Apples, pears, plums, cherries, and almonds are all from the same family as the rose bush.

You've come a long way Grandmom. Happy Birthday!
