Cranking out the burgers

Terry Bromlow and Jack McKinster man the grill at the annual Agriculture Appreciation Day held Saturday at Hereford State Bank. 950 persons were fed during the three-hour event, which also featured new vehicles and equipment from Hereford implement and new car dealers. The crowd was entertained by Vanessa Gonzalez and Sharon Hernandez.

Man struck by SF train Monday

A Wildorado man was injured early Monday when he was struck by a Santa Fe train in Hereford.

Jose Merced Ojeda, 40, of Rt. 1 Wildorado, was hospitalized for treatment of three broken ribs, a broken collarbone and a small cut to his head.

According to police reports, the man was sitting along the Santa Fe tracks just west of the line's intersection with Lee St. The man told police he was waiting for the train to stop and intended to find an empty car in which to ride. Ojeda told police that he realized too late that the train was not going to stop and could not get out of the train's path.

Personnel on the train said they were going less than 25 miles per hour when they spotted the man along the tracks. The train engineer said he repeatedly blew the whistle and put the train on emergency stop but was not able to avoid striking the man. The westbound train went about 300 feet after Ojeda was struck.

Personnel saw Ojeda walk across a vacant lot just east of Charlie's Tire, then saw the man collapse on U.S. Highway 60. He was taken to Deaf Smith General Hospital for treatment, then was transferred to an Amarillo hospital.

Group holding design contest

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a logo and theme contest for its July 4 Welcome Home celebration.

The logo and theme will be used for the July celebration in honor of the soldiers.

Contest rules are as follows:
1. Drawing must be large and on 8 1/2-by-11 plain paper.
2. Drawing must be clear and in black and white.
3. Entries must be turned into the Chamber office no later than 5 p.m. April 12.

4. Please print full name, address, age and telephone number on the back of entries.

Prizes for the winners will be $50 for first and $25 for second, third and fourth places.

The contest is open to all ages. The winning entry will be used for promotion of July 4 activities. Winning entries will automatically become property of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

The winner will be announced April 21.

Reagan terms book 'flagrant falsehood'

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Ronald Reagan says a new biography of his wife, Nancy, is filled with lies that "clearly exceed the bounds of decency," and he's sure the buying public will judge the book harshly.

Harshly or not, readers in huge numbers are judging for themselves. By the end of the day Monday, 150,000 new copies were ordered. That's in addition to the 600,000 already in or en route to bookstores around the country.

Kitty Kelley's "Nancy Reagan: the Unauthorized Biography" portrays the former first lady as an abusive skinflint who ran the White House and carried on an affair with Frank Sinatra.

Kelley claims Reagan himself was with another woman on the day his daughter was born, that he and Nancy tried pot when he was governor and that he had a one-night stand with an 18-year-old when he was 50.

New school plan unveiled

AUSTIN (AP) - Speaker Gib Lewis said he wants the latest school finance reform plan on the "fast track" so the House can vote by Wednesday.

Lawmakers face a Monday court hearing at which a state judge may receive an alternative plan drawn up by a court-appointed master.

The latest legislative compromise, which must be ratified by a House-Senate conference committee, would allow school districts to keep some additional local property tax revenue. Like previous plans, it also would shift some local revenue from wealthier to poorer school districts.

Senate leaders said they might hold out for additional provisions to improve education quality, but a House negotiator said such a change might doom the latest plan.

The Texas State Teachers Association was pushing the Senate's "quality measures," with members phoning lawmakers to urge support for a proposed state health insurance plan for public school employees.

Health insurance headed the list of improvements being sought by Lt.

Gov. Bob Bullock and Senate Education Committee Chairman Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur. Another would lengthen the school year by eliminating five days set aside for teacher training.

Ollie Besteiro, president of the 95,000-member TSTA, said lawmakers should receive hundreds of calls from teachers. The group has been seeking a state-paid health insurance plan comparable to that provided other state employees.

But Rep. Bruce Gibson, D-Cleburne, said the health insurance provision belongs in a separate bill. "The votes that that issue will cost us could doom the bill's passage in the House," he said.

Besides health insurance, Parker and Bullock have cited a need to pay for such items as pre-kindergarten for 3-year-olds; tuition assistance grants, and year-round school incentives.

The extra cost of all the quality programs is estimated at $300 million to $500 million over the next two years.

"Loading the bill up when we have a Monday deadline that could close the schools is irresponsible," said Gibson, who Monday replaced Rep. Kent Grusendorf, R-Arlington, as one of the five House negotiators. All five Senate negotiators remained the same.

Gibson said if not for the quality issues, lawmakers would be in agreement on school finance. He estimated the proposed compromise's cost to the state at about $1 billion over the next two years.

The Texas Supreme Court twice has declared the school finance system unconstitutional.

The Legislature missed the Supreme Court's April 1 deadline for devising a reform plan, triggering an order to shut off state funds to schools. The order's impact was delayed because state checks weren't due to be mailed until April 25.

The deadline passed after the House defeated a school finance reform bill developed by a House-Senate conference committee. Judge F. Scott McCown has scheduled another hearing for Monday.

The earlier bill that failed in the House would have shifted local property tax revenue from wealthier to poorer school districts within 183 new education taxing regions, drawn largely along county lines.

The latest proposal would include redistributing local property tax funds within new taxing regions.

It also would set a minimum local property tax rate. But instead of starting at 60 cents per $100 valuation and climbing to 90 cents in four years, like the earlier bill, it would start at 72 cents and rise to $1.

Both plans would allow school districts to tax up to another 45 cents total to enrich programs and for construction projects when the bill is fully implemented.

However, the new plan would not require wealthier school districts to share any of the additional local property tax revenue with other school districts. Each school district would be guaranteed a minimum amount of money per extra penny of tax.

County okays reapportionment bid

By DANEE WILSON
Staff Writer

Deaf Smith County Commissioners accepted and approved a bid from Texas Association of Counties for liability coverage on public officials and law enforcement during their Monday meeting.

The commissioners also heard a presentation from Northen and Daugherty on assisting the county with commissioner precinct reapportionments.

The Northen and Daugherty bid estimated costs on assisting the county on the required reapportionment at $125 an hour for an estimated 125-130 hours of work.

"I think we can do the job ourselves," said County Clerk David Ruland. "It will take a lot of hours, but it isn't something we can't do ourselves."

"I would like to get help from someone who has had experience," said Judge Tom Simons. "I trust Allison, who is with the Texas Association of Counties. He wouldn't have any reason to do us wrong."

"Any way we do it," said Commissioner John Stribling, "we don't have an axe to grind, we're just trying to comply with the law."

Stribling made a motion to accept the Allison bid, not to exceed $12,500 plus travel expenses, with the stipulation that the county will be able to keep the computer used in the mapping process after the reapportionment process is complete.

Commissioners voted with Stribling on the motion.

Commissioners approved a low bid of $6,829, including punitive damage protection, from the Texas Association of Counties. The policy covers $2 million with $1 million in punitive damage protection for public officials.

Roger Eades of Plains Insurance Agency submitted bids of $5,940 for $1 million in coverage with no punitive damage coverage, $6,699 for $1 million in coverage with no punitive damage coverage and no legal fees limit.

For law enforcement insurance, commissioners accepted a bid from the Texas Association of Counties for $20,442 for a $2 million policy and $1 million in punitive damage coverage. Plains Insurance submitted a bid of $22,000 for $1 million coverage and no punitive damage coverage.

Jo Ann Dwyer of the Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Center requested the commissioners give her permission to submit a request for funds through the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission. She also requested a $5,000 donation for matching funds from the county. Commissioners approved both requests.

"The office does make a difference for the county," said Simons.

Permission was granted by the commissioners to cross a county road in Precinct Two with a water line.

The nomination of an enterprise zone was on the agenda, but had to be postponed due to the lack of materials from Austin.

Real estate was discussed in executive session by the commissioners. When they reconvened, no action was taken on the matter.

Commissioner Stribling asked the other commissioners for their support in attracting a new business to be built somewhere in the area.

"I think this (masa plant) is definitely something we want in our community and we should do everything we can to make it know we're supportive of them moving here." —John Stribling

According to Stribling, the Hereford, Olton, Dumas and Sunray co-ops and Farmland Industries are expected to build a $25 million corn masa production plant.

"This is a company that will be solid and run by good people," said Stribling. "I think this is definitely something we want in our community and we should do everything we can to make it known we're supportive of them moving here."

All the commissioners agreed to put their support behind the project.

The proposed plant is projected to process about 250 million pounds of corn, or 4.5 million bushels, a year.

Hull honored with Senate resolution

James Hull, president and general manager of Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative of Hereford and chairman of the board of Golden Spread Electric Cooperative in Amarillo, has been honored in a special resolution passed by the Texas Senate.

The resolution was presented to Hull at the annual meeting of the Golden Spread Electric Cooperative in Amarillo on April 1.

Hull was honored for his vision and leadership in the formation of Golden Spread Electric Cooperative. The cooperative is a consumer-owner wholesale electric power supplier for 11 rural electric cooperatives in the region, including Deaf Smith. More than 94,000 retail consumers in Texas and Oklahoma receive electric service from Golden Spread's member systems.

"I was surprised, overwhelmed and very appreciative," said Hull. "We paid $2 million in dividends to our members this year, and a lot of that was thanks to the efforts we have made through Golden Spread. There has been a lot of hard work done through Golden Spread Electric Cooperative to serve all of us."

The resolution was sponsored by State Sens. Teel Bivins of Amarillo and John Montford of Lubbock.

Hull receives special honor

James Hull, left, president and general manager of Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative and chairman of the board of Golden Spread Electric Cooperative in Amarillo, receives a special resolution of the Texas Senate from Tammy Shaklee, district director for Sen. Teel Bivins.

Third grade students of Pruda Fults at Northwest Primary School in Hereford were busy Monday afternoon planting a pecan tree. The students have been studying Texas History and learned that the pecan is the state tree.

Richards continues battle with commerce department

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Ann Richards and the Texas Department of Commerce are continuing their battle.

On Monday, a Commerce official said that a top gubernatorial aide, who wants to become chief of Commerce, approved a $12,000 contract with a marketing firm that worked for Richards' campaign.

But a spokesman for Richards said the governor's longtime associate, Cathy Bonner, didn't approve the contract and that when she found out about it, the deal was canceled.

Richards' spokesman Bill Cryer also said the employee responsible for drawing up the contract resigned under pressure.

Cryer said that although the contract was awarded to Grissom, Webb & Webb without competing bids, nothing illegal occurred. He said the marketing firm had done volunteer work for Richards' election campaign.

Bob Branson, a spokesman for the commerce department said, "Ann Richards said the sweetheart deals are over when she took over as governor, but if this is not a sweetheart deal it is clearly poor management."

The contract with the marketing firm was for production of a videotape on a federal job training program. It was "requested by governor's office," according to a copy of a purchase requisition form distributed by commerce department officials.

The contract was signed by an assistant to Ms. Bonner above Ms. Bonner's title as director of economic development and international relations in the governor's office.

Ms. Bonner has said she wants to become executive director of the commerce department, a $325 million agency that promotes economic development and tourism. Richards has said she supports Ms. Bonner's attempt to get the job.

The Commerce board met today to consider filling the position.

Cryer said Ms. Bonner was unaware of the contract, but that when she found out about it on Sunday, she asked for the resignation of Mimi Purnell, an employee in Ms. Bonner's division.

Branson alleged that Ms. Purnell was being made a scapegoat, and that Ms. Bonner should be held accountable.

"The person who is responsible for that should not be put in charge of a $300 million agency," he said.

But Cryer said Ms. Purnell drew up the contract. A message left by The Associated Press on her answering machine was not immediately returned.

Richards wants ethics

AUSTIN (AP) - Lawmakers may be called into a special session if they fail to pass a strong ethics bill, Gov. Ann Richards says.

"We will do ourselves and people of Texas a disservice if we complete this (current) session without producing a strong ethics bill," she told the House State Affairs Committee on Monday.

"It is time for us to stop airing the family's dirty laundry and show the public that we are determined to clean up the perception that politics is a business that soils its practitioners," she said.

Richards said that if she and lawmakers fail to agree on a bill "then perhaps it would be better for us to consider it during a special session when we didn't have so many distractions."

Garden club announces officers

Members of the Garden Beautiful Club met recently in the home of Pat Northcutt with Jerry Jackson serving as co-hostess.

President Jeanne Dowell conducted a short business meeting and the nominating committee gave a report on the election of officers.

Officers elected were Jeanne Dowell, president; Jerry Jackson, first vice president; Vada Axe, second vice president; Doris Bryant, third vice president; Audine Dettmann, secretary; Mageute Cole, treasurer; and Dottie Darden, reporter.

A program on proper pruning of trees was presented by Ken McLain. Slides were shown on the correct way to prune trees. He told members that it is a mistake to top out trees. The top branch should be allowed to continue to grow while the side branches should be pruned off being sure to saw just outside the branch collar. Most pruning should be done between December and March. He reminded members that this is the time to spray for dandelions.

The next meeting will be a salad luncheon catered by Something Special on May 3.

Northcutt and Jackson served cheese rolls, fruit pizza, nuts and beverages to: Louise Axe, Bryant, Carmichael, Darden, Axe, Dettmann, Dowell, Havens, Hill, Jackson, Jones, Metcalf, Noland, Spinks, Story, Wiseman, and Young.

MILWAUKEE (AP) - Gene Wilder says women should find out if their families have a history of ovarian cancer so they can more accurately diagnose the disease that killed his wife, comic Gilda Radner.

"Maybe there are some other Gildas floating around out there being misdiagnosed," the 55-year-old actor said in a recent interview from his home in Stamford, Conn. "Maybe this information can help them."

Wilder, a Milwaukee native, is to be inducted Saturday into the Wisconsin Performing Artists Hall of Fame.

Radner didn't know other women in her family had the cancer until she had it herself.

Preparing for crusade

April is the month to highlight the fight against cancer. Members of Alpha Iota Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, from left, Donna Weaver, Wanda Huseman, Jane Meiwes, Patty Frerich and Marrie Leverett, are finalizing routes they will be taking during the American Cancer Society's Community Crusade scheduled for Sunday, April 21, from 2-5 p.m. The purpose of the community-wide crusade drive is to inform as many people as possible about cancer prevention, early detection, treatment, research and education programs.

Abundant Life

BY BOB WEAR

The present is important and we must never forget how very important it is. With this, we must also see the present as it is related to the future.

There is a very real sense in which our future is in our present. We must not be so concerned with the future that we neglect the present, neither let us be so absorbed with the present that we behave as if there is no tomorrow.

We must live in the present and act in the present so as to make the best of it, and we must manage the present with a wise view of and regard for "the long haul." We must never try to live as if there is to be no tomorrow. On the other hand, we must not fill the present with the destructiveness of excessive anxiety about the future. Neither viewpoint will be good for "the long haul."

Most of us will have more living to do than the living that we do this day, and this day managed wisely will better equip us for the days to come.

We cannot afford the view, "tomorrow will take care of itself," because this is the most certain way to be in trouble on the morrow. Living becomes increasingly difficult for the people who refuse to manage themselves and their time with a sensible view and understanding of "the long haul."

We must fill the present with crippling anxiety about the future, however, we must not limit the value of our present by pretending that there will be no future. There is a very real sense in which our present and our future are tied together.

The sensible things that we do today, the wise choices we make as we move along and the good management of all facets of living, now will fashion a better present and help prepare us for "the long haul."

Begin spring look with facial makeover

Spring is the season to set new goals for ourselves in our careers, home life and self image. Resolve to create a new look beginning with things that give immediate results, like a change in wardrobe, hairstyle and makeup and a new pair of contemporary styled eye glasses.

-Survey results: Does a facial makeover make that much of a difference? According to a recent national survey, the right frames coupled with an updated hair style and cosmetics can mean as much as a $30,000 difference in perceived earning potential and as much as a 10 point gain in perceived intelligence.

Status, position, earning power and intellect are perceived by others at first glance.

-Eyewear does change your image: The key to success in creating a "new you" is taking it one step at a time, instead of trying to do it all at once. New eyewear is an easy first step toward creating a new look, whether or not you need corrective lenses. Once you see the dramatic difference a new frame can make, you'll have the immediate reinforcement to keep to your more difficult goals, like losing those five extra pounds!

-The shape of your face determines which frames are the most flattering on your face.

Generally speaking chose a frame that is opposite to your face shape. A square face would look best in oval or rounded frames, while an oval face looks good in just about any shape. Round faces look best in straight, angled or geometric shaped glasses. Oblong faces look best in frames rounded at the bottom with a strong horizontal brow bar, such as a butterfly shape.

If your complexion is "warm" or "Mediterranean," for a flattering look, choose colored frames in corals, brick, turquoise, burnt orange, warm browns and loden or moss greens or any color with a yellow base.

If your complexion is "cool" with an underling pink cast, choose frames in charcoal, teal, wine, rosepetal, navy, violet, forest green, taupe or any color with a pink/blue base.

-The fit is important too! Frames should not rest on your cheeks except when you're smiling. And, if marks appear on your nose or if the top of your ears hurt or are uncomfortable, you have either chosen a frame style unsuitable for your facial contours or the fit is incorrect.

Association to meet tonight

All members of the Hereford Women's Golf Association and prospective members are urged to attend the organization's monthly meeting at 7 p.m. today at the Hereford Country Club.

The agenda will include making plans for upcoming events, as well as discussing regular business.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - A former Motown singer claims her voice was used to enhance Paula Abdul's on the hit album "Forever Your Girl."

Yvette Marine is suing Virgin Records for unspecified royalties and credit for the performance. She said she was never paid or acknowledged.

Marine's lawsuit, filed Monday in Los Angeles Superior Court, claims her voice was mixed with Abdul's on the songs "Opposites Attract" and "I Need You." "Forever Your Girl," has sold 7 million copies since its 1988 release.

Health news released

A group of American and Canadian epidemiologists (medical scientists who deal with the incidence, distribution and control of disease in a population) is investigating possible environmental causes of Parkinson's disease, a progressive neurological disorder marked by tremor and weakness of muscles.

It's been found that sometimes an apparently unusually large number of people in a given area may develop Parkinson's. Epidemiologists are looking into several such "clusters" of the illness in order to determine if drinking well water, living near wood pulp mills, in rural or industrialized areas have some influence on the development of the illness.

Canada's new flag, with its maple-leaf design, was unfurled in 1965 in ceremonies in Ottawa.

Hereford splits twin bill

Hereford baseball teams split a doubleheader with Pampa Saturday at Whiteface Field. The Maroon junior varsity team rode a thrilling finish for a 9-8 victory in the second game, but the varsity got the dirty end of the split, falling 13-1.

The varsity Harvesters scored in every inning but the fifth. They jumped to a 3-0 lead after one inning, and scored one each in the second, third and fourth innings before Hereford scored its only run in the bottom of the fourth.

Coach T.R. Sartor said Amado Lopez, his starter on the mound, had a strange game.

"He was at times overpowering, but then we'd make mistakes," Sartor said. "They hit him real hard five times, and then they'd get bloop and rollers."

Lopez pitched all seven innings. He struck out 10 batters, but walked six and allowed 13 hits. He gave up 13 runs, but due to six errors behind him, only four of the runs were earned.

Max Mungia scored the Herd's run. He singled in the fourth inning, went to second on a wild pick-off throw, moved to third on a wild pitch and scored on Louis Mungia's ground-out.

Roy Cantu was the only Whiteface to get multiple hits--going 2-for-3. He went into the game as a replacement for center fielder Matt Bromlow, who injured his arm in the first inning. Team trainer Ed Morrow said Monday that Bromlow will have it examined.

The second game saw Henry DeLaGarza double in the sixth to tie the game at 7-7, after which Richard Rodriguez singled in two runs to provide enough of a margin for the win.

Pampa's JV scored one run in the top of the seventh, but that was all.

Pampa led 2-0 after the top of the second, but the Herd came up with six runs in the bottom of the inning to lead 6-2.

The Harvesters wasted no time getting their lead back, plating five men in the top of the third for 7-6 advantage. No more runs were scored until the bottom of the sixth.

Ralph Holguin started the game and pitched three innings for Coach Bill Bridge. Ray Hastings came on in relief and pitched four to pick up the win.

9-run inning sinks Whites

Plainview's Red junior varsity team used a nine-run inning to break up a close game in the fifth inning, beating Hereford's White JV 11-4.

The Whites took a 3-2 lead in the bottom of the fourth inning.

Chris Vallejo led off with a walk and went to second on an errant pickoff throw from the pitcher. He moved over to third on a beautiful bunt-base hit by Fonzie Enriquez and scored on Jake Head's groundout.

Ruben Ramos singled home Enriquez. Ramos scored from first on a double Michael Campos smashed into the left field power alley. Finally Campos scored when the Plainview shortstop fielded Jason Paetzold's grounder and missed first base with the throw.

But in the top of the fifth, Plainview broke loose, scoring runs off both Hereford starter Andrew Tijerina and reliever Enriquez. The Bulldogs benefited mostly from three hits and three errors as they batted around and every man in the lineup scored.

The Whites scored one each in the fifth and sixth innings to provide the final score. Vallejo walked in the fifth and scored when Ramos hit into a double play. Chris Brummett scored in the sixth by reaching on a fielder's choice and coming home on Enriquez's single.

Getting a jump on the competition

Hereford hurdler Erin Dunn stretches to an early lead in the first eighth grade heat of the 100-meter hurdles event at the girls' junior high track meet held Friday at Whiteface Stadium. Dunn won the heat, but she came in second in the event.

Castillo wins distances

The Hereford High School girls' track team finished fourth behind Levelland, Plainview, and Midland Lee in the Plainview Invitational Saturday.

Levelland scored 114 points to take the title. Plainview and Midland Lee followed with 102 and 100 respectively.

Hereford accumulated 86 points, 14 more than Midland High. The rest of the pack consisted of Dunbar with 35, Clovis with 34 1/2, Lubbock High with 25 1/2 and Estacado with 9.

The Lady Whitefaces received first place points from Teresa Castillo in the 1,600- and 3,200-meter running events. Castillo's time in the 1,600 was 5:48.52, and her time in the 3,200 was 12:25.8.

Christie Burkhardt won the discus event with a throw of 108 feet, and she came in second in the shot with a put of 34-2 3/4.

Coach Martha Emerson got the best time of the year out of her 1,600 relay team Saturday. The team of Castillo, Jayme Moore, Jeannie Barrientez and Minerva Salazar ran the relay in 4:11.3.

The team also got personal bests out of three girls in other events: Barrientez, Roxann Torres and April Roddy.

Barrientez' 48.8 in the 300 hurdles was good for third place, Torres' 102-1 in the discus placed her fifth, and Roddy's 32-10 shot put earned her sixth place points.

The other Lady Whitefaces who scored points were Brandie Webb, second in the 800-meter run in 2:36.6; Salazar, third in the 800 in 2:39.5; Rita Soto, fifth in the 3,200 in 14:00.05; Barrientez, fifth in the 100 hurdles in 17.27; Rachel Alaniz, fifth in the 300 hurdles in 52.18; Moore, sixth in the 300 hurdles in 52.76; and the 400 relay team of Angie Jowell, Brandy Dunn, Krista West and Laura Rangel, which finished sixth in 54.38.

The junior varsity finished third in the JV division, led by two first-place finishes by Renee Banner: the 800, in 2:40.57, and the 1,600, in 6:28.7.

Tonya Castillo won the discus event with a throw of 96-3, and Traci Deckard won the long jump with a jump of 13-3. Deckard was also second in the triple jump at 29-3 1/2, fourth in the 100 dash in 13.91, and sixth in the 200 dash in 30.4.

Denise Davila and Rachel Martinez each earned points in two events. Davila was second in the 400 in 68.3 and third in the 800 in 2:51.61. Martinez was third in the 3,200 in 15:09 and fifth in the 1,600 in 7:05.1.

Rene Meyer took third in the discus event with a throw of 91-2.

Michelle Brock and Amy Long were second and third, respectively, in the shot, but their distances were unavailable.

Golfers stay 3rd in district

The Hereford High School boys' golf team played in district rounds at Randall Friday and in Dumas Saturday, while the girls' team participated in the Amarillo Golf Relays, finishing fourth.

Paula Britten's 94 Friday and 98 Saturday for a total of 192 was ninth individually and led the Lady Whitefaces to an 817 two-day total.

Amarillo High totalled 761 to win the meet. Three of Hereford's District 1-4A rivals were in the Relays: Pampa, Borger and Caprock. Pampa's 773 tied for second with Plainview; Borger at 822 was five strokes behind Hereford; and Caprock at 1,004 finished a distant sixth and last.

The boys' team shot 336 Friday at Randall and a 325 Saturday to give the team a four-round total of 1,378.

That widened their lead over the teams behind them, but, although they finished ahead of Pampa on Saturday, they allowed the Harvesters and first-place Borger to stretch their lead over the Herd.

Pampa shot 327 Friday and 326 Saturday for a four-round total of 1,340--38 strokes ahead of the Herd.

Borger shot 317 Friday and 312 Saturday to lead both rounds. The Bulldogs' four-round total is 1270. That gives them imposing leads of 70 strokes over Pampa and 108 over Hereford with just two district rounds remaining.

Hereford's junior varsity team shot 364 Friday and 348 Saturday. The JV remains in fifth place.

Individually, Kevin Kelso is in a tie for eighth place, and Anthony Gale is tied for eleventh.

Following are the scores for boys who participated in all four rounds, with Friday's score, Saturday's score and four-round total. After those are JV players who played in either Friday's or Saturday's round, but not in all four rounds, and therefore have no total.

- V Kevin Kelso: 79-85--338.
- Anthony Gale: 83-79--340.
- Cory Newton: 86-80--350.
- Mikel Walsler: 96-83--351.
- Jayson Mines: 88-83--360.

- JV David McCarter: 89-87--356.
- Clay Cantrell: 93-84--365.
- David Bone: 91-103--381.
- Santry Hacker: 91-86-- X.
- Tim Burkhalter: 93- X.
- Pete Jaaskalainen: X-91.

The rest of the Lady Whitefaces' individual scores at Amarillo were Cecelia Albracht at 99-106--205; Kelly Kelso at 104-102--206; Jennifer Prater at 106-110--216; and Stephanie Walls at 111-108--219.

Smith leads boys' track team

The Hereford High School boys' track team finished seventh in a tough Abilene Invitational field Saturday.

Coach Ron Young said that all of the competing teams were 5A except Hereford and Estacado--and Estacado might as well be a 5A team. Odessa Permian won the meet.

The Whitefaces got nearly half their points from Sean Smith, who high jumped 6-4 to finish second.

Stephen Banner placed fifth in the 400-meter run with a time of 50.74 seconds.

Leo Brown and Mark Daniel each got a point for sixth places. Daniel threw the discus 136-11, and Brown ran the 110-meter high hurdles in 15.04.

The team also got points from two relay teams. The 400 team of Banner, Petey Colvin, Sean Fogo and Chris Steward finished fifth in 44.2

seconds, and the 1,600 team of Banner, Steward, Fogo and Brown finished sixth in 3:34.22.

The junior varsity team came in fifth. Most of their points came from their 1,600-meter relay team and one shot putter.

Mark Kuper, Quincy Curtis, Leonard Martinez and Pedro Dominguez ran the relay in 3:51.50, good for third place and 12 points.

Craig Hiltbrunner put the shot 40-2 3/4, finished second and received eight points.

The other JV point-earners were Jack Borden, fifth in the 3,200 with a time of 11:28.11, and the 400 relay team of Martinez, Curtis, Tim Gee and Hondo Nava, which came in fifth in 47.7 seconds.

Junior high track girls win own meet

The Hereford Junior High girls' track teams won the track meet they hosted Friday at Whiteface Stadium.

Both the eighth and seventh grade teams outdueled Pampa's teams. The eighth-graders scored 162 points to Pampa's 141. Borger was third with an even 100 points, followed by Canyon with 80, Dumas with 51, Valleyview with 41 and Plainview with 12.

The seventh grade Lady Whitefaces outscored Pampa 118 1/2 to 109. Borger was again third with 101, followed by Dumas with 82, Valleyview with 81, Canyon with 41 1/2 and Plainview with 24.

Here are partial results of the meet. Winners of each event for each grade are listed, with name, school and time, height or distance. All Hereford point-earners are also listed, with place preceding name.

1,600 relay: 8--1, Hereford (Becky Henderson, Gina Haschke, Priscilla Saucedo and Monica Diaz), 4:32.28. 7--1, Pampa, 4:36.9; 2, Hereford (Carlotta Ruiz, Krista Beville, Natalie McWhorter and Amy Andrews), 4:46.63.

Rodeo team at Tri-State

The Hereford High School Rodeo Team competed in the Tri-State Rodeo in Channing Saturday.

Jennifer Smith won the goat tying event with a time of 8.781 seconds. In the same event, Chasity Rickman was sixth at 10.540 and Samantha Winters was seventh at 10.557.

Smith also placed fifth in the poles event at 21.613 and eighth in breakaway roping at 4.968.

Rickman placed third in the barrels event with a time of 18.726. Regina Lewis was fifth at 18.787.

The club will be hosting rodeos at the Hereford Riders' Arena April 20 and 21.

Now, a single policy with double protection.

Imagine a life insurance policy that protects your family's future in more than one way. Suppose it also protected you from the financial consequences of long term health care while you're living, without reducing the life insurance benefit.

That's the policy our independent agency recommends for many customers thinking about retirement. It's called the Total Protection Plan from the CNA Insurance Companies, one of several we represent. It's the first policy that pays the full cash value or death benefit of your life insurance even after you receive long term care benefits.

Ryan follows Bush to mound, loses 5-4

By The Associated Press

President Bush didn't have his best stuff. Neither did Nolan Ryan.

The president, however, left the Arlington Stadium field after one pitch, a bouncer in the dirt. Ryan stuck around a lot longer and was saddled with a 5-4 loss to the Milwaukee Brewers.

Ryan, 44, was the fourth oldest pitcher to start an opener. Jack Quinn, 47, was the oldest for the Brooklyn Dodgers back in 1931.

"I thought he had pretty good stuff, but I've seen him with better stuff," said Robin Yount, whose two-run homer was the big blow against Ryan. "I've seen him enough to know that you don't want him to get on a roll. He's the type of pitcher who gets stronger as the game goes along."

The Texas Rangers ace, now 5-3 in openers, struck out nine, walked two and gave up nine hits, two of them for extra bases, in seven innings. He fell behind 3-0 before the Rangers got back to 3-2. Then Yount hit a fastball 390 feet and it hit the top of the left field fence and fell over.

"The only pitch that didn't hurt me was the change," Ryan said. "Yount hit a fastball. That's his history. He hits mediocre fastballs for homers."

In other games, it was Boston 6, Toronto 2; Detroit 6, New York 4; Chicago 9, Baltimore 1; and Kansas City 4, Cleveland 2.

A crowd of 40,560 fans gave a rousing ovation to President Bush, whose son George W. Bush is managing partner for the Rangers. For Yount, the president's presence was something special.

"My day was complete just to shake the hand of the president," Yount said.

"It's really disappointing to lose a game like that when you have so many fans and the president in the stands," Ryan said. "I don't think all the hoopla bothered me."

Red Sox 6, Blue Jays 2

At Toronto, Roger Clemens improved to 10-4 lifetime against the Blue Jays and Jack Clark marked his return to the American League with a grand slam.

Clemens, pitching while his suspension stemming from last year's playoff run-in with umpire Terry Cooney is delayed, allowed one run in eight innings. He gave up six hits, struck out six and walked none.

Clark, signed as a free agent for $8.7 million over three years, hit his eighth career grand slam in the third inning. It was only the second homer with the bases loaded allowed by Dave Stieb.

Tigers 6, Yankees 4

At Detroit, Cecil Fielder twice missed home runs with long flyouts. He did come through with a two-run double for the Tigers, however, breaking a seventh-inning tie.

"We're going to have to score some runs," Fielder said. "I don't feel pitchers can really pitch around anybody in our lineup when we're all healthy."

That lineup includes Alan Trammell, who homered and drove in four runs as the Tigers stopped New York's streak of five consecutive opening wins. Kevin Maas and Mike Blowers homered for the Yankees.

White Sox 9, Orioles 1

At Baltimore, Sammy Sosa and Jack McDowell had big days.

Sosa hit a pair of home runs and knocked in five runs, while McDowell pitched a four-hitter and struck out 10.

Sosa batted only .149 with five RBIs in spring training. But he got off to a quick start with a three-run homer off Jeff Ballard and a solo shot off Paul Kilgus.

Royals 4, Indians 2

At Kansas City, the Royals showed much of the spirit they seemed to lack last year, when they plummeted to sixth place in the AL West. The catalyst on opening day was free agent Kirk Gibson, who tripled in his first at-bat and fired up the team and the crowd as he slid into third base.

"I wish I could bottle the adrenaline you feel on opening day. It's a special feeling," Gibson said. "Something like that is just spontaneous."

Bret Saberhagen, just 5-9 in an injury-ravaged 1990, pitched seven innings and gave up one earned run on six hits, striking out five. Jeff Montgomery pitched two innings for a save.

Albert Belle, who led spring training in home runs and RBIs, hit a solo homer and run-scoring grounder.

Expos' Martinez carries no-hitter into 7th

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Dennis Martinez found himself thinking no-hitter after five innings. He should have known he'd finish with a one-hitter.

The Pittsburgh Pirates wouldn't mind a replay of 1990, but certainly not this way. They're still losing to Montreal, still losing to Martinez and they're still losing one-hitters.

Martinez, who dominates the Pirates more than any National League pitcher - with the possible exception of the Dodgers' Tim Lincecum - quieted the largest baseball crowd in Pittsburgh history by pitching six no-hit innings in the Expos' 7-0 victory Monday night.

The Pirates' lone hit on the night they raised their 1990 NL East championship banner was Barry Bonds' leadoff single in the seventh. Former Pirates Barry Jones and Scott Ruskin finished off the one-hitter with a hitless inning apiece.

In other openers Monday, it was Cincinnati 6, Houston 2, and New York 2, Philadelphia 1.

Martinez (1-0) improved to 8-2 lifetime against the Pirates, who were 5-13 against the Expos in 1990.

"He never gives in against you," said Bobby Bonilla, who was 0-for-3. "He's nasty. He hits his spots well, doesn't let up and has good stuff."

Expos' pitchers have thrown one-hitters in three of their last 18 games, including Chris Nabholz's 2-0 victory over New York last Sept. 20.

But one-hitters are a rarity on opening day. According to Expos publicist Richard Griffin, there hadn't been one in the majors since Ken McBride and Julio Navarro of the Los Angeles Angels against the Washington Senators on April 12, 1964.

The Angels' catcher then? None other than Expos manager Buck Rodgers.

Playing for the first time in a week after being rained out in their last four exhibition games, the Expos worked over 1990 NL Cy Young Award winner Doug Drabek (0-1) and three relievers for 15 hits.

Ivan Calderon, the Expos' key off-season acquisition, was 3-for-5 with a two-run homer in his NL debut and Dave Martinez and Larry Walker had three hits apiece. Catcher Ron Hassey, a non-roster invitee to spring training, had two hits and two RBIs.

Calderon, acquired with Jones from the Chicago White Sox for Tim Lincecum, followed Dave Martinez's single with a two-run homer in the fifth for a 4-0 lead.

Dennis Martinez wondered if he might be looking at the first no-hitter of his 15-year career.

Martinez, who pitched in the 1979 World Series for Baltimore against the Pirates, said he hung a pair of pitches to Gary Redus in his first two times at bat, but his outfielders ran down both of his mistakes.

"I said to myself that sometimes that's how you get no-hitters; They hit it hard but somebody catches it," Martinez said. "I thought maybe this will be my night. I was hitting my spots and was getting the ball to sink."

Drabek got that sinking feeling in the first when he realized he wasn't getting his breaking ball over for strikes. Tim Wallach had an RBI single in the first and Walker doubled ahead of Hassey's RBI single in the second.

Mets 2, Phillies 1

At New York, Dwight Gooden led New York's 19th victory in 22 season openers. Making his sixth opening-day start for the Mets, Gooden fanned three of the first four batters. In eight innings, he gave up one run, six hits, struck out seven and walked one. The only run he yielded was John Kruk's homer.

John Franco got the last three outs for the save.

Hubie Brooks, making his Shea Stadium return, doubled leading off the fourth inning and moved to third on Kevin McReynolds' fly ball. One out later, Tom Herr walked and the runners executed a double steal for the winning run.

POOR HERMAN

PONTE VEDRA, Fla. (AP) - Senior golf star Lee Trevino has an unusual method of getting rid of anger when something on the course gets on his nerves.

As he starts to tee up, Lee thinks of his long-time caddie and friend, Herman Mitchell.

"When I get mad at Herman it adds 20 yards to my drive," Trevino said. "I look down at the ball, think of him, and hit it far down the fairway."

Reds 6, Astros 2

In the traditional NL opener at Cincinnati, the World Series champions got their rings, then started to work on another title.

Tom Browning pitched a five-hitter before needing relief in the ninth and doubled home three runs.

Browning, 15-9 in 1990, gave up a solo homer in the fourth to Craig Biggio and another run in the ninth on Eric Yelding's triple and Steve Finley's sacrifice fly. The Astros loaded the bases against Randy Myers before Rob Dibble got Jeff Bagwell to line to shortstop Barry Larkin for a double play.

Browning also doubled with the bases loaded to highlight a five-run fourth inning off Mike Scott.

Umpires agree to new contract

NEW YORK (AP) - The industry with two $5 million pitchers now has two $200,000 umpires.

Major league umpires agreed to a new contract Monday and ended their two-day walkout. The only game they made it to was Milwaukee's opener at Texas, but they will be back today for all nine games.

"It looked as if it was improbable, if not impossible, that we would reach an agreement without a long, bitter strike," said Richie Phillips, head of the Major League Umpires Association.

But then the American and National Leagues increased their offer during a bargaining session that began at 4 p.m. Sunday and ended shortly before noon on Monday.

"Money was the biggest issue," commissioner Fay Vincent said. "I think both sides compromised."

Under the four-year agreement, the minimum salary for umpires rises from $41,000 to $60,000 and the maximum goes from $105,000 to $175,000. Umpires get a third week of vacation during the season, a rise in daily expense money from $169 to $185 and increases in medicals, benefits, insurance coverage and pensions. In addition, the postseason pool rises from $800,000 to $1.2 million.

That means Doug Harvey and Harry Wendelstedt, the most senior of baseball's 60 umpires, will make $201,000 per year: $175,000 in salary, $20,000 from the postseason pool and $6,000 for being crew chiefs.

"We got to where we had to get," Phillips said. "We got to where we were comfortable."

And so did the leagues. They wanted the best umpires for the All-Star game, playoffs and World Series, seeking to wipe away restrictions that forced them to rotate umpires with more than six years in the majors.

"The idea was to be sure that we could reward people for working hard and performing well," Vincent said.

Under the new contract, the league and major league officials can choose which umpires will work postseason games.

Monday's only game with regulars was in Texas, where Jim Evans, Durwood Merrill, Larry McCoy and Tim McClelland umpired as President Bush watched the Rangers play Milwaukee.

"We were close enough that we were able to get here in time," Evans said.

Other games made do with amateurs: college and high school umpers and former major and minor leaguers.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your recent column about the grueling hours that some resident physicians are required to work was right on.

These men and women are dedicated to providing high quality care for patients while completing specialty training. When they are forced to work 36 hours at a stretch, they can't possibly function at 100 percent efficiency. The patients are the losers. Programs that require stressed-out, exhausted residents to continue to work are risking the lives of these patients. This practice must be changed.

We are happy to report that the American Medical Association is throwing its weight behind abolishing the old work schedules. This support is of great significance. We are hoping that other organizations which influence and control the standards for residency training programs will also take a stand in favor of sane work hours for resident physicians. The public deserves no less.--Joseph T. Painter, M.D., and Laurie G. McKeown, M.D., American Medical Association, Chicago.

Dear Drs. Painter and McKeown: Thanks for writing. I agree that those old schedules should be humanized. Here's another point of view.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read with interest your recent column on residents/interns working 36 hours on and 12 hours off. I was trained in that era and am writing to defend it.

The 36 hours on duty and 12 hours off sounds a lot tougher than it actually is. A fair amount of sleep can be obtained during the 36-hour stretch.

There are some specialties, primarily those involving the operating room, where long hours are an absolute necessity. Those who choose to go into surgical specialties are the ones who seem to understand the stamina that is required and they possess the Darwinian capacity to endure it.

The rationale of the long schedule was two-fold: To enable the young man or woman in training to become exposed, physically and emotionally, to the rigors of surgery, as well as imparting, even with its imperfections, a sense of continuity in the care of patients. I might also add that most of us were so happy to have been accepted in a training program and were so humbled by the amount of knowledge to be learned that we felt it took such a schedule to accomplish our goal in such a short period of time.

Ann, I can tell you with absolute candor that I have no recollection of ever witnessing a mistake made from exhaustion due to long hours, nor do I remember complaints from the physicians who were on hospital duty although obviously there were some complaints from spouses at home, as expressed in your recent column. Nor were paranoia, suicide, alcohol or drug abuse a problem among the resident staff or to my knowledge in the years following training.--John N. Simons, M.D., Paradise Valley, Ariz.

Dear Dr. Simons: Thank you for writing. As for your last paragraph--from your pen to God's ears. Would that this were the case everywhere.

Gem of the day: You can tell all you need to know about a man by listening to the words he uses most: For example, do you hear "I, me, mine" or "you, yours, ours"?

Lonesome? Take charge of your life and turn it around. Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.15 to: Friends, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Discussing retirement

Approximately 75 people attended a retirement seminar Thursday at the Hereford Community Center. The two-hour event was sponsored by the Hereford Retired School Employees Association and the Hereford Independent School District. Don Cadenhead of Austin, who is with the Teacher Retirement System, at left, speaks to Kenneth Helms, assistant principal at Hereford Junior High School.

Health emphasis on garlic to help eliminate disease

With more than 6 million Americans now afflicted with heart disease every year and nearly a half million dying from heart attacks, it is no wonder that there is a growing emphasis to eliminate the problem.

The good news is that continual public awareness campaigns against smoking, fatty foods, and the promotion of more healthful living habits is beginning to pay off.

Officials at the Center for Health Statistics now say that the rate of coronary heart disease is declining annually.

One of the key barometers of heart related problems is high cholesterol levels because the buildup of plaque restricts the blood flow. Discussions about cholesterol today get almost as much attention as the weather. Doctors and public health officials advocate keeping cholesterol levels below 200.

Because of the interest in cholesterol, scientists too are working hard on effective "natural" ways to reduce cholesterol that are productive and inexpensive along with low-fat, high fiber diets.

Dozens of researchers are now concentrating their work on one particular herb, garlic, because it has proven to be so effective in reducing cholesterol as well as performing some other important jobs in the body to restore health.

"This year's nutritional hits could well be garlic and carrots," concluded U.S. News and World Report in a recent article on the subject.

The popularity of garlic as an effective medicine, according to scientists, is because there have been enough studies done to show that it can reduce cardiovascular disease.

And now, a researcher using an aged garlic extract has been able to lower serum cholesterol in a special study group subjected to strict scientific guidelines.

Dr. Benjamin Lau, a professor at Loma Linda University School of Medicine in Southern California, said he gave four capsules of Kyolic daily to a group of 32 patients with high cholesterol levels. In six months, 65 percent of the patients reached a normal serum cholesterol range.

"This study confirms previous reports of lowering cholesterol and triglycerides (fatty acids) using various garlic preparations," Dr. Lau said. "It suggests that odor-modified garlic extract may be used in conjunction with dietary modification for control of hyperlipidemia."

Two research groups at the University of Wisconsin and Penn State University in separate experiments said cholesterol was lowered in animals and chickens using aged garlic extract. In addition, they also found that using the extract prevented the buildup of cholesterol in the liver, which produces about three times as much cholesterol as eating food.

Taking raw garlic for medicinal purposes is not attractive to most people, because of its lingering odor. Taken in large quantities, it can also cause a burning sensation in the stomach as well as digestive tract disorders and anemia.

By aging garlic, its toxicity is greatly reduced, according to Dr. O. Imada, a researcher for M.D. Anderson Cancer Center. "Commercially available aged garlic extract is almost without toxicity even when a very large dose is taken," he said.

The significance of aged garlic goes even further, says Dr. Robert I. Lin, the leading authority on the subject and chairman of the First World Garlic Congress. There is enough new evidence to show that Kyolic, aged garlic extract and one of its active nutrients, S-allyl cysteine, can not only lower cholesterol, but also prevent blood from clotting.

The garlic extract, according to scientific studies, lowers triglycerides, which are the fatty acids in the blood.

Navy Dentalman Apprentice Serapio S. Cabezuella, son of Serapio C. and Rita Z. Cabezuella of 203 Higgins, Hereford, was graduated from Field Medical Service School.

During the course of Field Medical Service School, Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif., Cabezuella was prepared for duty with Marine Corps combat units as a Naval hospital corpsman and dental technician. Cabezuella studied the fundamentals of battlefield survival, personal protective measures, and received instructions on basic tactics and the use of weapons for self-defense.

To graduate, he has required to demonstrate basic proficiency in emergency medical techniques, casualty evacuation, field sanitation and preventive medicine procedures.

A 1990 graduate of Hereford High School, he joined the Navy in June 1990.

Navy Dentalman Recruit Serapio S. Cabezuella, son of Serapio C. and Rita Z. Cabezuella of 203 Higgins, recently completed the basic dental assistant course at the Naval School of Dental Assisting and Technology, Naval Station, San Diego, Calif.

During the course, Cabezuella received instruction in medical and dental fundamentals, dental operator equipment, intra-oral radiography, immediate life-saving procedure, sterilization and disinfection, preventive dentistry, oral examination and operative dentistry assisting, emergency first aid and casualty care, along with receptionist and clerical duties.

A 1990 graduate of Hereford High School, he joined the Navy in June 1990.

Cruciferous vegetables are often referred to as cabbage-family or mustard-family vegetables. Their name comes from a four-leaf pattern that resembles a cross. Other than cabbage and mustard greens, cruciferous vegetables include broccoli, brussels sprouts, kohlrabi, and cauliflower, all of which may help prevent certain cancers from developing. Hints for driving security

No one likes to think that he or she could be a victim of attack. Ignoring the possibility, however, can be equally as dangerous.
There are many things you can do to increase your personal safety. Here are a few suggestions to help you guard against attack in and around your car.
-Trust your instincts. If you think you might be in danger, whether driving or on foot, it's probably time to react. Your personal safety is the first priority in time of emergency. You can never be too alert or too careful.
-Draw attention to yourself any way you can if you think you are being followed. Proceed to a well-lit, public place and summon help. If you're on foot, carry a police whistle on your key chain and blow it repeatedly. If you're driving, honk your horn or blink your headlights.
-Do not go home if you think you're being followed. This only tells the person following where you live.
-Have your keys in our hand and ready to unlock the door without delay when walking alone to your car. Walk purposefully and look confident.
-Choose a well-lit, safe path to your car. Avoid short cuts and dark areas through isolated or unfamiliar places.
-Arrive and leave parking lots during daylight hours. A parking lot can often be the site of an attack. Always be aware of your surroundings and try to arrive and leave when others are present.
-Park in a well-lit place as close to an entrance as possible.
-Choose an alternate route if you notice a stranger sitting in a parked car or standing in your path.
-Know where and how to use your hazard lights should your car break down. You should also keep a working flashlight with fresh batteries in your car as well as warning flares or reflectors.
-Move your car to a safe area off to the side of the road if your car is having mechanical difficulties. Immediately turn on the emergency flashers.
-Never get into a stranger's car if you're having car trouble. Remain where you are with the doors locked until help arrives. If someone approaches to offer help, but not a uniformed officer, crack the window slightly to communicate. Offer a quarter and ask them to call for help.

In Virginia in 1819 excess in dress was discouraged by placing a wardrobe tax.

Richardson delays discipline for players

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) - It was Arkansas basketball coach Nolan Richardson's decision to reject a top school official's recommendation for swift, tough discipline for four players involved in a sexual incident, athletic director Frank Broyles says.

That incident was the subject of a report issued Monday by a university judicial board. The report was given to the players involved, but not made public. The board has authority to discipline students.

"He made the decision about what to do, but we discussed things together and I was in complete agreement with what he did because he wanted and I wanted due process to take place," Broyles said of Richardson in a telephone interview from his office.

Richardson declined comment, through UA spokesmen. The spokesmen said Broyles was speaking on Richardson's behalf. Richardson was recruiting in Texas during the weekend, but was back in Fayetteville on Monday.

A 34-year-old Springdale woman told police she was sexually assaulted punished, it would be a private matter.

UA chancellor Dan Ferritor and Broyles have declined to talk about the specifics of Ferritor's recommendation.

Ferritor, during a Saturday news conference conducted by administrators and Broyles, appeared to hint at Richardson's actions against the players: "I recommended team discipline. I'm not sure I go to things like running up and down stairs and things like that which didn't seem to me to be particularly appropriate."

Ferritor said later: "There is no doubt that my recommendation was for more immediate action and stronger action than was taken."

Richardson didn't attend the news conference.

Ferritor said it was Broyles' responsibility to pass the recommendation on to Richardson. He said he wasn't upset that his recommendation wasn't followed.

Jim Blair, chairman of the board of trustees, said Sunday it was possible that Richardson never got the message. "I think what happened was the chancellor told the athletic director and the athletic director didn't press it with the coach," Blair said.

Broyles, when asked about Blair's in the athletic dorm in February. Four basketball players said they had sex with her, but that she had consented.

The woman did not press charges, and prosecutor Andrew Ziser said there was not enough evidence to file charges.

Doug Norwood of Rogers, an attorney for the woman, said he was told by a spokeswoman for the All-University Judicial Board that the report was issued to the players, in person, by the faculty-student board.

"I was told I couldn't attend," Norwood said. He said he still expects to be issued a copy of the report.

School spokesman Jim Treadway said the woman will likely get a letter outlining results of the board's hearing.

Richardson has said he disciplined one player, Darrell Hawkins, because the incident occurred in his dorm room. Hawkins, who missed the 1990-91 season because of an injury, will be suspended for the first three games of next season.

The coach has refused to talk about possible discipline to other players involved, saying if they were comment, blasted the media, which has covered the incident heavily in Arkansas. "Y'all are idiots," he told the Arkansas Democrat on Sunday.

On Monday, he said: "Coach Richardson and I discussed every option, including Dan Ferritor's."

Blair said he and Ferritor would have preferred that Richardson and Broyles take strong action against the players while the case was being reviewed. Blair said a coach can bench a player or suspend a player without due process. He said other school officials can't take action against students without following due process - procedures intended to protect an individual's constitutional rights.

But Broyles - and apparently Richardson - took another tack in the name of fairness.

"It seemed to us that under these circumstances, to deny the right of due process would have been to let the emotion of the time dictate our response," Broyles said Saturday.

"Do I think everybody would have been better off if there had been dramatic, swift and public action taken? Yes, I do, but that's like saying this guy shouldn't have called a pass on fourth down on Saturday. I have the luxury of hindsight," Blair said Monday.

On Sunday, he said the public clamor for action against the players resembled a lynch-mob mentality. He said the incident wouldn't have caused such a flap if four white athletes were accused of attacking a black woman. The four players involved in February's incident are black; the woman is white.

The recommendation to Broyles was not an order, Ferritor and Blair said. Both said they weren't upset that the recommendation wasn't followed through. "There is nothing wrong with not following a suggestion," Blair said.

Barone to be named as next Aggie coach

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) - Creighton University coach Tony Barone will be named as head basketball coach at Texas A&M University today, according to published reports.

"It's a done deal," a person close to the situation told the Omaha World-Herald.

Sources also told the Bryan-College Station Eagle that Barone would become Texas A&M's 16th men's basketball coach today.

A&M officials have called a press conference to announce a new coach at noon (CDT) today.

Texas A&M Athletic Director John David Crow could not be reached for comment late Monday night.

Barone will replace 31-year-old Kermit Davis, who turned in his forced resignation last month after a three-month internal investigation uncovered eight violations of NCAA rules.

Another person confirmed that Barone and his wife Kathy left Monday for College Station, Texas, the Nebraska newspaper reported.

"He's gone," the person said. "It's all going to be over with tomorrow."

Barone, 102-82 in six seasons at Creighton, interviewed for the job last Thursday and Friday.

Barone and his wife had also met with A&M Athletic Director John David Crow at the Final Four in Indianapolis.

Barone couldn't be reached for comment Monday night. They are scheduled to attend the press conference in College Station.

Texas A&M Sports Information

Director Alan Cannon told The Associated Press the school contacted several candidates, but Barone was the only coach brought in for an interview.

"Tony was the only person that I personally met," Cannon said. "I don't know if John (David Crow) talked to someone else over the weekend."

George Grieb, Creighton vice president in charge of the athletic department, said Monday night he couldn't confirm if Barone had resigned his job.

"I can't confirm a thing," Grieb said. Barone's final Creighton finished 24-8 and upset 15th-ranked New Mexico State in the first round of the NCAA tournament.

Barone coached the Bluejays to three straight 20-victory seasons, two Missouri Valley Conference regular-season and tournament championships, two NCAA tournament appearances and one trip to the National Invitation Tournament.

Barone, a Chicago native and Duke graduate, also interviewed for the coaching vacancy at Colorado State and was contacted about the head coaching job at Bradley, where he was an assistant coach for seven years.

A&M struggled to an 8-21 record this season, only the third 20-loss season in the 79-year history of the program and the first since 1955.

Davis was hired a year ago to replace Shelby Metcalf, who coached the Aggies to six Southwest Conference titles in 27 seasons.

Texas A&M is scheduled to build a new $35 million, 14,500-seat arena in the next two years.

Spurs keep division lead

By The Associated Press

The San Antonio Spurs are peaking. Just ask the man at their summit, David Robinson.

"We are starting to play with a lot more confidence," Robinson said after the Spurs' fourth consecutive victory and ninth in 10 games, 115-105 over Golden State on Monday night. "We are as good right now as we have ever been."

That's good enough for a 1 1/2-game lead in the Midwest Division over Houston. It also was too good for the Warriors, who are the Spurs' likely first-round playoff opponent.

San Antonio used a 21-4 fourth-quarter rally. The Spurs got 26 points from Sean Elliott, 24 from Robinson and 20 from Terry Cummings.

In other games, it was Seattle 118-112 over Denver for K.C. Jones' 500th career coaching victory; Atlanta 105-94 over Washington; and Utah 111-95 over Orlando.

Golden State led 83-79 with 10:32 to play when San Antonio erupted. The Spurs limited the Warriors to just two field goals over the next six minutes, pulling out to a 100-87 lead.

"That was playoff basketball," Warriors coach Don Nelson said. "I thought we played very well. I've always said if we play hard and intense and lose, I don't have a problem with that."

Chris Mullin led the Warriors with 20 points, one more than Tim Hardaway. Mitch Richmond added 16.

"The difference was they tightened up the defense when they had to and made the big plays at crunch time," Mullin said.

They also had a huge edge at the foul line, making 37 of 41 to Golden State's 13 of 18.

San Antonio set a franchise attendance record Monday, attracting its 37th capacity crowd in 38 games to reach 604,241, 633 more than last year's total.

SuperSonics 118, Nuggets 112

At Seattle, Jones became the 14th coach in NBA history to win 500 games as the SuperSonics won for the fifth time in six games. Jones, in his first season as coach of the Sonics, previously coached the Washington Bullets and Boston Celtics.

The Sonics swept the season series from the Nuggets 4-0 and moved within one win of clinching the eighth and final playoff spot in the Western Conference.

Shawn Kemp scored five points in a 19-2 run as the Sonics erased a 101-97 Denver lead early in the fourth quarter. Rickey Pierce, Eddie Johnson and Benoit Benjamin led the Sonics with 19 points apiece.

Orlando Woolridge led the Nuggets with 27 points and Adams added 19.

Hawks 105, Bullets 94

At Atlanta, the Hawks handed the Bullets their fifth straight road loss and 13th in 14 games. Duane Ferrell had a career-high 20 points for the hosts, who were led by Atlanta's Dominique Wilkins with 29 points.

Pervis Ellison's 26 points were tops for the Bullets. Eackles finished with 18 points and Tom Hammonds and John Williams added 14 each.

Jazz 111, Magic 95

At Salt Lake City, Karl Malone scored 15 of his 34 points in the fourth quarter and Jeff Malone added 20 points for Utah, which is two games behind San Antonio. The Jazz led 78-73 heading into the fourth quarter, then the Malones combined for 23 points in the period.

Dennis Scott led the Magic with 26 points. Otis Smith had 21 points and Scott Skiles had 20.

Gallahadion, a 35-1 shot, defeated Bimelech, the 2-to-5 favorite, in the 1940 Kentucky Derby.

Col. E.R. Bradley owned four Kentucky Derby winners, whose names all began with the letter B.
