Board reviews policies, welcomes Flores

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Sylvia Flores became the newest member of the Hereford school board on Tuesday, taking the place of Jo Garcia as the representative of District 2.

The board also reviewed several policy changes at its meeting, which was postponed July 12 because most board members then were out of town.

Garcia resigned her position in March because she was moving out of the district. The board advertised for replacement to fill the position, and picked Flores in June. She will serve until next May, when the seat will be up for election.

The board approved on second reading the new student transfer policy which will make it tougher for future students living outside the district to attend Hereford schools. The policy will have no changes for outside students currently attending Hereford schools, and the district's deal to accept secondary student from the Walcott school district in the western part of Deaf Smith County is intact.

"In talking to other school people, I've found we've been very lenient. I think we have been very fair in this new policy," said board president John Fuston.

The board approved administrative guidelines to reduce travel costs and require administrative approval for trips.

"We're going to stop this stuff of asking us a week after the trip," said Superintendent Charles Greenawalt. "They have to let us know of their plans in advance, and they have to do a better job of making travel plans."

The guidelines also resulted in a $20,000 savings in travel, although that wasn't the original goal. "We weren't looking at the monetary aspect when we started," said Marc Williamson, assistant superintendent for instruction. "We were looking for equity."

The board also approved new policies for substitute teacher pay and for pay for coaches.

In the past, only coaches in boys' sports received pay for working in August, although cross-country coach Martha Emerson and volleyball coach Brenda Reeh also worked in August.

Some of the boys' coaches were paid at different levels, regardless of the tasks performed, for their work in August that comes in addition to their 10-month teaching contracts. The plan submitted by Athletic Director Don Cumpton specifies tasks to be performed by each coach and the number of extra days worked by each coach.

"This is not a raise," Greenawalt emphasized. "This is something that has been done all along."

Cumpton's original plan called for a few extra days for Emerson and Reeh this year. Board members, however, called for complete equity.

"We need to include Martha Emerson and Brenda Reeh in this as full partners," said board member Dennis Newton. "It's an inequity when a football coach gets 14 days and a volleyball coach gets none." The board finally decided to pay all coaches at a daily rate for all days worked before Sept. 1 up to a maximum of 14 days.

The board also approved, on first reading, an at-risk plan that could reduce the dropout rate by identifying students who are having problems in school, placing those children in special classes, and giving them extra time to study specific subjects.

"Under this program we are allowed to make adjustments in the time it takes to complete a course, in the time devoted to a subject in a day," said Curriculum Director Alice Lockmiller. "We are trying to meet the student's needs by presenting a different way, whatever it takes to get them through school and be successful."

The Texas Education Agency says the program must begin in September.

During board committee reports, the board strongly hinted it will consider a tax increase at its August board meeting when it also considers the 1988-89 budget.

"In the last three years we have had a budget increase of $1.5 million," said Fuston. "$1.2 million of that was mandated by House Bill 72 without an increase in state funding. We are looking at a tax increase to stay in the black."

"That's why I get excited about economic development. We either get a broader tax base or cut personnel and have a tremendous decrease in our quality of education."

"I'm against a tax increase, but I'm for a good education." Fuston said a tax increase this year would be the first in nine years.

The board also:

-Rejected bids for the old agriculture facility property north of town on Avenue K and will readvertise for bids;

-Reviewed construction updates with Richard Souter, assistant superintendent for business, and tentatively scheduled an open house for August 28 from 2-5 p.m.

-Officially appointed Steve Conaway and Raymond Schlabs to the Hereford Area Tax Abatement Board, with Schlabs also serving on the Economic Development Council;

-Accepted bids for new bleachers at Whiteface Stadium that will also be used at the baseball field.

Flores sworn in Sylvia Flores was sworn in as a member of the Hereford school board at the Tuesday night board meeting. Flores was appointed to replace Jo Garcia, who resigned after moving from the district.

World Gallup study shows Americans flunking geography

Many Americans don't know where Iran, Iraq, or the Persian Gulf are located, according to Gallup study.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three out of four Americans who took a geographic literacy test couldn't locate the Persian Gulf, most had no idea of the U.S. population and the majority were lost when it came to finding Britain, France or Japan.

The test, conducted this spring by the Gallup Organization, ranked Americans sixth in geographic literacy compared with their counterparts in eight other countries. Of young adults in all nine countries, Americans scored last.

"What was most alarming was not only that young Americans did worse than all other 18- to 24-year-olds, but that they were the only ones in that age group, among nine countries, who did worse than the oldest group tested," National Geographic Society president Gilbert M. Grosvenor said today.

A separate Gallup survey of a larger sample of Americans found comparable ignorance of geography, but high awareness of environmental issues. Almost all were aware of the global ozone problem and more than two-thirds knew of the acid rain problem in North America.

The international survey, commissioned by the geographic society, tested 10,820 adults in Canada, France, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Sweden, the United Kingdom, the United States and West Germany. Those surveyed were asked to locate 13 selected countries, Central America, the Pacific Ocean and the Persian Gulf on an unmarked world map.

Out of a possible score of 16, the Americans ranked sixth with an average of 8.6, on par with the British (8.5) but significantly better than only the Italians (7.6) and Mexicans (7.4). Top honors went to the Swedes (11.6) and West Germans (11.2), followed by the Japanese (9.7), French (9.3) and Canadians (9.2).

American youth received a score of 6.9, the lowest mark of all youth tested and all other U.S. age groups.

Overall, 75 percent of Americans placed the Persian Gulf in the Red Sea, the Mediterranean, the Black Sea or the Indian Ocean.

Forty-five percent did not know where Central America is located. One third identified Vietnam and less than half the Americans were able to identify the United Kingdom, France, South Africa and Japan.

In a multiple-choice question, 57 percent of Americans tested did not know the current U.S. population. Most participants in Sweden, Japan and Canada chose the correct range from a field of four: 150 to 300 million.

In addition to the international quiz, a more comprehensive battery of 81 questions, including a world map test, was administered to 1,611 Americans.

The results, which Gallup senior study director Jeffrey S. Friedman says can be projected to the U.S. population at large, include:

-Not more than half of adult Americans know that the Sandinistas and Contras are fighting in Nicaragua. Some put the warring groups in Iran, Lebanon or Afghanistan.

Bush begins earnest search

By ROBERT GREENE
Associated Press Writer

Democratic presidential candidate Michael Dukakis zeroed in on law and order today after attacking the ethics record of the Reagan administration. Vice President George Bush intensified his search for a vice presidential running mate as the Republican National Convention that will nominate him draws ever closer.

Dukakis' running mate, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, began his first solo campaign trip today with stops in Texas, New Mexico, California, Nevada, and the deep South.

The chairman of the Senate Finance Committee planned to address a businessmen's group in Albuquerque, three days after Bush went before the group and unveiled a plan for a child care tax cut. Bentsen said he would highlight his Senate accomplishments, including prenatal and child care legislation.

Kept close to his home base by official duties, Dukakis planned to tour a prison construction site, meet with his anti-crime council and sign legislation imposing stiff penalties on producers and sellers of child pornography.

The Massachusetts governor is highlighting law-and-order themes after coming under attack for his prison furlough program. After some participants committed violent crimes during their release, the program was revised.

Bush on Tuesday stepped up his search for a running mate, and expanded the list of possible candidates with the addition of New Hampshire Gov. John Sununu.

Bush asked Washington lawyer Robert M. Kimmitt to begin background checks on several prospective nominees. The Washington Post reported today.

The winnowing process will include selective polling, said Sheila Tate, Bush's campaign spokeswoman.

Bush has said he wants to keep his running mate a secret until the convention, which opens Aug. 15 in New Orleans.

U.S. tells Iran: 'No deals'

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Iran's powerful Parliament speaker offered to try to have American hostages held in Lebanon freed in exchange for Iranian assets frozen in the United States, but the White House said, "No deals."

Before starting negotiations on the nine Americans believed held in Beirut by pro-Iranian Shiite Moslem extremists, the United States must act to prove it is not hostile toward Iran, speaker Hashemi Rafsanjani said Tuesday.

One such indication of good will would be releasing Iranian assets in the United States, he said in a television interview monitored in Nicosia. "So long as America keeps its hostile attitude toward Iran, there will be no sign of any changes and there will be no negotiations," said Rafsanjani, who also is commander-in-chief of Iran's armed forces.

In Washington, White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater told reporters: "No deals. The clearest signal they could send is to release the hostages."

"We have heard this kind of thing before, but as far as we are concerned you just can't link the two," Fitzwater said.

Rafsanjani, considered the second most powerful figure in the Iranian government after the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, did not refer to any specific Iranian assets in the United States.

But he said the Iranian government paid the United States for goods not delivered before the Islamic revolution toppled the government of the late Shah Reza Pahlavi in 1979.

The United States broke relations with Tehran and put a hold on its U.S. assets after Iranians stormed the U.S. Embassy and took 52 Americans hostage. They were released in January 1981 after 444 days in captivity.

As part of the release agreement, the U.S.-Iran Claims Tribunal was set up in the Hague, Netherlands, and charged with arbitrating billions of dollars of U.S. and Iranian financial claims arising from the Iranian revolution.

By 1987, the tribunal had awarded about $1 billion to American claimants and about $60 million to Iranians, plus an undetermined amount of interest to claimants on both sides.

Nine Americans are among the 18 foreigners missing and believed held hostage in Lebanon by Shiite Moslem extremists. The longest held is Terry A. Anderson, chief Middle East correspondent for The Associated Press.

Anderson, 40, was abducted in Moslem west Beirut on March 16, 1985.

Divisions to be judged in the competition includes beef cattle, swine, sheep, goats, poultry, rabbits, fish, art, culinary, literary, textiles, vegetables, and educational exhibits in agriculture and homemaking.

"Competition continues to be the backbone of the Fair and we award a lot of prizes to winners each year", says Lynn Griffin, fair manager. "We often forget this in the midst of the big entertainers and the glitter of the midway shows," he continues. Over $50,000 in prize money is offerred to exhibitors in the above mentioned events. In addition to prize money, hundreds of ribbons, banners and trophies will also be awarded to winners. The five horse shows to be conducted by local horse organizations during the Fair will offer several thousand dollars in additional prize money.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was stopped cold by the letter from the woman in Kalamazoo whose mind snapped and she felt the urge to kill somebody. Anybody. Her psychiatrist said her sudden impulse was the result of years of bottled-up rage against her mother first, then her husband.

I was married to a man who paid absolutely no attention to me after we returned from our honeymoon. He refused to touch me, let alone have sex. I was treated like some sort of loathsome creature who had a contagious disease. If my hand accidentally brushed his, he would jump a foot.

One evening as I was preparing supper, I walked past him and my face touched his. He shouted, "Get away from me!" I was holding a carving knife at the time and was seized with the sudden impulse to stab him in the back. As much as I hated the man, such a thought had never before crossed my mind.

By the grace of God I pulled myself together and put the knife down. But when I read that letter in your column I remembered how close I had come to plunging the knife between my husband's shoulder blades.

Thank the good Lord I am out of that marriage now and seeing a wonderful man. I can't tell you how closely your column mirrors life and how much I've learned from it. Please keep writing for many years to come.—Grand Rapids Woman

DEAR G.R.: Thanks for those kind words. I plan to keep at it until my typewriter falls apart or my brain goes haywire, whichever comes first.

Congratulations for getting out of that miserable marriage and turning your life around.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please help me save a friendship of 30 years. My friend has become deeply religious, which is her business, but she is now trying to convert everyone she knows.

Our children (three teenagers) leave when "Mrs. X" comes to the house. My husband has threatened to throw her out. I know she means well, but we are comfortable with our religious beliefs and have no interest in joining her church.

I have told Mrs. X as politely as I can that we don't want to hear any more about her new-found fath, but she is obsessed with the subject. I'd welcome any suggestions, Ann. My patience is wearing thin.—On the Ragged Edge in Ohio

DEAR EDGE: Obviously you have been too polite. It appears as if you are going to have to tell Mrs. X that the next time she starts to talk about religion you will ask her to leave. Then do it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The office building where I am employed has very nice bathrooms for both men and women. It has come to my attention that a woman I work with has been using the men's bathroom because it is closer. Recently she walked in on a client of ours, who was purple with rage when he reported this incident. Twice this week men from our office turned around and walked out because she was in there. This woman has been instructed several times to use the ladies' room. Her answer has been, "How do they know I'm the woman?" They know because they recognized her.

Please tell me how to deal with this thick-skinned numbskull—Kidney Problems in Brooklyn

DEAR KID: Most office buildings

keep the lavatories locked and the tenants have keys. I recommend this procedure, as a matter of protection against creeps of both sexes who hang out in the wrong bathroom.

Some wine will spoil if exposed to light; hence tinted bottles.

Parent education is key to major problem

Dealing with cases of child abuse is a problem for social workers and the police. But preventing child abuse is a problem for the entire community, and one that's most likely to be solved through education.

"Since we're not able to fully protect children, prevention is important," Diana Fleming, president of the Texas Coalition for the Prevention of Child Abuse, told home economists attending the Texas Agricultural Extension Service state faculty conference at Texas A&M University, July 12-15.

She said there were more than 68,000 reported cases of child abuse and neglect in Texas in 1987.

Fleming said the coalition's plan-of-action has as its goal providing prevention education for children and for parents, especially new parents and those under stress.

Extension family life specialist Diane Welch said county extension programs, which provide information and classes on child development, parenting, family financial management and other topics can help families build on their strengths and avoid abusive behavior.

"Forty-six percent of all child abuse is inflicted by the natural mother and 25 percent is inflicted by the natural father," she said. "These figures underscore the need for parenting skills and education that can help parents maintain their self-control."

The Cooperative Extension System is working with the National Committee for the Prevention of Child Abuse to make parenting education available in communities nationwide. Texas is one of the first states where the two agencies are attempting to coordinate at local, state and national levels, said Welch.

The specialist said other Texas community-based prevention programs include Family Outreach, which provides home visits to families at risk; school programs, including those conducted by PTA and teachers' organizations' local awareness activities and church family abuse prevention programs.

"People tend to deny that abuse is happening in their families. It's especially tough in rural communities where people have an it-can't-happen-here attitude and denial takes place on an individual and on a community basis," Sgt. Bill Davis of the Beaumont Police Department told the home economists.

"But whenever the awareness level rises, the crime rate rises as far as reported cases of child abuse," he said.

Department of Human Services figures show that about 30 percent of the child abuse and neglect reports in 1987 came from friends, neighbors, relatives or anonymous sources. Twenty-two percent came from school and child care personnel and another 22 percent came from law enforcement and social agencies.

COVER YOURSELF

By Bob Wear

Effective living demands that we be wholesomely concerned about ourselves. This can be carried to a fault, but there is no reason to permit this to happen. We must be properly concerned about our personal welfare, because it is unwise to leave ourselves vulnerable, to leave ourselves open to attack or damage. 'Cover yourself' is wise advice, so that you can maintain your most effective life situation.

Satisfactory living is somewhat like a financial investment. Whenever we can do so, we 'protect ourselves from loss by counterbalancing transactions'. We try not to make an investment without 'hedging.' In the wise management of our lives, it is even more important to handle our living actions so that we are protected. It is foolish to leave ourselves open to hurts, insults, losses, failures, recriminations, and the like.

Prudence is the key to the real success in the action taken to 'cover yourself.'

"Prudence is a duty which we owe ourselves and if we will be so much our own enemies as to neglect it, we are not to wonder if the world is deficient in discharging their duty to us; for when a man lays the foundation of his own ruin, others too often are apt to build upon it."—Fielding.

"Many of our troubles are of our own making" is a statement heard frequently. This may be true, and often is; but we must guard ourselves against this possibility. 'Cover yourself' is good advice. Don't make promises that you cannot keep; don't create financial obligations you cannot meet; don't say unwise and indiscreet things to others or about others; don't put yourself in situations in which everything is stacked against you.

We do not know everything about the future, but we do know about what to expect for ourselves. It is therefore very important that we give heed to the advice 'cover yourself', make the best possible preparations for future needs and happenings.

Beware of investment schemes

There's a new gold rush in the American West, but investors aren't striking it rich—only con artists.

These con artists trick investors into paying thousands of dollars for tons of unprocessed dirt in the deserts and scrubland of the Southwest. They guarantee that each ton of dirt will yield certain amounts of gold, silver or platinum. To appear legitimate, they often use official-looking documents that contain greatly inflated mineral content figures. They may even promise to pay the difference out of their own pocket if the mine fails to generate the promised amount of gold.

Before the end of 1988, it's estimated that "dirt pile" schemes could bilk investors out of $200 million dollars. And, there'll be a victim in every state of the union.

To protect yourself against this new scheme, hang up on telephone salespersons who use high pressure sales tactics. Also, be suspicious if a salesperson insists on picking up your check in person or sending a courier. By avoiding transactions through the mail, the company may be trying to evade penalties for mail fraud.

Donation received from bowling club

Bertha Arnold, president of the Amarillo Women's 600 Club, a bowling organization, recently made a contribution to provide a campership for mentally handicapped citizens to attend a week of residence camp at Camp Wigwam.

The club members have made continuous contributions throughout the years to provide this unique experience for these special citizens from 44 Panhandle counties.

Camp Wigwam, which was established 24 years ago, provides two weeks of camping. The first week is for younger citizens to the age of 16, and the second week is for those 17 and older. Activities at the camp, which provides dorm living for participants, include swimming, hayrides, camp fire and crafts.

The first pitch of the season

DeBruyn Co. defeated M.W. Carrot Co. 14-4 and Holly Sugar Corp. beat Barrett-Fisher Co. 14-7 in the first two games. In a contest between the winners of those games, Holly Sugar

Corp. edged DeBruyn Co. 3-2.

The most valuable player for the day was Rolando Salazar of Raymondville, Texas, who played for DeBruyn Co.

Each Sunday, a pair of games are scheduled involving all of the teams in the league, plus a championship game.

This Sunday's schedule is: M.W. Carrot Co. vs. Holly Sugar Corp., 4:30 p.m.; DeBruyn Co. vs. Barrett-Fisher Co., 5:45 p.m.; and championship, 7 p.m.

Rangers edge Red Sox 9-8

By CHARLES RICHARDS
Associated Press Writer
ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Boston Red Sox manager Joe Morgan knew the winning couldn't continue forever.

But Morgan admitted that, until the final lunging catch by Texas left fielder Cecil Espy that nailed down the Rangers' wild 9-8 victory Tuesday night, he was convinced it would go on at least a little longer.

"I don't know how he hung on to that last ball. If there ever was a handcuffer, that was it," Morgan said of Todd Benzinger's game-ending looped Espy caught with Ellis Burks streaking for home with what would have been the tying run.

The Texas victory snapped Boston's winning streak at 12 games, its longest string of victories since the Ted Williams era. Boston won 15 straight games in 1946, 13 straight in 1948, and 12 straight in 1937, 1939 and 1946.

Texas grabbed a 6-2 lead in the fourth inning, but Boston fought back with three runs in the fifth and three more in the seventh. Jim Rice's two-run homer in the seventh put Boston ahead for the first time at 8-7.

But Ruben Sierra countered with a towering two-run homer in the bottom of the seventh, and Texas held on.

"It was a hell of a game. It was the type of game you're proud of. It was bad (the streak) ended, with us battling back all night," said Morgan, a loser for the first time since replacing the fired John McNamara on July 14.

Texas Manager Bobby Valentine said the Rangers and Red Sox were "like two rattlesnakes out there. Chop off their heads and they're still going at it."

"That was a great catch by Cecil in the ninth, and a great catch by Od-dibe (McDowell) in the first to keep things from getting out of hand real early," Valentine said.

After Marty Barrett's one-out single in the first, Wade Boggs followed with a slicing drive to the left-center field gap. McDowell made a diving catch and skidded for several feet with the ball clutched in his glove.

Mike Greenwell singled and Burks walked to load the bases, but Texas starter Jose Guzman struck out Benzinger to end the threat.

Pete O'Brien, who drove in two of Texas' runs with a homer and a sacrifice fly, said, "We're trying to stay more concerned with ourselves, but we didn't want the streak to get out of Arlington."

Boston's starting pitcher, Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd, was charged with Texas' first five runs. Complaining of tenderness in his right shoulder, Boyd left after giving up O'Brien's home run and walking the next two batters in the fourth.

Steve Buechele, 1-14 against Boyd entering the game, had a solo homer off him in the second inning.

Buechele said he hit a changeup and O'Brien some type of offspeed pitch for his homer off Boyd.

FIRST THE SEED

Without a doubt, the one thing that determines the outcome of any crop is the seed that you put into the ground. Good seed produces a good crop - bad seed fails you.

We believe that insect and disease problems this last year have created a need to look at the crops and varieties you plant and your harvest intentions.

TAM 200 ; a new release from Texas A & M that appeared very promising in limited trials.

TRITICALE ; for known grazing or graze-out acreage - triticale showed less damage from insects & disease than wheat in 1988.

HAWK ; 1987's best variety for milling & baking qualities. A consistent high yielding variety that makes excellent early grazing.

THUNDERBIRD ; a new release from NAPB that has excellent grain quality, yield and test weights.

Sandoval qualifies for national AAU track meet

Hereford long jumper Kara Sandoval qualified for the AAU USA Junior Olympic Track and Field National Championships by placing second in an AAU regional meet on July 15-16 in San Antonio.

Sandoval competes in the midjet girls' division. The site of the national meet this year is Wichita, Kans.

Five other members of the Hereford Track Club reached the finals in several events. Brooke Perkins was fourth in the senior boys' 400-meter dash in 52.2 seconds and sixth in the 200-meter dash in 22.9 seconds.

Shawn Fogo finished sixth in the youth boys' 200-meter dash, and Jessica Huffaker tied for sixth in the midjet girls' 100-meter dash.

Other placings, seventh and eighth place, were: Fogo, seventh in 100-meter dash; Perkins, eighth in 100-meter dash, 10.84 seconds; Huffaker, eighth in both 200-meter dash and long jump; Hayden Andrews, eighth in both the youth boys' 200-meter dash and 400-meter dash; and Veronica Hernandez, eighth in youth girls' 3,000-meter run.

Pickoff changes game's direction in Padres' 5-1 win

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Gerald Young says he was just in the right place at the wrong time.

Young was picked off during the first inning by San Diego starter Dennis Rasmussen, who said the play changed the direction of Tuesday's game in the Padres' favor. San Diego beat Houston 5-1.

"I was too antsy," Young said. "If I could do it over maybe I would have taken a shorter lead because his delivery is so slow you can shorten the lead and still take off."

Young doubled to open the game, but was caught stealing for the first out. After Bill Doran struck out, Kevin Bass doubled, Glenn Davis walked and Bell hit an infield single to load the bases. But Rasmussen ended the threat by striking out Billy Hatcher.

"That changed the game," Rasmussen said of Young's out. "They would have scored and had the lead."

"Everything was working for me, particularly after the first inning," said Rasmussen, who allowed three hits in the first and only allowed three more before he was pulled in the eighth.

Rasmussen, 8-7, began the game with a career earned run average of 7.06 against Houston. He went 7 2-3 shutout innings before Buddy Bell doubled home a run which broke Houston's scoreless string of 31 2-3 scoreless innings in San Diego.

"We had them on the ropes and we didn't take advantage," lamented Astros Manager Hal Lanier. "If we had gotten some more hits then it would have been a whole different game."

The win was the Padres' 11th consecutive home victory against Houston. The Padres also have allowed the Astros only two runs in four games at San Diego this year.

"You can't worry about the past," Lanier said. "We have to go on and do the best we can while we're here."

San Diego scored all its runs in the fourth inning, sending 10 men to the plate and bunting five hits off Jim Deshaies, 7-7, after two outs.

Deshaies faced just nine batters through the first three innings before being rocked for five hits and five runs with two outs in the fourth.

"I felt I had good stuff and because of that maybe I became overconfident," Deshaies said. "Instead of pitching, I was throwing. There were too many hittable pitches in a row over the plate."

At high school coaches' coaching school

SWC grid mentors discuss '88 season

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Coach Jack Pardee prefers to talk about something he can control, which excludes the pending NCAA investigation into the school's football program.

Pardee, starting his second season as coach of the Cougars, said Tuesday he'll stick to coaching.

"What we have to do is control our players and help them do what they came to Houston for, to get an education and be as good as they can be as football players," Pardee said.

"We have to control what we can control and not spend much time worrying about it."

Eight of the nine SWC coaches attended a panel discussion at the Texas High School Coaches Association Coaching School.

Arkansas Coach Ken Hatfield was attending the Arkansas coaching school.

Texas A&M's Jackie Sherrill says he's more concerned with the upcoming football season than pending NCAA investigations against the Aggies.

Texas A&M recently responded to a list 31 allegations against its football program by the NCAA and Houston on July 12 received a list of more than 250 alleged violations during former Coach Bill Yeoman's regime.

"It's no different now than it was two months ago or a year ago," Sherrill said during a panel discussion at the Texas High School Coaches Association Coaching School.

"The players aren't involved, so there's not much they can do about it."

Texas Tech Coach Spike Dykes, whose Red Raiders will play Oklahoma State in the Japan Bowl Dec. 4, said it would be an advantage playing the Cowboys out of the country.

"The farther away you can play a team like Oklahoma State the better," Dykes said. "That way, you can just tell people how you played without them seeing it."

Texas Coach David McWilliams said the Longhorns still have a question at quarterback where Shannon Kelley is scheduled to start.

"He still has to take over but I feel that he will," McWilliams said. "We still have a question at quarterback but I feel good about Shannon Kelley going in because he has at least played."

Coach Jerry Berndt, in the third year of his rebuilding program at Rice, said defense would be a key for the Owls this season.

"A big improvement will have to be made on defense," Berndt said. "We have seven returning starters from last year but that's not saying much since we gave up 487 yards a game."

"I hope by the end of spring practice, some of those players will be beaten out."

Texas Christian Coach Jim Wacker anticipates a balanced SWC race.

"It'll be the best team we've had at TCU, but Texas can say the same thing," Wacker said. "We'll have the most balanced team since I've been here."

Baylor Coach Grant Teaff couldn't remember starting a season at Baylor without a returning starting offensive lineman.

"We're void on experience but not on talent," Teaff said. "If the offensive line can mature at a decent pace, we could be a factor before the season is over."

Southern Methodist Coach Forrest Gregg, who will coach the first post death penalty Mustang team in 1989, said he was concentrating on starting workouts this fall.

"I'm often asked 'how are things at SMU?'" Gregg said. "Well, compared to what? I've never gone through anything like this and I hope no one ever has to again."

Gregg awarded 14 of 15 available scholarships this year and will have a squad of 90 players including walkons when workouts begin in the fall.

Dykes also had these comments: —On recruiting players to the remote Lubbock area: "We've got 25,000 people who pay to go there, I think we should be able to find 25 who are willing to let us pay their way."

—On the vanishing breed of small but intense player who overcomes lack of ability with desire: "The sad thing about college football is if you aren't big, strong and fast, there's not a place for you."

"You watch film and see a kid that will knock the living fire out of anything moving but he's 5-10, 175."

"So you go out and get a 6-8 guy and spend 12 years begging him to lose weight."
