

Doctors ask for Hollinger rehiring

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

A letter asking that former Deaf Smith General Hospital nursing director Gerry Hollinger be reinstated in emergency services was presented Monday to the Deaf Smith County Hospital District board of directors.

The letter was signed by eight local doctors.

The letter said:
"Dear Board Members and Mr. (Gary) Moore (DSGH administrator):

"We the undersigned would like to encourage you to find a position for Gerry Hollinger, R.N. with the Emergency Services that our hospital offers. We have all personally witnessed his expertise with the ambulance, emergency room and intensive care units. To lose his experience at a time when we desperately need nurses would be unfortunate for all of us.

"It is our hope that in spite of past problems, we could find a position to utilize the skills Mr. Hollinger has to provide continuity of care for your emergency, ambulance and ICU services, as well as a Liaison and Public Relations connection with the community."

The letter is signed by Drs. Mary Birdson, Howard Johnson, Nadir Khuri, David Baddour, James Herbertson, A.T. Mims, Tim Revell and Jesse Perales.

"I want things to work," said Birdson, who presented the letter to the board. "I want things to heal instead of causing problems.

"I would like to lay it on you (the board) to heal some of the rifts (in the hospital caused by Hollinger's dismissal Feb. 24). I think we can create and get around some of the hard positions we're in."

Board President Marjorie Ford said the board "cannot even discuss the letter, because it is not on the agenda. You may ask to be put on the agenda for the next meeting.

however." A formal request was made immediately following the meeting for the item to be considered. The next regular meeting is scheduled for March 15, but a meeting could be called before that date.

The letter of recommendation from the doctors is not the only glowing tribute received recently for Hollinger's handling of emergency care.

Dave Clark, head of Panhandle Emergency Medical Services System in Amarillo, said the local emergency response system created by Hollinger and former DSGH Administrator Jim Bullard was the blueprint for revamping Amarillo's ambulance service.

Clark's letter was written in response to a letter from Ford last Sept. 20.

A copy of both letters was supplied to the Brand Saturday.

Ford's letter said:
"In an effort to insure that the E.M.S. Program and the Emergency Ambulance Services provided by Deaf Smith County Hospital District are in conformity with the laws governing pre-hospital emergency medical care delivery systems, I would like to request that you furnish the board of directors of the Deaf Smith County Hospital District with the information from you files concerning the current status of our EMT-Special Skills and EMT-A's."

The letter asks for verification of up-to-date status for Donnie Lauderback, Rex Lee, Joe Hamby, Paul Hamilton and Terry Danning.

The letter goes on to say:

"There is also some question concerning whether or not Gerry Hollinger-RN is legally certified and has Medical control to administer pre-hospital advanced life support procedures in the field. Would you please supply us with documentation of such certification from you files."

The letter asks for a response directly to Ford's home address, 405 Centre.

Clark's responding letter, dated Oct. 6, gave a glowing report on the local ambulance service.

"Your EMS system has been a flagship for the rest of the Panhandle," Clark said. "Jim Bullard and Gerry Hollinger have both served as chairman and general members of our board of directors. In fact, both men served in years where leadership and experience in rural health care medicine made a critical difference for the future of our organization.

"There were many battles to fight and both served our system in a prestigious and extraordinary manner. We are very proud and indebted to these individuals. As in many cases, individuals are sometimes last in being the unsung hero in their own community."

Clark went on to say that not only were the five EMT's mentioned by Ford current in their certification, but "this is rarely a problem with your service."

Clark pointed out that Hollinger could not serve as the second person on a pre-hospital call, but could very easily obtain the necessary certification to serve as the second person.

"In my opinion, I believe you have a minor concern of Gerry obtaining this minimum certification," Clark said. "However, I'm not sure this is a concern."

"If I may be candid with my opinion regarding the issues, I would simply state that the problems regarding your ambulance service are very small compared to the majority," Clark went on to say. "In my opinion, I don't believe you have a problem. I would hope if an injury occurred to my family that it would be in your town. Your ambulance staff expertise and service is considered one of the best in the Panhandle. I hold it in very high regards as most of my peers do also."

Clark said the system has improved "in leaps" since it was taken over by DSGH, and said "I believe that the best means in delivering this service in the most cost-efficient means is by your design. In fact, the Amarillo Hospital District restructured its ambulance service based on the same model."

Clark said the district should not make cost-cutting moves in the emergency services area. "In fact I believe much of your efforts should be concentrated in this highly vulnerable service," Clark said.

In the only official action taken at the Monday meeting, the board approved a contract with John Cox for physical therapy.

Cattlemen hear about beef promotion

The executive director of the Texas Beef Industry Council made a case for supporting the upcoming beef industry $1-a-head checkoff vote, and other cattle industry leaders gave an overview of the state of the cattle industry at a "Feeder Feedback" meeting Monday at the Hereford Community Center.

While she couldn't make a direct pitch in support of the May 10 referendum, Anne Anderson of Austin gave producers a summary of the programs funded by the current checkoff.

"The program is controlled by producers," Anderson pointed out. She said each state would get to keep 50 cents of each dollar, and "your dollars are telling consumers that beef is real food for real people."

Being targeted through promotional campaigns including placemats, advertising and point-of-purchase promotional material is a group ages 25-54 with a high education, above-average in-

Absentee voting will end Friday

Absentee voting for the March 8 primary election will continue through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the county clerk's office on the second floor of the Deaf Smith County Courthouse, according to County Clerk David Ruland.

Ruland said the new regulations concerning absentee voting state that a person may vote by absentee ballot without cause. Before this year, a person could only vote by absentee ballot if one were older than 65 or if one were going to be absent for the regular election.

Ruland added that voting this year may be a little confusing since each precinct must have a separate ballot. Only Precincts One and Three have commission votes this year. Each of the nine precinct ballots also has a precinct chairman's spot to be filled, necessitating nine different ballots.

Ruland reminded that voters cannot "cross over" and vote in both primaries or vote in one primary and another party's runoff.

Ruland also said a voter does not need to vote on each race, nor does the voter have to present a voter registration card at the time he votes.

"But they will have to sign an affidavit stating the reason they don't have the card with them such as 'I lost it,' or 'I left it at home,'" said Ruland.

Kress judge is reprimanded

AUSTIN (AP) — A judge who fined an Amarillo attorney $100 without allowing the attorney to respond to charges has been publicly reprimanded by the State Commission on Judicial Conduct.

Municipal Court Judge Eual Burton of Kress said Monday he learned his lesson but doesn't regret his actions.

The commission said Burton, whose court is in Swisher County, advised the attorney by letter June 15, 1987, that he was fining him $100 for flagrant contempt of court and perjury.

The lawyer was not named in the commission's reprimand, but Burton identified him as Selden Hale III of Amarillo. The commission later confirmed the identification.

Burton, according to the commission, said the attorney had failed to appear or produce his client for a May 26 trial in a case involving alleged failure to yield right of way, no liability insurance and expired registration.

The letter said the alleged perjury concerned the liability insurance.

The commission said on the date scheduled for trial, the attorney's office notified Burton that because of a conflict with another court appearance, the attorney would not be able to attend the trial and the client would produce proof of liability insurance.

By written message of May 27, the attorney purportedly forwarded to Burton proof of liability insurance and said the defendant had been notified that he needed to pay the fine immediately "on the other ticket."

Burton denied ever receiving the proof of liability insurance.

The commission said at no time prior to his June 15 letter to the attorney did he notify him that charges of perjury, failure to appear or contempt was being considered against him, and the attorney was never offered any hearing or other opportunity to respond to the charges.

Babbling Brooks

By JOHN BROOKS

For both of you who don't know, KGNC has changed formats. The station many of us grew up with, no matter if you're 30 or 80, is now "Talkradio 71."

News-talk has finally come to the Texas Panhandle, and our civilization is complete.

This change has not come without criticism and complaint. People get used to things.

KGNC used to have a rooster crow every day at 6 a.m. My grandmother says that rooster has been crowing since Cotton John was a very young man.

The rooster is gone. People have noticed. A Friona-area man called the station not too long ago, and whoever was running the show asked him how he liked the new programming.

"Oh, I like it," the man wheezed, "but I sure do miss that rooster. Now I can't wake up until about 6:30. I used to get up as soon as that rooster crowed."

With the talkradio format, there is a variety of talk. You hear every problem in the world discussed, from the stock market, to why the Palestinians need a home and why they have been fighting their battle for 6,000 years, to, uh, sexual problems we wouldn't experience in our wildest fantasies (or at least won't admit, which, I suppose, is the reason for shrinks).

This weekend they had some very bad news. Some "expert" has written a book (aren't there more doom books out now than there used to be?) saying that he has forecast our immediate economic future using The Bible.

I believe everything the Bible says is true—if it said I had to paint myself green to get to heaven, I would get some green paint. This guy said the Bible told him who the next president would be, that we would have a depression and then go into a worldwide one-money economic system under a government run by the anti-Christ, and all of this is just around the corner.

Course, people have thought they were in the last days since John was first imprisoned on Pothos. This guy has taken Revelations to forecast how things will go in '88 in order to sell a book.

Books are the main reason for talkradio, from what I can discern. There is no need to ever again read any book. Any author that gets a book published, even if he pays to get it published, is fodder for one of these talk shows.

Why read Iacocca's book or Stephen King's book or any other book ever again? Just wait, and Larry King or the other Michael Jackson or whoever will have it on the radio. They want to buy the book, but they'll eventually tell you everything that is in their treatise.

Not only do these shows cover every topic under the sun, but there are talk show hosts of every type.

Larry King is probably the best interviewer in the business, but he won't letcha get your two cents worth in. You better be ready with a question, or the next sound you hear is your friendly local dial tone.

The other Michael Jackson is this smooth-talking Britisher (or Aussie, I'm not sure which, but he has an accent that sounds funny to West Texans) that wouldn't cut you off if you said you-know-what. He's the nice guy.

There is a guy in Boston, whose name I don't recall, and another in New York named Howard Stern, that would make Joe Pyne blush. Years ago George Carlin had this record out that had a historical little story on it—"The Seven Words You Can't Say On TV."

There are still about five of them you better not use, but George's selection was a little thin based upon the humorous appellations he applied to them. There were probably about 70 instead of seven. These guys have pared the list down to less than a dozen, and one of those will fall by the wayside in the very near future.

Our area's version of talkradio doesn't have Dr. Ruth Westheimer, but it does have Dr. Toni Grant.

If you think you have problems, just grab Toni's show some night after 8 p.m. She, as I mentioned, has callers with problems you couldn't imagine. They get hangnails in strange places, lusting after their neighbor's wife's daughter's sister-in-law, and that sort of thing.

I've wondered about those calls like I always wondered about letters in men's magazines. I could never figure out if they were bragging or complaining.

Top citizen

Gene Brock, left, is congratulated by Mike Bowles after Brock was named Citizen of the Year at the 1987 Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce banquet. This year's top citizen, selected by the Hereford Lions Club, will be named at the 1988 banquet Thursday night.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Speedy:

The March 8th Democratic Party primary ballot has a referendum issue with the following proposal to vote For or Against:

"Texans shall maintain their right to select judges by a direct vote of the people rather than change to an appointment process created by the Legislature."

Thus, all voters in the Democratic Party primary will have an opportunity to express their opinion as to whether Texans should retain their right to choose judges by direct vote of the people or whether the Legislature should be empowered to create some type of appointment process.

The opponents of this proposal want to take away the right of Texans to select judges by a direct vote. Those opponents want to give the Legislature the power to adopt some type of appointment system under which the Governor and a few other state politicians would appoint a commission that would pick all Texas judges.

Texans should vote in favor of this referendum issue and in favor of retaining the right to vote to select Texas judges for several reasons.

The most obvious reason is that the right to vote is an important and cherished right in Texas. The right to choose the officeholders who control the justice system that affects every citizen should be preserved for the people.

Those who would abolish the right to vote to select judges and who would replace that system with an appointive process would have judicial selection controlled by a few politicians and their hand-picked cronies, hidden from public view.

As Supreme Court Justice Franklin Speers has stated, "Politicians... would be appointing the commission, which would make recommendations behind closed doors. That is nothing but a throwback to the days when political bosses nominated judges. It would place the power of judicial selection in the hands of an elite few."

Nor would an appointment process improve or affect the quality of judges. The leading study, published in 1987 by Judicature magazine, concluded that there is no evidence that different "selection systems produce judges with markedly different or superior judicial credentials or that they vary on most other background characteristics... By any objective and comparable measure, there is no evidence that any particular set of judges excel. Since changing the selection system does not change the quality of judges, abolishing the right to vote would be both needless and senseless.

In short, the appointive patronage proposal would not take politics out of the system, it would take the voters out of the system. It concentrates power in the hands of a few politicians and their cronies, and takes power from the public.

Texans have three times in the past experimented with appointive judges, and each experience produced a disaster of manipulation and abuse. Additionally, experience in Missouri and other states demonstrates that the appointive patronage system is subject to a wide range of problems and abuses, including backroom lobbying and deal-making, rigging appointments, excessive influence by the governor and other politicians who appoint commission members, excessive influence by the bar and lawyers, and discrimination against minorities.

The retention elections that are proposed as part of the appointive patronage system are universally recognized as ineffective and meaningless in terms of voter participation—for example, in Missouri only one judge has been removed in such an election in 46 years, and throughout the nation only 1.6% of the judges in appointment states have ever been removed. In a retention election, opponents are prohibited from running, and instead, as in the Soviet system, voters are simply asked whether a judge should continue in office or not. Voters have no choice of an alternative, and the result is lifetime tenure.

Some people feel that the present system allows too much money to be spent in campaign contributions by a few special interests. The solution to that problem is simple and obvious—limit campaign contributions, just as we do in federal elections. Control the money, don't take away the right to vote.

Protect the right to vote. Let the people choose their judges. Keep judicial selection out of the smoke-filled rooms controlled by lawyers and politicians. Vote "For" the referendum issue on March 8th.

Sincerely,
Roland Saul,
Criminal District Attorney

Dear editor:

On December 17th, Congress changed the Nuclear Waste Policy Act which eliminated Deaf Smith County and Hanford, Washington, as candidate sites for a Nuclear Waste Repository and selected Yucca Mountain, Nevada, as the single site to be characterized. This change initiated the immediate phase out of the Salt Repository Project in Deaf Smith County.

A real impact resulting from this action, and one which we tend to overlook, is the impact on the project employees and their families. There were over 300 project employees working in the Hereford offices, which includes DOE, Battelle, Parsons-Redpath and other contractors. There were 84 employees living in Hereford and the remainder lived in Amarillo, Canyon and other communities in the area. Many had recently purchased homes and had uprooted their families and moved them to the Panhandle. Due to the shutdown and through no fault of their own, some are being transferred but many are, or will be, receiving their termination notices.

I want these people to know that our hearts go out to them and they have our compassion for their plight. They proved to be outstanding citizens, established many friendships and have been a real asset to our community. Regardless of how we felt about the project, we are all concerned about the welfare of these people for humanitarian reasons. I know that many are experiencing some trying times and they will have a real challenge to meet.

We sincerely wish them all the best and we always hate to have friends and good neighbors leave our community.

Sincerely,
Wesley S. Fisher
Mayor

"If this target audience eats 1.5 ounces more of beef in a two-week period, that translates to over 1 million head of cattle," Anderson said.

Anderson said 1986 statistics, the latest available, show that

Some of the money has been turned into efforts to dispel misinformation about beef. "Few industries have had as much misinformation about them as has ours," Anderson said.

TCFA President Clark Willingham did make a pitch in favor of the referendum. "But I feel like I'm preaching to the choir up here," Willingham said. He said there was not a "big, organized opposition" to the checkoff program, but "there is some opposition."

Hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE: Please tell me what a legal-sized envelope is. I have not sent for some of the things offered through your column because this size envelope was requested and I don't know what kind you mean. — Sarah B., Huntsville, Ala.

I'm sorry for your confusion. I hope I can clear this up. A legal-sized envelope, or a business envelope as it is sometimes called, measures around 9 1/2 inches by 4 1/2 inches.

These envelopes are best for business letters and pamphlet materials which are sometimes offered through the column. With this size envelope, less folding and manipulating of the material is required to make it fit inside.

You can find them in any business-supply store, drug store or grocery store. — Heloise

SEND A GREAT HINT TO: Heloise, P.O. Box 795000, San Antonio, Texas 78279.

DECOUPAGE END TABLE Dear Heloise: I have a lovely old cherry end table that I have had for years. It had a leather inlay that was cracked and broken.

I carefully removed all of the inlay and replaced it by decouping a collection of canceled U.S. stamps that I had collected over a couple of years from the mail at work.

The table is now a beautiful piece of furniture again. I have received many compliments. — Darrell Cuthshall, St. Petersburg, Fla.

HOT BABY SEAT Dear Heloise: I am raising three children in Las Vegas. My No. 1 concern during the hot summer (which is right around the corner) is avoiding burns from hot car interiors.

My third child is still in an infant seat, and even though I've purchased cloth covers for the seat, there is still metal showing and it can become very hot when exposed to the sun for any length of time.

One year I used masking tape on the metal to cover it. What a mess it became when the heat of the sun melted the glue off the tape.

Last year I put florist tape on the hot spots and used a little masking tape to hold the ends in place. I am very happy to report and share the good news that we made it through the entire summer with no burns on the baby.

I haven't found a way to cover the seat-belt buckles yet, but I'm working on it. — Janell Frehner, Las Vegas, Nev.

Your hint is an important way to protect our precious little ones. — Heloise

Veleda Study Club meets

Ruth Fish served as hostess when Veleda Study Club met in her home Feb. 22. Suzanne Stevens presided over the meeting.

In response to the roll call of "count your blessings," members agreed that family, friends and good health top the list. Reports were given on the Feb. 8 husbands' party and from the treasurer. Correspondence was read from Hereford Day Care Center.

Juliann Thompson, outreach director of the local Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence office was introduced by Fish, who also pointed out that before coming to Hereford, Ms. Thompson had served as Shelter Coordinator in Amarillo. Thompson gave a brief history of the formation and funding, and stated that in the formative years all work was carried out by volunteers.

Levi-Straus proved to be very supportive and funds from them helped get the chapter started. She had members answer a quiz, then discussed local office responsibilities and services provided for the victims. Members were very surprised when she talked about the penal code and told that, until 1979, when it was revised, physical abuse of one's spouse was not illegal.

Refreshments were served after the meeting adjourned.

North Korean armed forces struck across the 38th parallel in a surprise invasion of South Korea June 25, 1950. North Korea was declared an aggressor by the U.N. Security Council, and U.N. forces led by Gen. Douglas MacArthur began the defense of South Korea. The conflict, which saw the Chinese Communist forces join the North Koreans, lasted until July of 1953, when a truce was signed.

Hereford slugs four home runs

Whiteface varsity wallops Caprock, 19-2

Rodney McCracken belted two home runs, Derrell Page and Bill Ruckman each slammed one home run, and James Hernandez pitched a one-hitter to power the Hereford Whiteface varsity baseball team to a 19-2 victory over Caprock on Saturday in Amarillo.

Both of Caprock's runs were unearned off Hernandez in the bottom of the fifth inning. The game ended after five innings because of the 10-run rule.

Hernandez had three strikeouts and walked one batter in hurling Hereford to its victory. The Whitefaces, who are now 3-0 for the season, play at home today versus Palo Duro at 4 p.m.

Hereford pounded out 15 hits in its wallop of Caprock on Saturday.

McCracken quickly put Hereford out to a 2-0 lead in the first inning with a home run over the left field fence. Glenn Parker, who had reached base on an error and stole second base, scored on McCracken's homer.

Also in the first inning, Robby Collier singled, stole second base, and scored on a single by Ross Torres to make Hereford's lead 3-0.

Kyle Andrews began the second inning for Hereford with a single, and Ruckman followed with his home run over the center field fence to increase the lead to 5-0. Parker then reached base again on an error, and stole second base again. Michael Phibbs drove home Parker with a single.

The rest of the inning had McCracken reaching base on an error, Collier hitting an RBI single, Torres getting on base on a walk, and Hernandez stroking a two-run single. That upped Hereford's lead to 9-0.

McCracken hit another home run over the left field fence in the third inning, driving in Phibbs who had singled.

In the fourth inning, the first two batters for Hereford walked, the next one was hit by a pitch, and Parker got an RBI with a walk. Phibbs hit an RBI single, McCracken walked, and Collier hit an RBI single.

Page then knocked a home run over the right field fence to give Hereford an 18-0 lead. Ruckman and Phibbs both had stolen bases in the inning.

The last run for the Whitefaces was scored in the fifth inning on a single by Gideon Ellinger, driving home Jason Scott. Scott had walked, went to second base on an error, and advanced to third base on a passed ball.

"All parts of the game were running on all cylinders," Hereford

Coach T.R. Sartor said. "James Hernandez did a heck of a job on the mound," Sartor adds, noting that third baseman Andrews made an outstanding defensive play. Andrews raced across the infield to snare a ball hit between second and third, and threw out the runner at first base. After three games, Phibbs leads the Whitefaces with a .500 batting average. Robby Collier and Derrell Page each have .455 averages, and Rodney McCracken has a .444 average. The home runs by McCracken, and also those by Page and Ruckman, were the team's first four-baggers of the season. Page is the RBI leader with six. McCracken has five runs batted in, and Collier and Hernandez each have four. On the basepaths, Parker and Phibbs each have four stolen bases, and Ruckman has three. Hereford 3 6 2 7 1-19 Caprock 0 0 0 0 2-2

Herd JV baseball team wins season opener, 12-1

Fidel Ceballos pitched a three-hitter and struck out 12 opposing batters, and Hereford took advantage of six errors by Dumas, to score a 12-1 victory in the junior varsity baseball season opener on Monday at Dumas.

Hereford had nine hits in the game, including two each by Brett Confer, Jim Eric Andrews, and Russell

Backus. The Whiteface junior varsity scored three runs in the first inning, two in the second, two in the fourth and five more in the fifth, winning the game after six innings because of the 10-run rule.

Ceballos, who pitched all six innings, walked three batters and allowed no earned runs. Dumas scored its lone run in the sixth inning on two errors by Hereford. Hereford committed three errors in the game.

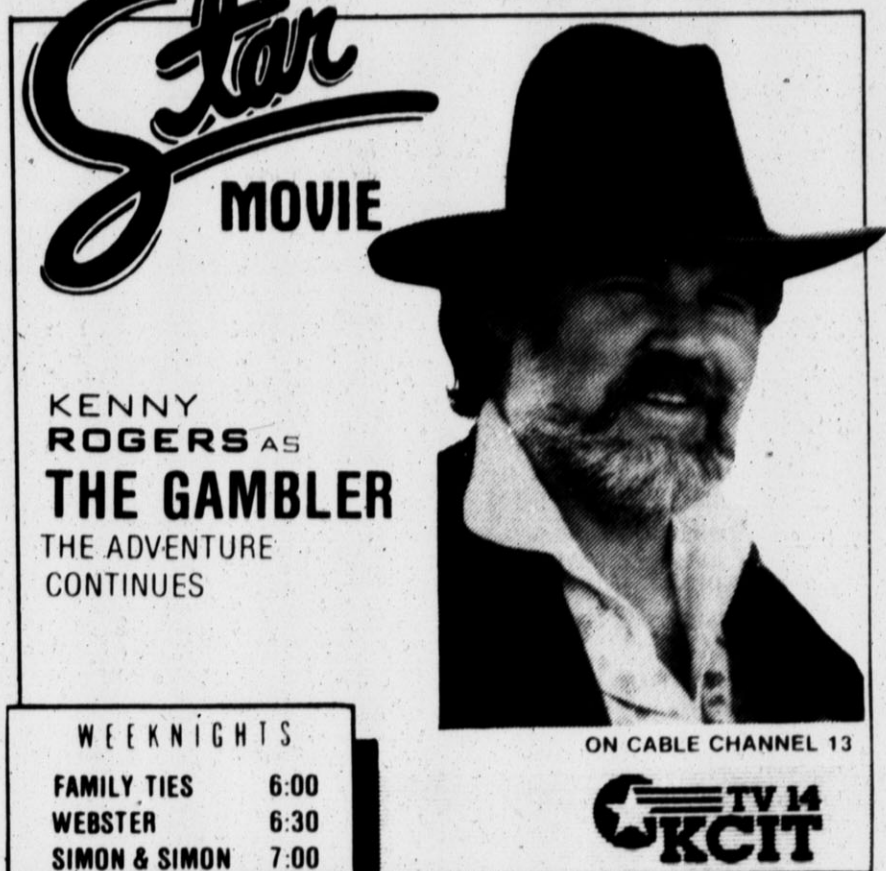

"Fidel did a super job. Dumas didn't get a baserunner until the fourth inning and they didn't even get a hit until the fifth inning," Hereford Coach Bill Bridge said, noting that Ceballos struck out the first three batters he faced in the game.

"Fidel was the key to the ball game, because he kept them off the bases. His ball control was real good. He threw around the plate the whole game."

"It was just an all-out team effort. Everybody played well and had fun. We made pretty good contact with the ball the whole game," Bridge continues.

"Defensively, Kyle Solomon made a diving catch in center field. Our outfielders all played well. Jim Eric Andrews caught some fly balls. And catcher Shane Kapka did a good job behind the plate," he adds.

Ann Landers'

DEAR READERS: Today's column is not for everyone, but it is a subject that causes a lot of anguish.

While you men go off to the sports or business section, I am going to devote most of this space to unwanted hair on women and the best ways to get rid of it.

This information is from the Mayo Clinic Health Letter. (Twelve copies a year for $24 and well worth it. The address: Rochester, Minn., 55905).

Cosmetic Treatment for Excess Hair

Do you have unwanted facial and body hair? There is no signal cosmetic treatment for all. When selecting a technique, consider the amount of hair you want to remove, the sensitivity of your skin, and the time and expense involved. Some options are:

Makeup: For some women, a heavy base of cosmetics will disguise a mild excess of facial hair.

Bleaching: This makes the hair less obvious; it works best for a mild "peach fuzz" on the upper lip. You can make bleach at home from 6 percent hydrogen peroxide and a few drops of ammonia. Most women prefer commercial products available at drugstores or beauty shops.

Shaving: This is the easiest, safest, fastest and cheapest way to remove excess hair. Most females find this method psychologically acceptable for legs and underarms, but are reluctant to shave their faces because of the masculine connotations. Remember—contrary to popular belief, shaving does not increase the rate of hair growth or make hair more coarse.

Pumice stone: This is an abrasive way to rub hair off your body. Your skin may become red and irritated.

Plucking: Use of tweezers is common for occasional long hairs, such as on the chin or around the nipples. For plucking a larger amount of hair, try wax. Many women find waxing more satisfactory than shaving, especially for facial hair. Another advantage, your skin remains smooth, with no stubble. With regular use, you may be able to go six weeks between treatments. Plucking has potential disadvantages. Occasionally, it may lead to infection in the hair follicle and cause pits or scars.

Electrolysis: This is the only method for permanent hair removal. The technique is effective but causes a mildly painful shock. This work is time-consuming and, therefore, expensive. Electrolysis is especially suited for removal of problem hair in a limited area. Pitting and scarring are potential complications, but both are rare if a skilled operator does the procedure. The Society of Clinical and Medical Electrologists has established a certification program of professional standards. An operator who passes a national examination becomes a certified clinical electrologist. In many (but not all) states, electrologists must be licensed. Dermatologists and other physicians who often see hirsute patients can recommend a competent electrologist.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Who said, "I only like two kinds of men, domestic and foreign"? — Sage in South Dakota

DEAR SAGE: Mae West. But her best line was, "It ain't the men in your life that count, it's the life in your men."

Search for best microwave beef recipe now underway

The best beef microwave recipe is being solicited for the National Beef Cook-Off and the winner could claim $15,000 in prizes.

Recipes must be postmarked by April 1.

If your recipe is selected as the best microwave recipe from the South Region, the Chicago-based Beef Industry Council will pay your expenses (travel and lodging) to this year's National Beef Cook-Off, Sept. 20-22 in Jackson, Miss. There you'll compete against six other U.S. regional winners for a cash prize of $5,000 and a microwave oven from Tappan Appliances. If your recipe wins the other two category winners—indoor and outdoor (barbecue), you'll win an additional $10,000, making a total of $15,000 and a microwave oven.

Contestants must be 18 years or older, with non-professional food status.

Any person who has owned one or more head of beef or dairy cattle (or who has lived in a household where any person has owned cattle), in the 12 months preceding the 1988 National Beef Cook-Off is ineligible.

Club members attend work session

Members of Cultural Extension Homemakers Club met at noon Friday at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center for a luncheon and work session.

Following the meal, members cut out bibs to be given to the residents of Golden Plains Care Center when completed.

President-Byrdie Fellers, called the meeting to order and Carrie Mae Doak gave the opening prayer followed by the Pledge of Allegiance. Nell Pope read, "What's Mom's Malfunction-Get Her To The Shop Fast", as the opening exercise.

Roll call was answered with "What I have done to prepare my yard and garden."

Several projects were introduced to the club for consideration. Each was assigned to a club member for further study. Information will be brought to the next meeting March 11 in the home of Jewell Hargrave.

It was announced that members will be making lap robes for Care Center residents on an individual basis as an on-going project.

Hargrave reported on the Council meeting which followed the recent annual Appreciation Luncheon. She urged all members to attend the district meeting at Boy's Ranch April 12 to help Deaf Smith County bring back the attendance trophy.

Pope lead the group in a riddle game and refreshments were served by the hostess, Winnie Wiseman. Those present included Doak, Fellers, Hargrave, Edith Hunter, Pope, Marie Thames, S.T. Walton, Wiseman and Bertha P. Dettmann.

Some cold cuts more nutritious

If you belong to the brown-bag lunch set, buying luncheon meat has probably become a reflex action. You simply grab a favorite from among the rows and rows of little see-through packages and toss it in the basket.

For better nutrition, however, you should take a closer look at which types you select, advises Dr. Alice Hunt, a Registered Dietitian and nutrition specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

"Luncheon meats vary widely in calories, calories from fat and sodium content," she explains. "Anyone trying to reduce fat or sodium intake should be aware of these differences."

For example, a single slice of bologna will contain about 90 calories and over 80 of those calories will be from fat. Fat also contributes about 77 percent of the 70 calories in a one-ounce slice of cotto salami.

By contrast, Hunt says a slice of "95% fat-free" smoked ham has about 8 calories from fat out of a total of about 23. Likewise, a slice of turkey ham will contain about 35 calories, with only about 26% from fat.

"While the differences in calories between various luncheon meats may not seem like much, it can really add up if you usually put two or three slices on a sandwich," she notes.

The nutritionist says that the sodium content of luncheon meats should also be considered.

"A single slice of luncheon meat has about 200-300 milligrams of sodium, which is about the same as about 20 potato chips," Hunt remarks.

"Again, if you're eating 2-3 slices on a sandwich, that will be about a third to a half of all the sodium you should consume in a day, so you may want to balance that out with lower sodium foods at other meals."

If you physician advises a low-fat or low-sodium diet, it could be worth your while to make your own luncheon meats, the specialist says.

A one-ounce slice of lean roast beef will have only about 32 percent of its calories from fat, and only about 18 percent of the calories in roasted light turkey meat, without skin, come from fat. The sodium content of fresh meat and poultry is also very small.

Social Security

Have you a question about social security? Address it to Jim Talbot, Manager, Social Security Office, Suite 16, 3601 W. 15th, Amarillo, Texas 79102. You will receive an answer in this column or by mail.

QUESTION: My father is in a public health facility. Medicaid pays for most of his care, but he also gets a $25 monthly SSI payment to cover his miscellaneous expenses. I'd like to bring him home to stay with me for occasional weekends. Will that have any effect on his $25 payment?

ANSWER: Probably not. Generally, a temporary absence of less than 14 consecutive days will have no effect on your father's eligibility for the $25 payment.

The oldest "book" ever found was a hinged wooden writing tablet recovered from a Bronze Age ship that sank in the Mediterranean Sea in the 14th century B.C., says National Geographic.

"There are usually two kinds of people who exaggerate the importance of money — the who haven't it and those who have it."

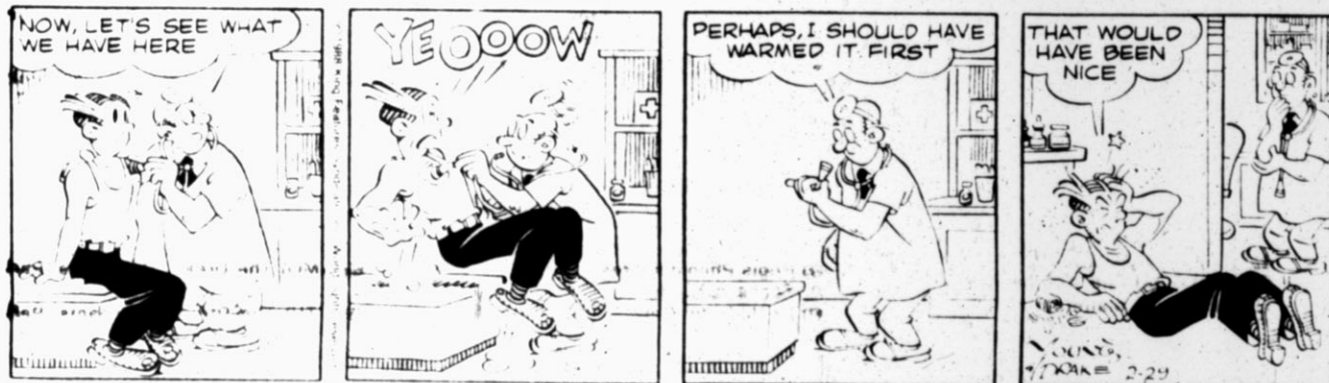

—Charles M. Hall, Amarillo Daily News, Sept. 16, 1926.

"Let him who is without imperfections cast the first slur."

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — High cholesterol levels appear in some persons before they reach middle age and many of those with high cholesterol readings are unaware of their condition.

So suggest the results of a cholesterol screening at the University of Rochester.

The university's health service screened more than 300 faculty, staff and students for cholesterol. About a third of those who took part knew they had high cholesterol levels before the screening.

The screening showed that about one out of five individuals had readings above recommended levels. The health service found high levels among people in their 20s, 30s, 40s, 50s and 60s.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

AUSTIN — Texas for too long served as the forgotten stepchild in the presidential selection process.

We didn't conduct a presidential primary here. Delegates to both parties' national conventions were chosen through precinct caucuses, which meant special-interest groups dominated both convention delegations.

Even when we had the occasional primary, it came too late in the process (the first Saturday in May) to make a real impact. The last time Texas had a presidential primary was 1976, and it was set up especially to help U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen's presidential hopes. By the time the Texas primary rolled around, Bentsen was out of the race.

Finally, in 1986, the Legislature decided it was time Texas — the third-largest state in the nation — became a major player in presidential politics. A bill was passed creating a presidential primary here and moving the primary date up to the second Tuesday in March, the so-called "Super Tuesday."

Now Texas is conducting its primary on the same date as almost every other southern state and by virtue of its size has become the biggest prize on Super Tuesday. The change between this and past presidential races is noticeable.

Candidates before always paid lip-service to the Texas caucuses, putting in an appearance or two at special-interest get-togethers. Now, candidates are all over the state, making speeches, conducting news conferences, announcing endorsements, buying newspaper, radio and television advertising and doing all the other things candidates in a "hot" race do.

By all appearances, Super Tuesday is a success. The final and biggest test will come on Super Tuesday itself. If Texans respond to the new primary date, they will clinch Texas' role forever in presidential politics. Candidates will know that running hard in the Texas primary not only will help them win their party's nomination, it also will help them build a broad base of support for the general election in the fall.

There are plenty of other good reasons, of course, to vote on Super Tuesday. For one thing, the primary isn't just for the presidential candidates. There will be primaries for U.S. senator, for many congressional seats, for seats in the Legislature, for Railroad Commission posts, for places on the Texas Supreme Court and for countless other local jobs as well.

A run-off, if necessary, will be conducted in most of those races on the second Tuesday in April. No run-off will be conducted in the presidential races. Delegates are allotted according to the percentages earned by the candidates the primary, and a candidate does not have to win an outright majority there to be considered a winner.

Interestingly enough, Super Tuesday has served to shorten the race for many of the state and federal jobs on the ballot. This year's campaigns have begun at the same time they usually do, right around the first of the year. But this time the races are being completed in March and April rather than May or June. That prospect alone should make a person want to support the Super Tuesday concept.

There is one other obvious reason for voting in Super Tuesday. There is no better way to protect our great American democracy than to vote and participate fully in our unique electoral process.

If you have any questions about the Super Tuesday primary, or any other issue, please write us at P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas, 78711.

COMMUNICATION IMPORTANT BETWEEN DOCTOR, PATIENT

WEST HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Inadequate communication between physician and patient is a major factor in why many sick people fail to take medicine properly, according to a nationwide survey of patients who visited doctors' offices and those hospitalized.

The study, sponsored by Miles Inc. Pharmaceutical Division, showed that learning details about their medications was a top communications priority in both groups.

Fifty percent of hospital patients were not told with any frequency how they would feel after taking medications, while 53 percent of office patients were not advised how to deal with side effects, the survey showed.
