Local THP force cut to one man

By ANDREA LAMB
Staff Writer

After June 16, Deaf Smith County's already understaffed highway patrol force will be sliced to one officer when Trooper Dwayne Williams leaves for greener pastures.

This may be music to the speeder's ears but for the remaining officer, Darrell Matthews, it means more work and probably more fatalities on Deaf Smith County highways.

According to highway patrol Capt. Bob Russell, who heads a 31-county district including Deaf Smith County, the number of highway troopers for Deaf Smith County should be three, based on the miles of highway.

"My problem is the people down at headquarters pull our accident reports and say we have enough troopers with just one," said Russell. "That's true. But if that's all we based it on, Houston would have all the highway patrol down there because they account for 20 percent of all the state's accidents."

Deaf Smith County has reported one fatality since Jan. 1. Another accident was listed as fatal, but it was found that the driver suffered a heart attack before colliding with the other vehicle.

Matthews said compiling all the information for one of these fatalities can be harrowing when there's a sole man at the station.

"I just finished one fatality accident report, and it's taken me two days just get all the information I need," said Matthews, who must collect a 24-hour history on both drivers, plot an accurate scale of the accident, and talk with the family, the news media and the insurance companies.

Given this, spending time nabbing speeders may take a back seat.

"I'm supposed to work a nine-hour shift, but if an accident happens and I'm the only one working, I get called out on overtime and I don't get paid for it," Matthews said. "I was supposed to take several hours off today because I worked overtime on this accident, but Dwayne's not here right now, so I have to take on the extra work."

In February 1974 when Matthews came to Hereford, there were six highway patrolmen on duty. According to Russell, the numbers are scarce all over the district with Amarillo needing one, Canyon—1, Spearman—2, Silverton—1, Vernon—1, Perryton—1, Dimmitt—1 and Friona—1.

The numbers have been sliding since World War II.

"We've got less troopers statewide, per mile of highway, than we did in 1940. Having one highway patrolman for every 120 miles of highway then was completely unacceptable. Now we have one for every 400 to 500 miles," stated Russell.

The major reason Russell gave for the enrollment drop for recruit school is the pay—$18,000 per year for students, increasing to $1,721 per month for the first six months on the job. After that six months, the salary is hiked slightly and at the end of the rookie year, the trooper may make in $23,562.

"Our beginning salary competes well with the larger cities," said Russell, "but once those troopers have been in the business for a while, the average goes down. When you compare our top troopers' salaries to the rest of the nation, we rank 40th."

So far, Russell hasn't received any inquiries into Hereford's vacancy.

"If we get solid people who want to transfer here, they can come. But no one wants to transfer. The Panhandle is considered to be too far away from everything else."

Hereford was too far away from Williams' family, so he has opted to transfer to Devatur.

As for Matthews, he said he's grown up in Panhandle, his wife was raised in Hereford, and he has no plans to leave.

New park equipment

Workers from Backyard Enterprises of Dimmitt lift a redwood section on top of a platform for a new piece of playground equipment at Dameron Park in Hereford.

The equipment, installed Wednesday, is part of a $4,000 investment in new playground equipment by the City of Hereford.

Native is nuclear expert

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

A Hereford native who is now affiliated with a world-renowned agency says he feels that the nuclear industry is relatively safe and that the community may have erred in not deriving more benefits from aborted plans for a possible nuclear waste repository north of Hereford.

"I told my sister Dorothy Nolans that the smartest thing to do is to get all of the federal dollars you can," said Dr. Ralph Fullwood. "I doubted all along that they would ever place the repository here because this was the only site that was really politically opposed."

Many of the Hereford (Washington State) people wanted it because they have a depressed economy. In Nevada there has been so much bond testing, who cares? The Nevada Test Site would be an ideal location."

Fullwood's book doesn't deal with the waste issue, but instead focuses on risk assessment in the nuclear industry.

"I started putting the material together for this in 1974," Fullwood explained. "In 1985 the Nuclear Regulatory Commission wanted a training manual, so I and my boss, Robert Hall, put this together for them. The NRC didn't like it—I guess it didn't follow the party line. They released the material, and that led us to publish the information as a book."

Fullwood said one of the most critical problems soon to face the nuclear industry is the aging of some reactors, and what to do about the problem.

"I worked with the research reactor at Oak Ridge, Tenn., where we put metal swatches inside on which to later do a metallurgical survey. They got pretty casual about it—they took the metal swatches out in 1982 and finally looked at them in 1985."

"What they did find out was that the radiation effected the metal more rapidly than they thought, and they shut the plant down. Their new reactor, which I helped with, will have three times the safety factor."

"I know I haven't really answered the question, but it is a subject that is being very closely watched. There are really no problems with equipment replacement, but the interior piping is a major undertaking."

Fullwood has no quibbles with nuclear energy. "75 percent of Europe and two-thirds of Chicago, just for example, rely on nuclear power. France went almost totally nuclear because they wanted to

They call it a retirement program in Congress, but Murrill Day has another term for it in his column in The Seminole Sentinel. Day calls it political power-buying prostitution. Here is his column:

We were stunned last week when we learned that there are a number of politicians, who, if they were to retire today, would take hundreds of thousands of dollars with them to spend as they see fit.

Seems that Congress, in an attempt to give itself a monetary benefit without calling it a raise, some time back passed a "retirement" program whereby, when they leave office, they can take with them all their political contributions they have on hand.

Several congressmen have political war chests that total between $500,000 and $900,000 and they will get to take that with them upon retirement.

This little-known, but perfectly legal "retirement" program reeks of political power-buying prostitution to the highest level.

We think it stinks.

A politician, going into a final term, can solicit political contributions from special interest groups, build up his "retirement" nest egg, do damn well what he pleases, whether for or against the special interest groups, and walk away to some paradise island well-heeled and loving it. He knows he won't be back for another term, so he has no obligation or no real need to consider the interest of the taxpayers—he can prostitute himself without fearing voter retaliation at the next election.

We wouldn't bet against it, but we wonder if those "retirement" monies will be subject to tax. We sorta have our doubts.

The bureaucrats who voted for the "retirement" package also must have been of the same mold of the Florida congressman who said, "I hold my nose and vote for a lot of things around here."

We doubt this was one of those he held his nose for.

The Whiteface football program got a big "plus" from Pat Powell in the Monday Amarillo Globe-Times. In his "Putting Around" column, Pat headlined the fact that the Whitefaces have the best winning percentage in the '80s among the teams in the top classifications in the area.

The Whitefaces have won 69 and lost only 19 in the past eight seasons. Amarillo High is a distant second with a 56-31-2 record. Hereford was in 5A from 1980 through 1985 and has been in Class 4A the past two seasons. Coach Don Compton was at the helm for five of those seasons, with Jerry Taylor sandwiched in during 1982-85. Compton sports a 46-10 win-loss record in five seasons for a winning .820 percentage, and Taylor had a 21-9 mark for .700.

Records for the top classifications in the area, after Hereford and Amarillo, include: Palo Verde 46-29-4; Plainview 47-32; Monterey 34-6.

Local Roundup

A little cooler

Tonight will be clear with a low of 60. Winds will be light and variable.

Friday will be fair and a little cooler, with a high of 80. Southeast winds will be 5-15 mph.

This morning's low at KFDX was 59 after a high Wednesday of "only" 90 degrees.

Criminal mischief reported

The Hereford Police Department reported four incidents of criminal mischief Wednesday, including criminal mischief in the 700 block of south 25 Mile Avenue in which a glass door valued at $250 was broken; a car window worth $200 was damaged at U.S. Highway 60 and U.S. Highway 386; the window of a post office box was damaged in the 400 block of north Main Street; and a glass window at Sugarland Mall was damaged.

Two redwood buckets worth $40 were stolen from the 700 block of east Fourth Street, and criminal trespassing was reported in the 600 block of Irving Street and in the 100 block of south Douglas Street. A 26-year-old man was arrested on charges of public intoxication in the 500 block of south 25 Mile Avenue and several girls were arrested in the 500 block of north 25 Mile Avenue on charges of theft.

Firefighters were called to a railroad right-of-way fire 1 1/2 miles west of Cimarron and to a dumpster fire at 813 Irving Street.

One minor accident was reported and one citation was issued.

Residence burglarized

While a woman was shopping between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, burglars stepped inside her home on south Main Street through an unlocked back door and stole an AM-FM radio, three cameras and a pellet rifle.

The radio was valued at $100 but no value was given on the other merchandise.

The Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Office is still investigating the burglary.

A civil disagreement about a lawnmower was reported southeast of Hereford and county officials are still investigating a vehicle that was abandoned in a gravel pit off South Road. The vehicle's tires, speakers, radio and battery were missing.

Arrests for Wednesday include a 35-year-old man on a warrant for burglary of a motor vehicle and a man, 27, for a driving while intoxicated jail commitment.

Senate not admitting defeat on trade bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Powerless to override President Reagan's trade veto, the Senate is promising to push on in the frustrating, three-year quest for a bill to sharpen America's edge in the global marketplace.

The Senate fell five votes short Wednesday of the two-thirds majority required to make the measure law despite Reagan's objections.

Finance Committee Chairman Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, said he is willing to draft a new trade measure that Reagan might be willing to sign, but he acknowledged that "it's a little late in the day to be talking about a second bill."

Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., took another tack. Although he strongly supported the trade bill, at the last minute he voted against it — a parliamentary maneuver that could later allow him to ask for reconsideration of the 1,000-page bill.

"This is insurance that the American people can still have a trade bill this year," said Byrd, who argued that efforts to draft a new measure could become hopelessly bogged down in debate over complex amendments.

Five votes shy of majority

The centerpiece provisions of the bill Reagan vetoed would revamp the government's system for imposing import curbs to aid U.S. industries and retaliate against trade violations.

Others range from sizable farm export subsidies to repeal of the 1980 windfall profits tax on oil-industry earnings.

But those were overshadowed in recent weeks by Reagan's objections to a provision to require companies with 100 employees or more to provide 60-day notice of plant closings and large-scale layoffs.

Republican critics objected to what they called special-interest provisions and lingering protectionism in the bill, while supporters in both parties claimed it was vital to farmers and heavy industries suffering from trade upheavals.

The House voted overwhelmingly to override the veto last month, and some of the administration's supporters have said they would feel more comfortable if they could get a second crack at the issue before having to face the voters in the fall elections. Democrats made no effort to disguise their belief that the trade issue can be translated into votes.

"We may lose the battle but we've won the war on this issue," said Sen. Max Baucus, D-Mont. "This is no longer an issue between the Congress and the White House. It is now a presidential campaign issue."

The Democratic presidential nominee-to-be, Michael Dukakis, has supported the plant-closing provision and opposed Reagan's veto. Republican George Bush has sided with Reagan.

Sen. Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M., a critic of the bill, said "this controversy with the president is not about trade, it is not even about economics — it is about politics."

He pointed to a sharp rise in U.S. exports since three years ago when record U.S. trade deficits combined with layoffs in heavy industries ignited the congressional fight over the issue.

The final vote to override was 61-37, five votes short of the required two-thirds of those present and voting.

Judge rules North and co-defendants merit four trials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legal experts say Iran-Contra prosecutors were handed a "worst case scenario" when a judge ruled that Oliver L. North and three co-defendants must each be tried separately.

"It's like kissing a rattlesnake," said former federal prosecutor E. Lawrence Barcella Jr. of Washington, describing the ordeal of conducting what is essentially the same case over and over again. "It's not fun and usually injurious to your health."

The ruling Wednesday means Independent Counsel Lawrence E. Walsh must conduct four consecutive trials, tipping his hand on prosecution strategy in the initial case.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell — granting defense motions — ordered four trials so the defendants could use each other's immunized congressional testimony to defend against the charges, including a broad conspiracy count.

The immunized testimony would likely be inadmissible in a single trial, thus denying defendants their normal right to cross-examine each other on their prior statements.

The defendants have said the immunized testimony of the other defendants before the congressional Iran-Contra committees would show their innocence. Prosecutors cannot introduce the immunized testimony of the specific defendant on trial as part of their case against that defendant.

North, former national security adviser John M. Poindexter, and businessmen Richard V. Secord and Albert Hakim are charged with conspiring to illegally divert profits from U.S. arms sales to Iran to the Nicaraguan Contras when such assistance was banned.

Gesell said either North, a former National Security staffer, or Poindexter must be tried first. North is charged in 16 counts of the 23-count indictment, while Poindexter is named in seven. The judge gave the prosecutor until Friday to decide the order.

The independent prosecutor declined to say whether he would try North or Poindexter first.

The judge also said he had not made final decisions on whether the congressional immunity, given to all defendants except Secord, posed such a serious problem as to preclude trying the cases at all.

The judge said he would decide that and other major pre-trial issues by July 1 so he could set a date for a prompt trial.

Dukakis says Reagan administration lacking

By LAURA KING
Associated Press Writer

Democrat Michael Dukakis, fresh from clinching his party's presidential nomination, promptly took aim at the Reagan administration, saying: "We can do a lot better." President Reagan, meanwhile, vowed to do "everything I can" to help George Bush get elected.

Dukakis, whose victories in the final four primaries of the season on Tuesday gave him the delegates he needs for a first-ballot victory at the Democratic National Convention, received a round of support from onetime opponents.

Rep. Richard Gephardt, Sen. Paul Simon and former Arizona Gov.

Bruce Babbitt all weighed in with endorsements Wednesday. And New York Gov. Mario Cuomo, the most speculated-about non-candidate of the year, finally lent his backing, although it wasn't exactly the flowery tribute traditionally offered on such occasions.

"I endorse him! I endorse him! I endorse him!" an exasperated Cuomo said after persistent questioning by reporters. "There, three times I endorsed him."

Even though the nomination is numerically his, Dukakis is still engaged in a duel of sorts with Jesse Jackson, the second-place finisher in the primary sweepstakes.

Jackson says he'll continue his campaign up until the convention. And he has put Dukakis on notice that he wants to be offered the No. 2 spot on the ticket.

The Massachusetts governor has said he'll consider Jackson as a possible running mate. But Jackson says consideration alone won't do it.

"Consideration means an offer. It does not mean just in passing," he said Wednesday. "The vice presidency is not the top but it is a long way from where I started."

Dukakis kept to what has become his stock line on the subject — that Jackson himself has said it's the nominee's decision to make.

"I'm going to cast my net far and wide," he said, adding that he hoped to have "a very good idea" prior to next month's convention of whom he wants for a running mate.

The Massachusetts governor was back home in Boston today, ready to take his wife Kitty home from the hospital. Mrs. Dukakis, who had spinal surgery last week, watched on television Tuesday night as her husband won primaries in California, New Jersey, New Mexico and Montana.

Dukakis was also meeting this morning with Costa Rican President Oscar Arias.

Jackson was spending a few days at a California resort, resting and talking to advisers. He waged a grueling primary campaign, seldom missing a day of stumping.

"If people are so anti-nuclear, then why do so many Europeans like it? Everything — everything — has a risk-benefit equation." When it was pointed out that Sweden recently passed a national referendum banning nuclear energy, Fullwood shrugged his shoulders. "I don't know what they're going to do when what they have runs out. I think they don't want it, and someday they're going to need it."

But what's a boy from Hereford doing working in nuclear energy?

"I worked on cars, and after grease dripped all over me, and after acid dripped in my face, I thought there was an easier way to make a living. After working on cars in our shop I decided I didn't want to do that anymore."

Fullwood graduated from Hereford High School in 1966, then attended Texas Tech University before transferring to Harvard. "The Hereford draft board then decided I needed to see even more of the world, so I was in the Army." He then worked on his master's degree in physics at the University of Pennsylvania, and was a professor while studying for his PhD at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy, N.Y.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the woman who wrote, "By the time you receive this, I will have killed myself," caught my eye because I could have written that letter myself.

I would not encourage that woman to commit suicide, but I can understand why she might do it. The thought occurs to me often when the pressures of being a single parent without steady employment get me down. Friends and counselors are not enough, it is only by the grace of God that I have not done myself in.

Rest assured, Ann, I do not need counseling. What I need is freedom from money problems. My poor friends care, but they can't do anything but listen. My affluent friends listen, but they don't really care.

Erratic part-time employment has plagued me for nearly three years and I'm afraid it will never end. My life is a continuing nightmare of uncertainty: How long will this job last? When can I pay these bills? For as long as I can remember, I have been poor. The only way a counselor could help me is by giving me money to fix my car or pay for my dental work.

Face reality, Ann, some people are desperately hard up. Suicide is no answer, nor is some counselor who works from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and then goes home to struggle with his (or her) own problems. The only answer is real money to meet life's real problems.

If this woman is still alive, I hope she will fight for what she really needs—financial assistance from those who have the resources and good sense to give it.—In the Same Boat and Still Afloat in Canada.

DEAR SAME BOAT STILL AFLOAT: There is no doubt that your anguish is genuine and your problems are horrendous, but the vast majority of people who commit suicide do not kill themselves over money problems.

Most people who die by their own hand are depressed, emotionally fragile, ashamed of a failure, attempting to make someone sorry or feel that the pain of living isn't worth it. Whatever the reason, it never solves the problem, it merely creates more problems for those who are left behind.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was interested in the letter from the woman whose father-in-law stuck to her like glue under the pretext of "helping" her, when in reality all he was trying to do was cop a feel. You advised her to confront him openly and let him know that if he didn't stop it she would embarrass him in the presence of the entire family.

You might be interested in how I handled the identical problem. I let the problem person get good and close. I then quickly stepped back and rammed my 4-inch heel into his ankle with all my might. He let out a blood-chilling howl. I quickly said, "Oh, dear! Did I step on you? I'm so sorry! You must have been standing too close to me. Please watch it in the future."

I have not been bothered since.—Been There in Raleigh

Nine from Hereford are qualifiers

Tri-State Rodeo finals start today

Nine members of the Hereford High School rodeo club have qualified for the Tri-State High School Rodeo Association finals, which begin today in Dumas. Rodeo sessions are scheduled at 7 p.m. today, Friday and Saturday, with an awards banquet set for 11 a.m. Sunday. Cowboys and cowgirls had to be in the top 15 in the association's season standings to qualify for the finals.

Lakers' Johnson, Pistons' Laimbeer are question marks

By KEN PETERS
AP Sports Writer
INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Magic Johnson, the director and one of the stars of the Los Angeles Lakers' "Showtime" offense, has the flu. Bill Laimbeer, the heart and soul of the Detroit Pistons' bruising defense, is hobbled by a foot injury. Their effectiveness — or absence — could have a profound impact on tonight's second game of the NBA Championship Series.

Johnson, who had a fever and missed practice on Wednesday, is expected to play tonight at the Forum in a game it would seem the Lakers must win. No team has ever lost the first two games of an NBA Championship Series at home and come back to win the title.

The Lakers, humbled 105-93 by Detroit in Tuesday night's opening game, are attempting to become the first team to win consecutive NBA titles since 1969. Laimbeer, the Pistons' rough-and-tumble center, also missed practice and was listed as doubtful for the 9 p.m. EDT game.

"I'll be totally amazed if he plays," Detroit coach Chuck Daly said of Laimbeer. "It has serious ramifications. I'm not sure we can win without him, his rebounding, his leadership. If he can't play, it would make their job a lot easier."

Laimbeer, who suffered a strained left arch when Lakers forward James Worthy landed on his foot in the first quarter of Game 1, has played in 695 consecutive games, including 646 regular-season games, the longest current streak in the league.

He said he doesn't intend to miss a game now. "The team says I'm doubtful, but I say I'm probable," Laimbeer said. "I'll probably be able to play, but I'll be affected."

Lakers coach Pat Riley at first played down the effect Laimbeer's possible absence might have on the Pistons, saying, "It didn't look like it affected them before (in Game 1). They got real production from James Edwards when he was in there at center."

Smith is eighth in pole bending, 10th in goat tying, 12th in breakaway roping, and 13th in barre' racing. Lewis and Smith are both freshmen. Seven other Hereford High School rodeo club members have qualified in one event each. Two of them are senior rodeos who recently graduated from HHS — Chris Burrus, who is sixth in bull riding, and Billy Stephens, who is fifth in team roping. Four juniors, Kirby Kaul, Shawn McCormick, Clay Jones and Chris Northcutt, are finals qualifiers. Kaul is tied for first in steer wrestling, and McCormick is 13th in steer wrestling. In team roping, Northcutt is in sixth place and Jones is in eighth place. Sophomore Burt Noland stands in eighth place in steer wrestling. The Hereford rodeo club members have participated in the 21 rodeos this season in the Tri-State High School Rodeo Association. At least one individual from Hereford competed in each rodeo.

Here is the TSHSRA final schedule: Today: first performance of the rodeo, 7 p.m.; dance after rodeo session until 2 a.m. at Dumas Community Center. Friday: second performance of the rodeo, 7 p.m.; dance after rodeo session until 2 a.m. at Dumas Communi-

Lakers' Johnson, Pistons' Laimbeer are question marks

But he added, "They'd lose his (Laimbeer's) leadership, his rebounding, his three-point shooting. He strings your defense out. But I think they could survive as a team... for at least one game." Johnson's health could have even more impact than Laimbeer's in Game 2. He was the only Laker to have a decent game in the opener — 28 points, 10 assists, eight rebounds — and if he's slowed, Los Angeles' fast break will suffer immeasurably.

"Magic has the flu and he really looked it," Riley said after Johnson showed up for practice Wednesday morning and instead was sent to the doctor. "He's on medication." Ironically, Worthy, who went out of the game briefly with a hip pointer after he landed on Laimbeer's foot, apparently will be fine for Game 2.

"It's a little tender, but I'm going to wear a pad over it and I'll be OK," Worthy said. "Landing on his foot may actually have padded my fall a little. I didn't even know he was hurt."

"To lose like that on our home court was embarrassing for us," Riley said. "Our guys came into practice a little angry, a little upset. I hope they get even more so. We need something to happen."

Dodgers rout Astros, 11-1

Valenzuela: complete game with no K's

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It was almost secondary that Fernando Valenzuela pitched a complete game without a strikeout for the first time in his eight-year career.

And it didn't matter that he was pitching at home. Valenzuela, mired in a slump that saw him last only four innings combined in his last two starts at Dodger Stadium, just needed a victory.

That he got Wednesday night as the Los Angeles Dodgers routed Mike Scott and the Houston Astros, 11-1.

"It's nice to get a win anywhere," Valenzuela said after limiting the Astros to six hits. "Fortunately, we scored a lot of runs and I was able to pitch more comfortably."

"My arm feels fine," he added. "I felt the same as the last five games. The difference is that we won."

The left-hander had failed to win in his first five home starts. His last victory was May 6 at St. Louis, when the Dodgers scored 10 runs.

Valenzuela, 4-5, walked three batters en route to his third complete game of the season.

He was backed by 14 hits as the Dodgers pushed their National League West lead to 1½ games over the Astros.

John Shelby drove in three runs and extended his hitting streak to 23 games, and Mike Marshall had four hits, including a home run and two doubles.

"We need Fernando if we're going to contend," Marshall said. "He's got a long way to go, but we got him some runs tonight and he was able to relax."

"It was a big game for us," Marshall continued. "If we had lost three straight to them, especially at home, it would have been disheartening."

Marshall and Kirk Gibson homered against Scott on consecutive pitches in the third inning as the Dodgers rebounded from two losses to the Astros.

After a leadoff single by Franklin Stubbs, Gibson and Marshall hit the next two pitches over the fence. Gibson's homer was his 11th and Marshall, nursing a bad back, hit his seventh homer to give Los Angeles a 4-0 lead.

Los Angeles got three more runs in the fifth against reliever Ron Heathcock on Shelby's RBI single, an run-scoring double by Jeff Hamilton and a passed ball by catcher Alex Trevino.

Scott, 6-2, allowed only five hits, but struggled throughout his four innings of work after bare-handing a first-inning comebacker by leadoff batter Steve Sax, and lost for only the second time in his last eight decisions against the Dodgers.

"I think we caught him on an off night," Marshall said. "We laid off some pitches tonight, and Kirk and I just jumped on a couple of them. He was wild in the beginning, and I think he wanted to throw some strikes, and we got some good pitches to hit."

"Scott just didn't have it," Astros manager Hal Lanier said. "He threw too many pitches over (the middle of) the plate. It's tough on a pitcher when they get you down early. But we're going to put this game behind us."

"Give (Valenzuela) credit," Lanier said. "He kept us off the bases and kept us from scoring runs."

Marshall, meanwhile, has asked Manager Tom Lasorda to shift him back to right field because he's suffering the same back problem that kept him out of more than 100 games during the past two seasons.

"All the work at first base has taken a toll on my back, and I didn't want to have to take myself out of the lineup later on. I can stay healthy and really help the club by being in the outfield," said Marshall, who has played in every game for the Dodgers this season.

Elsewhere, it was Pittsburgh 5, Chicago 2; Atlanta 5, San Francisco 4; Cincinnati 7, San Diego 1; St. Louis 5, New York 2; and Montreal 5, Philadelphia 4 in 10 innings.

Pirates 5, Cubs 2

The Chicago Cubs made a mistake by giving a walk to face a Walk.

Cubs manager Don Zimmer ordered Pittsburgh shortstop Rafael Belliard, a .227 hitter, intentionally walked to load the bases in the sixth inning. Up stepped pitcher Bob Walk and his .045 batting average.

"I didn't want that little shortstop up there with runners on second and third," Zimmer said. "I thought he would get the pitcher out. So the pitcher winds up hitting a double with the bases loaded."

Walk, naturally, was most interested in talking about his offensive prowess Wednesday night as the Pirates beat the Cubs 5-2.

"I've never been a good hitter," said Walk, whose career average is .151. "I don't try to hit the ball anywhere in particular. I just try to batle you and put the ball in play."

The 31-year-old right-hander knows he will never be paid for his hitting. But he is earning his way with some solid pitching, going 14-6 over the last two seasons since Manager Jim Leyland made him a starter. His 2.84 earned run average is the lowest among Pittsburgh's five starters.

"He's as good a competitor as there is in the league, and I'll admit even I have underestimated his stuff," Leyland said.

Braves 5, Giants 4

At San Francisco, Albert Hall's two-out run-scoring single in the ninth inning won it for the Braves. With one out, Ron Gant singled off Craig Lefferts, 1-3, and moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by winning pitcher Jose Alvarez. Hall singled through the legs of Lefferts and into center field to score Gant.

Alvarez, 2-1, allowed one hit in two innings. Bruce Sutter pitched the ninth for his ninth save.

Reds 7, Padres 1

Paul O'Neill had five hits and drove in four runs for the visiting Reds.

Jose Rijo, 7-1, made his first National League start after 29 relief appearances and held the Padres to just two hits, walked two and struck out eight in six innings.

Cardinals 5, Mets 2

At St. Louis, the Cardinals took two of three games from the National League East leader.

A three-run seventh against New York relief ace Roger McDowell was decisive. Jose Oquendo singled, Tony Pena also singled and Luis Alicea walked to load the bases. Oquendo scored, but Pena was trapped retreating to third on Curt Ford's single to right. Both Alicea and Ford, who had moved up on the Pena rundown, scored on Ozzie Smith's infield single to shortstop on a slow roller.

Todd Worrell pitched two innings for his 16th save.

Expos 5, Phillies 4

At Montreal, Herm Winningham tripled home Wallace Johnson with two outs in the 10th. Johnson led off with a pinch-hit single against Steve Bedrosian, 0-2, and scored when Winningham lined his hit into the right field corner.

Jeff Parrett, 5-1, pitched three innings of one-hit relief for the victory.

Philadelphia had tied the game in the ninth. Milt Thompson got a bunt single, went to third when first baseman Andres Galaraga made a throwing error on Steve Jeltz' sacrifice attempt, and scored on a sacrifice fly by Greg Gross.

Names in the News

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Movie stars Glenn Ford and Debbie Reynolds are involved in a fight with city officials over some old clothes — worn by Hollywood greats such as Greta Garbo, Fred Astaire and Rudolph Valentino.

"Hollywood history should stay in Hollywood, at a Hollywood museum," Miss Reynolds said Monday at a Hollywood Studio Museum news conference with Ford and others on behalf of the Hollywood Heritage preservation group.

The Los Angeles Department of Recreation and Parks says the costumes should stay in safe storage at the downtown Fashion Institute of Design and Merchandising, where they were moved two weeks ago.

Until the move, the more than 200 costumes, including Astaire's shoes, Valentino's cape and an outfit Garbo wore in the movie "Inspiration," were stored for 20 years in the dilapidated old Lincoln Heights Jail.

Linda Barth of the department cited the institute's security as a reason for keeping the clothes there.

The garments were originally part of a collection owned by Hollywood Museum Associates. But the group could not raise enough money to establish a museum, and the collection was sold to the city for $22,000.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Carter administration hostage negotiator Warren Christopher says he'll resign as president of Stanford University's board of trustees Friday.

"One of the big challenges is not to stay too long at the party," Christopher, who has held the post for three years, said Tuesday. "It's one of the most satisfying and interesting jobs I've ever had, and I've enjoyed it greatly, but normal turnover is the right thing to do."

Christopher, 62, said it was "no big secret" that he planned to leave this year.

As deputy secretary of state, Christopher negotiated the deal that resulted in the 1981 release of 52 U.S. hostages in Iran.

At Stanford, Christopher presided over the start of the university's $1 billion fund drive, the largest money-raising campaign in the school's history.

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II met more than 300 underprivileged children, who traveled in a colorful 120-cab convoy to Buckingham Palace and the London Zoo.

The cabs arrived at the palace Tuesday with horns honking and balloons on their hoods.

As they waited for the queen, the children, ages 6 to 12, were entertained with a medley of nursery rhymes by the Scots Guard, one of the five army regiments that guard royal homes.

They cheered when Joanne Giordani, 8, presented the queen with a bouquet from a wheelchair. Later, they were served lunch in Wellington Barracks across from the palace and then put back in the cabs for a trip to the zoo.

The event marked the 60th anniversary of the London Taxi Drivers' Fund for Underprivileged Children, which was created to aid children who are socially, mentally or physically disabled.

NEW YORK (AP) — Debra Murphree, the New Orleans woman who says evangelist Jimmy Swaggart paid her to perform sexual acts, says she's given up prostitution and is returning to Indiana and her children.

Miss Murphree appeared at a news conference Tuesday to promote Penthouse magazine's July issue, which contains her description of her encounters with Swaggart and photos illustrating some of the sexual poses she says he paid her to assume.

Miss Murphree would not say how much Penthouse paid her for her story.

She said that after a two-week, 10-city tour, she would return to Princeton, Ind., and her children — a 10-year-old daughter and two sons, 7 and 8 — who are staying with her parents.

She said she had no plans beyond getting a high school diploma, but thought she might try something like interior decorating.

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Lisa Bonet, who plays Cosby kid college student in NBC-TV's "A Different World" but has raised eyebrows by posing nude, is pregnant, a network spokesman said.

Six months ago, Miss Bonet married musician Romeo Blue, also known as Lenny Kravitz.

There was no immediate word on how the pregnancy of the 20-year-old actress would affect her role in the series, according to a statement Wednesday from NBC spokesman Bob Meyers. The show, a spinoff of "The Cosby Show," was rated No. 2 for the season, according to the A.C. Nielsen Co.

Now You're Cooking

BY GAYE B. REILY
Staff Writer

Raising six children ranging in age from an 8th grader to a 28-year-old has kept Loretta Urbanczyk busy throughout the years, but the Hereford native still finds time to pursue various hobbies.

"I like to sew, cook, garden, knit, and dabble in decorating," said the amiable mother of five sons and one daughter. "I especially like to wallpaper; I've wallpapered Lori's room and now I am making some drapes."

Urbanczyk makes a great deal of her clothes and Lori's garments while helping a daughter-in-law learn how to sew. Urbanczyk is also working on an applique quilt.

Indeed, Urbanczyk is proficient with many skills that make her self-sufficient. In addition to her sewing and home decorating abilities, she cans fresh vegetables from her garden. She raises such produce as beans, corn, tomatoes, asparagus, and broccoli.

Urbanczyk comes by her country skills naturally as she was raised north of Hereford in a farm family. She is the daughter of Kathryn Straffuss and the late Lawrence Straffuss and has a brother, Carl Straffuss. A Hereford High School graduate, she married A.J. "Tony" Urbanczyk and moved south of Hereford, where they currently reside at their family farm.

Extracurricular activities also mirror Urbanczyk's interest in country life. "We've had a kid in PFA every year except one year since 1974," she said. The Urbanczyks' children include eldest son, Kevin, who farms north of town; Mark; Brian, whose wife is Pattie; Chris, a student at West Texas State University; Greg, who will be a 10th grader; and Lori, an 8th grader.

Two grandchildren, two-year-old Kaeli and four-month-old Kesli, daughters of Mark and his wife, Kathy, also keep Urbanczyk entertained.

In addition, Urbanczyk also attends 4-H activities, where her children show livestock, and she serves as treasurer of the 4-H Parents/Leaders group.

The Urbanczyks are members of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, where they serve as sponsors of the Catholic Youth Organization. Active in the church's Women's Organization and Christian Mothers, Urbanczyk was among those instrumental in helping with chapel restoration at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

With such a large family, Urbanczyk has had her share of kitchen duties and fortunately enjoys cooking. "I bake lots of cookies for the kids to grab on their way in or out. As for my favorite food, I like Mexican food and just basic country recipes."

Following are some of her favorite recipes:

HAWAIIAN JELLO

This is a refreshing salad; butter-milk adds extra zest.

1 pkg. (3 oz.) orange Jello
1 can (5 1/2 oz.) crushed pineapple
1 c. buttermilk
1 carton (4 oz.) whipped topping
Mix in small saucepan the jello and the juice from the can of pineapple. Heat until mixed. Cool. Add the pineapple, buttermilk, and whipped topping.

Pour into mold and congeal in refrigerator. Serve on bed of lettuce.

SUGAR COOKIES

4 cups flour
1/2 tsp. soda
1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup margarine
2 cups sugar
3 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla

Cream sugar and margarine. Add eggs one at a time and beat until creamy and fluffy. Add dry ingredients. Chill dough well. Roll out 1/4 inch thick and cut into desired shapes.

Bake and decorate. Also may shape into roll-like refrigerator cookies. Freeze, slice, and bake in 350 degree oven for 8-10 minutes. (Best if baked just until light brown.)

PICANTE SAUCE

(The hotness of the sauce is controlled by the amount of peppers you add)

6 1/2 cups chopped, peeled tomatoes
1/4 cup chopped carrot
1 large onion, chopped
1/4 cup vinegar
6 chopped jalapeno peppers

1 Tbs. garlic salt
1 1/2 teas. salt
1/4 teas. pepper
Combine ingredients in large kettle and cook over medium heat until desired thickness is reached; stir often. Pour into sterilized pint jars, cover, and seal. Process in hot water bath for 20 minutes.

STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM

1 cup sugar
1 cup white corn syrup
1 pint half-and-half
1 cup whipping cream
6 eggs
1 qt. sliced unsweetened strawberries
1/4 cup sugar
milk

Place strawberries and sugar in blender and blend well.

Separate eggs. Beat egg whites until stiff. Continue beating while adding sugar and syrup. Then add egg yolks.

Add blended strawberries, half and half, whipping cream, and enough milk to fill freezer. Freeze according to your ice cream freezer instructions. Makes 1 Gal.

LARGE BATCH CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

1 cup shortening
1 cup margarine
1 cup white sugar
2 cups brown sugar
2 tsp. vanilla
4 eggs
4 cups flour

LORETTA URBANCZYK ...begins meal preparation in her kitchen

4 cups old fashioned oatmeal
1 tsp. baking powder
2 tsp. soda
12 oz. pkg. chocolate chips
1 tsp. salt
1 cup chopped pecan (optional)
1 cup coconut (optional)
Cream shortening, sugars, and vanilla. Add eggs, then dry ingredients.

Drop by spoonfuls on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees F. until lightly browned, about 12 minutes. Don't overbake.

Right packaging materials should be used when freezing

Freezing may be the fastest and easiest form of food preservation, but it's not foolproof. The end product will depend both on the quality of the produce and the packaging materials you use.

"Most people start freezing foods because they have excess from their gardens or they've found a source of top-quality produce at farmer's markets and truck farms," said Marilyn Haggard, a specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

"Yet it's easy to compromise the quality of that food by skimping on the materials or failing to use proper packaging procedures," she said.

The right packaging materials will protect the flavor, color, moisture content and nutritional value of frozen foods from the dry climate of the freezer, according to the specialist.

"Rigid containers, flexible bags or wrap are made to be moisture and vapor-proof especially for freezer use," she said. "If the label does not state that the material is made for freezing, don't use it."

Haggard said rigid containers made of plastic or glass are suitable for all packs of food and work especially well for food that is packed in a liquid.

"Wide mouth freezer jars have no exchange of vapor, keep out odors, don't lose shape and are easy to reuse," she said.

According to the specialist, the major problem with plastic containers is getting the lids to fit tightly. If they don't, the seal must be reinforced with freezer tape. Masking tape won't work because it doesn't stick at the low freezer temperatures.

"Don't freeze fruits and vegetables in a container larger than a quart. In a large container foods freeze too slowly to produce a good product," said Haggard.

She said that freezer bags have the advantage of eliminating practically all excess air, but are more easily damaged during storage.

"Use a rubber band instead of twist closures that have wire, since the wire can catch and tear bags. To make stacking and storage easier, put the bags of food inside milk cartons or in cardboard freezer cartons and then freeze them," she said.

"It's no bargain to use recycled plastic vegetable and bread bags or cottage cheese, ice cream and milk containers for freezing," said the specialist. "They're not vapor proof and foods frozen in them will lose their moisture, flavor and nutrients."

Betty Crocker's Cooking Tips

Q: I'd like to increase my 2-loaf bread recipe to make 10 loaves. What do you recommend? Mrs. M.T., Byron, Ca

A: Most recipes can be doubled, but if there is dough for more than four loaves at a time, it's difficult to knead dough effectively by hand. If you have a mixer with dough hook, or use the food processor, each 2- or 4-loaf batch is quick to process.

TIP OF THE WEEK: Use leftover gravies and sauces with vegetables, pasta, meats and hot sandwiches.

California defeats Texas, 5-2

Witt continues his success over Rangers

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — The brightest moment of Mike Witt's eight year major league occurred on Sept. 30, 1984 at Arlington Stadium. That afternoon on the last day of the season Witt pitched the 13th perfect game in big league history, also the last.

Witt continued his success against the Texas Rangers Wednesday night, winning for only the fourth time in his last 22 starts, 5-2 over the Texas Rangers.

"I remember the nice time I had here," said Witt, 3-7. "Every time I come here I have memories of it. That was a career highlight, along with the playoffs."

Witt scattered five hits through eight innings then gave up a leadoff double to Pete O'Brien in the ninth. Manager Cookie Rojas brought Bryan Harvey out of the bullpen and Harvey got three fly-ball outs for his fifth save. Witt struck out eight and walked three as the Angels took the deciding game of the three-game series. He boosted his lifetime record against Texas to 9-4, 5-2 at Arlington Stadium. Before Wednesday California was 2-10 in games Witt had started this season.

"I had a lead but I didn't really relax until I got out of the fourth," Witt said. "I hadn't been getting out of those situations. I've had good stuff all year. But one inning always seems to get me."

Witt gave up two runs in the fourth on three straight Ranger hits, including Larry Parrish's two-run double. But Chili Davis' two-run double in the first keyed a California attack that produced five runs in the first three innings.

Despite the victory, Witt said he's not yet ready to officially say his slump is over.

"Every time I win I think it's the start of something," Witt said. "It's just a matter of whether I can continue it."

California won its third of four games. Texas dropped its fourth of five.

"The last five games we've been playing steady baseball," Rojas said. "Witt had good control of his curve. He's capable of pitching like that. We need that from our big guy."

The Rangers were unimpressed by Witt.

"I've seen him look a lot better," Rangers manager Bobby Valentine said. "He had a good curve but he wasn't overwhelming. We just didn't hit him."

"We were real flat tonight. I don't know why. Some people might say it was the heat the last couple of days but I don't believe that."

"Witt wasn't the same guy I faced the last couple of years," said Rangers cleanup hitter Pete Incaviglia. "He just throws curves. We hit the ball hard and didn't find any holes."

After the Angels got to starter Ray Hayward, 4-3, for five runs in 2-3 innings, Craig McMurtry shut down California with 5 2-3 innings of two-hit relief. It was McMurtry's longest relief stint in his major league career. "Actually I got lucky," McMurtry said. "I was getting behind hitters but they made good plays behind me."

The Rangers open a four-game series against the division-leading Oakland Athletics tonight. Storm Davis (5-2) gets the start for Oakland against Jeff Russell (4-0).

In other games, Detroit defeated Baltimore 12-4, Milwaukee beat Seattle 8-7, Kansas City beat Oakland 5-4, Minnesota beat Chicago 5-2, Cleveland beat Toronto, 4-2 and Boston beat New York 4-3.

Tigers 12, Orioles 4
In one night, Pat Sheridan hit almost half as many homers and drove in almost half as many runs as he did in the first third of the season.

Sheridan gave Detroit the lead with a two-run homer on the seventh pitch of the game. He added a grand slam in the sixth inning Wednesday night to give him a career-high six runs batted in and lead the Tigers to a 12-4 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Sheridan started the game with five home runs and 13 RBI in 89 at-bats. His home-run high was eight in 1984 with Kansas City, when he drove in 53 runs. The grand slam was his second this year and the third of his career.

Sheridan gave the Tigers a 2-0 lead in the first when he homered off Jose Bautista, 2-5. He hit his grand slam off Don Aase.

Sheridan's other grand slam this season was off Julio Solano on May 6 in Seattle. His first career slam was against Charlie Hough of the Texas Rangers in 1984.

Detroit scored a season-high eight runs in the sixth inning. Paul Gibson, 3-1, pitched five innings for the victory.

Brewers 8, Mariners 7
Glenn Braggs hit a two-out, two-run homer in the ninth inning.

Milwaukee, which earlier trailed 5-2 and 6-5, was behind 7-6 in the ninth. Mike Jackson, 2-2, walked Robin Yount with one out and, after Rob Deer struck out, Braggs hit his 10th home run on a 1-2 pitch.

Mark Clear, 1-0, got the victory despite allowing a pinch-double to Dave Valle in the eighth. Dan Plesac pitched a perfect ninth for his 13th save.

Royals 5, Athletics 4
Frank White drove in three runs, including a go-ahead two-run single in the sixth inning, as Kansas City completed a three-game home sweep.

Matt Sinatro drove in all of Oakland's runs with a pair of two-run doubles. Bret Saberhagen, 8-5, gave up 11 hits in 7 1-3 innings and outduelled Dave Stewart, 9-4.

Twins 5, White Sox 2
Pinch-hitter Randy Bush broke a tie with a two-run, ninth-inning double, his fifth pinch hit in eight at-bats.

Tim Lardner and Gene Larkin singled to open the ninth off Dave LaPoint, 4-6, and Kent Hrbek sacrificed. Bush doubled off the right-field wall and Dan Gladden followed with a run-scoring groundout.

Juan Berenguer, 7-3, got the victory, relieving Les Straker with one out in the eighth.

Indians 4, Blue Jays 2
Cory Snyder homered and Domingo Ramos hit a two-run single as the Indians swept the three-game series.

Rich Yett, 5-3, gave up two runs and three hits in 6 2-3 innings, walking six and striking out two. Doug Jones got the last two outs for his 14th save.

Jim Clancy, 3-7, allowed five hits and four runs — two of them unearned — in 6 2-3 innings.

Red Sox 4, Yankees 3
Roger Clemens struck out 10 and improved his road record to 7-0.

Clemens, 9-3, allowed eight hits in 7 2-3 innings and walked one.

Lee Smith pitched final 1 1-3 innings for his eighth save.

Dwight Evans, who had three hits, put Boston ahead with an RBI single in the first off Tommy John, 4-2.
