We're Number One

The Hereford High School band tells the world what they earned in the regional band competition Saturday in Amarillo—first division (superior) ratings in concert and sightreading by the symphonic band. The ratings, coupled with the first division rating in the marching contest last fall, gave the band the prestigious sweepstakes award. The concert band earned a 'two' (excellent) in concert and a 'one' in sightreading at the contest. The symphonic band's concert performance will be shown today and Wednesday at 4:30 p.m. on Hereford Cablevision Channel 3.

Sales tax rebate soars

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Hereford's April 1988 sales tax rebate showed a whopping 41 percent increase over the April 1987 check, according to figures released Monday by State Comptroller Bob Bullock.

Part of the increase was due to a jump to 1.5 percent in the city's share of the sales tax on Jan. 1. The old rate was one percent.

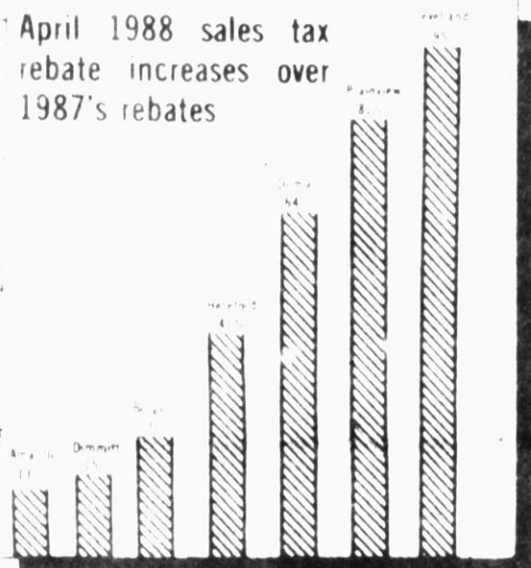

However, Bullock said figures were up across the state and indicated an economic turnaround. "The state's economy is on the upswing and growing," Bullock said. "Texans are becoming more confident about spending their money. Only a part of the allocation increase can be attributed to the additional tax and the widened tax base. There's more money being spent in the state. Cities and counties are finally beginning to reap the benefits of Texas' recovering economy."

Hereford's

April check, representing sales taxes collected in February and reported by March 21, is $42,253.01, up from the year-ago check of $29,948.88.

For the year, Hereford has received $184,846.55—up $10,000 from the figure for the first four months of 1987.

Many other area cities also showed jumps in their April allocations. Canyon, however, lagged behind 1987's tax rebate, receiving $25,537—down 8.4 percent. For the year, Canyon has received $114,741, down nine percent from the 1987 four-month figure.

Other rebates include: —Dimmitt, $10,669 for April, up 15 percent; $53,647 for the year, up 12.7 percent;

—Frisco, $6,106, up 11 percent this month; down 13 percent for the year with a $26,936 total;

—Vega, $1,295, up one percent; 14.6 percent higher for the year with $6,998;

—Amarillo, $725,087, up 13.4 percent; received $3.8 million for 1988, up four percent;

—Lubbock, $902,061, a 22.3 percent increase; and $4.4 million for the year, up 11.23 percent.

If Hereford's increase is "whopping," then increases at Plainview and Levelland must be considered "double whoppers—with everything.

Plainview's rebate jumped from $57,419 in April 1987 to $104,026—81 percent higher this year. For 1988, Plainview has received $453,670, a 24 percent increase for the year.

Levelland's rebate is $53,566, a $26,000 hike over the April 1987 rebate, or 95 percent higher.

Vote light in runoffs

An overall light turnout was expected in today's runoff elections, with polls open throughout the county until 7 p.m. today.

188 persons cast absentee ballots for today's election, 149 persons cast early ballots in the Democratic runoff, and 39 voted absentee in the GOP runoff.

The heaviest turnout is in Precinct 1, where Democratic contenders Lupe Chavez and John Stribling Jr. were facing off to determine a challenger for Republican Kim Blackwell in November. Stribling and Chavez finished one-two in the four-person primary on March 8.

The other area Democratic race is for the state senate seat being vacated by Bill Sarpalius. Mel Phillips and Bryan Poff are battling for a spot opposite Republican Teel Bivins on the general election ballot.

Drawing the most attention in the GOP runoff is a battle between Amarillo's Beau Boulter and Houston's Wes Gilbreath to determine a challenger for U.S. Senator Lloyd Bentsen in November.

Polls remain open until 7 p.m. today, and complete results on all of the runoffs will be featured in Wednesday's Brand.

Nine file for DSHD board

Nine persons will vie for three spots on the Deaf Smith County Hospital District board in the May 7 election.

Dr. William Benjamin, Harold Brigrance and David Bauch were the last three to file in the election.

One incumbent—John Gilliland—did not seek re-election. Two other present board members, Margie Ford and Frank Zinser, are on the ballot.

Other candidates for the board include Craig Smith, Raymond Schroeder, Joe Garcia and June Rudd.

The election is at-large, with voters from throughout the county eligible to cast ballots in the hospital board election.

County approves DA's computer

By ANDREA LAMB
Staff Writer

The Deaf Smith County Commissioners voted Monday accept bids for a computer system to be placed in the district attorney's office and agreed to pay 25 percent of the $40,000 cost.

District Attorney Roland Saul said that the county would pay $10,000, another $10,000 would come from the district attorney's bad check collection fund, and a federal grant under the Justice Assistance Act will take care of the remaining $20,000.

"We're going to get a computer that's compatible with the computer system the county has right now," said Saul. "I'm told it won't take much money to tie it in as far as wiring goes. Now concerning the software, there's no telling how much time and money it will take to tie that in."

Separate bids for the hardware and the software are to be returned by April 29, and Saul said he hopes the computer will be functioning by summer.

The commissioners also: —Voted to advertise for bids for motor graders with bids to be opened April 25;

—Voted to cross 15th Street with a gas line;

—Re-appointed Billy Hodges as director of the Llano Estacado Water District from Deaf Smith County.

—Accepted a letter of resignation from LaVerne Kimbell as absentee judge and appointed Paula Price to fill the position.

—Voted to hire summer assistance for the Deaf Smith County Extension Office for $5,875 which was previously budgeted.

'Emperor' picks up nine Oscars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "The Last Emperor," the lavish epic of China directed by an Italian, conquered Hollywood by capturing nine Oscars, the most for any film in 26 years. Cher won best actress for portrayal of a widow who discovers love in "Moonstruck."

Michael Douglas, the greedy, unethical insider trader of "Wall Street," was named best actor at Monday night's 60th-annual Academy Awards ceremony.

Best supporting performers were Olympia Dukakis, as Cher's outspoken Italian mother coping with a wayward husband in "Moonstruck," and Sean Connery, the hard-fisted, incorruptible Chicago beat cop in "The Untouchables."

Douglas paid tribute to his father, actor Kirk Douglas, "for helping a son move out of the shadow," and Cher credited her mother for urging her as a little girl "to be something."

"I don't think this means that I am somebody," Cher told the audience while clutching her statue. "But I guess I'm on my way. Thank you."

Backstage, the actress, in a stunning, form-revealing costume of strategically placed spangles, told reporters: "If I can win this statue I think anybody can do anything!"

In addition to best picture, "The Last Emperor" won in every category in which it was nominated, including screenplay adaptation, costumes, original score, art direction, cinematography, sound, editing, and the directing award to acclaimed filmmaker Bernardo Bertolucci.

"As an Italian, as a European, the Academy Awards has always seemed to me like a distant ceremony," said Bertolucci. "Something fascinating, remote. Something I really didn't belong to. Then, one day, 'The Last Emperor' got nine nominations and everything changed immediately."

The director, who surprised the industry by winning permission from the Chinese government to film a story with political overtones within Beijing's tabbed Forbidden City, offered "a Chinese kowtow to the Academy," saying, "This is one of the strongest emotions of my life and I can't hide it."

The movie's nine Oscars marked the biggest haul since "West Side (See OSCARS, Page 2)

POWER to remain active

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

People Opposing Wasted Energy Repositories (POWER) will continue functioning for at least another year, and one of the area's leaders in the battle against a nuclear waste repository in Deaf Smith County urged the group, at its annual meeting Monday, to aim its efforts toward the political arena.

"I hope you are not ever again caught up in the frantic thing you've been caught up in for the last five years," said Delbert Devin, head of the Nuclear Waste Task Force. "The big thing is over, but your by-laws say your goal is to protect agricultural land and water, and that job is not done."

"We've let things happen before because we were not politically active. We got caught napping on this nuclear waste thing, but we woke up in time."

"We would like to continue POWER at least until the Department of Energy is fully out of the area, closed its offices and completed its work here," said Georgia Auckerman, who was elected POWER's vice president Monday. "At the time the DOE completes its work we will determine what to do as a group."

Devin said the Farmer-Castro-Swisher Repository Assessment Commission, which was formed as a "watchdog" group over repository activities in 1987 just months before Congress pulled the plug on DOE's efforts here, is in the phasing-out process much like the Waste Deposit Impact Committee in Deaf Smith County.

Hijackers label Kuwaiti jet 'plane of martyrdom and death' as threats continue

LARNACA, Cyprus (AP) — The hijackers of a Kuwaiti jumbo jet today said they have named their aircraft "the plane of greatest martyrdom and death" and claimed they have put on their "death shrouds."

One of the hijackers made the declaration in a statement radioed to Larnaca Airport control tower. He cited Koranic verses usually read at funerals that said "those killed in the name of God are always alive."

In another development, PLO chairman Yasser Arafat was quoted today as saying the hijackers want to fly to Algeria and "arrangements are being made to this end." The Kuwait News Agency said Arafat told a news conference in Kuwait he expected the hijack drama to end tonight. Arafat, who was in Kuwait to attend a Moslem conference unrelated to the hijacking, did not elaborate.

At one point today, the hijackers radioed the tower demanding the plane be refueled in 45 minutes. But the deadline passed without incident after Samir Abu Ghazaleh, the Palestine Liberation Organization chief in Cyprus, and his deputy, Malaz Abdo, went out on the tarmac and spoke with the hijackers.

Earlier today, the hijackers of the Kuwait Airways 747, who shot and killed a second passenger Monday, threatened the lives of the nearly 50 remaining hostages. The hijackers want to leave for an unspecified "neutral country."

The hijackers, who are armed with grenades and handguns, did not explain whether their "martyrdom" statement today meant they planned to carry out their oft-repeated threat to blow up the plane.

However, their statement revealed, as had been suspected, that the hijackers are fanatical Shiite Moslems.

The statement said "hail the glory of Imam Mahdi," the messiah-like holy person Shiites believe will one day appear on earth. Only Shiite Moslems revere the imams, or saints, among the Islamic sects. Before the statement, it only was known for certain that the hijackers were Arab-speaking.

The hijackers have demanded Kuwait free 17 pro-Iranian terrorists, all but one of them Shiites, who were convicted in 1984 for bombing the U.S. and French embassies in Kuwait. The emirate has repeatedly refused to free them.

spokesman, earlier today said no negotiations were under way as the hijacking entered its eighth day. Fantis added that the chances of storming the plane at Larnaca Airport were "zero."

Fifty-two people — including at least five or six hijackers — were believed to be aboard the Boeing 747 after the bloodstained body of a man was thrown through the jet's door on Monday, his hands tied behind his back. The hostages include three members of Kuwait's extensive royal family — a man and two women.

On Monday, Kuwaiti Foreign Minister Sheik Sabah Al-Ahmed Al-Sabah said his country is prepared to lose more hostages rather than give in to the hijackers.

To complicate matters, terrorist groups in Lebanon have threatened to kill foreign hostages they are holding, including three Americans, if security forces storm the plane in a bid to free the passengers.

The plane was hijacked on Tuesday with 112 people aboard on a flight from Bangkok to Kuwait and forced down in Mashhad, northeast Iran, where 57 people were freed. The plane left Iran on Friday after refueling.

Speakes attributed remarks to Reagan

Reagan mute on issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former White House spokesman Larry Speakes says he attributed remarks on major foreign policy issues to President Reagan that the president did not make, in one case because the president himself "had almost nothing to say."

Speakes, in his new book, describes two occasions on which he attributed remarks to Reagan that he says the president never made.

Speakes says that after a Korean Air Lines plane carrying 61 Americans was shot down in 1983, he credited statements made by Secretary of State George Shultz to Reagan.

And he says that during Reagan's summit meeting with Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev in Geneva in 1985 he attributed to Reagan remarks that he and an assistant press secretary, Mark Weinberg, had manufactured.

Speakes, who often boasted that he never lied to the press during his six years as Reagan's chief spokesman, makes the statements in his book, "Speaking Out," scheduled for publication next month by Charles Scribner's Sons.

Reagan met with the National Security Council and with congressional leaders after a Soviet plane shot down the KAL aircraft on Aug. 31, 1983.

Speakes says Shultz declared during the congressional leaders' meeting that the incident was not a problem between the United States and the Soviet Union but "a Soviet versus the world problem."

POWER

Promoting Regional Industry, Development, and Enhancement (PRIDE)—that will conduct a region-wide study to help determine the future economic course of the area.

"We want to explore what counties want to do," said Devin. "We want to go to counties, chambers of commerce, industrial foundations and suggest these studies are something you might want to do."

The studies would be conducted by personnel from the Texas Department of Agriculture and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and would involve about 150 persons in each town or county that wants to participate in the studies.

"These studies are like a complete physical," Devin explained. "We are going to examine and hit and poke around to find out everything." Devin said he already has positive indications or commitments from Randall,

Swisher and Briscoe counties to help with the study, "and I trust things in Hereford will go well."

"I feel we must band together in a regional concept to get something accomplished. I am excited about the possibilities."

Other officers elected Monday were Nick Yosten, president; Kerrie Steiert, secretary-reporter; Judy Kriehausen, treasurer; and directors Garry Yosten, Tonya Kluskens, Roy Carlson and Steve King.

Amnesty denial records may mean deportation

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Undocumented immigrants will trust immigration officials more if the federal government destroys records of aliens who are denied amnesty, the Mexican consul says.

"There is fear among undocumented people that if they apply for amnesty and are denied, their records can later be used to find them, and to deport them," Enrique Buj Flores, Mexico's consul in El Paso, said last week.

"What will happen to their records is the great question," he said. "I think if the INS would say the records will be destroyed completely, to the point of inaccessibility, confidence in the INS would rise dramatically."

But Immigration and Naturalization Service officials said the records won't be used to deport illegal immigrants after the May 4 amnesty application deadline, and that the documents will be needed in future years to process applications for amnesty, permanent residency and citizenship.

Under the 1986 Immigration Reform and Control Act, people who have lived in the United States illegally since before 1982 can apply for immigration amnesty and be granted temporary residency. They can later apply for permanent residency and eventually citizenship.

Ramona Flores, deputy director of the INS regional processing center in Dallas, said the immigration reform act requires authorities to keep the records and forbids the INS from using them to deport anyone.

"Eventually, when someone applies for citizenship, we will still need his or her records," she said.

DALLAS (AP) — State Fair of Texas officials plan to demolish the Comet roller coaster, but its fans are seeking help from the Dallas Historical Landmark Commission to save the 41-year-old wooden ride.

Insurance problems forced the ride closed in 1985 and the State Fair has tried to sell the coaster to make room for two new attractions.

The landmark commission was scheduled to hear a request from the State Fair today for a demolition permit, while supporters ask for a reprieve that will give them a chance to find a new home for the coaster.

"It is really in good condition," said fair spokeswoman Nancy Wiley. "Obviously, if we could run it, we would run it."

Last year, the fair couldn't find anyone to insure the ride or someone else to run the ride and purchase insurance, Ms. Wiley said.

The Comet is not the biggest, fastest or longest of its kind, but coaster enthusiasts say it has other attractive qualities.

Built in 1937, the Comet was designed by Charles Paige, whose coasters are known for "negative Gs," the feeling that the ride is trying to hurl you out of your seat. Paige also designed his coasters to start slowly and finish fast.

"He didn't want to waste the punch at the beginning, where you might forget it," said Gary Slade, a Dallas member of the American Coaster Enthusiasts.

Joe Wyman of the Dallas Historic Preservation League said he hopes to keep the ride in the park.

"We've already lost a lot of history here," Wyman told the Dallas Morning News.

But Slade said he has talked to officials at Frontier Park in Oklahoma, who have expressed interest in purchasing the Comet.

However, Frontier City won't be able to pull together financing for the purchase until summer, Slade said, adding he hoped a demolition order could be stalled.

"I seriously doubt you'll ever see it running again at the fairground," Slade said.

Oscars

Story" took 10 in 1962. The all-time champ, Ben Hur, won 11 in 1960.

The Oscar audience of 6,300 cheered loudly for the supporting actor and actress awards.

"OK, Michael, let's go!" exclaimed Miss Dukakis as she held her Oscar aloft. She was referring to her cousin Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis, who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination.

Backstage, she delivered an acceptance speech in Greek for reporters from the land of her heritage.

Connelly, the original James Bond, drew two standing ovations during the evening and addressed his thanks to, "Ladies and gentlemen, friends, and a few enemies."

Connelly said he assumed his award was for "an accumulation of my different performances."

He also made a plea for an end to the 5½-week-old Writers Guild of America strike that caused some clumsiness in the script for the ceremony, which is normally written by some of Hollywood's best wordsmiths.

The award for song went to "The Time of My Life" from "Dirty Dancin'," and the movie's stars, Patrick Swayze and Jennifer Gray, appeared as presenters.

In a ceremony that rewards dramatic expertise, there were many lump-in-the-throat moments, among them deaf actress Marlee Matlin's presentation of the best actor Oscar to Douglas. Miss Matlin, who won last year as best actress, abruptly abandoned her sign language to speak haltingly as she announced the nominees and exclaimed an exuberant, "Good Morning, Vietnam!" when she reached Robin Williams' name.

There was Billy Wilder's recollection of his origins as a German immigrant and declaring of his special Irving Thalberg Award: "This is the most prestigious award you can get outside the Nobel Prize."

And there was screenwriter Patrick Shanley, holding his Oscar for "Moonstruck" and enthusing, "I don't care if we're supposed to be cool. This is incredible! I want to thank everyone who ever punched me or kissed me in my life."

The evening began with an award for visual effects to "Innerspace," a fantasy about a test pilot reduced to microscopic size. After that, perhaps the only surprise was the best foreign language film award, which went to "Babette's Feast" from Denmark over the highly favored, "Au Revoir, Les Enfants," Louis Malle's memoir of his wartime childhood.

The best animated short film award went to "The Man Who Planted Trees."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why do you and so many others assume that all single people are lonely? This really gets my hackles up. I have been unmarried all my life, and I wouldn't have it any other way.

I've seen a number of those so-called wonderful marriages, and all I have to say is, "No, thank you." Married people must account to one another for every living minute. Each has the right to know where the other one is at all times, how much money he or she spends and on what.

Marriage demands that everything be shared. Once you are married there is no such thing as "mine." It's all "ours."

I enjoy coming home at night to a quiet, serene house where I can relax. I see and listen to people all day. I don't need to hear any more voices. If I want to talk, there is the telephone. If I want company I have plenty of neighbors and friends. But it's my choice.

I know married women who are lonely as hell, not to mention the ones who are stuck with alcoholics, gamblers, skirt-chasers and sex maniacs. Surely others must see this, too. I am puzzled as to why so many single women think they are missing so much. Maybe it's because people have a tendency to long for what they don't have instead of counting their blessings. So please, Ann Landers, stop trying to get everyone married.—Yakima, Wash.

DEAR YAK: Who, me? You dialed the wrong number, honey. Many single people have the best of both worlds. Nobody knows that better than I. But thanks for unloading. You connected with a lot of soul sisters today.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our annual family reunion is coming up soon. This means going to my parents' house with my husband and children to join my siblings, their spouses and children.

For some reason, my mother wants to break this family tradition by inviting her second cousin, a social nightmare who has been jailed for sexual assault, convicted for giving liquor to and then making moves on young boys. This creep once posed (in uniform) as a police officer who was trying to give extensive physical examinations "in the name of the law."

I have a young son and quite frankly, Ann, I would feel uncomfortable subjecting him to the company of this weirdo. When I mentioned this to my mother she became very self-righteous and said, "Don't come then." Point blank, bottom line. Then she hung up on me.

Should I go and be uncomfortable or keep my family home and deprive them (and myself) of something we have been looking forward to for a long time? I am — Between a Sad Rock and a Hard Place in Kau Claire, Wis.

DEAR EAU CLAIRE: By all means go to the family reunion. But keep your eye on the creepy cousin and make sure he isn't alone with any of the children.

I suspect your mother is trying to help in the rehabilitation of this black sheep (bless her for that), and including him in the family get-together is a way to help build his self-esteem.

Obviously you are not aware of Landers' Law on Social Gatherings. Anyone who says, "I won't come if you have so-and-so" should be told, "Sorry we will miss you."

Are you struggling with decisions about sex and needing more information to help you make them? Ann Landers' newly revised booklet, "Sex and the Teenager," can be like talking to a good friend. To receive a copy, send $3 plus a self-addressed, stamped No. 10 envelope (45 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Frozen yogurt now appears in freezers everywhere

Hard frozen, soft frozen, on a stick, sandwich style, in a cup or cone, however you eat it, frozen yogurt consumption is booming.

Frozen yogurt products have reached a pinnacle of popularity for a number of reasons, not the least of which are taste and America's love for desserts. In addition, many consumers view yogurt as a lower-calorie dessert and snack alternative. Frozen yogurt, even premium brands, contains about one-third to one-half the calories of premium ice cream. And yogurt has nutritional benefits as well. It, like other dairy products, is a good source of calcium, phosphorus, potassium, riboflavin and niacin.

The great variety of forms and flavors is also appealing to consumers. Hard-frozen yogurts are usually available in bulk containers as well as in individual servings such as cups, sticks, cones and bars. Soft-frozen yogurt is most often served in cones or as sundaes. The flavors are limited only by the imagination—vanilla, chocolate, maple, coconut, strawberry, coffee—just to name a few of the possibilities.

Consumers use frozen yogurt much as they would ice cream. For example, it's frequently eaten plain, or as a topper for cakes and pies, as an accompaniment for fresh fruits or made into a sundae.

Freezing a carton of yogurt will not give you the results you might expect. To make commercial frozen yogurt, ingredients such as sugar, stabilizers and nonfat milk solids are added by the manufacturer to ensure a smooth and creamy, not grainy or crystalline, frozen yogurt.

Ready For Carnival

STAYING SMOKELESS

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — If a person is trying to stop smoking, having and carrying out a plan for coping with cigarette cravings will improve chances of success, says Deborah Ossip-Klein, director of the University of Rochester's smoking research program.

Her research shows people who do something when cravings arise, such as going for a walk, exercising, stretching or talking to a friend, are more likely to stay cigarette-free.

The particular strategy a person uses doesn't matter as much as choosing and using one or more to combat cravings.

With come-from-behind win over Estacado, 13-7

Whitefaces stay on top in District 1-4A

By GARY CHRISTENSEN
Sports Editor

The Hereford Whiteface varsity baseball team, behind the relief pitching of Jason Scott, overcame a bad first inning to score a 13-7 victory over Lubbock Estacado Saturday in Hereford.

The win kept the Herd in sole possession of first place in District 1-4A with a 7-1 record, one game ahead of Canyon and Lubbock Dunbar, both of whom won on Saturday. Hereford plays at Dumas today at 4:30 p.m.

Estacado gained a 4-0 lead by using the wind and taking advantage of two Hereford errors. The Matadors hit three singles in the inning, including two that had curved flights into the outfield because of the strong north wind that was blowing.

Estacado had scored all four of its first inning runs with no outs being recorded by Hereford. With the score 2-0, Scott was brought in to relieve starting pitcher James Hernandez. Scott gave up a two-run single but struck out the next three batters he faced. Scott shut out the Matadors in the next four innings as Hereford moved into the lead, 7-2.

Herd catcher Robby Collier threw out an Estacado runner attempting to steal second, for the third out of the second inning.

Roger McCracken singled and scored Hereford's first run of the game, in the second inning. He scored on a fielder's choice when Derrell Page hit a grounder.

The Whitefaces gained a 5-4 lead in the fourth inning. Collier opened with a single, and Roger McCracken reached base on an error.

The runners advanced on a wild pitch, setting up a two-run single by Hernandez, who had moved to third base on defense.

A passed ball and an error allowed Hernandez to score the tying run. Later, Keith Brown hit an RBI double to give Hereford the 5-4 lead.

Two great defensive plays by Hereford infielders helped shut down Estacado in the fifth inning. Hernandez leaped for a hard-hit grounder down the third base line and threw to first base for the first out of the inning.

Shortstop Bill Ruckman snared a line drive for the third out of the inning.

In the bottom of the fifth, Rodney McCracken hit a towering fly ball into center field that dropped in for a double. His brother Roger drove him home with a triple, and Roger scored on a sacrifice fly by Hernandez, making the HHS lead 7-4.

Estacado scored a run on a double in the sixth inning to cut the lead to 7-5, but Hereford came back with six runs in the bottom of the inning.

The six-run inning began when Ruckman struck out but reached base when the ball was not caught by the Estacado catcher. Brown singled, and a balk moved Ruckman and Brown each up one base.

Michael Phibbs stroked a two-run single, stole second base and went to third base on an error. Collier hit an RBI single and advanced to second base on an error. Collier scored all the way from second base on a wild pitch.

Page made the Whiteface lead 13-5 with a two-run double hit to the right field fence.

Estacado loaded the bases on two singles and a walk in the top of the seventh. With two outs, a two-run single was hit, but Scott struck out the next batter to end the game.

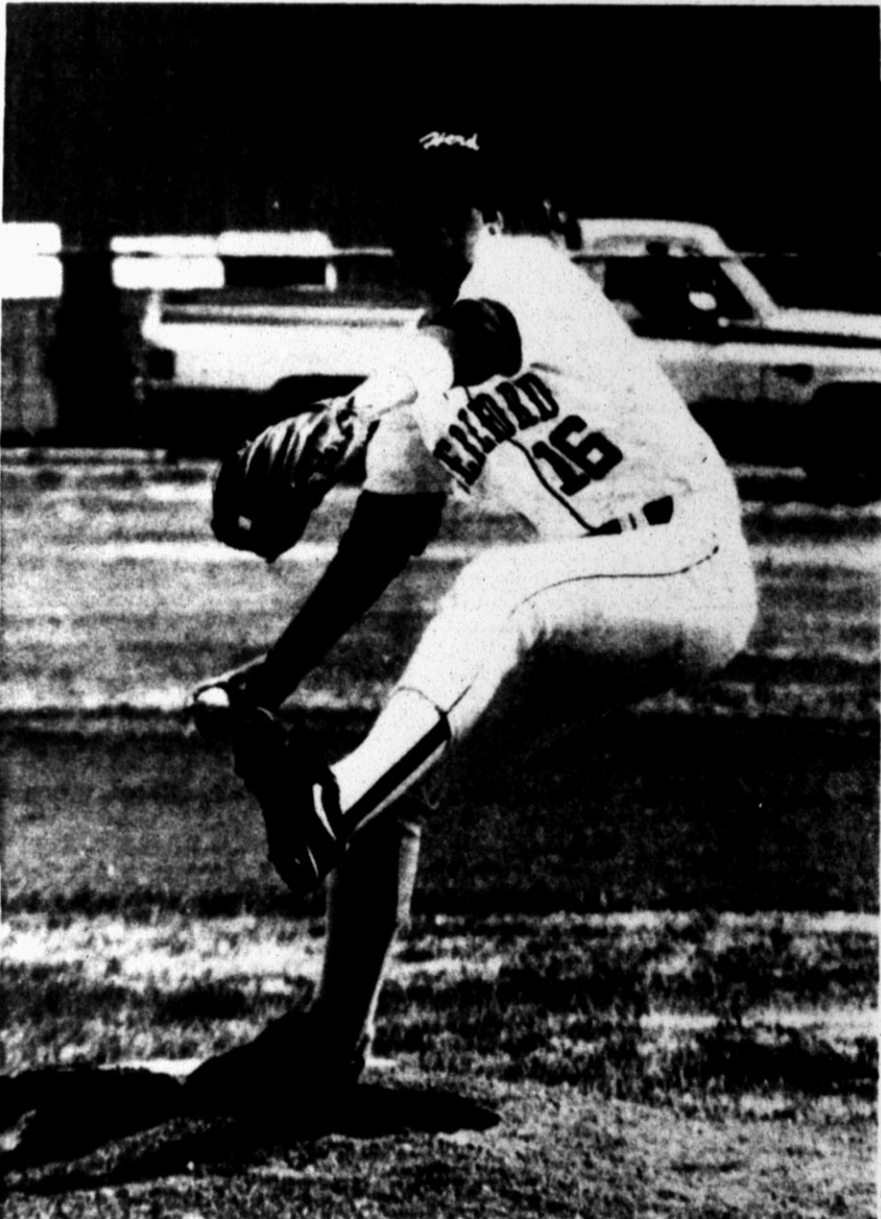

Scott had eight strikeouts, walked three batters and allowed seven hits. Hereford had 12 hits compared to 10 by Estacado.

"We just came out to a slow start. It took us a while to get going. Jason did a heck of a job on the mound," Hereford Coach T.R. Sartor said.

"We hit the ball about as hard as we've hit it all year. I thought four of our hits would have gone out if it had not been for the wind," Sartor continues. The hits Sartor thought would have been homers on a day without a wind were by Rodney McCracken, Roger McCracken, Derrell Page, and James Hernandez.

"After the first inning, our defense did the job," Sartor adds.

Here's "Ned" Scott!

Hereford Whiteface pitcher Jason Scott, known as "Ned" by his teammates, recorded eight strikeouts Saturday in a relief appearance. His efforts helped Hereford overcome a 4-0 lead by Lubbock Estacado. The win upped Scott's record to 6-0 and made Hereford's district record 7-1, one game ahead of Canyon and Lubbock Dunbar. Hereford finished 10 points behind meet winner Borger. Other team scores were: Dumas, 62; Miami, 53; and Guymon, Okla., 52.

Six place finishes were achieved by Hereford, and also six second place finishes.

"We ran a revised schedule because of the weather. Times from races usually run as preliminaries were used to determine the top six places," Hereford Coach Martha Emerson reports.

"This was the worst weather we have had in any of our seven invitational meets this season. Now we must get out minds set on final preparations for the District 1-4A meet in Lubbock on Saturday," Coach Emerson adds.

At the district meet, teams and individuals will compete for spots in the regional track meet in Brownwood on April 29-30.

Nancy Garza won two distance runs in Saturday's meet - the 1,600-meter run in 6:05.09 and the 3,200-meter run in 12:54.2. Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

AUSTIN - Texans during the last few years have become re-acquainted with the mechanics of taxation, and we have learned there is one constant in the taxing business.

Taxes go up with relative ease. They come down with less regularity than snow in the Virgin Islands.

That doesn't have to be the case, though. Two years ago, we began tinkering with a tax-relief plan, one that would give taxpayers a much needed break whenever the state enjoyed a budget surplus.

Last week, when the Select Committee on Tax Equity met in Amarillo, we took the opportunity to tell them of our plan.

Our idea, we told the committee, initially was to index the state sales tax rate to a major economic indicator, probably overall state revenue. The plan would call for the Comptroller of Public Accounts to revise his revenue estimate during the middle of the state's two-year budget cycle. If state revenue was down from the start of the biennium, the sales tax would be raised. If revenue was up, the tax rate would be lowered.

This shift would occur only once during the budget cycle, and there would be a lag time between the comptroller's announcement of a new sales tax rate and the actual implementation of the new rate. This lag time would allow the governor and the Legislature to stop implementation of the new rate, if desired. The Legislature could be called into session and, in the case of a surplus, funds appropriated to worthy programs or, in event of a deficit, the budget reduced.

We met some resistance from our colleagues. Many thought the idea was unconstitutional because they believed it delegated taxing authority to the comptroller. We disagreed. The comptroller would not be setting tax rates on a whim; he would be following specific statutory instructions from the Legislature.

Nonetheless, we plugged ahead and last summer came very close to incorporating a variation of our idea (calling only for tax relief in event of a budget surplus) into the massive tax bill the Legislature eventually passed. Our plan was placed in the bill during an initial Senate vote but was defeated by only two votes during a later roll call.

In retrospect, maybe the idea was just a little too revolutionary to win approval so quickly by the Legislature. But, it still is a good idea.

Think back to the late 1970s and early 1980s, when the state enjoyed multi-billion-dollar surpluses. Ever wonder what happened to all that extra money? Some was spent to upgrade state programs that were operating on unacceptably low budgets. No one quarrels with those appropriations. But, the rest of the money was spent to finance already healthy programs.

Those funds were wasted and should have been returned to the taxpayers.

That, simply put, is what our program is all about. The Legislature should turn back money it doesn't need, and our plan would force the governor and the Legislature to make a decision about whether excess money is needed.

The plan still has a roughness to it, and it needs further study. We frankly don't have the same size research staff as the comptroller's office or the Select Committee on Tax Equity. That's why we chose last week to brief the select committee on our plan. They have the manpower to give the idea the complete study it deserves.

It would be a terrible shame if they didn't act on that opportunity.

If you have additional questions about tax relief, or other issues, please contact us at P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas, 78711.

Garden Club holds meeting

The Hereford Garden Club met April 8 in the home of Mozelle Childers with Lucy Faye Cocanougher serving as co-hostess.

Lois Ehrhridge led salutes to the flags. President Ursalee Jacobson conducted the business meeting.

Thank-you notes were read from Bessie Hill and Ginger Smith Jones. A mini-flower show was discussed. Billee Johnson and Bessie Hill will select a place.

Billee Johnson, whose daughter is a day lily specialist and breeder, said reason day lilies are such a success is because many are interested in them. The lilies can be grown in all parts of the United States; in most locations they bloom from May until frost. They range in heights from about 18-30 inches and blooms are from one to nine inches across.

Lilies may be grown in the sun and some shade; the east side of a house works well. They need plenty of food in the fall; rose feed works well. Johnsons concluded by noting that day lilies enhance landscapes.

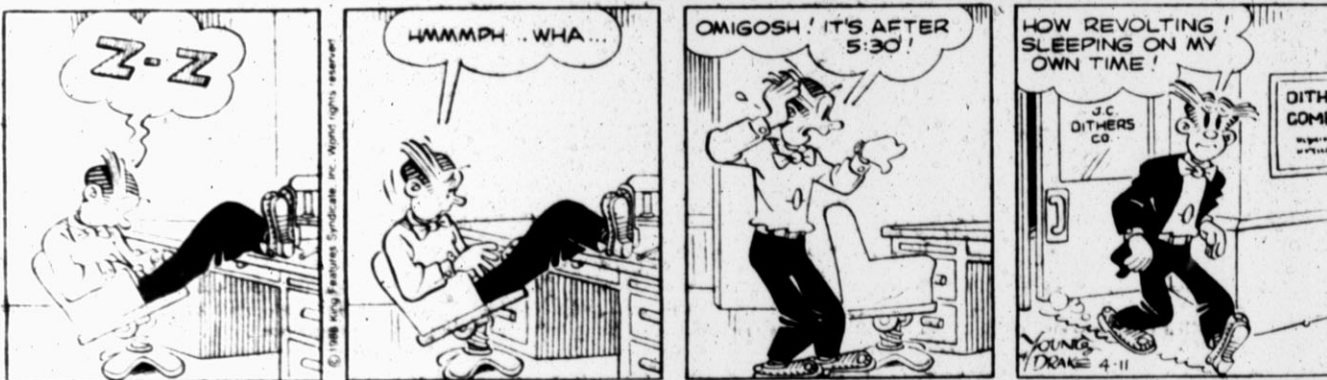

LIVING SYMBOLS

NEW YORK (AP) - Thomas Nast, the illustrator who devised the elephant to represent the Republican party and the donkey to symbolize the Democratic party, was born in Bavaria in 1840. He came to America when he was six.

During the Civil War, Nast's caricatures greatly influenced public opinion in the North, and President Lincoln called him "our best recruiting sergeant."

Baptist women meet, plan May schedule

The general meeting of the Loyal Baptist Women met Wednesday morning at 11 a.m. in Fellowship Hall for a business meeting, program, and luncheon.

Theda Seiver, WMU director, called for a silent prayer in memory of Tresa Hale. Seiver then gave the opening prayer.

Loleta Vinson, mission support chairman, gave the calendar of prayer. Grace Covington, secretary, read the minutes of the March meeting. Costaline Lee, mission action chairman, reported on the Golden Plains birthday party March 24 when 55 people were served. A thank you note from BSU in Canyon was read.

Members were encouraged to give $1 per month for the Bible of the Month Club for the incoming seamen from all over the world. Leatrus Clark, assistant director, reported in absence of Mission Study chairman, Clovis Seago, on the book study in March, "A Church for Everyone". There were 25 present and a video was shown along with the book.

Announcements included an overnight prayer retreat in Amarillo Lodge at High Plains Baptist Assembly April 22-23. A registration fee of $10 includes two meals on Saturday. State WMU president Amelia Bishop will be speaker. Reservations are due to Donna Vernon at Box 981, Panhandle, Tx. 79068 by April 18.

The Centennial Offering will help pay for the new building as May 12 will be the centennial birthday party from 7-9 p.m. in First Baptist Church, Hereford. Area rural churches will be participating. The WMU centennial Association's birthday party will be held May 14 at First Baptist Church in Amarillo from 12:30-2 p.m. They will be viewing the birthday party in Richmond, Va. Buckner Children's Home will be honored May 19 with a banquet; graduates and Hereford graduates at 7 p.m. in Fellowship Hall.

Donnie Owen, mission study chairman, gave the program, "A Woman's Clal to give." She was assisted by Jerre Jackson and Seiver. Sara Hines Martin observed, "Throughout missions history, women have given their money sacrificially and creatively. They spun, they wove; they collected rags; they sewed, they churned butter; they knitted. Funds raised were theirs to squander in missions if they chose," which they did. In 1830, Georgia Association minutes recorded the sacrifice of one woman. "I have been a great snuffer for years past. On sober reflection, I have quit it entirely and sent the amount of three dollars to aid in the missionary cause." Ella Oglesby led prayer for requests and for the food.

Enuice Boyer and Leatrus Clark were hostesses to 24 members and one guest, Annie DeLozier.

Others present were Margaret Young, Jennie Terrell, Alice Christman, Gladys Miller, Vernis Parsons, Lucy Kirksey, Thelma Auten, Lola Jewell, Louise Kinsey, Lillie Stagner, Blance Mosley, Virgie Duncan, Leona Sowell, Faye Brownlow, and Opal Orbertson.

CARMEL, Calif. (AP) — Clint Eastwood has laid down his gavel for good after presiding over his last City Council meeting as mayor of Carmel — an event that made the day of some of his neighbors.

"It's kind of nice to have it all over with. We all enjoyed it, but the carnival's over now," said Clayton Anderson, one of six candidates vying to succeed the movie star.

Eastwood's ride into the political sunset will end the frequent lines of tourists outside council meetings, but the hard-bitten hero of "Dirty Harry," "Magnum Force" and countless westerns says he has no regrets.

"I wouldn't trade the last two years for anything," Eastwood said at Tuesday night's meeting.

Eastwood's term expires in May, and he announced earlier this year that he wouldn't seek a second term.

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Author Jerzy Kosinski is back in his native Poland for the first time in 32 years to oversee publication of his novel "The Painted Bird," which once caused him to be reviled as a traitor there.

The 55-year-old author, who grew up in the industrial city of Lodz about 95 miles southwest of Warsaw, arrived for a two-week visit Wednesday to meet representatives of the company that will publish the novel in Polish.

Kosinski, head of the U.S. Fund for Polish-Jewish Research, said that as a Jew he "wants to recognize the significance of the Polish past for Jewish spiritual development."

As a Pole, he said, he wants to acknowledge "the contribution of Jews to Polish culture and history."

"The Painted Bird" was originally banned in Poland because it depicted the cruelty and brutality of Polish peasants to a fugitive boy during World War II.

OAK LAWN, Ill. (AP) — Six-year-old Amanda Burke is all in favor of glasnost after writing to Andrei Bukin and Natalia Bestemianova, the Soviet Union's Olympic gold medal-winning ice skaters, and getting a warm reply.

Amanda, a first grader, took advantage of glasnost — the spirit of open communication expressed by Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev — after seeing the skaters on television during the Winter Olympics in February.

"They were very graceful and beautiful," she said of the skaters. "I really liked them."
