A new coat of paint will be applied to the interior of the Deaf Smith County Courthouse -- the first in 16 years.

County Judge Tom Simons reported to Commissioners' Court that the project is expected to cost about $500 for paint. Work will be done by trusties from the county jail.

"The best we can tell, the last interior painting was 16 years ago," Judge Simons said. "It's about time for another coat.'

commissioners also approved advertising for bids for a mower for Precinct Four and decided to increase liability insurance on county-owned vehicles to $500,000 for each incident.

Commissioners gave a sympathetic car, but could offer no help, to Andres Del Toro Sr., who reported that truckers involved in sugar beet hauling suffered heavy loss from the abbreviated beet harvest season.

Judge Simons said he had contacted the Texas Department of Agriculture and the governor's office to learn if any kind of disaster relief might be available for the truckers.

Commissioners told Del Toro that the county has no trucking work

TDCJ officials will visit Thursday

Five staff members of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice (TDCJ) are scheduled to be here Thursday to review Hereford's proposal to have a state prison unit built here.

The TDCJ officials will be meeting with principal members of Hereford's Prison Task Force, local utility representatives and several others involved in Hereford's prison proposal.

O.G. Nieman, local task force chairman, said the TDCJ team wants to meet only with principal committee members. Should Hereford be named to the short list next month, a public comment meeting will be called in the community.

The TDCJ team will visit the proposed site and discuss details about the local proposal which was submitted in January. The TDCJ team will include a team leader from the prison's management services, and staff members representing utility, health care, construction and agriculture areas. From the site visits and reviews of all information, the TDCJ staff is scheduled to develop a short list of recommended finalists for presentation to the Texas Board of Criminal Justice. That short list is expected to be announced on March 16.

After additional review and public comment meetings, the obard is scheduled to choose the winning sites at its meeting on April 10.

TDCJ is seeking sites for construction of three 2,250-bed maximum security units, six 1,000-bed minimum/medium security facilities, and a total of 12,000 beds for substance abuse facilities. Size of the these units is still to be determined.

The timetable for the selection process indicates TDCJ will decide this week how many sites will be chosen for substance abuse units. Decisions on the type and size of facility to be placed on any selected site will be made by the prison board.

Among the factors to be considered in the site selection process are operational costs and considerations, logistical concerns, regionalization needs, staff recruitment and retention, site suitability, inmate catchment areas, community resources and public support. -

School finance is 'really tough'

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Ann Richards says this is a "really tough" time for lawmakers to be dealing with public school funding, but she intends to call them into special session in the spring or early summer.

Richards noted Monday that officials are facing the politically difficult issue during an election year, before the high court ruled on the and said that Texans battling economic woes are "sick of taxation.'

After meeting with Lt. Gov. Bob equally unusual hearing by Texas Bullock and House Speaker Gib Lewis, Richards said that the three have yet to come up with a plan that will pass the Legislature and be approved by voters, and that also will benefit the school children.

"Like most people who discuss school finance, we feel really frustrated. You sort of begin at A, and come full circle right around to A,' Richards said.

"One thing that we all did agree on (is) that we do not feel at this point that we want to do anything that is in a hurry," Richards said.

Attorney general trying new tactic in redistricting

General Dan Morales has launched another legal arrow against U.S. District Judge James Nowlin, who is at the center of controversy over his court-ordered state Senate redistricting plan.

Morales has accused Nowlin of improper conduct because Nowlin asked a fellow Republican to work secretly on Senate district boundaries that were later approved by Nowlin's three-judge panel.

On Monday, Morales asked U.S. District Judge Lucius Bunton III of Midland to select another judge to investigate the allegations against Nowlin. Bunton is the chief judge of the federal judicial district that includes Nowlin.

'This is a deadly corruption of the judicial process," the state told Bunton, referring to the connection between Nowlin and state Rep. George Pierce, R-San Antonio.

The maneuver by Morales represents another in the state's attempt to try and overturn Nowlin's redistricting plan, and substitute it with one passed by the Democratic-dominated Legislature. The state contends that Nowlin drew the districts in such a way as to increase Republican representation in the Senate at the expense of minorities.

Nowlin has refused to comment on lawmakers.

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas Attorney the allegations that he had Pierce. work on the plan. Pierce has denied any wrongdoing, saying he made only minor adjustments on the Senate boundaries, including the district in which he is running this year.

> The state has appealed the Nowlin plan before the U.S. Supreme Court, and has filed motions before Nowlin's court requesting the judge disqualify himself, and remove the redistricting plan.

> Telephone records obtained by the state attorney general's office showed that Pierce's office called Nowlin's court numerous times during the days leading to the court-ordered redistricting plan. Swom statements also indicate Pierce worked on the plan with Nowlin's law clerks.

The state claims Pierce's work on the redistricting plans was unfair because other parties in the redistricting litigation did not have a chance in court to present evidence against the changes he made.

Morales also is appealing Nowlin's redistricting plan before a federal three-judge panel in Washington, D.C. That panel has scheduled a hearing Feb. 21 to hear the case, a court spokeswoman said Monday.

That appeal focuses on the state's pre-clearance by the Justice Department of the plan adopted by

WWII stories told by veteran's son

"Comments From a Son of a delegate, March is Community Veteran" was the program given by Joe Weaver during the Feb. 4 meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 192. Legionnaires joined the women for the program.

Weaver, Deaf Smith County Library assistant, is the son of Jack Weaver who has been a Legion member for 47 years and served in the South Pacific during World War

During the informative program which was often humorous, it was noted that "son of a gun" originally meant "son of a veteran." Joe told the war stories he had grown up hearing from his father. Many were funny including an incident about K-rations of macaroni and tomatoes. Some were sad, Joe's uncle gave his life for the freedom Americans have today.

Joe Weaver talked about finding such treasures as his dad's uniform ribbons and a fruit cake tin full of Japanese victory money. He also explained that as a child he thought the family must be rich because he discovered many jewelry items made by men who were thousands of miles away from home and family. He spoke of the artillery shell mementos that his father possessed and explained that there was a story related to each. It was emphasized during the program that men and women answer the call to defend this nation because of the love and sense of duty to this country.

President Clara Trowbridge called the brief business meeting to order. She read a report on the Amarillo Veterans Hospital's Christmas gift shop. Approximately 173 patients were served with 722 dependents receiving Christmas gifts. It was also noted that the hospital has requested funds for the following services: a van, outside picnic area, and volleyball court and track area for the Annual Polish sausage dinner sceduled in Pampa

The Pampa Knights of Columbus are having their 40th Annual Polish Sausage Dinner Sunday, March 1, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. at the K of C Hall at the corner of Ward and Buckler Streets in Pampa.

The proceeds of the dinner are used for the charitable works of the Knights of Columbus, particularly their work with the deaf and the youth.

Tickets for all you can eat are $6 for adults, $3 for children under 12, and children under six are free. Take out plates are available and sausage to go will be available. Tickets may be purchased at the door or from any members.

This year 3,000 pounds of Polish sausage, 400 pounds of potato salad, 200 pounds of beans, and 60 gallons of cole slaw will be served.

This secret recipe for the Polish sausage was brought to this country from Poland over 130 years ago by the great grandparents of two of the councils members. Only these two know the recipe.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: When I had to be hospitalized this year, the only thing I missed was a phone in my room. When I wanted to make a call, I had to go in the hall or a nurse would bring a mobile phone to me.

I hated to bother the staff each time I made or received a call, so my son came up with a bright idea. He gave me his cellular phone to use. I kept it next to me on the bed and if I walked around, I put it in my robe pocket.

It certainly was convenient and I never bothered the other patients because I shut the phone off so I wouldn't receive calls after 8 in the evening. - George S., Brownsville, Texas

BABY ALBUM

Dear Heloise: I like to keep a monthby-month picture album of my baby for his first year.

Since we don't always get the film developed right away, as soon as I take the picture I write how old he is, the outfit he is wearing and what he was doing at the time on a planning calendar. I like to keep track of which month it was taken in, and it is a great way of keeping a record of baby's firsts, such as crawling, walking and drinking from a cup.

Later, when I have more time, I can place the pictures in his album without wondering when these exciting things really happened. - Lotti Webster, Marysville, Pa.

Where the Wheels Were and the Ruts Are

GUERNSEY, Wyo. (AP) - The ruts from the wagon wheels of westward bound pioneers on the Oregon Trail still are visible in the soft bedrock near Guernsey.

During the mid-1800s, it is estimated more than 50,000 people a year used this pioneer trail to migrate West. The trail is 2,000 miles long and originates in Independence, Mo.

Leaving Missouri in May, the average wagon train would travel 12 miles a day and not reach the West Coast until Thanksgiving.

A government estimate put the migration's death toll at 17 for every mile of trail. The rut marks are Registered National Landmark.

spring season off in fine style by winning their division in the Wichita Falls Tennis Tournament Friday and Saturday.

Hereford accumulated 80 points, edging district-rival Borger by two points. The Herd was put over the top by Jamie Kapka's and Torey Sellers' victory in the boys' doubles finals. They won 6-3, 5-7, 6-3 over Amador and McClendon of Wichita Falls.

"It was exciting," Coach Natalie Sims said, "because it was the finals, but also because it was split sets. The whole tournament was riding on their match.

Another exciting match, Sims said, involved the Hereford doubles pair of Emily Fuston and Sherry Fuston. In their second round match with Barker and Horton of Pampa, they split the first two sets 3-6, 6-4, then won the third set in a tiebreaker, 8-6.

"They played very aggressively," Coach Maria Eck said. "I'm very proud of them. We ended up the season by winning the eight B division.

Isaac Walker scored 28 points for Hereford.

"If he wasn't scoring, then one of the guys from the outside was scoring," Allen said. Rob Reinauer had 12 points, and Dustin Hill added 10.

"That was the most exciting game for me and fun for the kids."

The Canyon game was a challenge, and Hereford needed the win to capture the division.

"Hustle was the main reason they won that," Coach Chris Christopher said. "They really wanted that (the win)."

Hereford got scoring from Johnathan Keenan (14 points per game), Jeremy Reiter (10 ppg) and C.J. Kubacak (10 points against Canyon). Kubacak and Chris Garth contributed with rebounds,

The Maroon had to come back to have a chance. They outscored VV 7-2 in the fourth quarter.

"If I could give a hustler award, it'd be to Deanna McCracken. She got a lot of turnovers," Coach Jane Radford said. "We stopped their high scorers, played good defense and forced a lot of turnovers. Unfortunately, we played out offensive game so fast that we lost control of the ball. The team gave 110 percent tonight and I never have been more proud of them."

Heather Hodges led Hereford with six points.

Hereford's seventh grade teams had little trouble winning their games. The Maroon won 27-17 behind Danielle Cornelius' 11 points, and the White held VV scoreless in the second quarter and won 29-15. Kelly Thompson scored 10 and Cassie Abney had nine.

"Its a good way to end the season. I'm proud of the efforts of these kids," Coach Brenda Reeh said of the Maroon squad.

"We ended up the season accomplishing a lot of our goals on offense and defense," Coach Kathyna Hatla said of the White.

In Amarillo, Hereford's lone winner Monday was the seventh grade White team. They fell behind 16-8 after one quarter, then came back in the second to lead 27-26 at the half, then stretched it to a 49-44 win in the fourth.

Jeremy Reiter had 18 points, including a 10-of-11 exhibition of free throw shooting. C.J. Kubacak added 14 points.

Coach Chris Christopher called it a team effort despite getting most of the scoring from two players. He credited Johnathan Keenan and Chris Garth with good defense.

Verdict: Tyson guilty of rape

Mike Tyson stepped from a courthouse into a threatened future as a convicted rapist, found guilty of attacking a Miss Black America contestant he lured to his hotel room.

The conviction late Monday was Tyson's darkest moment in a troubled history with women, and it threatened to end the rags-to-riches career of the youngest heavyweight champion ever.

The 25-year-old boxer could get as many as 60 years in prison at sentencing March 6 but is likely to get far less under Indiana guidelines. He remained free on $30,000 bail.

"We've seen so many times recently that it doesn't matter what a superstar does - it's OK," prosecutor Greg Garrison said. "He can brag about it in his books, he can demonstrate it in the public eye, and as long as it suits him, it's all right.

"And I think tonight, one time anyway, this kind of behavior's not been tolerated."

Tyson stared straight ahead. His refused to give his name.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Boxer head jolted back but otherwise he showed no emotion as the verdict was read: Guilty on one count of rape and two counts of criminal deviate conduct. He had no comment as he left the courtroom.

Asked what his most effective evidence was, Garrison said, "That beautiful 18-year-old kid with a pure heart. She's a young person with a lot of courage."

Tyson's defense - that he was a crude womanizer whose accuser knew from the start that he wanted sex, and consented - didn't stand up to the victim's story and the physical evidence, jurors said.

"The accusing witness made a very convincing case. We looked at not only a moment in the bedroom but a chain of events that evening," said the jury's foreman, a 37-year-old IBM marketing representative and ex-Marine.

"It was an accumulation of evidence," said the foreman, who

The victim wasn't in court when the verdicts were read. Deputy Prosecutor Barbara Trathen said the woman felt "just a sense of 'It's finished,' relief."

Tyson was scheduled to challenge Evander Holyfield in a bid to regain the title last November - after being indicted - but that bout was canceled when Tyson injured a rib. It was not rescheduled when the trial began Jan.

Nothing in boxing regulations would automatically bar Tyson from fighting while free on appeal, but boxing's governing bodies and state boxing commissions could refuse to sanction a match. And no promoter would undertake such a fight under those circumstances.

Tyson's accuser testified that he had promised to take her sightseeing but instead went to his hotel on the pretext of making a phone call, pinned her to his bed, stripped her, raped her and laughed while she cried. in pain and begged him to stop.

Other evidence included testimony from an emergency room doctor who said the woman suffered injuries consistent with rape, and a chauffeur who said the woman appeared shaken when she emerged from Tyson's hotel July 19.

Tyson won the heavyweight title in 1986 at age 20 by knocking out Trevor Berbick. He lost the title in Japan to Buster Douglas on Feb. 11, 1990 - nearly two years to the day of his conviction.

Tyson began life in poverty and crime, then was rescued and steered into the ring by a gruff, older trainer, Cus D'Amato. D'Amato died in 1985 when Tyson was 19 and well on his way to boxing stardom.

Tyson had a violent eight-month marriage to actress Robin Givens, and he has also been embroiled in numerous lawsuits, some filed by women who say he fondled them or roughed them up.

Seminoles stake claim as member of ACC elite

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - Florida State has proven to be a pretty good road team - and an especially good Tobacco Road team.

You can't be among the elite in the Atlantic Coast Conference without winning in the heart of North Carolina, where the basketball teams usually rank as high as the basketball tradition.

Count Florida State among the conference's elité.

The No. 23 Seminoles survived a record-setting 3-point attack to defeat North Carolina State 87-79, it's third win over an ACC school in North Carolina this season and the only lost its seventh straight game.

game involving a ranked team on Monday night.

Coach Pat Kennedy, who figured eight conference wins would be a good showing in FSU's first year, has that many already - more than half of them on the road.

For Sura, it was a career-high. Sam Cassell added 24 points for the Seminoles as North Carolina State

Blair gives U.S. first gold of ALBERTVILLE, France (AP) -Bravo for Bonnie. But now what?

America's medal prospects for the duration of the Winter Olympics don't all sparkle with the glint of gold. But Bonnie Blair's victory in the women's 500-meter speedskating helped erase the disappointment of some early letdowns and ensured that the U.S. team has a - hello, jinx golden opportunity to surpass its 1988 total of six medals, including two gold.

What hometown hero Franck Piccard did for France with a silver in the men's downhill Sunday, Blair accomplished Monday for the United States when she became the first woman to defend her Olympic title at 500 meters.

"This is great for her and great for us," said Mike Moran, spokesman for the U.S. Olympic Committee, which retooled its Olympic training program competition. Accola was fifth in Skating on a sun-slowed rink, she got in embarrassment at the poor showing in Calgary four years ago.

Celebratory whoops were heard from Blair's hometown of Champaign, Ill., to Colorado Springs, Colo., home of the Olympic training center, where employees were holding their own flame-lighting ceremony when they got word of Blair's triumph.

"It lifted a lot of apprehension," Moran said. "We think we're on track now.'

Eric Lindros, a National Hockey League superstar-in-waiting, flashed skating power of a different sort Monday night with two goals and an assist for unbeaten Canada in a 6-1 rout of Switzerland.

World Cup leader Paul Accola of Switzerland was positioned for a gold-medal run in today's slalom portion of the men's skiing combined

Monday's downhill combined, .79 off to a blazing start and completed seconds behind leader Jan Einar a nearly flawless race in 40.33 good slalom skier and predicted he won't win.

Perhaps Blair should have "Who you gonna call?" emblazoned on her skating warmups after once again single-handedly busting the U.S. team out of a slump.

At Calgary, Americans earned only a single medal in the first week of Olympic competition - a bronze by Jill Watson and Peter Oppegard in pairs skating. It was a week remembered more for Dan Jansen's tumbles on the speedskating rink and some other missed opportunities.

The Albertville Games also appeared to be slip-sliding away from U.S. Olympians in the early going. That was the 5-foot-5 Blair's cue.

Thorsen, but the Norwegian is not a seconds. Ye Qiaobo of China also skated well but lost precious milliseconds in a crossover mixup with young Elena Tiouchiakova of the Unified Team and finished .18 behind for the silver.

"They were each better in their own way," she responded. "In '88, I was happy to win a gold medal. Now I'm very proud that I'm the first woman to win the 500 back-to-back."

She'll take that pride into the 1,500 meters on Wednesday and the 1,000 meters on Friday, and is a top contender in the latter race.

Afterward, Blair tearfully

Pottery making topic of Bay View program

Priscilla Ham demonstrated the art of pottery making when Bay View Study Club met in her home Thursday, Feb. 6.

Using her pottery wheel, Ham showed how pots are thrown. She displayed pottery in various stages of completion as well as examples of the many kinds of pottery which are her trademark.

Club President Ruth McBride explained that Bay View will work in cooperation with the Deaf Smith County Library and museum to establish a library of videos which portray county history as well as special accomplishments of area residents. The interviews will be conducted in the Bay View Room of the county library and will be available for all groups to use in program planning.

The club voted to purchase the materials needed for the construction of a security case to hold the rare book collection at the library. An overflow of rare books has necessitated the new bookcase to protect the collection from damage or theft.

Lois Scott was hostess for the Other members social hour. attending included Margaret Bell, Beth Burran, Roberta Caviness, Lou Davis, Pat Fisher, Mary Fraser, Virginia Garner, Pat Graham, Nancy Josserand, Ruth Newsom, Helen Rose, Edna Gault and Lois Gililland. Glenda Marcum was a special guest.

The next meeting of Bay View will be Feb. 20 in the home of Pat Graham. Marie Cline will demonstrate culinary arts of the Southwest.

of a panel discussion when Delta Xi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma met Monday afternoon, Feb. 3, in the Lamar Room of King's Manor Methodist Home.

Led by Margaret Bell, the panel participants were Betty Mercer, Kerr, Ruby Mulkey, Della Stagner and Cassie Dowell. Comments explored such topics as preparing for retirement as well as positive and Delta Kappa Gamma moment. negative aspects of retirement living.

Mercer presented a special segment of the discussion about legislation, both enacted and pending, which affects the Texas Retirement - community. System. President of the Hereford Retired School Employees Association, she invited Delta Xi members to join this support group upon their retirements.

Delta Xi members who live in Friona, Louis Miller, Wana Brewer and Faye Reeve, were recognized with the chapter achievement award for their important contributions to the welfare of the local chapter.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 41 and "Judy" is 45. We have been good dismayed to read in your column that friends for several years. About six months ago, Judy called to say her mother was sick with pneumonia. I had never met her mother. I only knew that she had been in a nursing home for 10 years with Alzheimer's.

Judy never visited her mother, even though she lived in the same town. She said that her mother didn't recognize her and it was too depressing to stare into those vacant eyes and get absolutely no response. The nursing home put her mother in the hospital when she came down with pneumonia and Judy went to see her once. When I asked her if she at least called the hospital to see how her mother was getting along, Judy said it had never occurred to her. Even after I mentioned it, she never called to check.

Two months ago, Judy called me, crying and sobbing as if she had lost her best friend. She told me that her mother had died and that the funeral was to be held the following day at 1:00 p.m. In order to attend, I would have had to take time off from work. I made a conscious degision not to go for two reasons: First, I had never met Judy's mother, and second, I felt that if Judy wouldn't take the time to visit her mother, why should she expect me

I sent a large donation to the Alzheimer's Association in memory of Judy's mother. A month later, I asked Judy if she had received an acknowledgment from the Alzheimer's Association about my donation. She said she had, but it would have meant more if I had gone to the funeral. She never did thank me.

Our friendship has not been the same since. I feel that she must be a very selfish and cold person to have ignored her mother all those years. She thinks I'm not a good friend because I didn't go to the funeral. Please tell. me who is right. Our friendship now seems lost and I don't know how to get it back on track. --Sue in Conn.

DEAR SUE: Funerals serve a dual purpose--to show respect for the deceased and to give emotional support to the living. Even though you didn't know Judy's mother, you could have gone to the funeral to comfort your friend.

The fact that she did not visit her mother in the nursing home should have been no concern of yours. It is DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was Lewiston, Maine

DEAR BATES: The rotten egg award goes to Les Krantz, whose book contained this misinformation. For shame.

Do you have questions about sex, but no one to talk to? Ann Landers' booklet, "Sex and the Teenager," is frank and to the point. Send a self-Greene, news director, Bates College, addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Teens, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

NEW YORK (AP) - Cher surprised an organization that helps children with facial deformities by pledging a $450,000 donation on television.

The singer and actress, who played the mother of a boy with a disfigured face in the 1985 movie "Mask," was appearing on "The Maury Povich Show" when she announced her gift to the Children's Craniofacial Association.

Cher has been a spokeswoman for the Dallas-based organization since making "Mask."

The taped talk show aired Monday.

often extremely difficult to visit family members when there is no recognition, but many people do it out of respect for what used to be. In Judy's case, she may have had a very poor relationship with her mother. Obviously you miss Judy a great

Page 10-- The Hereford Brand, Tuesday, February 11, 1992 February bit bleak for specials, variety

St. Valentine's Day will be the highlight of marketing specials during the month of February, a month that does not usually create excitement at the supermarket.

Cold weather is at a peak, there is little variety in the produce coming to market, and meal planners will be stretched to vary what otherwise could be a bland menu, said Dr. Dick Edwards, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"The incoming produce probably won't set your salivary glands into a frenzy," Edwards said.

Damage caused by the whitefly seems to be concentrated in the Imperial Valley of southern California and Arizona. Head lettuce will be affected, but most other winter vegetables grown in the regions of California, Texas and Florida have yet to be impacted by this pest, he said.

Fresh February produce will include asparagus, avocados, broccoli, brussels sprouts, cabbage, celery, carrots, cucumbers, spinach, green peas and cauliflower. Fall crops wit good storage characteristics, such as apples, pears, sweet potatoes and white potatoes, also will be featured.

Valentine specials will feature. flowers.

"In the past, candy was the big attraction as a gift, but now it seems that fresh flowers have surpassed that," he said.

Most large food stores have a floral department, but flowers should be ordered early to ensure 'that requests are filled for the 14th, he said.

The best buy will be red roses, at prices around $15 to $18-per dozen, he said. Supermarkets, in keeping with their one-stop shopping status, also will have an ample supply of cards and candy for those wishing to go all out for there sweethearts, he said.

Domestically grown fruit that will be featured will be grapefruit, oranges and tangerines. Production in hot Florida and the California-Arizona region will be in full swing, edwards sid.

"The size of the crop is a bit larger than last year, so prices should be of par with those in 1991, with oranges selling for 59 cents per pound and

Ground beef, packed in chubs, will still be priced at less than +1 per pound. Other featured cuts will be round and sirloin steaks, he said.

For those who enjoy premiu n beef and have the extra cash, top sirloin that can be cut into strip steaks will be offered for less than $3 per pound. But the entire cut of beef usually must be purchased, costing from $40 to $50, he said.

Pork prices also should remain at current low levels during the month. Pork chops, roasts, stuffed sausage, pan sausage, and bacon will be the most frequently advertised specials, Edwards said.

After the marketing blitz in turkeys during November and December, there will be few poultry specials during February. Prices for whole broilers will still be as low as 39 cents per pound. Bone-in breast prices near $1 per pound will be common, as will the leg-thigh cut at 29 cents per pound in bulk packs of 10 pounds.

Specials in the sea food department will be sluggish. Medium sized shrimp priced at $3.50 per pound will be one of the best buys. Another will be orange roughy at 44 per pound. Trubot could be featured at $2.29 per pound, whole catfish at $1.99 per pound, and ocean perch at $1.49 per pound.

Grocery items for hot breakfasts and soups for cold weather menus will be discounted the most. Oatmeal and other hot cereals lead the discount list. Pancake and waffle mixes, as will as those that are frozen and ready-to-eat, also will he discounted.

Not only will canned soups and dry mixes be on sale, but any item that can be turned into soup, such as caned and frozen vegetables, will be on special. Prices of beef and chicken stock also will be reduced, he said.

Coffee, which has been at reasonable prices for two years, will still be priced at $1.25 for 13-ounce containers. Hot chocolate also will be marked down.

In the nonfoods section, the best buys will be on vitamins and diet aids. The cold and flu season always increase sales of vitamins, and merchandise will encourage consumers to stock up at prices discounted up to 20 percent. A large coupon blitz will drop the prices even lower on some name brand items. "Diet aid sales will be spurred by thoughts of spring approaching and a feeling of discomfort as you button grapefruit at 10 cents each," he said.

February also marks the peak volume of imported fruits, with the largest amount shipped from Chile. Promotion efforts will center on such soft fruit as peaches, grapes, plums and nectarines, Edwards said. Sale prices on peaches should be from 59 to 69 cents.

Other imported products in the produce section are tomatoes, onions, and squash from Mexico, and cantaloupes, honey dew melons, and pineapples form the Caribbean and Central America. Later in the month, fresh strawberries will be imported from Mexico, but prices will be more than $1 per pint, he said.

The news from the meat counter is somewhat better -- the frozen. prices that occurred last fall should continue through February.

Beef specials for the month will focus on cuts used in soups, stews and casseroles, but the best buys will be chuck roasts that will be priced at about $1.25 per pound. Shoulder roasts will be offered at prices ranging from $1.59 to $1.79 per pound.

certain garments that were a bit looser before the Christmas holidays," Edwards said.

President's Day promotions will include apple and cherry pie. Other promotions will include canned goods that are priced in multiples: for example, canned tomatoes at two for $1.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) - How well roommates get along depends partly on each person's skill at interpreting non-verbal behavior, according to a study by two psycholo-gists at the University of Rochester.

After rating the students on their ability to judge non-verbal cues accurately, the psychologists asked the students to describe interactions with roommates.

The psychologists found that when both roommates were sharp observers, they had more revealing interchanges and felt more trust and support in each other's company. In short, they were more "tuned
