"Unfortunately, we seem to be locked into a system that was established a number of years ago because kids had to get on to the farms in the summertime. We tend to frame our school year as a function of the earth's relative motion around the sun," he said.

and chopping cotton," he said. Davis was a member of the 1984 Select Committee on Public Education that unsuccessfully recommended a 190-day school year. He said Wednesday that teachers have so much to teach and so little time to teach it.

"I think it's the second best thing the select committee could do. The first thing we've got to do is deal with the (financial) equity question," he said. The 1984 proposal for a longer school year "got lost in the total crush of the cost" of the massive reforms approved at the time, according to Davis. The estimated cost of an extended school year was $400 million in 1984, he said. Also Wednesday, the committee listened to testimony from witnesses with suggestions for public education

GOP's Bush-Quayle show set tonight

NEW ORLEANS (AP)--George Bush, born to wealth, privilege and public service, accepts the Republican presidential nomination tonight with a speech intended to light a fire under his come-frombehind quest for the White House.

Trailing in the polls, Bush faces the challenge of defining his vision of the nation's future and erasing voters' doubts about his ability to lead and what he stands for.

"All ready," Bush said. "Feel comfortable about it. Ready to go.' Press secretary Sheila Tate said the prime-time address would be "thoughtful, quiet, personal." Before tonight's appearance at the Republican National Convention, Bush was making the rounds of convention city, appearing with running mate Sen. Dan Quayle at a breakfast with the Texas delegation, attending a rally for his wife, Barbara, and Moist, unstable air combined with hot temperatures kicked off widely scattered thunderstorms around the Hereford area Wednesday evening, leaving .29 of an inch of moisture at the KPAN weather station and up to .65 of an inch just north of the city and west in the Walcott area.

"Just a sprinkle" was reported from Dawn and Bootleg Corner, while Milo Center and Bippus recorded about .25 of an inch. No measurement of moisture was made around Easter.

The forecast calls for scattered thunderstorms across much of Texas today but showers are less likely in West Texas. Temperatures are expected to remain high.

"The conclusion was foregone, but it's special." All of his children and his 10 grandchildren will be on stage with Bush tonight to share in his moment of triumph.

The convention's first order of business will be to ratify Quayle as the vice presidential nominee and applaud his acceptance speech. Concerned landowners burrow into prairie dog problem

By ANDREA HOOTEN Staff Writer

Something's been nibbling at the cattleman's pocketbook and this you can't blame on taxes.

The four-legged rodents, better known as prairie dogs, seize a pasture, slice the grass roots around their burrows and annihilate the vegetation reserved for the cattle.

Dennis Newton, Deaf Smith County agriculture extension agent, realizes the prairie dog problem and gathered concerned landowners and wildlife damage control specialist Rick Gilliland on Tuesday to discuss how to control the prairie dog.

"The prairie dog situation is just horrible," said Newton. "And with 140,000 acres in Deaf Smith County going for the Conservation Reserve Program (land designated to sit idle), those prairie dogs are gonna move right on in.'

Newton said a Prairie Dog Control Committee was formed several years ago which pooled 50 cents per acre that was infested with prairie dogs. This money was used to buy 30,000 pounds of zinc oats (pesticide) and was rationed to each farmer.

Revamping this committee, Newton said, is the best solution.

"We're sending out surveys this week to see just how bad the prairie dog problem is and how the landowners are controlling the problem. Once we do this, we'll set up the com-and work it like we did before."

Eldred Brown, who owns land west of Hereford, has been fighting the prairie dog for more than 35 years and would like to see some kind of collective effort to control them.

"We've had to constantly work to control the prairie dogs," Brown said. "Some of our pastures have prairie dogs on half a section and we've used gasoline and pills (phostoxin) to kill them. I bet we've used 1,500 gallons of gasoline in a day to kill off those things."

Gilliland, who represents the Texas Animal Damage Control Service, said extinguishing the prairie dog from the land is not the real pro-

"The problem lies with getting rid of the prairie dog at the border. You may try as hard as you can at getting rid of them on your land but if your neighbor doesn't control them, Gilliland said. "When the prairie dog comes across, there are no legal ways of getting your neighbor to control them. If you use a little diplomacy it may solve the problem."

Newton added that he knew of a landowner who wiped out the prairie dog on two sections of land in 1984.

"You couldn't find a prairie dog on it. You walk out there now and it doesn't even look like it helped at all because the prairie dogs have moved in again," said Newton. Gilliland said that many landowners use gasoline to kill the rodents, but this method is not as cost-effective as zinc oats (poison oats costing $1.25 per acre) or phostoxin (aluminum phosphide tablets costing $4 per acre).

The cost per acre for the zinc oats can be misleading, Gilliland said, because before a landowner scatters the poison oats around the burrows, the prairie dogs must be "pre-baited" twice with regular oats.

The zinc oats may be used only from July 1 to Jan. 31 because the Environmental Protection Agency discovered the oats are harmful to certain migratory birds.

Phostoxin is more expensive than the oats but it is more effective, Gilliland said. The prairie dog must eat the poison oats before they take effect whereas the phostoxin releases a lethal gas inside the burrow when the hole is covered.

'For any of these pesticides, you never want to start on the applications then wait a couple of days or a week and then finish it," Gilliland said. "You need to wait until you can

Gramm nominates Bush as president, slams Demos

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Sen. Phil nominating fellow Texan George Bush for president.

"I was pleased with the speech. George Bush deserved a great speech. I hope I gave it," said Gramm, who had been chosen by Bush to deliver the prime-time address Wednesday to the Republican National Convention.

In it, Gramm called Democrats "amnesia merchants" who want Americans to forget the last time a Democrat was president.

Bush is "a man who has served America in war and in peace, who has the experience, the character and the strength to lead this great land we love," Gramm said.

But he ridiculed Michael Dukakis as a traditional tax-and-spend Democrat who would take the country backward.

"The amnesia merchants of the Atlanta convention want us to forget that when the Democrats left the White House, inflation and interest rates were at the highest levels in American history," Gramm said.

Corrections

In the cutline Aug. 17 in the Hereford Brand concerning the Southwest Voter Registration Project, it was stated that Irene Cantu and Silvana Juarez attended workshops concerning how to register voters. Cantu and Juarez were sponsored by citizens to attend a fundraiser for the project and Crisella Garza, coordinator for the Southwest Voter Registration Project, attended the workshops.

In a Hereford Brand article on Aug. 14, it was stated that three other people were arrested along with Raul Guajardo on charges of possession of a controlled substance. Ventura Sosa Ramirez, 39, no address given, was deleted from the list. The Brand regrets the error.

The choice of Texan Gramm was Gramm was all smiles after designed in part to help offset the prominent role given Texas Democrats at their convention last month, where several, including keynoter Ann Richards, joked pointedly about Bush.

Gramm said he wanted to talk about issues in the candidates' records, not make jokes.

"People laugh at those little barbs but I don't think they win any votes," Gramm said after rejoining the Texas delegation for Wednesday night's roll call vote that made Bush the GOP nominee.

Gramm recalled for a national television audience President Jimmy Carter's administration and what he described as "the real story" the Democratic convention didn't tell.

"Prices out-stripped wages, workers grew poorer and retirees' saw their savings destroyed. People couldn't build or buy their own homes or invest in their own businesses," Gramm said of the Carter years.

'The amnesia Democrats in Atlanta may have forgotten all that, we have not forgotten and, so help us God, we will not allow them to do that to America again."

The record of Massachusetts Gov. Dukakis should similarly alarm voters, Gramm said.

He said after promising no tax increase while campaigning for governor in 1974, Dukakis immediately broke the pledge after winning elec-finish the burrows in one or two days or you'll never kill them out. You'll be fighting a losing battle."

Weather conditions for using the two pesticides are opposite: for zinc oats the ground must be dry and for phostoxin, the land should be soaked.

"It doesn't necessarily have to be so muddy your boots get stuck, but the ground does need to be totally saturated."

Gilliland stressed that neither his office nor landowners want to extinguish the prairie dogs completely.

"It's just common sense not to kill more than is necessary. The people in the cities see 'em as cute little animals that cuddle and rub their incisors together, but they're very prolific and they can put you out of business."

Quayle faces issues

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Sen. Dan Quayle, who tonight becomes the Republican vice presidential nominee, is discovering that he has a tough task persuading his party of his worthiness for the job.

Praised by George Bush as one of the party's "rising young stars," the youthful Indiana senator exulted in the spotlight Wednesday but ran into some long shadows cast by questions about his experience, wealth, military record and a 1980 sex-andinfluence scandal.

And while some delegates said they were thrilled with the choice of the conservative senator as Bush's running mate, others wondered what Quayle brings to the ticket and whether he had skeletons in his

"We don't know much about Dan Quayle. ... He's a very attractive and up-and-coming young star. They just brought him along faster than people thought," said Rhode Island delegate William B. Anderson of Barrington.

At a joint news conference Wednesday with Bush and in media interviews later, Quayle got a sampling of what concerns he will have to address.

He denied suggestions he had a sexual relationship with Washington lobbyist Paula Parkinson in 1980: "There's nothing to it," he said. However, he declined to give a detailed accounting of the episode, in which Mrs. Parkinson said she shared a vacation home with several lawmakers, including Quayle. He did say he has not seen her since the golfing vacation.

Later Wednesday, during a combative interview on Cable News Network, Quayle said a questioner was "trying to create something that doesn't exist, as if something was wrong." Asked to elaborate on his activities that weekend, Quayle replied,"I went down and I played golf and I came home and anybody that knows me, that's exactly what I

A "cheap shot" is how Quayle characterized questions about his decision to join the National Guard after graduating from college, avoiding the possibility of being drafted and sent to Vietnam.

"I have a deep affection for those men and women that have sacrificed their lives in Vietnam. ... To imply anything differently is just simply wrong," he said.

Boys Ranch is the only Texas high school with an all-male cheerleader squad, according their adviser, Debbie Sarpalius.

A Class AA school located approximately 40 miles north of Amarillo in the Texas Panhandle, Boys Ranch has had male cheerleaders for more than 20 years. The squad has been coming to the camp here for the past four years.

'Texas A&M has guys, but I think this is the only high school squad that is entirely made up of guys," the adviser said.

Being on an all-male squad can be difficult, but the guys said they get more harassment at their own school than they do elsewhere.

"In some respects we catch a lot of flack," said Jimmy Wood, a freshman who is making his debut on the squad this year. "All these guys on the varsity football team are always saying we're wimps because we don't go out for football, but a lot of us go out for junior varsity football. We play football on Thursday night and then come back and cheer for the varsity team on Friday night."

The squad doesn't have to take

Instead of pompon routines, we teach them kamikaze stunts and tumbling routines but that's about the only change."

"They adapt great," Miss Nobel continued. "I think the main thing is for them to be comfortable with what they are doing. The girls look forward to them being out here each year."

Michael Dukakis would "wimp America and endanger the peace." Describing Bush as an authentic war hero committed to a strong defense, Gramm said, "He has always made us proud." A child of the Eastern Establishment, Bush was raised in Greenwich, Conn., surrounded by a cook, servants and a chauffeur. His father was a wealthy New york financier who became a U.S. senator and instilled in his children the notion of civic responsibility, that with privilege comes obligations.

Now 64, Bush has a long resume of service: Navy combat pilot, congressman from Texas, ambassador to the United Nations, envoy to China, chief of the CIA and two-term vice president under Ronald Reagan. Gramm called Bush simply "the greatest vice president this nation has ever had." Delivering a seconding speech that drew roars of applause, Penn State football coach Joe Paterno shouted. "I'll be damned if I'll sit still while people who can't carry George Bush's shoes ridicule him."

Sen. Bob Dole also took a turn at the podium, deriding Dukakis as one of those "liberal doom-sayers who believe that America cannot be trusted."

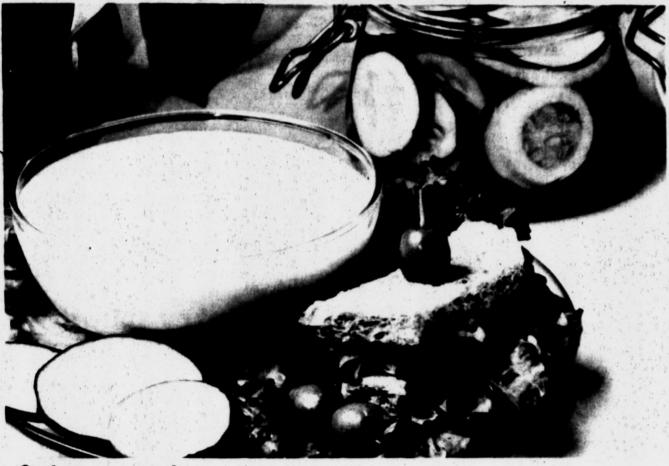

Dismissing any disappointment he might have felt when Bush chose someone else for the vice presidential nomination, Dole praised Quayle. "He is dynamic, he is articulate," Dole said.

Cool as a cucumber

Often thought of as a crisp addition to salads, cucumbers can be used in a wide variety of recipes. Cool cucumber soup is a refreshing summer treat; pickling and marinating the vegetable is also popular. Many people find that cucumbers even enhance sandwiches.

Coffee drinkers prefer paper filter

(HOUSTON) If making a good cup of coffee is a challenge to you, you might try to the old fashioned method of filtering it through broken egg shells. Or, if that's too difficult, you might return to the most recent standard method of brewing good coffee-the paper filter.

Since coffee was first consumed as a beverage almost 1,500 years ago, it has been brewed by a variety of methods. Many methods used some sort of filter, from pieces of felt to, that's right, broken eggshells. Today, more than 25 years after its introduction, the paper filter method of brewing is the most popular among coffee consumers. Research indicates paper filter coffee makers, including electric drip, pour-overdrip and cone filter, currently account for more than 67 percent of all coffee makers used brewed in American homes. By the year 1990, it is estimated that 80-85 percent of all coffee drinkers will be using a paper filter process.

While the quality of the beans is essential in preparing a perfectly brewed cup of coffee, more and more consumers are choosing the paper filter process over the percolator method because of better flavor results, according to Rod Rude, senior product manager of the Coca-Cola Foods Coffee Unit, the company responsible for Maryland Club cof-

As coffee brews in a percolator, the water flows through the coffee grounds over and over, causing the beans to lose much of their original flavor and sometims resulting in a bitter taste. With paper filter coffee makers, the water passes through the coffee grounds just once. Even with this type of coffee maker, if the blend and grind are not right, the coffee brewed may be either bitter or without body and too mellow. "Everywhere we do is geared toward giving consumers a pleasing cup of coffee, a cup so good that they'll want another," explains Rude. "More and more consumers are demanding premium, superior quality coffees, and they want it tailored to their specific coffee maker.

Rude offers some helpful tips to follow for best results when making coffee:

-Use fresh, cold water

-Use fresh coffee. After opening, store it in a tightly covered canister in the refrigerator. -Assure the coffee pot and brewer are cleaned frequently. Oils or residue from previous brewing can detract from an otherwise good cup -Measure consistently. Use one slightly rounded tablespoon of coffee per cup. Depending on the desired strength, this may be varied to achieve the flavor you prefer.

-Drink the coffee within 1/2 hour after brewing. If you want to hold it longer, put it into a thermos-type container. Do not keep on a hot plate.

SUGAR BABIES

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) -Gestational diabetes is the most common complication of pregnancy, according to Boehringer Mannheim Diagnostics.

The firm makes a blood sugar testing device for testing as many as 175,000 infants who are born each year to women with gestational diabetes.

Use cucumbers as cool summer fare

Cucumbers have long been enjoyed in salads, but there are numerous ways to prepare this crisp mild vegetable. Cold cucumber soup is a delicious, refreshing summer treat. Also Cucumber Dip is a new variation for special treats. In addition most cookbooks offer additional ways to marinate or pickle cucumbers into a variety of flavorful adaptations.

When selecting cucumbers, look for those that are fresh, firm, well shaped with a bright green color. Small amounts of white or greenishwhite color does not effect the quality. The flesh should be crisp, firm and tender with small soft seeds. Avoid yellowing or withered rs with hard seeds, as this indicates immaturity. Upon purchase, cucumbers can be stored in the refrigerator for about one week.

Sliced pieces should be kept covered. Cucumbers sometimes have a waxy coating. This is a harmless vegetable wax that has been added to the outside. This helps to retard evaporation and to increase storage life. To remove wax, simply wipe the cucumber with a dry cloth or paper towel before using.

Cucumbers contain small amounts of vitamins and minerals, with calcium and vitamin C the most abundant. An un-pared cucumber will have higher levels of vitamin A, phosphorus, iron and calcium than will a pared cuke. The cucumber is especially great for those who want a lot of flavor without a lot of calories.

Scrimmages set today

Hereford Whiteface football fans - with Lubbock Monterey High School remember that today is your first chance to see three Herd teams in preseason scrimmages, at Whiteface Stadium.

One hundred fifty-nine athletes are out for football this year, and they will be in action in three scrimmages

- sophomores at 3:30 p.m., junior varsity at 5:30 p.m. and varsity at 7:30 p.m.

Let your Whiteface football fever show today for these Hereford High School athletes, and for head Coach Don Cumpton and his coaching staff!

Three boys and four girls with varsity experience return this year on the Hereford High School cross country teams.

The returning athletes include the No. 1 runner from last year's boys' varsity team who placed 11th in the state meet, and three of the top four members of last year's girls' varsity team which placed fourth at state.

The HHS teams open the 1988 season in the Levelland Meet on Sept. 3. Other meets in September include Borger on Sept. 10, Plainview on Sept. 17, and the Hereford meet on Sept. 24.

The rest of the season schedule includes meets at Amarillo Oct. 1, at Lubbock Oct. 8, at Dumas Oct. 15, at Dalhart Oct. 22, and the District 1-4A meet on Oct. 29. Regional qualifiers will run at Lubbock on Nov. 5, and the state meet is set Nov. 12 at Georgetown. All meets this season begin at 10 a.m. on Saturdays.

Seven varsity athletes return

On Hereford High School cross country teams

Three of last year's seven varsity boys' runners are back this season, including the top runner on that team, senior Benny Carrasco. Seniors Ricky Montelongo and Jimmy Leinen are the other two.

Hereford Coach Martha Emerson said four runners with junior varsity experience and three newcomers have been practicing. Seniors Brooke Perkins and Adolfo Martinez and juniors Juan Martinez and Tim Stagner ran on the JV team last Senior Cody Wilson, junior Scott Robinson and freshman Chris Hart are the other boys practicing in preseason.

"We have some JV experience, but not many boys are out for cross country. I have no sophomores and only one freshman," Emerson said.

The returning members of the 1987 girls' team that advanced to the state meet are seniors Alina Benitez and Maria Rodriguez and juniors Yvonne Padilla and Sally Garza.

"With a little experience there are some newcomers who can fill the spots left by those who graduated," Emerson said.

Runners aiming for those varsity spots include Aracely Nava, a junior varsity runner last year, and at least six others: junior Linda Cera, sophomores Teresa Castillo and Lisa Zepeda and freshmen Chelli Cummings, Denise Davila and Vanessa

Coach Emerson said an eighth grader will also run with the girls, Veronica Hernandez.

Preseason practices are at 9:30 a.m. weekdays at Veterans Park, and 7:30 p.m. at the Hereford High School Fieldhouse and Whiteface Stadium.

"Several more runners have indicated they are interested in cross country, but so far they have not come to run," Emerson said. "We have the meet in Levelland Sept. 3. so we must be ready before school

Emergency starter leads Astros

By PAUL LeBAR AP Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) - To hear Dave Meads tell it, the assignment he was given on an emergency basis to face the St. Louis Cardinals wasn't all that tough.

"I knew that I wasn't required to go far," Meads said Wednesday night after pitching the first six innings of the Houston Astros' 1-0 victory over its National League opponent. "I just knew that I had to make quality pitches and I did."

Given the caliber of Meads' deliveries, Houston manager Hal Lanier said the outcome was not surprising.

"A left-hander that's got a good curveball and a good changeup and can get it over can get a lot of batters out," Lanier said. "He threw a lot of breaking balls and changeups, but he was ahead on the count.'

Meads, 2-0, received his first major league start after 59 relief appearances because of Bob Knepper's strained groin muscle.

"I could've moved (Mike) Scott up to pitch on his fourth day, but Mike had a sore back his last time out," Lanier said. "You really don't want to take a chance. He (Meads) did a remarkable job."

Meads, who left after totaling 85 pitches on a muggy night, calmed down quickly after a jittery start.

"It was funny. I was told not to walk their guys and the first thing I do is walk (Vince) Coleman," he said. "I thought it was going to put me in a hole I wouldn't get out of, but I did."

St. Louis' hits off Meads were Ozzie Smith's infield single to start the fourth and a ground single by Joe Magrane, 2-7, after two were out in the Cardinals' fifth.

"I don't recall having seen him. He kept the breaking down," St. Louis outfielder Willie McGee said of Meads, who struck out four and walked two. "The (line drive) Terry Pendleton hit was the only breaking ball he really hung. He was impressive."

The Astros' run off Magrane, who had pitched a one-hitter his previous time out, came on Glenn Davis' single and two wild pitches around a groundout in the sixth.

"I can't blame a guy that goes eight innings and gives up three hits and one run," Cardinals manager Whitey Herzog said in sympathy for Magrane. "If we get 2-3 runs, you don't mention that (second) wild pitch."

Pedro Guerrero made his debut for St. Louis on the heels of the Tuesday trade that sent John Tudor to the Los Angeles Dodgers and was 0-for-3 with a walk.

Larry Andersen relieved Houston's starting pitcher in the seventh inning, followed in the eighth and ninth by Juan Agosto and Dave Smith, who got his 22nd save.

"I surprised myself in the fifth and sixth innings. I didn't expect to pitch that long. I was still throwing strikes," Meads said.

Elsewhere in the National League, it was Los Angeles 7, Philadelphia 2; Chicago 5, Cincinnati 0; Pittsburgh 2, Atlanta 1; San Francisco 4, New York 0; and San Diego 4, Montreal 2. Dodgers 7, Phillies 2

Only hours after his flight from St. Louis, John Tudor showed why his arrival may land the Los Angeles Dodgers the National League West championship.

Tudor pitched a complete game in his debut with Los Angeles and Kirk Gibson and Mike Scioscia had three hits apiece as the Dodgers beat Philadelphia 7-2 Wednesday night. Tudor, dealt to the Dodgers on Tuesday for slugger Pedro Guerrero, scattered 11 hits, struck out one and walked two as he lowered his NL-

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - Texas but we played a great game defen-leading earned run average to 2.22. In his debut with St. Louis on Wednesday, Guerrero went 0-for-3 with a walk.

Tudor, 7-5, settled down after allowing five hits and two runs in the first two innings, and held the Phillies to six hits over the final seven innings en route to his fifth complete game of the season and his 11th victory over Philadelphia in 15 career decisions.

"That was a little bit rough," Tudor said of his long journey to the West Coast. "Once I settled into the flow of the game, it didn't have an effect on how I pitched."

The Dodgers, who have won three straight, welcomed their new teammate with a three-run first inning highlighted by Franklin Stubbs' tworun double off Mike Maddux, 3-3.

"I made some good pitches when I needed to, but I kept falling behind the hitters all night. I was lucky tonight," Tudor said. Pirates 2, Braves 1

In his debut with Pittsburgh, Dave LaPoint allowed three hits over seven innings as the Bucs beat Atlanta at Three Rivers Stadium on RBI by Jose Lind and Tom Prince. LaPoint retired 11 consecutive batters at one point. He struck out two and walked none.

Cubs 5. Reds 0 Rick Sutcliffe, the subject of trade rumors recently, pitched a fourhitter and Mitch Webster drove in tw as Chicago beat Cincinnati at Riverfront Stadium.

Sutcliffe, 10-10, allowed three singles and a double in his team-leading ninth complete game in 23 starts. He allowed just one runner to reach third base as he won for the third time in his last four starts. It was the right-hander's second shutout of the season and 15th of his career. He struck out four and walked none.

Cincinnati starter Jack Armstrong, 2-6, allowed four runs in just 1 2-3 innings. The rookie has failed to last five innings in each of his last three starts, yielding 13 runs in 9 2-3 innings. Armstrong was sent to the minors after the game.

Padres 4, Expos 2 Tony Gwynn took over the NL batting lead as he went 2-for-4 and drove in two runs and Dennis Rasmussen improved to 10-1 since being traded to San Diego by Cincinnati on June 8 as the Padres beat visiting Montreal.

It was the 11th multiple hit game in the last 15 for Gwynn, who has raised his average to .321 from a low point of .246 on July 2. Gerald Perry of Atlanta also has a .321 average, but Gwynn ranks slightly higher when the averages are extended an extra decimal point. Giants 4, Mets 0

Rick Reuschel pitched a two-hitter en route to his 26th career shutout as San Francisco beat New York at Candlestick Park.

Reuschel, 16-6, has pitched five two-hitters in his career, including three last season.

Robby Thompson hit his fifth homer of the year, a long shot to straightaway center in the third, to make it 1-0 against David Cone, 12-3. Cone struck out 12 in seven innings.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Two of the more than 6,000 Californians whose bank accounts have gone unclaimed for more than seven years were particularly easy for the state to find: President Reagan and Attorney General Edwin Meese III.

State Controller Gray Davis said Tuesday the state has returned $3,492 to Reagan from a dormant campaign fund account stemming from his eight years as governor of California.

Meese, who served as Reagan's state legal affairs secretary in 1967, also recently received $9,095 from a personal account left by his late father, Edwin Meese Jr.

Under California law, accounts that have been inactive for seven years or more are turned over for safekeeping to the controller's office, which has amassed a trust of more than $375 million in 1.1 million individual accounts.

So far, more than $3 million has been returned to 6,000 people with such accounts, including $131,000 returned to charities and civic organizations, such as the Boy Scouts of America.

FREEHOLD, N.J. (AP) - Actor Peter O'Toole wept with joy upon hearing that a judge granted him custody of his 5-year-old son during the school year, his attorney said.

"Peter O'Toole is a fabulous father," said attorney Jeffrey P. Weinstein. "He was not performing in court."

Superior Court Judge Alexander D. Lehrer ruled Tuesday that Lorcan

"I think she hoped to have been given the opportunity to educate the boy ... but she will abide by the judge's decision," said her attorney, Gary Newman.

In May, a judge in London ordered O'Toole to return his son to Ms. Somerville O'Toole so the courts in New Jersey could decide which parent should get permanent custody of the boy.

The Irish-born O'Toole, 56, met Ms. Somerville O'Toole, 38, six years ago when she lived in California. Ms. Somerville O'Toole, who was never married to the actor but took his name, now lives in Navesink, N.J., and New York City.

"The Arsenio Hall Show," set to debut Jan. 2, marks Hall's second attempt at a nightly interview program. Hall had served as host of "The Late Show" on Fox Broadcasting until earlier this year when the program was replaced.

> LOS ANGELES (AP) - Critics have liked Michael Keaton's dramatic portrayal of a drug addict in "Clean and Sober," but the actor says the praise shouldn't extend to his character.

> "I thought there was nothing redeemable about this guy. There was nothing likeable about him," Keaton said of the movie that's being released today.

> It was the second movie role Keaton accepted with reluctance, the first being the box-office hit "Beetlejuice."

> It was also a dramatic departure for the star of "Mr. Mom," "Johnny Dangerously" and "Nightshift."

Researchers study new methods to reduce meat contamination

The presence of bacteria and other microorganisms on fresh, raw meats has, in recent years, raised questions regarding the healthfulness of frsh

Some consumer activist groups have gone as far as to propose that fresh meats should be labeled as containing disease-causing agents, but such an extreme is highly unnecessary, scientists say. Meats, like any other fresh food, remain healthful with proper care and handl-

Most foods are derived from animals and plants and, thus, are closely associated with the soil, air, and water that surrounds them. Since soil, air, and water contain many types of microorganisms, some of which are pathogens.

products. With animal microorganisms are found in the gastronintestinal tract and the exterior surfaces, and great care is required during slaughter to avoid contamination of the edible products with these surfaces. The extent of contamination of the edible products with these surfaces. The extent of contamination will depend largely upon the sanitary control during slaughter and dressing, says Gary R. Acutt, food microbiologist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. But even the most technologically advanced commercial production and processing practices available will not eliminate all the microorganisms from the surface of the carcass.

Some of the microorganisms that are significant from the public health standoint include Salmonella, Staphylococcus, Clostridium, Yersinia, Campylobacter, and Listeria. Salmonella contamination of poultry, in particular, has received much media attention of late, though its presence in poultry has long been established. Contaminated feed is the major source of Salmonella in While industry research focuses on ways to produce pathogen-free feed, consumes can practice good handling to avoid problems with Salmonella and other pathogens, Acuff says.

"If meat is handled and treated properly there is no need to fear foodborne illness," the researcher says. "In the first place, one should not consume foods of animal origin without cooking. "The risk of contracting disease is greater in raw foods, he says.

hands, utensils, and surfaces that come into contact with raw products should be thoroughly washed with soap and water before they come into contact with other foods, particularly with those foods that will not receive any further heat treatment.

"Itis disturbing that on television cooking shows, food preparers' hands that were in contact with raw animal foods are wiped off on cloths or towels that are subsequently used to dry and recontaminate clena hands after washing with soap and water," the scientist says. Unfortunately, cross-contamination in the kitchen is the norm on national television programs, he says.

Proper cooking will destroy most disease-causing microorganisms, but proper cooling is also important to suppress those microbes that may

"Therefore, when cooling leftovers, it is recommended that a temperature of 60 degrees is reached within two hours, and that a temperature of 45 degrees is reached within an additional four hours," Acuff says. "Similarly, if foods are reheated, the food should not be held for excessive periods between 60 and 120 degrees, and the food should reach 160 degreesduring reheting."

While consumers take care in food preparation, the meat industry can reexamine slaughtering and dressing practices to help reduce the spread of pathogens, Acuff says. Reserach projects underway include new methods of removing soil form animal surfaces, reducing the risk of carcass contamination during hide removal, showering carcasses with antibacterial rinses, and improving evisceration to eliminate contamination with intestinal microbes.

One method under study, the Nurmi concept, has reduced the occurrence of Salmonella in poultry. In this procedure, young chicks are fed pathogenfree fecal material from adult birds. Colonization of the chick's intestinal tract with microorganisms from the adult bird appears to exclude colonization by Salmonella. It is not known whether the method will be useful for other pathogens, according to Acuff.

Irradiation will remove most pathogens from fresh, raw meats, but for irradiation to be successful, a cut of meat would have to be packaged prior to the procedure to protect the food from recontamination. Since not all of the microorganisms would be killed by the irradiation, the pro-Proper handling means that duct still would require refrigeration or freezing. Consumer acceptance has been an obstacle for irradiation of food products, and the process is not legal for meat preservation in this country.

"Even if irradiation is eventually approved for meat, the logistics of applying this concept are extremely complex. Also, the levels of irradiation currently under consideration for approval may not destroy all the bacteria and parasites present in the meat," Acuff says.

Other treatments, such as antibacterial washes and acid treatment of carcasses and cut meats also are under study. But even if it becomes possible to control or eliminate one set of hazardous biological agents, the future may hold previously unknown foodborne pathogens, Acuff says. Such new pathogens will continue to challenge the imagination of scientists and will maintain the need for proper handling and storage of foods, the scientist

Director to be named tonight

A meeting of Veteran Memorial Park will be held beginning at 8 p.m. today in the VFW house.

Members of the VFW and the American Legion are invited to the annual event.

Primary business of the meeting will be the election of a new director.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was upset when I read the strong stand you took against therapists touching patients sexually. In my opinion, you did a lot of harm by failing to acknowledge that there could be exceptions. Hear me out, please. My husband ran around, refused to make love to me for three years and made me feel unattractive an undesirable. He destroyed every shred of my self-confidence. My psychiatrist brought me out of a depression and gave me a sense of personal worth by kissing, fondling and making love to me. He knew exactly what I needed and provided it.

So please, Ann, don't be so adamant and closed-minded. Bear in mind that an affair with one's psychiatrist can be extremely helpful. I am the perfect example. No name or city, please. Just-Renewed in Sunshine Valley

DEAR SUNSHINE: I asked a psychotherapist, who prefers to remain anonyous, to respond to your statement. This is what he said:

We know that some disturbed people have profited from the extraction of teeth, from shock therapy, from tonsillectomies, from brain concussions and from spankings. But to recommend any of the above as modalities for treating depressed individuals would be ridiculous.

For a therapist to engage in sexual activities with a patient could be so destructive and potentially damaging that it is best to rule it out altogether. Therapists should not be left to decide which patients would benefit and which would be harmed. Even if the woman who wrote believes that she was made well by sharing intimacies with her doctor, it would be foolhardy to use her experience as the basis for deciding this issue. Therapists often have a unique power by virtue of the fact that they represent the caretaker, the parent, the true authority. To abuse that power would be the ultimate travesty.-Fifty-Plus Years in Practice

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Wil you please tell me why people think a black eye is funny? hat is there about this type of injury that makes people feel they have the right to make a I was in a minor car accident several days ago and was lucky to get off with nothing more than a shiner. You would not believe the "comical" comments that have come my way. For example, from a person to whom I barely say "Good morning" when I encounter him in the elevator: "That must have been some fight! I wonder what the other guy looks like!" Then, the first coworker I saw in the office asked, "What happened? Did you fall off a bar stool?" Later that morning another nerd cracked, "Now don't tell me you ran into a door."

What is the appropriate response under these conditions, Ann? I hate to be defensive, but I'm going to have this discoloration for quite a while and I'd like to know what to say.-Golden State Gripe

DEAR GOLDIE: I don't know why peole think a black eye is funny. Maybe it goes back to the comic strip when Maggie used to hit Jiggs with a rolling pin and he seemed to have a permanent black eye. Actually, violence isn't funny and you owe no explanation to clods who comment. Buy a concealer stick at a cosmetic center. It will cover the buise beautifully (also dark circles if you have them), and there will be no more smart-aleck comments.

Take charge of your life and turn it around! Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a check or money order for $3.50 and a selfaddrssed, stamped, business-size envelope (45 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

ASK DR. LAMB

What Slows the Aging Process? BY LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB: What causes some people to age faster than others? I see some people who are old in their early 60s and others who are active and alert and act much younger when they are in their late 70s. Is there anything a person can do to avoid getting old too soon? I have heard of people taking Gerovital to make them young? What is it, and does it work? I have also heard about cell therapy where they inject cells from young animals or fetuses and that will make you younger. I believe one of the popes had this done. I'm sure there are a lot of people out there who would like to avoid getting old too soon and others who would ike to feel a little younger than they already are. Do you have any hope to offer us? DEAR READER: People have earched for immortality through the iges, without too much success. The Roman historian and philosopher acius Annaeus Seneca, who lived from 4 B.C. to A.D. 65, provided one of the most accurate observations. He wrote, "It is not the rich and the great, not those who depend on medicine, who become old; but such as use much exercise, are exposed to the fresh air, and whose food is plain and moderate, as farmers, gardeners, fishermen, laborers, soldiers; and such men, as perhaps never employed their thoughts on the means which have been used to promote longevity. It is among these people, chiefly, that the most astonishing instances of it are observed. Sometimes in these situations, man still attains to the amazing age of 150 years, and upward." I doubt any of us are going to live to 150 or upwards, but the potential life span for humans today is believed to be 115 years and it is getting longer. We inherit a genetic script that pretty much determines our potential life span. Then we affect this by our living habits. That is where Seneca's observations become important. The simple, but active, life seems to be the most conducive to continued good health. That means the things we do to prevent heart disease, strokes, cancer and maintain our bodily vigor are the things that help us live in good health the longest period of time. Gerovital is really procaine hydrochloride, the same thing the dentist uses to deaden your teeth before he works on them. It is not a youth medicine. It is only one of many substances claimed to provide youth that doesn't at all. Gerovital does have an antidepressant effect and that action makes some people feel better. It was promoted by Ana Aslan of Bucharest. Her patients did do better under her supervision, but critics note that was because these older and isolated people were encouraged to become physically active and because someone took an interest in them.

f have discussed the various concepts of aging and many of the things that have been suggested to make you "younger" in THE HEALTH LETTER 30-12, The Age Question, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send $1 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/30-12, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713. The cell therapy idea originated with Pal Niehans of Switzerland, and it was given to Pope Pius XII. It has no value in terms of improving your health or making you younger.

Today, avoiding being overweight, staying physically active, avoiding bad habits such as using alcohol and tobacco and having a good diet are the most important factors in enabling you to live longer in good health.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 19622, cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

THE QUALITY OF HEALTH CARE MONTVALE, N.J. (AP) - Many Americans believe the quality of health care is not keeping pace with soaring costs, according to a recent

This view was expressed by twothirds of the 1,029 people polled by the survey, conducted by BOC Health Care, a provider of products and services for critical care. Respondents over 65 felt more strongly about this issue than did their counterparts aged 18-24.

Asked who had the greatest influence on the quality of care provided in a hospital, three out of four people said the doctor and family had the greatest impact. Yet, more than 80 percent said it was the responsibility primarily of the doctor to ensure quality health care services.

Royals post 7-6 victory over Rangers

AP Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - When he negotiates his next contract, Kurt Stillwell is going to hate himself for what he said after getting his teamleading 10th game-winning RBI.

"The game-winning RBI is a stat that is quite a bit overrated," said Kansas City's switch-hitting shortstop. "They should count it when it's in the clutch or from the seventh inning on.'

Stillwell, who has hit safely in 20 of his last 24 starts, doubled in the fifth inning Wednesday to drive in Willie Wilson and snap a 3-3 tie with the Texas Rangers. The Royals went on to post a hard-fought 7-6 victory, with Steve Farr striking out Pete Incaviglia and Pete O'Brien with runners on first and second.

Stillwell may well finish the year as the Royals' leader in gamewinning RBI. Closest to him is Frank White with eight.

"Late in the game it's a big deal," Stillwell said. "But tonight, it wasn't that late in the game. I really don't look at that stat as a real big deal. Of course, at contract time I might."

At contract time, Danny Tartabull may point to the remarkable extrabase surge he's been on of late. The heavily musculed outfielder had a double and a triple Wednesday night to drive in three runs. His two previous hits were a grand slam and a two-run double, giving him nine RBI for his last four hits.

"I havent' been consistent the way I've wanted," said Tartabull, whose hot streak has raised his RBI total to 68, second on the team only to George Brett's 86. "But this is a good stretch for me. I'm making up some ground and driving in some runs. That's what I'm paid to do. As long as I can go out there and drive in runs, I'm very happy."

Four Royals' pitchers combined to tie a team record with 13 strikeouts. Incaviglia, who leads the Rangers with 21 home runs, took a called third strike for the second out in the ninth. Then O'Brien, who had clubbed a towering two-run shot in the seventh, did the same thing.

"The offense was okay. But that's a tough way to end the game," Valentine said. "Two big home run threats looking at third strikes. But six runs should be enough."

Bo Jackson got the eventful contest started by walking in the third inning, stealing second and scoring on Willie Wilson's single. Tartabull's double scored George Brett in the fourth, then Frank White hit a sacrifice fly for a 3-0 lead.

Jim Sundberg's double drove in Texas' first run in the fifth. Then Stillwell's fielding error allowed Sundberg to score and Ruben Sierra tied it at 3-3 with an RBI single.

Wilson singled with one out in the fifth and went to second on Incaviglia's throwing error from left field. After Stillwell doubled, George Brett was walked intentionally and Pat Tabler hit an RBI single into leftfield on a hit-and-run play that may have kept the Royals out of a double tling back tonight," Royals Manager John Wathan said. "They would close it down and we would come back and add on to the score. Tartabull and Wilson swung the bats good."

"Tartabull sure is hot," Valentine said. "And that was a big hit-and-run by Tabler to set up a big inning for them." Elsewhere in the American League, it was Chicago 5, Toronto 1; Oakland 10, Baltimore 4: Minnesota 2, Detroit 1; Boston 7, Seattle 2; New York 11, California 7; and Cleveland 11, Milwaukee 7.

White Sox 5, Blue Jays 1

Carlton Fisk tied the American League record for games caught. Or did he?

Fisk caught his 1,805th game Wednesday night. The Baseball Encyclopedia says that ties him with Rick Ferrell, who played in the 1930s and 1940s for the St. Louis Browns, Boston Red Sox and Washington Senators.

However, The Elias Sports Bureau and The Sporting News Record Books say Ferrell caught 1,806.

"If I go out and play every day, it will happen," said Fisk, who homered twice and walked with the bases loaded to lead the Chicago White Sox past the Toronto Blue Jays

"It turned out to be an occasion," Fisk said. "I'm glad we won. I go out and try to do good, but it's not easy to do good every day. It just worked out that way tonight.'

"I told you he'd find a way to rise to the occasion," White Sox manager Jim Fregosi said.

Fisk homered in the second inning and in the sixth, giving him 13 this season. He walked off Duane Ward with the bases loaded in the eighth.

"I just wanted to get the run in from third base," Fisk said. "By then I was gassed and the bat was a little slow." Chicago's Jerry Reuss, 9-7, allowed seven hits in seven innings. Steve Rosenberg got four outs in order for his first major-league save. Jim Clancy, 6-13, who gave up both homers, allowed six hits and all three runs in six innings. Athletics 10, Orioles 4

Jose Canseco and Mark McGwire homered in the same game for the seventh time this season as Oakland won for the eighth time in nine games.

The Athletics, unbeaten when both have homered, had 11 hits, eight for extra bases, and overcame a 3-2 deficit with a five-run fifth.

Curt Young, 7-7, won for the first time since July 1, allowing nine hits and three runs in five innings. Twins 2, Tigers 1

Allan Anderson won his fifth consecutive decision and Dan Gladden hit a two-run homer as Minnesota completed a three-game sweep and beat Detroit for the seventh straight time this season. Anderson, 11-7, allowed six hits in eight innings. Jeff Reardon finished for his 32nd save. Doyle Alexander, 11-8, gave up eight hits in 8 1-3 innings, striking out eight. Red Sox 7, Mariners 2

Bruce Hurst won his fifth consecutive decision and Rich Gedman and Ellis Burks homered as Boston moved to within two games of firstplace Detroit in the American League East.

Hurst, 14-4, allowed eight hits in 5 1-3 innings. Bob Stanley followed for 2 2-3 innings and Lee Smith struck out the side in the ninth. Bill Swift, 6-10, gave up six hits and four runs in 12-3 innings.

You Don't Get The Same Kind Of Thanks When You Shop In Hereford!

There are so many good reasons for shopping here at home in Hereford, but one that's too often over looked is simply how much our local merchants appreciate your business.

Your business means something to our Hereford merchants...and when they say thanks, it's a different kind of thanks than you'll ever get from out of town stores.

We're Hereford State Bank, speaking for our local merchants and home town shopping.
