Iran will 'pay a price' for actions in Persian Gulf

Congress, Reagan issue warning

annual Pet Show sponsored by the Women's Division of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress and President Reagan are united behind his warning that Iran will "pay a price" if it persists in trying to trade blows with a militarily superior force of American warships and aircraft in the Persian Gulf.

Iran took a licking Monday when it tried to strike back after the United States destroyed two Iranian oil platforms. In the most intense exchanges since Reagan beefed up U.S. firepower in the gulf last summer, American forces sank or damaged four Iranian attack boats Monday and disabled two frigates that fired missiles at U.S. planes.

The initial platform attack had been in retaliation for the mine explosion last week that damaged the USS Samuel B. Roberts and injured 10 crewmen. White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said there is "conclusive evidence" that Iran planted the mine that exploded Friday.

"They must know that we will protect our ships, and if they threaten us, they'll pay a price," the president said in a speech to a business audience.

On Capitol Hill, there was bipartisan support for Reagan's action. Moreover, Reagan won applause for consulting with Congress before sending the military into action.

"The mines have been clearly identified as manufactured by the Iranians and sown in the waters by the Iranians," said Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va. "The Iranians were carrying out terrorist acts."

Senate Republican leader Bob Dole of Kansas told his colleagues:

"In my view, now is the time to send only one message to our adversaries. That the United States, the president, the Congress and the people are united and determined to meet our responsibilities and defend our interests in the gulf."

"I hope the ayatollah (Khomeini) gets that message so we can all avoid further bloodshed and violence," Dole said.

Defense Secretary Frank Carlucci said Iran's decision to fight back amounted to "foolhardy behavior."

"I'm not sure that it's explainable in terms of Western logic at this point," Carlucci said at a Pentagon news conference. "I have to only

Ordinance banning Sunday dances in public places kept intact by city

By ANDREA LAMB
Staff Writer

Ecclesiastes 3:4 says there's a time to dance, but the Hereford City Commission decided Monday that that time would not be on Sundays.

Six city commissioners decided that a 1956 city ordinance banning Sunday dances in public places should remain intact, and more than three-fourths of the 35-member audience attending the meeting applauded the move. Commissioner Silvana Juarez abstained.

The Rev. Ron Cook, pastor of First Baptist Church in Hereford, stated, "This ordinance pertains only to Sunday and it's not like folks can't have dances any other day of the week. This ordinance obviously has served the community well, and I'd like to see the commission uphold it."

Mary Guajardo, owner of the Officer's Club at 128 Lawton Ave., wanted the ordinance changed because people are taking their dancing shoes and their money to Sunday dances in neighboring towns.

"Really, a lot of money goes out of Hereford by not having dances on Sundays," said Guajardo. "Money like that should stay in Hereford."

Personally, I don't like having dances on Sunday because of the stabbings and killings that go along with them, but the people don't just want to sit around, drink and listen to music. They want to dance."

Commissioner Paul Hamilton agreed that money would remain in Hereford if the ordinance were changed, "but three out of four proprietors I've talked to are against changing it because of the activities involved with the dances such as drinking and violence."

Police Sgt. Ronny Henderson agreed that alcohol usually goes hand in hand with the dances, and allowing it one extra day per week could be taxing for the police force.

Commissioner Juarez said she abstained from voting because she agrees with both sides of the argument that Sundays should be a day free of the revelry associated with dances, yet the money people spend on Sunday dances outside of Hereford could be spent here.

The dancing ordinance also prohibits Sunday dances in public places within a 5,000-foot radius of Hereford. However, the ordinance cannot regulate private dances where no admission is charged or dances that start the day before and last until 2 p.m. Sunday.

Not only did the commission move to prohibit Sunday dances, but the city passed a Standard Building Code ordinance which will prohibit the construction of inadequate structures in the future.

The commission voted to install the code in the next 90 days, but Commissioner Emory Brownlow voted against the code because he said it was too complicated.

"I think we should print a simple pamphlet about 30 pages long that people can understand," stated Brownlow, vice president of Brownlow Brothers, a construction firm in Hereford. "We've had building inspectors in the past who have made it rough even without the building code. I don't know why we think we need six books that pertain to the whole southwest United States when we need something that pertains only to Hereford."

The five-member group appointed by the city commission to study the code (which is based on Amarillo's building code) gave its approval to the code before the city commission meeting with minor changes concerning the construction of foundations and roofs.

Randy Tooley, an audience member who identified himself as a building owner in Hereford, said the code is too stringent.

"Hereford has made it for many years without a building code and I think ya'll should find a way to keep your hands off free enterprise as much as possible. You could try to keep the code as simple as you can," said Tooley.

Commissioner Tom LeGate stated that the code must be reliable.

"How else would all these other cities that have adopted this code operate under it if it weren't any good? You have to start somewhere in regulating the construction around here," said LeGate.

The commissioners agreed that the 90-day leeway would exempt any contractors currently in the bidding process or builders who have already commented construction on a building.

In other business, the commission awarded a one-half ton pickup bid for the Animal Control Department to the low bidder, Whitelaw Ford Land, at Mercury for a $9,800 Dodge. Other bids were: Slagter for a 1987 Buick Pontiac GMC for $20,220.75; Stevens Chevrolet for $12,400; and Whitelaw Ford for a $9,800 Ford.

awarded a bid for the Pitman Municipal Golf Course maintenance barn to the low bidder, Dark of Hanger, for $9,000. Other bids were: Revell Herr for $9,840.54; Reddy Strickland for $10,841; First Battalion for $9,281; Stevens Construction for $10,752.91; Cory Springs for $12,400; and Triple J Utilities for $9,416.

attended a telephone call with Philip Newby, state Extension executive director for WDIU, relating to economic development.

Dancing opponent

The Rev. Ron Cook, pastor of First Baptist Church in Hereford, joined approximately 20 other audience members representing various churches in supporting the current city ordinance which bans dancing in public places on Sundays.

Suspect charged in county burglaries

The Deaf Smith County sheriff's office arrested a 33-year-old man at his home Friday on charges of burglary of a building.

Sheriff Joe Brown stated that sheriff deputies arrested Julian Juarez in connection with more than 10 house and business burglaries occurring in the county over the past several months in which $12,000 to $15,000 worth of merchandise was stolen.

Brown stated that several informants through the Crime Stoppers helped lead to Juarez's arrest, and warrants are out for the arrests of two other suspects.

Juarez was also charged with possession of a controlled substance when a small amount of heroin was found on him while he was being booked.

Juarez is being held in the Deaf Smith County Jail with bond set at $25,000 for the burglary charge and a $1,000 bond set for possession of a controlled substance charge.

Brown said that deputies have recovered several televisions, a video cassette recorder, a vacuum cleaner, a guitar, a small generator, a walkie talkie, a telephone, a cutting torch and jewelry which were taken in some of the burglaries.

Babbling Brooks

By JOHN BROOKS

I'm something of a history buff, so I usually study these little "Today in History" things we get from Associated Press.

Sometimes days are dull—ice cream was invented, the Earl of Sandwich was too lazy to use a fork so he threw his roast beef between slices of a biscuit and changed Ray Kroc's fortunes, those sorts of things.

Other days are exciting. Some are just bad.

With apologies to those of you whose birthdays are on April 22, including Queen Isabella, Eddie Albert, Glen Campbell and Jack Nicholson, here are some of the things we'll commemorate today.

—In 1789, George Washington invented what is now known as Teflon when he and Martha moved into the first "executive mansion" in Franklin County, Va.

—In 1509, Henry VIII became King of England, and women were losing their heads over the matter.

—In 1889, the football fortunes of hundreds of other football teams changed when the Oklahoma Land Rush began. From that first day came the "Sooners."

—In 1898, Teddy Roosevelt's springboard to fame began when the first shot was fired in what became the Spanish-American War.

—In ballparks across America, mustard is being abused by being placed on week-old hot dogs. The German Army became the first to misuse mustard, because they introduced poisonous mustard gas in World War I on this day in 1915.

—On this day, young college students defied their elders, government and law enforcement officials in a protest march. They vowed they would "refuse to support the government of the United States in any war." This was in 1937.

—In 1952, television showed its first bomb, now a daily part of TV life judging from the quality of some of the shows. This one was real, though—the first atomic bomb blast shown live on TV.

—"Are you now, or have you ever been, a Communist?" The Army-McCarthy hearings began on television. It is not known if Charles Colson, John Erlichman, Gordon Liddy, or Oliver North watched.

—In 1983, the German magazine "Stern" ran excerpts from 60 previously undiscovered diaries of Adolph Hitler. It was later discovered the diaries were fraudulent. This was the first and last time anyone ever purposely misled a newspaper or magazine (sarcastic laughter goes here).

—Every year, people move the date on their postage meters back exactly one week and mail their Form 1040 to the Internal Revenue Service.

Fund deficit poses no threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the officials who oversee the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp. says the near doubling of the fund's deficit did not threaten depositors' money in the country's 3,126 federally insured savings and loans.

"No one has ever lost a dime in an insured deposit and no one ever will lose a dime," Federal Home Loan Bank Board member Lawrence White said Monday. "Congress has spoken to that."

The board oversees the S&L deposit insurance fund, which insures deposits up to $100,000.

Bank board officials said the estimated costs of closing or merging ailing S&Ls totaled $11.6 billion more than the fund's assets at the end of 1987. That figure compares with a deficit of $6.3 billion at the end of 1986.

Bank board officials conceded that even this sharply higher figure was disputed by congressional auditors, who contend it is too low.

The deficit figure underscores the problems facing the S&L industry, where hundreds of institutions are insolvent but are kept open because the government cannot afford to close them and pay off depositors.

The new report estimated it will cost $15.3 billion to close or sell 204 savings and loans which are considered to be in the worst shape.

When $3.7 billion in fund assets are subtracted from the $15.3 billion in expected liabilities, FSLIC is left with an estimated deficit of $11.6 billion.

However, the figure of 204 insolvent S&Ls represents only the worst financial cases. Another 306 institutions were also insolvent at the end of the year under generally accepted accounting principles.

The FSLIC report estimated that if all of these institutions had to be rescued, it would add another $6.5 billion to the amount of money the insurance fund will be obligated to pay out.

White defended the $6.5 billion estimate, saying not all of the additional S&Ls will actually need assistance and the institutions representing the biggest drain on the funds had already been included in the first group of 204 S&Ls.

However, critics contend that a figure of around $30 billion is a much more reasonable estimate and that the costs could climb as high as $60 billion for solving the industry's problems, far above the amount approved by Congress last year.

In August, President Reagan signed legislation to pump $10.8 billion into FSLIC over the next three years through the sale of bonds which will be paid off by a special assessment on profitable institutions.

Help for Singers

ceeds raised at the club's recent garage sale, and will be used to help fund the Singers' trip to Expo '88 this summer in Brisbane, Australia.

Iran

assume that it's some kind of a fanatical reaction or slavish obedience to a contingency plan.

"It certainly makes no sense whatsoever in military terms. And we hope that tomorrow that will bring peace in the region."

From the White House to the Pentagon to the State Department, the message to Iran was the same: cool it, or else.

Reagan said the U.S. attacks on the oil platforms, which are used as staging areas for Iranian gunboats, were a "measured response" to the mining of the gulf.

While saying the United States wants a more normal relationship with Iran, Reagan said: "We've taken this action to make certain the Iranians have no illusions about the cost of irresponsible behavior. We aim to deter further Iranian aggression, not provoke."

House Speaker Jim Wright, D-Texas, said the White House discussions between Reagan and congressional leaders were "very frank." He said the congressional leaders pointed out the perils as well as the possible benefits of taking military action.

Wright said of Reagan: "He is the commander in chief and when action is taken by the United States, it certainly behooves all of us to close ranks and to give the world a view of a nation that is united."

Wright, Byrd, Dole and House Majority Leader Thomas Foley, D-Wash., and Minority Leader Bob Michel, R-Ill., were summoned to the White House on Sunday evening for a briefing.

Fate of Democratic front runner in the hands of New York voters

NEW YORK (AP) — After a campaign described by Jesse Jackson as "so divisive and so violent," New Yorkers were voting today in a presidential primary that could anoint Michael Dukakis as the clear front-runner Democrats have sought for so many months.

The New York vote also could spell the end for Sen. Albert Gore's presidential candidacy. Already deeply in debt, the Tennessee senator needs to show surprising strength to regain credibility as a candidate.

With strong support from the state's large black electorate, Jackson was hoping for an upset that would allow him to claim the status as front-runner.

Pollsters, while saying the Massachusetts governor had a lead of anywhere from 10 to 14 points, also were warning about the volatility of the race.

"We could all be wrong. New York is a killer," said ABC News pollster John Brennan.

Heading into the New York race, Jackson scored a win in Delaware's Democratic caucuses Monday night, beating Dukakis 45 percent to 27 percent. Gore had just 2 percent. But the Delaware contest was dwarfed by the big New York primary, with its prize of 255 Democratic delegates.

Untroubled by any doubts about his grasp on the Republican presidential nomination, Vice President George Bush was expected to sweep the 96 GOP delegates at stake today in New York.

For Dukakis, New York offered an opportunity to break away from his pursuers and finally establish himself as the front-runner as the race moves on to Pennsylvania next Tuesday and Ohio, Indiana and the District of Columbia the week after that.

The latest Associated Press delegate count gave Dukakis 877, Jackson 745, and Gore 417. A total of 2,082 was needed for a convention majority.

The New York campaign was marked by an emphasis on candidate views on the Middle East and by the long shadows of two non-candidates — Gov. Mario Cuomo and Mayor Edward Koch.

Turnout in today's polling was critical, and all three Democratic contenders spent the final hours of campaigning urging their supporters to go to the polls.

Gore campaigned with Koch, whose attacks on Jackson often got more attention than the sparring between the candidates.

During the campaign, the mayor said Jews and other supporters of Israel "would have to be crazy" to vote for Jackson. Koch also said the former civil rights activist lied under pressure and would lead the Democrats to their worst defeat since 1972, when Republican Richard M. Nixon carried 49 states.

Koch was asked repeatedly about his weekend comments criticizing Jackson. "I'm not saying he's a liar. I'm saying he can't stand stress, and then he lies under stress," he said.

Jackson tried to avoid being drawn into a running battle with Koch, but said at a news conference Monday that "we have received more death threats in this campaign than in all the other combined because the climate has been so divisive and so violent."

"The name-calling and the accusations and the attempts of a provocation by the mayor have not been good for the city or the campaign," Jackson said.

Montford Packing employees return

CACTUS, Texas (AP) — More than 90 percent of the 1,300 employees of Montford Packing Co. returned to work after the beef processing plant in the Texas Panhandle reopened, company officials say.

Montford's Cactus operation, formerly called Swift Independent, closed March 7 citing economic conditions in the beef packing industry. Meakins said at the time that conditions would be evaluated on a weekly basis to determine if the plant could reopen.

Monday's reopening had been announced April 6.

"It's reopened and it will run until things get real bad again," Meakins said. "We assume it will resume."

week to week operation without the need for weekly evaluations."

He called the reopening "permanent," adding that closing a facility is an extreme measure that is highly unusual.

Duke Millard, slaughter division manager at Cactus, said Monday he had not seen preliminary work force figures, but put the return "in excess of 80 percent."

Plant officials may soon begin hiring new personnel, he said.

"I'm sure we're going to have to replace some of the workers that didn't return," he said.

The employees had been put out of work when the company closed down the plant six weeks ago, but resumed operations Monday.

"That's better than expected," Gene Meakins, vice-president of industrial relations and public relations at Montford's Greeley, Colo., headquarters, said. "That's pretty good to return. We may not get that much on fabrication."

Meakins said the 90 percent return figure reflected only the number returning for the plant's slaughter division, which reported back Monday morning. The fabrication crew arrived at 5 p.m. Monday, and figures were not available on the number of employees returning.

Meakins said he anticipated 85 percent of workers on both shifts would return.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I read the letter from "C.U." I knew I had to write. My letter will not be very complimentary to the press. I hope you can print it.

My husband and six of his colleagues were killed in a corporate plane crash. They were on their way to Barbaoo, Wis. This happened in November of 1987. Needless to say, the shock and trauma were unreal. I was lucky. My family located me immediately and put me in seclusion. My brother-in-law and his family were not so fortunate. The media badgered them until they almost lost their minds.

Why does the press have to print such explicit details? I didn't need to read that "chain saws had to be used to cut down tree tops to retrieve clothing and parts of bodies." Ann, we know what happens when a plane crashes. I wanted to die when I read that.

I wish the reporters would think for moment about the people who are left behind. How would the reporter who filed that story like to have his wife read that about him?

I realize that sensationalism sells papers, but for the sake of human kindness, can't they tone it down just a little?—Heartbroken in Conn.

sharing your thoughts with us. I recently printed a plea for more compassion and sensitivity among members of the media. Your letter should move them in a way that I never could.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Today I had lunch in a restaurant that served me enough food to feed four hungry people for an entire day.

I felt guilty and began to multiply the amount of food I was wasting by the millions of people in America who were probably doing the same thing.

What can be done about this? I'm not complaining about the prices, just the portions. We would all be healthier if we ate less. Also, children should not see such flagrant waste.

Wouldn't it make sense if the waiters took those untouched pieces of chicken and lamb chops, baked potatoes and mounds of beans and carrots, put them in bags and delivered them to shelters for the homeless? I'll bet many volunteer groups would be glad to do the picking up and delivering.—Overfed and Feeling Guilty

DEAR OVERFED AND F.G.: I, too, hate to see perfectly good food left on plates in restaurants, but the alternative you suggested is not viable. The board of health in most cities prohibits the reselling or giving away of food that is returned to the kitchen.

When a waiter serves me more than I can handle, I am not ashamed to ask for a doggy bag. I urge others to do the same.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have heard people say, "I don't know him from Adam's all fox." They really mean, "Adam's off ox." The off ox is the left-hand oxen in a yoked team. The team was always driven from the right side, giving the right-hand ox the greater exposure, so he was the better known. Interesting?—O.T.B., Bakersfield

DEAR O.T.B.: Well...sort of. If anyone ever says, "Adam's all fox" to me, I'll wov 'em with this bit of esoteric trivia.

Hernandez throws a Dunbar runner out

Hereford third baseman James Hernandez (7) had several fielding chances on ground balls in Saturday's district game against Lubbock Dunbar. Here he is

By defeating Dunbar, 10-6

Herd increases 1-4A lead

By GARY CHRISTENSEN
Sports Editor

The Hereford Whitefaces scored all their runs in the first three innings and survived five unearned runs by Lubbock Dunbar in defeating the Panthers 10-6 Saturday in Hereford.

The game had a little bit of everything, including two outstanding diving catches by Herd centerfielder Rodney McCracken in the fifth inning. Also first baseman Derrell Page made a "snow-cone catch" of a weak pop fly hit behind first base in the sixth inning.

Jason Scott allowed just one earned run, striking out seven batters, giving up eight hits and walking four batters to up his season pitching record to 7-0.

The victory put Hereford at 9-1 in the district, and 16-1 overall. Dunbar dropped two games behind Hereford at 7-3, and has an overall record of 13-9.

Hereford has an open date today, will play at Pampa on Saturday at 1 p.m. and will host Borger on April 26 at 4:30 p.m.

Those were two great catches by Rodney, and the one by Derrell. It was just an off again, on again game on defense. Jason didn't let it bother him when we made mistakes. He's doing an outstanding job pitching this year," Hereford Coach T.R. Sartor said.

The Whitefaces made two mistakes in the first inning, which Dunbar capitalized on to score four runs. With one out, a single, followed by two errors, enabled the Panthers to load the bases.

The first run scored when a batter was hit by a pitch. Dunbar hit an RBI single, and later with two outs, added a two-run single.

Hereford came back with two runs in the bottom of the first inning. Keith Brown and Michael Phibbs both singled into left field, and Rodney McCracken doubled to drive in one run.

Phibbs scored on a groundout by Robby Collier. Two baserunning mistakes resulted destroyed what might have otherwise been a big inning. One runner, caught between second and third, was tagged out, and another runner was picked off at first base.

Hereford gained a 5-4 lead in the second inning, which was filled with wild pitches in the rain. The inning was delayed by the rain, when some ground work was done, and by the time the inning was over, the game was already an hour old.

James Hernandez singled to lead off the inning. Hernandez advanced to third base on a pair of wild pitches. Page walked, and Ross Torres hit an RBI groundout. Another wild pitch and a walk was followed by a pitching change by Dunbar.

Two more walks, including Phibbs walking with the bases loaded, tied the game at 4-4. Russell Backus scored on still another wild pitch, and Hereford gained a 5-4 lead.

The Whitefaces then put together a five-run third inning for a 10-4 lead. A walk, Roger McCracken's single and Hernandez's sacrifice fly produced the first run of the inning.

Backus hit an RBI single, Brown stroked a two-run triple into right field, and Phibbs added an RBI single for the Herd.

Dunbar, which could get only two runners on base in the fourth and fifth innings, hit three singles in the sixth inning to score one run. Rodney McCracken, who had made two diving catches in the fifth inning, made a running catch in the sixth. That catch, coupled with Page's "snow-cone catch," helped thwart the Panthers' efforts to rally.

Dunbar scored its other run in the seventh inning on a double and a Hereford error.

Hereford had eight hits in the game, including two each by Keith Brown and Michael Phibbs. Dunbar pitchers walked nine HHS batters.

HHS junior varsity baseball game postponed to today

A junior varsity baseball game between Hereford High School and Clovis High School will be played today, after it was postponed from Monday.

The game that was set for 5 p.m. Monday was moved back one day because the HHS baseball field was too wet from the weekend rainstorm.

Hereford goes into today's game with a 7-6 record. The Whiteface junior varsity will aim to avenge a loss to Clovis earlier this season, 10-3, on March 11.

One other Hereford schools

The 1971 Houston Astros played a record 75 one-run games, winning 32 and losing 43.

New Borger coach is former HHS assistant

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Bob Keyes, offensive coordinator at Abilene Christian University and a former Hereford High School assistant football coach, resigned to become head football coach and co-athletic director at Borger High School, university officials announced.

Keyes, 40, resigned after three years on the Abilene Christian staff. He came to ACU before the 1985 season after a 19-10 record in three years as head coach at Cisco Junior College.

Keyes, a 1970 graduate of Abilene Christian, was a four-year letterman for the Wildcats and honorable mention all-Southland Conference at center. He was all-state in high school at Seminole.

Earlier Keyes coached high school football at Graham, Round Rock, Hereford and Amarillo. Keyes was an assistant to Larry Dippel at Hereford High School in the 1974 football season — Dippel's final season as Whiteface head coach before he went to Amarillo High School.

Roddy set a Hereford High School record in the 200-meter dash while giving defending state champion Tonya Lidy of Pampa a tough battle.

Lidy won the race in 24.56 seconds, and Roddy's time was 24.84 seconds. The old Hereford High School record was 25.2 seconds, set by Darlene Sanders in 1979 and equaled by Lori Albracht in 1982.

Two Lady Whiteface team members placed third — Cordova in the 100-meter dash in 12.28 seconds, and Alina Benitez in the 3,200-meter run in 13:01.8. Third place medalists are alternates for the regional meet.

Hereford's team score was 90 points for second in the district. Pampa won the district championship with 148 points.

"This was really a team effort. We're proud of our runnerup effort against the strength of Pampa, as well as the others in the district," Hereford Coach Martha Emerson said.

"This is a tough district. We gave our best effort. It's great to be able to take four young ladies to Brownwood to be able to compete in three individual events and a relay," Coach Emerson added.

Hereford's other placings in the district meet were three fourth place finishes, four fifth place finishes, and a pair of sixth place finishes.

The HHS 400-meter relay team ran its best time of the season, 50.27 seconds, in placing fourth. Team members are Lynn Hanyen, Jill West, Crystal Cordova, and Roddy.

Elia Hernandez ran her best time of the year in the 1,600-meter run, placing fourth in 6:00.2. Benitez placed fourth in that run in 6:11.8.

Hernandez also turned in her best time of the year in the 800-meter run, 2:37.5, to place fourth. Others who had their best efforts of the year were Theresa Brown in the shot put and Libby Kosub in the 100-meter hurdles.

Brown placed fourth in the shot put with a distance of 36 feet, 6½ inches. Kosub's time in the 100-meter hurdles was 17.1 seconds for a fifth place finish.

Jill West placed fifth in two events — 15 feet, 3 inches in the long jump, and 32 feet, 7 inches in the triple jump. Kosub was sixth in the triple jump with an effort of 31 feet, 7 inches.

The team scores in the meet were: 1. Pampa, 148; 2. Hereford, 90; 3. Borger, 70; 4. Canyon, 52; 5. Lubbock Estacado, 48; 6. Levelland and Lubbock Dunbar, both 46; 8. Frenship, 44; 9. Dumas, 14.

Other placings by Hereford track team members included two fourth place finishes and four sixth place finishes.

The fourth place finishers were by Benny Gonzales in the shot put, 51 feet, 4 inches; and by the 1,600-meter

By ELIZABETH HAYES

The week at Golden Plains was filled with activities including exercise with the Sittercize record, ball, bingo, ring-toss, and the residents had a penny-pitch, and music.

On behalf of the residents and the staff I would like to express my appreciation to the ministry group of San Jose Church for coming out to Golden Plains and sharing their joy and faith with our residents.

We would like to wish our residents a happy birthday: Dora Thomas, Ynes Davilla, Amzie Peterson and Clifford Smith. To the family of Teckla Hund, we wish her a speedy recovery; we miss her very much.

Golden Plains Featured Resident is Miss Madeline Bell.

Miss Bell was born on Oct. 23, 1903, in Meridian. When she was 14 she moved to Hedley where she graduated. Upon graduation she attended Clarendon College for two years and went on to WTSU where she got her bachelors and masters degree in education teaching.

Miss Bell then taught at Central and Aikman Elementary Schools here in Hereford, teaching in Hereford for a total of 45 years. Bell received a copy of her retirement letter from the H.I.S.D. when she retired.

She enjoys reading in her spare time, is 84, and has been at Golden Plains for two years.

We would like to thank the Cultural Extension Club for making our residents lap robes.

Synthetic gelatin approved by FDA

Plastic surgeons and skin specialists have been armed with another weapon to combat the ravages of time.

The Food and Drug Administration has approved the use of Fibrel, a synthetic gelatin material more effective than collagen, for injection beneath the skin to correct defects such as deep wrinkles and scars caused by injury, acne or surgery.

"Fibrel is better than collagen because it lasts longer, has virtually no side effects and is not rejected as a foreign substance by the body," said Dr. Ted Rosen, a dermatologist at Baylor College of Medicine and chief of dermatology at the Veterans Administration Medical Center.

Injected beneath the skin, Fibrel can fill a depressed area and raise and smooth a scar or wrinkle. As the Fibrel slowly dissolves, it stimulates the body's own cells to make human collagen to fill in the defect.

The collagen currently used to correct skin defects is extracted from cow skin. Injections can lead to infection, rejection and alcohol and sun sensitivity. Treatments are expensive and usually last less than six months.

"Fibrel has caused no side effects except for some redness and discomfort during the injection," Rosen said. "Skin corrections last about two years and in some patients, even longer."

One-hundred of the patients participating in the initial one-year study were also enrolled in two-year and three-year follow-up trials. Rosen said more than two-thirds of the treatments lasted as long as three years.

He said the only negative factor in using Fibrel may be that it must be mixed with a patient's own plasma.

Rosen speculated that people interested in receiving treatments will have to undergo a series of tests to rule out transmissible diseases such as Hepatitis and AIDS. In elective procedures, doctors have the right to refuse treatments that may endanger the health of medical personnel.

"There's no problem for the patient," Rosen said. "But medical personnel may have reservations about handling blood products contaminated with infectious diseases."

Fibrel can be inexpensively produced, but treatments will not be cheap. Rosen expects fibrel treatments will cost about the same as collagen treatments—$100 to $300 per office visit, depending on the number of corrections needed.

And, because Fibrel is a new and thicker material, few doctors are experienced in injecting it.

Rosen recommends choosing a board-certified skin specialist with three or more years experience in corrective injections.

'I'll Take Texas' reviewed at meeting

The Pioneer Study Club met recently at Caison House with Billee Johnson serving as hostess.

Mary Panciera gave the invocation and Johnson led the Pledge of Allegiance and Salute to the Texas flag.

Bessie Hill reviewed the book, "I'll Take Texas" by Mary Lasswell. Although Lasswell was a native Texan and author of many books, she had not returned to her home state in many years until her publishers scheduled autographing appearances for her in Dallas, Lubbock, and Amarillo.

"I realized my own lack of knowledge of the state, surprising in one with deep roots and extensive family connections. I wondered why so many other Texans didn't know Texas," Lasswell noted. "Many writers have come to Texas, spent a few days in Dallas and Houston, collected a handful of 'Big Rich' anecdotes, returned home and written about Texas from the outside."

"To redeem myself in my own eyes, I had to see and know the real Texas from the inside out. My ambition was to be able to discuss the vast subject of Texas, not from the quick perusal of periodicals, but from valid firsthand study."

Panciera presided over the business meeting. 'My Turn' was given by Fern Sigle, who read her club report presented at the recent Top of Texas District Women's Clubs.

Others giving reports included Panciera, Eunice Petersen, Rosemary Thomas, and Johnson.

Articles were packed for M.D. Anderson Hospital.

Fern Foss reported that library and museum dues had been paid.

Panciera was honored for her award-winning president's report at the convention. She was presented with a bouquet of flowers.

Lunch was served from a table decorated with spring flowers.

Present were: Leatrus Clark, Fern Ford, Hazel Ford, Bessie Hill, Johnson, Etoile Manning, Gladys Miller, Panciera, Petersen, Sigle, Thomas, and Willie Wimberley.

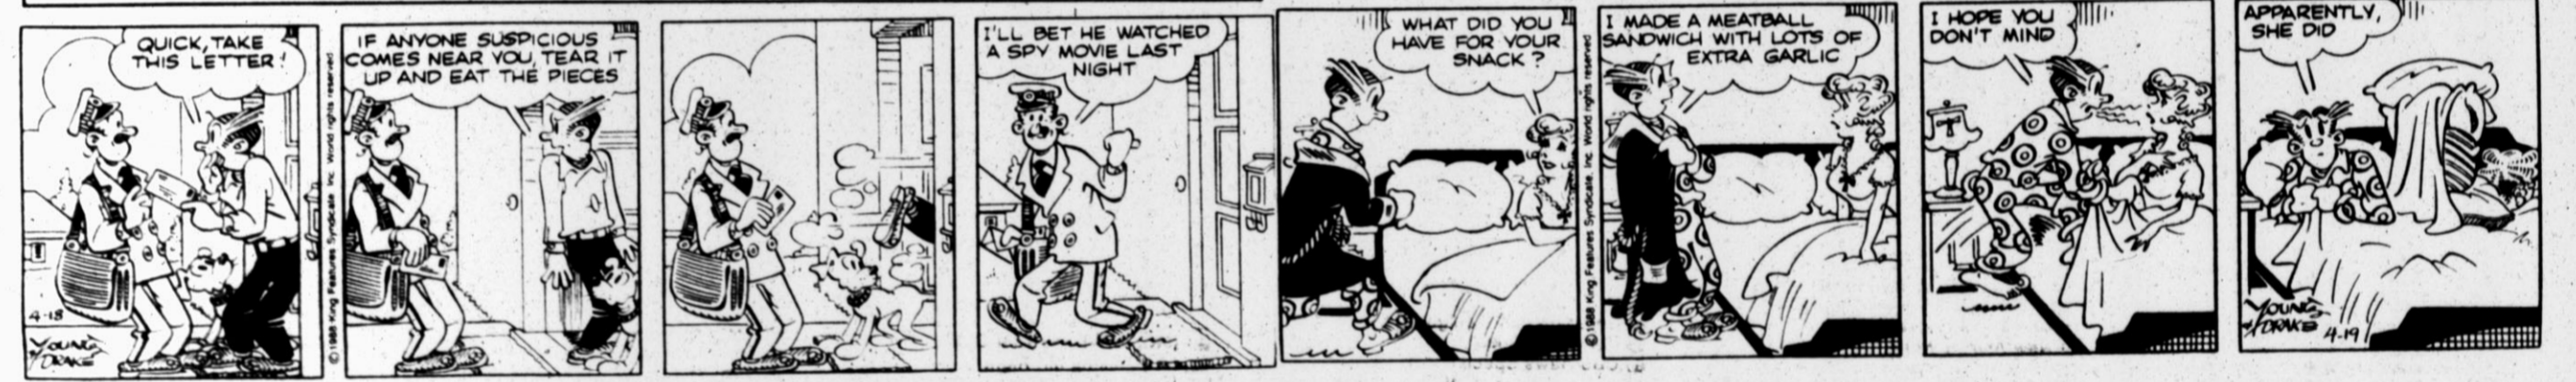

The next meeting is set for May 10 and will feature a conservation tour and picnic.

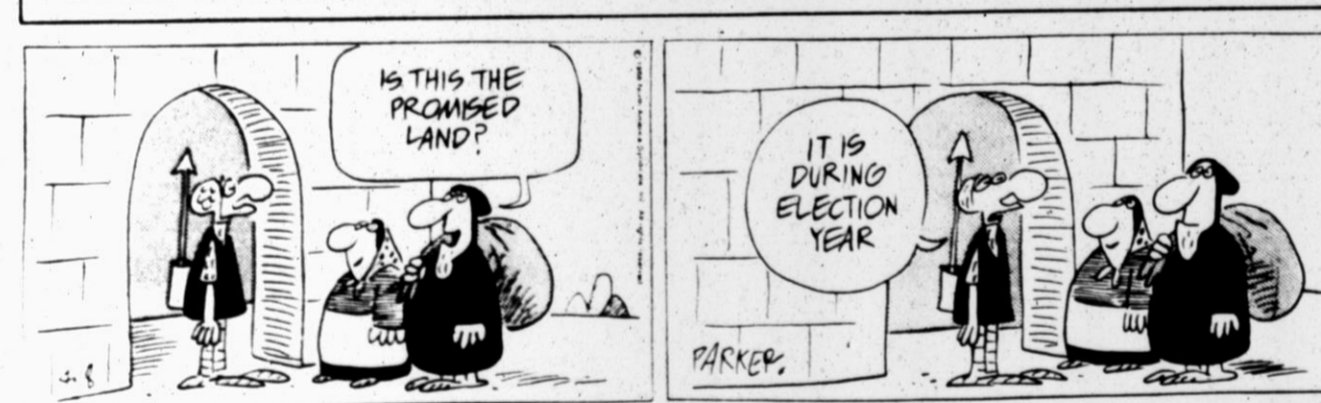

The first man-made instrument known as the xylophone is named from Greek words meaning "wood tones."

Election party planned

La Madre Mia Study Club members met Thursday in the home of Pat Walsh with the yearbook committee serving as hostesses. They included Francyne Bromlow, Carolyn Baxter, Sharon Hodges and Nancy Paetzold.

Introduced as a special guest was Walsh's mother, Ann Scott from Naperville, Ill.

Suffragist Susan B. Anthony was fined $100 in 1872 for attempting to vote in the presidential election for Ulysses S. Grant, who won. (Anthony never did pay the fine).

After the roll call was answered by "my favorite game", members played Pictionary. Those present were Joyce Allred, Merle Clark, Mary Herring, Sharon Hodges, Betty Lady, Beverley Lambert, Gladys Merritt, Bettye Owen, Nancy Paetzold, Lucy Rogers, Jenna Simons, Tricia Sims, Mysedia Smith, Georgia Sparks, Betty Taylor, Walsh, Mary Beth White and Judy Williams.

The next meeting will be an election party and salad supper at the Hereford State Bank at 7 p.m. April 28.

Newsom gives program on U.S. Constitution to club

The E.B. Black House was the site of a business meeting, luncheon, and program when L'Allegra Study Club met there April 7.

The business meeting was conducted by President Jody Skiles. Letters and correspondence were read and announcements were made. Reports were heard from standing committees.

The upcoming annual Geranium Sale to be held April 30 at Sugarland Mall was discussed and recommendations were given by the finance committee. Proceeds from the sale will be donated to the Educational Learning Center of Hereford, a satellite program of Texas State Technical Institute.

A follow-up report on the "We Help Ourselves" anti-victimization pilot project conducted in area schools by L'Allegra members was given. Several L'Allegra volunteers are currently presenting the special programs intended to reach 500 area students, in this initial stage. Volunteers who have received intensive training in preparation for their presentations reported that the programs were well received by students, teachers, and school officials involved.

The program, entitled "The Constitution," was presented by Ruth Newsom of Hereford, a long-time active member of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Newsom distributed a quiz to members testing their knowledge of the origins of the U.S. Constitution as well as the specific contents of that document.

The program emphasized the circumstances that led to the formation of the Constitution as well as a vivid background of the lives of the people of that era.

Members in attendance enjoyed a lunch prepared for them by the Deaf Smith County Historical Society.
