Wild weather covers Texas

By The Associated Press

At least three people died as a wild mix of weather, featuring everything from a tornado to snow to flash flooding, engulfed most of Texas.

The three fatalities were in a traffic accident on a snow-slickened highway in the Texas Panhandle. Three residents of the Texas-New Mexico border town of Clayton, N.M., died in the accident north of Dalhart.

Several inches of snow fell on the Panhandle, thunderstorms drenched East Texas, triggering some flash flooding and a tornado ripped the roofs off of some mobile homes at Galveston.

Some of the hottest temperatures in the nation were recorded in South Texas.

Snow began falling in Amarillo shortly Wednesday morning and some areas had received as much as 7 inches of snow by early today. Forecasters said some areas of the Panhandle can expect as much as 10 inches of snow by the time the snowfall ends later today.

Authorities at Galveston said a tornado touched down on the tiny Galveston Bay town of San Leon about 3:15 p.m. Wednesday, tearing roofs off some mobile homes.

About 45 customers temporarily lost electrical service when the tornado downed power lines. They were reconnected later in the day, said Houston Lighting & Power Co. spokesman Geri Koengsberg.

The storm caused weather-related accidents throughout the Panhandle, authorities said.

"All of our units are tied up, and we have a backlog. It's the same way with the police department. We can't even get to them," DPS spokesman Jerry Burgdorf said.

"It's horrible," a Lipscomb County sheriff's spokeswoman said. "It's snowing and there's less than a quarter-mile of visibility."

The New Mexico residents were killed when their auto slid sideways into the northbound lane of U.S. Highway 87, about 12 miles north of Dalhart in the Texas Panhandle, said a dispatcher at the Dallam County Sheriff's Office.

Temperatures reached a high of 50 degrees in Amarillo but started to drop after about 8 a.m. Wednesday. The mercury had dropped to 27 degrees by 3 a.m. today.

In Midland, temperatures reached a high of 75 Wednesday then fell to 45 degrees by 7 p.m. Meanwhile, readings in southwest Texas climbed to the middle 80s near Del Rio and Presidio.

Heavy rains were reported further south in the Panhandle and in North, Central and East Texas.

A truck carrying liquid oxygen overturned during heavy thunderstorms on an Interstate 35W in Fort Worth, prompting the evacuation of at least 50 people in a nearby church. The accident backed up traffic for several hours.

About 3 inches of rain fell in Athens about 60 miles southeast of Dallas, making roads impassable. Houston received about 1 1/4 inches of rain, the NWS said.

Change in outlooks

Anthony Pacheco, left, and George Pacheco Jr., had a great outlook on things Sunday when they climbed atop playground equipment at Dameron Park in Hereford. At the time, the temperature was 71 degrees. The outlook was a little different 72 hours later, as the temperature dove into the 30s Wednesday afternoon and a storm dumped two inches of snow and enough rain to make driving treacherous Thursday.

Burglaries may be connected

Deaf Smith County Sheriff Joe Brown says the county's recent rash of thefts and burglaries could signify that the same people are responsible for the crimes.

"There were four burglaries just this weekend and the same kinds of things were stolen, but the burglaries weren't in any particular area," said Brown, showing scattered red pins on a county map in an attempt to pinpoint the crime area.

Brown said televisions, video cassette recorders and "fast sale" items which are easily fenced are being snatched in the burglaries.

Some of the recent burglaries include:

-Feb. 18: a VCR and two shotguns were taken from a farmhouse.

-Feb. 27: two color televisions, one black and white television and a microwave oven were stolen from a house 10 miles north of Dawn.

-Feb. 29: two televisions were taken from a residence on east U.S. Highway 60.

-Feb. 29: $148 taken from the front desk at Horizon Seed Company seven miles east on U.S. Highway 60.

-March 1: five saddles, ropes and bridles were taken from Western Feed Yard three miles west on U.S. Highway 60.

-March 1: one color television and a VCR stolen from a residence 13 miles north of Hereford.

Castro County has reported four residential burglaries in the past weeks, said Brown, and he said he thinks these burglaries are related, too.

"It's easy for burglars to break into these houses," said Brown. "Say a person goes up to a farmhouse, knocking on the door. He sees there's no one home, and he breaks in. No one thinks about strange people knocking on these doors because they assume they're asking for work or something."

Brown said most of the break-ins occurred during the day, and many of the houses had doors kicked open where the burglar entered the house.

"The problem is everywhere, especially in rural areas. There are usually no neighbors to watch out for each other, so these farmhouses and businesses are easy targets for criminals," said Brown.

New PBS station to air from Amarillo

BY JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

The general manager of a new Public Broadcasting Service station planning to go on the air this summer detailed how the station will benefit area viewers during a program Wednesday at the Hereford Lions Club.

Royce Bodiford, a 30-year area resident and a former farm director and general manager at KGNC Radio in Amarillo, will guide the station. Bodiford assumed his post at Amarillo College in February to manage KACV-TV on Channel 2.

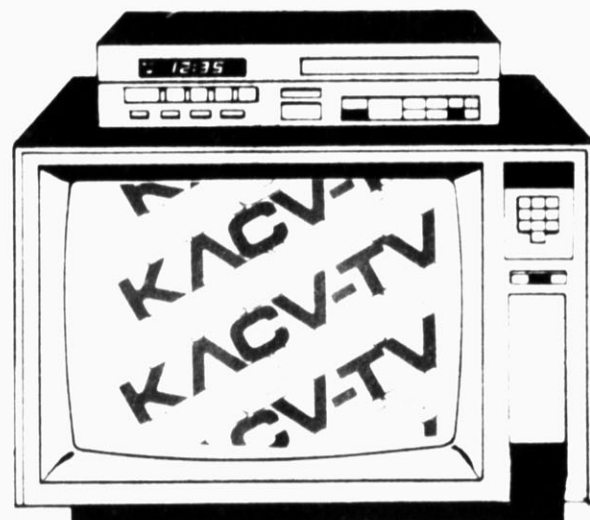

"There's an exciting challenge ahead for us at Channel 2," Bodiford said. "This is the first time a large part of this area will have a PBS station."

In the past, Hereford viewers have watched KXTX-TV, Channel 5 in Lubbock. The signal was carried in to Hereford on a microwave link from Dimmitt. The signal was of poor quality and led Hereford Cablevision to drop KXTX last fall in favor of WTVS-TV, a Detroit PBS station which is broadcast via satellite.

Hereford Cablevision manager Lloyd Ames said Wednesday that the local system will drop WTVS this summer and add KACV. KACV will be broadcast on Channel 5 on Cablevision.

Bodiford noted that persons not on the cable system will be able to pick up the station using a regular home antenna.

"We will cover a 75-mile radius," Bodiford said, "so it should be no problem for viewers around Hereford to pick up the signal on Channel 2."

Bodiford said the station will not only carry PBS's fare of educational, cultural and informational programming but also locally-produced public affairs and educational programs.

Besides offering instruction and credit for AC courses, the station will work with local public schools and West Texas State University.

"AC is a two-year college, and we hope to work with West Texas State to let them use our facilities and offer instruction in some of their degree programs."

Bodiford said equipment is already being installed, and hopes the station will be on the air by mid-summer.

"We will be selling memberships, and we're also supported by the college, grants and endowments," Bodiford said. "It will probably cost us about $700,000 a year to operate." The station also receives help from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, which gave AC a $1 million grant for start-up costs.

Gore says he'll garner undecideds

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Democratic presidential candidate Albert Gore discounted polls showing him trailing in the Super Tuesday primary race in Texas, saying his campaign will garner the undecided vote.

"Clearly the undecided vote is breaking toward the Gore campaign. I think the facts suggest that the Gore campaign is the one with the momentum," Gore said Wednesday at a speech in Lubbock.

Two newspaper polls published Wednesday showed Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis ahead in the Democratic presidential race, while Vice President George Bush leads the GOP delegation.

Voter tracking, conducted Saturday through Monday, for the Houston Chronicle and The Dallas Morning News shows 31 percent of likely Democratic primary voters are undecided, while Dukakis has the support of 23 percent. The Rev. Jesse Jackson 14 percent. Missouri Rep.

ELECTION '88

Richard Gephardt 13 percent and Gore 11 percent. Only Jackson's supporters are firmly committed.

Gore said he still believes in his "Southern strategy" of concentrating on Southern states holding primaries on March 8.

The Tennessee senator said he wanted to put the White House back on the side of working men and women, charging the Reagan administration, and Bush, cater to the rich and powerful.

"I care about how something's going to affect the woman behind the typewriter," he said. "It's time to put men and women in the oil patch back to work and have the rigs in Libya and Iran slow down for a change."

Meanwhile, in Austin another Democratic candidate, Jackson, got the endorsement of Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower.

"I am here today not merely to endorse a presidential contender but to make a statement of conscience, to stand as a matter of principle with

Bush fires back

Dole implies Bush dealt with Noriega

By LAURA KING
Associated Press Writer

George Bush rebuked Republican presidential rival Bob Dole for implying that Bush, as CIA chief, may have had dealings with Panamanian strongman Manuel Antonio Noriega. And Rep. Richard Gephardt was the target of stinging attacks by two Democratic opponents.

With Southern exposure at a premium in the final five days of Super Tuesday campaigning, the candidates are saturating the airwaves with attacks and appeals, and barnstorming their way from Lubbock to Little Rock.

Tuesday's 20-state round of primaries and caucuses is concentrated in the South. For both parties, more than half the delegates needed to clinch the nomination are at stake.

Dole and Bush traded jabs as the two campaigned in Louisiana. The Kansas senator, in New Orleans, hinted at a Bush-Noriega connection.

There's some evidence (Noriega) was on the CIA payroll as far back as 1966. That's all I know," he said. Bush headed the Central Intelligence Agency during 1976 and 1977.

Dole offered no evidence that Bush was aware of Noriega's alleged drug dealing, but suggested that a lack of knowledge would be almost as damning.

He says he made all these decisions at the CIA," Dole said. "What were they? Was Noriega on the payroll when he was CIA director?"

The vice president fired back from Baton Rouge: "I find it amazing that a United States senator will talk about CIA matters."

"I took an oath of office to protect sources and methods of intelligence and I would never discuss anything I was doing at the CIA that would affect the national security," Bush said, adding: "I would point out that it's the Reagan-Bush administration under which Mr. Noriega is being indicted in Florida for drugs."

Noriega is under federal indictment in Miami on drug-trafficking charges.

Dole, acknowledging he's "got a lot of catching up to do" in the South, is running a commercial that ridicules Bush for using the French phrase "c'est la vie" — that's life — in connection with textile imports that have hurt the economy in the Carolinas.

The ad touts an endorsement from South Carolina Sen. Strom Thurmond, pointedly noting that Thurmond's Southern-accented praise of Dole is delivered in English.

Dukakis weighed in with an ad attacking Gephardt, mocking the Missouri congressman's populist slogan, "It's your fight too."

After charging that Gephardt is taking campaign contributions from "big establishment power brokers," the commercial concludes: "Kinda makes you wonder, is Dick Gephardt fighting your fight or theirs?"

Gephardt also came under fire from Tennessee Sen. Albert Gore Jr., who accused him of flip-flopping on issues. "Where he stands can change very quickly from day to day," said

Gore as he campaigned in Wyoming, which holds presidential caucuses Saturday.

Gore took issue with Gephardt ads attacking him, calling them "the mark of a failing campaign."

Gephardt took a campaign-trail detour down memory lane, returning to his hometown of St. Louis. Speaking at City Hall, Gephardt, who got his political start on the board of alderman, pointed to his former desk and said: "It's great to be back on home turf."

More to the point, he raised $25,000 at a Springfield campaign reception and told supporters he'd pour the money into his Super Tuesday effort.

Democrat Paul Simon was staying above the campaign-commercial fray. Simon, citing a lack of funds, has bypassed active campaigning in the South to concentrate on his home state of Illinois, which holds its primary March 15. Even there, he's eschewing advertising.

Jesse Jackson was kicking off his first big media buy of the campaign season. His manager, Gerald Austin, said Jackson had purchased $100,000 in air time in several Super Tuesday states.

Jackson paid tribute to a generation of civil rights activists with an appearance in Selma, Ala. on Wednesday, at the spot where state troopers routed a voting rights march with billy clubs 23 years ago.

Republican Pat Robertson, meanwhile, sought to score some political points by repeatedly invoking Jackson's name.

Ads saying aspirin prevents heart attacks taken off air

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — The nation's aspirin makers have agreed to refrain from advertising claims that their product can prevent a first heart attack, after being challenged by the Food and Drug Administration.

Summoned by a letter that reminded them of the FDA's regulatory power, the drug manufacturers met for more than an hour on Wednesday with FDA Commissioner Frank E. Young, who then announced the agreement at a news conference.

Young said the agency was concerned that aspirin ads citing a recent medical journal study could be misleading.

"The manufacturers agreed to exercise voluntary restraint and refrain from further promotion of the study results until the facts of the study are known and the necessary analyses were completed and appropriate physician labeling made available," Young announced in a formal statement.

Though he called the action

"voluntary," Young said later on public television's "MacNeil-Leher News Hour" that if the manufacturers "go and make a misbranded claim then we could take action. ... The extreme action is to call the product misbranded and seize it."

The commissioner insisted that the meeting was not called in response to advertising already run, saying he was "so busy" that he never read, listened or watched advertising.

Young said the meeting was prompted by publicity surrounding an aspirin study published Jan. 28 in the New England Journal of Medicine.

In the study, more than 11,000 physicians over the age of 40 took one aspirin every other day, while another group of physicians took placebos, or fake aspirin. At the end of 57 months, the study showed that those taking aspirin had 47 percent fewer heart attacks.

Young said the study was incomplete and the FDA has not approved aspirin for use in the prevention of an initial heart attack.

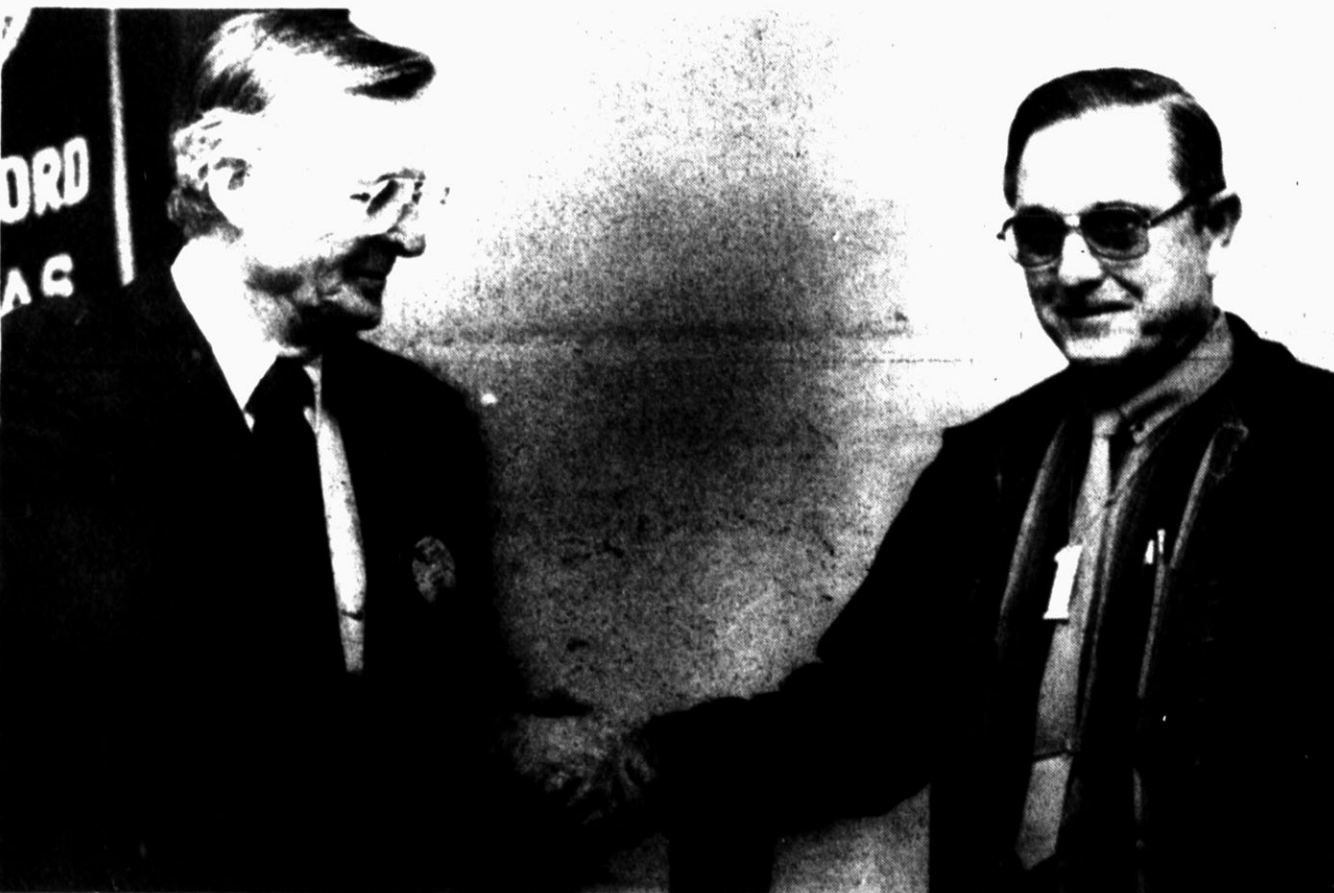

Until the FDA analyzes the study and formulates formal physician instructions on the use of aspirin against first heart attacks, Young said drug companies cannot promote aspirin for this use.

There are no loopholes in the agreement for ads already prepared, he said.

William C. MacLeod, director of consumer protection at the Federal Trade Commission, which regulates drug advertising, refused repeatedly at the news conference to say if his agency had taken any action regarding ads by aspirin manufacturers, nor would he say that inappropriate ads had been run.

In a Feb. 24 letter, Young "invited" the drug manufacturers to attend a meeting at his office to discuss the aspirin findings. He wrote of his concern that "the dissemination of certain types of information is clearly premature."

The letter also cited the federal law against mislabeling drugs.

Gore

Hightower said he knows, and likes, the other Democratic candidates. He said his Jackson endorsement wasn't a rejection of the others.

In Lubbock, Gore received the endorsement of Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, an influential state legislator.

Gore picked up the endorsement at a fund-raising dinner that followed a speech at Texas Tech in which he claimed the Reagan administration has left oil-producing states to fend for themselves.

Sixteen percent were undecided.

Dukakis was to make a swing through Texas today, starting in East Texas, making his way through Corpus Christi and moving on to West Texas.

On the Republican side, the Gallup poll showed Bush ahead with 59 percent, followed by Dole with 20 percent, Robertson, 12 percent, and Kemp with 4 percent.

In other political developments, Kansas Sen. Robert Dole's Texas campaign chairman said Vice President George Bush must take a resounding win in Super Tuesday states or Dole will wind up the GOP presidential nominee.

Richard Collins of Dallas conceded Bush will grab a majority of Texas' 111 delegates to the Republican National Convention.

Jackson called Hightower's endorsement "an historic moment" for his campaign and said it marks "a revival of the soul of the populist movement" in the United States.

SMU clinches co-championship in SWC

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

The hard part is over for Southern Methodist and the Mustangs could earn their first outright Southwest Conference basketball title since 1967 tonight while watching television.

If Arkansas loses to Houston then the crown goes to the Mustangs. If the Razorbacks win then they have to do it again Sunday in Lubbock to tie SMU for the title.

Then SWC officials would draw names out of hat to determine the top seed in the Post-Season Classic next week.

SMU won its first co-championship in 26 years Wednesday night with an 87-54 victory over Texas Christian.

In other Southwest Conference games Wednesday night, Texas defeated Texas A&M, 64-58, and Baylor blasted Texas Tech, 91-49.

SMU Coach Dave Bliss got a wet suit out of the victory in a post-game celebration but didn't mind.

"There's nothing I've wanted more for my team than for them to be Southwest Conference championships," said SMU Coach Dave Bliss. "There's a lot of things neat about being on national tv and being in the NCAA playoffs but winning the title is something that happens over a hard two month period."

Somebody knew something.

A 40-foot banner with "SWC Champions" on it was lowered from the ceiling after the game.

Carlton McKinney scored 20 points and Todd Alexander added 16 to pace the Ponies.

SMU now owns a 23-6 overall record. They are 12-4 in SWC play.

Arkansas and SMU split in their head-to-head meetings. If the Razorbacks win the remainder of their games, they would have an equal record with SMU in games against the rest of the conference.

"We know Arkansas has a couple of tough games," Bliss said. "I'm just happy that we did our work. Arkansas is a very tough team and capable of tying us."

SMU, which barely defeated TCU 51-48 in Fort Worth, overwhelmed the Horned Frogs with a fullcourt press to post a 48-30 halftime lead.

TCU went 6:05 without a point to start the second half as the Mustangs ran away.

"They just blew us away," said TCU Coach Moe Iba. "We didn't execute and get back on defense. SMU is certainly a deserving champion."

It was SMU's largest victory over TCU since the Ponies beat the Frogs 96-60 in 1974.

John Lewis scored 21 points to lead TCU while Todd Willis added 14. TCU is 9-17 and 3-12.

"This is what it's all about," McKinney said. "This is what we worked for—to be champions."

McKinney added "We'll be watching on TV tonight. Go Coogs."

Super-sub Alvin Heggs came off the Texas bench to score 17 points and lead the Longhorns past the Texas A&M Aggies 64-58.

Heggs, a junior transfer who is Texas' second-leading scorer, hit 11 of his game-high total in the second half and was 7-of-10 from the field. He played despite a badly sprained ankle that has kept him out of practice all week.

Sophomore guard Travis Mays followed Heggs with 14, including 10 in the first half.

Donald Thompson and former Longhorn Doug Dennis paced the Aggies with 16 points each. Texas A&M's leading scorer Daryl McDonald was held to 12.

Texas, which has won eight of its last nine, improves to 16-11 on the season and 10-5 in front of the biggest SWC crowd of the year of 9,933.

Texas A&M drops to 15-14 and 7-8.

Thomas Gipson's dunk with almost three minutes gone in the game gave the Longhorns a 7-0 advantage that they never relinquished.

Texas led 30-25 at the half.

"We're not used to this kind of crowd," Texas Coach Bob Weltlich said. "We were trying so hard. It's like when you're little and trying to please your parents."

Center Darryl Middleton scored 28 points and guard Michael Williams added 23 to lead Baylor to a 91-49 win over Texas Tech.

The Bears moved to 10-5 in conference play and 20-9 overall, winning their twentieth game for the first time since the 1947-48 season.

Texas Tech, in its worst loss ever, fell to 9-17 for the season and 4-11 in the conference.

Texas Tech guard Sean Gay, who averages 15 points per game, scored only four points. Guard Todd Duncan led the Red Raiders with 16 points.

Baylor coach Gene Iba then took out Middleton and Williams, first and third in scoring in the conference, and replaced them with freshman Melvin Hunt and junior college transfer Bert Brown.

Texas Tech coach Gerald Myers put the game in West Texas perspective.

"We just took a good old country whipping," he said. "We just showed up physically and got whipped. I don't know much more to say than that. They just wore us out."

Iba was cautious about getting excited about a 20-win season, and the Bears' current seven-game winning streak.

"It's really nice until you wake up in the morning and realize there's a long way to go," Iba said. "I thought we would make the (NCAA) Tournament last year when we won 18 and finished second in the Southwest Conference Tournament."

BUCKLE UP... AND PLEASE DRIVE SAFELY.

Rockets defeat Warriors, 108-101

Mavericks beat Kings for 10th straight win

By The Associated Press

The going gets tough now for the Dallas Mavericks after they got a franchise-record 10th straight victory in an easy, bench-clearing game against the Sacramento Kings.

The Mavericks got 45 points from their bench as they took a 115-90 NBA victory over the Kings Wednesday night.

Now Dallas faces Houston Friday night and the Los Angeles Lakers in a nationally televised game Sunday afternoon. Both games will be at Reunion Arena.

"This is a big weekend," Dallas guard Derek Harper said. "We have to play Houston before we think too much about the Lakers."

"There will be a lot of emotion in both games because of what we did against the Rockets the last time we played (a 108-106 Dallas victory in Houston Feb. 25) and because it's the Lakers on national television."

Dallas and Houston have split four games this season. The Mavericks are 0-2 against the Lakers. Dallas' winning percentage of .696 is second in the league behind the Lakers.

"We need to beat Houston to put them farther behind us," guard Rolando Blackman said. "The key is to beat Houston and keep the momentum going for the game against the Lakers."

The Mavericks led all the way against the Kings, putting the game out of reach in the third quarter with a 22-9 spurt to increase their lead to 84-60.

Roy Tarpley had 18 points and 13 rebounds and Mark Aguirre contributed 18 points and a season-high 12 rebounds as the Mavericks boosted their record to 39-17.

The rebounding of Tarpley, current NBA player of the week, again was a major factor.

"Roy was very active again tonight," Harper said. "That was the key to victory for us. He makes Sam Perkins and Mark Aguirre better rebounders."

Sacramento Coach Bill Russell said before the game that rebounding would be the key. He was right.

Dallas had four players with nine or more rebounds and held a 28-11 edge on the offensive boards and a commanding 62-35 rebounding edge overall.

"We were very concerned about it," Russell said. "They completely dominated us on the boards."

Russell had no problems analyzing the loss.

"We thought we were prepared but we obviously weren't," he said. "We started out shooting like we'd never seen a basketball before."

Sacramento, which lost its eighth straight game, was led by Mike McGee's 17 points and Reggie Theus with 15.

"They were pretty awesome tonight," Theus said. "They outthrusted us and outplayed us. They were enjoying themselves out there, even the guys who don't get many minutes."

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Houston 108, Golden State 101; New York Knicks 117, Boston 107; Washington 111, Indiana 102; Detroit 103, Los Angeles Clippers 90; and Denver 99, Cleveland 81.

Rockets 108, Warriors 101

Akeem Olajuwon, the Houston Rockets' All-Star center, played at an All-Star level against the Golden State Warriors.

He had 32 points, one under his season high, and 18 rebounds, two under his season best, in Wednesday night's 108-101 victory.

Olajuwon had the big night, however, against a Warriors' front court weakened by injury. His former teammate, 7-foot-4 Ralph Sampson, went on the Warriors' injured list Wednesday with a bad knee, joining power forward Larry Smith, who is expected to miss the rest of the season with a leg injury.

"We didn't think about who was playing. We just knew we had to win this game," Olajuwon said.

The Rockets dropped a 113-112 decision to Utah, a Midwest Division rival, the night before their meeting with the Warriors.

Golden State started Dave Feitl, the young center described as "a project" by the Warriors when they acquired him from Houston last fall, in place of Sampson. In 29 minutes of playing time, the 7-footer had 17 points and 12 rebounds.

"I like Dave Feitl. I've said all along that if you give him five years in this league, he'll get you 20 points a night," Houston Coach Bill Fitch said.

Feitl and the Warriors' starting guards, Chris Mullin and Winston Garland, scored 17 points apiece. Feitl had faced another of the NBA's best centers, Washington's Moses Malone, who got 33 points, two nights earlier.

"It should help me down the road, playing against two of the best in the league under game situations," Feitl said. "I had a hand in Akeem's face all night, but he hit the shots."

Against Utah, the Rockets trailed by 13 points after one quarter. They led Golden State 36-22 at that point, and Rodney McCray had half of his 20 points in the first quarter. Houston had a 19-point lead early in the second quarter and was up by 26 early in the final period.

"The last eight minutes of the game, it looked like some of our players had been up since 5:30 in the morning," Fitch said.

The Warriors got within nine points, 104-95, with 2:10 remaining but did not score again until there were 39 seconds left. Houston's Robert Reid and McCray each made a pair of free throws in the closing minutes.

"Our starts have just killed us," Warriors Coach George Karl said. "It might be worth changing our starting lineup. But we've been doing that, so I don't know what to do."

The team's record, one of the worst in the NBA, got worse with a fifth straight defeat.

Knicks 117, Celtics 107
There's no truth to the rumor that Willis Reed limped into Boston Garden and hit two quick jumpers to start the game, inspiring the New Jersey Nets to victory.

A hobbled Reed did just that for the New York Knicks in the seventh game of the NBA championship series against the Los Angeles Lakers, but all he did Wednesday night was coach the Nets to a stunning 117-107 victory over the Celtics.

Reed, in his second consecutive victory since being named Nets coach on Monday, saw his new team improve its road record to 2-25 this season. Even more shocking was the fact that it was the Celtics' first regular-season loss at home to an Eastern Conference team in 67 games, a streak dating back to April 14, 1985, when Boston also lost to the Nets.

"Everybody thought I was taking a bad job," Reed said. "But after the first two games, it's been pretty good."

Tim McCormick scored 23 points and Roy Hinson had 21 points and 15 rebounds for the Nets, while Larry Bird had 34 points and 16 rebounds for the Celtics.

"We didn't play well from the beginning to the end," Bird said. "We've had some bad ones in the past, but this is one of the ugliest I've been involved with."

The Nets, with the second-worst record in the NBA, spent most of the game building big leads and then losing them, only to hold on in the end.

Bullets 111, Pacers 102
Washington won its fourth straight game and pulled into a tie with New York and Philadelphia in the race for the Eastern Conference's eighth playoff spot.

Moses Malone had 28 points and 14 rebounds and Jeff Malone scored 25 points for the Bullets, while the Pacers were led by Steve Stipanovich with 20.

Pistons 103, Clippers 90
Detroit won its sixth straight game as Joe Dumars scored 21 points and Isiah Thomas had 14 of his 19 in the decisive third quarter against Los Angeles.

The Pistons outscored the Clippers 38-19 in the third period, extending a 43-41 halftime tie to 81-60.

Nuggets 99, Cavaliers 81

Lafayette Lever recorded his NBA-high ninth "triple-double" with 20 points, a career-high 20 rebounds and 12 assists as Denver handed Cleveland its fifth straight loss.

No. 7 Pittsburgh does not like certain kind of Pirates

By The Associated Press

Pittsburgh wants nothing to do with these Pirates.

Seton Hall is 2-0 against No. 7 Pittsburgh and 6-7 against the rest of the Big East. The Pirates are 2-0 against the Panthers, 18-10 against the rest of the country.

Seton Hall completed a regular-season sweep of Pittsburgh on Wednesday night with a 83-79 victory over the Panthers.

The Pirates, who trailed by eight points with four minutes left, have lost four games by one or two points this season.

Pitt beat Georgetown two days before its first game with Seton Hall and beat Boston College on Monday.

In their Top Twenty games, No. 1 Temple beat St. Joseph's 75-62, No. 6 North Carolina beat No. 13 Georgia Tech 97-80, No. 8 Kentucky beat Georgia 80-72, Clemson upset No. 9 Duke 79-77, No. 10 Michigan beat Northwestern 105-67 and Florida beat No. 19 Vanderbilt 81-65. No. 1 Temple 75, St. Joseph's 62

Freshman Mark Macon scored a season-high 35 points as Temple finished the regular season 26-1 and 18-0 in the Atlantic 10.

The game was marred by several fights, and at one point both coaches were shouting at each other on the sidelines.

Temple trailed 10-4 and then scored 19 consecutive points. Ivan Brown and Henry Smith scored 15 points each for St. Joseph's, 14-13 and 9-9.

No. 6 North Carolina 97, No. 13 Georgia Tech 80

J.R. Reid scored nine of his 24 points in a 23-4 second-half burst as North Carolina, 22-4 and 11-2 in the Atlantic Coast Conference, ended Georgia Tech's seven-game winning streak.

Duane Ferrell scored 23 points for Georgia Tech, 21-7 and 8-5.

No. 8 Kentucky 80, Georgia 72

Ed Davener scored 20 points and had eight assists as Kentucky clinched a share of the Southeastern Conference title.

Kentucky, 21-5 and 12-5, has won or shared the regular-season title 37 times.

Toney Mack scored 21 points for Georgia, 15-14 and 7-10, which lost its eighth consecutive road game.

Clemson 79, No. 9 Duke 77

Grayson Marshall's short jumper with 1:11 left and Tim Kincaid's four free throws in the final minute gave Clemson, 13-13 and 3-10 in the ACC, its second victory in its last 10 games.

Duke, 20-6 and 8-5, lost three straight for the first time in four seasons.

No. 10 Michigan 105, Northwestern 67

Glen Rice scored 25 points and Gary Grant added 24, including 17 in the first half, as the Wolverines, 23-5 and 12-3, took a 53-26 halftime lead.

Loy Vaughn scored 22 points off the bench for Michigan. Jeff Grose scored 14 points and Shon Morris had 13 for Northwestern, 7-18 and 2-13. Florida 81, No. 19 Vanderbilt 65

Dwayne Schintzius scored 28 points and Vernon Maxwell added 27 as Florida, 20-9 and 10-6, stayed alive in the SEC race. The Gators trail Kentucky by 1½ games with two games left.

Barry Booker scored 14 points for Vanderbilt, 18-8 and 10-7, which fell out of second place and was eliminated from title contention.

Tournaments

Willie Haynes made two technical foul shots after opposing players and their coach ran onto the court with two seconds remaining, giving St. Peter's a 63-60 victory over Fairfield in the opening round of the Metro-Atlantic Athletic Conference tournament.

In other first-round games Wednesday, Fordham beat Army 101-59, Holy Cross beat Iona 91-86 and La Salle beat Manhattan 62-51.

NBA FAST STARTS

NEW YORK (AP) — According to the NBA record book, the best start in a season was posted by the Washington Capitols, who won their first 15 games in 1948. The 1957-58 Boston Celtics came closest to that by winning their first 14 in 1957.

Other great streaks include the 1969-70 New York Knicks who were 23-1 at the start of the campaign and, of course, the all-time winning string of 33 enshrined in the record book by the 1971-72 Los Angeles Lakers.

Social Security

QUESTION: When I started getting SSI checks, I was living with my son. Now I'm thinking of moving into an apartment by myself. Do I have to tell Social Security if I move?

ANSWER: Yes. You must tell Social Security about any change that might affect your eligibility or payment amount. This includes a change in your living arrangement. It's very possible that your check amount may increase when you begin living by yourself.

QUESTION: I receive Social Security benefits and will become entitled to Medicare hospital insurance in 3 months. Do I need to apply for medical insurance?

ANSWER: No. If you are receiving Social Security Benefits or retirement benefits under the railroad retirement system, you will be automatically enrolled for medical insurance—unless you say you don't want it—at the same time you become entitled to hospital insurance.

QUESTION: I retired last year in July. I understand that half of my Social Security benefits may be taxed. Will I receive anything from Social Security showing how much I received in benefits during 1987?

ANSWER: Yes. You will receive a statement of earnings sometime in February. It is a Social Security Benefit Statement, Form SSA-1099. It will show the total amount of your benefits for 1987 as well as any deductions for things like Medicare premiums.

QUESTION: I worked for several different people last year and if, together, they withhold more than the maximum in Social Security taxes can I get a refund?

ANSWER: Yes, by claiming a refund for the excess amount when you file your 1987 Federal income tax return. But, if a single employer withheld more than you owed, you should ask that employer for a refund of the excess.

QUESTION: Does it matter that I don't have a Social Security card? I lost mine 18 years ago but have remembered my number ever since.

ANSWER: For your own convenience and protection, you should get a replacement. If you try to get another job your employer will want to see your card. And there is always the possibility that you have not remembered your correct number. To apply for a replacement you need only visit a Social Security Office, taking along proof of your identity.

Influence of television still pondered by experts

Since the dawn of the age of television, consumers have wondered what influence the talking box exerts on those who watch it. Of particular concern has been the effect television might have on children.

"It's nothing new that television is blamed for many of the things wrong with society," said Dr. David Barker, an assistant professor of radio-TV film at Texas Christian University. "Before television, motion pictures were blamed for the ills of society. But we have to keep in mind that there are a number of factors impacting young people today."

There are a few areas in which Barker agreed that children who do not know a world without television have been influenced.

"Children probably have less patience today because they see programs where life's problems are solved in 30 minutes, and they have a tendency to expect that most of their problems can be handled in the same way," explained Barker.

Advertising is another area where children are influenced by television, according to Barker.

"In the past, advertising aimed at children was constructed to encourage children to go to their parents and have the parents do the buying. Today's advertising is much more direct; it's definitely urging children to become consumers at a younger age."

Despite the influence television has had, Barker said parents can mediate television's influence by taking an active role in their children's lives.

"At the same time that children have been watching more television, there has been a nationwide phenomenon of more parents taking less interest in their child's education," the TCU professor said.

"They're not encouraging them to turn off the television at night and do their homework, so I don't think we can lay all the blame at the feet of television."

Now You're Cooking

BY GAYE B. REILY
Staff Writer

Mary McCutchen has lived in Hereford since December, 1949, and, when she's not working, she enjoys cooking.

"I've worked since I was 14 years old," the mother of four and grandmother of five laughed. Now employed at Save 'N Gain, she has done everything from working in a laundry, driving a school bus, waitressing, working in a school cafeteria, and picking cotton to working at JC Penneys, White's Auto, and Womble Oil Company.

Yet when she isn't on the job, McCutchen enjoys collecting and trying new recipes, but acknowledges that she hates the cleanup required after cooking.

A member of Sweet and Fancy Cake Decorating Club, McCutchen notes that she loves to make cakes and also enjoys the hobbies of sewing, quilting, and camping, which the McCutchens hope to do more of in the next few years.

She and her husband, Leon, reside in their handsomely remodeled home at 403 Union, which houses several antiques he has collected. They are members of First Assembly of God Church, where he is a deacon.

Like his wife, Leon knows the meaning of hard work. "When I met Leon, he was a truck driver, then he joined to U.S. Postal Service," she remembered. "He had to get used to walking 15-20 miles a day on his route. Now he is senior city carrier and doesn't have to walk so much."

Married for 38 years, the couple are the parents of four children, all of whom had the work ethic drilled into them at an early age. Pat is a nurse in Canyon, Gayle is a telephone operator in Lubbock, Pam Spencer is employed locally at West Texas Rural Telephone, and Mike works for H&R Block in Estes Park, Colo.

McCutchen admits she never taught her children to cook. "I figured they'd learn from necessity," she laughed, "and sure enough, they did." With the family gone, McCutchen cooks less than ever but still creates fabulous meals for special events. "Thanksgiving and Christmas are big times for us and I get to make fruitcakes for these holidays, which I love."

Cooking beans, potatoes and biscuits was the only cooking McCutchen learned during her youth. As the third child and oldest daughter among nine children, she helped raise the younger ones and now reflects on the changing times. "We seldom had meat back then because it was a luxury. Now everyone expects to have meat with every meal."

A native of Walters, Okla., a small town near Lawton, McCutchen moved here to live with her brother and his wife. She got a job as a waitress in a cafe and met Leon there. "At first I hated it here because of the Dust Bowl years in the '50s. The wallpaper in our little house seemed to breath dirt and sand everytime the wind blowed, but I learned to like it here and can't imagine living anywhere else."

Because she didn't finish high school, McCutchen took a GED course in 1970 and received her high school diploma. She has since taken other courses offered through Hereford High School.

"Everyone seems to enjoy my salsa (hot sauce). The recipe is in my head—I've never written it down, so it's hard to pass it along." The hot sauce is only a part of the Mexican food the McCutchens enjoy. Traditional Texas fare as steak and potatoes, beans and cornbread also ranks among their favorite food.

One of the most sought after recipes belonging to McCutchen is her chicken tetrazinni recipe. "Whenever I cook for a church event, they always want me to bring chicken tetrazinni. It's a recipe Gayle created—she is an experimental cook just like I am."

Following is McCutchen's chicken tetrazinni recipe, along with several other favorites:

CHICKEN TETRAZINI

- 1 - 3 lb. chicken
- 1 1/2 c. Velveeta cheese, cut up in chunks
- 1 bell pepper
- 1 medium onion
- 1 jalapeno pepper (optional)
- Instant chicken bouillon (granules)
- 1/4 c. butter
- flour
- 1 can evaporated milk
- 1 - 10 oz. pkg. spaghetti
- 1 small jar pimentoes
- 1/4 tsp. oregano (optional)

Cook chicken in 8 cups water until tender. (Add 1 Tbsp. salt to water).

While chicken is cooking, saute onion, bell pepper, jalapeno pepper, pimentoes, and 1 tsp. chicken bouillon in the 1/4c. butter.

Save 2 cups of chicken broth for sauce. In remaining chicken broth cook spaghetti until tender.

Debone chicken and mix it with spaghetti, sauteed vegetables and 1/2 c. cheese. Sprinkle remaining cheese on top and pour sauce (recipe follows) over that; bake 25 minutes at 325 degrees.

CHICKEN TETRAZINI SAUCE

- 3/4 c. evaporated milk
  - 2 Tbsp. flour
  - 2 c. chicken broth
  - 1 tsp. instant chicken bouillon
  - 1/4 tsp. black pepper
  - 1 tsp. garlic powder
  - 1/4 tsp. oregano
- Heat to boiling. Pour over chicken tetrazinni as directed.

HOMINY CASSEROLE

- 2 cans hominy, drained (may use white or yellow or mixture of the two)
  - 1 - 8 oz. carton sour cream
  - 1/2 c. chopped green onion
  - 1 small jar pimentoes
  - 1 c. grated cheddar cheese
- Mix first four ingredients in sauce pan, bring to a boil. Pour into casserole dish. Sprinkle cheese on top.
- Bake in 350 degree oven until cheese melts.

CRAZY CRUNCH

- 1 1/3 c. sugar
  - 1 c. margarine
  - 1/2 c. corn syrup
  - 1 tsp. vanilla
  - 2/3 c. toasted pecans
  - 1 1/3 c. toasted almonds
  - 8 c. popped corn (or more if desired)
- Combine sugar, margarine, and syrup in two-quart sauce pan. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Boil 10-15 minutes or until mixture turns a light caramel color or reaches 200 degrees on candy thermometer.
- Remove from heat, stir in vanilla. Pour over popped corn and nuts until all are coated. Spread on cookie sheet to dry; break into pieces and store in tightly covered container or plastic bag. Makes approx. 1 1/4 lbs.

BUTTER PECAN ICE CREAM

- 2 c. chopped pecans
  - 3 Tbsp. butter
- Toast pecans in butter, set aside to cool. Make ice cream by mixing together the following ingredients:
- 3 large cans evaporated milk
  - 1 - 2 3/4 oz. box instant vanilla pudding
  - 2 1/2 c. sugar
  - 1 tsp. vanilla
  - 2 qts. milk
- Put mixture in ice cream freezer, let partially freeze, then add pecans to thickened mixture so they won't sink to the bottom. Freeze mixture until firm and serve.

MAPLE NUT PIE

- 1 baked 9 inch pie shell
  - 1 can Eagle Brand milk
  - 1/2 c. maple syrup
  - 1/4 tsp. salt
  - 1/2 c. chopped pecans
- Blend together milk, syrup, and salt; cook over low heat until mixture begins to boil. Let boil, stirring constantly until mixture thickens (about 4 minutes).
- Add pecans and pour into crust. When ready to serve, top with whipped cream and sprinkle with toasted coconut.

Abundant Life

LIFE IS NOT MAGICAL
By Bob Wear

Life is real, and we must come to grips with this fact; because pretending that it is otherwise will, sooner or later, cause trouble that we will not be able to handle. When we were children, many of us were told fairy stories about characters with magic powers. This is not necessarily harmful, unless it is overdone; but real life is no fairy tale, and we have no magic powers.

The world of fantasy has great appeal for many folk, and some appeal for most of us, perhaps, and, in some instances, it may serve some useful purpose. If, however, we let ourselves get carried away with the world of fantasy we are in trouble. A little 'daydreaming' may be a wholesome exercise for us, but, if there is too much of this we gradually become unable to distinguish between fact and fantasy.

Life is not magical, and we must not pretend that it is. To do so leads to disillusionment, and to serious mental and emotional damage. In order to make the best of life, we must face the facts of life; and do so with wisdom and good, common sense. This is not to say that we must dwell upon some unpleasantness that has occurred, or may occur; but we must look at the whole picture. In doing this, we seek the balance which enables us to cope with the realities which challenge us.

Some terrible things are being done, in a futile effort to find a world of magic which does not exist. One very harmful practice is hallucinating, which may range from overworking the imagination to the use of life-destroying drugs. Certainly, some of these ways are worse than others; but all of them are futile. They are hurtful ways of escape from reality, and reduce or destroy one's possibilities for a meaningful life.

Some religious forms are used in a vain effort to create a magical climate in which to live. Much of this form of pretense does unrepairable harm to good people. Some realities of life can be very difficult, but pretending that they do not exist can be even more difficult.

Life is not magical, but we can cope with it successfully.

Bell hosts sorority meeting

Xi Epsilon Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met Tuesday night in the home of Marge Bell, 114 Fir. The group surprised her with a housewarming gift consisting of a money tree.

The program, planned by Donna Grady, was given by Pat Confer, a representative of Pat's Pure Water, affiliated with National Safety Associates, Inc. Confer presented a slide show and distributed brochures while explaining the importance of pure water. She pointed out how water is becoming more contaminated and she explained different filtering devices.

President Connie Matthews presided over the business meeting and committee reports were given. Thank-yous were extended to Secret Sisters.

The next meeting, set for March 15, was rescheduled for March 22.

Luncheons, tours featured in April by local museum

Women's groups are invited to a luncheon and tour set for each Tuesday and Thursday in April at the E.B. Black House, according to the Deaf Smith County Museum executive director Juanita Koetting.

The E.B. Black residence was built in 1909 and is on the National Register of Historic Places. It is maintained by the Deaf Smith County Historical Society for the use of the public.

The 1910 era will be depicted in the decorations and serving. A gourmet meal will be served for $7 a plate. Groups might like to wear hats of that era or clothing depicting times

An unexplained death during sleep, preceded by a fibrillating heart and moans, stalks men who are natives of Southeast Asia, says National Geographic.

Names in the News

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Lucille Ball passed a Harvard University test with a little help from Lucy Ricardo.

Comedian Steve Martin will be honored Feb. 23.

Miss Ball was named Woman of the Year by the Hasty Pudding Theatricals, Harvard's all-male revue, on Tuesday.

NEW YORK (AP) — Lillian Gish received the National Board of Review's D.W. Griffith career achievement award for acting in 105 movies over 75 years from best friend Helen Hayes, who praised her as a woman without fear.

On stage before about 500 wildly appreciative fans, Miss Ball passed a trivia test about her alter ego in the 1950s sitcom "I Love Lucy," which lives on in reruns.

When Miss Gish, 91, was acting in the silent film "Way Down East," she spent two winter days floating down a New England river on a real ice floe, her hand frostbitten as she trailed it in the water and tears frozen on her eyelashes, Miss Hayes recalled in presenting the award Tuesday.

She couldn't remember the name of Little Ricky's baby-sitter (Mrs. Trumbull) but recalled husband Ricky Ricardo's theme song ("Babalou").

"The picture came out fine and that's all that mattered to Lillian," said Miss Hayes, 91.

"I've waited 20-some years to make this gig, and may I say it was worth it," Miss Ball, 76, told the standing-room-only crowd after a parade through Harvard Square past hundreds of admirers.

Miss Gish, recovering from a fall last month, did not attend the ceremonies.

She said she would fill the tiny brass pudding pot she received with potpourri and place it in her New York apartment.

The National Board of Review, founded in New York in 1909 to fight censorship and reward excellence in motion pictures, has presented D.W. Griffith awards since 1917.

The Hasty Pudding Club has named a Woman of the Year since 1951 and a Man of the Year since 1967.

ASK DR. LAMB

Cholesterol OK BY LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am a 72-year-old male and have had my cholesterol checked several times over a period of years. The total cholesterol reading varies from 165 to 190 and the HDL-cholesterol readings vary from 45 to 60, with the smaller HDL readings always going with the smaller total cholesterol readings.

If I were to take orally the proper dosage of Lopid and Mevacor, would this injure my heart in any way? Would this have no effect at all? Or would it reduce the cholesterol deposits in my blood vessels? I might add that I swim half a mile five days a week and have some arthritis.

DEAR READER: If everyone were as well off as you are, there would not be such a huge rate of heart attacks. If you were my patient, I would not change a thing you are doing. Lopid is one brand of a medicine that has been demonstrated to raise the HDL-cholesterol fraction of total cholesterol. That also significantly decreases the frequency of heart attacks. But your levels are quite normal already. The 60 readings are outstanding.

Mevacor, which has recently been approved to treat high total cholesterol, also has a very good track record. But, according to your letter, your cholesterol level has never been high enough to be a significant risk factor.

These medicines are intended only for those who do have abnormal readings, or readings that will increase the risk of heart attacks. They should not be used in people like yourself who do not have any increased risk. It is difficult to predict what the response in your case would be, but it would not likely reduce your risk of heart attacks or lengthen your life at all.

I'm sure you will want to read more about cholesterol, so I'm sending you a free copy of Special Report 44, Understanding Cholesterol and Triglycerides. Others who want this report can send $1 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to THE HEALTH LETTER/44, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I participate in two different exercise classes and am curious about the different teaching. One instructor says your muscles are reshaping when they are burning, and to work through the burn. The other instructor teaches that there is no oxygen in the muscle when it is burning and to stop and stretch the muscle and start again slowly. I know at one time the theory was "no pain, no gain," but I thought that was a thing of the past.

DEAR READER: I wish I knew what you mean by your muscles, "burning." A sore muscle means actual muscle damage and it has been demonstrated with electron microscopes. The ruptured and necrotic muscle tissue does not help you develop strength or endurance faster — it slows down your fitness program.

Muscles "reshape" as a result of increased strength, which means increased muscle fiber size, and from loss of fat deposits in and around the muscle. Muscles grow when they are resting. That is why strength training is properly done with a day of rest between workouts. Excess exercise slows down muscle development.

Muscle stiffness, soreness or pain should be avoided. The "no pain, no gain" concept was discredited years ago; knowledgeable exercise physiologists would never recommend that approach. A better approach is "train, don't strain."

DEAR DR. LAMB: Regarding your column on exercise for the elderly, my husband and I took up golf when he retired at age 62 and I at 61. We play 18 holes four or five times a week, walking all 18 and pulling our carts and clubs. We have a foursome with another couple age 75 and 80, also walking and pulling. I also do all my own housework and cooking. My husband takes care of the grass, shrubbery and vegetable garden. The only medicine in our cabinet is a bottle of Anacin. My advice to the elderly is "get off your butt." My husband is 73 and I'm 72 and still going strong, for which I thank God and exercise. We score in the upper 80s and low 90s.

DEAR READER: I have been amused and pleased to hear from many older people who have remained active. While not everyone may be pleased with the way you have phrased your advice about staying active, it is the truth for many. There are countless articles about the problems of children spending their time watching TV and not exercising, but precious few comments about how the older person becomes physically dependent for the same reason.

It is important for older people to realize that if they want to keep their independence and be able to function, they absolutely must take steps to maintain their physical strength. A study in Gothenburg, Sweden, found that only a third of healthy 79-year-old women were able to walk fast enough to cross a 30-meter road in time to be fully protected by the pedestrian crossing light.

We would have far fewer people in nursing homes if older people maintained a regular fitness program. That can certainly include golf and gardening. It takes longer for older people who have not maintained their strength to regain it — or even improve. I have discussed this in THE HEALTH LETTER 29-09, Exercise for Older Adults, and am sending you a free copy you can share with others you would like to get moving. Others who want this issue can send $1 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to THE HEALTH LETTER 29-09, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

Walking is a good beginning. People who have remained active as you have will have fewer problems with exercise than those who have not. Those who have been sedentary to the point of being weak may need a medical examination and some help to be sure their program is suitable for their state of health.
