EDSC public meeting lightly attended

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

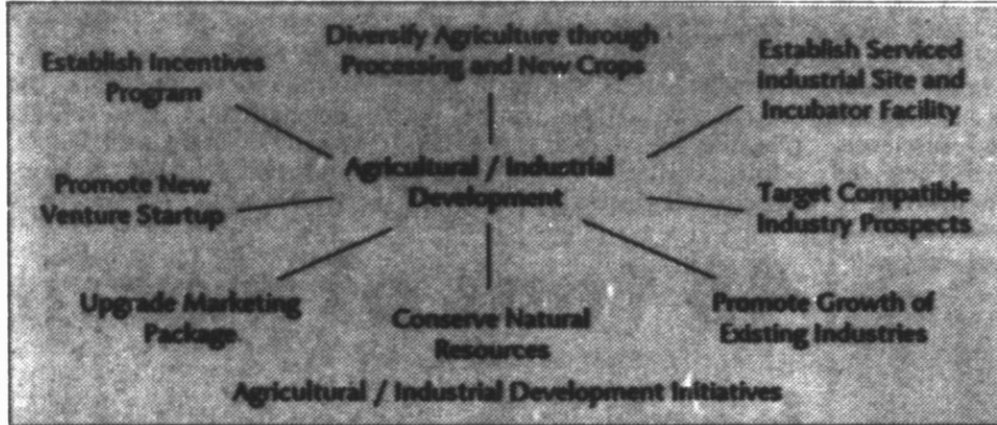

A small group of local citizens gave their input, stamp of approval, and a smattering of disapproval to the draft Strategic Plan for Economic Development at a general public meeting Tuesday at the Hereford Community Center.

20 citizens listened as Dianne Pierson, assistant director of the Economic Development Strategy Council, read through the plan's proposed vision statement, goals, strategies, funding and structure.

"A lot of work has gone into this (plan) since January and especially since March," said Troy Don Moore, chairman of the EDSC. Moore commended the EDSC staff and the work of the Department of Rural Sociology at Texas A&M University for their work, and to "the community for its participation and continued interest in what we'll pursue in the future."

Pierson went through the vision statement—a general overview of the "goals and strategies that have evolved from a process that involved about 325 persons from throughout the community," Pierson explained.

The draft vision statement makes bold pronouncements that could come to fruition if elements of the economic and community development goals are realized, and gets some of its boldness from the results of a community-wide survey of needs and wishes conducted by the A&M sociologists.

Doug Bartlett, one of the local citizens at the meeting, questioned the validity of some of the survey's indications. Pierson said anyone interested in the survey, the methodology involved, and other elements may obtain a copy at the EDSC offices at Ave. A and Park Avenue in Hereford.

Another survey might be forthcoming if the EDSC is allowed to exist past the original May 31 cutoff. That survey would concentrate on local business and industry—a retail-oriented wish list.

One concern that cropped up immediately was an item on the retail strategy list that would "develop Main Street as the primary retail area, generating additional traffic for all retail stores in Hereford."

"I think some of the merchants outside of the downtown area are really concerned about this," said Dr. Aaron Hutto, who serves on the EDSC's advisory committee. "I think maybe we're concentrating too much on the downtown area. I've talked to a couple of people who own businesses on 25 Mile Avenue who are concerned about this."

Ouida Halbert, who owns a downtown business, pointed out that the retailers who participated in interest group meetings were exclusively downtown merchants.

"There's going to be a meeting Thursday morning, and if they're interested they should be at the meeting," Halbert said. "They should have attended the other meetings. They were all invited."

Pierson said that all local retailers will receive a packet of information and an invitation to attend Thursday's meeting, which will be held at 7 a.m. at the Deaf Smith County Library.

Other specific points discussed included:

"Housing should be addressed," said Herb de la Rosa. "If our population increases 20 percent, we will need more housing." Pierson said a survey done during the Waste Deposit Impact Committee's tenure showed there were few apartments, and that many of the houses that were for sale are actually being occupied, with the current owners looking to build a new house if they can sell their current home.

Welcome rains fall in region

Reports from the rain that fell Tuesday night and Wednesday morning in the Hereford area were spotty, ranging from .25 inch in some areas to over 1.5 inch in the northern part of Deaf Smith County.

Officially, Hereford received .37 inch of rain as of 7 a.m. today at KPAN from the thunder-showers that began at about 11 p.m. Tuesday. Some random checks of backyard gauges showed up to .75 inch, indicating the showers may have been as spotty in the city as they were over the rest of the region.

The top report came from the area between Milo Center and Gray's Corner, about 20 miles north-northwest of Hereford, where they received 1.5 inch of rain. At Northwest Grain in Milo Center, they received .50 inch "and it's raining again right now (8:45 a.m. today)."

Other area rainfall reports included .25 to .50 inch in the Summerfield area; .50 inch at Dawn; .20 inch at Bruegel Bros. Gin and Elevator in Frio; .30 inch at Walcott; and .60 inch at Easter Grain.

"This was a really good cotton shower," said Eddie Matthews at Easter Grain.

Showers were prowling the region this morning, and there was a 30 percent chance of rain tonight and a 20 percent chance of rain in Thursday's forecast.

Two of the "Up With People" group are in town to make advance preparations for the World Tour performance to be presented here June 11. Nicole Freeman, Canada, and Erik Sandnes, Norway, introduced themselves at a lunch with local sponsors Monday. The two young cast members were to give their first program today at the Lions Club meeting.

Graduation day for Hereford High seniors is Friday, and The Brand's annual "Graduation Edition" will be part of Thursday's paper. Sponsored by participating businesses and institutions in Hereford, the section will include photos of the candidates for graduation. It will be a "souvenir" edition for many Hereford families!

Only 20 citizens showed up Tuesday night for the public meeting on the Strategic Plan for Economic Development. Makes you wonder if it's an indication of public apathy, or if folks have been well informed on the program and accept the concept.

Reagan leaves for Moscow

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, leaving for his fourth meeting with Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev, today extolled advancements made in superpower relations and pledged "to go still farther" in the interests of freedom and peace.

"We have many differences — deep differences, moral differences," Reagan told a White House departure ceremony minutes before he left for the Moscow summit, which begins Sunday and ends four days later.

"But we are still fellow human beings. We can still work together to keep the peace. And in working with the Soviet Union, the United States can still remain true to its mission (of) expanding liberty throughout the world," Reagan said.

Before leaving with his wife, Nancy, for a stopover in Helsinki, Finland, the president asked for the prayers of Americans "as I embark on this great task."

"Since my first meeting with Mr. Gorbachev, ... we have come a long way," Reagan said. "My task in the next week will be to go still farther, farther in the interests of peace. Farther toward a universal respect for fundamental human rights. Farther toward world freedom. Farther toward a safer world for all people," Reagan said.

Reagan was leaving without a ratified U.S.-Soviet treaty banning medium-range nuclear missiles, the highlight of his last summit in December with Gorbachev.

The pact is still awaiting Senate approval and White House chief of staff Howard Baker is staying behind in the hope the Senate may act and the treaty can be rushed to Reagan before he meets with Gorbachev.

Several of Reagan's own conservative colleagues have stalled action on the pact, arguing it is one-sided and does not address concerns about potential Soviet cheating.

But Senate leaders moved Tuesday to halt debate.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., told Reagan on Tuesday that "in all likelihood, the Senate will be able to act on the treaty by Friday."

The president, summing up his four-part agenda for the May 29-June 2 talks with the Soviet general secretary, noted in his departure remarks that he and Gorbachev have "plenty of work" to do.

"I do not expect it to be easy," Reagan said.

—On arms control, Reagan lauded the pact banning medium-range missiles for reducing the level of superpower arsenals for the first time. Progress has been made on a second pact to slash strategic weapons by half, he said, adding that he intended "to resolve the issues that still stand in the way."

Secretary of State George P. Shultz held out the hope Tuesday that the strategic arms treaty can be completed before Reagan leaves office in January.

—On human rights, Reagan lauded Soviet advancements such as the loosening of emigration restraints and the release of political prisoners. Reagan said he intended "to see that the positive trends ... continue and the reforms are made permanent."

—On regional issues, Reagan noted that the two countries have signed the Geneva accords outlining the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Afghanistan and that the first withdrawals have begun. But he said he would be looking for Soviet actions to help advance negotiations on problems in Angola and Namibia and "to support U.N. efforts to end the Iran-Iraq war."

—On bilateral ties, Reagan pledged to extend the areas of cooperation. "This will include everything from practical matters of nuclear safety to radio navigation and the protection of the global environment," he said.

Reagan said his goal throughout his meetings with Gorbachev, which began in Geneva in 1985, has been to establish "a better working relationship with the Soviet Union, one no longer subject to the dangerous highs and lows of the past, a working relationship based on realities, not merely on a seeming relaxation of tensions."

"In my talks with General Secretary Gorbachev next week, we will be looking to the future, for there remains much to be done," Reagan said.

Reagan and Gorbachev are expected to sign some minor agreements on cultural programs, fishing, civilian nuclear reactor safety, transportation technologies

Senate to fight Reagan's trade bill veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate backers of a major trade bill are expecting an uphill battle to find enough votes to override President Reagan's veto, in striking contrast to the quick and overwhelming House vote to reverse the president's action.

"We have to have another three votes at this point and I don't know where they are going to come from," said Senate Finance Committee Chairman Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, a chief sponsor of the 1,000-page trade measure.

The Senate is expected to take up the legislation after it returns from the Memorial Day recess.

Reagan's veto of the legislation on Tuesday came as no surprise. He has been critical in numerous speeches of a provision that would require companies to give employees 60 days notice of plant closings and large-scale layoffs. He has said that businesses need flexibility to survive hard times.

In his veto message to Congress, Reagan repeated that argument.

"I support voluntarily giving workers and communities as much advance warning as possible when a layoff or closing becomes necessary. ... It is the humane thing to do.

"But I object to the idea that the federal government would arbitrarily mandate, for all conditions and under all circumstances, exactly when and in what form that notification should take place."

The president urged lawmakers to submit a revised version trade bill that he could sign in good conscience.

Within hours of Reagan's veto, the House voted, 308-113, to override it.

That was far more than needed to be successful.

Sixty Republicans broke with Reagan to vote for the override, while only one Democrat, Robert J. Mrazek of New York, supported the president.

The plant-closings measure is among scores of provisions contained in the bill. The main ones would overhaul the U.S. system of import restrictions. Others range from repealing the windfall profits tax to adding billions of dollars in agricultural subsidies.

Democratic leaders have argued that patching together a stripped down trade bill might be tough before Congress leaves town for the campaign trail.

Uncertain of override prospects in the Senate, many Democrats focused on making the debate a campaign issue.

"I happen to think it's a better issue for Democrats than for Republicans," House Speaker Jim Wright, D-Texas, said.

Michael Dukakis, the front-runner in the battle for the Democratic presidential nomination, called the president's action "unconscionable."

Reagan said that he vetoed the measure "with sincere regret," but said in his message that returning the measure to Congress was necessary.

"I am convinced this bill will cost jobs and damage our economic growth," the president said.

He said that the American economy has created 16 million jobs during his administration.

Herd shortstop

Hereford Whiteface shortstop Russell Backus concentrates on home plate as he watches teammate Jason Scott throw a pitch early in Tuesday night's regional playoff game against Everman. Backus stopped a pair of hard-hit balls, in the second and fifth innings, to prevent extra-base hits and hold the runners to singles. Hereford won the game on a wild pitch in the eighth inning, 7-6, after trailing 6-4 after four innings of play. For a report on the game, which was played at Moffett Field in Snyder, see Page 4.

45 tons of marijuana and hashish confiscated off ship

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Five relatives, including a man once accused of helping convicted spy Christopher Boyce rob banks, were arrested for trying to smuggle 45 tons of marijuana and hashish into the country, authorities said.

"The war on drugs is being fought on many fronts. This is one of the skirmishes. This is a battle we happen to have won," said Agent Tom Sheehan of the Drug Enforcement Administration.

At least 30 tons of hashish and 15 tons of marijuana were seized from welded compartments of a barge after it was boarded Monday night as it entered San Francisco Bay. The tug Intrepid Venture, which had the barge in tow, also was seized.

Authorities believe the Asian-grown drugs, with a wholesale value of $162 million, had been loaded off a "mother ship" 1,000 miles offshore. It took eight hours for agents to cut metal covers off the compartments to remove the contraband.

"This was a very sophisticated operation," said Rollin B. Klink, agent in charge for the Customs Service in San Francisco, who characterized the organization behind the operation as "huge."

He said "a piece of minor" information led to the bust, but would not elaborate.

"We knew about this boat before it was ever loaded," added Steve Giorgi, head of the Internal Revenue Service.

The tug's skipper, Calvin Robinson, 47, of Napa, and four relatives were charged Tuesday in federal court with large-scale drug smuggling and conspiracy, punishable by at least 10 years in prison without the possibility of parole and fines of up to $4 million.

According to court documents, Robinson was a prison compatriot of Boyce, who was convicted in 1977 of espionage for the Soviet Union. Robinson reportedly went on the lam with Boyce after his sensational Jan. 18, 1980, escape from the federal prison at Lompoc. Boyce, whose exploits were portrayed in the book and movie "The Falcon and the Snowman," was serving a 40-year sentence.

Robinson was charged with harboring a fugitive and in connection with 13 Pacific Northwest bank robberies that occurred after Boyce's capture in late 1981. But the charges against Robinson were dismissed by U.S. District Judge Harold Ryan in Idaho for lack of evidence. Boyce pleaded guilty to the robberies and received 25 additional years in prison.

Also arrested in the drug bust were Robinson's 25-year-old son, William, of Vacaville; the skipper's nephews Frank Robinson, 25, of Corning and John Robinson, 23, of Santa Rosa; and stepson, Wesley Bastin, 25, of Corning, said Assistant U.S. Attorney Eric Swenson.

About 1,400 plastic-wrapped cardboard boxes filled with Southeast Asian marijuana and 1,200 burlap bags of pressed hashish were found in the tug.

Boyce was convicted in 1977 of selling U.S. satellite surveillance secrets to the Soviet Union from the TRW company in Redondo Beach, where he had worked from mid-1974 to 1976 as a security clerk. Boyce is now serving time at the U.S. Penitentiary in Marion, Ill.

the newspaper and radio, a four-page overview of the program was mailed to every household and business in the county last week. The Economic Development Strategy Council had hoped to get input from citizens Tuesday night. It appeared about four or five people showed up who had not been involved in the other meetings.

Personally, we think the plan has merit. It is similar to a "Goals for Progress" plan initiated by the chamber of commerce in 1975, but it has a better chance of working for two reasons—funding and accountability. The chamber plan relied solely on volunteer effort with no paid professional to administer the strategy. If the chamber had an additional $100,000 in funds to pursue industrial development, it could have made a difference.

A lot of work accomplished by the chamber is taken for granted, and only a small amount of time and money has been spent on industrial development. To the chamber's credit, it's a wonder it has accomplished as much as it has in the area of landing new industry.

The big factor in this plan, or any plan, is still commitment of the community. Unless a lot of citizens get behind the plan and commit time, energy and resources, it could just be a lot of paper work to file away once again.

—Some felt that Deaf Smith County should develop some sort of land use plan for specific areas. "That way one industry wouldn't do things one way and another industry do it another way," Pierson said.

The crowd was mixed in its support of the overall plan. Some gave it whole-hearted support, others were a little reticent, and a few were hesitant to support it at all.

Sam Nunnally recalled past successful efforts of groups led by a few volunteers that got things moving and shaking. "Hereford is one of the finest towns of its size within 500 miles. We've had all of these committees we have now on everything. We've done this already," Nunnally said.

"Two things happened to us. We were so efficient in agriculture that we overproduced and now we have laid out one-fourth of our cropland. The other thing is we anticipated this hole in the ground out here (the nuclear waste repository project that was squelched by Congress last December).

"Now everyone is frantic. Everyone that is out of a job is hunting one, and brass coming in and spending $100,000 won't create a job for anyone but himself. In the past it was done by volunteers, not paid people."

"I agree with this plan 100 percent," said Jay Boston. "It has got to be done. We were up against a deal (the repository) where we were fighting against each other, and now we can fight together. The momentum is there, and we need to take advantage of it."

"I think this is all a bureaucratic blunder," said Doug Bartlett, picking up the information packet for Tuesday's meeting.

"This kind of came at a bad time for us," said Moore, a Deaf Smith County Commissioner. "It was in the middle of our budget year. There is a great deal of concern because we are talking about spending tax dollars ($40,000 a year each from the county and the city and another $24,000 annually from the Hereford school system) as well there should be. I think development won't take care of itself. We must do something to expand the tax base or the same people are going to go on and on paying the bills."

"I'm in favor of this plan," said Bernie Orel. "I'm interested in the total community. We could've moved a business here, but I'll not answer to 900,000 people telling me who I can hire and how I can operate. This plan will take a lot of hard work, and we'd better put the best people we can on this plan."

The group discussed at length how the separate boards for economic development and community development would be set up, and offered various suggestions on how to involve more of the community.

Mother, expecting twins, gets five

McALLEN, Texas (AP) — Maria Esther Chavez said doctors told her she would probably have twins, but she got a lot more than she was expecting.

Mrs. Chavez gave birth to the three boys and two girls early Tuesday morning at McAllen Medical Center, where doctors performed a Caesarean section.

The 28-year-old Reynosa, Mexico, resident said her doctor told her she might have twins, but she never suspected there were three more.

"They told me two," the surprised mother said Tuesday in Spanish.

The babies, whom hospital officials were calling "Babies A through E," were listed in stable condition Tuesday.

"They're fine, thanks to God," Mrs. Chavez said.

Her 41-year-old husband, Baldemar Chavez, was working in Mexico, and unavailable for comment.

She was visiting her parents in the Lower Rio Grande Valley city of Pharr on Monday when the labor process started, said Dr. John Garcia, the attending physician.

The girls were born first, Garcia said.

"We delivered both and then I said, 'Wait everybody here's another one,'" Garcia said, adding that neonatologist Ramiro Caballero "let out an exclamation point which I will not repeat."

"And then we told him we had four, then we had five and it was really exciting," Garcia said.

The doctor had examined Mrs. Chavez three times before, and told her she probably would have twins.

He said she had not taken fertility drugs, which often are associated with multiple births.

The babies' weights ranged from two pounds, three ounces to three pounds, said hospital spokeswoman Nelda Hernandez.

"A few years back, these babies would have had a poor chance of survival, but now with the neonatology advances, these babies have an excellent chance," Garcia said.

Mrs. Chavez said she and her husband have one other child, a 4-year-old girl.

When asked if she planned to have any more children, she answered with an emphatic, "No."

Hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

As a travel agent, I have compiled a few travel packing tips which I would love to share.

To prevent last-minute headaches and extra weight, keep sample-size toiletries in suitcases at all times.

Pack a clothes steamer — it is much lighter than an iron. To prevent soiling of clothing, pack shoes in individual cotton drawstring bags (very simple to make). To avoid overpacking, lay out each day's outfit and pack outfits in layers. Some clothes do not wrinkle if they are rolled instead of folded (e.g. sweaters, jeans). Pack suits in dry-cleaner bags to prevent wrinkling.

These are just a few, but I hope that you will find them helpful. — Debbie Besterman, Roswell, N. M.

You are travel savvy and I'm sure these hints will help all travelers.

One of my favorite travel hints is to always pack make-up, medicine and valuables and carry them on the plane with you in case your baggage doesn't make it. — Heloise

CHRISTMAS THOUGHT
Dear Heloise: Christmas is around the corner and I have a suggestion for other mothers with married children.

Give as gifts those valuable tablecloths, quilts, handmade bedspreads, vases, etc. which you haven't used for years.

The person you would most likely wish to have a particular item may never get it after you are gone. Money is easier to divide than your valuables. — Miriam, Boulder, Colo.

SOAP SACK

Dear Heloise: Here is another use for the marvelous nylon net.

Make a small sack by sewing around the net with the sewing machine. All the small soap scraps fit into it. You can use it to wash hands, or as my daughter tells me it also works well on grimy little knees.

A little larger size works fine with bath soap — no more squirting out of your hands. — Bon, Arlington, Va.

CHECKBOOK ADDRESS

Dear Heloise: I have a tip for those who have a checkbook and have their name and address printed on them.

As I don't use all the deposit slips, I cut my name and address from those left over when I change checkbooks and use them when someone asks for my address. It's a great convenience and saves time looking for a pen and paper to write on. Goes over big! — Velma Grutill, Livermore, Calif.

In eighth inning of game one of regional playoff

Herd defeats Everman, 7-6, on wild pitch

By GARY CHRISTENSEN
Sports Editor

A masterful pitching effort by Jason Scott in the late innings, coupled with some patient and determined Hereford Whiteface batters in the seventh and extra innings, powered Hereford to a 7-6 victory over Everman Tuesday in game one of the regional playoff series.

The game began as a home run derby but was decided on a wild pitch. Keith Brown, who had doubled with one out in the bottom of the eighth inning, scored on the wild pitch — the second pitch to Rodney McCracken with two outs.

Scott struck out the side in the top of the eighth inning. He allowed only one hit after falling behind 6-4 in the fourth inning, and walked only two batters in the last four innings.

"You ought to win those kind of games," Hereford Coach T.R. Sartor said. "We just kept coming. We just never, never gave up."

Game two of the regional series is scheduled at 2 p.m. Saturday at Hunter Field at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene. A third game, if necessary, will be played immediately after game two.

Hereford, now 24-3 for the season, rallied to tie the game at 6-6 in the bottom of the seventh inning. Robby Collier singled with one out, Michael Phibbs was hit on the head by a pitch, and Rodney McCracken singled to load the bases.

Roger McCracken, who hit a three-run homer over the left centerfield fence in the first inning, stroked an RBI single to bring the Herd within one run of the Bulldogs, 6-5.

James Hernandez hit a fly ball deep into the left field corner. Whiteface baserunners had to hold at their respective bases, since it appeared the ball might be caught.

But the ball landed behind the outfielder. Collier easily scored from third base to tie the game, 6-6, but Everman successfully threw to the catcher who tagged out Rodney McCracken attempting to score. That was out No. 3 and the game went into extra innings.

Jason Scott, who hit a bases-empty home run over the left field fence in the second inning for a 4-2 Hereford lead, overpowered the Bulldog opponents in the top of the eighth for three of his 10 strikeouts in the game.

Scott allowed eight hits and walked four batters in winning his 11th game of the season against one defeat.

After Brown doubled with one out in the eighth inning, Everman decided to set up a double play possibility by intentionally walking Scott, to pitch to Collier.

Collier walked on four straight pitches, loading the bases. Later, with two outs, the wild pitch was thrown and the speedster Brown raced home with the winning run.

The Whitefaces had 12 hits in the game, including three doubles and two home runs.

Everman gained a 2-0 lead in the top of the first inning on a home run over the left centerfield fence. The homer came one out after a double was hit.

Collier led off the bottom of the first inning with a double. Michael Phibbs walked, and Roger McCracken blasted his three-run homer. McCracken, who also hit a home run in the bi-district series against Pecos, has four home runs and 33 runs; batted in.

McCracken's RBI total is now third on the team to Hernandez's 40 and Collier's 36 RBIs.

Scott's home run was his first of the year for a Hereford team that has hit 24 home runs in 27 games.

Everman, trailing 4-2 after Scott's home run in the second inning, cut the Whiteface lead to 4-3 with a double and RBI single in the third inning.

Scott's only inning of control problems was in the fourth, when he walked the first two Bulldog batters. A forceout at third base resulted in out No. 1 of the inning, but an RBI single tied the game and a two-run double gave Everman its 6-4 lead.

The double was a fly ball which dropped between Herd centerfielder Rodney McCracken and infielders Russell Backus and Ross Torres.

Hereford had one baserunner in the fifth inning and also in the sixth inning but failed to score.

Robby Collier and Roger McCracken each had three hits in the game. Two of Collier's hits were doubles, giving him 12 for the season, most on the Whiteface team.

Among the great defensive plays by the Whitefaces was first baseman Derrell Page snaring a line-drive grounder directly at the first base bag for out No. 3 in the third inning. Shortstop Russell Backus stopped hard-hit ground balls in the second and fifth innings to prevent possible extra-base hits, holding the hits to singles.

In the seventh inning, Michael Phibbs caught a fly ball deep in right field for the second out, and catcher Collier spotted a baserunner straying off first base and threw to Page who tagged out the runner to end the inning.

For L.A. Lakers vs. Dallas

Riley's 'big purge' worked

By JOHN NADEL
AP Sports Writer
INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Coach Pat Riley tried the "big purge," and it worked to perfection for the Los Angeles Lakers against Dallas in the opening game of the NBA Western Conference finals. His strategy entering Game 2 against the Mavericks was altogether different. After the Lakers beat Utah 109-98 Saturday in the seventh and deciding game of a surprisingly rugged second-round playoff series, Riley scheduled a practice session Sunday, a day before the first game against Dallas. But early in the day, he changed his mind, giving the team Sunday off. There was no practice, no meeting, no speeches, no nothing. "I wanted to purge the Utah thing, let them clean their minds," Riley said. "We had a good walk-through in the morning (Monday) and another one (before the game)."

The Lakers certainly didn't seem to have Utah on their minds Monday night as they overpowered the Mavericks 113-98 to take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven conference finals. Worthy led the way with 28 points. Game 2 will be played tonight, beginning at 11 p.m. EDT. The series then shifts to Dallas for Games 3 and 4 Friday night and Sunday afternoon. To prepare for tonight's game, the Lakers went through a two-hour practice Tuesday. "Dallas will be better in Game 2," Riley said. "I want my players to get some rest and then to be disciplined and only think about Dallas. It's easy to get distracted. We can't assume it will be easy at home. We really have to take care of business on our own floor." While Riley wanted the Lakers to forget about Utah before Monday night's game, he stressed afterward that he wants them to remember what happened against the Jazz in Game 2 of that series when they take the floor tonight. "Only five minutes after the game (Monday night), Riley already had reminded us of Game 2 in the Utah series," Lakers guard Magic Johnson said. "We won't take them (the Mavericks) too lightly. We'll be ready." After rolling past Utah 110-91 in the opener of their series against the Jazz, the Lakers dropped a 101-97 decision at the Forum in Game 2. Los Angeles then lost the third game before winning three of the final four. Roy Tarpley, who had 18 points and 20 rebounds for the Mavericks on Monday night, expressed confidence concerning Game 2 and the rest of the series. "We also lost the first game to Denver," Tarpley said, referring to the second-round series won by the Mavericks 4-2. "We'll have to come out and be aggressive and just put two good halves together. We saw how Utah pounded and ran, and we feel we can do the same."

Safe at second with a double

Celtics, Pistons face new challenge — each other

By HOWARD ULMAN
AP Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics and Detroit Pistons, both winners of their first two NBA playoff series, face a new challenge tonight — each other. Lessons learned against previous opponents go only so far. Different teams bring different skills, styles and obstacles. In the Eastern Conference semifinals, Boston faced Atlanta's Dominique Wilkins and Detroit faced Chicago's Michael Jordan. In the best-of-seven conference finals starting tonight, Boston will focus on Adrian Dantley and Isiah Thomas, while Detroit has a much broader task. "Now we've got to defend five guys, not one or two, and they're all bigger than we are," Pistons' coach Chuck Daly said. Boston still has an offensive-minded forward to worry about but can't play Dantley, the Pistons' leading scorer in four of their six games against the Celtics this season, the way it did Wilkins. "The one thing Adrian can't do that Dominique does so well is jump and it's so much harder to guard against a guy that can just jump over you every time," Boston's Larry Bird said. "Against Adrian, what we have to do is just try to double him up, get the ball out of his hands as much as possible and not let him go to the (foul) line." "He's primarily a driver, while Dominique is both a driver and an outside shooter," Boston forward Kevin McHale said. With guards Thomas, Joe Dumars and Vinnie Johnson, "Detroit is very capable of hitting the outside shot. That's where their strengths are," Bird said. "In the playoffs, you have to make them beat you from outside," Boston guard Jim Paxson said. Detroit also figures to use that strategy rather than allow Boston to get the ball near the basket to Bird, McHale and Robert Parish. The back condition that has hampered forward Ricky Mahorn could hurt the Pistons' inside defense. "We need his defensive presence without fouls in the low post," Daly said. Mahorn said he would play. "I don't spend time worrying about Ricky Mahorn or Ricky Mahorn's back," McHale said. "I just worry about playing basketball."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Knot's Landing" star Michele Lee teamed up with other celebrities and safety representatives to strap what they called the world's largest seat belt around the landmark Hollywood sign.

The 400-by-10-foot strap was fastened with a symbolic click around the 55-foot high letters Monday to kick off Buckle Up America! Week. Promoters hope drivers below will get the idea.

Miss Lee, chairwoman of the Committee for Safety Belt Awareness for the Entertainment Industries Council, was joined at the ceremony by National Highway Traffic Safety Administrator Diane Steed and members of the American Coalition for Traffic Safety.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Bette Davis, who left Los Angeles as filming was beginning on "Wicked Stepmother," is due back on the set this week, says the movie's producer-director.

"Everything's amicable. She's coming back," Larry Cohen said. Patience is the key to working with Miss Davis, whose comings-and-goings on the set have created a stir, Cohen said last week.

"She's 80 and you have to be patient with her because you do get a great performance and it is Bette Davis," Cohen said.

"It was basically a health problem. If you're not feeling well and things are bothering you — like dental problems — it's hard to work. Now that that's been taken care of, she's coming back."

ROME (AP) — As 30,000 screaming fans shook the stadium foundations and hundreds of riot police officers stood guard, Michael Jackson opened his European "Bad Tour" with a high-tech show of song, sound, light and magic.

Amid dancing spotlights and rising smoke, Jackson appeared like a ghost on the 200-foot-long stage of the Flaminio soccer stadium for the start of Monday night's two-hour concert.

Wearing black from head to toe, he launched into "Wanna Be Startin' Somethin'" and followed with a string of his hits, including "Billie Jean," "Human Nature," "Thriller," "Heartbreak Hotel," "Bad," "Can't Stop Loving You" and "The Way You Make Me Feel."

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Gov. Rose Mofford suffered a mild concussion in a fall from a rostrum, but told state lawmakers that she's "not out for the season."

Dr. Timothy Harrington, a neurosurgeon at St. Joseph's Hospital, diagnosed the mild concussion, Mrs. Mofford's spokeswoman, Vada Manager, said Monday. Mrs. Mofford also complained of pain in her right wrist and shoulder, but apparently there are no broken bones, the spokeswoman said.

She will work at home this week, Manager said.

The governor said in a statement: "Rose Mofford took some pretty hard spills during her years playing softball and basketball. Please tell my teammates in the Legislature that I'm not out for the season."

Mrs. Mofford fell 1 to 2 feet from a rostrum during an anti-drug meeting in Yuma on Sunday night and then gaily went on to joke about the fall and give her talk.

Her chair was accidentally knocked off the platform by Gene Stallings, head coach of the Phoenix Cardinals of the National Football League, who was returning to his chair after a brief talk. Stallings also fell, but was uninjured.

NEW YORK (AP) — Author Kurt Vonnegut says he has a method for reading should-read books — those books considered important or written by an acquaintance — as opposed to those he really wants to read.

Vonnegut, author of "Slaughterhouse-Five," "Cat's Cradle" and "Bluebeard," said he dips into a few pages or chapters of such a book, puts it down, reads another book and eventually returns to the first one, which he refers to as a "conscience book."

For those books he really wants to read, his pattern is to consume them from beginning to end. If he discovers such a book doesn't really interest him after all, he quits, feeling no obligation to finish it, he said.

"I assume people do the same to my books," he said in an interview in the New York Times Sunday.

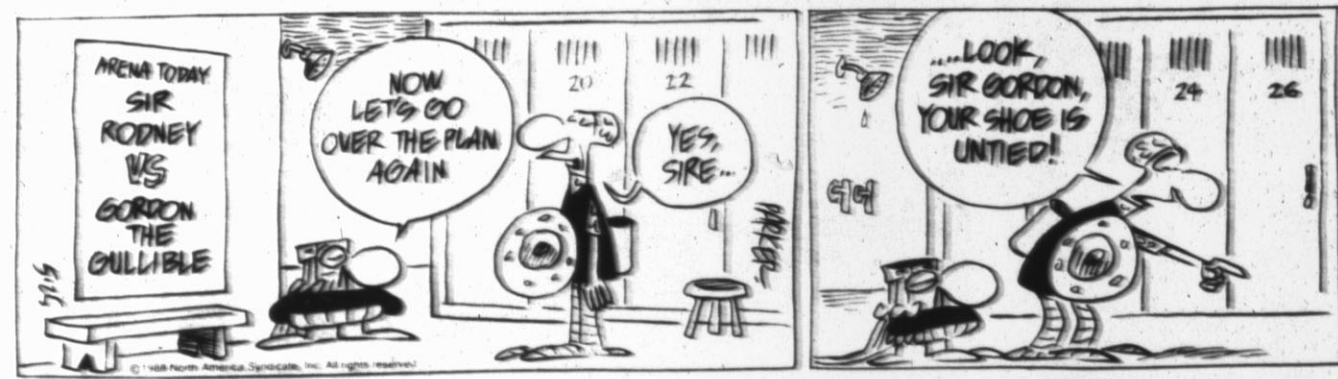

The rural to urban shift that has taken place over many decades in the industrialized countries has happened in only a generation in Latin America, says the Inter-American Development Bank. Since 1960, Latin America's urban labor force jumped from 46 percent to around 70 percent of the total. Its annual rate of increase from 1960 to 1980 was 4 percent, as compared to 2.5 percent for the total labor force.

Dinner guests arrive

A reception-dinner was held for the state president of CattleWomen and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Walker, center, Friday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Witherspoon. The honored couple are shown greeting guests, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Keeling, at left, and Mr. and Mrs. Chip Guseman. During the evening's festivities, 4-H method demonstrations were presented on beef and beef by-products to the approximately 75 people in attendance.

Odom presides at council meeting

Members of the Deaf Smith County Extension Council met Monday in the library's Heritage Room with Carol Odom, chairman, presiding during the business session.

The opening exercise was given by Sherri Blackwell of Draper Club who read an amusing article by Art Buckwald on wrong telephone numbers.

In the absence of Mary Carter, Johnny Messer reported that the recent meal catered to the ladies of Avenue Baptist Church was successful. Also, county extension agent, Beverly Harder, reminded the group to bring their cooker tops to the extension office to have gages tested.

Harder told of the eating and exercise seminar planned and the Health Fair which has been scheduled Oct. 25. In conjunction with the fair, the extension council will sponsor a poster contest which will be open to all students from K-5 through eighth grades.

It was decided that the Extension Council will have a float and a booth during the Town 'n' Country Jubilee Aug. 13.

Johnnie Messer was elected T.E.H.A. Chairman and delegates for the state meeting in September include Gayle Carter, Carol Odom, and Maudette Smith. First alternate is Sherri Blackwell, second, Edith Higgins; and third, Nell Pope.

The presidents' reports on all extension club activities since Jan. 1 were presented. There were eight clubs represented at the meeting with five having 100 percent attendance.

Those present included Helen Caraway, Lozelle Fowler, Martha Lueb, Naomi Brisendin, Delores Brorman, Sherre Blackwell, Johnnie Messer, Carmen Rickman, Byrdie D. Fellers, Audrey Rusher, Mariellen Homfeld, Marcie Ginn, Carol Odom, Maudette Smith, Grace Covington, Beverly Harder and guest, Vina Cole.

FACING OURSELVES

By Bob Wear

Pretending to be something we are not is one of the most hurtful things we can do. It involves the refusal to 'face ourselves', and causes about as much difficulty as any one other faulty human practice. Until we do 'face ourselves' we will be off course, and, most of the time, off balance.

In facing ourselves, we must be honest; and make this a benevolent honesty. It is not harsh and downgrading and censorious, but is kind and uplifting and charitable. We can see us as we are, we can see the flaws, shortcomings, and weaknesses; but, looking as we should, we can see the great possibilities for improvement. There will be some good points, we can resolve to improve what can be improved, and accept graciously what cannot be changed.

When we face ourselves, we must be just as discerning as we can be. If we are not doing well with personal obligations and opportunities; school work, our job, improvement or self, associations with others, or in some other important ways. Are we blaming other folk; or do we say that we just don't have time; or perhaps some other excuse? Perhaps we are not working diligently; not applying ourselves; not really doing our best. It is time to be honest, and resolve to give ourselves a better chance.

One of the tricks many people play on themselves is in the substitutions, they make. Instead of taking care of our study, our work of first concern, etc., we neglect these primary obligations, and choose something else 'good' to do, and use this as an excuse for not having done what should have been done. Thus, the 'good' becomes the enemy of the 'best', and we will soon have everything in a mess. In 'facing ourselves', we must be able to see this, and correct it.

We are of value, of real worth, and we must not sell ourselves short. This means that we can make promises that we can keep; meet our rightful obligations; take good care of our own business; and move about with good attitudes, and a general good feeling about ourselves and others.

Shower honors bride

A pre-nuptial bridal shower honored Mrs. Todd Carlson, the former Terese Dawson, recently at Temple Baptist Church. The bridal couple were wed May 23.

Crystal Kelley invited guests to register.

Receiving guests with the honoree were her mother, Rosene Dawson; her grandmothers, Dollie Dawson and Rosa Mae Lance; and her sisters-in-law, Nora Dawson, Lynn Dawson and Kim Dawson. They were presented pastel corsages by the hostesses.

Punch, coffee, sandwiches, fresh fruit, mints and cookies were served by Ruby Williams, Judy Bullard and Arliss Stewart. The table, which was covered with an aqua and baby blue cloth, was centered by an arrangement of silk flowers, English ivy and baby's breath. Adorning it were silver appointments and pastel napkins.

A vacuum cleaner was given by the hostesses; Judy Bullard, Denise Andrews, Wilma Bryan, Glenda Jesko, Eva Lookingbill, Doris Dobbs, Nicky Walser, Ellen Thames, Mildred Welch, Keta Hargrove, Arliss Stewart, Bobbie Starky and Ruby Williams.

Social Security

WAIT IF CHECK IS LATE

A person whose Social Security check does not arrive on the day it is expected should wait for two more mail deliveries before contacting the Amarillo Social Security office, Jim Talbot, Social Security manager, in Amarillo, Tx. said recently.

This will take care of a good share of delayed checks. If the check still has not arrived after two days, the people at the Amarillo office can begin action.

The most common cause of failure to receive a check is failure to report a change of address. Many people fail to notify Social Security when they move, even though they rely on their Social Security checks as their primary source of income.

Some people think it is enough to report their change of address to the post office. The post office, however, will forward mail to the person's new address for just 1 year. After that they will send the check back to the U.S. Treasury.

If the person's check is returned and the new address provided, it usually takes about 4 or 5 days for a new check to be sent. If the check was not returned, a stop order will be put on it and the matter will be transferred to Washington, D.C. to see if the check has been cashed.

If it has not been cashed, a new check will be sent right away. This process can take up to 3 weeks. If it has been cashed, a new check cannot be sent until the person who cashed the check is identified.

Even though a person's check is deposited directly into his or her account in a financial institution, he or she should notify Social Security of any change in address.

More information about Social Security checks can be obtained at the Amarillo, Tx. Social Security office, located at 3601 W. 15th, Suite 16, Amarillo, Tx. The telephone number is (806)376-2241.

Valdez recipient of Delta Kappa Gamma scholarship

At their last meeting of the year held May 16, Delta Xi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma International voted to present their Grant-in-Aid to Violeta Valdez. Miss Valdez is presently a senior at West Texas State University, majoring in elementary education with bi-lingual certification. She is the daughter of Sam and Vicki Valdez.

Carole McGilvary, president of Delta Xi Chapter, presented the check to her in the amount of $300 to assist her in her endeavor. One of the outstanding contributions of Delta Kappa Gamma has been the encouragement of women educators in their professional growth and development. Delta Xi Chapter maintains a local scholarship fund which is given in the form of a Grant-in-Aid each year to a senior girl majoring in education.

In addition, funds are contributed toward scholarships on both the state and international levels for active members of Delta Kappa, who are working on their master's or doctoral degree. The Society awarded its first $1,000 Scholarship in 1940. At present, 22 scholarships of $3,500 each are awarded annually to assist members in pursuing graduate study.

WILD LEMURS THREATENED
DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Wild lemurs live only on Madagascar and a few nearby islands.

They are threatened by a growing human population, which has topped 9 billion. Most are poor farmers who destroy the habitat as they eke out a living planting crops and grazing cattle.

Since men arrived on the scene from the Polynesian islands less than 2,000 years ago, 14 lemur species have become extinct. Madagascar, which is slightly smaller than Texas, lies 250 miles off the southeast coast of Africa in the Indian Ocean.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like to comment on the recent letters and news articles concerning the U.S. Postal Service.

There is a city named "Lafayette" in 17 states. Similar names such as La Follette and Fayette are also listed in numerous states. However, Lafayette, Ind., is the only city with ZIP code 47901. While several cities may share identical or similar names, each has its own unique ZIP code.

An incorrect or illegible ZIP code may result in your letter being misdirected 3,000 miles from its intended destination. For example, if your "O" looks like a "9," the ZIP code 94726 becomes 94725 instead of going to Maine, your letter will go to California.

The reasons for undeliverable mail are numerous: no apartment number, illegible handwriting, wrong address, no forwarding order filed if the person has moved, etc. Apartment numbers are especially important. With 50 or so people living in a building, the letter carrier needs to know the apartment you want your letters delivered to.

It is no small job moving the U.S. mail. The Lafayette post office employs clerks and mail handlers who are on the job 24 hours a day, seven days a week. They sort, load and unload the mail. Letter carriers begin at 6 a.m. sorting the mail for their routes. When you see your carrier at your front door, you are seeing the final step in a multi-detailed delivery system.

The U.S. Postal Service is not perfect. The reason you hear of the letter that took five or 10 days to get from Chicago to New York is because it is an uncommon occurrence. Did you know that the post office delivers over 90 percent of the mail in one to three days? That's a pretty remarkable record, as I see it.—J.B., West Lafayette, Ind. 47906.

DEAR J.B.: On the whole I would agree that the U.S. Postal Service does an extremely good job, but a handful of incompetent department heads, depot managers and truck drivers can and do give the entire system a bad name.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I need your help. My husband is sleeping with my best friend. It is getting so that he spends more time at her house than at home.

I've talked to her about this, and she says she is very lonely and that my husband is not in love with her, nor is she in love with him. She says she needs a man in her life and he is helping her out. I spend a lot of time crying.

We have been married 22 years and have six kids, four are still at home. Everyone tells me to throw him out, but financially I can't make it alone and emotionally I'm a mess. He has slept at my friend's house 10 nights out of the last 16, and he can't understand why I'm moody. He says that as long as he doesn't want a divorce I shouldn't complain.

I've been married to this man more than half my life, and even though he makes me as mad as the dickens, he is still my husband and I love him. Please give me some help. I don't know which way to go.—Last and Confused in Upstate N.Y.

DEAR UPSTATE: You need to get some counseling and find out why you are willing to be treated like dirt. Obviously your husband doesn't care about your feelings nor does he seem to have any guilt about ignoring his children.

Talking this out with a trained professional will give you some insight and help you decide what to do. I wish you luck. And P.S., honey, get a new "best friend."

How much do you know about pot, cocaine, LSD, PCP, crack, speed and downers? Think you can handle them? For up-to-the minute information on drugs, write for Ann Landers' newly revised booklet, "The Lowdown on Dope." Send $3 plus a self-addressed, stamped No. 10 envelope (45 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.
