County okays work for uninsured trustees

By ANDREA HOOTEN
Staff Writer

Entrusting county inmates with odd jobs has saved money for Deaf Smith County, but when a trustee was hurt while lifting sand in June, county commissioners asked about insurance for trustees.

But trustee insurance seems to be non-existent, so at its meeting Monday the commissioners court decided to continue using the trustees despite the risk of having no medical insurance to cover future injuries.

"I understand there's an exposure here, but I think there'll be worse problems if everyone just sits in the jail," said County Judge Tom Simons. "These trustees work for the county and some even help out at the city and they benefit us all."

Sheriff Joe Brown said trustees paint, wax floors, unload merchandise, wash patrol cars, cook in the jail and perform other janitorial duties in the courthouse.

"We'd either have to get more jailers or more maintenance people to do all these things and that would just end up costing us (county) more money," said Brown.

After a trustee suffered a hernia in June from lifting a 100-pound sack of sand, the county paid about $2,200 for his medical bills.

This incident was the first of its kind according to Shirley Wheeler, a sheriff's officer, who said that in her seven years with the county no other trustees hurt themselves while working.

Simons said that the state attorney general's office and the Texas Association of Counties have never certified that medical coverage for trustees exists.

"From what I've heard, there is no coverage unless it turns into a liability situation," Simons said. "And the guys in Austin said even if we did get the coverage it would probably be cost prohibitive."

The commissioners voted to use $9,011 from the juvenile retention home fund to pay for part-time help in the juvenile probation office.

Colleen Duffy, juvenile probation officer, requested that the money be taken from the state funds to support the added help through September 1989.

"We have close to 50 kids on probation right now. Lou (Serrano, part-time help) isn't out there arresting kids, but he has his finger on the pulse of what's going on with these kids. I think we'd be doing the county a disservice by not transferring the money," said Duffy.

Duffy explained that the part-time help would curtail juvenile crime and decrease the county's need to use juvenile shelters in Amarillo and Lubbock, which often cost $75 a day.

In other action, the commissioners awarded computer bids to Quality Computer Service and Search Group for the district attorney's new computer system.

Quality Computer Service bid $35,782 for the hardware and Search Group bid $495 for the software including an extra $1,500 to install and train.

A grant from the Department of Justice will pay for half of the system's cost. The county will pay one-fourth, and money from the check collection fund paying one-fourth.

Concerning the county's shooting range, Brown said a new policy was installed on July 12 stating that only commissioned law enforcement officers may use the range and the key must be picked up at the sheriff's dispatch office.

Lubbock church readies for big weekend crowds

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — A Catholic church where parishioners have reported receiving messages from the Virgin Mary is mobilizing in preparation for a traditional feast day celebration that is expected to draw thousands.

In the reported messages, which three parishioners claim they receive during Monday night recitations of the rosary, have come predictions that 20,000 people will flock on Aug. 15 to St. John Neumann Church, where Mary will perform healings and miracles.

Almost 1,200 people attended Monday night's service, where the "messages" read aloud following the rosary service told worshippers to prepare for the Feast of the Assumption of Mary next Monday.

"Open your hearts to the many blessing that will be given during this next week," read Mike Slate, a retired Air Force officer who has reported receiving the messages since February.

"My son is sending many pilgrims who are searching for truth, searching for the light."

Slate, along with Mary Constancio and Theresa Werner, kneel each Monday night at the altar, scribbling notes on yellow pads as worshippers recite the rosary.

Crowds at the service, which lasts for more than four hours, have grown from a handful into hundreds since February. For the past two weeks, the service has been shown on closed circuit television to viewers who sit in the church's courtyard, unable to fit in the 850-seat sanctuary.

Lubbock Bishop Michael Sheehan has expressed reservations about the message reports, reminding worshippers that until the events at St. John Neumann can be investigated by church officials, they do not have the approval of the Catholic Church. Sheehan, who had planned to preside at the church's celebration next Monday, has said he will not attend.

Meanwhile, plans by St. John Neumann pastor Monsignor Joseph James to celebrate the Feast day simply with the Monday night rosary service have grown into a full weekend of worship at the church.

After receiving hundreds of inquiries from across the country about the reported messages and the Aug. 15 service, church officials have scheduled times for confessions all day Saturday and two masses and three rosary services for Sunday.

On Monday, five rosary services are scheduled before the main evening celebration of mass and final rosary service.

Parishioners are opening their homes to visitors and retailers surrounding the church have set aside acres of parking space for the numerous buses, recreational vehicles and cars that will bring worshippers to the church.

Rainfall loud, but light

By JOHN BROOKS

It didn't rain much but it fell in a big hurry this morning in Hereford.

Hereford received .57 inch of rain by 9 a.m. today in the official rain gauge at KPAN. That was the top report in the county, with most of the northern and western sections missing the latest round of showers.

The heaviest rain stayed in almost a straight line from north of Black through Hereford, Dawn and Canyon. J.E. McCabe, who lives east of Dawn, picked up about .35 inch this morning.

Hereford received a light shower Monday evening, then two brief but heavy showers this morning. The first shower struck at about 6 a.m., and another started at about 6:45. Hereford received .42 inch as of 7 a.m. today, and another .15 by 8 a.m.

Most of the area was relatively dry: Northwest Grain at Milo Center had .10 inch; Easter Grain reported .06 inch, and Bootleg and Walcott each had "sprinkles."

The National Weather Service is calling for a 50 percent chance of rain tonight with locally heavy showers possible, and a 30 percent rain probability Wednesday.

The area rains are being set off by a weak cold front bisecting the Panhandle clashing with warm, moist air pumped into the region by a tropical storm in the Pacific Ocean off the coast of Baja California.

There is a wide band of showers along both sides of the front from the Panhandle up to Illinois and Wisconsin.

It was the same front which was responsible for the rainout of the first-ever night game at Chicago's Wrigley Field, and caused heavy rains in parts of Colorado, Kansas and Missouri.

Eights were wild Monday: 8-8-88

DALLAS (AP) — Phil Anders said before he and 87 friends — that's 88 people — ate their hot dogs in section 208 during the eighth inning at Arlington Stadium he hoped the Rangers would get a lucky boost.

The Rangers lost the game but that's only because on 8-8-88 Texas failed to score a corresponding number of runs.

Anders, a fan from Dallas, brought 88 fans together Monday to eat 88 hot dogs at Ranger Stadium and celebrate the fateful date.

And that's not all.

"His plan was to purchase 88 tickets in section 208 and, at precisely 8:08 p.m. CDT, those 88 fans will stand and raise their placards, emblazoned with the number eight," said Chuck Morgan, Texas Rangers' scoreboard operator.

Sure enough, at the designated moment in the second inning, with Rangers designated hitter Larry See at bat, the group stood and raised their numbers and chanted "eight" in unison.

In the eighth inning, the stadium scoreboard made the announcement that Anders' group, "Crazy Eights," was consuming the 88 weiners.

On this crazy date, other folks around the country went eight-wild. Residents of Eighty Eight in southwestern Kentucky, 8.8 miles south of Glasgow, watched a parade, bought souvenirs and ate a commemorative cake — 8 feet, 8 inches long, 8.8 inches wide and 8.8 inches high. A Casper, Wyo., couple planned to wed at 8:08 p.m. Monday.

England "celebriated" the birth of a royal baby at 8:18 p.m. on the eighth day of the eighth month of 1988, tourists "migriated" to the Kentucky town of Eighty Eight, and even mathematicians "appreciated" the chubby numeral.

Buckingham Palace announced Monday that the Duchess of York, wife of Prince Andrew, gave birth to a 8 lb. 12 oz. daughter, their first child, who is fifth in line to the British throne. Mother and child are well, the palace said.

A Palace statement said Andrew, the Duke of York and second son of Queen Elizabeth II, was with his wife, the former Sarah Ferguson, when she was "safely delivered of a daughter at 8:18 p.m. (19:18 GMT) today."

In Hackensack, N.J., Kelli-Lee O'Brien came into the world at 8:08 a.m. EDT Monday weighing 8 pounds, 8 1/2 ounces. Her mother's doctor, making his

More showers likely

Tonight will be cloudy with a 50 percent chance of thunderstorms. Locally heavy rain is possible, with a low tonight near 65. South winds will be 5-15 mph.

Wednesday will be partly cloudy with a 30 percent chance of thunderstorms and a high near 90. South winds will be 10-20 mph.

This morning's low at KPAN was 65 after a high Monday of 92. Altogether, KPAN has received .57 inch of rain.

Babbling Brooks

By JOHN BROOKS
Gee, it's football season. Just as the baseball pennant races are getting uninteresting, here comes football. The Hereford Whitefaces began workouts Monday morning. The Dallas Cowboys have already lost a game, but at least they scored, which is a moral victory after what we've been through the last few years. They were even touchdowns.

Perhaps our crack researcher-sports editor, Gary Christensen, can check and see when the last time was Dallas scored in a game and none of the points came from field goals, or how many times in their history they have scored in games and none of the points came from field goals.

Anyway, I have a season of being a Hereford hollerer, and I'm looking forward to this year.

This desk receives just one heckuva lotta trash about various beauty pageants. A few are what I would call totally legitimate. There must be thousands of pageants. Some are for babies, some are for teens, some are for nudes, some are for men, some are for real, and some are not.

Speaking of beauty pageants, congratulations to Deanna Hobbs, who finished fourth in the Miss Wheatheart pageant. That one's a legitimate pageant. Of all things it, like the Miss Hereford Pageant, concentrates on things like scholarships.

Don't give up, Deanna. You may have another shot in 43 years.

That's when you will be eligible for the Ms. Senior America Pageant. There is a Ms. Senior Texas America, and the winners from all of the states compete for the big crown, Ms. Senior America. The contestants must be 60 or older.

Just thought you might want to know. If you want more information, please rifle through the landfill, because I've thrown the info in the trash.

Gee, it's a darn shame I'll be missing the Republican convention.

I'll be on vacation next week, and you can bet that I won't be watching. I'll do something, anything, out in Arizona to miss it.

There is a chance I'll go rabbit hunting on the desert. Even if it's 125 degrees out there and our sand rail runs out of gas 40 miles from civilization, that beats the heck outta watching George Bush.

eight delivery in his 2-week-old private practice, has eight children.

"Everybody thought they were joking with all the eights coming up," said Jean Werner, head nurse in the delivery unit at Hackensack Medical Center.

The magic of 8-8-88 wasn't lost on the Chinese, whose word for eight, "baat," rhymes with "faat," the Cantonese word for prosperity. They threw lavish parties.

Merchants in Hong Kong used the date to promote everything from Kentucky Fried Chicken to real estate, while Hong Kong gamblers tested their luck in a special lottery with a sweetened jackpot.

Michigan gamblers bought more than 10,520 state Lottery tickets with the 8888 combination, and officials said Connecticut's state lottery sold out its 8888 tickets when sales hit a predetermined limit: $8 million.

Back in Texas, parents planned birthday parties for children turning 8, while some planned eight-day parties. Tascosa National Bank in Amarillo offered 88-day personal certificates of deposit at 8 1/2 percent interest. Minimum deposit? You guessed it: $8,888.

Anders, an advertising executive for Personal Computing magazine, began planning how he was going to celebrate the Day of Eights way back on 7-7-77. Eights are lucky, but he said the date is important because its ilk only comes around once every 11 years.

Unluckily, at Rangers Stadium there are only 80 seats per stadium section and two seats in 208 were already sold. So Anders bought 78 seats in section 208 and 10 in 209.

"But I wish I had known then that the (Chicago) Cubs would have their first night game tonight at Wrigley Field; I would have seen the Cubs," said Anders, 39.

"They are stealing our thunder. But eight is a lucky number, so maybe that will rub off on the Rangers."

Especially if Texas had tied Detroit 8-8, then won 88-8.

Instead, the Tigers won 3-2.

"Maybe for 9-9-99, we can get nine or 99 people, charter a plane and try to attend nine baseball games in one day," he said. "We'll start on the East Coast and end up on the West."

Numerologists said Monday, 8-8-88, was especially lucky for marriage, and thousands of Israeli couples had registered to marry on the date. Reception halls around the country were booked solid, the daily Jerusalem Post reported.

In Eighty Eight, Ky., about 500 well-wishers cheered Tom Accardo and Deborah Muhlbeier, who got married at 8:08 p.m. CDT. The bride carried eight white roses. Their 8 foot, 8 inch-long wedding cake was topped with an "88."

"Our marriage is magical. It's just the icing on the cake and I'm telling you it's thick icing," said Mrs. Accardo, 34. "The biggest part of it is the people of Eighty Eight. The town has been incredible."

The couple had not set a date yet when they learned of the festivities planned in the small farm community of 150 residents, from a television news report in their distant state of Wyoming.

"Deb just looked at me and said, 'Wouldn't that be fun to go in there and get married on 8-8-88 in Eighty Eight, Kentucky?'" recalled Accardo, 29, a salesman.

In attendance at Eighty Eight was Pearl Russie, who drove up to the Eighty Eight Market in her Oldsmobile Delta 88. Her license plate: "ANY 88." As Ms. Russie, 45, explained: "I'm an 88 freak."

Eighty Eight's post office handled 25,000 pieces of mail for people wanting the EIGHTY-EIGHT 8-8-88 cancellation, said Fred Van Fleet, the U.S. Postal Service's area manager.

The day also began the centennial anniversary of the American Mathematical Society based in Providence, R.I.

"Eight is, from a standpoint of pure arithmetic, the second cube, the sixth Fibonacci number, and the sum of the first three digits of pi," wrote former Scientific American magazine columnist Martin Gardner in a news release.

"Applied to the outside world, eight takes on more glamour as the notes of an octave, the arms of an octopus, the eight-cylinder motor, stock market eights, the figure-8 knot, the skater's figure 8, the eight-hour work day, behind the eight ball, old Spanish pieces of eight, and the eighth wonder of the world."

At least until 9-9-99.

New findings lead experts to believe other life exists

BALTIMORE (AP) — Astronomers searching for radio signals from intelligent life beyond the Earth say circumstantial evidence is growing that humankind is not alone in the universe.

Reports of the discovery of new planets and of the presence of complex organic chemicals on comets are "encouraging" Michael J. Klein, manager of NASA's radio search for life, said Monday.

Research announced at the International Astronomical Union's 20th assembly last week showed the discovery of at least 10 planet-like objects in orbit of distant stars. Other studies showed that comets and cosmic dust particles contain the complex organic compounds that are thought to have been the chemical precursors of life.

"That is the circumstantial evidence that life exists elsewhere," Klein said. "We know now that the materials are there. It gives us a good feeling that we are on the right track."

Klein heads a project called the Search for Extraterrestrial Intelligence, or SETI, that is planning to mount an intensified search for radio signals from civilizations that may exist on planets orbiting distant stars.

Programs run by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Harvard University and others have listened for intelligence-directed radio signals for more than 20 years, but only a small fraction of the vast universe and the many radio frequencies that must be monitored actually have been checked.

The Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which is operated by the California Institute of Technology for NASA, has proposed expanding the effort with sophisticated new equipment that would listen to tens of millions of channels at the same time. The equipment would be monitored by a computer capable of identifying signals that could be sent by intelligent life.

Klein said the new equipment would be able to look at 1,000 different stars that are thought to be similar to the Earth's sun, locations that experts believe hold the best chance for the evolution of life.

There also would be "whole sky survey" in many radio frequencies in which every portion of the heavens would be searched systematically.

Searches in the past "have only scratched the surface," said Klein.

The new equipment would be 10 million times more thorough than present equipment, he said, noting, "In the first few minutes, we would be able to match all of the searches that were done before."

But even with the new devices, the job is immense, said Frank Drake, chairman of a SETI committee of the astronomical union and an astronomer at the University of California at Santa Cruz.

"Many people think the project should succeed in the next year or two," he said. "That's probably not going to happen. The universe is so huge and the cosmic haystack so large, it will take us decades."

But Drake added: "The consequences of success are so great that it's worth dealing with the problems."

The theory behind the SETI work is that because there are billions of galaxies, each with billions of stars, the odds are good that the conditions that permitted life to evolve on Earth also exist elsewhere.

Accent on Agriculture

By DENNIS W. NEWTON
County Extension Agent

The drought in parts of Texas and in many sections of the Central United States has surfaced the need for many producers to find adequate forage to supplement cattle during this short grazing period. Producers that need hay for their cattle or that have surplus hay for sale are asked to contact the County Extension Office at 364-3573 or to come by the office on the fourth floor of the Deaf Smith County Courthouse.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is cooperating with the Cooperative Extension Services throughout the nation in maintaining lists of persons that may need hay or those that have hay for sale.

If any producers needs hay please call the County Extension Office and provide the amount and the type of hay desired. The Extension office will provide a list of names of producers throughout the area that have the type and quantity of hay that is needed. Producers can then make contact with the supplier.

Producers that have hay for sale are asked to contact the Extension office and give their name, address, type of hay, quantity in tons, how the hay is packaged, and a current telephone number. Producers are asked to call and update if the hay is sold.

This list will be forwarded weekly to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service headquarters at Texas A&M University and will be made available to producers needing hay throughout the country.

This service is provided at no cost to the buyer or seller. For more information about the program, please call the County Extension Office.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The following piece appeared in the Miami Herald. It was written by Miriam Rosen, who teaches at Coral Gables High School. I believe it is worthy of national exposure and I hope you will print it.—Mrs. C.W.C. of Hialeah Lakes, Fla.

DEAR MRS. C.W.C.: So do I. Here is an edited version. Thanks for sending it on. Miriam Rosen has a great deal to say and she says it extremely well. I wish she would write more often.

A Key Word at Parting: No
The red-and-white button I gave you at school to wear over your heart advises, "Say No to Drugs." I hope you'll do just that.

"No" is a valuable word, one of the most useful in the language. "No" is a word that can shape your life, so begin today to:

Say No to speed. Going fast is not the same as doing things carefully or completely. We put Aesop's tortoise and hare in your education to give you that message. Maybe your driver's ed teacher made an even better point with his movie that blended the law of physics with footage of fatal car accidents.

Say No to hesitancy, mindless loitering along the edges of your dreams. Empty hours and years of wishing won't give you the life you envision. Push forward. Act. Sign up for it. Apply for it. Go for it!

Say No to stereotypes we may have dropped on you by accident. Toss out any and all mind-sets about women, men, children, and what members of various races can achieve. Travel light when it comes to packing assumptions and prejudices. The road will be more scenic and you will be a better companion.

Say No to brutality by recognizing that Rambo is not a figure of grace or fitness. He is a symbol of chaos—one single character in a pantheon of celebrity brutes that elevates the uncouth to an art form.

Say No to sex. Don't close your eyes to the evidence. Promiscuity can lead you on a downward path. An ill-timed pregnancy can curtail a whole life's dream. AIDS has added a new and terrifying dimension to your lives. Delay the sexual aspect of your relationship. You have more to lose than any generation before.

Say No to stopping short. Vow to read a book a week. Don't lose your library card in your rush to acquire a credit card. Fill out your view. There are other sections in the newspaper to read, other magazines on the rack, other bins at the record shop, other stations on the radio including National Public Radio's "All Things Considered." Consider reinventing yourself on a regular basis.

Here, probably, I can pull rank and say: Look, kid, trust me. I'm your English teacher. I'm old. I cried (and laughed and loved and lost and gathered survival skills) in decades you didn't even get it on.

I was busy this year telling you about punctuation and themes of authors long gone. But the biggest message is one I want to slip to you now on this folded sheet of paper. It is this: Take hope with your forever and everywhere.

In mystic tales, wise ones tell young adventurers, "No harm can befall you on the way to a good deed."

Keep Yes in your heart, but have No ready, too. You will need it. All you'll have to do is figure out which word goes where.

Drugs are everywhere. They're easy to get, easy to use and even easier to get hooked on. If you have questions about drugs and drug use, Ann Landers' newly revised booklet, "The Lowdown on Dope," will give you the answers. Send $3 plus a self-addressed, stamped business-size envelope (45 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

MISS HEREFORD DEANNA HOBBS
...fourth runner-up in Miss Wheatheart Pageant

Hereford teen places in Perryton pageant

Deanna Hobbs was selected 4th runnerup during Saturday night's Miss Wheatheart of the Nation Scholarship Pageant held in Perryton.

Representing Hereford as Miss Hereford 1988, Hobbs competed with 13 other Panhandle contestants. The annual pageant featured an interview with judges as well as talent, evening gown, and swimsuit competitions and an impromptu question onstage by judges.

Winning the pageant and earning a trip to the July 1989 Miss Texas Pageant was Valerie Malone of Pampa, a student at Texas Tech University. As 4th runnerup, Hobbs received a plaque and $500 tuition scholarship from South Plains College at Levelland, which she plans to attend this fall. She is the daughter of Roy and Trudy Hobbs of 618 Ave. I.

"Deanna showed a lot of poise at the Miss Wheatheart Pageant as she was a 17-year-old competing among 21-year-olds," said Donna West, chairman of the Miss Hereford Scholarship Pageant Committee of the Women's Division of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce. West accompanied Hobbs to the Perryton competition and noted that "all of Hereford can be proud of Deanna's representation."

Horton's record round is eight under par. Horton shot his first round of 64 at Pitman Municipal Golf Course in 1979. He and Salinas equaled that record several times.

Here is how Horton shot his record round:

"Snapping in the Rain" is one way to describe Monday night's Herd football practice

Herd rated 2nd in 1-4A, 27th in state

The Hereford Whitefaces are ranked second in their district and 27th in the state in class 4A in the pre-season rankings of the Harris Rating System.

Hereford is ranked with 173 points, down three points from last season. Lubbock Estacado is picked to win the District 1-4A title, with 177 rating points. Estacado is ranked 20th in the state.

In the Harris Rating System's pre-season publication, "Texas Schoolboy Football Forecast 1988," the paragraph on the Whitefaces reads, "17 letterman, 3 offensive, 3 defensive starters. Hereford, like Estacado, was absent from postseason play last year."

"The Whitefaces are usually a team that is well-adapted to any and all situations. The school has been this way for years. A return to the playoffs will be seen in '88. Little weaker."

The predicted order of finish in District 1-4A, behind Estacado and Hereford, is: Borger, Frenship, Lubbock Dunbar, Levelland, Dumas, Randall and Pampa.

"As usually, Estacado and Hereford loom as the teams to beat," the pre-season forecast reads. "But you never know about Borger. The Bulldogs lay back for that one important upset. Frenship could be better than rated. So the top two won't necessarily have it their way."

The Harris Rating System's list of outstanding players from the district includes Whiteface players Keith Brown, a running back; Brad Smith, a defensive end; and Kyle Andrews, a running back.

West Orange-Stark and Kerrville Tivy are picked as the top two teams in the state, with West Orange-Stark predicted to defeat Tivy in the state semifinals and to beat Henderson in the finals. The other semifinal prediction is Henderson over Sweetwater.

Other state champion picks are Houston Yates in class 5A, Cuero in class 3A, Corrigan-Camden in class 2A and Munday in class A.

What Does a typical Brand Reader Look Like?

That's difficult to say because you are as different as your substantial number would imply! You are one of the 4,100 households we're invited to every evening. That's quite a few. According to the most recent census, our township has slightly less than 5000 households.

Your vocation is part of a broad spectrum as well - white collar, blue collar, owners, managers, cowboys, teachers, housewives, students and professional.

Yet, with all your individual complexities, your interest in local issues and news gives you and other readers a common bond which is separated only by your level of curiosity.

You are an informed, intelligent and often vocal audience, and we're happy to be a part of your household every evening!

Cubs' fans saw beginning of history, but not 'the end'

By WILLIAM C. HIDLAY
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The bright lights of night baseball lit up Wrigley Field for the first time in 74 years, but the Chicago Cubs' neighbors felt their moment in history was too short.

"I feel like we saw the beginning of history being made, but we didn't get to see the end," lawyer Donald Kurasch said Monday night, as a heavy rain postponed Wrigley's first night game, between the Cubs and the Philadelphia Phillies.

"It's a disappointment," Kurasch said.

An evening of beer drinking and merry making under blue skies, white clouds and 99-degree heat turned cool, gloomy and sopping wet in the bottom of the fourth inning, with the Cubs leading the Phillies 3-1.

Two hours after 91-year-old Cubs fan Harry Grossman threw the switch that turned on the towering Wrigley Field lights, the storm clouds took over. Thunder cracked, lightning bolts lit up the sky, and the rain poured ...

And poured ... And poured.

The game was postponed two hours, 10 minutes later, delaying Wrigley's first official night game until tonight's contest between the Cubs and New York Mets.

"This is typical — it doesn't rain all summer long and then on the first night game, it has to rain," said Michael Baron, 27, an engineer.

Ironically, the first night game ever scheduled in major league baseball was rained out. The Phillies and Reds had to wait an extra day before playing under the lights at Cincinnati's Crosley Field on May 24, 1935.

Mike Quigley, a neighborhood activist who led the fight against night games at Wrigley, saw irony, too, as he thought about how Cubs fans have endured seemingly endless disappointments, like the times their team blew potential championships in 1969 and 1984.

"It's somewhat symptomatic of the long-suffering Cubs fan," Quigley said as he stood under Wrigley's front overhang, watching it rain. "It's kind of like the fates are against them."

Thongs filled the Wrigleyville neighborhood early, many chugging cans of beer. An army of vendors hawked commemorative T-shirts for up to $15 apiece. And some neighborhood residents prepared for the worst, organizing safety patrols to watch for drunkenness and vandalism.

Paula Torres, 62, a retired bank loan coordinator, sat on the stoop in front of the Cubby Bear Lounge across from Wrigley's main entrance, soaking up the sun and scene.

"I think it's beautiful. It seems like everybody's in a good mood despite the heat. I haven't seen a crabby face yet," she said.

But homeowners like Shirley Habbe, 56, who has lived less than a block from Wrigley's main entrance for 20 years, weren't smiling.

"I never minded the day games because it's daylight and you can see what the people are doing, but I mind the night games," she said. "In the night ... it's going to be a mess ... There'll be a lot more drinking."

Indeed, as day darkened into night, parts of the Wrigleyville neighborhood began resembling a Mardi Gras-style beer party.

The Chicago police were prepared with a force of 172 officers, including mounted patrols and canine units, but few problems materialized.

Cornelius wins shot put event at TAAF state meet

Ten-year-old Hereford athlete Danielle Cornelius won the bantam girls' shot put event last Friday and Saturday in the state TAAF track meet in College Station.

Cornelius' winning effort was 21 feet, 8 3/4 inches. The first place distance in the same event in the 1987 state meet was 19 feet, 11 1/2 inches.

The Texas Amateur Athletic Federation state track meet was part of the 1988 Pepsi Games of Texas and was held at Olsen Field at Texas A&M University.

The daughter of Donnie and Darlene Cornelius, Danielle was one of 2,505 competitors in the meet.

Meet officials expected about 1,500 to 2,000 entrants. More than 1,400 registered for divisions for ages 10 and under, 11 to 12, and 13 to 14, and more than 1,100 registered for the divisions for the 15 to 16, 17 to 18, and 19 and older divisions.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

AUSTIN — More and more people these days share our concern about the state of Texas' criminal justice system, and there is a growing consensus in Texas that changes in the system cannot be delayed.

James Lynaugh, Texas Department of Corrections director, is the latest to voice concerns about the system. Speaking recently to the Texas Daily Newspaper Association, Lynaugh painted a very bleak picture of the existing system. "The criminal justice system in Texas is not working," Lynaugh told the journalists. "In my opinion, it's broke. We lack an overall goal, and without an overall goal, planning for growth is difficult."

Lynaugh said the symptoms of the system's failure are obvious. Texas prisons are crowded to the breaking point, and a federal court has ruled that crowding unconstitutional. The state is under court order to take no more than 38,900 inmates until prison facilities are expanded.

Because of that, Lynaugh says 95 percent of all TDC inmates will serve less than six years.

The short-term solutions are obvious, and they are expensive. The state is constructing two 2,250-bed TDC facilities, one of which will be in Amarillo. In addition, the state will pay for the construction of four 1,000-bed, medium-security prisons and 12 trusty camps that will house 200 inmates each.

But, Lynaugh says, even more construction will be needed. Lynaugh said he will ask the next Legislature either to fund the construction of 10,000 new prison beds or to divert 10,000 felons into alternative programs.

"We don't have a good solution to the overcrowding problem," he said at the TDNA meeting. "We didn't get into this problem overnight, and we're not going to get out of it overnight."

Lynaugh didn't say what he thought the ultimate solution would be, and that's too bad. Because there is a solution. It won't solve our problems overnight; Lynaugh is right there. But, it will solve our problems in the long run.

We refer, of course, to an effective criminal and juvenile justice system that focuses on deterring people from a life of crime at the earliest possible age. This is the only realistic, effective long-term solution to our prison crowding problem.

Why? Because the only way you can reduce crowding is to reduce the number of inmates going to the prison system. And, the only way you can cut down on inmates is to deter people from a life of crime.

Now, we understand rehabilitation programs have failed miserably in the past, but that's because so many of those programs have focused exclusively on adult criminals. Many adult criminals, frankly, have lived a criminal life too long to be effectively rehabilitated.

What many people don't seem to understand is that an adult doesn't decide one day, "Gee, I'll be a criminal." A person begins a pattern of criminal behavior at a very early age, sometimes before they even have turned 10. The crimes are petty at first, but they grow and become serious late in a person's teen-age years. By the time the person can be tried as an adult, the crimes often have become violent, even deadly.

The best time to stop that criminal behavior is when a person is young. The pattern isn't ingrained; it hasn't become the only way of life for the defender. We're not saying rehabilitation is hopeless for adults. But, we are saying that it's a lot easier with kids.

As many of you know, we have been working for effective juvenile justice for years. Currently, we chair a select committee that is looking at ways to improve the juvenile justice system. We think we're going to have some good recommendations to make, and we hope the Legislature will implement them.

Otherwise, Mr. Lynaugh will have to keep asking for more prison beds.

If you have additional questions about juvenile justice and prison overcrowding, please contact us at P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas, 78711.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Bette Midler has signed a four-picture contract with Touchstone Pictures.

Miss Midler starred in some of Touchstone's most successful recent movies, including "Down and Out in Beverly Hills," "Ruthless People" and "Outrageous Fortune." She currently stars with Lily Tomlin in "Big Business."

Miss Midler's new contract, announced Thursday, will take effect as soon as she completes two other Touchstone productions: "Beaches," for a Christmas release in 1988, and an updated version of "Stella Dallas," due to start filming in November.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Michael Jackson is so popular here that the government has decided he cannot come for a concert in December, an official said today.

Syed Zainal Abidin, secretary general of the Welfare Ministry, told reporters the Cabinet decided recently the concert could not be held because it would be too difficult to control the crowd.

He said the ministry had wanted the American singer to perform here to raise money for the Welfare Fund, from which money is given out periodically to orphanages and charities.

The ministry will appeal to the Cabinet to reconsider its decision.

Abundant Life

DELUSIVE HAPPINESS

Much of what is thought of and spoken of as happiness or fun or a good time is thought and activity in what has long been called the 'fool's paradise'. This is the condition in which people accept as true or real that which is actually untrue or unreal, and is a condition of being deceived and deceiving oneself. The experiences are 'delusive happiness', and this is what constitutes the 'fool's paradise'.

There are different ways of entering into 'fool's paradise', into the state of 'delusive happiness' that promises so much and provides so little. One of the most common ways into this bog of misery is the notion that there can be freedom without restraint; that we are free to do as we please, to throw off all controls, restrictions, and restraints. This has been proven to be one of the very worst delusions found in human thought and action. Everything that is dependable and authentic shouts the falseness and destructiveness of this way of permissiveness. It has been proven to be the most oppressive enslavement known to mankind.

Heartache and confusion are found increasingly among those who choose to leave the good life for a fling in 'fool's paradise.' Many think that the use of booze and dope will help them to escape the world of reality, of controls and responsibility, and such. They enter 'fool's paradise', the delusive happiness by the destructive way of hallucinations, by deliberately deranging their mental capacities. Some never escape this state of bondage. The way back from a trip into 'fool's paradise' is unbelievably difficult.

Realty tells us that we cannot have reward without labor, not for long; we cannot have a strong social order without morality; we cannot have a satisfactory life without good character; we cannot have public integrity without private integrity; an orderly society requires obedience to law; and a strong economy demands thrift and industry.

The available and enduring happiness, and not the 'delusive happiness' of the fool's paradise, should be our desire and our aim.

Betty Crocker's Cooking Tips

A. I home-can my vegetables. When it's time to eat them, can they be microwaved? Mrs. M.C., Kennett, MO

A. Yes. As long as low acid vegetables have been processed in a pressure canner according to directions and the seal is still intact, reheating in microwave is a quick and efficient method. You may want to refer to a microwave chart for timing.

Q. What's the procedure for freezing beets? S.T., Palmyra, WI

A. Select deep, uniformly-red, tender, young beets. Remove tops leaving 2 inches of top and wash. Cook until tender. Chill. Remove skins. Slice or dice large beets. Package in moisture/vaporproof wrap to freeze.

Q. How can I prevent my doughnuts from being greasy? L.M., Galeton, Pa

A. Use a tested recipe with the correct proportion of sugar, shortening and leavening. Be sure oil is hot enough, maintain a temperature of 375 degrees F. More grease will soak into doughnuts if batter is refrigerated before frying. Avoid this by frying doughnuts as soon as batter is mixed. Drain doughnuts on paper towels.

Bidding farewell

Randall Stotts, who has served as youth minister at First Baptist Church since April of 1985, will be moving to Kansas City, Mo. where he will attend Midwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. He and his wife, Donna, and their daughter, Ashley, were honored at a farewell reception Sunday. Bidding a final farewell to Stotts were Rumaldo Lucero, church custodian, and Betty Quillen and Sue Cherry, First Baptist Church secretaries.

In Lithuania, it was considered bad luck to cut the last stalks of rye.

Local youth minister to attend seminary

A farewell reception honoring Randall Stotts, departing youth minister of First Baptist Church, was held Sunday in the church's fellowship hall. Approximately 250 well-wishers attended and visited with Stotts and his wife, Donna, and their six-year-old daughter, Ashley.

The Stotts family came to Hereford in April, 1985, after he served as youth minister in Lockney. While in Hereford, Stotts has coordinated activities of the Baptist youth of junior high and senior high age. Wednesday will be his last day to serve in the capacity of youth minister as he and his family will depart early Thursday for Kansas City, Mo. There he will attend Midwestern Baptist Theological Seminary where he will pursue a master of divinity degree.

Stotts, 25, is uncertain of his future. "I'm not sure at this point what I will do once I receive my master's degree, but there are several options," he said. "I do not want to pastor a church, but I do want to reach people for Christ." Stotts noted that his wife hopes to use her newly-acquired degree from West Texas State University and become a science teacher.

A native of Tahoka, Stotts graduated from Tahoka High School in 1981 and received a bachelor of arts degree in Bible in 1985 from Wayland Baptist University. While ministering in Hereford, Stotts said that the local youth were great and he never encountered major problems in working with them.

"Hereford has been great to us," Stotts said. "We have never been loved by a church and a community like we have been loved here. It has been a humbling experience, we truly love Hereford."

Brazil is the world's biggest orange juice exporter. It garnered half of the United States market in 1985, according to National Geographic.
