Three inches of snow graces area

By The Associated Press
Light snow fell across northern and central portions of the Texas Panhandle and the rest of the state experienced a wide variety of foul weather today.

Forecasters said that because of recent warm temperatures it would be difficult for the snow to stick on most roadways although some may accumulate on bridges and overpasses.

It was a Christmas-card like picture for Hereford residents this morning, who awoke to about 2 1/2 inches of snow on the ground. The light snow continued steadily falling until about 9 a.m., then tapered off.

KPAN, the official National Weather Service recording station, measured .25 inch of moisture from the snow.

There were no weather-related cancellations or postponements reported to the Brand as of 10:30 a.m. today, and area roadways, though lined with snow, remained relatively passable and clear.

A flash flood watch was in effect in extreme Southeast Texas, a dense fog advisory was in effect during the pre-dawn hours for the coastal bend and coastal plain.

Numerous showers and thunderstorms were reported over Southeast Texas and scattered showers were reported over East Texas and South Texas today. Some light rain and drizzle was reported over North Texas.

A cold front extended early today from a developing low pressure system in Southeast Texas southward to the coastal plains.

Forecasts called for clearing skies and cool to cold temperatures statewide Friday.

Lows tonight will be mostly in the upper teens in the Panhandle and mountains, the 20s and 30s across the rest of West Texas and in North Texas and in the upper 20s over the Hill Country and in the 30s and 40s over the rest of South Texas.

Highs Friday will be in the 40s across West Texas and North Texas and in the 50s across South Texas.

A cold front extended from a developing low pressure system in southeast Texas southward to along the coastal plains.

The E.B. Black House on Third Street in Hereford took on a special cast this morning when 2 1/2 inches of snow enhanced the beautiful home. Hereford residents awoke to something from a Currier and Ives print with the heavier-than-expected snow.

DOE finds Pantex woes

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Energy Department says its "tiger team" discovered a "significant" number of environmental, safety and health deficiencies at the World War II-era Pantex nuclear weapons assembly plant near Amarillo.

Energy Secretary James D. Watkins has ordered the office of defense programs and Pantex's contractor, Mason & Hanger-Silas Mason Co., to develop a plan to address all deficiencies identified in the team's assessment.

The team completed its on-site assessment of the weapons plant on Oct. 31. Its draft report was released Wednesday.

Although a "significant" number of environmental, safety and health findings and Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) violations were identified, "the continued operation of the facility does not pose an immediate or imminent threat to public and worker health, or the environment," DOE said.

The aging plant sits atop the Ogallala aquifer, practically the only source of usable quality water for the state's largest irrigated farming region, the Texas High Plains.

Yet the tiger team assessment found Pantex has no environmental monitoring plan, DOE said.

DOE said the tiger team observed that the site's groundwater monitoring needs upgrading, and that sampling practices do not meet current industry standards.

"Environmental non-compliance findings were identified, reflecting a lack of conformance with DOE orders relating to the National Environmental Policy Act, and a possible need for additional regulatory permits," DOE said.

OSHA identified more than 300 findings of varying degrees of severity, DOE said.

Rep. Bill Sarpalus, whose Panhandle district includes the plant, said the report indicates "some work needs to be done at Pantex."

"I think we all suspected this was the case, and I think everyone involved is anxious to get started on that work. The most important thing ... is that the Tiger Team concluded the plant 'poses no immediate threat to public and worker safety or to the environment,'" Sarpalus said.

DOE has estimated it will cost $1.7 billion over the next two decades to preserve and modernize Pantex, the country's only final assembly site for nuclear weapons.

The tiger team assessment is part of Watkins' initiative to strengthen DOE's environmental, safety and health protection and waste management activities.

Tiger team assessments include assessments of environment, safety and health operations, as well as a plant's performance in meeting environment, safety and health requirements and schedules.

One way to campaign

James McDowell, left, county campaign coordinator for GOP gubernatorial candidate Kent Hance, and Hance's wife, Carol, put a bumper sticker on a car in Hereford on Wednesday. Mrs. Hance stopped in Hereford on a campaign swing through the area on her husband's behalf.

Dimmitt man dies in accident near Dawn

A Dimmitt man died at 7:35 a.m. today from injuries he received in a one-car accident near Dawn.

An Oklahoma man was injured in a second one-car accident near Westway.

Juan Melendez, 59, was taken to Deaf Smith General Hospital following the one-car rollover which eventually led to his death. The accident occurred two miles east of Dawn at approximately 9 p.m. Wednesday. The mishap began in Randall County and ended in Deaf Smith County.

Melendez was westbound on U.S. Highway 60 when the Ford Bronco he was driving apparently drifted onto the shoulder.

Department of Public Safety officials believe that the driver over-compensated in pulling back onto the road, crossed the median, rolled and then finally came to rest in eastbound lanes. Melendez was thrown from the vehicle during that accident.

Hance stumps for husband

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Carol Hance visited her mother, Nancy Hays, in Hereford on Monday. Carol Hance also visited with about 40 other friends and supporters of her husband, Kent, who's running for the Republican gubernatorial nomination next spring.

Mrs. Hance visited Hereford on Wednesday on the last day of a swing through the Panhandle promoting her husband's candidacy.

Mrs. Hance, a Dimmitt native, said she was happy to be among friends and said friends and volunteers could give Hance a successful boost in the 1990 GOP primary.

Hance, a former state senator and Congressman, had never lost an election until 1984, when he lost a bid to become U.S. Senator. He failed in his first try for governor in 1986, but has since been serving as chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission.

He was appointed by one of his foes in the 1986 election, Gov. Bill Clements.

"That shows you what kind of man Kent can be," said Mrs. Hance. "Here was a man who had run against Kent, but he realized Kent's ideas and energies and appointed him as chairman of the Railroad Commission. And he doesn't hold grudges."

Mrs. Hance said she felt the widespread support Hance has cultivated during previous statewide elections could put her husband over the top this time.

"I would rather have all of our committed volunteers than the millions others have," she said. "But our fundraising is going well, too. We had a fundraiser in Amarillo the other night and reached twice what our goal was."

"The important thing is to get every vote we can for Kent Hance on March 13. It will be over my dead body that anyone works harder than Kent and I."

"We have some practice, and we have laid the groundwork for this campaign. Some people think you run for office for an ego trip, but it's a humbling experience because you are so dependent on the volunteers, the work of others, money and support.

But we have the right people working with us and we are going to be successful."

She said that most of the candidates are talking about the same issues, but pointed out that her husband is the only GOP candidate to call for an outright constitutional ban on a state income tax.

She also said Kent has taken a strong stand on the prevention of frivolous litigation, wants more local control in public schools and wants to launch a "factories behind fences" program in the state prison system.

"We have a chance to send Panhandle people, someone you know, to Austin as governor," Mrs. Hance said.

Jerry Clovis Howell, 36, of Sayre, Okla. received minor injuries in a one-car rollover one mile west of Westway at approximately 5:30 p.m. Wednesday. Howell was treated and released at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Both the Dawn and the Westway accidents were classic examples of a one-car rollover.

DPS troopers report that Howell was eastbound on the Harrison Highway in a 1977 Chevrolet pickup when he apparently drifted onto the road shoulder. Evidence indicates that Howell over-compensated, causing the vehicle to roll.

Damage to the vehicle was extensive. Officials stated that charges are pending against Howell in connection with that accident.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says a recession is when your neighbor loses his job. A depression is when you lose your job.

Progress is made only if each mistake you make is a new one.

Did you know that only 9.4% of the Deaf Smith County population is 65 years of age and older? When you get a look at the age breakdown from the Census Bureau, you find that 35.7% are under 18 years of age.

When you lump in everyone over 50 years of age, the percentage goes up to 20.3%. Of the persons 65 and over, Deaf Smith County estimates for 1987 showed 818 males and 1,078 females.

Remember the "good old days" when we had an outdoor privy? Roy McQueen, Snyder editor, came across an old clipping about those good old days. The column, with some real homespun philosophy, was written by Dick Briscoe:

"Ever since the sad day we junk the outdoor privy and move the bathroom into the house, the world turns faster and faster and mankind is beset with stummick ulcers. Hurry hurry hurry is the password. Nobody has got time to do nothin'."

"It's the sad truth. Yesterday, when a feller has to go, he walks out back to the outdoor john, sits and reads the Sears-Roebuck catalog, or counts the red corncocks against the white ones, or just relaxes and catches up on his thinking. The bees buzz in the apple tree and time lasts forever.

"Then some feller invents the flush toilet, and soon some uncivilized yahoo moves the bathroom right into the house. That is the end of peace and quiet.

"Folks quit washing their faces at the wash bench on the back porch. They move the basin into the bathroom. Then they move the mirror from mamma's dresser into the john, and finally paw hangs his razor strop and straight razor in there, too.

"So today you cannot sit in peace. There is a constant crying at the lock--son wants to comb his hair, grampaw wants to shave, dotter wants to primp--all in the indoor john, of course. This sets the pattern for modern living."

Hicks wins honor

Jennifer Hicks of Hereford has received a $1,500 educational scholarship for her work in the national 4-H food-nutrition program.

Hicks, a sophomore at Hereford High School, was one of six 4-H'ers in the United States to receive national 4-H food-nutrition scholarships, courtesy of Kraft General Foods.

Hicks and other winners were selected by the Cooperative Extension System and presented with awards during the 68th National 4-H Congress in Chicago.

As part of her 4-H work, Hicks taught programs on making easy, nutritious snacks at a local day care center. She ran a computer diet check program at two health fairs in Hereford and created a display on hidden sugars in the diet for the fairs.

Jennifer used a computer analysis program to adapt recipes to fit the special diet needs of a family member. Hicks also taught younger 4-H'ers how to give food show interviews and served on the county food show committee.

Heart found in Childress cotton field

CHILDRESS, Texas (AP) - The discovery of a heart in a cotton field by a Childress man has police searching every artery and vein for answers to its origin.

John Preston, a 28-year-old insurance agent, said he found the heart in a pile of cotton burs by a cotton gin while gathering food for his cows Saturday.

"Nobody is missing, so we think it is an animal's," said Bill Hinton, assistant chief of police in Childress, who is heading the investigation of the heart's origin.

Hinton told the Amarillo Globe News police will investigate because of the freak nature of the find.

Hinton said he did not think the discovery of the heart was related to any occult activities, and said he has heard of no such activities in the area.

Preston, who studied at the Mortuary Science School in Dallas, said he recognized the lone organ as a heart and immediately called police.

Dr. George Stott, a professor of veterinarian anatomy at Texas A&M University, said any animal that weighed as much as a man could have a similar heart.

He cited large dogs, small calves and young deer as examples.

Stott said there was no animal he was aware of that would leave a heart and eat the rest of the remains of its prey.

"Generally, that would be one of the first things eaten. It is very unlikely that you would ever find something isolated like that."

Snow fence

A coating of snow gave an artistic look to a backyard fence after snow fell throughout the area on Wednesday night and Thursday morning.

German official is jailed for arms sales

EAST BERLIN (AP) - An official who allegedly pocketed millions of dollars through illegal arms sales was jailed today, and East Germany's military warned citizens outraged by corruption to keep away from the army's guns.

The Communist Party, trying to salvage its evaporating authority, moved up to Friday an emergency congress it had set for mid-December. Officials plan to completely reshape the party to reflect the breathtaking pace of reform.

Meanwhile, Premier Hans Modrow and two other top Communist officials prepared to open talks today with the increasingly powerful opposition, which is backed by a vocal and disciplined populace that has cast aside the Communists and appears to be dictating change.

In this country of 16.5 million people, citizens now guard secret police stations and interrogate their former interrogators.

On Wednesday, ousted party chief Egon Krenz resigned from his last official post, the presidency, and for the first time in the country's 40 years a non-Communist was named to the post.

Manfred Gerlach is to be an interim president until Parliament elects a permanent replacement. He chairs the Liberal Democratic Party, an ally of the Communists until it broke away several weeks ago, embracing reform.

In two tumultuous months of peaceful revolution, East Germans who took to the streets by the hundreds of thousands forced changes including:

-The ousting from power of two sets of Communist leaders, the second of which promised free elections as early as next fall.

-The opening of the Berlin Wall and other borders.

-Parliament's scrapping of the Communist Party's constitutional monopoly on political power.

The upheaval has set into motion investigations into abuses of power by the ousted Communist elite, whose members allegedly exploited their high position to rob public coffers and live obscenely lavish lifestyles.

Early today, West Berlin police spokesman Helmut Hinz announced that Alexander Schalck-Golodkowski, a former leading East German trade official, was in a West Berlin prison following an international manhunt.

East German's official ADN news agency said he had turned himself in late Wednesday.

Schalck-Golodkowski fled the country last weekend. East German officials said he made millions of dollars by illegally funneling weapons to groups in South America, Africa and Asia.

West Germany's ZDF television network said Schalck-Golodkowski planned to pay back $31 million to the East German government from Swiss bank accounts. He is suspected of having smuggled several times that amount out of the country, according to reports on East Germany's state-run television.

On Wednesday, the government appealed for "calm and restraint" after reports of pro-reform activists seizing secret police facilities in the cities of Leipzig and Gera.

Groups of demonstrators have been surrounding secret police stations in recent days to prevent former officials from spiriting away incriminating documents that may be used for investigations of former leaders.

The Communist Party is ostensibly being guided by a 25-member committee until a new leader can be named.

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, December 7, the 341st day of 1989. There are 24 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On December 7, 1941, Japanese warplanes attacked the home base of the U.S. Pacific fleet located at Pearl Harbor on the Hawaiian island of Oahu, sparking America's entry into World War II.

On this date:

In 1787, Delaware became the first state to ratify the U.S. Constitution. In 1836, Martin Van Buren was elected the eighth president of the United States.

In 1842, the New York Philharmonic gave its first concert, performing works by Ludwig van Beethoven and Carl Maria von Weber.

In 1946, a fire at the Wincoff Hotel in Atlanta killed 119 people.

In 1965, Pope Paul the Sixth and Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras the First simultaneously lifted the mutual excommunications that had led to the split of the two churches in 1054.

In 1972, America's last moon mission to date was launched as Apollo 17 blasted off from Cape Canaveral.

In 1972, Imelda Marcos, wife of Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos, was stabbed and seriously wounded by an assailant who was then shot dead by her bodyguards.

In 1982, convicted murderer Charlie Brooks Jr. became the first U.S. prisoner to be executed by lethal injection, at a prison in Huntsville, Texas.

In 1985, retired Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart died in Hanover, N.H., at age 70.

In 1987, Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev set foot on American soil for the first time, arriving for a Washington summit with President Reagan.

In 1987, 43 people were killed in the crash of a Pacific Southwest Airlines jetliner in California after a gunman apparently opened fire on a fellow passenger and the two pilots.

Ten years ago: The nephew of the deposed Shah of Iran, Shariar Mustapha Chafik, was shot to death in Paris in an attack claimed by Moslem extremists.

Five years ago: South African Bishop Desmond Tutu met at the White House with President Reagan who told reporters afterward that he disagreed with Tutu that the U.S. administration's policies were hurting South African blacks.

One year ago: A major earthquake in the Soviet Union, measuring 6.9 on the Richter scale, devastated northern Armenia. Official estimates put the death toll at 25,000.

Today's Birthdays: Actor Eli Wallach is 74. Actress Ellen Burstyn is 57. Senator Thad Cochran, R-Miss., is 52. Former all-star catcher Johnny Bench is 42. Singer-songwriter Tom Waits is 40. Basketball star Larry Bird is 33. Actor C. Thomas Howell is 23.

Thought for Today: "Life to the great majority is only a constant struggle for mere existence, with the certainty of losing it at last." - Arthur Schopenhauer, German philosopher (1788-1860).

S&L standards strict

WASHINGTON (AP) - Strict new standards for the nation's 2,900 savings and loans go into effect today, regulations that some analysts say may be the industry's "Pearl Harbor."

"It's a good analogy, except in one respect," said economist Robert Litan of the Brookings Institution, a Washington think tank. "This wasn't a sneak attack. They should have known this was coming a long time ago."

The rules requiring S&L owners to risk more of their own money each time they invest depositors' funds coincides with the 48th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

Only 1,800 of the institutions meet the standards issued Nov. 6 by the Office of Thrift Supervision. The rules are required under S&L bailout legislation enacted Aug. 9.

The legislation requires S&L owners to have $1.50 in tangible capital for each $100 in loans; by 1995, the standard will be $3. The provision is aimed at discouraging risky investments by the thrift owners.

Regulators estimate that about 300 institutions are in hopeless shape and in the next year will be transferred to the Resolution Trust Corp. for liquidation.

Another 800 have a chance of meeting the higher standard and must file business plans with the thrift office by Jan. 6 outlining how they plan to do it. Until Jan. 1, 1991, regulators have the option of imposing growth restrictions on S&Ls falling short of the standards. After that, restrictions are mandatory.

According to preliminary estimates by the U.S. League of Savings Institutions, about 200 of the 800 should be able to shrink or otherwise adjust their balance sheets to quickly meet the standard.

Another 200 may take longer to meet the standard and about 300 will have to look for a merger partner with fresh capital or face failure.

The thrift office has already launched what S&L regulator M. Danny Wall has nicknamed an "arranged marriage" program to put weak institutions in touch with potential suitors.

Private analysts, however are skeptical about the prospects for the 800.

"There are very good reasons to question whether the guys in the middle will survive, certainly in their present form," Litan said. "The most likely strategy will be shrinkage because they will not be successful in attracting new capital. There's a pall hanging over the entire thrift industry, which makes investors nervous."

Anticipating the rules, S&Ls have been shrinking, shedding a record $15.2 billion in assets in September and $13.3 billion in August, according to the latest report available.

Litan and another economist, Paul Getman of the Wefa Group in Bala Cynwyd, Pa., said another provision in the thrift bill requiring S&Ls to concentrate 70 percent of their assets on housing loans, up from 60 percent, is discouraging investors and virtually forcing the shrinkage.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Bless you for running that letter from "Outvoted in Va." about dog owners who let their animals run loose when guests are visiting. Those of us who have allergies are grateful. My husband is going to have that column enlarged, framed and hung in our living room. Thanks, sweetie -- Wash D. C.

DEAR D.C.: I'm glad you liked it, but not everyone did. Read on:

FROM NEW YORK: I loathe guests who complain about pets when they visit. My dog lives here. They are members of the family. I refuse to put them in another room when guests arrive. I wonder if the person who wrote that nasty letter has children. I've been in homes where the kids behave a hell of a lot worse than my dogs.

SPOKANE: Dogs are a lot smarter than people when it comes to judging character. If they snarl at and pounce on guests it is because they sense that person is sneaky, underhanded, evil and dangerous. Once our dog jumped on a visitor and four silver spoons and a gold ashtray fell out of her blouse.

NO CITY, PLEASE: My sister-in-law has two boxers. I am terrified of those dogs, and she knows it. I've asked her several times to please put them in another room when I come over, but she always "forgets." On my last visit, her animals ripped my nylons and drooled on my silk skirt. She said, "They didn't mean to do it, they are just playful." The whole thing was treated as a joke. I will never go over there again.

HARTFORD: Our neighbors have a son whose hobby is reptiles. The kid has two pythons that get loose every now and then. We have told them that if one of their pythons bites our child we will sue the pants off them. We've called the police and they say it's OK to have "pets" where we live, and those snakes are their pets. Now what?

DEAR HART: Pythons are not poisonous. They don't bite like rattlesnakes and cobras. They crush their prey. It may be OK to have pets where you live, but it is not OK to have them slithering around the neighborhood. If it happens again, call the police one more time. They are obligated to do something about this. The law is on your side.

BELOIT, WIS.: I am 11 years old. I like dogs. Grandma likes cats better. She has 13 cats in her house right now. I love my grandma, but I hate to eat at her house because everything smells and tastes like her cats. My mom says I have to. Can you help me? -- Roger

DEAR ROGER: Go visit Grandma, but eat at home. (It would help if you threw up there once. Just kidding.)

CINCINNATI: Speaking of pets: Here is a beaut for you, Ann. I started to date a very attractive guy last July. When it began to get serious, "Larry" told me I'd have to share our bed with "Buster," his Great Dane. I thought he was kidding. The first night I spent at Larry's place, Buster hopped in bed between Larry and me. When Buster began to growl, Larry said, "Buster doesn't like you. We're going to have trouble. Goodbye." I haven't seen the guy since.

Are America's kids losing the physical fitness game?

While more adult Americans seem to be joining the physical fitness game, our nation's children are watching from the sidelines in increasing-and disturbing-numbers.

According to a recent study conducted by the President's Council on Physical Fitness, today's children appear to be in worse shape than those of 20 years ago with as many as 15 to 20 percent of them suffering from obesity.

Forty percent of youth aged five to eight are already exhibiting at least one coronary risk factor such as high blood pressure, elevated blood cholesterol, and low cardiovascular capacity. Fifty percent of girls aged 6-17 and 30 percent of boys 6-12 can't run a mile, notes the study, while 55 percent of girls and 25 percent boys can not manage to do a single push-up.

Why are America's kids so unfit? Multiple factors contribute to these disturbing statistics, says Harlen C. Hunter, DO, president of the St. Louis Orthopedic Sports Medicine Clinic, not the least of which is America's fervent national commitment to competitive sports.

"There is a time to teach children about competition and winning at sports -- but it is not during childhood," says Dr. Hunter, an osteopathic orthopedic surgeon specializing in sports medicine.

Dr. Hunter believes many children may lose their enthusiasm for physical exercise by burning out early from the pressures of playing little league sports modeled after the "win at all costs" philosophy of professional sports.

"Children must be taught the fundamental skills and rules of the games to increase agility, learn fitness and understand the values of sports as a lifetime experience -- not to be superheros," he said.

An emphasis on team sports such as football or basketball as early as third grade may alienate those children who are smaller and less powerful than their peers. Once alienated, these children may never develop the interest in physical fitness they need for cardiovascular health as adults.

Because daily physical education is mandatory in only one state, Illinois, most of the nation's children fail to get regular exercise, Dr. Hunter notes. "A daily exercise program could help build a child's self-esteem, increase cardiovascular fitness, and help weight control while teaching a sense of discipline and routine," says Dr. Hunter.

Parents can play a key role, Dr. Hunter feels, in encouraging children to make fitness fun. Here are his suggestions:

1. Set a good example by sharing activities with your children.
2. Help them find a sport they instinctively enjoy and one suitable for their body types, then encourage them to stick with it.
3. Teach them the values of the game--cooperation, teamwork, fair play, endurance, risk-taking, losing -- but forget about "winning at all costs."
4. Make sure they receive sensible conditioning from coaches or instructors, including warm-up and cool-down exercises.
5. Practice -- and encourage -- a relaxed attitude towards sports, teaching them to enjoy the benefits of feeling fit and having fun.

"The desire to win comes naturally as a child moves towards adulthood," says Dr. Hunter, "but you can help your child develop a positive attitude towards physical fitness as a lifelong habit much earlier."

KOALA IS ENDANGERED

NEW YORK (AP) - Australia's koala has fallen victim to a contagious disease and malnutrition because of constriction of its habitat by human encroachment that limits its supply of eucalyptus trees, its only food and home.

Some 40 percent of koalas are infected with a disease that causes blindness, bladder and kidney infections, infertility and death.

Koalas are nocturnal, solitary tree dwellers. The non-profit Australian Koala Foundation is setting up a U.S. Koala Foundation to expand funding for biological and environmental research grants for Australian and American scientists.

Irish Bill McCartney readies Colorado for championship game

By RICK WARNER
AP Football Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Growing up near Detroit in an Irish Catholic family, Bill McCartney was a big Notre Dame fan.

"I remember sitting in our new 1947 Plymouth listening to the Notre Dame-Southern Cal game on the radio," he said. "Every time they called a penalty on Notre Dame, my dad would yell, 'That's highway robbery! Who's refereeing this game, Jesse James?'"

On New Year's night, McCartney will try to steal a game from the Fighting Irish when his top-ranked Colorado Buffaloes play for the national championship in the Orange Bowl.

"Notre Dame is the class of college football," he said Wednesday during a promotional stop in New York. "To beat them is the ultimate conquest. It doesn't get any better than that."

Colorado, the only major undefeated team in the country, will be playing for its first national championship. Notre Dame has won eight titles, more than any other school.

McCartney knows the Fighting Irish have more than history on their side. As a Michigan assistant in 1980, he learned the hard way about the luck of the Irish.

That was the year Harry Oliver kicked a 51-yard field goal on the last play of the game to beat Michigan 29-27. A strong wind was blowing against Notre Dame on the last drive, but it died down seconds before Oliver's kick.

"The ball barely made it over the crossbar," McCartney said. "If the wind's blowing, there's no way he makes it."

The winds of change have been

Shumate says Jayhawks best after whipping

DALLAS (AP) - Southern Methodist coach John Shumate will tell you who has the best college basketball team in the country: The Kansas Jayhawks.

The second-ranked Jayhawks gave the Mustangs their worst home loss in history on Wednesday night 86-53 with six players in double figures.

"I believe they are the best team in the country," Shumate said. "They are the consummate team. They are dominant with the talent that they have."

"They just wore us down. They put in the big horses and we just don't have the depth to match up."

The Jayhawks hit seven three-pointers as they shot the Mustangs out of a 3-2 zone.

Terry Brown hit four three-point field goals and scored 14 points to lead Kansas.

"In the first half we didn't work very hard to get open but in the second half we got the ball to the open man," said Kansas coach Roy Williams. "We knew we would see a zone tonight and we probably will the rest of the year. We just have to be patient and execute."

Guard Kevin Pritchard hit two three-pointers and said he likes playing against a zone.

"There will always be an open man," he said. "If you execute and be patient then you have a good shot."

Pritchard said being ranked highly didn't mean that much to him right now.

"There's no difference being number two or number 20 right now," Pritchard said. "Number one at the end of the season is what we blowing in Boulder this season. Colorado won its first outright Big Eight championship since 1961 and completed its first perfect regular season in 52 years.

"This is a new experience for us," McCartney said. "It would be easy for us to say, 'We're going to the Orange Bowl,' and be satisfied with that. But that's not going to happen because we realize what's at stake."

"This is a very special time for Colorado. We haven't been in this position before. The entire state and the city of Boulder are electrified."

The Buffaloes have dedicated their season to Sal Aunese, their starting quarterback in 1988. Aunese died of cancer on Sept. 23 after watching Colorado's first three games from the sidelines.

"Sal wrote a letter to the team the day before he died, and the last words were, 'Bring back the Orange Bowl,'" McCartney said.

It won't be easy, though. Notre Dame, which had its 23-game winning streak snapped by Miami on Nov. 25, can stake its own claim to the national championship with a victory.

Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz said his fourth-ranked team could make a strong case by beating Colorado even if No. 2 Miami defeats Alabama in the Sugar Bowl and No. 3 Michigan downs Southern Cal in the Rose Bowl.

According to Holtz, the biggest argument in Notre Dame's favor is its backbreaking schedule. Colorado is the ninth bowl team the Fighting Irish will play in a 13-game season.

"We've had as big a mountain to climb as anybody in a long time," Holtz said via speakerphone from his vacation home in Orlando, Fla.

are shooting for."

It was the fourth game in an 11-day five-game stretch for the Jayhawks. Kansas is back home to host Kentucky on Saturday.

The Jayhawks of the Big Eight Conference increased their record to 8-0 while the Mustangs of the Southwest Conference dropped to 1-4.

Mark Randall, Pekka Markkanen, and Pritchard each had 12 points while Freeman West and Mike Maddox each added 10 points.

The Mustangs were led by Reginald Muhammad who had 13 points and Vernon Perdue who chipped in 10 points.

"Kansas says it doesn't have the best talent but they really execute and don't make mistakes," Perdue said.

Kansas outshot SMU 57 per cent to 37 per cent and outrebounded the Mustangs 33-28.

SMU played without its leading scorer, forward John Colborne, who had averaged 18 points and 7 rebounds per game. Colborne sat out the game with a sprained ankle he suffered in practice.

"Without J.C., we're very limited to what we can do," Shumate said. "We fought hard but they are too tough."

Kansas forward Rick Calloway said everybody is surprised at the quick start by the Jayhawks except the players.

"We knew if we played together and did what the coaches asked us to do, we would be fine," Calloway said. "We haven't surprised ourselves, but maybe the public is a little bit surprised."

Celts can still top Knicks

By BILL BARNARD
AP Basketball Writer

The Boston Celtics wanted to show the New York Knicks that the torch hasn't passed in the NBA's Atlantic Division.

"We were patient. We moved the ball around. We never lost our poise," Kevin McHale said after the Celtics beat New York 113-98 Wednesday night for their 16th consecutive regular-season victory over the Knicks at Boston Garden.

"In past years when we did well the ball was like a magnet," McHale, who scored 18 points, said. "Wherever it went, we had three or four guys around it (on defense). That's the way it was tonight."

The outcome left the Knicks and Celtics tied for the division lead.

"This was a real challenge for us at this point in the season," Boston coach Jimmy Rodgers said. "There was something definitely at stake here and we met that challenge. I think it told us we're capable of beating a team of New York's caliber."

Larry Bird, criticized recently for not shooting enough, scored 27 points despite making only nine of 25 shots. Patrick Ewing led all scorers with 32 points for the Knicks.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Philadelphia 121, Miami 98; Atlanta 118, Orlando 110; Detroit 115, Washington 107; Indiana 136, Denver 117, and San Antonio 121, Golden State 119.

Pacers 136, Nuggets 117

Indiana won its 10th game six weeks earlier than last season as Rik Smits scored a career-high 32 points.

The 7-foot-4 Smits, capitalizing on a four-inch height advantage over Denver's Blair Rasmussen, made 12 of 17 shots as the Pacers won their fourth consecutive game.

Indiana opened a 71-56 advantage late in the first half and pulled away after halftime, leading by as many as 23 late in the third quarter.

Spurs 121, Warriors 119

San Antonio defeated Golden State as David Robinson scored 22 of his 28 points in the second half, including two free throws that broke a tie in the final minute.

Terry Cummings, who scored 25 points and joined Robinson with 12 rebounds, added a pair of free throws with 10 seconds left, making it 120-114.

The Warriors were led by Chris Mullin with 31 points.

76ers 121, Heat 98

Miami lost its ninth consecutive game as Johnny Dawkins and Hersey Hawkins scored 24 points each for Philadelphia.

Philadelphia led 59-49 at halftime and raced to a 78-59 lead after a jumper by Ron Anderson with 6:42 left in the third period.

Billy Thompson, who was 13-for-18 from the field, had 27 points and 13 rebounds to lead the Heat.

Pistons 115, Bullets 107

Detroit kept pace with Indiana in the Central Division as Bill Laimbeer had 29 points and 23 rebounds and Vinnie Johnson scored 17 of his 24 points in the final period against Washington.

The Bullets, who led 89-81 at the start of the fourth quarter, didn't score their first basket of the period until there was 7:50 left. Meanwhile, Johnson scored four points in a 13-2 run and the Pistons went on to outscore Washington 34-18 in the final 12 minutes.

John Williams had 17 for the Bullets.

Hawks 118, Magic 110

Moses Malone scored 29 points, including eight free throws in the fourth quarter, and Dominique Wilkins added 28 points, leading Atlanta over Orlando.

The Hawks built a 10-point lead in the first quarter and didn't let the Magic get closer than seven points after that.

Terry Catledge led Orlando with 25 points.

Mattox KOs Lubbock 'Toughman'

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox said he knocked out a "Toughman" contest scheduled this weekend in Lubbock. Mattox obtained a temporary restraining order Wednesday in a Travis County state district court against Adore Ltd., Inc., a corporation chartered in Michigan. But Adore officials said late Wednesday they have requested an immediate "show cause" hearing in order to have a judge repeal the restraining order. "We have received no reprimands, no citations, or notice that we have not complied with every regulation. We have no idea on what grounds they can justly revoke our license or prevent Toughman from being held," said Art Adore, president of Adore. Mattox alleges the defendant violated the Texas Boxing Act and rules and regulations of the Texas Department of Licensing and Regulation. "Toughman" contests are held in several states, and consist of a series of short fights in which the winners advance until there is a champion. "These so-called toughman contests are nothing but brawls in which young men with no training or experience in the sport of boxing flail away at each until there is one man left standing," Mattox said. "This is not sport. It's dangerous and violates state laws that govern professional and amateur boxing," he said. In the suit, Mattox says Adore Ltd. conducted "Toughman" contests in September 1988 in Waco despite advice from the Department of Labor and Standards that such a contest was illegal. Adore Ltd. held another "Toughman" contest in Abilene in October with the permission of an employee of the Texas Department of Licensing and Regulation, which is the successor agency to the Department of Labor and Standards, the suit says. The employee's unauthorized actions took place against a "backdrop of agency chaos," the suit says. The chaos occurred after a commissioner resigned and Gov. Bill Clements belatedly filled the position, Mattox said. In the previous events, Mattox said Adore failed to provide insurance, a licensed referee, a legal ring, and medical equipment. The company also did not require contestants to show proof of boxing skills nor medical examinations. "Contests such as these and dwarf-throwing are dangerous to the participants," Mattox said. "They can be quite profitable for the promoters, who are apparently unconcerned about the risks to the participants," he said.

Robinson helps send Spurs into division lead

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - The San Antonio Spurs find themselves in an unusual position, tied for first place in the NBA's Midwest Division, but rookie star David Robinson says they are fortunate to be there. "We were very fortunate to win this game," Robinson said Wednesday night after the Spurs defeated the Golden State Warriors, 121-119. "The first half, we got out-hustled. Down the stretch, we really had to scrap." The victory left the Spurs tied with Utah at 10-5, the first time they have held such a lofty position this late in the season since the 1985-86 season. The Spurs now have a four-game winning streak. Robinson had a 28-point, 12-rebound game. Chris Mullin led Golden State with 31 points, four more than Mitch Richmond. With the score tied at 114 and just over a minute remaining, Robinson missed a short jumper.

But Richmond travelled, and San Antonio capitalized when Robinson drew a foul. The Spurs rookie center hit both free throws, giving San Antonio a 116-114 lead. Richmond then committed another turnover, bobbling a pass out of bounds. Willie Anderson hit a 10-footer to put the Warriors in a four-point hole with 15 seconds left. After Mullin missed a jumper, Terry Cummings, who finished with 25 points, made two foul shots to make it 120-114 with 10 seconds to go. Sarunas Marciulionis, who had a season-high 21 points, sank a three-pointer. But Anderson hit a free throw, giving the Spurs a 121-117 lead. Tim Hardaway's layup at the buzzer was initially disallowed, but 10 minutes after the game had ended, the call was changed. Hardaway was credited with the basket, accounting for the two-point margin. "Crucial turnovers at the end really hurt us," Richmond conceded. "We had a chance to win," Mullin added. "It's not good that we didn't, but it does give us some confidence that we were so close at the end." Golden State has now lost nine consecutive road games this season, 13 in a row dating back to last year. "They are a great team and very hard to defend," San Antonio coach Larry Brown said. "Their lineup changes were hard for us to get used to." Warriors coach Don Nelson used 6-7 Rod Higgins on 7-1 Robinson after Manute Bol fouled out with 2:46 to play. Marciulionis gave away five inches to his San Antonio counterpart, Cummings. "Their small, quick lineup really caused us problems," Cummings said.

Lombardi winner to be announced

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Kanavis McGhee and Chris Zorich will soon battle each other in the Orange Bowl but tonight they'll join Percy Snow and Tim Ryan in competing for the Lombardi Award.

McGhee, a linebacker from No. 1 ranked Colorado; Zorich, a nose tackle from No. 4 ranked Notre Dame; Snow, a linebacker from Michigan State; and Ryan, a defensive tackle from Southern California; are finalists for the annual award to the nation's outstanding collegiate lineman.

Ryan, Snow and Zorich are first-team Associated Press All-America selections.

The annual award is named in honor of former Green Bay and Washington coach Vince Lombardi, who died of cancer in 1970. The dinner benefits the American Cancer Society.

Snow won the Dick Butkus Award on Tuesday as the nation's top college linebacker.

The 6-3, 240-pound senior said he never would have been considered for the award if it hadn't been for his high school coach Thom McDaniels at Canton McKinley High in Chicago.

"Coming into high school, I just had the attitude to do what I wanted," Snow said. "He made sure I was eligible academically, when a lot of people didn't think I could succeed."

"I still keep in touch when I go back home."

Snow needs one tackle in the Aloha Bowl against Hawaii to break his school record of 164 tackles in one season. He also has three interceptions and two blocked field goals this year.

Ryan, 6-5, 260, recorded 19 sacks this season for Southern Cal, which will face Michigan in the Rose Bowl.

"If I were to win the award it would be the highlight of my career to this point," Ryan said. "Obviously, it's a big-time thing and I would be very happy."

"I was an All-American as a junior last year so my name was out there and people knew who I was."

Zorich is a key to the Irish defense that allowed 15 points per game en route to a 11-1 season. He came from south Chicago and didn't play organized football until he was a high school sophomore.

"Now I consider myself a role model for my neighborhood," he said.

McGhee teamed with linebacker Alfred Williams, a second-team AP All-America, leading the Buffaloes to an unbeaten 11-0 season.

"I've never been No. 1 since I've been playing football but my feelings with the rest of my teammates are that we're No. 1," McGhee said.

"That was a far-fetched dream when I got here."

McGhee, a Houston schoolboy athlete, has 199 career tackles and 10 career sacks.

Ohio State linebacker Jim Stillwagon won the first trophy in 1970 and Auburn's Tracy Rocker won the honor last year.

Other winners, beginning in 1971, were: Walt Patulski, Notre Dame; Rich Glover, Nebraska; John Hicks, Ohio State; Randy White, Maryland; Lee Roy Selmon, Oklahoma; Wilson Whitley, Houston; Ross Browner, Notre Dame; Bruce Clark, Penn State; Brad Budde, Southern California; Hugh Green, Pittsburgh; Kenneth Sims, Texas; Dave Rimington, Nebraska; Dean Steinkuhler, Nebraska; Tony Degrate, Texas; Tony Casillas, Oklahoma; Cornelius Bennett, Alabama and Chris Spielman, Ohio State.

Armstrong stands by charges

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Convicted burglar Otha Armstrong III, who claims the Oklahoma football program broke NCAA rules after being placed on probation last year, says he talked with NCAA investigators before he got into trouble with the law.

Armstrong, serving a five-year prison sentence for stealing 25 championship rings belonging to former Oklahoma coach Barry Switzer, says he contacted the NCAA "before and after" he was arrested and jailed for breaking into Switzer's home in July.

"A lot of people (think) I gave this information after I had been convicted of this felony or I confessed to it," Armstrong told The Tulsa Tribune in Wednesday's editions. "That's not true at all."

Armstrong said he spoke to Charles Smrt, an NCAA enforcement director, and that an NCAA enforcement representative, William S. Saum, visited him.

"It is countless how many times I've talked to them on the telephone. I would say roughly once a week or once every two weeks, something like that," Armstrong said. "Those are people who are on our staff, but we don't have any intention of commenting on any of that," David Berst, NCAA director of enforcement, said Wednesday.

On Tuesday, Armstrong was quoted in The Dallas Morning News as saying he was used as a middle man to pick up cash payments that a Tulsa booster wired to former Sooner quarterbacks Charles Thompson and Janelle Holieway.

Armstrong also said freshman running back Dewell Brewer received illegal benefits and at least one unofficial paid visit to Norman before he signed a letter of intent with the university in February.

The Morning News quoted Armstrong, 24, as saying the payments occurred even after the football program was placed on probation last December. Armstrong later said he was misquoted and that all the payments he knew of occurred last year.

The Dallas paper said NCAA investigators are looking into Armstrong's allegations. Berst had no comment.

SWC has 4 All-Americans

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference placed four players on the AP All-America football team, led by Heisman Trophy winner Andre Ware and his favorite receiver, Emmanuel "Manny" Hazard, from the University of Houston.

SWC champion Arkansas landed one player on the team, offensive tackle Jim Mabry, and Baylor linebacker James Francis also made the squad, which will be featured Dec. 16 on Bob Hope's annual televised Christmas show.

Texas Tech running back James Gray was named to the second-team All-America squad, and Texas Tech offensive tackle Charles Odione was named third-team All-America.

Ware, a 6-2, 205-pound junior from Dickinson, Texas, broke 13 NCAA records and tied two others as the top gun in Houston's run-and-shoot offense. He capped a remarkable season last Saturday by setting season records for most completions (365) and passing yards (4,699). His 46 touchdown passes were one short of Jim McMahon's NCAA mark.

Despite being only 5-9 and 172 pounds and also a junior, Hazard set season NCAA records with 142 receptions and 22 touchdowns.

Arkansas averaged 314 yards per game on the ground behind the blocking of Mabry and his offensive linemates. A four-year letterman, the 6-4, 262-pound Mabry helped lead the Razorbacks to their second straight Southwest Conference title this season.

Francis had one of the finest defensive seasons in Southwest Conference history. The 6-4, 250-pound Baylor defender made 129 tackles, intercepted four passes, recovered three fumbles and blocked eight kicks, tying the NCAA single-season record. He also scored 10 points on two safeties and an interception return.

Extra timeout given to Houston on Sunday

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The National Football League says referee Ben Dreith's crew mistakenly awarded Houston an extra timeout in the first half of the Oilers' 23-16 victory Sunday in Pittsburgh.

Dreith didn't record the third and last timeout called by the Oilers after Bubby Brister completed a 4-yard pass to Merrill Hoge on a third-down play with 1:14 remaining in the half and Pittsburgh leading 10-7.

Hoge did not get out of bounds and the clock would have continued running if Houston had not called time out, thereby leaving the Oilers little time to mount a potential scoring drive after the Steelers' fourth-down punt.

Afterward, Dreith told a pool reporter that official timer Lou Rossi stopped the clock on his own and that the on-field officials did not stop the clock because there wasn't a timeout.

Steelers coach Chuck Noll told reporters Monday he planned to file a report on the officiating to the league office, although such reports rarely result in any action.

Noll also was upset tapes showed Oilers' receiver Haywood Jeffires failed to get both feet in-bounds on a key 37-yard reception that set up Lorenzo White's game-winning, 1-yard touchdown run with 21 seconds remaining. The reception was upheld by the instant replay official after a 4-minute delay.

NFL spokesman Pete Abitante said the league admitted the timeout error after officials supervisor Art McNally interviewed crew members and studied videotape.

He did not say whether Dreith or any of his crew members would be disciplined by the league.

"Those things are handled privately," Abitante said.

Joe Gordon, the Steelers' business manager, said, "Anyone can make a mistake, but it has happened far too frequently this season. We're going to have to take an overall look at the officiating situation."

Perry enters election

AUSTIN (AP) - State Rep. Rick Perry has entered the Republican campaign for Texas agriculture commissioner with a blast at incumbent Democrat Jim Hightower.

"The Texas Department of Agriculture today is in turmoil, racked by scandal and abuse of the public trust," said Perry, 39, a Haskell farmer and rancher.

Hightower has used the commissioner's office as a bully pulpit from which to push his far-left views, especially outside of Texas. Hightower spent an inordinate amount of time in 1987 and 1988 outside Texas, campaigning for Jesse Jackson and Mike Dukakis and preparing to run himself against Sen. Phil Gramm," Perry said.

Responding to Wednesday's attack, Hightower jokingly referred to the Texas Farm Bureau's unsuccessful efforts to recruit Texas Rangers baseball pitcher Nolan Ryan to oppose him.

"Rick Perry! Oh, I thought they were talking about (retired pitcher) Gaylord Perry. Oh well. I'll wait to see who finally comes crawling out of their primary," Hightower said.

Perry, a former Democrat, said he expects to raise $2 million to $3 million for the race. He's the third Republican to announce for agriculture commissioner's race, joining Ken Boatright of Hamilton, a former director of the agriculture department's seed and grain warehouse division, and Gene L. Duke of Brownfield, who has a cotton seed business.

Perry noted recent questions about a crop inspection program which Hightower and a deputy billed for expensive meals in Austin, San Francisco and New York, plus an automobile.

Although the state auditor's office last week said the agriculture department hadn't violated any rules with those expenses, Perry said that didn't matter.

"Texans want the truth, Jim. The whole truth, the whole hog, if you will," a reference to Hightower's "Whole Hog" nickname.

A Farm Bureau member, Perry accused Hightower of failing to forcefully back traditional agriculture.

"Hightower talks about the economic development things he does for agriculture - brussel sprouts, black bean farming ... And there's nothing wrong with those," he said.

"But let me tell you, economic development in the state of Texas is not in those products. It's in cattle, in wheat, in corn. It's in those major, mainstream agricultural products that we produce in this state. And Jim Hightower, if he were spending the same amount of time and effort promoting those, he could have made a difference in the last seven years," Perry said.

In other political news: Republican gubernatorial candidate Clayton Williams said former Austin mayor Carole Keeton Rylander would serve as campaign co-chairman and chief surrogate spokesman.

Mrs. Rylander and Williams said they differ on what has become an increasingly discussed issue in the GOP governor's race: abortion.

Williams opposes abortion except in cases of rape, incest or a threat to the mother's life. Mrs. Rylander said she personally opposes abortion in all but those cases. However, she said, "I also respect the right of every woman to examine her conscience and to choose what her conscience dictates."

"We are not (in agreement)," Williams acknowledged. "I welcome Carole, and certainly we are a campaign of coalitions."

Committee issues AIDS report

WASHINGTON (AP) - The National Commission on AIDS says it submitted its first report to the White House eight months early because the crisis has become too urgent to wait.

"We have heard what people were telling us - that a crisis situation does exist," said Dr. David Rogers, vice chairman of the commission that began its work in August.

The commission Wednesday released the six-page report it sent to President Bush, calling for "a national voice" to repair a health care system that is in danger of crumbling under the weight of a worsening AIDS epidemic.

"The public health care system in this country is not working well and nowhere is that more evident than for people with AIDS and people infected with the HIV virus, the cause of AIDS."

"While AIDS is not the cause of the health care system's disarray, it may well be the crisis that could pressure responsible national action to correct its serious shortfalls," the report said.

Among the problems it cites are lack of training support for primary care physicians to treat people with HIV infection and AIDS and low reimbursement rates that discourage physicians from treating Medicaid patients with AIDS.

Also, many AIDS patients have no public or private health insurance, which limits their access to life-prolonging drugs, the report said.

The commission was required to draft its first report by August 1990. But commissioners told Bush in a letter that testimony they heard during four days of hearings "was so compelling we felt it is vital to write to you now."

Dr. Louis Sullivan, who as secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services is a non-voting member of the commission, did not participate in writing the report and his press office was not aware of the document until asked about it by reporters.

James Brown, a spokesman for Sullivan, said the secretary has expressed concern about some of the same issues addressed by the report. However, Brown took issue with the proposition contained in the report that national leadership is lacking.

"There has been leadership from this department and there will continue to be," Brown said, citing the department's work on AIDS education programs, drug research at the National Institutes of Health and federal funds under Medicaid to treat people with AIDS.

But the commission said more needs to be done.

The panel recommended creation of a "flexible, patient-oriented comprehensive system of care," and possible creation of a network of regional centers to provide backup and consultation to primary care physicians treating AIDS patients.

Federal health officials say 112,241 people have been found with AIDS in the United States since June 1981, and 66,493 of them have died.

More than 1 million Americans are believed to be infected with HIV. The commission said that over the next four years AIDS is likely to claim 200,000 lives.

"Canyon Visions" available at bookstores, gift shops

The Hereford Brand—Thursday, December 7, 1989—Page 1B

The expansive, dramatic canyons of the Texas Plains may no longer be a regional secret after the recent release of "Canyon Visions," a collection of pastels and color photographs.

Photographer and historian Dan Flores of Lubbock and landscape artist Amy Gormley Winton of Amarillo have combined their aesthetic perspectives to illustrate the simultaneous ruggedness and romance of the unique geography, accompanying text defines history of the landforms and the Plains region, including personal reflections by the artists.

"I think society has been cheated by not having access to these canyons. I want more people to become aware of these beautiful landscapes and take pride in their conservation," said Flores, who homesteads on a 12-acre plot in a Yellow House Canyon near Lubbock.

"Lonesome Dove" author Larry McMurtry echoes the sentiment in the foreword of the coffee table book.

"People who have lived in West Texas all their lives...have no inkling that canyon visions possessing both delicacy and majesty are there to be seen and wondered at, often only a few miles from their long-familiar routes," McMurtry states. "This book may make many people canyon lookers."

Fifteen canyons are illustrated in the book. Among them are Yellow House Canyon southeast of Lubbock, Double Mountain Fork Canyon south of Post, Los Lingos Canyon south of Silverton, Blanco Canyon north of Lubbock and Ceta Canyon south of Amarillo. The Texas Panhandle's Palo Duro Canyon, where Winton maintains an art studio, also is included among the renderings.

The book's canyon landscapes are divided into the five sections: elements, form, texture, color and light. Each of the sections is introduced by the artist's descriptions of that specific quality of the canyons captured in their works.

According to Flores, an assistant professor of history at Texas Tech University, the characteristics used for the groupings have been commonly alluded to by American Indians, explorers, cowboys and artists throughout the region's history.

"Canyon Visions" is published by Texas Tech University Press and currently is available at bookstores and gift shops throughout Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. For more information or for the name of the nearest sales outlet, contact the Sales Office of Texas Tech University Press in writing at Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Texas 79409-1037 or by telephone at (806) 742-0158 or (800) 832-4042.

HAVE FUN at the Movies

EXCELLENT GOOD FAIR POOR DON'T WASTE MONEY

There is no better cinematic storyteller than Woody Allen.

CRIMES AND MISDEMEANORS: Starring Alan Alda, Woody, Allen, Claire Bloom, Mia Farrow, Anjelica Huston, Martin Landau and Sam Waterston is the nineteenth film written and directed by Allen. Like Allen's previous films, Crimes and Misdemeanors is told through specific incidents that explore questions about love, reality, faith, delusion, success, failure and good and evil; in short, a typical Woody Allen film.

In this highly recommended film, Allen artfully blends the comic and dramatic styles in which he has so successfully worked over the years to create a fascinating tapestry of intricately interwoven vignettes are played against a colorful Manhattan setting. The most interesting aspect of this particular Allen film is that the age-old themes that are explored are also quintessentially modern.

Martin Landau is a devoted husband who has an affair with an increasingly unstable mistress played by Anjelica Huston. Alan Alda is a vapid television producer with a gift of liberal gab. Both men and manage to find a new girlfriend after his wife leaves him. There are some pointed, sometimes ironic and sometimes humorous, stabs at stereotypical images. A very funny film. Rated PG.

Three Boxes

ANNE HALL: (1977) Also with Diane Keaton. An exquisite romantic comedy romp that is supposedly semi-autobiographical. In this episode our hero (Allen) has been in analysis for fifteen years, loves Manhattan and falls in love with Diane Keaton. The film is full of comic salvos, great dialogue and inventive sight-gags. The movie also started the "Annie Hall" look that may stay with us as long as Bermuda shorts. Rated PG.

Four Boxes

MANHATTAN: (1979) With Diane Keaton, Mariel Hemingway and Meryl Streep. Reworking the same themes (neurotic people whose affairs entangle each other) Allen comes up with another masterpiece. Diane Keaton is again the object of his awkward affection. However, this time the romance and the comedy are bitter-sweet. Allen plays a comedy writer with strange and cerebral friends. The city, magnificently photographed in black and white Panavision, sets the stage for scenes that are often blisteringly accurate and poignant. Rated R.

Four Boxes

BROADWAY DANNY ROSE: (1984) With Mia Farrow. A legendary talent agent (Allen) takes on an alcoholic crooner and takes him to the brink of stardom in another of the master's wonderful comedies.

Four Boxes

PLAY IT AGAIN SAM: (1972) With Diane Keaton, is a delightful adaptation of Allen's own play about a film buff (Allen) coached by the ghost of Humphrey Bogart as

TAKE THE MONEY AND RUN: (1969) This is Allen's first original feature film as director/writer/star. It remains today a laugh-filled and gloriously funny farce. Allen plays an inept, fumbling criminal in a story told in pseudo-documentary style. The plot doesn't really matter - what does matter is the hilarious potpourri of frequently inspired gags and one-liners. Rated PG.

Now You're Cooking

BY KAY CRISMON
Staff Writer

Dorothy Ward, a single woman and the grandmother of six, doesn't need to rely on a man to do her carpentry work.

Her knowledge of carpentry skills began in childhood as she watched her father work.

She sometimes assists her son, a parttime carpenter, hang wallpaper, spread concrete and build small storage buildings.

She recently refinished a desk for her daughter. The finished product looked as if it had rolled off the factory assembly line.

Her assortment of tools are equivalent to that of the best carpenter's in town. Last year she wanted a power tool for Christmas. Guess what? She got it!

Not only is she a carpenter, but she also enjoys growing a variety of roses and vegetables. Her hobbies are walking and reading.

She was born in Clyde, Texas and moved to Hereford when she was eight years old. She graduated from Hereford High School and married Ervin Ward in 1946.

She and her late husband were owners of the Double K Restaurant and the Hickory Log. Retiring from the restaurant business, Ervin became a car salesman.

The couple raised four children: Scott of Hereford, Sandy of Amarillo, Kirk of Wichita, Kan., and Kim of Phoenix, Ariz.

She has been a resident of Hereford for 60 years and has been employed at the First National Bank for 39 years where she is a teller.

Ward is a woman of many accomplished talents and perfection is the key to her successful endeavors. She teaches that a job worth doing can be done correctly.

Another talent she possesses is her culinary skills. The following recipes are family favorites:

House morsels
Melt in double boiler—not boiling
12 oz. Planters cocktail peanuts
4 oz. shoe string potatoes

Mix well and drop on waxed paper

CHICKEN SPAGHETTI

2 large fryers or 1 small hen
2 bay leaves
1 large onion
2 small cloves garlic
2 small green peppers
1 small can pimiento, chopped
2 cans cream of mushroom soup
2 cups chopped celery
1 small jar of stuffed olives
2 cans mushrooms
2 pkg. spaghetti
Grated Cheese

Boil chicken until done with bay leaves. When cool, debone and cut into bite size pieces. Saute slightly the onion, garlic, green peppers, pimiento and mushrooms. Cook spaghetti in chicken broth for 8 minutes, drain and add onion, garlic, green peppers, etc. Add diced chicken. In large casserole put in layers, spaghetti mixture, undiluted cream of mushroom soup and graded cheese. Put in 350 degree oven until bubbly.

RANCH STYLE CASSEROLE

1 lb. hamburger meat
1 onion
1 green pepper
1 Tsp. salt
1 small can ranch style beans
1 small can stewed tomatoes

Cook hamburger, onion and pepper until tender. Drain. Add chili powder, salt, beans and tomatoes. Simmer for 15 minutes. Put spoonfuls of cornbread batter on top. Bake in oven at 400 degrees.

Betty Crocker

Q. What is lefse? M.K., Auburn, Neb.

A. Lefse (pronounced LEF-suh) is a soft griddle-fried bread originating from Norway. It is made with potatoes, shortening, milk, flour and salt—then thinly rolled into 10 to 12-inch circles and cooked on griddles.

Lefse is served warm or cold, spread with butter and sometimes sprinkled with brown sugar—then rolled up or folded into small serving-size portions. It is a great Norwegian favorite during the holidays. You can find recipes for lefse in Scandinavian or international cookbooks. It is also available in special sections of supermarkets.

Q. What causes the thin bottom on my cream puffs? L.S., Proctor, Minn.

A. Batter is too thin and doesn't thicken due to undercooking or underbeating after eggs are added.

Q. I soaked dried whole green peas overnight and cooked them in soup for several hours and they didn't soften. What happened? P.J., Marshalltown, Iowa

A. Most dried peas will soften using the method you describe. They may have been stored too long. When dried peas are stored longer than one year, they dry further and it is difficult to soften them.

Do you have a question? Write Dear Betty Crocker, Box 11113, Dept. Betty, Minneapolis, Minn. 55440

Tip of the week: A thoughtful gift for a busy family is a homemade frozen casserole or soup complete with reheating instructions. Include a loaf of French bread tied with a ribbon, also suitable for freezing.

BOSTON (AP) - Wu'er Kaixi and Li Lu, exiled Chinese student leaders, accepted a $30,000 human rights award but lamented that two of their allies in the spring uprising at Tiananmen Square were still in China.

Rock star Sting presented the 1989 Reebok Human Rights Award to China's crushed student democracy movement, represented by Wu'er and Li during a ceremony Tuesday.

"It is very frightening to me that I live and my children live in a world where governments routinely discard basic human decency and violate human rights," Sting said at the presentation.

Wu'er sent a message to friends still in China, saying, "Take care of yourselves when the cold of midnight hits you."

A videotape interview with another student leader, Chai Ling, was flashed on a screen.

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - In 1843, the year "A Christmas Carol" by Charles Dickens first appeared in England, the custom of sending printed Christmas cards was born.
Henry Cole, a London businessman, mailed out 1,000 cards designed by his artist friend John C. Horsley. The message read "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year To You."
According to Hallmark Cards, this same message will be one of the favorite sentiments to appear on the more than 2.2 billion cards expected to be mailed by Americans this year.

Accent on Health

Texas consistently ranks in the top five states in the number of reported AIDS cases.

From 1980 to Nov. 17 of this year, some 7,816 cases of AIDS were reported in the state. Of those, 4,810 already have died. Thousands of others are known to be infected with the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV), which causes AIDS.

Nationwide, about 110,000 persons have been diagnosed as having AIDS. The number of persons infected with HIV is unknown.

Worldwide, with 177 countries and territories reported AIDS totals to the World Health Organization, some 182,463 cases of AIDS had been confirmed by Oct. 1, 1989.

While medical research to find a vaccine or cure continues, nations and individual states like Texas operate programs aimed at controlling transmission of the disease.

One such program in Texas is surveillance, the collection of information about how and where the disease is spreading. By tracking the incidence of the disease, TDH keeps a current profile of the AIDS problem statewide-information which, in turn, contributes to the federal Centers for Disease Control's nationwide profile.

At TDH facilities and TDH-funded clinics, the staffs counsel patients to further their understanding about the disease, its spread, and its prevention. People concerned about possible HIV infection can seek testing through public health clinics or their own physicians. All test results, by law, remain confidential.

In addition to surveillance, testing, and counseling, TDH also provides public information and education about AIDS. The department distributes about a million copies of AIDS publications yearly.

As part of the department's commitment to comprehensive AIDS education, TDH operates the toll-free Texas AIDSLine. Anyone in the state can dial 1-800-299-AIDS for information (in English or Spanish) about AIDS, or about the availability of local services. There also is a device (TDD) providing telecommunications for the deaf at 1-800-252-8012. The operator is on duty each weekday from 8-11:30 a.m. and from 12:30-5 p.m. All calls are confidential.

TDH will soon launch a new media information campaign targeted at heterosexuals who are at risk of HIV infection. Dr. Robert Bernstein, Texas Commissioner of Health, said that the new campaign includes television, radio and print public service announcements and a revised information and referral telephone system.

"In the past, we have aimed our education campaigns primarily to inform those in the highest risk groups, homosexual men and intravenous drug users who may be sharing needles. Now though, we want to ensure that even non-drug-using heterosexuals and our youth know that AIDS can threaten anyone," he said.

For some eligible AIDS patients, TDH also oversees the federally funded distribution of AZT (azidothymidine), the only drug approved for use against AIDS symptoms.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: Is there anything I can do to lower my blood pressure without taking medication? My blood pressure is usually around 140 over 95. I am a 56-year-old male, 6 feet 4 inches and weigh 190 pounds. I do not smoke and never have, and I'm a very light drinker, a highball or two when we go out to dinner and an occasional beer.

I lowered my cholesterol from 243 to 180 in six months by changing my diet. The doctor wants to put me on blood pressure pills. Some people have told me blood pressure pills can make you impotent. Is this true?

I am very active, walk three miles about four or five times a week and, in season, mow my lawn and do some gardening. Is there a certain diet I should be on?

DEAR READER: Blood pressure medicines are very useful if you need them, but there are none that do not have some side effects in some — but not all — people. Yes, some of these medicines will make some men impotent, particularly if large doses are used. Also, other medications — particularly the diuretics — may cause a significant increase in the blood cholesterol level.

Exercise helps to open the small constricted arteries that cause elevated blood pressure. You might ask your doctor about following a more vigorous exercise program six days a week. In time, a higher level of physical fitness may be your best bet.

Salt restriction is important if you have elevated blood pressure. You should certainly try it.

I have discussed the measures people can take to help lower their blood pressure in Special Report 72, Controlling Your Blood Pressure, which I am sending you. Others who want this report can send $1 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/72, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713. Low normal blood pressure is a major factor in protecting against both strokes and heart attacks.

If all else fails, ask your doctor to try a medication that is least likely to raise your cholesterol level or cause impotence. This would be the calcium channel blockers such as Calan or Procardia — or he might try Vasotec, which has a different action. There are many different ways medicines can lower blood pressure. That is one reason there are so many different blood pressure medicines.

DEAR DR. LAMB: Is it possible to be allergic to exercise? I know this sounds silly, but every time I start a new exercise program such as walking, running, aerobics or bicycling, I develop intense itching of both legs. It is so bad that all I can do is to stop and scratch vigorously to get some relief. This occurs approximately 10 minutes after any exercise. I've had this condition for as long as I can remember.

DEAR READER: Yes, some people do have an allergic response to exercise. It is not a well-understood problem. One solution is to avoid exercise of the level that produces the reaction. Antihistamines have been used before exercise with some success.

It is interesting that the allergic response to exercise may be more likely to occur if you happen to also be allergic to some food. You might not know you have the food allergy, but if you eat that food and then play tennis, the combination may result in an allergic reaction.

Why not see an allergist and see if he can help you so you can enjoy activities that require exercise.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Celebrate with electronics

1989 brings to a close one of the most exciting decades in consumer electronics history. From the introduction of the compact disc player and higher resolution VCRs and camcorders to the first hint of the coming of advanced television, it has been an exciting 10 years.

"As we approach the '90s," says Thomas P. Friel, group vice president of the Electronic Industries Association's Consumer electronics Group, "the consumer electronics industry is bursting with excitement about the latest technological improvements in its products."

"Digital audio tape finally is arriving in the United States, advanced television is certainly on the horizon, and interest in audio products has increased due to digital hi-fi and multi-channel sound."

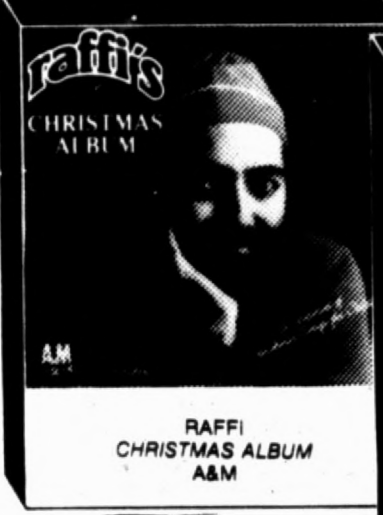

"And, consumer electronics are a better value than ever before. The 1990s surely promises to be the decade that offers consumers the most exciting products ever."

There is no better way to usher in the 1990s than to give the gift of consumer electronics this holiday season. From portable AM/FM stereo cassette players and electronic keyboards to the latest home and portable compact disc players, there is sure to be an electronic gift item to make the people you love very happy!
