Mr. Pumpkin takes a breather

Mr. Pumpkin takes a breather in this yard decoration in Hereford. He'll get to catch up on his sleep on Sunday morning, when Daylight Savings Time ends at 2 a.m. Clocks should be set back one hour before retiring Saturday night so you'll be on time for church and other activities Sunday, and for trick-or-treating and other activities on Halloween.

Bay area gets closer to normal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Rebuilding went ahead from mountain landslide areas to the earthquake-scrambled Port of Oakland, but there were new signs of a return to normal as even traffic officers resumed issuing tickets after a week's unplanned moratorium.

Tolls on bridges went back into effect today. Children returned to school in the hard-hit Marina district.

Congress on Wednesday approved a $3.45 billion package of federal aid to areas ravaged by the Oct. 17 quake, and President Bush was expected to sign it today.

In the agricultural community of Watsonville, south of San Francisco, officials fearing health and safety dangers from unrefrigerated food and open cooking fires urged residents of tent cities to move to shelters.

"Our plan is not to physically move people but to convince them that their options are better at other places," Fire Chief Gary Smith said at a news conference Wednesday in a park where about 160 people have set up camp.

Some of those camping in parks and lots were driven from their homes because of damage, while others said they would feel unsafe returning to their homes even though inspectors have certified them sound.

Others wished they could return home. Landslides in the Santa Cruz Mountains have claimed 100 houses and severely damaged three times that many, officials said Wednesday.

In Lompico Canyon on Wednesday, Kieran Reid worked to shore up his landslide-damaged house. Though it sustained cracks and lost its chimney, he said he felt lucky.

Not far away, one house could be seen literally cracked in half, its furniture spilled on the ground. Others had plastic covering gaps in the roof.

"It's like a tornado. Some people have lost everything and others haven't," said Wilson Scalling, head of the federal Soil Conservation Service after a helicopter tour of the landslide area.

"If we have a wet winter, there's a potential for a lot of slides," he said. "I feel very sorry for these folks. They're kind of sitting on a powder keg. The potential is there for something else, but hopefully that won't occur."

Scaling said his agency is turning over $400,000 for emergency work, including surveys to assess damage to streams, channels and dams in a 10-county area.

Gov. George Deukmejian praised Congress' quick action on the relief bill. "Not only did they approve the emergency funding, but they also passed several significant changes in the law that ... will assist the massive cleanup effort," he said.

A survey in the San Francisco Chronicle on Wednesday did not give federal officials such high marks. Thirty-six percent of Bay area residents polled found the federal response the the quake fair or poor.

Forty-nine percent found it excellent or good, compared with 72 percent who felt that way about the local government response and a 59 percent positive rating for the state.

Damage estimates have been set at $7.1 billion.

Police said six people remained unaccounted for, and the death toll remained at 63, including 39 from the collapse of double-decked Interstate 880 in Oakland. Nearly 14,000 people were reported homeless.

In Oakland, crews continued to dismantle a section of I-880. The search for more bodies was delayed because the road was too shaky.

Buck Helm, the I-880 survivor, remained in serious but stable condition. "He's doing well," said Phyllis Brown, a spokeswoman for Highland General Hospital in Oakland.

Also improving were 6-year-old Julio Berumen and his sister, Cathy, 8, who lost their mother in the I-880 collapse. Some 500 letters to the children and more than $25,000 in checks have flooded a fund set up for them.

Meanwhile, cleanup and rebuilding continued throughout the Bay area.

At the Port of Oakland, where an estimated $75 million in damage included two derailed container cranes, nine of 10 marine terminals were back in operation Wednesday.

"It's not pretty, but it's working," said Robert Middleton, a port spokesman.

In San Francisco, parking officers went back to giving tickets Wednesday.

House upholds Bush veto on abortion bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - Abortion rights advocates in Congress say they're not giving up their bid to allow Medicaid abortions for rape and incest victims, despite falling far short of overriding President Bush's veto.

The House sustained Bush's veto Wednesday in a 231-191 vote, 51 fewer than the two-thirds majority needed to overturn a veto.

Rep. Chris Smith R-N.J., called the vote "a decisive victory for the pro-life movement" and evidence the political ground has not shifted on the abortion issue, as abortion rights advocates say.

But Democrats and Republicans who back the more liberal restrictions argued that public sentiment is on their side and that the vote will yield far-reaching political damage for Bush among younger voters.

"I am amazed," said Rep. Les AuCoin, D-Ore., "to see the Republican White House hand over to the Democratic Party a political generation that's out there and awakening to this issue."

"President Bush may well have stumbled on the one issue that could cost him re-election," said a Republican, Rep. Bill Green of New York.

The vote followed Bush's veto on Saturday of the provision, which is but a paragraph in a $156.7 billion appropriations bill for health, education and labor programs for the 1990 fiscal year that began Oct. 1.

The provision would loosen an eight-year ban on federal financing of abortions for poor women except in cases where the woman's life is endangered by her pregnancy. It would have permitted Medicaid abortions for poor women who are victims of rape or incest and who "reported promptly" to authorities. Although it was designed to cover a relatively narrow group of women, the issue took on symbolic importance in the growing political struggle over abortion. Its approval by the House two weeks ago on a 216-206 vote marked the first time that body had voted the more liberal abortion language, although the Senate has repeatedly backed it.

With the agencies continuing to operate under a stopgap spending measure, the spending bill and vetoed abortion language were sent back to the House Appropriations Committee for revision.

Rep. Barbara Boxer, D-Calif., and other abortion rights leaders vowed to offer similar language on other bills and repeatedly put Bush and anti-abortion House members on the spot.

"We will keep on coming back," Boxer said.

Fifty-nine Democrats and 132 Republicans voted to sustain the veto; 42 Republicans joined 189 Democrats in voting to override.

Clements backs three amendments

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements has endorsed three of the 21 proposed constitutional amendments going before voters Nov. 7 and plans to remain neutral on the other 18.

"I'm going to leave the rest of those amendments to the good judgment of the public. I have great faith in their discrimination," Clements said Wednesday.

His neutrality extends to the controversial Proposition 1, which would triple salaries for state lawmakers.

"I consider my vote a very private affair," Clements said Wednesday when asked how he plans to vote on the amendment to boost salaries for the Legislature.

Proposition 1 would more than triple legislative salaries from $7,200 a year to over $23,000 while also eliminating the current constitutional requirement for voters to approve all raises for legislators.

If it passes, lawmakers in the future would receive 25 percent of the governor's salary - currently $93,432 - which they set.

The three amendments the governor said he will push are:

- Proposition 5 - The so-called "freeport" amendment to exempt from local property taxes goods acquired or imported into Texas for assembly, storage, manufacture, processing or fabrication.

"That is certainly a part of our development here so far as economics are concerned and the general business climate," Clements said.

- Proposition 8 - To authorize $400 million in bonds to build prisons, mental health and law enforcement facilities.

"It's imperative that we have those additional beds within our prison system. So I'm enthusiastic about that one," the governor said.

- Proposition 9 - To consolidate many of the state's various criminal justice agencies into one. Clements said the proposal would make the state's criminal justice bureaucracy "more efficient, more effective."

17 still missing in Pasadena

PASADENA, Texas (AP) - Crews worked around the clock at a Phillips Petroleum Co. plastics plant, clearing tons of rubble and searching for 17 workers who apparently died in an explosion at the complex.

Five bodies have been found so far at the plant, which was ripped apart Monday afternoon by a series of explosions. Work crews used heavy equipment today to continue the cleanup process, while investigators tried to determine the cause of the blast.

"It's a very slow process," Phillips spokesman Bill Wicker said Wednesday night. "It's delicate because we don't want to create a greater hazard than we already have had."

"It's just a mess," he said. "There's a lot of twisted, wrecked metal."

The bodies of three people were found separately on Wednesday.

Two were found near a storage area for polyethylene pellets manufactured at the plant, Wicker said. The third was found in a maintenance area. Wicker said the man was one of three contract workers unaccounted for since the explosion. The man worked for Fish Engineering, a Phillips subcontractor, he said.

The identities of the bodies found have not been released by Phillips. One body was found Monday night and another was discovered Tuesday.

Workers cleaned up the site with cranes, hydraulic shears and other heavy equipment. At night, their efforts were aided by large lights set up at the complex, Wicker said.

Authorities believe most of the missing workers are in an area of twisted jumble of rubble and debris. "There are a number of safety aspects we have to take before we can clear everything up," said Richard Young, technical director for the complex. "If there was nobody in there, we'd have 90 percent of this cleared up."

Assistant Secretary of Labor John Scannell, who heads the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, toured the plant Wednesday with other federal investigators called in by U.S. Labor Secretary Elizabeth Dole.

Scannell said the recovery of victims "could be days, could be weeks. It's very complicated." Part of the problem is that when one piece of wreckage is moved, it sets off a chain reaction of falling debris, he said.

"It's total devastation," Scannell said. "In 30 years of experience in the chemical industry, I've never seen such massive equipment twisted and strung about."

OSHA had a team of 15 investigators, including chemical and structural engineers, at the site. Scannell said the federal workers will help with recovery operations and offer technical assistance and advice.

"And then we want to determine a cause," Scannell said. "We want to come up with prevention efforts to keep this from occurring again.

Scannell said the OSHA crew expects to remain at the site for several days. "We'll be here as long as it takes."

Officials don't know yet exactly what caused Monday's explosions. Flammable ethylene and isobutane gases escaped from a leaking chemical reactor, but Phillips officials said they don't know how the gases were ignited.

The plant produced 4.5 million pounds a day of plastics used in milk jugs and grocery sacks.

Sixth grade students at Bluebonnet Intermediate School in Hereford have been studying flight from its beginning stages to space travel during science classes this month.

Students will get to build models of various types of planes; make a ring wing plane from an aluminum can; make and fly a hot air balloon; enter an airplane flying contest (planes must be aerodynamically sound) explore toys that have traveled into space; and receive exposure to scientific information on aerospace.

Helping science teachers is the school's principal, Howard Birdwell. Birdwell has attended workshops sponsored by NASA at West Texas State University, and he traveled to Washington, D.C. last summer to visit the Smithsonian Institution and the Smithsonian's National Air and Space Museum to gain more knowledge.

Also helping the teachers and students is Tommie Weemes, a radio-controlled aircraft enthusiast.

Bush renews Nicaraguan embargo President headed to western hemisphere meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) - Two days before President Bush attends a multinational meeting with Nicaragua's Daniel Ortega, the administration is renewing a trade embargo against that country and complaining to the Soviets that Ortega is exporting revolution.

Bush also refused to sign a joint pro-democracy statement from the "Summit of the Americas" in Costa Rica if Ortega's name was on it, administration and Costa Rican officials said Wednesday.

Plans were subsequently abandoned for such a communique on general themes of democracy and environment, which had been proposed by the host government for the meeting of hemispheric leaders being held Friday and Saturday.

"The U.S. objected to signing any statement with Daniel Ortega," said one senior administration official, who added that other countries had also raised concerns about the document's contents.

Secretary of State James A. Baker III on Wednesday criticized Nicaragua in the face of claims by conservatives that Bush will be giving a stamp of legitimacy to the leftist Sandinista regime by attending the meeting with Ortega in Costa Rica.

Baker, who also will attend the meeting in Costa Rica, castigated the preparations for Nicaragua's Feb. 25 elections as unfair to the Sandinistas' opposition, saying the opponents did not have adequate access to the country's media.

The secretary also said Nicaragua is still shipping Soviet-bloc arms to Marxist rebels in neighboring El Salvador, and called that a "major problem" despite repeated Soviet and Nicaraguan denials.

The administration contacted the Soviets on Wednesday, Baker said, to complain about the activity in light of Soviet assurances that Moscow would urge a stop to such shipments.

Also Wednesday, Bush extended for another six months a U.S. trade embargo against Nicaragua that was imposed by President Reagan in mid-1985.

He did it because Nicaragua poses "an unusual and extraordinary threat to national security and foreign policy of the United States," Bush said in a statement to Congress.

Bush must report to Congress twice a year on the status of the embargo and on U.S.-Nicaraguan relations.

Bush will be one of 18 heads of state attending the two-day celebration of 100 years of democracy in Costa Rica. Participants will all be seated around a common table for lunch, dinner and a lengthy working session Friday.

Administration officials say the president will not go out of his way to be discourteous to Ortega but will not hold private talks with him.

"I doubt he would refuse to speak if spoken to, but he's not going to meet with him and he's not going to be extending any particular courtesies in that direction," Baker told reporters at the White House.

Nicaragua has unsuccessfully sought talks with the United States. The administration is trying to bolster opposition efforts to win next year's elections.

The administration, in criticizing Nicaragua's election preparations, is at odds with a United Nations observer team that said there were no significant signs of bias.

Regarding the export of arms to El Salvador, Baker cited the seizure of a truckload of weapons on the Nicaragua-Honduran border last week.

Sam Pierce may refuse to testify

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former HUD Secretary Samuel Pierce may again refuse to answer questions in a forced appearance before a congressional subcommittee investigating allegations of wrongdoing at the agency, his lawyer says.

"I am deeply troubled because this committee remains in a position in which it appears to have prejudged my client despite the fact there is no evidence to the effect that he has done anything improper," lawyer Paul L. Perito said Wednesday.

"In light of that, I would certainly say that we have not ruled out a continuation of the position we took at the previous hearing."

Pierce cited his Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination last month in refusing to answer questions from the panel.

Perito said a final decision on whether Pierce would testify Friday would be made today. However, Pierce already has decided to again ban cameras during his appearance.

Perito and others close to Pierce have said the former HUD secretary believes he can't receive a fair hearing by Congress. It appears likely he will issue a written rebuttal of allegations raised in congressional hearings and media accounts of fraud, mismanagement and influence peddling during his eight years as head of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

"My client certainly has a story to tell and wants to tell his story but needs to decide the how and when and where of doing so," said Perito.

At a meeting with subcommittee staff Wednesday, Perito said Pierce would again invoke his right as a subpoenaed witness to ban television cameras, still photographers and radio reporters from recording his testimony.

Today's highlight in history:

On Oct. 26, 1881, the "Gunfight at the OK Corral" took place in Tombstone, Ariz., as Wyatt Earp, his two brothers and "Doc" Holliday shot it out with Ike Clanton's gang. Three members of Clanton's gang were killed; Earp's brothers were wounded.

On this date:

In 1774, the First Continental Congress adjourned in Philadelphia.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I read the letter from "Typhoid Mary" who got herpes ("the gift that keeps giving") I knew I had to write.

Eight years ago I, too, got herpes and became deeply depressed. I felt ashamed and dirty, afraid that no decent man would ever want to have anything to do with me. How lucky I was to have found a doctor who insisted that I get counseling and join a support group.

Herpes is no picnic, but it need not ruin anyone's life. Within a year I met a man who was able to see the person I truly was. He gave me back the self-esteem I had lost when I became infected. I learned that stress is a big factor in outbreaks and the calmer I was the less frequent the attacks.

I want to say to every herpes person who reads this -- it's not the end of the world. A positive attitude can be your best weapon against letting this virus get you down. Millions of nice people have it and most of them are living normal lives. -- A.O.K. in New England

DEAR NEW ENGLAND: Thanks for an upbeat letter. I was delighted that hundreds of readers wrote to offer words of encouragement to others. Please read on:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Believe me, I can relate to "Typhoid Mary" in Amarillo. For me the worst thing about getting herpes was the anger. I felt betrayed by my steady, who had picked it up for Lord knows who, and I was furious because he didn't have the decency to tell me he had it. I'm sure my resentment interfered with the healing. After I went into counseling, the eruptions became much less severe and less frequent. Now I believe that there is a positive side to every negative experience. For me it was learning, through getting herpes, that the mind can play a major role in healing the body and keeping it well. -- San Luis Obispo, Calif.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 44, an attractive mother of three beautiful children. I am a leader in the community and active in church work, PTA and local politics. I have had herpes for five years. When my husband brought the virus home to me I was shattered. If it hadn't been for counseling, I would have gone to pieces. Actually, herpes turned out to be a blessing in disguise. My husband went into counseling also and it saved our marriage. We are closer now than we have been in years and I can truthfully say I love him more than ever. -- Indianapolis

DETROIT: I got herpes from the prom queen. She was 18, talented and beautiful, had a gorgeous smile and a peaches-and-cream complexion, the last person in the world you would suspect of having a venereal disease. That was three years ago. I am now engaged to marry a wonderful young woman who understands the problem and together we work around it. Her unconditional support has rebuilt my shattered ego and I now know that love can be bigger than a virus.

PROVIDENCE: I am one of the unlucky ones. I have frequent outbreaks and often they are extremely painful. At first I thought I would never have sex again. I felt dirty, used and branded for life. The fellowship I found in my support group saved me. Anyone who has herpes should write to: Herpes Resource Center, P.O. Box 13827L, Research Triangle Park, N.C. 27709. (Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with 45 cents return postage.) You can also call the herpes hot line (919) 361-2120, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Eastern Time.

Lonesome? Take charge of your life and turn it around. Write for Ann Landers, new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.15 (this includes postage and handling) to: Friends, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada send $5.05.)

ASTA, the American Society of Travel Agents, is the world's largest travel trade association. It consists of 21,000 members in 124 countries, spanning five continents. Its members are organized into 30 chapters in the United States and Canada, and 35 chapters overseas. ASTA provides education and training programs each year for the enhancement of its members.

The City of Miami, "Cruise Capital of the World," is the host of this year's ASTA World Travel Congress and Trade Show. Over 7,000 delegates are registered for this congress.

The World Travel Congress has proven itself an important annual meeting for travel professionals over the years. It's an opportunity to improve agent's management, selling, service and geography skills and a chance to branch out in new directions. It's where travel professionals brush up on the latest travel technology and trends, tap the knowledge of many industry greats and network with peers from around the world.

Besides taking part in a fantastic industry learning experience, congress delegates will be entertained by the Beach Boys, and also a concert by the international superstar, Julio Iglesias.

The ASTA World Congress is scheduled for Hamburg, Germany in 1990.

Hammock presents program

Kathy Hammock presented a program to the Bippus Extension Homemakers Club during a luncheon meeting recently in the J. V. Perrin home.

Hammock gave a demonstration on making attractive necklaces using wooden beads and strips of fabric. Other types of beads could be used with the fabric for different styles. Hammock stated that some people use marbles in place of wooden beads.

Beans, cornbread and salad were served to six members and two guests, Beverly Harder and Christine Larson.

President Kate Bradley presided over the meeting as members answered roll call with "my most scary experience". Interesting bits of family history were told which usually related to raising children.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Lou Hall on Nov. 8.

In 1981, a pair of walkways above the lobby of Kansas City's Hyatt Regency Hotel collapsed, killing 114 people and injuring 200 others.

Harriers headed for district meet

The Hereford Whiteface cross country teams closed out the regular season Saturday with a second place finish by the boys team and a fifth place by the girls at the Dalhart Invitational Meet and will run for the District 1-4A title Saturday at Mae Simmons Park in Lubbock. The District 1-4A meet will begin at 11 a.m. with the junior varsity race with the varsity girls set to run at 11:20 and the varsity boys at 11:40.

At Dalhart, the boys finished with 47 points to place behind Boys Ranch's 25 points while the girls scored 96 points, 26 behind Spearman's winning effort.

In the junior varsity races, the Hereford girls finished third with 76 point behind Gruver and Borger while the boys had only three runners competing.

The varsity boys were led by Tim Stagner, who finished the three-mile course in 16:31 to claim second place. Henry Ruiz finished 10th in 17:33, followed by Juan Martinez (19th place, 18:12), Jerry Gallegos (20th, 18:25), Jessie Torres (30th, 18:41), Mike Lopez (31st, 18:42), and Blas Cantu (34th, 19:11).

"Tim ran another excellent race," Coach Martha Emerson said. "The boys team is really working together mentally - for the district meet. All of these young ladies have had some good races this season. We just need to be sure that every runner has a good race at district. It's the one that counts."

Renee Banner had the highest finish in the junior varsity girls division, placing fourth in 14:07. She was followed by Hope Flores (12th, 14:25), Velma Garcia (16th, 14:27), Rachel Alaniz (21st, 14:28) and Mandi Tijerina (23rd, 14:59).

Six Hereford Junior High runners ran in the meet with Belinda Murillo posting the highest finish at 26th place in 15:11, followed by Rita Soto (29th, 15:17), Rosie Davila (33rd, 15:31), Fidelia Hernandez (36th, 15:42), Rachel Martinez (37th, 15:42) and Edna Valdez (41st, 15:57).

"These girls have run four meets this year and this was the last one. They have done a good job and this should give them some experience for next year."

In preparing for the district meet, Emerson said a major factor may be familiarity with the course.

"I think (having run the course before) will help us," she said. "Borger and Pampa weren't at the Lubbock Invitational Meet. That's what I was telling the girls the other day.

Randall. "The girls have beaten everybody in the district except Randall beat us a few points at one meet and Borger beat us Saturday," she said.

"The girls is a three-way race with Hereford, Borger and Randall. I don't think anybody else will even figure in the top three, just the three of us.

"As far as I'm concerned, the girls should win if they run their best race. That's the way I feel about it. Maybe losing last week was good for them. I think they may run better this week because of it. Sometimes that happens to you. It let's you know you can be beat, so all of a sudden you get it together and decide to win. And I really think, as much as you hate to lose one, it really woke us up."

In addition to Castillo and Dutton running their best times at Dalhart, Salazar turned in her season best at 13:59, while Davila (13:42.5), Garza (13:27) and Zepeda had their best efforts of the year at Lubbock. Hernandez enters the meet with a best time of 13:51, run at Seminole.

"The boys have been on top (of the district) except for Randall. I don't think anybody has beat the boys except Randall.

"For second place, it's going to be Levelland, Hereford, Pampa and and competing well as a team. They will be ready to give more than 100 percent this Saturday at the district meet. They are anxious to get another trip to the regional meet."

In the boys JV division, Chris Hart took ninth place in a time of 20:04 while Chancy Bainum was 14th in 21:04 and Eric Davis was 15th in 21:18.

In the varsity girls race, Teresa Castillo ran her best time of the year to take second place in 12:48. Jill Dutton was the next Hereford runner across the line, finishing eighth in a personal-best 13:14. She was followed by Denise Davila (28th, 13:45), Sally Garza (30th, 13:51), Minerva Salazar (26th, 13:59), Lisa Zepeda (38th, 14:04) and Veronica Hernandez (49th, 14:34).

"As a team, we did not run well," Emerson said. "We were picked to win the meet and the potential was there, but we didn't put it together. Maybe this will make us realize that we need to prepare ourselves - especially Borger's girls ran real well Saturday, they really did improve times. I told our girls that (knowing the district meet course) was going to be to their advantage, though, because some of those girls (from Borger) have not run on the Lubbock course.

Emerson added that the types of courses the harriers have been running on offered good practice for Mae Simmons Park.

"We've run in seven invitationals and a practice meet," she said, "and have had a lot of variation in the courses. But they've all had some up-and-down terrain, so we should be prepared."

"The girls like the Lubbock course and the boys do, too. That's an advantage, too, when you feel good about the course."

As far as the girls team defending their title for the second straight time, Emerson said it will be a three-team race for the top while the boys team will be in a four-team pack trying to knock off defending state champion Borger. Those four of us are going to have a dog fight. It's going to be a tight race. We won (second place) by one point last year and it's going to be the same way."

Seven of the eight boys who will run Saturday had their best efforts on their home course during the Hereford meet. Stagner posted a 16:18 while Ruiz ran a 16:58, Martinez a 16:52, Gallegos a 17:39, Torres an 18:06, Cantu an 18:18 and Raul Dominguez a 17:03. Lopez ran his best race of the year at Lubbock in 18:33.

But, even after two months of running in meets and training, Emerson said the races will still come down to being mentally ready.

"It's all mental right now," she said. "And I think it's to our advantage, too, that we've been district champs for two years and four of these girls (Castillo, Zepeda, Davila and Salazar) have been to state before."

Netters set to enter regional play

For the fourth straight year, the Hereford Whiteface tennis team is headed to the Region 1-4A tournament to be held Friday and Saturday at the Lubbock Tennis Center. The center is located at 66th and Indiana in Lubbock.

Hereford enters the meet with an overall record of 11-1 and went undefeated in District 1-4A competition at 7-0. The Herd's only loss of the year came in its very first match against Tascosa.

The Herd will be competing in a field of 12 teams from throughout the northwest quarter of Texas. The bracket will include, in addition to 1-4A runner-up Pampa, Big Spring and San Angelo Lakeview from District 4-4A, Burkburnett and Saginaw Boswell from 5-4A, Cedar Hill and Fort Worth Brewer of 6-4A, Brownwood and Cleburne from 7-4A, and Taylor and Waco Midway from 8-4A.

Coach Luis Zavala said that the top two teams will be awarded byes through the first round while two other teams in the field will draw byes.

"I expect us to get on of the seeds," Zavala said, "but if we don't, I'd just as soon go ahead and play in the first round and get some work in."

The first round of the tourney will be played Friday morning with the quarterfinal round to be played in the afternoon. The same schedule will be in effect for the semifinals and finals on Saturday.

The matches in the tournament will be played until one team reaches 10 wins, instead of playing all 18 pairings as was the case during the regular season.

Zavala said that Brownwood, which knocked the Herd out of the tournament last year, appears to be the team to beat.

The Herd has been paced all year by the singles play of Kristie Allison at No. 1, Brenna Reinauer at No. 2 and Gina Alley at No. 4. The trio achieved perfect records of 12-0 on the year and Allison and Reinauer have yet to lose a set in singles play.

Misty Reed, who posted a 7-2 mark before missing the last three matches with knee problems, will return to the No. 3 slot for the tourney while the

Nos. 5 and 6 positions will be filled by Robyn Sublett (9-3 on the year) and Trisha Teel (3-0).

The pairings for girls doubles have been changed for the meet, with Allison and Reinauer pairing for the fourth time this year. The pair sport a 2-1 mark as a team with the only loss being by default after they had won in straight sets. Reed and Alley, who lost in their only other match together, will play in the No. 2 slot while Sublett and Cydney Spies will play together for the first time in competition.

On the boys side of the draw, Hereford will stay with the singles lineup of Randy Robbins at No. 1, Jeff Eades at No. 2, Torey Sellers at No. 3, Greg Coplen at No. 4, Brandon Flood at No. 5 and Jamie Kapka at No. 6. Robbins posted a 5-7 season record while Eades broke even at 6-6. Sellers finished at 9-2 while Coplen went 7-4, Flood 7-5 and Kapka 9-1. In doubles play, Robbins and Sellers, 5-5 as a team, will occupy the top spot while the teams of Eades and Coplen and Flood and Eric Cortez (both 8-2) round out the roster.

Alternates for the team will be Spies for girls singles and Teel for girls doubles while Donny Perales and Jason Paetzold will be the boys backups. Spies finished the season with a 2-1 record in singles play while Paetzold and Perales did not play in the top six during the season.

BEANED TWICE

CHICAGO (AP) - Don Zimmer, the manager of the Chicago Cubs, survived two serious injuries during his career as a player.

Zimmer, an infielder, was leading the American Association in home runs while playing for St. Paul when he was hit in the head by a pitch from Jim Kirk of Columbus on July 7, 1953. Zimmer was sidelined for the rest of the season.

On June 23, 1956, Zimmer, then with the Brooklyn Dodgers, was hit in the cheekbone by a pitch from Hal Jeffcoat of the Cincinnati Reds and again was out of action for the rest of the year.

Frosh spikers end year with road win

The Hereford Whiteface freshman volleyball team closed out its 1989 schedule Monday with a 13-15, 15-4, 15-6 win at Randall while the Hereford Junior High teams took four matches at Valleyview Junior High.

The win by the freshmen gave the a 6-2 record for the season and a 5-0 mark against teams from District 1-4A schools.

Amy Stark ran off 10 straight service points to pace the frosh in their final match while Angie Jowell added nine points and Kathy Hernandez had five.

Hernandez and Robyn Watts led in kills with five each and Watts added two stiffs for the match.

The eighth grade "A" team scored a 15-10, 15-7 win in its match with Valleyview. Michelle Brock led with 13 points on serve, including 10 in the first game, while Chasity Rickman added five points and Stephanie Wilcox, Stephanie Latham and Shambryn Wilson each had three. Tonya Bossett had two points and Jamie Simpson had one.

In the eighth grade "B" match, CeCe Combs served for nine points in the third game as Hereford gained a 15-8, 6-15, 15-7 win. Prisca Cantu led the first-game scoring with five service points while Krista West had all six points in the second game.

Clarissa Ramirez had nine points on serve in the first game as the seventh grade "A" team gained 15-8, 9-15, 15-9 win at Valleyview. Melissa Ship had three points in the second game while Brook Bryant and Beth Weatherly had four each in the decisive third game.

In the seventh grade "B" match, Mindy Salazar and Kyla Betzen served for five points each in the first game and Kit Jones added nine in the second as Hereford won, 15-10, 15-7.

The Hereford Junior High volleyball teams will end their season Monday against Canyon at the HJH Gym. One seventh grade and one eighth grade match will be played with both matches starting at 4:30 p.m.

Eight volunteers trained

Eight Hereford woman are currently undergoing the 42-hour training course necessary to become qualified as a volunteer with the Hereford Outreach Program of the Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Center of Amarillo.

Outstanding programs presented

The past two programs of the Kiwanis Whiteface Breakfast Club were given by Kay Peck and David Hernandez.

On Oct. 13, Kay Peck, news-writer for the Hereford Brand and well known for her informative articles, talked to the club about freedom of the press and what it means to the country and local community.

On Oct. 20, David Hernandez, manager of the local Texas Employment Commission, brought the club up to date on the current functions of the agency. Hernandez told of how it serves the community by matching people seeking employment with employers.

Wayne Keeter and Max Borden were new members added to the 21-year club.

Visitors and representatives from the Key Club and Keywanettes were Joe Soliz, Homer Guerra, and Lupe Chavez.

The next meeting will be Friday, 6:30 a.m., at the Caisson House.

will run through Nov. 21. After completing the required course, these eight women will join a group of 13 local volunteers who are currently providing support and assistance to victims of rape or domestic violence.

A report on volunteer training was given Friday to the Hereford center's board of directors. The report was presented by Jo An Dwyer, executive director of the Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Center in Amarillo.

"I'm real excited. It's an enthusiastic group," Dwyer said of the eight new volunteers.

Shelly Moss, coordinator for the Hereford office, was in Austin last week attending a special training program.

A $25,000 grant was recently presented by the Harrington Founation to the Hereford center. The chairman of the finance committee also reported that the group is approximately $700 shy of the $3,541 which center officials had hoped to collect in a local fund drive. Anyone interested in making a donation can call the center at 364-7822 for additional information.

During the past month the Hereford Outreach Center provided assistance in 15 new cases of violence reported to the center. Two women and three children were sheltered during that same reporting period.

A total of 23 "service units" were supplied by center personnel and volunteers. Every service unit represents an hour of direct service to a victim of domestic violence or rape.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: My very good doctor has prescribed 250 mg time-released niacin to lower my LDL-cholesterol. It makes me dizzy and causes me to itch — even my face — and feel queasy. I have complained but he says, "It's all in your head." Not so! I have stopped taking it for four or five days and the feelings go away. When I start it again, the same old feeling returns. I have spoken to others who have similar problems. Why does something that is supposed to do good cause me to feel so bad? Does niacin have merit?

DEAR READER: Such reactions to taking niacin are quite common and I'm sure your doctor knows this. One way to stop the flushing is to take aspirin when you take niacin, and it helps to take it with food.

For people who have flushing and itching it is a good idea to start with a very small dose and gradually increase the amount, always making the increase just small enough to avoid any symptoms.

Yes, niacin, when tolerated, has been shown to be very effective in lowering total cholesterol by lowering the LDL-cholesterol fraction. However, like other medicines to lower cholesterol, it should be reserved for those who have been unable to achieve satisfactory results with a proper diet and exercise program.

Hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

I'm not sure if you will be able to help me with my question. My in-laws visit national parks and recreational areas and they always bring back plants, rocks or other natural items from them.

We have had disagreements about this. I am sure that it is illegal and they could get into serious trouble, but they don't believe me or listen to me. Am I right? Or can they continue bringing back whatever they choose? — A Reader, Americus, Ga.

According to the National Park Service, rocks, plants, wildlife, artifacts and other natural elements cannot be taken out of national parks, monuments or recreational parks.

If your in-laws are caught, they will be fined. It definitely is not a chance worth taking, and they are denying others the pleasure of enjoying the beautiful scenery in our national parks. — Heloise

PAINT SAMPLES

Dear Heloise: I was doing some redecorating in my home but when I got to the paint store I couldn't decide on a color so I brought home several small paint samples to coordinate. Well, I couldn't tell anything from those little samples.

So, I chose a couple of colors and went to the paint store and bought the smallest can I could find and then bought large pieces of posterboard. I painted the posterboards with the paint and put them in the room. Since they were larger than those little chips, they gave me a better idea of how the color would look. This was sure helpful, and the color I finally decided on looks great. — Debbie D., Oklahoma City, Okla.

PILLOW SHAMS

Dear Heloise: I've found an inexpensive replacement for the costly pillows required to fit a pillow sham.

All I do is buy a few bags of pillow stuffing, stuff the shams and just close them with a slip stitch. — Emma Bancelos, Redstone Arsenal, Ala.

CAR WASHING

Dear Heloise: Instead of having to assemble all the paraphernalia required to wash cars, try keeping a large plastic bucket equipped with these items in the garage or in the trunk of the car.

After using the drying cloths, spread them out so they will dry and be ready for the next washing. Also keep a roll of paper towels in your car. They work well for drying windows. — Reba Groves, Louisville, Ky.

GOING BUGGY?

Dear Readers: Insect pests driving you crazy? My pamphlet, Heloise Battles Bugs, to the rescue! Order your copy by sending $2 and a stamped (45 cents), self-addressed, legal-sized envelope to Heloise/Bugs, P.O. Box 19765, Irvine, CA 92713. — Heloise

OLD BEDSPREADS

Dear Heloise: I'd like to share the way I recycle old bedspreads: I cut them into squares big enough for lap robes, hem them, then deliver them to a convalescent hospital or a nursing home.

You'd be surprised at how much they are appreciated. — Katherine Houck, Orange, Calif.

What a thoughtful hint. I'm sure you're a much appreciated individual in your community. — Heloise

BLENDER TIP

Dear Heloise: I have the fastest and easiest way to clean my blender. I simply fill it about halfway with water, add a couple drops of liquid dishwashing detergent and put the lid on. Turn the blender on for a couple of minutes, rinse and dry it and it's clean and ready for the next time. — Diane P., Gonzales, Texas

Vereen to speak at conference

Ben Vereen, star of stage, screen and television, will be the kickoff speaker for the 1989 Texas State Mothers Against Drunk Driving Youth Conference. This third annual state-wide youth conference will be held Friday through Sunday in the Amarillo Civic Center.

More than 400 high school students and sponsors from Texas and around the country will gather for this three-day workshop to further their knowledge of drug-related issues and to apply their conference training effectively within their schools and community.

The event is open to all students and sponsors of clubs, organizations and youth groups that are involved in the fight against alcohol/drug abuse.

According to the U.S. Department, 3,158 15 to 19 year-olds died in alcohol related crashes in 1988.

In Texas, 1,697 people were killed in alcohol related crashes and over 39,000 people were injured in 1988 at a cost of over $2.3 billion, according to the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Of the drunk drivers killed in 1988, 15 percent (123) were younger than 21 years, while only eight percent of Texas drivers are under 21.

"Such alarming statistics are a major reason why we organize these youth conferences," Karen Thorell, MADD Texas State Administrator, said.

Some of the topics that will be discussed at the conference include: one-on-one dealing with substance abuse; minority outreach; building self-esteem; communication and leadership skills; and how to have a "party" party (drug free party alternatives).

Gaynell Colburn, nationally known vocalist and performer and a former Ms. Wheelchair America, will join Vereen with her dynamic show.

Other conference highlights will feature a video/laser show, a Texas barbecue and a dinner and dance.

The young of an eel is called an elver.

Military Muster

Navy Seaman Apprentice Richard L. Burns, grandson of Candelaria Coronado of Hereford, was promoted to his present rank upon graduation from recruit training at Recruit Training Command, San Diego.

Burns received the early promotion for outstanding performance during all phases of the eight-week training cycle. Trainees studied general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academi-ic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

Included in his studies were seamanship, close order drill, Navy history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

He is a 1989 graduate of Hereford High School.

Seminar set on operating business

Practical advice on the problems and the promise of operating a business at home will be provided at a seminar Nov. 11 at the Texas A&M Agricultural Research and Extension Center here.

"A home-based business can be an asset to family financial management, strengthen family life and provide self-fulfillment, but it also can be a complex, stressful and unprofitable undertaking," said Wynon Mayes, Randall County home economics agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The seminar will address common problem areas, such as record keeping regulations, pricing and management of personal and family time and space, explained Don Taylor, director of the Panhandle Small Business Development Center at West Texas State University in Canyon.

The program, co-sponsored by the Extension Service and the small business center, will be from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. The Texas A&M center is at 5600 Amarillo Blvd. West.

Advance registration is $15, which covers lunch and seminar materials. Participants may register with their local county extension agent or by telephoning Mrs. Mayes at Canyon, (806) 655-7001, extension 325, and paying the fee at the door. Advance registrations must be made by 5 p.m. Nov. 6.

Those who don't register in advance may register at the door, space permitting, but the fee will be $20 and doesn't include lunch.

The opening general session will examine the necessities for starting a home-based business and preparation of a business plan. Nancy Granovsky, family management specialist with the Extension Service, will explore business personalities and the effect a business will have on others in the household. Taylor will show how to prepare a carefully thought out business plan and where to find free or inexpensive source of assistance.

Participants then may choose from two concurrent sessions. In one, Jim Million, national sales director for Sales Training, Inc., who conducts management training for major national corporations, will cover time management. The concurrent session on legal issues and risk management will cover such things as business structure, registration and zoning requirements and protection of your business name.

After lunch, participants may attend two of four concurrent sessions. One will repeat the session on legal issues and risks. Another will explain the use of marketing and advertising.

The third will cover the basic records needed for financial decisions and tax purposes, allowable business deductions and computer applications. The fourth session will discuss the benefits of and ways to achieve a professional business image.

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) - Hockey's great one was escorted down Main Street U.S.A. by the squeaky one, the incoherent one and the goofy one as the Magic Kingdom paid tribute to Wayne Gretzky.

Gretzky, 28, wife Janet Jones and their 10-month-old daughter participated in a parade Tuesday to the Town Square Train Station. Also in the parade were Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck and Goofy, Disneyland spokesman Bob Roth said.

Disney has produced many commercials featuring athletes who have just won a Super Bowl or World Series saying they plan to go to Disneyland next, but Roth said there are no plans to ask Gretzky, "... what are you going to do now?"

The Los Angeles Kings' center last week became the National Hockey League's all-time scoring champion, eclipsing Gordie Howe's record.

"This is special in that with most honors you get a trophy or a plaque and you can just enjoy those by yourself," Gretzky said. "But this way I can enjoy the day with my wife and daughter. Just to spend the day here is quite an honor."

Besides being on a $5 bill, Abraham Lincoln's portrait is also on a $1,000 savings bond.

Improved Randall to give Herd tough test

The Hereford Whitefaces will find out if the second edition of the Randall Raiders are for real when the teams meet at 7:30 p.m. at Whiteface Stadium in a District 1-4A showdown.

Randall, in only its second year in existence, has posted a surprising 4-2 mark (2-2 in district) so far this year. The Raiders suffered their second loss of the season last week to Estacado, 49-28, in a game that Hereford coach Don Cumpton said was much closer than the score indicates.

"We felt like Randall was in complete control of the game through three quarters," Cumpton said, "then they had some real bad things happen to them, some bad breaks. It just started mushrooming on them. The avalanche started and they couldn't slow it down. But I'm telling you, for three quarters they were the best team."

Cumpton attributes the Raiders rapid progress to the talents of head coach Stocky Lamberson and his staff.

"They have made a lot of improvement since last year," Cumpton said. "And I think that's a credit to their coaching staff."

"They have come a long, long way in one year, probably more than people expected. But, again, I credit that to their coaches. I think their coaches have done a heckuva job, because, with just two losses, they're still in the thick of this thing going into the eighth week. You have to think they're doing some good things over there."

Cumpton added that the improvement has been noticeable in the way Randall has held on for two district wins by a total of 13 points.

"They're quite a little bit different from last year," he said. "What they're doing is not a lot different, but the way they're doing it is a lot different. They're playing hard. You can tell the coach has been over there a year and got his program in shape. They're pretty good."

"I really think, overall, they're the best team we've played since Estacado. They're more balanced offensively, they're sound defensively and they play hard and they're well coached."

Much of the Randall attack is centered around tailback Chris Roberts, who has already surpassed his rushing total from last year. But it's when the Raiders put the ball in the air that has caused trouble for many teams, Cumpton said.

"What they have is a good compliment," he said. "They have a great running back in Chris Roberts and they've been playing this sophomore named Billy Vivens. He is playing well for them."

"The strength of their passing game is their wide receivers. I think they're probably the best group of receivers we've played against, as far as being able to catch and do the things you have to do to be a good receiver."

"And (quarterback Robbie) Burd has really come on in the last month," Cumpton added. "He's thrown the ball extremely well against Dumas and Estacado in their last two games."

On defense, Cumpton said the Raiders will offer something the Herd has seen a lot of lately, an eight-man front.

"Defensively, they are very similar to Levelland Dunbar," he said. "That (front) seems to be the trend this year. We've seen more eight-man fronts this year than we've seen in a long time."

Cumpton said he knew of no reason for the proliferation of eight-man lines, but added that the Herd has done nothing different in its attack.

"I don't know (if it's because of the offenses being run)," he said. "We're doing about the same thing we always do. As far as our situation, I wouldn't

Harris favors Herd by 13 in homecoming tilt

The Harris Rating System has picked the Hereford Whitefaces to have a happy homecoming by 13 points when the Randall Raiders visit Friday.

The Herd is coming off a 26-0 whitewashing of Dunbar that raised its record to 4-2 on the season and 3-1 in District 1-4A play. The win moved Hereford up four places in the Harris rankings to No. 41 and boosted its power rating two points to 175.

Randall fell last week to Estacado, 49-28, after leading for three quarters. The loss dropped the Raiders to 4-2 on the year and 2-2 in district and cost them five places and two rating points to come in at No. 98 at 160.

In other District 1-4A contests this week, Estacado hosts Frenship tonight while Dunbar visits Pampa and Borger travels to Dumas on Friday with Levelland getting the week off.

Pampa is a 13-point favorite to make one of the district's longest bus rides home that much longer.

Levelland (3-4, 1-4) open date -- The Lobos have dropped four straight after opening the season with three wins. The loss to Pampa lowered Levelland's power rating a point to 160, but the Lobos still managed to move up a spot to No. 100. Levelland will visit Dunbar next week for a Thursday night game.

Harris picks for area games: Amarillo High by 17 over Lubbock High; Plainview by 16 over Caprock; Palo Duro by 30 over Monterey; Coronado by 9 over Tascosa; Perryton by 18 over River Road; Dalhart by 1 over Canyon; Childress by 18 over Sanford-Fritch; Dimmitt by 17 over Friona; Floydada by 13 over Littlefield; Tulia by 13 over Muleshoe; Spearman by 14 over Highland Park; West Texas by 36 over Boys Ranch; Panhandle vs. Stratford, pick; Canadian by 35 over Memphis; Quanah by 33 over Clarendon; Wellington by 2 over Shamrock; Farwell by 22 over Lockney; Hart by 2 over Olton; Abernathy by 17 over Hale Center; Booker by 7 over Gruver; Wheeler by 41 over Claude; Sunray by 13 over White Deer; Springlake-Earth by 19 over Kress; Happy by 6 over Nazareth; Sudan by 29 over Vega.

HISD seeking officials for basketball games

The Hereford Independent School District is seeking officials for subvarsity boys and girls games for the 1989-90 season.

Two officials will be needed per game. Certification is not required, but game officials should be familiar with the rules of the game. Officials will be paid on a per game basis.

Anyone interested in calling games should contact head boys basketball Jimmy Thomas at 364-7425 or head girls basketball coach Dickie Fought at 364-6810. Both coaches may be reached 364-8229.

Frenship (3-3, 2-2) at Estacado (5-2, 4-1) -- The Matadors bounced back from their loss to Dunbar two weeks ago to beat Randall on the strength of a 31-point fourth quarter. Then win kept Estacado atop the district standings and the Mats climbed four spots to No. 44 and raised their rating two points to 174 as a result.

The Tigers held off Dumas, 36-28, to climb back to the .500 mark and gain four places to No. 84 while maintaining a rating of 164.

Frenship has had an up-and-down season so far and has yet to win two games in a row. Estacado is picked to continue the string by .10 points.

Borger (4-2, 3-1) at Dumas (2-4, 1-2-3) -- The Bulldogs will be looking to continue their three-game winning streak after taking last week off. Borger held steady with the open date, remaining at No. 55 with a 170 rating.

The Demons have played tough in losing their last two games to Randall and Frenship by a total of 15 points. The loss to Frenship had no effect on Dumas' standing as they stayed at No. 117 with a rating of 154.

Borger is favored by 14 points in the contest.

Dunbar (1-6, 1-4) at Pampa (3-3, 2-2) -- Both teams are coming off of shutouts, but it was the Harvesters who did shutting out (13-0 over Levelland) while the Panthers were handed their second goose egg of the season by Hereford.

Pampa stayed in the playoff chase with the win, moving up five places to No. 59 and adding one point for a 169 rating.

Dunbar stayed in the 1-4A cellar with its latest loss, which dropped the Panthers 10 places to No. 114 and knocked four points off their rating to 156.

The Panther's three best games have been against Lubbock teams with a four-point loss to Dumas being as close as they've come to anyone else.

think so." As for the Herd, Cumpton said last week's 26-0 win over Dunbar gave Hereford a big boost. The Herd moved to 4-2 on the year and 301 in district with the win.

"It should help our confidence," he said. "I really thought, defensively, that was for four quarters the best we've played."

"We played pretty good offensively except for the six turnovers. We turned the ball over to them inside the 40 about three times and the defensive team went out and stopped them all three times."

"We hadn't done that before and that really should help us. I think we're getting better. I think our defensive team has really improved the last couple of weeks and, hopefully, that will continue on."

Cumpton said another bright spot was the Herd's passing attack.

"I was real happy with our throwing and catching. We were 10 out of 13 for 123 yards and that's an excellent percentage. We got good results out of our passing game."

"The kids were just making some plays. Jonathan Haney had a good game and Russell Backus had a good game. We got the ball to several different receivers. We hit Matt Bromlow out of the backfield a couple of times and caught his first pass of the season. We're were able to spread it around a little bit and take the pressure off of just one person."

On the injury front, the Herd lost two more players when Serapio Cabezuella hyperextended a knee on the last play of the Dunbar game and Bubba Long suffered a shoulder. Cumpton said both will be out for Friday. "We did get Jason Lueb back, though," he added. "He played a little last week on special teams and played well."

The Herd was also still feeling the side-effects of the flu as Chris Solomon missed Tuesday's workout, Cumpton said.
