Chamber hears reports, banquet plans

BY SPEEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

In their final meeting of 1989, the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce board of directors Thursday heard progress reports from committees, discussed plans for the annual banquet, and reviewed legislation on the goods-in-transit or freepoint tax exemption.

President Rocky Lee also asked the current nominating committee to recommend a person to fill the unexpired term of the late Berta Ottesen. The installation of new officers and directors and orientation for the new board is set Jan. 17 at Hereford Country Club.

Mike Carr, executive vice president, reported the recent After-Hours Business Mixer sponsored by the chamber was a "tremendous success." The board approved a tentative date of March 1 or March 8 for the annual banquet, subject to confirmation of a guest speaker.

Donna West, Women's Division president, reported on the Christmas Tree ceremony and the lighting contest sponsored by her group, and announced a Jan. 4 meeting for installation of new officers and directors. The Women's Division "Woman of the Year" will be presented at that meeting.

Carr distributed a Texas Department of Commerce informational sheet on the new freepoint tax exemption. He said the chamber was "concerned about the way industries would perceive a vote against the exemption."

The freepoint exemption allows local taxing authorities the option to exempt from ad valorem taxation: goods, wares, merchandise, other tangible personal property and ores, other than oil, natural gas, and other petroleum products, that are held in the state for purposes of assembling, storing, manufacturing, repairing, maintaining, processing or fabricating for 175 days or less.

The TDC explained the rationale for not taxing and for continuing to tax.

A goods-in-transit tax exemption is favorable to economic development because it solves a long-standing competitive problem. Texas and Alaska have been the only two states that tax goods-in-transit inventory. Granting this exemption could make the area a more appealing location for industry that finds the central U.S. location desirable. Because the tax is local option, taxing bodies must make the decision not only on what nearby states do, but also on the position of neighboring cities and counties.

Arguments for continuing to tax included the fact that the decision time was very short for 1990 and the information used to make the decision was incomplete. Local tax assessors were not able to provide accurate estimates of the fiscal impact of the legislation.

The decision on granting the exemption for 1991 must be made before April 1, 1990. Many taxing entities have decided to continue the tax for 1990 and study the issue before the April 1 deadline.

Attending the board meeting Thursday were Lee, Doug Josseland, Carol LeGate, Larry Malamen, Scott Keeling, Temple Abney, Bobby Moore, Pat Robbins, Donna West, and new directors Ken McLain, Waldo Baxter and Marilyn Culppepper.

Bush: no third-country deal

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) - The Bush administration, asserting "we have paid the price" in bloodshed, says a third-country haven is no longer an acceptable option to the United States for deposed Panamanian dictator Manuel Antonio Noriega.

But White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said it is now up to Vatican officials to break the stalemate over Noriega's fate "and we leave it to them to work this out as they see fit."

Meanwhile, although the administration still hopes to bring U.S. troops home as soon as possible, Fitzwater said, "We cannot give a date."

President Bush, who continues to receive intelligence briefings as he enjoys an isolated hunting-and-fishing vacation on a ranch about 60 miles northwest of here, planned to head later today for his adopted hometown of Houston.

He was to stay in Houston through New Year's Day - with a side trip Sunday to two military hospitals in San Antonio to visit U.S. servicemen wounded in Panama.

Fitzwater, briefing reporters here Thursday, said it is still too early to discuss a reduction in the 26,000 U.S. forces stationed in Panama, even though the U.S.-installed government of President Guillermo Endara appears to be "continuing to expand its control."

"We'd like to have a drawdown as soon as possible, but we can't tell you exactly when," with U.S. military forces still ringing the Vatican Embassy where Noriega remains in hiding, Fitzwater said.

In Panama City, a U.S. Embassy official told a press briefing Thursday that the United States would like the extra troops sent to Panama to be out by February, but that it was unlikely because Panama's security forces must be rebuilt from scratch.

The official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said newly formed security forces were being assembled province by province, and that would take some time.

Continuing efforts to pry Noriega from the Vatican Embassy, where he has been holed up since Christmas Eve, dominated Fitzwater's briefing for reporters covering the vacationing president.

However, Fitzwater offered little evidence that any headway was being made in talks with Vatican officials and representatives of the Endara government.

"It is our understanding that (Endara) is willing to have Mr. Noriega returned to the United States," Fitzwater said. However, the Vatican has all but ruled out turning over Noriega to the United States.

And Fitzwater said the United States is no longer willing to allow Noriega to travel to a third country where he would be shielded from drug-trafficking charges that await him in Florida - even though Noriega had been offered such a deal privately by the administration as recently as October.

"We had to go in militarily, we have paid a price for this, and our objective is that we want him returned to the United States for prosecution," Fitzwater said.

"The difference is, before, the offer was if he would go in peace, save lives and bloodshed and so forth, and he chose not to do that," the spokesman said.

Fitzwater also defended the bombarding of the Vatican Embassy with loud rock 'n' roll and country-and-western music, claiming the purpose was not to rattle nerves inside the nunciature but to safeguard sensitive conversations.

Asked about the choice of music - which included "I Fought the Law and the Law Won" and "No Place to Run, No Place to Hide," Fitzwater said: "I'm certainly glad to see the American sense of whimsy comes forward in this situation."

Bush, meanwhile, did not put in any public appearances Thursday, spending much of the day hunting quail on the ranch owned by Houston oilman William Farish.

The White House did release a photograph of Bush and Farish walking together through the scrub brush - the president holding a 20-gauge shotgun and wearing camouflage pants, a yellow hunting vest and a bright orange cap.

As to a protest mounted by animal-rights activists outside the ranch, Fitzwater said the White House had no official comment.

But he added, "He hunts quail and they're always dressed for consumption. Quail are excellent. I'm from Kansas, used to hunt quail as a boy. Ate them all the time. It's a great dish."

More threats of racial mail bombings made

ATLANTA (AP) - A group claiming responsibility for bombs that killed a federal judge and a civil rights lawyer threatened in a letter full of racial invective to assassinate two NAACP officials "as part of the same reprisal."

In a letter to WAGA-TV, an organization calling itself Americans for a Competent Federal Judicial System also threatened to kill lawyers, judges and members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People "any time a black man rapes a white woman."

The threatened reprisals led black leaders to bolster security plans for the Jan. 15 celebration of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday.

Precautions were being taken at the 600 southeastern branches of the NAACP, said Earl Shinhoster, the organization's regional director. He declined to say what those precautions were.

An FBI official said he believed the letter was authentic because it contained information available only to someone closely associated with the construction and mailing of the bombs that killed 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Judge Robert S. Vance at his home near Birmingham, Ala., on Dec. 16 and Savannah attorney Robert Robinson two days later.

"It opens a new door, and we hope through that door will pass information from the public," said William L. Hinshaw, special agent in charge of the FBI investigation.

Authorities are unfamiliar with the group, Hinshaw said.

In its evening broadcasts Thursday, WAGA-TV released excerpts of the letter, which said the group held a secret meeting held Dec. 19 in Montgomery, Ala., after the two fatal bombings.

According to the station, the letter said group members from Georgia, Florida and Alabama gathered "to draft new orders" and to go public with their mission.

The group claimed it "assassinated Judge Robert S. Vance and attorney Robert Robinson in reprisal for atrocities committed on Julie Love," a white woman who was robbed, raped and murdered in Atlanta in 1988.

The letter also said: "Two more prominent members of the NAACP shall be assassinated, using more sophisticated means, as part of the same reprisal."

The letter expressed anger over school desegregation cases, apparently referring to a long-running battle over the DeKalb County, Ga., schools in which the slain judge was involved.

"Protecting the innocent warrants a higher court priority than granting the blacks' demand for white teachers for their children," the letter said.

Vance was on the 11th U.S. Circuit Court panel that directed DeKalb schools to transfer about 120 veteran teachers from predominantly white schools to predominantly black ones in an effort to balance teacher experience in the system.

Robinson handled a desegregation case in Savannah, and another school desegregation case came out of Jacksonville, Fla., where a bomb was delivered to NAACP headquarters. That bomb and one sent to the 11th Circuit building in Atlanta were safely removed.

"Anytime a black man rapes a white woman in Alabama, Florida or Georgia in the future, Americans for a Competent Federal Judicial System shall assassinate one federal judge, one attorney and one officer of the NAACP," the letter said.

It cited the slaying of Ms. Love, 27, who disappeared July 11, 1988, after her car ran out of gas. Her remains were found a little more than a year later, in a wooded lot near an inner-city neighborhood.

Two young black men - Emmanuel Fitzgerald Hammond, 24, and William Maurice Porter, 20 - have been charged in the slaying. Porter pleaded guilty in November and is expected to testify against Hammond.

Romania changes name, flag

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) - Romania's revolutionary government assumed sweeping powers, changed the country's name and ordered the Communist emblem removed from the national flag, the state news agency reported today.

The actions Thursday came as die-hard supporters of executed dictator Nicolae Ceausescu ignored the week-old government's ultimatum to surrender or die and staged more firefights in the capital.

Also Thursday, authorities arrested more members of the Ceausescu family and one of his brothers was found hanged in Vienna in an apparent suicide.

The new government, known as the National Salvation Committee, took power last Friday in a popular uprising backed by the army, and promised free elections next year.

On Thursday it reorganized its governing council as a leadership body headed by a president, who at present is Ion Iliescu. It consists of 145 members who will elect an 11-member Executive Bureau that will take over the council's functions between sessions, the news agency Agerpres said.

The governing council will appoint the prime minister, the head of the supreme court, the country's chief prosecutor and top military ranks. It also will establish an election system, appoint a committee to write a new constitution and endorse the government budget, Agerpres said.

It was not clear how long the National Salvation Committee's governing council will retain complete control over national affairs.

The council changed the country's name from Socialist Republic of Romania to Romania and said the form of government was a republic. It also removed from the national flag the center emblem representing Communist rule, Agerpres said.

For the past week, Romanians have waved the blue, yellow and red flag with the emblem ripped out.

The new leadership published details of its program "for the building of a really democratic society in Romania and for securing and defending fundamental human and civil rights," Agerpres reported.

It calls for abolishing the leading role of a single party, free elections in April and the separation of the legislative, executive and judiciary state powers.

The program also says the economy should be restructured for profitability and efficiency, Agerpres said. The new leaders called for "small-scale peasant production."

The revolutionary government had given members of Ceausescu's despised security police until Thursday to surrender or face execution. But it was unknown whether any members of the well-armed force had turned themselves in on the promise of a fair trial.

Members of the security police opened fire as night fell Thursday near the downtown Communist Party headquarters, and there was a fierce firefight before the army brought the situation under control.

Weapons fire also was heard in the neighborhood of the television building, the headquarters for the popular revolution.

Bucharest radio broadcast new instructions for guards at checkpoints to inspect vehicles flying white or Red Cross flags to make sure they have not been commandeered by the security police, who enforced Ceausescu's 24-year reign of terror and repression.

A government communique read on radio called on citizens to stop taking the law into their own hands if they catch any Ceausescu loyalists.

A lot of property in Bucharest was destroyed in the heaviest battles of the revolt that toppled the East bloc's last Stalinist ruler, and on Thursday residents swept up debris and workers replaced hundreds of glass panes blown out of buildings.

As they have for years, long lines circled food shops. But instead of shelves emptied by food exports under Ceausescu's harsh economic policies, shoppers found meat, fruit, vegetables, cheese - even coffee and butter.

"In every shop, there is more," said housewife Mihaela Musatescu.

"There's everything you need to live."

Ceausescu's 74-year-old brother, Marin, was found hanged in the trade section of the Romanian Embassy in Vienna, where he had worked since 1974. He reportedly headed Romanian secret police operations in Western Europe.

The Romanian revolt began with protests in the city of Timisoara on Dec. 15. The rallies spread nationwide and finally forced the Ceausescus to flee their palace on Dec. 22.

They were captured Saturday and executed Monday by firing squad after being convicted of genocide in a secret trial that many nations criticized as unbefitting a nation that says it wants democracy.

Babbling Brooks

By JOHN BROOKS

Ten long years.
The 1980s are finally almost over.
Praise God!
Ten years ago, people were buying and drinking Billy Carter's beer while cussing his brother, Jimmy Carter, who was president and a peanut farmer and admitted to having lust in his heart. Now the beer is a collector's item, Billy is dead and his brother goes to foreign countries to see how crooked politicians can be in other countries. Oh, yes, he also builds houses for the poor.
Ten years ago, most savings and loans were in good shape. Of course the prime interest rate was 20 percent and we all thought the world was coming to an end. Now, the name of every savings and loan in the country has changed at least three times and the interest rate is 10 percent. I don't know which one was better.
Ten years ago, we didn't know if we wanted four more years of the Peanut Farmer with lust in his heart or a divorced former movie actor. That issue was decided by the Russians, who hosted the Olympics we boycotted, and the Iranians, who held a bunch of Americans captive until the movie actor was sworn in.
Ten years ago, we were still shaking our heads over how some of our friends had driven tractors all the way to Washington. Ten years later, they are still driving those same tractors.
Ten years ago, the Russians were bitter enemies and their leaders had ugly wives. Today we get along pretty well with them, and Raisa ain't bad for her age.
Ten years ago, the Berlin Wall was an ugly scar on the world. Ten years from now, it may be a distant memory.
Ten years ago was three buildings ago for Furr's.
Ten years ago this newspaper page was two inches wider.
Ten years ago I was driving a new car. I'm still driving it today.
Ten years ago, I thought I would never be married. Today, I wish I knew 10 years ago what I know now.

Officials look to conserve

AUSTIN (AP) - State officials are beginning to tout conservation instead of construction as a way to meet the state's water needs.

The last statewide water plan in 1984 called for the construction of 65 reservoirs that could have cost $43 billion. But new figures from the Texas Water Development Board indicate water use has dropped since 1980 and may continue to fall for 40 more years.

The decrease is largely due to the drop in water used to irrigate crops - from about 11 million gallons of water in 1980 to a projected 5- to 6-million gallons in the year 2020.

"We did the last plan during boom times and by the time it hit the streets, clouds were on the horizon and things changed," said Gilbert "Sonny" Kretzschmar, executive administrator of the Water Development Board.

The Texas Committee on Natural Resources has opposed many of the proposed reservoir projects.

"They're planning all these reservoirs that are not needed. It's purely classic pork barrel," said the committee's Janice Bezanon.

Ms. Bezanon said nearly all of the state's annual water runoff has been developed and that new reservoirs simply steal water from existing downstream reservoirs.

Most of the reservoirs are planned in East Texas, Ms. Bezanon said, "where we already have more water capacity than we have any use for."

"If we could send it to West Texas it would help, but we can't because it would cost too much to pump it," she said.

Havel assumes Czech presidency after vote

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) - Parliament today crowned the nation's peaceful revolution by electing playwright and opposition leader Vaclav Havel as Czechoslovakia's first non-Communist president in 41 years.

The Communist-dominated parliament, or Federal Assembly, unanimously chose Havel in an unprecedented public vote televised nationwide.

The lawmakers, meeting in a medieval hall at Hradcany Castle, was opened by Alexander Dubcek, champion of the "Prague Spring" reforms crushed in 1968. He was returned to power Thursday when parliament elected him chairman of the body.

Dubcek and Havel are to serve until free legislative elections are held next year.

Havel, who spent a total of five years in jail for challenging totalitarianism in his writings and actions, was praised by Communist Prime Minister Marian Calfa as "a man who is faithful to his beliefs despite persecution."

"He never accepted offers from his friends or recommendations by his enemies to emigrate where the conditions of his life would have been more comfortable," Calfa told the deputies in his nominating speech.

In a moment unimaginable only a few weeks ago, Havel walked with Dubcek up the red carpeted aisle of the castle hall to the flourish of a military band, the applause of Communist deputies and the flashes of camera bulbs.

He signed the oath of office under the draped red, white and blue flag of Czechoslovakia.

As the band played the national anthem, the sounds of 20 cannon salvos could be heard throughout the city.

Within the next few months, parliament is expected to pass new laws guaranteeing freedom of expression and religion and the right of assembly and petition. Reforms already are being carried out for a free-market economy.

The election of the 53-year-old Havel, whose writings once were banned in his own country, is the crowning achievement of the popular revolt that began only 41 days ago.

Havel helped form the opposition group Civic Forum on Nov. 20, three days after a police crackdown on a peaceful student protest for democratic reforms.

Within weeks of the creation of Civic Forum, Communists leaders voted themselves out of power and Miroslav Stepan, considered responsible for the police crackdown, was under arrest facing charges that could bring him up to 10 years in jail.

Havel, already respected for his battle for human rights, overnight became the most popular man in Czechoslovakia.

"Havel for President" buttons appeared on lapels, and campaign posters covered every wall in central Prague.

He has said he would be a

"working president" to guide the country to democratic elections.

After the elections, parliament will choose a new president for a full five-year term. Havel has said he's not interested in that job and wants to go back to writing.

The president's duties are largely ceremonial, but the position holds great symbolic importance, especially now.

Dubcek endured 20 years of humiliation at the hands of hard-line Communists who ousted him as party leader and banished him for trying to increase freedom with the "Prague Spring" reforms.

In his acceptance speech Thursday, he praised his country's peaceful revolution as a continuation of those reforms, which were crushed by a Soviet-led Warsaw Pact invasion.

"The deep changes in society ... have resulted in my return to responsible work in the highest legislative body in the land," Dubcek said.

"The autumn of 1989 developed the ideals of the Prague Spring of 1968 and inspires our nation today toward new creative actions."

Political filings pick up

AUSTIN (AP) - Two Republican candidates for governor say they'll put their money where their plans are today when they pay their $3,000 filing fee with the state.

Midland businessman Clayton Williams paid his fee Thursday. The deadline for the March primaries is 6 p.m. Tuesday.

"The real fun is about to start," Williams said Thursday. "We're taking it easy this week, but come Jan. 2, you just watch my smoke."

The Rev. W.N. Ottwell of Fort Worth and Dallas lawyer Tom Luce said they would pay their filing fees today. But Ottwell said it is ridiculous to require candidates to pay $3,000 when the money could be used for the needy.

Bobby Locke of San Antonio, who said he will be a candidate for governor in 1990 and an independent candidate for president in 1992, Thursday criticized President Bush for taking a South Texas vacation while American military personnel are in Panama.

In other political developments: - Ken Boatwright, who had announced he was going to run against incumbent Jim Hightower for Texas agriculture commissioner, dropped out of the race and threw his support to fellow Republican Rick Perry, a state House member who recently switched political parties.

- David Beilharz, 33, filed as a Republican in his bid to unseat U.S. Rep. Jake Pickle, D-Austin.

Beilharz, founder and chief executive of an auto parts distribution firm, said special interest money in Congress has gotten out of hand and that he would not accept political action committee funds during his campaign, or if he should win office.

Top Noriega aides arrested

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) - An Israeli intelligence expert and three other close aides to Manuel Antonio Noriega were arrested by U.S. troops, who will remain in the country for at least two more months to keep the peace, a U.S. diplomat said.

The deposed Noriega remained holed up in the U.S. Embassy with 17 others, but life around him returned to normal.

The government of President Guillermo Endara opened banks and paid public employees Thursday with $5.8 million confiscated from Noriega loyalists. It also lifted all restrictions on the news media imposed by the Noriega regime.

Also, the Panama Canal returned to 24-hour operations for the first time since the invasion Dec. 20.

U.S. troops arrested Michel Harari, a former Israeli intelligence agent and top security adviser to Noriega who was an instructor for Noriega's Panamanian Defense Forces, the U.S. Embassy official said on condition of anonymity.

Lt. Col. Roberto Cedeno, chief of Noriega's state security intelligence, also was detained.

Harari and Cedeno were not previously in the Vatican embassy but it was not known where they were arrested.

Two more top aides, Lt. Col. Carlos Velardes and Lt. Col. Arnulfo Castrejon, left the embassy and were taken into custody by U.S. troops, said U.S. Army Lt. Col. Jerry Murguia.

Velardes was chaplain of the Defense Forces, and Castrejon was the officer on duty at Noriega's military headquarters on Dec. 16, the day an unarmed U.S. Marine officer was killed nearby.

At the United Nations today, the General Assembly was expected to adopt a resolution that "strongly deplores" the U.S. invasion. The resolution, sponsored by Nicaragua and Cuba, demands withdrawal of U.S. forces and calls the intervention a flagrant violation of international law.

The U.S. diplomat said, however, that the 14,000 U.S. troops sent in the invasion would remain at least through February while local security forces are reconstituted. He also acknowledged there was concern about holdovers from the Noriega regime.

"It is no secret that the new government does not have a lot of confidence in some of these people," he said.

About 12,000 U.S. troops are permanently stationed in Panama.

Noriega remained in the Vatican mission with 17 others, including at least two senior aides, according to the Rev. Javier Villanueva.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We at Wisconsin Central Ltd. are deeply concerned about the number of near misses at railroad crossings. I'm referring to those people who try to beat the train.

You wrote a column a while back on this subject. It was excellent. Would you consider running that column again for those who may not have seen it the first time? — J.L. Bradshaw, V.P. and General Manager, Wisconsin Central Ltd.

DEAR MR. BRADSHAW: I'm pleased that you thought so highly of that column. I agree that it's worth a rerun. Thanks for asking. Here it is.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am married to a railroad engineer. My husband loves his job, except when he hits a car. Most railroaders know it's only a matter of time, because it happens to all of them sooner or later.

My husband's time came yesterday. He is sick at heart, but there was no way he could have avoided that accident. Two people died because the driver ignored the flashing signals and the whistles. He took the gamble and lost.

I hope every person who reads this ask himself if he has ever done the same foolish thing. If he has, I hope it will be the last time. It's so easy to misjudge the speed of a train in the distance. I have stopped at crossings and waited while other cars passed me and went over the tracks. Some of those cars missed being hit by seconds.

Rarely can a train stop in time to prevent an accident. What's more, a small car that gets hit can derail a train and injure or kill the crew.

I know this letter is too late to help the people who died yesterday, but I hope you will print it for the sake of those who are still taking such foolish chances. When they win, they win only a few minutes. When they lose, they lose their lives. — Railroader's Wife

DEAR WIFE: In all the years I've been writing this column, yours is the first letter I've ever received on this subject. Thank you for taking the time to write it. I'm sure you saved some lives today.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have read with interest the letters in your column from readers who have complained about some of the outrageous charges made by hospitals. I would like you to know that lawyers are just as bad.

A few years ago I asked a lawyer for an itemization of what I considered an excessively high bill. When I received his itemization I got socked with yet another bill for $1,200 — the cost of doing the itemization. I had to pay it.

Since that incident, I framed and hung above my phone the quote from Shakespeare's "Henry VI" — "The first thing we do, let's kill all the lawyers." I look at that quote every time I talk to a lawyer. — E.R., Fort Lauderdale.

DEAR E.R.: I spoke with Philip H. Corboy, one of the nation's most distinguished personal-injury attorneys, and this is what he said:

Unless an attorney is on a retainer, the client should request an itemized bill. In the absence of such an agreement, the client has the right to request an itemization, indicating how many hours were spent on the case. To send a bill for the itemization is outrageous. The client should have refused to pay it.

Lonesome? Take charge of your life and turn it around. Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.15 (this includes postage and handling) to: Friends, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada send $5.05.)

Gray leads Raiders to All-American blowout

Still going

Texas Tech's James Gray, shown here breaking a tackle in the Red Raiders' win over Rice earlier this season, closed out his collegiate career Thursday by rushing for 280 yards and four touchdowns to lead the Raiders to a 49-21 win over the Duke Blue Devils in the All American Bowl. Herd falls to Canyon; Lady Whitefaces win

The Herford Whitefaces kept pace with Canyon for most of the game Thursday before the Eagles pulled away in the fourth quarter for a 72-55 win in the second round of the Canyon Rotary Holiday Tournament.

The loss sends the Herd into the third-place game against Floydada, a 77-61 loser to Abernathy, at 6 p.m. today.

The teams tried to run away from each other in the first quarter with the result being a 19-18 Canyon advantage. The Herd shot only one-of-five from the free-throw line in the period, allowing the Eagles to take the lead.

Canyon increased the margin to six before halftime by hitting 14-of-17 free throws in the second period.

After playing even through the third quarter, both squads hit nine free throws. But the Eagles outscored the Herd 11-0 from the floor to put the game out of reach.

Russell Backus led the Herd with 16 points, including 11 from the charity stripe, and was joined in double figures by Jason Walterscheid with 11 and Leo Brown with 10. Matt Bromlow added eight points while Daniel Garcia and Chuck Lemons had four points each and Keith Kelso had two.

Canyon had four players reach double figures for the night, led by Chad Welty with 21, including 14 free throws, and Brandon Schneider with 19. Chad Oakley added 11 and Michael Hutcherson 10 for the Eagles.

The Lady Whitefaces picked up a 32-27 win over the Belton Lady Tigers in the opening round of the Texas Lions Basketball Festival at Kerrville.

The win sends Herford into the semifinals against Pflugerville at 3 p.m. today. The Lady Whitefaces are now 7-9 for the season.

The Lady Whitefaces employed a deliberate offense and a tough defense against Belton. Herford opened up an 11-6 lead after the first period before the Lady Tigers closed to within a point at 15-14 at halftime.

The Lady Tigers managed their first lead of the game at the end of the third quarter, edging in front 20-19. Herford returned from the break between periods to outscore Belton 13-7 over the final eight minutes.

Candice Robbins finished with 10 points for the Lady Whitefaces to lead the scoring while Shantel Cornelius added nine.

Belton was led by Sandy Reed with eight points and Jennifer Jones with five.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) - James Gray made his statement - a record 280 yards - but Steve Spurrier wasn't ready to make his.

Gray scored four touchdowns in helping 24th-ranked Texas Tech control the ball for more than 41 minutes in a 49-21 victory over No. 20 Duke in the All American Bowl Thursday night.

"I had no idea we would have a game like this," Gray said after pacing the Red Raiders' running game to 349 yards. Duke got the same number of yards passing but Tech controlled the game from the time Gray scored from the 2-yard line to finish the first drive of the evening.

"Our line was awesome," Gray said. "I couldn't ask for a better way to wind up my career at Tech."

"I'm very tired. It wasn't as easy as it seemed," said Gray, who carried 33 times.

Spurrier again declined to say whether he would surrender the Duke coaching job in favor of the head job at Florida, where as a quarterback he won the Heisman Trophy in 1966.

"I have said all along that we're not here to talk about what I'm going to do," he said after the game. "There will be plenty of time to do that in a few days."

Gray's rushing total was the most ever in Legion Field, which opened in 1927 and has played host such runners as Bo Jackson, George Rogers and Bobby Humphrey. Gray, the nation's No. 5 rusher with 1,509 yards, added scoring runs of 54, 18 and 16 yards as Tech won its ninth game in 12 starts. Duke finished 8-4.

Gray's previous best rushing game was 234 against Arizona in the season opener. The previous All American Bowl game record was 276 yards by Texas A&M's Curtis Dickey in 1978.

The 70 points was also a record for the bowl, surpassing the 64 scored by Air Force and Vanderbilt in 1982.

"Anytime Gray has a good game, the whole team has a good game," Tech coach Spike Dykes said.

Gray's first three touchdowns and a 36-yard pass from Jamie Gill to Travis Price gave Tech a 28-0 lead. Duke rallied a bit as Dave Brown threw scoring passes of 30 yards to Bud Zuberer and 25 yards to Dave Colonna to make it 28-14 at halftime.

Tech's Brian Dubiski intercepted a Billy Ray pass at the Red Raiders' 31 on the first series of the second half, and Tech then moved 69 yards to put the game away. Gray, who ran for 33 yards on the drive, scored from the 2 on fourth down to make it 35-14.

Early in the second period, Tech's Stephen Weatherspoon knocked the ball from Chris Brown, Dubiski recovered at the Duke 46 and Gray ran 54 yards off right tackle on the next play.

Tech went 55 yards on its next possession, including a 38-yard screen pass to Lynn, and Gray skirted left end for the score.

Duke struck quickly on its next two possessions, moving 70 and 67 yards. A 25-yard pass from Brown to Walter Jones, a 15-yard penalty and Brown's 30-yarder to Zuberer took care of the first drive, and passes of 14 and 28 yards to All-American Clarkston Hines and 25 to Colonna made up the second.

Tech stayed with its ground game in the second half, scoring on 1-yard runs by Lynn and Gill and Gray's 32-yarder.

Colonna caught a 16-yard pass from Brown for Duke's only score of the second half.

Hackett gets first shot

EL PASO (AP) - Pittsburgh interim coach Paul Hackett gets his first shot at head coaching in this Saturday's John Hancock Bowl, and he plans to give Texas A&M a run for its money. "This is a one-shot, unusual game and we're going to give them hell," said Hackett.

The match-up with Texas A&M, 8-3 overall and 6-2 in SWC, will be Hackett's first game as acting head coach of the Panthers. Hackett, formerly Pitt's offensive coordinator and quarterback coach, became acting head coach after Mike Gottfried was fired Dec. 14.

"I think from an organizational standpoint, we did everything we could to prepare these players for this situation," Hackett said. "I've changed roles, but it isn't just this guy sitting in the corner. This football team is the team that deserved and earned the right to come here, and that's the team that's going to play here Saturday."

McAfee started in A&M's final game against Texas, which the Aggies won, 21-10.

Aggies linebacker William Thomas is questionable. Those not playing include guard Mike Pappas, cornerback Mike Washington and nose guard Pat Henry will not play.

"We're probably as thin on the guard position as we are on any position," Slocum said. "That's where they're very good. They've got big strong people that line up over our guards and that concerns me because everything you do kind of starts off there."

Pittsburgh played in the Sun Bowl, the John Hancock Bowl's predecessor, in 1975, beating Kansas 33-19, but has lost its last three bowl games. Texas A&M is making its second visit to Sun Bowl stadium. The Aggies defeated Florida 37-14 on their last visit in 1977. They are a 6-point favorite in Saturday's game.

The game will be televised on CBS. Kickoff is at 10:30 a.m.

Texas A&M is ranked 16th nationally. Pittsburgh is 23rd.

"We have pride in being from the state of Texas and the Southwest Conference and not to mention Texas A&M," said A&M coach R.C. Slocum. "We're representing the state of Texas and the SWC and most of our players are from Texas and we're playing a team from another part of the country."

While Pittsburgh, 7-3-1, will be playing with a new coach, Texas A&M has had to make a few adjustments as well this week.

Aggies' star running back Darren Lewis will not play because of a knee injury. The former Dallas Carter High School player rushed for 961 yards this season.

Backup Keith McAfee will start in Lewis' place.

"It's more pressure on us, but I feel like me and Randy (Simmons) can keep it together," said McAfee.

These people are shouting with joy.

Why? Because they're just two of the people who have enjoyed the success of Hereford Brand classifieds. They were able to target what they had to offer to their prospective customers. Like many customers, it cost them less than $11 a week to run their ad every day in the Brand. Because they ran their ad every day for a week, they received a free ad in the Reach 4 More, reaching customers in Hereford, Dimmitt, Friona, Vega and Adrian. You can be a success, too. '80s a trendy decade

The '80s might be described as one of the trendier decades in history. Everyone is eager to jump on the "trend-wagon" before something becomes passe.

The intriguing part about trends is that they come in all sorts of forms.

Fashion is forever a trend-setter. Everything from accessories to textures to shapes and sizes is dictated by Seventh Avenue.

Standards of human beauty are also set by the fashion world. Gone is the ultra-thin blond model. Today, natural, ethnic beauties are reigning on the pages of fashion magazines.

However, trends originate from many sources, including media, people from all walks of life, and places around the world.

Take for instance, "gummies." You may not recognize the name, but you would recognize the object itself—those black rubber bracelets that men and women alike have been known to wear on occasion.

The bracelets, which look like thin black licorice, originated in Israel when soldiers took them off grenades and started wearing them around their wrists. So, in essence, warfare initiated this trend.

The desire to "look smarter" initiated a trend toward faux eyeglasses. It is not only the mousy librarian type that prefers to sport specs these days.

Trends aren't limited to what you wear. What you eat can also be trendy. Think of how much sushi was consumed in the '80s — not to mention the amount of saki that washed down all that raw fish!

Parasite scares somewhat diminished the sushi craze, although many still indulge in this Japanese delicacy.

Another food trend for the heartier appetite: Tex-Mex. Mexican food, including a melange of enchiladas, tostadas, burritos, chimichangas, guacamole, salsa, refried beans, rice and tortillas, along with those frosty margaritas, was popular with the American public in the '80s.

Not all trends are necessarily new. The '60s revival is alive and well in America today. Tie-dyed tee-shirts, peace signs, the Grateful Dead and healing crystals are all a part of a large subculture that is active in today's society.

On a related tangent, social consciousness and activism have once again worked their way into the American mainstream. Many people are demanding a fur-free society, a decline in animal testing, human rights for South Africa, a clean environment and diminished nuclear testing, plus a plethora of other world-wide concerns.

Not since the '60s have people volunteered for so many causes. This contrasts with the "me-first" attitude of the early '80s.

While the '70s conjures up the image of the "swinging singles" scene, the late '80s is marked by marriages, babies and day care. Domesticity is once again chic, especially among "baby-boomers." Don't forget to include a Bichon Frise dog to make the picture of the trendy '80s family complete.

Technology is at the heart of a variety of trends.

Today, most business people would be crippled without a fax machine! Even art and music can be created using a computer. Computers are not a trend but a reality that is here to stay.

Technology also affects other areas that may seem unrelated. For example, even the cosmetics industry introduces technological miracles. Everything from anti-aging formulas to moisturizer in the form of caviar is available to the consumer. There are even machines to help you relax and get rid of wrinkle-forming tension.

One piece of technology that has been used to the advantage of many, and exploited by some, is the telephone.

There are telephone hotlines for everything and everyone. Some of these are important for information and emergency help and others are just for fun.

You can get the weather, time, dates, horoscope or a message from a celebrity, just by picking up the phone.

Other services include talk lines on which you can talk with people with the same background and interest.

Tradition can also be trendy. The Bush family and its ethics, pearls and the flip hairdo are signs of what lies ahead.

As always, your own personal style is the best. Quite often, there are others following behind you!

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Sunday school begins at 10 a.m. and morning worship starts at 11. The sermon will be taken from Isaiah 63:7-9 and the sermon title will be "No Laughing Matter."

The New Year's Eve service will be held at 7:30 p.m. The sermon is entitled "The Proof is in the Put-ing" which explains Numbers 6:22-27.

Henry Wedel, a long-time member of the church, died recently. Memorial gifts may be made to the church or the Hereford Senior Citizens Center.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The public is invited to a reception honoring Archie and Pene Coplen after the Sunday morning worship service in the church fellowship hall.

Coplen has served as minister of music at First Baptist Church for four years. His wife is a second grade teacher at Tierra Blanca Elementary School.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

At the final worship service of 1989 in First United Methodist Church Sunday morning, the Rev. Reta Richards has been invited to be the guest speaker. A retired United Methodist minister now living at King's Manor Retirement Home, Rev. Richards is a member of First UMC.

Her sermon title is "The Three R's". Jo Linker will act as liturgist in the service which begins at 10:55 a.m. and will give the children's sermon. Steve Sobczak will direct the music.

Rev. Richards has assisted the pastor, Dr. Steve McElroy, in worship services since she has been in Hereford and has also assisted the chaplain at King's Manor, Rev. Lanny Wheeler. She served as pastor of several churches in Northwest Texas during her active years in the ministry, retiring from the pastorate at Welch.

Youth of First UMC will welcome the New Year with a backward party from 8:30-11:59 p.m. Sunday in the fellowship hall. Monday, Jan. 1, will be a holiday for the staff with the church office closed.

Recipes for New Year's

"Drop-in" entertaining is easy on the nerves as well as the budget, especially during the sometimes frenetic days leading up to New Year's Day.

Keep things simple with a peppy chili dip and a punch bowl or pitcher brimming with a cooling wine-tea punch.

The recipe for this Hot-Hot Chili Con Queso brings into a play a melange of tomatoes, chilies, chopped onion and various other seasonings, blended with cream cheese and milk. Serve warm with crunchy crudites of carrot sticks, celery, cauliflower and green pepper, plus crisp tortilla chips.

The festive holiday punch will cool down the palates of your guests while they are enjoying the peppery dip. Instant tea, which is the base for the punch, never overpowers the remaining ingredients—lemonade concentrate, apple juice and dry white wine.

HAPPY HOLIDAY PUNCH

(Makes 3 1/4 quarts)

- 3 rounded tablespoons instant tea
- 4 tablespoons sugar
- 6 cups ice water
- 1 (6 oz.) can lemonade concentrate, undiluted
- 3 cups apple juice
- 3 cups dry white wine

Combine instant tea, sugar and ice water. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Add remaining ingredients. Chill. When ready to serve, pour over ice in punch bowl or pitcher.

HOT-HOT CHILI CON QUESO

(Makes about 2 cups)

- 2 medium tomatoes, peeled, seeded and chopped
- 1 (4 oz.) can chilies, drained and chopped
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 3/4 teaspoon seasoned salt
- 1/8 teaspoon garlic powder
- Dash white pepper
- 1 (8 oz.) package cream cheese, cubed and softened
- 1/4 cup cream or milk
- 2 tablespoons drained, chopped pimientos
- Raw vegetables
- Tortilla chips

In medium saucepan, simmer tomatoes, chilies, onion, seasoned salt, garlic powder and pepper 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Blend in cream cheese and then cream. Over very low heat, stir and heat through. Turn into chafing dish or heat proof casserole and keep warm over candle warmer, and garnish with pimiento. Serve warm with carrot sticks, celery, cauliflower florets, green pepper squares and tortilla chips. Thin with a little cream if needed during serving period. Any leftover dip may be chilled and used as cracker spread.

Trendy decorating means traditional decorating

To say the current decorating trend is the traditional may seem like a paradox.

But, after years of embracing the trendy designs of others, such as bean bag chairs and lava lamps, people are now looking for home interior ideas that will last.

What makes traditional decorating work is the timelessness of each piece, from basic furniture to carefully-chosen accessories. Wall decor, floor coverings, throw pillows...each component should be a lasting investment, melding with a particular lifestyle for more than a few seasons.

Because consumers are "cocooning," retreating to the four walls of home to escape the frenzy of a fast-paced world, more emphasis is placed on comfort: To the body, to the mind and to the eye.

This recent trend has not been overlooked by furniture manufacturers. In fact, "new" versions of old pieces, such as chaise lounges and porch swings, have been introduced by leading manufacturers. Given this, it makes sense to invest in high quality furnishings designed for comfort.

But the basic furniture of one's home need not be replaced to create a newly traditional interior design scheme. Accessories such as lamps, throw rugs and even wall decor can provide a new look and drastically change the mood of a room.

According to Cathy Crane, interior design expert and consultant to Deck The Walls, the nation's largest network of custom framing and art stores, "traditional" means something different to each individual.

documents all can be protected and displayed gracefully when framed, according to Jim Nye, framing specialist.

For traditional country charm, consider framing watercolor paintings, quilt pieces, or antique embroidery samplers against a floral lace or organdy background. Framed in wicker, pine, or hand-painted wood, these pieces add whimsical simplicity to your decorating scheme, especially when placed near a cluster of wicker baskets or above a couch complemented by hand-quilted pillows.

At the other end of the spectrum, the timeless beauty of classic European decor can be achieved by using rich jewel tones, luscious fabrics and fine woods which exemplify the elegance of this style.

Medals, prayer books or lace can be mounted against amethyst velvet or sapphire moire taffeta, for example, then framed in a rich cherry wood, walnut or gold leaf. Prized collections, from porcelain figurines to carefully executed miniature oil paintings, as well as lace and velvet drapes, gracefully complete a European look.

By displaying personal treasures, whether inherited or serendipitously found at a flea market, your walls reflect creativity, individuality, your values. When you create "art" from your personal treasures, you have created another personal tradition which may be passed down for generations to come.

NEW YORK (AP) - Fashion designer Oscar de la Renta and socialite Annette Reed, a couple about town for several years, have tied the knot.

They were married Tuesday at de la Renta's home in La Romana in the Dominican Republic, the couturier's office confirmed Thursday.

It was the second marriage for each. The bride, 50, is an active supporter of a number of cultural and philanthropic causes, particularly the New York Public Library. She is the daughter of Jane Engelhard and the late Charles W. Engelhard, the industrialist and race horse owner.

Mrs. de la Renta has two daughters and a son from her previous marriage, which ended in divorce.

De la Renta, 57, has a son he adopted after the death of his first wife in 1983.

Scholarship fund available to students

The Sybil B. Harrington Merit Scholarship Fund, designed to reward the academic achievements of graduating high school students from the northern 26 Texas counties and Amarillo College graduates, has been established through The Amarillo College Foundation. The Fund will be created over a five-year period with the initial gift being approximately $720,000; thereafter, the principal will generate the income for scholarship distribution. Funding for the program is made available from Mrs. Sybil B. Harrington.

Scholarships will be awarded to students attending accredited institutions of higher education in Texas. During the initial five-year funding period, scholarships will only be awarded on an annual basis, but may be renewed if outstanding academic achievement is maintained. The maximum scholarship award will be $3,500. The money must be used for tuition, fees and books. The amount of each scholarship will be based on the recipient's actual registration and book costs. The initial scholarships will be awarded for the Fall 1990 term.

"Mrs. Harrington's generosity to the area and her specific support of higher education indicates her commitment to improving the quality of life for both students and residents of the Texas Panhandle. We are all fortunate to share in her philanthropy," said Richard D. Palmer, Chairman, Amarillo College Foundation.

Eighty percent of the scholarship grants will be allocated to area high school graduates. Ten percent will be given to students planning to attend Amarillo College, and 10 percent will be granted to scholarships for Amarillo College graduates continuing their education.

"The Amarillo College Foundation is honored to participate in this program and looks forward to recognizing the outstanding academic accomplishments of area students," Palmer added.

Scholarship recipients will be selected by a five-member committee. To date, two positions on the committee include the Executive Director of The Amarillo College Foundation and the Director of Financial Aid for Amarillo College. The committee's function will be to review applications and choose recipients based upon the following criteria:

Grade Point Average - 40 percent
College Entrance Exam Scores - 35 percent

Personal Interviews with Scholarship Committee and Recommendations of High School Principal and Counselor - 15 percent

Financial Need - 10 percent
Once the initial five-year funding period has passed, 5 percent of the annual income will be added to the corpus until the principal reaches $5 million.

The formal application procedure for the Sybil B. Harrington Merit Scholarship Fund will be announced in early 1990 by The Amarillo College Foundation Palmer said.

MILAN, Italy (AP) - Maurizio Gucci, chairman of the Italian luxury goods company Guccio Gucci SPA, has been found innocent of attempted fraud by a Milan appeals court.

In November 1988, Gucci was given a one-year suspended prison term and a fine of $760 after being convicted of tax fraud. He also was ordered to pay inheritance tax on shares of Gucci he had received from his father, Rodolfo.

The Milan court had ruled that Maurizio Gucci arranged the forgery of his father's signature on the documents giving him the shares, to make it appear that the transfer took place before Rodolfo Gucci's death in 1983. The lower court said Gucci was trying to evade inheritance taxes.

Try math for quiet time

CHICAGO (AP) - When the kids are bouncing off the walls during the holidays, or when post-holiday letdown sets in and all the new toys are boring, try math for fun and skill.

"Sometimes the season can prove a trifle too exciting for preschool and early primary youngsters, and that can lead to the inevitable letdown," says Robert L. Baseman, president of the Britannica Learning Centers. "But not if parents find interesting ways to keep their children occupied."

Math books and related games and activities for pre-schoolers through Grade 3 as suggested by Baseman:

- "My Very First Book of Numbers," by Eric Carle. Harper & Row Junior Books Group, 1985, $2.95 (preschool). Pages are cut in half, and a child counts the objects at the top of the page, then arranges them to match the numbers at the bottom.

- "The Most Amazing Hide-And-Seek Counting Book," by Robert Crowther. Viking Kestrel Imprint, Penguin USA, 1981, $12.95. (Preschool through Grade 3). Here, fish leap from the water, bees buzz behind flowers and turtles hatch from eggs ready to be counted.

- "One Green Frog," by Yvonne Hooker. Putnam Publishing Group, 1989, $7.95. (Preschool through kindergarten). Animals have holes for eyes, which peer at and count the animals on the next page.

- "Roll Over!" by Mordcai Gerstein. Crown Publishers, Inc., 1984, $8.95. (Preschool through Grade 1). Animals are subtracted as each one leaves the room at bedtime.
