City clamps down on 'home' businesses

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Hereford residents who are operating businesses out of their homes may be getting some unwelcome news from the City of Hereford.

Their business may be operating illegally, according to city ordinances, and the city is cracking down on out-of-home businesses.

Marvin Gaddy, the city inspector, said the city has sent letters to "about 15" persons who have been found to have business operating out of their homes that are restricted by ordinance.

"There may be some others that we don't know about yet," Gaddy said. "we are working on others."

The ordinance restricting types of businesses which may be operated out of homes is Ordinance No. 1193. It says:

"Home occupations shall not include barber shops, beauty shops, carpenter shops, electrician's shops, plumbing shops, radio and television repair shops, tinner's shops, transfer and moving van offices, auto repairing, auto painting, furniture repairing, sign painting, or any similar occupations."

Once persons were notified by letter, they were given 30 days to stop operating the business out of the residence "or charges will be filed against you and you will be subject to a fine not to exceed $100.00 per day that this violation exists."

The ordinance has been part of city law since at least March 1975, when the city amended, wrote and rewrote many ordinances from 1954. Gaddy said the ordinance may have been on the books before 1975, but he had no way of being certain.

Taylor Holland, who has been operating Tower TV Repair from his home at 248 Northwest Drive for about 20 years, was irate about the letter on Tuesday and said he has contacted an Amarillo attorney about the order.

Taylor has been running a classified ad in the Hereford Brand and has a small, homemade sign in a window of his garage.

"I've been in business about 20 years except for a short six-month period, and now they say I can't operate out of my home," Holland said. He said the business generates no traffic around the residence, at the corner of Northwest Drive and Moreman. "Maybe every six months I might have two cars at one time to drop off or pick up a TV. You would hardly know there is a business operating out of my home."

New redistricting plans would split Amarillo, Lubbock

By CHIP BROWN
Associated Press Writer

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - West Texas political leaders are criticizing the state Senate's proposed redistricting plan which splits Amarillo and Lubbock.

Several city officials in Amarillo contend the plan dilutes political strength in the Panhandle and have said they would take legal action if it is finalized.

Republican U.S. Rep. Larry Combest on Wednesday said Lubbock should also consider litigation.

"If Amarillo is split and they file suit, I would encourage it in Lubbock," said Combest. "The plan now is not within the criteria of redistricting. There are many other options in this endeavor."

Combest, whose 19th District includes Lubbock, contends lines in the Panhandle are being drawn to secure a Democratic district.

"You only have to look at the precincts being cut out of Lubbock to realize this is purely an attempt to gain more Democratic votes," said Combest.

Under the Senate plan, portions of Amarillo, which straddles the Potter and Randall County lines, would be realigned from District 13 to District 19, which extends along the New Mexico border south to Odessa.

communities of blacks and Hispanics, out of District 19 and into District 13, now represented by U.S. Rep. Bill Sarpalius, D-Amarillo.

"They are not even talking about splitting within a county. They are talking about reaching into a city and pulling out most of the generally Democratic precincts," Combest said. "It's simply ridiculous."

The Senate plan also extends District 13 eastward to pick up portions of Wise and Denton counties near Dallas.

"I'm not real excited about having Amarillo and Denton in the same district. That's a long way away," Sarpalius said Wednesday. "But the Texas Legislature has been given a difficult task and I'll take whatever they give me."

The 22 precincts that would be transferred from the city of Lubbock to District 13 had a population of 55,175 in the 1990 census. Blacks and Hispanics comprised 37,343, or 67.7 percent of the total.

State Rep. Delwin Jones, R-Lubbock, who opposed plans to divide Amarillo, said he saw no reason to split Lubbock.

"Those lines were drawn from partisan reasons," said Jones, vice chairman of the House Redistricting Committee.

Amarillo City Commissioner John McKissack said the change would give Amarillo two congressmen from opposite parties whose votes would cancel each other out much of the time.

But Sarpalius said Amarillo and Lubbock would be benefited by having two congressmen working for each city.

"If we had Amarillo and Lubbock together, there would be some real opportunity to work as a team to help constituencies," Sarpalius said.

Each 10 years, after the census count, legislators are charged with redrawing district lines for the state House and Senate, the U.S. House and the State Board of Education.

Any redistricting plan also must be approved by the U.S. Justice Department under the Voting Rights Act, and when it is all over, the plan can still be challenged in court.

Shuttle does acrobatics to test new experiments

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) - Space shuttle Discovery executed cartwheels and tricky twists in a series of Star Wars experiments to help scientists develop a system capable of detecting and destroying enemy missiles.

"It's quite a light show," astronaut Richard Hieb said during Wednesday's experiments.

The crew planned a repeat of the high-flying acrobatics today after guiding the shuttle to within 1 (miles of the $94 million satellite that is gathering data on the maneuvers. In Wednesday's tests, the craft were 6.2 miles apart.

During the fancy flips and twists, the satellite watched the shuttle's exhaust plumes. In addition, the satellite was to study chemical and gas clouds sprayed into space from the shuttle.

Pentagon scientists hope to develop sensors that can "read" a rocket's exhaust and identify an enemy missile without being fooled by camouflage gases or confusing the missile with natural phenomena, such as atmospheric light.

After today's tests, Discovery astronauts planned to snatch the satellite from space with the shuttle's robot arm and tuck it back into the cargo bay.

The first plume test was delayed for nine hours Wednesday when the astronauts encountered trouble aiming the satellite, which had been released from the shuttle earlier in the day. The problem was solved and four tests were completed.

All seven crew members, who generally had been working in 12-hour shifts, had a hand in the technical turns.

Commander Michael Coats fired Discovery's right maneuvering engine, shaking the ship with a roar and sending out a long exhaust plume. The crew captured the display with the satellite's infrared sensors and TV cameras.

The firing pushed Discovery almost a mile out of its orbital plane. Coats then fired the steering jets, causing the shuttle's nose to flip 180 degrees from north to south. Another engine firing served as a brake.

After another cartwheel, Discovery was back behind the satellite, whizzing around the world once again at 17,500 mph. The entire sequence took 27 minutes.

In a broadcast aired later on NASA television, the shuttle appeared as a small glowing spot in the dark sky. Brilliant bursts of light could be seen when the engines were fired.

"It is wonderful to see it come together, and it came together today," said Michael Harrison, program director for the Strategic Defense Initiative, or Star Wars.

Earlier in the day, the 4,200-pound satellite had moved into the wrong position, and the first two attempts to correct it failed. NASA blamed one error on ground operators and said it was mystified by the other.

One Earth observation was missed Wednesday because of the alignment trouble, one of several problems the military mission has encountered.

Six experiments have been scrapped and others are in jeopardy because of two failed data-recorders.

Democrats turn pro-defense

WASHINGTON (AP) - Democrats who voted against authorizing the use of force in the Persian Gulf could turn hawkish in the coming weeks, particularly on spending decisions for the B-2 stealth bomber, some lawmakers say.

"A lot of members might be looking for a vote to redesign their defense posture," Rep. Buddy Darden, D-Ga., who backed President Bush in January, said Wednesday.

But Rep. Thomas Downey, D-N.Y., who opposed war authorization, dismissed the idea that members of his party could improve their public standing after a popular war that way. "Democrats worried about their war vote are not going to get well because they voted for a weapons system," he said.

The effort by some Democrats to change their image will likely occur over the issue of the B-2 bomber, the $860 million-a-copy, radar-evading plane that the House refused to buy last year.

The administration and Congress have agreed to spend $295 billion on defense in the 1992 fiscal year starting Oct. 1, but lawmakers must decide how to allocate the money among personnel, weapons, ships and aircraft.

With the House Armed Services Committee crafting the defense bill, which it will present to the full House on May 21, several Democrats are wary about opposing major weapons or cutting too deeply.

A proponent of stopping the B-2 program at the 15 planes already in production said his supporters are worried that some Democrats who opposed the aircraft last year may backtrack because of their war vote.

"I just don't know," said Rep. Ron Dellums, D-Calif., who voted against the war authorization. "We'll chat one-on-one."

Bush is seeking $4.8 billion for four of the stealth bombers in the 1992 budget.

The Senate Armed Services Committee is expected to approve the request; the House panel will likely follow its chairman, Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., who is expected to support Dellums on the issue and call for no more planes.

The House included no money in its defense bill last year to buy the B-2 bomber, and the issue never came to a floor vote.

Dellums and other sponsors of his measure said they had more than 200 votes against the aircraft, if it came to a vote. This year, the House will likely accept the committee's action but several Democrats could vote for the program.

"I think there's some reluctance among some members on the B-2 issue," said Darden.

Rep. Ike Skelton, D-Mo., a proponent of the plane who voted for war authorization, said he also detected a "renewed interest among a number of" Democrats in the bomber program.

The Northrop Corp., manufacturer of the B-2, and the White House have been lobbying aggressively for the plane. The administration was faulted by Democrats and Republicans alike last year for waiting until the end to campaign for it.

The nervousness among Democrats could also affect spending on the Strategic Defense Initiative, although it is unlikely that the House will approve the administration's 1992 request of $4.6 billion for the Star Wars program.

Lawmakers estimate that Congress could approve $3 billion to $3.9 billion, less than the administration wants but more than the $2.9 billion adopted by Congress last year.

Seafood being tested for cholera

WASHINGTON (AP) - Federal and industry inspectors are testing produce and seafood from South American countries where cholera is killing thousands. But does this mean that U.S. consumers need to worry when they pick up bananas or fish from their local supermarkets?

Officials say no.

But they are still concerned enough to be testing samples of all seafood coming into the United States from Peru, where the epidemic started, and have added a cholera test to the random examination of fish from countries where the deadly disease has spread.

The testing of all fruit and vegetables from Peru that had been conducted since January stopped last week after the Food and Drug Administration determined that produce from the country was not carrying the cholera bacteria and would not pose a danger to American consumers.

"We were on top of it very quickly, so we have felt very assured that there are no products entering this country that are contaminated with cholera," said Theresa Hoage, an FDA spokeswoman.

She said no shipments have been turned back. No cholera has been found on either produce or fish legally brought to the United States, she said.

"My real fear is that there would be a paranoia, a hysteria," said Dr. David Sack, associate professor of international health at Johns Hopkins University and director of its international travel clinic.

"Theoretically, if crab or something like that were being imported from cholera areas, it's always theoretically possible to bring the cholera bacteria with it, but normally seafood is cooked, and cooking will kill the organisms," said Sack.

Joseph Madden, acting director of the FDA's office of microbiology, said cholera, which is caused by contaminated water, is not much of a threat in the United States because of this country's modern sewage treatment and clean water supply.

But anyone who eats food that carries the bacteria will get sick, he said.

Consumers can further protect themselves by making sure fish is cooked for at least 3 minutes at 140 degrees or higher. Water boils at 212 degrees.

Produce should be washed thoroughly and, if possible, peeled.

Mock jury acquits Oswald

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) - Lee Harvey Oswald was cleared of charges that he assassinated President John F. Kennedy by a mock trial jury of college students in this town known for its typically American views.

The trial, condensed to 3 1/2 hours, also resulted in an overwhelming vote of innocence for Oswald by about 100 spectators at the U.S. District Courthouse on Wednesday night.

"It was unanimous on the first vote," said jury foreman David Oliver, a business management major at Bradley University. "A majority of the jury believed Oswald was involved, but they didn't know to what extent."

The abbreviated trial had its tense moments.

The courtroom fell silent, except for a few gasps of horror, as the defense team played a tape of the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination.

The audience and the jurors watched as Kennedy's motorcade sped past the Texas Schoolbook Depository in Dallas. They saw, in slow motion, the president's head explode in blood from the impact of a bullet.

Witnesses who testified before the Warren Commission and congressional committees investigating the assassination were portrayed at the trial.

The attorneys and witnesses had no script, but the testimony was based on statements given under oath.

Jurors received photos of Dealey Plaza, where the assassination occurred, and a photo of witnesses dropping to the ground and looking toward a grassy knoll where, according to some conspiracy theories, a second gunman hid behind a fence.

There was even testimony from a witness portraying Marina Oswald, widow of the accused assassin. She detailed Oswald's communist beliefs, defection to the Soviet Union and support for Cuba's communist revolution.

"The people have not proven Lee Harvey Oswald fired the shot that killed President Kennedy," defense attorney Mark Rose told jurors in closing arguments. "The laws of physics prove he is not guilty."

Prosecutor Robert Gaubas urged jurors to ignore the conspiracy theory and focus on the rifle and three spent cartridges, bearing Oswald's fingerprints and clothing fibers and found near the sixth-floor window where police spotted a sniper.

"It's time to bring to justice the man who snuffed out President Kennedy's life," Gaubas said.

Oliver said the 12-member jury, all members of a business-law class at Bradley, was convinced Oswald was not the lone assassin. The jury deliberated about 10 minutes before reaching its verdict.

"Justice was done," declared K. Tate Chambers, assistant U.S. attorney and president of the Clarence Darrow Inn, which sponsored the trial as a celebration of Law Day 1991.

The trial was an exercise of the Inn, which is a group of 64 criminal law experts - judges, federal and state prosecutors and defense attorneys.

They meet regularly to develop the expertise of law practiced in Peoria courtrooms. The more experienced attorneys tutor new lawyers and drill them on aspects of prosecution, defense and ethics of law.

Young lawyers, or "pupils," get experience and feedback from the Inn's "barristers and masters" who critique their performance.

Richard Parsons, longtime federal criminal defense attorney, compared it to a young doctor serving an internship.

U.S. District Judge Michael M. Mihm said another important function of the Inn is to expose the public to the legal system.

"We're trying to give them an interesting reason to come down," said Mihm, who founded the Inn three years ago. "Of course, with the time restrictions, we can only give the audience a flavor of the evidence and the arguments in the case."

INS agents expect more alien arrests

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Immigration agents say more arrests could result from the discovery of three undocumented Mexican workers found padlocked inside an aluminum storage shed.

Jose Mario Hernandez, 52, was charged Wednesday with three counts of harboring illegal aliens after the workers were found locked in a shed on his property during a federal raid Tuesday.

Gary Renick, chief of investigations with the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service in San Antonio, said agents were investigating employers who may have hired the workers and paid them below minimum wage.

"We're looking at two other individuals," he said.

The three undocumented aliens found in the shed did yard work and odd jobs, Renick said.

"(They) worked them around the San Antonio area during the day, and brought them back there at night," said Renick.

The workers were given food at the shed, which has electricity but no running water, Renick said. It is believed the workers used a portable toilet at the building.

The shed is located in a business district on a three-acre piece of property that also contains old cars and trucks. It is surrounded by an aluminum fence. Its gates were locked Wednesday.

Workers at nearby businesses said they did not know the undocumented aliens had been staying there and were surprised when they heard about the INS raid.

Robbins named in Who's Who Randy Robbins of Hereford is scheduled to appear in the 24th annual edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1989-90.

Who's Who, published by Educational Communications, Inc., Lake Forest, Illinois, is the largest high school recognition publication in the country. Students are selected by high school principals and guidance counselors, national youth groups, churches or by the publishing company based upon students' performance in scholarship award contests or extra-curricular activities.

Final selection is determined on the basis of criteria which include high achievement in academics and leadership in school activities, athletics or community service. Traditionally, 99 percent of Who's Who students have a grade point average of "B" or better and 97 percent are college-bound.

The 24th edition of Who's Who, published in fifteen regional volumes, features 684,800 students, or 5 percent of the nation's 12,000,000 high school students. They represent 18,000 of the 22,000 public, private and parochial high schools in the country.

Who's Who students also compete for over $65,000 in scholarship awards and participate in the publication's annual opinion poll of teen attitudes. The book is distributed on a complimentary basis to over 15,000 high schools, colleges, universities, and public libraries throughout the country.

Program on etching presented

The Valeda Study Club met recently in the home of Bettie Dickson with Jack Nunley presenting a program on glass etching.

Nunley displayed pictures he had made to members of the club explaining the art work involved. He urged members to try glass etching as a hobby.

President Della Hutchins presided over the business meeting.

Roll call was answered by "The hobby you have always wanted to do."

Dickson and Della Hutchins served as hostesses to Betty Gilbert, Frances Crume, Joyce Ritter, Bettie Dickson, Mary Dzuik, Theda Seiver, Betty Roberts, Margaret Zinser, Juanita Brown, DeAnn Sisson, Marcella Bradley, and Clovis Seago.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 18-year-old college student. Several weeks ago, I attended a fraternity party with "Jeff." We had a lot of fun. When he asked me out a second time and then a third, I accepted.

After the fourth date, I decided I didn't want to go out with Jeff anymore. Frankly, he was becoming very moody and unpleasantly aggressive. He got upset when I told him not to call me anymore and begged for a chance to talk about "what went wrong." I felt I owed him that much, so I agreed.

That get-together turned into a three-hour session of Jeff trying to get me to go out with him again. Fifteen minutes after I got home, the phone was ringing. It was Jeff. More talk. Finally, I hung up on him. He called back immediately. The next day he called 20 times in a row. I decided to take the phone off the hook. The following week I had my phone number changed.

I thought I could handle this guy, but when he started to follow me around campus I became concerned. Twice he followed me up to my dorm room and refused to leave. My neighbors called security. He has threatened to continue this "as long as it takes" for me to go out with him again.

I have told Jeff in every way possible that I want nothing to do with him and to leave me alone, but I'm beginning to feel uneasy. Please tell me what to do. -- Stressed Out in the Midwest

DEAR STRESSED: Jeff's persistence suggests that he is obsessed with you. This could prove dangerous. Obsessions are a form of mental illness.

Notify the dean of the college. If he or she suggests that you charge Jeff with harassment, do it. If Jeff threatens to harm you in any way, go straight to the police. In the meantime, do not walk on campus (or anywhere else) alone. Please write

ST. CHARLES, III. (AP) - A series of concerts by Merle Haggard, Charlie Daniels and others raised more than $140,000 for the families of those killed in a plane crash carrying singer Reba McEntire's band.

Miss McEntire was not on the plane, which went down March 16 near San Diego.

Proceeds from the March 21-23 shows at the Pheasant Run Resort will be divided among the families of the eight people killed, with each family getting about $18,000, the resort said Tuesday.

Also appearing at the concerts were Sawyer Brown, Lee Greenwood.

back and tell me what happened. I'm worried about you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I was in the third grade, I had an experience that has stuck in my craw all these years. The class assignment was to compose a poem or a short story. The best ones would be published in a booklet with acknowledgments to the winners.

First place went to a girl who had lifted a poem from a well-known writer. When this flagrant plagiarism was brought to the attention of the teachers who did the judging, they said nothing could be done because the competition was over. The child who should have received first place for her original work was me. My parents concluded that the judges were too embarrassed to set matters straight.

I am now a grandmother. My granddaughter's short story appeared in a school-published book of original student work. After reading her story, I read the works of the other students and noticed that the winning poem sounded familiar. Small wonder -- it was written by Helen Steiner Rice, entitled, "Prayers Can't Be Answered Unless They're Prayed."

I visited the school, talked with the teacher and showed her a book of Helen Steiner Rice's work which contained the "winning" poem. She said, "Nothing can be done about it now. The incident was regrettable," etc.

Apparently today's teachers are just as lacking in integrity as they were 45 years ago. How about it? -- E.A., Midwest City, Okla.

Allow me to introduce myself and my family!

Dear Friends:

In order for you to become better acquainted with your candidate for Mayor, I would like to introduce you to my family. In so doing, hopefully it will become clear as to my interest in continuing to help create a favorable future for Hereford an all of its citizenry.

My wife, Carol Sue, and I have been married for 25 years; we are the proud parents of two daughters. Carol Sue has served on the Chamber board for three years, serves on the Cowgirl Hall of Fame board, and is a member of the Hereford Hustlers. She currently is president of the Hereford Board of Realtors and is active in the First United Methodist Church.

Tiffany Confer, is our 21-year-old daughter who is currently a senior at Texas Tech University. Tiffany is married to Blake Confer, also a senior at Tech. Blake and Tiffany are the parents of the "pride and joy" of both the LeGate and Confer families. Jordan Brooke Confer turned one year old on April 20.

Jennifer, our 17-year-old, will be a senior in Hereford High School. Like her sister, she was born and raised in Hereford. Her interests have included band and drill team and she participates on the HHS varsity tennis team. Jennifer also plans to attend Texas Tech University upon her graduation from high school.

My family would like for me to be mayor. I would like to be your mayor. However, I know that being mayor is not a one-man show. It will take each citizen's support and effort to make our city the place we want it to be or become.

Sincerely,

Tom LeGate

Ryan hurls 7th no-hitter

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - His head hurt, his back hurt, his heel hurt and his middle finger hurt.

Then sickly 44-year-old Nolan Ryan hurt the Toronto Blue Jays Wednesday night with the most dominating of his seven career no-hitters in a quarter-century big league career.

Ryan's 3-0 victory for the Texas Rangers was accomplished with 96 mile an hour fastballs, 86 mph changeups, and 80 mph curves. He struck out 16 and walked only two in cutting down the major league's best hitting team.

Not bad for an old man in baseball years who told pitching coach Tom House before the game: "My back hurts, my heel hurts and I've been pounding Advil all day. I don't feel good. I feel old today. Watch me."

House watched along with 33,439 fans as Ryan allowed the Blue Jays to hit only eight balls fair.

Ryan said he had never had better stuff during any of his other no-hitters.

"I never had command of all three pitches like I did tonight," Ryan said. "It was my most overpowering no-hitter."

The only danger came in the fifth inning when Manny Lee hit a Texas Leaguer to short center that gold glove Gary Pettis caught shootop high.

"I was concerned and the only time I was worried but I knew Gary had a good chance because he was playing shallow," Ryan said. "It was good to have a gold glove there on that play."

Catcher Mike Stanley thought the no-hitter was over.

"I just hung my head and had a few choice words," Stanley said. "I definitely thought it was a hit."

Lee said didn't think his blooper would make it.

"It was off the end of the bat and Pettis got a good jump," Lee said.

Ryan struck out Roberto Alomar on a 93 mph fastball for the final out.

"Hell, I've known that kid since he was a two-year-old toddler," Ryan said. "I knew him when he wanted to be a pitcher."

Ryan was so caught up in the excitement he actually had a big swig of champagne in the dressing room before he iced his arm and got on his exercise bike.

"This was the most rewarding no-hitter of them all because it came in front of my fans on Arlington (Half-Price) Appreciation Night," Ryan said. "My career is complete now. I got one for the fans in Arlington. You just hope you can get in a position to do something like this, but I would have been real disappointed if it got away."

The non-Arlington citizens who paid full fare didn't mind.

It was the first no-hitter ever pitched in Arlington Stadium by a Rangers pitcher. Ryan threw his sixth no-hitter last year in Oakland with 14 strikeouts when he became the oldest pitcher to ever throw a no-hitter at the age of 43.

Ryan, baseball's all-time strikeout king, was listless in the bullpen during warmups.

"I didn't think I'd be out there very long," said Ryan, who was pitching on four days rest instead of the normal five days between starts. "But once the game got started everything fell into place. Suddenly, I got strong."

Batterymate Stanley said; "that Nolan's something. He complains all day then goes out and pitches a no-hitter. All I know is I watched from the bench when he got his 300th victory, his 5,000th strikeout and his sixth no-hitter. Now, I'm part of history."

Ryan threw 122 pitches, 83 for strikes, and never allowed a runner past first base, walking Kelly Gruber and Joe Carter on full-count pitches.

Asked how he planned to celebrate, Ryan said "I've got to get straight to bed. Got some errands to run tomorrow."

"And, I've got a 9 a.m. workout I've got to make," added the no-hitter king, feeling much better than he had earlier in the day.

Wednesday scrambles start

The weekly golf scramble at John Pitman Municipal Golf Course got underway for the new season Wednesday with a foursome composed of Blair Rogers, Bret West, Jesse Hernandez and Ronnie Lance posting the winning score of 29.

The runner-up team in the nine-hole scramble, with a score of 30, was composed of Grant Cettie, Mitch Reeve, Steve Sanders and Teresa Albracht. Two teams posted a score of 31. Interested players can sign up for the Wednesday Scramble at the golf course.

Henderson passes Brock

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) - Lou Brock's record was just a step on Rickey Henderson's run into base-stealing heaven.

Twelve seasons into his career, Henderson broke Brock's all-time record for career stolen bases with his 939th steal in the Oakland Athletics' 7-4 victory over the New York Yankees Wednesday.

"I just want to keep stealing bases," said Henderson, who figures 1,200 is a cinch and 1,500 is possible if he stays healthy. "I want to steal so many that I put (the record) out of sight."

For a man known for his speed, Henderson took a lot of time writing the final two entries into the record book. Coming into the season, he needed three stolen bases for the record, which finally fell in the A's 21st game, more than three weeks after Opening Day.

"I've never had it this tough getting two bases," Henderson said. "They were the toughest of my career. I don't know why. It didn't seem like I would ever get them."

Still, Henderson ran into the record books with amazing speed, setting the record in 1,154 attempts in 12 seasons. Brock needed 1,245 attempts over 19 years.

Buentello wins jacket

The Hereford Boxing Club competed in a tournament in Lubbock Friday and Saturday, taking 10 boys to fight. Javier Buentello won his fight each night to earn the "best fighter" award, for which he was given a jacket, he said.

Jaime Suarez won his fight Saturday to claim first place in the intermediate division, Buentello said.

Other members of the club who competed were Thomas Suarez, Bobby Suarez, Bennie Rocha, Bernie Aguerro, Robert Lancon, Ralph DeLeon, Leroy Arroyos and Ismael Arroyos. The club is coached by Robert Suarez and Tony Mendoza, and Lou Serrano is the president.

DeLeon, Aguerro, Thomas Suarez and Bobby Suarez will box in a Junior Olympics tournament this Friday and Saturday in Fort Stockton, Buentello said.

Also, the club is planning to host a tournament in Hereford on May 25, Buentello said.

It took Ty Cobb 24 years to set the old American League record of 892 stolen bases that Henderson surpassed last May 29.

"It was a thrill," Henderson said of Wednesday's record-breaking steal. "I've been blessed with the ability and the good fortune to not get a lot of injuries. ... I really wanted to get it over. I was putting too much pressure on myself."

Henderson's record-breaker in the fourth inning came with Tim Leary pitching and Matt Nokes catching. Nokes threw Henderson out at second in the first inning, then gunned him down at third in the fifth.

The crowning moment was put off by Henderson's 15-day stint on the disabled list, and his getting thrown out on four of his first five steal attempts. He was also picked off once.

Henderson broke the record after reaching first when his grounder went through shortstop Alvaro Espinoza's legs for an error. He took second on an infield single by Dave Henderson, remained there for Jose Canseco's flyout and took off for third on a 1-0 pitch with Harold Baines batting.

"When I felt my hand on the base, it was a dream come true," Henderson said. "All that work and dedication paid off."

Celtics break Pacers' momentum 112-105

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - The Indiana Pacers had the momentum and their first sellout for an NBA playoff game. But the Boston Celtics had the tradition of 16 NBA titles and determination.

"We thought we played well in the two games in Boston, but they played a little better," said Boston's Larry Bird, who had 15 points, 9 rebounds and 6 assists while playing 37 minutes despite a painful back that has kept him from practicing since the regular season ended April 21.

"We were trying to shut down Reggie Miller and Chuck Person and play everyone else straight up. I thought we did a good job all the way around," Bird said.

The 112-105 victory gave the Celtics a 2-1 lead in their opening-round playoff series and a chance to wrap it up here Friday night. Game 5, if necessary, is set for Sunday in Boston.

In the only other game Wednesday night, Golden State beat San Antonio 109-106 to take a 2-1 lead in their best-of-5 series.

Tonight, Detroit, Portland and Utah - holding 2-1 leads - attempt to close out their series. Detroit visits Atlanta, Portland is at Seattle and Utah plays host to Phoenix.

The Celtics, who lost 130-118 Sunday in Boston as Person scored 39 points, never trailed as they ended a five-game losing streak at Market Square Arena, where they hadn't won since March 16, 1989.

Kevin McHale, who played 36 minutes with Robert Parish limited to 16 due to foul trouble, scored 16 of his 22 points in the second quarter when Boston took the lead for good.

"We had to stay with Kevin and Larry out there for a lot of minutes because Robert picked up those early fouls. It really messed up our substitution," Boston coach Chris Ford said. "Kevin had the really hot hand and he carried us the first half."

Kevin Gamble and Reggie Lewis applied most of the defensive pressure on Person and Miller.

"He was still doing the things he always does. We were just playing solid defense," Gamble said of Person, whom he defended most of the time. "We just wanted to keep him involved. We wanted to make him work on both ends of the court, keep him occupied."

Person, who had 62 points in the first two games, scored just 6 points and didn't hit a field goal after the first quarter.

"They did a fantastic job bouncing back from a homecourt loss. They responded with excellent defense," Person said.

Indiana got 18 points from Micheal Williams.

Warriors 109, Spurs 106

Golden State's Mitch Richmond scored nine of his 27 points in a crucial fourth-quarter surge.

Sticking with a lineup employing four guards that was successful in Game 2, the Warriors shot 57 percent and won their second straight from the Midwest Division champions. Chris Mullin added 22 points, including a final free throw with 16.1

seconds left that forced the Spurs - led by David Robinson's 27 points - to attempt 3-point baskets for a tie. Game 4 in the best-of-5 series is scheduled for Friday night at the Oakland Coliseum Arena.

English finished as a Maverick

DALLAS (AP) - The Dallas Mavericks Wednesday announced they will not exercise their option for the second year of forward Alex English's contract, making him an unrestricted free agent.

English, 37, signed a one-year contract with Dallas Aug. 15, 1990. The Mavericks had an option of a second year. The contract called for the team to make a decision regarding the option no later than 10 days after the end of the regular season.

"When we met with Alex last summer we were all planning on having a great season, plus a long run in the playoffs," said Mavericks General Manager Norm Sonju. "Having lost 199 games to

Sean Elliott scored 24 points for visiting San Antonio and Tim Hardaway added 22 for Golden State. With the score tied at 85, the Warriors outscored the Spurs 15-4 over a 4 1/2-minute span, taking a 100-89 lead when Richmond hit a 3-pointer as the 24-second clock expired with 6:37 to play. Sarunas Marciulionis, who had 21 points off the bench, had four of them in the run.

In 79 games with the Mavericks in 1990-91, English averaged 9 points in 22 minutes per game. English is the seventh-leading scorer in NBA history with 25,613 points.

Western horses ready to regain Derby dominance

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - The West is ready to take up the reins again Saturday in its Kentucky Derby rivalry with the East.

"It makes for good competition," said Ian Jory, who leads the Western contingent as trainer of the highly regarded Santa Anita Derby runnerup Best Pal.

"I still think we have tougher competition out there," Jory said. "The horses are better seasoned. All the best ones out of California have raced against the other best ones. In the East, they can avoid each other."

In the 1989 Derby, Sunday Silence beat Easy Goer by 2 1/2 lengths, giving the West four straight winners. The string started in 1986 with Ferdinand and continued with Alysheba and Winning Colors before Sunday Silence polished off the string. All had used the Santa Anita Derby as their final prep.

Last year's winner, Unbridled, raced primarily in Florida, breaking the string as the big West Coast horse, Santa Anita Derby winner Mister Frisky, was eighth.

This year, most experts believe the Derby winner will come from among four horses. Best Pal is one of the quartet, along with Jim Beam and Lexington winner Hansel, Blue Grass winner Strike the Gold, and 2-year-old champion Fly So Free. Strike the Gold and Fly So Free lead the Eastern contingent, while Hansel is claimed by the Midwest, despite frequent races in New York and Florida.

"It's a very tough race this year," Jory said. "There are four or five horses to beat, and the rest aren't that far behind. It's hard to pick a standout horse."

Sixteen horses were expected to enter today.

Best Pal raced eight times as a 2-year-old, winning six times but finishing sixth in the Breeders' Cup Juvenile. This year, he's raced just twice, a third in the San Rafael and a half-length second to Dinarid in the Santa Anita Derby.

Best Pal would not have found himself so outnumbered by the strong Eastern contenders had Dinarid not been taken out of training with a pulled tendon.

"I don't think that'll have much to do with the way the race is run," Jory said. "It's just one less competitor, although it's a shame after he came this far."

Jory says Best Pal "just got beat by a better horse" in the Santa Anita, "but I think we could have turned the tables here. Of course, that's just speculation now."

The Breeders' Cup Juvenile last October at Belmont was the only time Best Pal met Fly So Free, who probably would have been the favorite if he had not been beaten in the Blue Grass by Strike the Gold. Fly So Free clinched the 2-year-old championship by winning the Breeders' Cup Juvenile.

"We thought we had enough horse in the Breeders' Cup, but it might have been one race too many. We were trying to get the championship," Jory said.

Now, he's got the best-rested horses of the Big Four, and many consider him right on target for the Derby.

Accent on Health

Nearly every Texan benefits from at least one of the services provided by the Texas Department of Health's (TDH) Bureau of Laboratories.

At the bureau's central facilities in Austin, more than 2.5 million specimens are tested every year.

The bureau's main laboratories not only support such TDH programs as communicable disease control, environmental protection, dental health, and sanitation, but also serve other agencies, such as the Texas Water Commission.

The labs also act as a general diagnostic center for private physicians, particularly those whose private and local laboratories are not equipped to perform rare or complex testing. With the bureau's help, physicians throughout the state are assured prompt, accurate results while diagnosing thousands of cases.

Dr. Charles E. Sweet, director of the bureau, said that the labs are organized into three separate divisions: chemistry, microbiology, and support services.

He said that the chemistry lab performs both environmental and clinical testing. Environmental testing in 1990 included analysis of more than 130,000 water samples from throughout Texas for toxins and impurities. Clinical testing includes chemical analyses of human specimens, such as some 700,000 blood samples from newborn babies each year.

"The microbiology lab," Dr. Sweet said, "is actually four labs, specializing in bacteriology, virology, parasitology-entomology, serology. Their tasks often overlap, since each may be needed for a full analysis of a sample sent to us," he said.

Bacteriology testing detects gonorrhea, tuberculosis, and contamination in water and other samples. Virology tests reveal the presence or absence of rabies and other viruses and help local areas of the state identify infectious outbreaks and epidemics.

Dr. Sweet explained that the parasitology and entomology labs identify microorganisms which cause illness and sometimes the microbe carriers, such as infected mosquitoes and ticks.

The serology lab tests blood samples for clues to numerous diseases. According to Dr. Sweet, often the presence of a given disease, such as syphilis, is detected not by identifying the syphilis spirochete itself, but by isolating the blood antibody created by the body to fight the disease. The serology lab also conducts two different types of tests for the blood antibodies which indicate exposure to the virus that causes acquired immunodeficiency syndrome (AIDS).

The bureau's third specialty is the work of its support staff, which manages the mass of record-keeping and correspondence, the bookkeeping, and reporting.

Outstanding members honored

Ben Conklin, member of Hereford Odd Fellow Lodge #476, was honored with a 50-year jewel and plaque for his work as an outstanding member when members of the Panhandle Association of Odd Fellows and Rebekah met recently.

Connie Ivey, a charter member of Dimmitt Rebekah Lodge #54, was honored with a 50-year jewel. She became a member of Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 when the two lodges consolidated in 1990.

Members of the Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 met Tuesday evening with 23 members present.

Noble Grand Jo Irlbeck presided over the business meeting. A report of 14 visits to the sick and 33 cheer cards were given.

Congratulations was extended to the Rebekah funeral team for a second place in competition during the Panhandle Association meeting. Serving on the team were Ursalce Jacobsen, Dorothy Lundry, Faye Brownlow, Leona Sowell, Genevieve Lynn, Mary Lou Weatherford, Jo Irlbeck, Stella Hershey, and Team Captain Susie Curtsinger.

Peggy Lemons served as hostess to Irlbeck, Marie Harris, Curtsinger, Lynn, Erma Loving, Jim Loving, Sowell, Sadie Shaw, Leona Sowell, Irene Merritt, Lydia Hopson, Verna Sowell, Hersh, Irlbeck, Lundry, Connie Ivey, Gene Ivey, Weatherford, Ocie Bolton, Jacobsen, Brownlow, and Conklin.

Sir Winston Churchill began his massive history of the English-Speaking Peoples when he was in his 60s; he finally finished when he was 84.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: In one of your columns you said that fat intake should be limited to 30 percent of all calories consumed. And for example, a 2,000-calorie-a-day diet would mean 600 calories of fat or about 67 grams.

There was a quiz on ABC's "20/20." One of the questions was, how much fat should be consumed daily? The answer was 300 milligrams.

How can there be such a wide range of difference of opinion? There is quite a difference between 67 grams and 300 milligrams.

DEAR READER: I can't vouch for what you heard on "20/20," but if you quoted the program correctly, they need to get back to the ABCs of diet in lowering cholesterol levels, as their vision is not 20/20. I suspect you misunderstood the program.

The step 1 diet for controlling cholesterol levels recommends no more than 30 percent of your calories as fat. Since there are 9 calories in a gram of fat, 67 grams is 603 calories. That is approximately 30 percent of 2,000 calories.

Perhaps the question was how much cholesterol you could consume? It is true that the daily cholesterol intake should be limited to less than 300 milligrams. Cholesterol and fat are NOT the same thing. To illustrate, vegetable oils such as olive oil, corn oil or any other vegetable oil contain NO cholesterol, although they are pure fat. Cholesterol is found only in foods from animal sources, such as eggs, meat and milk.

To give you some practical information on a proper diet to follow to control your cholesterol level, I am sending you my new Special Report 117, Control Cholesterol with Diet. Others who want this report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/117, P.O. Box 787, Gibbstown, NJ 08027-9908.

Diet is a major factor in high cholesterol levels and in obesity that causes high blood pressure. Both risk factors increase your chances of having a heart attack or a stroke. Not everyone's cholesterol levels can be corrected with diet alone, but almost everyone who has abnormal levels will benefit from a proper, low-fat, low-cholesterol diet which also brings the calorie intake and output into proper balance.

DEAR DR. LAMB: One test on an old medical bill was the VDRL. It said it was in me. In 1980, I broke a wrist. I have been a widow for 15 years and only had sex with my husband. I'm 52 years old. Now I am in love with a wonderful man and I sure don't want to give him any kind of disease. We only hug and kiss. Can I still have it? Can I give it to my lovely boyfriend?

DEAR READER: VDRL means Venereal Disease Research Laboratory, and it is a common screening test for syphilis. The test is positive in 99 percent of cases after the initial acute stage of syphilis — about eight weeks after the initial infection. There are also false-positive tests in patients who do not have syphilis. These are usually weakly positive tests. Measuring how strongly positive the VDRL test is helps to identify if it is a false positive test or not.

Additional tests can also be done to confirm whether a VDRL test really means a syphilitic infection or not. You need to know what your test means. If you had such a positive test in 1980, you were probably treated long ago, and the test may have no consequences. To answer your specific question, it is most unlikely that anyone who has had syphilis for four years or more can transmit the disease to another person. While the disease may progress, that person is no longer contagious.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 787, Gibbstown, NJ 08027-9908. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Free skin cancer screening clinic set

This year there will be over a half a million cases of skin cancer diagnosed in the United States. In fact, skin cancer is the most common form of cancer. One in seven Americans will get this disfiguring and sometimes fatal disease. Malignant melanoma is the most serious form of skin cancer, and it is increasing at an alarming rate with an estimated 6,500 deaths attributed to it this year.

But there's good news. Skin cancer can almost always be cured if detected early enough. The downside is that most people are not aware of the early warning signs of skin cancer.

For this reason, the American Academy of Dermatologists along with the Harrington Cancer Center and the American Cancer Society are offering a free skin cancer screening clinic. The Clinic will be held Saturday, May 4, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Harrington Cancer Center. The screenings take about 10 minutes, and local dermatologists have volunteered their time for the screening. Participating doctors include: Elizabeth Archer, William East, James Yeary, Randall Posey, Jack Waller, Turner Caldwell, III, and Larry Roberts.

Last year's screening drew 655 people and nearly 50 percent had suspicious areas and were referred to their physicians for follow-up.

The skin is the body's largest organ, and skin cancer is the most common form of cancer. Research has proven that we live in an area of the country in which skin cancer is prevalent. Heavy sun tanners, farmers and construction workers and those who use tanning booths often show signs of skin cancer.

Sun exposure can happen even when the body is covered if the rays of the sun penetrate light weight or light colored clothing or the rays are reflected from the clothes onto the face even if the person is wearing a hat. "Tanning" not only increases the chances of skin cancer, but also contributes to the aging appearance of the skin.

In general, skin cancer is characterized by a waxy, pearly nodule which may eventually ulcerate and crust, or by a red, scaly, waxy, sharply outlined patch according to the National Cancer Institute (NCI). The NCI says most skin cancers appear after the fifth decade of life, and unfortunately, few people take any preventive measures until they develop their first cancer. But harmful effects of sunlight begin early and may be severe by the age of 20.

Basal cell carcinomas account for 80 percent of skin cancer. According to Diane Drake, RN, MN, consultant to Harrington Cancer Center, "Basal cell carcinoma usually occurs most often on the head, face, neck, hands and trunk of the body -- areas that are usually exposed to the sun. But if they're detected and treated early, there is a 95 percent cure rate of basal cell carcinoma."

Drake adds, "Squamous cell carcinoma is the second most common form of skin cancer. These skin cancer resemble wart-like growths that ulcerate in the center. They typically develop on the ears, face, lips, mouth, hands and other sun-exposed areas of the body. These can be cured 95 percent of the time if they're detected and treated early."

Malignant melanoma is the most serious skin cancer. Melanomas appear without warning and can develop from or near a mole. Although melanoma is less common than other skin cancers, it is increasing at a faster rate than other forms of skin cancer. In its later stages, melanoma spreads to other organs and usually results in death. Excessive sun exposure in the first 10-15 years of life increases the chances of developing melanoma threefold, according to Drake.

The American Academy of Dermatologists suggests people "mind their ABCD'S" in looking for signs of malignant melanoma.

A -- Asymmetry -- one half a mole or pigmented spot is unlike the other half

B -- Border irregularities -- scalloped or poorly circumscribed border

C -- Color varied -- from one area to another; shades of tan and brown, black, sometimes white, red or blue

D -- Diameter larger than the size of a pencil eraser

Medical experts suggest several ways to protect yourself from getting skin cancer:

- * avoid excessive exposure to the sun by using sunscreen correctly
- * do not sunburn
- * wear protective clothing and hats when out in the sun
- * inspect your skin regularly
- * see your dermatologist for any suspicious skin changes

Everyone in the Panhandle and surrounding states is encouraged to come to the free skin cancer screening clinic. For more information, contact Harrington Cancer Center at (806) 359-4673 or 1-800-274-Hope or the American Cancer Society at (806) 353-4306.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - A music video by country star Garth Brooks has been banned by two cable channels because of graphic scenes of domestic violence.

The Nashville Network banned "The Thunder Rolls" on Tuesday. Country Music Television, which had been broadcasting the video six times a day as its pick of the week, followed suit on Wednesday.

Educators, parents invited to workshop planned May 7

Area educators and parents of children ages four through nine are invited to participate in "Parents As Co-Teachers" workshop sponsored by Region XVI Education Service Center in Amarillo from 6:30-8:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 7, at the center, 1601 S. Cleveland.

Deadline for registering for the free workshop, which includes a light evening meal provided by Cedar Creek Hospital, and free babysitting, is Thursday.

Centered on the theme that "Parents are their children's first and most influential teachers," the workshop will offer educational ideas that parents can use at home to help their children be better students, according to Bettie Lunsford, chairperson for the event. "We will also have special Spanish sessions available," Lunsford said.

"Teachers, administrators, counselors, at-risk coordinators and Chapter I teachers are encouraged to attend special sessions on ways to

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: Nobody in my family ever wanted to eat the crusts of the bread, so I started breaking them up and putting them in a bag in the freezer. I always have plenty of bread to use in stuffing. — Boots Rolick, Bradford, Pa.

GIANT PILLOWCASES

Dear Heloise: Here's an inexpensive way to give a fresh new look to a tired, old bed comforter. Instead of buying a new comforter when the old one fades, I simply buy two pretty, flat sheets and make a giant pillowcase for it. —

REFRIGERATOR STICKERS

Q. I'm to blame for ruining my daughter's refrigerator door. I sent my grandson some stickers to stick in books, never thinking he would stick them on the refrigerator door. They will not even start to peel off! Can anything be used to remove them? — Gloria Bennett, Lindsay, Neb.

A. Sure! Spray them with petroleum-based pre-wash spray. Wait for a few minutes, then scrub lightly with a nylon-net scrubber. — Heloise

CLOTH NAPKINS

Dear Heloise: I use cloth napkins instead of paper. They're more durable and can be thrown in the wash after each use. I have some for everyday use that are over 5 years old and still in good condition. Joan Melton, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Q. I am having a problem with a mail-order company. They didn't send the correct product I ordered and they won't refund my money and I can't get the matter resolved.

What other alternatives are available for getting help before I must take legal action? — M.P., Billings, Mont.

A. Trying to resolve a mail-order problem is sometimes time-consuming and frustrating, but it can be done. Here are some places to contact. They may be able to help you.

- Local newspapers usually have consumer-action reporters, who can be very helpful. They can usually get a timely response.

- Contact state and local consumer-protection agencies. You'll find their telephone numbers in the phone book.
- File a complaint with the Better Business Bureau.

- A complaint can also be filed with The Direct Marketing Association (DMA). Their address is 6 East 43rd St., New York, NY 10017.

- Be sure to include all pertinent information such as dates, check number and address. Sending a complaint by certified or registered mail will get more attention too. — Heloise

CHECK THOSE POCKETS

Dear Heloise: My washer was finishing the rinse cycle when it started a shrill screech. I shut it off at once and called a serviceman.

He had to dismantle the pump and he found a small nail lodged in it. Fortunately, there was no damage, but if left unattended it could have been more serious.

If you have a handyman in your home, double-check those pockets! — Delmar Plank, Aberdeen, S.D.

EASY TO SPOT SUITCASE

Dear Heloise: To spot your suitcase when it is coming around on an airport belt or for that matter just to pick it out among the hundreds of other suitcases at any terminal, simply tie a piece of colored yarn firmly to the handle.

This has worked for us for years. —

M. L. Coleman, Louisville, Ky.

RUBBER-GLOVE USES

Dear Heloise: I care for my hands by wearing rubber gloves to wash dishes and pans, but I never throw the gloves away whole.

I cut the center part to make rubber bands. They are wonderful for a million things. I also cut the fingers to protect my opened spools of thread. — Millie Ring, Malden, Mass.

Get jump start on spring car care

Spring is the season of unpredictable weather. One day may be rainy and cool and the next day may be warm and sunny. With this in mind, car owners need to take precautions to help eliminate car problems.

Something as simple as replacing worn windshield wipers or changing the oil can prevent problems if taken care of in advance.

"Simple car maintenance can make a big difference on the road," says Jennifer Runyon, president of Lifetime Automotive Product, Inc. "Being caught in a sudden downpour is not the time to realize you need new wipers."

Here are some preventive auto maintenance guidelines for spring driving conditions.

1. Rotate tires and have air pressure checked by a professional. Winter driving causes wear and tear on tire tread.

2. Check the brake fluid to ensure it's at the correct level. Your car's master cylinder, the heart of the brake system, contains a reservoir for brake fluid. Proper fluid level is vital to ensure brake performance.

3. Winter sludge can clog filters. Therefore it's important to replace them with clean filters that will protect essential components of the engine and transmission from grit, dirt and other foreign matter which enter the engine from outside air.

4. Prolong your car's expensive finish and protect it from the sun's damaging rays by applying a sun protectant.

5. Check hydraulic lifts on trunk, hatch and tailgate to make sure they are safe. Worn lifts allow hatches and hoods to fall, causing pain and injury, plus they're expensive to replace.

6. Inspect windshield wiper blades each time you clean your windshield. Windshield wipers are essential to your driving safety, especially during the rainy spring season.

7. Keep the windshield washer reservoir full. Use some solvent on a rag to clean off the wiper blades.

8. With the summer travel season approaching, make sure you car will get the best gas mileage possible.

9. With increasing gas prices, a tank of gas is a valuable asset. Protect your fuel supply from siphoning and tampering with a spare key locking gas cap.

10. Check your car's ignition, carburetion and emissions components to ensure engine performance. A first class tune-up includes a thorough diagnostic check by a qualified technician.

Cargo floating on the water from a sinking ship is called flotsam, while the debris washed ashore is called wreck.

We want to help your garage sale be a success.

That's why we are introducing our special "Garage Sale Directory" that will appear in the Hereford Brand each Thursday.

For your listing to appear in the directory, just pay to have your regular garage sale classified appear in the Brand for three consecutive days (like Wednesday, Thursday and Friday). If your ad runs in three consecutive issues, you get a free listing in the directory. The directory will make it even easier for bargain hunters to find your garage sale. It will look like this:

Address	Dates	Times
313 N. Lee	Th, Fri, Sat	8-5 each day

Come by the Hereford Brand today (sorry, cash only on a deal like this), place your classified ad with us for three days and get a listing in our weekly Garage Sale Directory.
