TEA team to visit HISD again

Members of an accreditation team from the Texas Education Agency will meet with the public at a community meeting at 7 p.m. Monday in the Hereford High School Auditorium.

The visit is a follow-up to the accreditation visit last year that resulted in the HISD being placed on accredited-advised status. The district was given a list of 22 areas in which to improve performance or attempt to alleviate. The district has addressed those issues and is expected to have the advised portion of the accreditation removed.

Every school district in the state is required by law to be visited by a TEA team to evaluate the quality of educational programs and determine progress made by the school district since the last visit.

All persons who wish to express views or opinions are welcome to participate in the meeting, said Superintendent Charles Greenawalt.

The team will visit each campus during its visit and has scheduled interviews with administrators, school board members and others.

Areas to be evaluated are quality of instruction, community support, planning, curriculum, instruction, student services, teaching resources, personnel, governance, community conditions and physical facilities.

Iraq cuts food

By CHRISTOPHER BURNS Associated Press Writer

Bitten by new and tougher trade sanctions, Iraq's leaders say they will cut off food to non-Arabs in their country and have threatened to hang diplomats who refuse to turn over Westerners taking refuge in their embassies.

They also announced Wednesday that beginning this weekend they would extend nationwide rationing to include rice, flour, sugar, tea and cooking oil. Bread has been rationed since Sept. 1.

As Iraqis increasingly feel the pinch of the U.N.-ordered embargo on trade, odds are also mounting that President Saddam Hussein will launch a military strike in retaliation, Defense Secretary Dick Cheney said in Washington.

Before it invaded Kuwait eight weeks ago and set in motion the retaliatory international moves against it, Iraq was importing three-quarters of its food.

Starting Monday, Iraq will halt food rations to diplomatic missions in Baghdad for distribution to their communities, diplomats in the Iraqi capital said Wednesday on condition of anonymity.

Tens of thousands of non-Arab foreigners are still in Iraq and Iraqi-occupied Kuwait. About 6,000 of them are Westerners. They are banned from traveling

Warden details Amarillo prison

By JOHN BROOKS Managing Editor

Randy McLeod is a nice-enough looking fellow. He's tall, has a nice, soft draaaawwwll, is smooth-faced, and walks with an authoritative gait.

Ah, that's the giveaway, the walk that talks.

It has to talk. It has to say I'm in charge, lest one of the 1,900 inmates at the William P. Clements Jr. unit of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice thinks McLeod is soft.

McLeod is a hardened 15-year veteran of the prison system, and has to oversee 875 employees besides all of those prisoners at the maximum-security facility northeast of Amarillo.

The Clements Unit was opened last April, one of many new prisons being built in Texas to try to catch up to the needs created by the growing criminal population. McLeod told the Hereford Lions Club on Wednesday that the prison system will be caught up to today's needs, 66,000 beds, in 1993.

By then, unless there is a very major change, there will be a need for a few thousand more beds.

"There is no bumper for the future," McLeod said. "That is just a break-even number. There's no easy solution to the problem."

McLeod isn't one to lay blame. He doesn't go around blaming the schools or broken families; he blames the inmates for their faults.

But the blame is over by the time McLeod gets the prisoners. It's his job to rehabilitate, to try to lead someone down a better road.

Howdy sheriff

Randy McLeod, left, warden of the Clements Unit prison in Amarillo, shakes hands with Deaf Smith County Sheriff Joe Brown at Wednesday's Hereford Lions Club meeting. Behind McLeod are Speedy Nieman and K. Don Spurgeon.

McLeod said 82 percent of the prisoners have no high school diploma, GED or job skill. To overcome that, the prison offers high school classes, GED courses, technical courses and college classes. A prisoner can receive a legitimate high school or college diploma from courses taken within the walls of the prison.

"There's no stigma attached to the diploma," McLeod said. "It's as good as any other diploma. While they're in (prison) we try to instill something in them. We have preachers, teachers, psychologists...all kinds of professional to work with them. Everything they need to change and not come back is there."

For almost half of the inmates, the chance of coming back is 100 percent. Forty-six percent of all prisoners come back again.

"They go back to the same place, face the same temptations, and half of them come back to see us," McLeod said.

Those "same temptations" are alcohol and drugs. Almost all prisoners have faced alcohol or drug problems; usually, their crime has something to do with being high, or drunk, or stealing something to pay for drugs or alcohol.

"Drug and alcohol abuse is eating us alive," McLeod said. "That's why we have people there to try to give them an opportunity to change so they won't go looking for those old temptations."

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says the thing you resist is the thing you need to hear the most.

As if the Census Bureau doesn't have enough to do, now it has to decide whether or not to count Elvis.

Jerry Taylor, former Hereford coach has our admiration and support. In case you don't keep up with West Texas sports, Taylor is now the coach at Odessa High School and is involved in a controversy surrounding Odessa Permian's highly successful football program.

The University Interscholastic League has barred the Panthers from any post-season play and suspended the Permian coach for two games because they allegedly held supervised workouts before UIL rules allow.

What bothers us about the situation is that Taylor is catching much of the flak because he reported the violations. Officials are concerned for Taylor's safety and he is being provided police protection when Odessa High and Permian play Friday night.

Wait a minute! Shouldn't it be the Permian coach and the athletic director who should need protection for putting Permian in this position? According to reports, Taylor warned school officials about the violations and nothing was done, so he filed the complaint. Odessa High and Taylor have not been found guilty of violations--they are operating under the rules.

Sounds like a classic case of the "shoot-the-messenger" syndrome of years gone by. Too many in our society seem to have the attitude that it's okay to break the rules and laws as long as you don't get caught. If you are caught, blame your problems on the police or the person who reported the violation. Claim you are being singled out and discriminated against. Blame your actions on the way your parents treated you as a youngster.

It's time that attitude changes and people take responsibility for their own actions.

We believe Jerry Taylor is looking beyond a football game. He has principles that are worth fighting for, and he does not fear repercussions for doing what is right.

And on the subject of football, Gene Dow, publisher down at Seminole, visited his wife's folks in Indiana recently and reported that much of the sports conversation was Eric Dickerson's refusal to take a physical exam in order to continue playing with the Indianapolis Colts.

When the Colts' owner fined Dickerson a cool $625,000 and would not allow him to be traded until after the trading deadline, Dickerson said, "If I had known they wanted me to take a physical, I would have taken it."

All of which reminded Dow about a company employee who refused to sign up for a pension plan that required 100-percent employee participation. Sam's boss and fellow workers pleaded and urged, but to no avail. Sam said the plan would never pay off.

Finally, the company president called Sam into his office. "Same," he said, "here's a copy of the new pension plan and here's a pen. I want you to sign the papers. I'm sorry, but if you don't sign, you're fired, as of right now."

Sam signed the papers immediately. "Now," said his boss, "would you mind telling me why you couldn't have signed earlier?"

"Well, sir," Sam replied, "nobody explained it to me quite so clearly before."

Perry, Hightower trade potshots

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower's campaign called his election rival Rick Perry "pathetic" after the Republican called Hightower a crook.

Perry said Hightower charged taxpayers $1,057 for use of a state plane to speak at a fund raiser for U.S. Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark. in Jonesboro, Ark. in August 1987.

Perry, a state legislator from Haskell, said he wants the Travis County District Attorney's office to investigate the trip. "When Hightower wants to fly to Arkansas at taxpayer expense to campaign, he lies and flies," he said.

Hightower's spokesman Andy Welch said the agriculture commissioner was invited by Alexander to speak to farmers about national farm legislation. Welch denied Hightower spoke at a fund raiser for Alexander despite an article about the trip that described the meeting as a fund raiser.

Three other employees accompanied Hightower, two of whom were there to inspect eggs that would be shipped to Texas.

"It's very obvious to everyone that the purpose of the trip was to transport Jim Hightower to Arkansas for a fund raiser," Perry said.

Welch said it was hypocritical for Perry to chastise Hightower about plane expenses when Perry, in 1989, received more than half of the private aircraft mileage reimbursed by the House. Perry has defended those charges as legitimate state business.

In another development, Texas Water Commission Chairman Buck Wynne blasted Hightower Wednesday after Hightower called for an elected rather than an appointed water commission.

Wynne said Hightower failed to act soon enough to ban the pesticide chlordane. Welch responded, saying the statement "shows Wynne knows as little about pesticide policies in this country as Perry knows about farm policies."

Welch said Texas was one of the first states to ban chlordane and prohibited its sale before the federal government banned it. Meanwhile on Wednesday, attorney general candidates J.E. "Buster" Brown, a Republican, and Dan Morales, a Democrat, repeated challenges they have made to each other.

Brown, a state senator from Lake Jackson, called on Morales to reveal his experience as a courtroom attorney. Morales, a state representative from San Antonio, called on Brown to release his income tax returns.

The candidates criticized each other at a debate sponsored by the Austin Society of Professional Journalists.

Odessa braces for game

ODESSA, Texas (AP) - The Permian and Odessa high school football teams will face each other Friday night, enveloped in the shadow of sanctions against one team and an uncomplimentary book about Odessa football.

The fear is that tempers may run high Friday because sanctions announced against Permian last week originated with cross-town rival Odessa.

Odessa football coach Jerry Taylor told University Interscholastic League officials he had witnessed Permian breaking summer practice rules. Taylor's charge resulted in defending Class 5A champion Permian's ban from the 1990 playoffs.

Odessa Mayor Lorraine Bonner said many people are concerned about what could happen at Friday night's game.

"There was a lot of concern that, because of anger, there could be vandalism, even violence, if we did not pull together as a community," she said.

To soothe tensions, the mayor has videotaped a message appealing for unity.

JERRY TAYLOR

"We hope it will bring the community together again," she said.

Ms. Bonner and 14 students from both schools on Wednesday taped a public service message they hope will show that the city's image isn't all negative.

The message is an appeal for unity within the community because of anger resulting from the sanctions and H.G. Bissinger's book, "Friday Night Lights."

The book depicts a city where racism is rampant, football gets more support than English and school district lines are drawn to guarantee the best athletes go to the premier school.

"With this appeal... we are asking that everyone who goes to the game Friday night show the real stuff that Odessa is made of. Let's show everyone watching us, and that's going to be a lot of people, that Odessa has a lot of strengths, too. Let's show everyone who we really are, not who we have been portrayed to be," the mayor said.

The West Texas town has been the focus of recent state and national media attention. The publicity glare will continue - at least through Friday.

Ector County school officials have been contacted by more than 20 news agencies planning to attend Friday's game, including CBS' "60 Minutes."

A "60 Minutes" crew, including Mike Wallace, will be in Odessa for interviews and will attend Friday night's game.

Players and students Wednesday presented a calm disposition about the growing interest in their town and its devotion to football.

Friday night "will be just a regular game," said Odessa quarterback and free safety Ira Young. "But we're going to play to win. We all feel sorry for the Panthers, but our attitude hasn't changed because of all that has happened and been said about Odessa."

Panther tight end Mike Faulkner, 17, said, "We're maintaining a positive attitude. We have a good team and it's going to be a good game. We'll all have fun, and we'll play with the best of our ability."

Elisa Caddell, 17, president of Odessa High's Student Council, said most students there are proud of Taylor because they believe he stood up for what he believes is right.

"We're not embarrassed by what he did," Ms. Caddell said. "Our school spirit, our pride and morale are higher than ever, and we are ready to win Friday's game."

Ms. Bonner wants attention diverted from the game. "Listen to these students. They've said it, it's just another game in the season and not worth destruction. We all are going to have to work real hard to put all this back into perspective for everyone else," she said.

"And it's going to be tough."

Bush releases oil reserves in attempt to stabilize prices

By MICHELLE MITTELSTADT Associated Press Writer

President Bush's decision to sell 5 million barrels of crude oil from the Strategic Petroleum Reserve will have little effect at the gas pump, Texas analysts said.

"He's trying to bring some stability to the market pricing and I wish him all the luck in the world, we certainly need it, but 5 million barrels total is not going to do it," said Harry Spannaus, executive vice president of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association.

"I just can't foresee any effects a total of 5 million barrels is going to have on the market," he said Wednesday.

Baylor economist M. Ray Perryman agreed and said Bush's move was more symbolic than anything.

Congress likely to approve arms sale to Saudi Arabia

WASHINGTON (AP) - Members of Congress are signaling likely approval for President Bush's decision to sell $7.5 billion in arms to Saudi Arabia, while moving ahead with a resolution to back U.S. moves in the Persian Gulf crisis.

Bush has decided to sell the Saudis a package of weapons that includes M-1A tanks, TOW anti-tank missiles and Patriot anti-missile batteries, congressional and administration sources said Wednesday. Formal notification of the plan was expected to go to Capitol Hill today.

"This is a significant improvement," said Rep. Mel Levine, D-Calif., a staunch supporter of Israel who had objected to an earlier $21 billion Saudi arms package. "This is what should have been proposed in the first place."

Levine said lawmakers concerned about Israel's security support Bush's military moves to counter Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait. But the earlier, larger arms sale proposal appeared to be an attempt "to use the crisis as justification for sending items not needed for the crisis," he said.

The administration has decided to divide the package into two parts: one to meet immediate Saudi defense needs in the current crisis, including weapons that can be delivered from current stocks or quickly taken off the production line; and a second, $14 billion package to be proposed in January to meet the country's longer-term needs.

The latter package will include F-15F fighter planes and more tanks, said the sources, who spoke on condition of anonymity. The delay will give lawmakers more time to deliberate how the sale might change the military balance in the volatile region, Levine said.

At the same time, the administration has been discussing a new package of military aid to Israel and senior officials have promised to maintain Israel's qualitative military advantage over neighboring states.

Meanwhile, the House Foreign Affairs Committee scheduled action today on a draft resolution that would formally back Bush's moves so far in the Gulf crisis but avoid authorizing any future military actions.

"We have no interest in providing conditional authority to the president with regard to future military actions," committee Chairman Dante Fascell, D-Fla., said during a meeting of the Middle East and arms control subcommittees on Wednesday.

"We will deal with that, judge that, as the American people will, if and when that time arrives," Fascell said.

Action by the full committee would culminate a week-long internal debate between lawmakers who believe Congress should take a formal part in the Gulf situation and those who prefer to keep their political distance from it. Similar talks are under way in the Senate.

"I think it's important for Congress to act here," said Rep. Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., chairman of the Middle East subcommittee. "I know some of our colleagues would prefer not to take any action. But this is ... one of the most significant foreign policy moves in a long time. I would be uncomfortable if we ignored it."

School finance back to square one

AUSTIN (AP) - The more things change in the halls of the Texas Legislature, the more they stay the same.

State District Judge Scott McCown's decision to send the school finance issue back to lawmakers added yet another "old" topic to an already crowded - and familiar - agenda for the 1991 Legislature.

The cast of characters will change. There will be a new governor, a new lieutenant governor and several new House and Senate members after the November election.

But the long list of problems they face, described by one legislator as "staggering," is well-known. Lawmakers have seen them all before; many more than once.

House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, is running hard against a tough Republican opponent so he can come back to the Capitol next year. But the veteran leader admits the 1991 session will be "as tough as anyone of us can ever experience in modern times."

The gloomy catalog includes:

- A budding budget crisis. Already, lawmakers are being told they will face a $3 billion to $4 billion deficit just to maintain current services in 1992-93.

Sound familiar? This one comes on the heels of a $6 billion deficit lawmakers faced in 1987.

- A budget shortage means talk again will turn to ... taxes. And no politician likes tax talk.

When oil prices collapsed, lawmakers were forced to raise taxes by more than $1 billion in 1986. In 1987, despite Gov. Bill Clements' "no new taxes" campaign promise, he OK'd the largest tax hike in Texas history - totaling $5.7 billion. Lawmakers raised the sales tax this year to provide more money for public schools in the finance plan overruled Tuesday by Judge McCown.

To complicate matters, gubernatorial candidates Ann Richards and Clayton Williams so far have voiced no new-taxes themes.

- School finance. McCown said the Legislature failed to meet the 9-0 Texas Supreme Court order to give property poor school districts "substantially equal" access to state money as rich districts.

In tossing the school finance mess back in lawmakers' laps, McCown added another twist to an already knotty problem: School money is so important to every lawmaker that it took the Legislature and Clements four special sessions before coming up with the plan the judge didn't like.

- Welfare. The cash-short Texas Department of Human Services already has needed a bailout. By next year, the welfare agency could require an additional $1.5 billion to keep up with its expanding caseload.

- Prisons. The hot issue for years hasn't cooled completely, despite a massive building program that is nearly doubling the size of the prison system.

That's because a judge ruled that the state must pay 12 counties $40 a day for holding state prison-bound inmates in their local jails. The attorney general said that could cost another $100 million and force - you guessed it - a tax increase.

- Mental health. The Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation remains under the control of a federal judge. Some experts say more money is needed there.

- Horse racing. Yes, it's finally legal. No, it's not bringing in the tax revenue that was projected when voters said OK in 1987.

Sens. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, and O.H. "Ike" Harris, D-Dallas, said they plan to try - again - to lower the 5 percent state tax on wagers to stimulate the opening of more tracks, including major Kentucky Derby-style facilities in Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio.

- Insurance reform. After the 1988 collapse of a major Dallas-based insurance company, a cry went up. The Legislature passed some reforms in its last regular session, 1989, including tighter regulations and providing consumers with more information about troubled insurers.

But a special committee has been studying the industry, and additional changes are possible.

- Ethics reform. Huge spending by lobbyists on lawmakers, which totaled more than $2.2 million in 1989 alone, attracted big-time attention from the news media and public interest groups.

Although lawmakers studied reforms during three of this year's special sessions, they passed nothing.

Lobbyists are still spending. Lawmakers are still taking. The issue will be back.

In addition to all those old problems, one major new item will be on the 1991 agenda - redistricting.

With completion of the 1990 census, the Legislature is required to draw new boundaries for House, Senate and congressional districts.

And since their own political futures are involved, for many lawmakers it will be the item that really counts.

More soldiers headed for Saudi desert

By the Associated Press

About 1,400 soldiers are expected to move out from Fort Hood today in support of Operation Desert Shield, military officials said.

The Army has reported that the latest troops would join soldiers and equipment already in place overseas.

M-1 tanks and Bradley fighting vehicles have been transported on airplanes or taken to ports for the U.S. troop buildup in the wake of Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait.

Staff Sgt. Darryl Dalley confirmed Wednesday night that troops would move out from the Central Texas base, adding that 1,400 was "a rough estimate."

Army officials say it will take weeks for the full deployment of about 20,000 troops from the Central Texas base, near Killeen.

"This week is going to mark the beginning of a large-scale air flow of troops," said Maj. Ed Viegas at Fort Hood. "A period of weeks is required for this to take place."

Although the staff duty officer at Fort Bliss on Wednesday night refused to confirm that troops were being deployed from the West Texas base, earlier reports revealed that more than 4,000 troops would move out in support of Operation Desert Shield.

Soldiers of the 3rd Armored Cavalry Regiment at the West Texas post are going to Saudi Arabia to operate tanks, vehicles and other equipment that was shipped there earlier this summer, said Maj. Jeff Lovell, Fort Bliss public affairs officer.

That troop deployment, on chartered civilian aircraft, began this weekend and was expected to take about a week, he said.

Meanwhile, military sources said the Pentagon was continuing to activate reserve forces. But the total call-up was likely to fall well short of the 50,000 authorized by Defense Secretary Dick Cheney.

Pentagon officials said call-ups of reserves from all services had reached 21,970.

Exhausting news about fumes

According to a recent survey, 80 percent of the American public consider vehicle exhaust emissions a serious environmental risk. The U.S. Congress, responding to these concerns, recently passed legislation requiring the sale of cleaner gasolines in our nation's most polluted cities as a way to dramatically reduce dangerous levels of air pollution.

Over the past 20 years, while automobiles have become cleaner, gasoline has gotten dirtier. The problem is that the major oil refineries have dramatically increased the level of highly toxic aromatic compounds—such as benzene—in our nation's gasoline supplies. Today's fuel also contains other aromatics, such as xylene, which are highly reactive and increase the formation of ozone.

The level of these aromatic compounds has risen from an average of 22 percent in 1982, to more than 33 percent today, with some grades of fuel as high as 49 percent. It's clear that to improve public health and air quality, gasoline must be "reformulated." The action recently taken by Congress will curb this dangerous trend by capping aromatics levels at 25 percent.

The Congressional approach also includes provisions for an oxygenated fuels program for carbon monoxide (CO) non-attainment areas and fuel quality standards for ozone non-attainment areas to dramatically reduce pollution from vehicles. The result of these provisions may be increased use of oxygenated fuels as part of a comprehensive public policy to improve air quality.

The advantages of oxygenated fuels are well-known. The use of ethanol blends, for instance, will reduce motor vehicle emissions of CO by 25 to 30 percent. Ethanol blends will also reduce emissions of exhaust hydrocarbons, NOx and carbon dioxide emissions. In addition, recent analysis indicated that ethanol blended fuels can reduce the formation of ozone. Finally, ethanol is an effective and safe replacement for the dangerous aromatic octane enhancers in gasolines today.

Congress has recognized that achieving cleaner air requires cleaner gasoline. By limiting aromatic levels and requiring clean octane alternatives a critically important step has been taken toward cleaner air for all Americans.

Accent on Health

There were slightly less than twice the number of marriages as there were divorces in 1989 in Texas, according to the Texas Department of Health (TDH).

Last year, there were 170,964 marriages performed and 93,434 divorces granted, according to Tom Pollard, director of the Statistical Services Division of the TDH Bureau of Vital Statistics. The year before, 172,907 couples married, while 94,409 divorced.

Pollard said that the ratio of marriages to divorces has been nearly constant for several years.

The most numerous age group of people who married in 1989 was 20-24 for both males and females (47,771 men and 49,751 women). Divorces were more common among the 25-29 age group, where 20,918 women and 19,022 men ended their marriage.

The largest number of divorces concluded marriages of less than five years (33,692). Some marriages lasted less than a year before divorce (4,616).

Among adolescents and teens, 546 females and 43 males younger than 15 were married. Meanwhile, among those 65 and older, 1,839 women and 3,389 men were married. Divorces involving those 65 and older included 893 women and 1,662 men.

About half (48 percent, or 44,909) of the divorces in 1989 involved no children; while 24.5 percent or 22,853 involved one child. The total number of children involved in divorces last year was 85,042.

Fall can be fun, but dress for it

Last Sunday marked the first day of autumn and both the anglers and hunters are smiling. The hunters, after suffering through the dog days of summer, can finally prepare for some serious hunting. Sure, dove hunting since the first of September helped pass the time for the anxious hunters, but the real hunting begins when the hunting dogs start earning their keep. A good bird dog can offer congratulations for making that great shot and a look of understanding for missing an easy one.

Key dates for hunters are:

Sept. 29-Oct. 7
Oct. 1-31
Oct. 20-21
Nov. 3-Feb. 24
Nov. 3-Jan. 20
Nov. 17-Dec. 2
Dec. 8-23

Pronghorn antelope season
Archery season
Prairie Chicken season
Quail season
Aoudad sheep season
Whitetail and Mule deer seasons
Pheasant season

Why are the anglers smiling when all the hunters are enjoying themselves? It's really quite simple. The serious anglers can finally enjoy the exclusive use of the lakes without water skiers and casual fishermen racing up and down the lake. Most gamefish go on a fall feeding spree that will last until winter finally gets in. If you see a friend loading up his fishing gear, you might want to wrangle an invitation because fall fishing can be great.

The key to enjoying this special time of year is to choose the proper clothing. No, not the fashion statements that the merchants encourage us to make, but layering your clothes. The morning chill requires a coat while mid-day may need only shirt sleeves. Experienced outdoorsmen in our region wear several shirts, a vest and a jacket instead of one thick coat.

My all-time favorite gift from my wife, Becky, was a Gore-tex rain suit. It has saved the day repeatedly and I just don't go outdoors without it. Plastic rain gear all seems to leak and even when it doesn't, all the trapped perspiration can ruin a trip. My rain gear acts as a great windbreaker, and because it is extra large I can layer up with several shirts and a down vest. This layering combination, which keeps both rain and wind out while letting perspiration escape, can withstand temperatures down to freezing.

It was only after enduring several really unpleasant outdoor trips when cold fronts blew through that I became a believer in the layering concept. By adding Gore-tex rain gear to this concept, I enjoy my fishing and hunting trips without fear of wet, cold autumn days. I might loan you my bird dog, but don't even ask for my rain gear.

Herd ready for Frenship

By SAM WALLER
Sports Editor

The Hereford Whitefaces finally tasted a win last week and, according to Coach Don Cumpston, are more than ready to do it again Friday when the Herd hosts Wolforth Frenship for a 7:30 p.m. game at Whiteface Stadium.

"Our practices this week have been good," Cumpston said. "The kids are all upbeat and they enjoyed winning last week. I think you'll see a Whiteface crew out there gettin' after it Friday night. I think they're looking forward to playing again."

The Tigers, 1-2 after a 28-20 loss to Monahans, are nothing the Herd hasn't seen before since the two shared membership in District 1-4A for the last six years. But it's the sheer amount of what they show that could be a problem for Hereford.

In last year's 28-14 win at Wolforth, the Herd was faced with seven different defenses, including the ancient 7-Diamond alignment.

"They play mostly an eight-man front which is geared to stop the running game," Cumpston said of the unit which has given up 733 total yards (564 rushing, 169 passing). "But there are some things you can do against that to create some possibilities in the running game."

"They try to confuse you because they don't ever line up the same way twice in a row. It's going to be real important for us to be mentally alert and pick all that stuff up. We've tried to prepare our team for every possibility. We've gone over everything that we've seen them do this year and in years past. Our team has handled it real good."

Cumpston added that the key to success against the Tigers' schemes is to not panic.

"What you have to do is be patient," he said. "The way they do things, they're going to create a bad play or two. But they also might create a situation where you have a chance to make a big play. You just have to be patient, stay with the game plan, see what they're doing and try to go from there."

"The main thing we have got to do is eliminate turnovers. We've turned the ball over 13 times in three ball games and you just cannot continue to do that against good ball clubs."

Just a little farther

Hereford Whiteface wide receiver Chad Brummett struggles for yardage during last week's 21-9 win over Lubbock Coronado. The Herd will take to the Whiteface Stadium turf for the third consecutive week Friday when Wolforth Frenship visits for a 7:30 p.m. kickoff.

The Tigers have also had success moving the ball, rolling up 802 total yards behind quarterback Brad Cad (29-62-4-321, 1 TD, 463 completion pct.) and fullback Brandon Bennett (278 yards rushing, 11 receptions for 149 yards).

"Cad is a heck of an athlete," Cumpston said. "He's not as good a runner as (Donald) Shanklin from Palo Duro, but he's probably the best passer as we'll see this year. I think that's what makes Frenship tough. They are very balanced offensively (409 yards rushing, 393 passing). Last week they had something like 35 passes and 30 runs. They've been real impressive in all their games.

"Bennett is another one we'll have to watch. He's started for them for three years."

Cumpston said shutting down the backs as receivers is a must for the Herd defense, but the Tigers also have talented wideouts.

"They throw quite a bit to the backs," he said. "The Bennett boy is the one they like to go on the play-action stuff."

"But they've got two wide receivers they got to a lot. (Chad) McCullough is the brother of the two McCulloughs that played quarterback down there the last few years. And Chris Matthews was the player of the week in the Lubbock paper this week."

Matthews leads the Tigers with 12 catches for 186 yards and 2 touchdowns with eight of the receptions, 145 yards and both scores coming against Monahans.

"They don't have blazing speed," Cumpston said of Matthews and McCullough. "They're not any faster than we are, but they run good patterns and they can catch the football."

"The one difference in their team this year," Cumpston added, "is they don't have a solid tailback like they have had. They've got a sophomore (Duane Young) back there and he's good, but he's not quite as talented as they've had in the past."

Cumpston said the Herd must be able to control the ball on offense and not get burned on defense in order to win the game.

"Offensively we need make some first downs and move the chains and keep their offense off the field."

"Defensively, they're going to complete some passes, but we can't give up the big play. And they run the ball pretty well. That fullback is a pretty good football player. We have to defend the whole field."

"But I thought our defense improved last week as much as we've ever had a group improve from the first game."

INJURY REPORT: TE Derek Mason (collar bone) and WR Louis Mungia (ankle) are available and expected to see limited action. DB Miguel Casas (knee) and OL Ralph Martinez (knee) and Brady Wilson (knee) are out.

Cincy wins, LA loses as race nears finish

By The Associated Press

Jose Rijo couldn't have picked a better time to get hot for the Cincinnati Reds... and Franklin Stubbs couldn't have picked a worse time for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The combination of Rijo's pitching for Cincinnati and Stubbs' hitting for Houston has put the Reds into a great position for winning the National League West.

Rijo, one of the major league's hottest pitchers, hurled an eight-hitter to lead the Reds to a 5-2 win over the Atlanta Braves Wednesday night. Stubbs, meanwhile, had a career-high six RBI to pace the Astros over Los Angeles 10-1.

The combination of those results reduced the Reds' magic number for clinching the NL West to three with six games to go.

Meanwhile, the Pittsburgh Pirates strengthened their position to win the NL East with a 4-3 victory over Chicago. That reduced their magic number to five as they held onto their three-game lead over the New York Mets, 4-0 winners over Montreal.

Elsewhere, San Francisco beat San Diego 7-6 and St. Louis defeated Philadelphia 8-1.

Rijo (14-7) had flatly declared last Sunday that the race was over, only to watch Los Angeles close within 3 1/2 games for the third time this month with a win Tuesday night.

Davis hit a two-run homer and drove in three runs, and Rijo stayed on the crest of a hot streak.

Rijo ended up striking out 11 without walking a batter on what he considered an off-night.

Davis took some of the pressure off Rijo. He had an RBI single and a two-run homer off John Smoltz (13-11).

Astros 10, Dodgers 1

Stubbs, an ex-Dodger, knocked in the Astros' first six runs - with a three-run double in the first and three-run homer in the fifth, his 22nd.

Stubbs and Craig Biggio combined for four of Houston's seven hits against seven Dodger pitchers. The Dodgers also walked eight, with six of them scoring.

Jim Deshaies (7-12) won with a four-hitter.

Pirates 4, Cubs 3

Zane Smith improved to 6-1 with Pittsburgh by throwing a seven-hitter and Andy Van Slyke hit a two-run triple.

All the runs off Smith (12-8) were unearned as he lowered his ERA in his last six starts to 0.55.

Mets 4, Expos 0

David Cone gave up two hits over eight innings and tied the major league strikeout lead.

Cone (13-10) struck out seven to reach 221 for the season. That is one more than the Dodgers' Ramon Martinez and left him tied with Texas' Nolan Ryan for the major league strikeout title.

The Mets scored all the runs they needed in the first on an RBI double by Dave Magadan and RBI single by Darryl Strawberry.

Giants 7, Padres 6

Matt Williams regained the NL RBI lead by driving in five runs with two homers.

The five RBIs gave Williams 119 for the season, breaking a tie with Somehow it seems there are more spoilers than contenders in the American League East.

In recent weeks, the Chicago White Sox, Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees all took turns slowing down the Toronto Blue Jays and Boston Red Sox. Now you can add the Milwaukee Brewers.

"I guess we've made the American League East more exciting for the Toronto Blue Jays and the Boston Red Sox," Brewers manager Tom Trebelhorn said Wednesday night.

What the Brewers actually did was beat Toronto for the second straight night, this time 6-0 behind Ron Robinson's seven-hitter. Meanwhile, the Red Sox snapped a three-game losing streak by defeating Cleveland 7-2 and climbed within a half-game of the Blue Jays.

Toronto is off tonight while Boston plays in Detroit. Then they begin a three-game series in Boston on Friday night.

Elsewhere, it was Oakland 3, Kansas City 2; Chicago 3, Minnesota 1; New York 4, Baltimore 2; Texas 6, California 2; and Seattle 8, Detroit 4.

Milwaukee got the only run it needed when Paul Molitor led off the bottom of the first against David Wells (11-5) with his 12th home run, the 27th time he has opened the first inning with a homer. Robinson (12-4) won for the eighth time in nine decisions.

Red Sox 7, Indians 2

Luis Rivera's two-run single capped a five-run first inning that included five hits, two errors, a balk and a wild pitch.

The Red Sox' 13-hit attack was their biggest production since Sept.

12 and included three hits by Carlos Quintana and a homer by Mike Greenwell.

Rookie Dana Kiecker (8-9) struggled through wildness for the victory, with help from Larry Andersen and Jeff Gray.

Loser Tom Candiotti (14-11) was tagged for five runs in Boston's biggest inning since a five-run eighth against Seattle on Sept. 8.

Athletics 3, Royals 2

Bob Welch became the first pitcher in 18 years to win 26 games and set a club record for victories in a season. Welch (26-6) broke the mark he shared with Catfish Hunter, who won 25 games for the A's in 1974.

It was the most victories since Steve Carlton won 27 for the Philadelphia Phillies in 1972. Welch, 23-4 since May 5, scattered nine hits in 7 2-3 innings.

Harris picks Herd to take Tigers' stripes by 11 points

After spending the last two weeks as an underdog, The Hereford Whitefaces come into Friday's game with Wofforth Frenship as an 11-point favorite, according to this week's Harris Ratings.

The Herd, 1-2 after a 21-9 win over Lubbock Coronado last week, faces its first Class 4A opponent after starting the year with three games against 5A teams. The win over the Mustangs moved the Herd up five spots to No. 48 in the latest Harris ranking of the state's 4A teams and added three points to Hereford's power rating at 177. Hereford becomes the district's highest-ranked team after the win.

Frenship (1-2) enters the contest off a pair of close losses in the last two weeks. The Tigers dropped a 13-6 decision to Coronado two weeks ago and fell to Monahans 28-20 last week. Frenship holds the No. 95 slot in 4A with a 166 rating.

DISTRICT 1-4A GAMES

District teams continue to have a rough go against outside competition as Hereford picked up the loop's lone victory in the third week of play. So far 1-4A teams are a composite 3-15.

Things don't look much better for the league this week as only Hereford and Pampa are listed as favorites.

This week's Friday games feature Canyon Randall at Childress, Amarillo Caprock at Wichita Falls High and Borger at Sweetwater. Saturday has Pampa visiting Lubbock

Dunbar while Dumas and Monahans meet at Levelland.

Canyon Randall (0-3) at Childress (2-1) -- The Raiders have yet to find the magic that carried them last season. A 26-13 loss at Perryton Saturday dropped Randall 13 places to No. 148 and sent its rating down five points to 151, making the Raiders the lowest-rated team in the district.

Childress comes off a 22-20 win over Tulia and is listed at No. 27 in 3A with a 173 rating.

Harris says the Wildcats will maul the Raiders by 20 points.

Caprock (0-3) at Wichita Falls (0-3) -- The Longhorns expected great things after moving down from 5A. All they've received is more disappointment, including a 14-0 shutout last week at the hands of Dunbar. The loss dropped Caprock 20 places to No. 115 and caused a loss of three ratings points down to 163.

The Coyotes, who like the 'Horns are in their first year in 4A, have flown their single-wing attack to No. 103 in the state with a 164 rating.

Harris says the Coyotes will howl by a point.

Borger (1-2) at Sweetwater (1-2) -- The Bulldogs didn't have to go this far when they left the state last week for a 31-7 loss at Clovis, N.M. The drubbing sent Borger down a spot to No. 88 and left its rating at 167.

The Mustangs ventured into Central Texas last week and came away with a 27-13 loss from Stephenville. That leaves Sweetwater at No. 41 with a 178 rating.

Harris picks the Mustangs to stampee by 11 points.

Pampa (1-2) at Dunbar (3-0) -- After last week's odyssey to College Station, this trip should seem like a spin around the block for the Harvesters.

Pampa gave top-ranked A&M Consolidated a battle through a scoreless first half before falling 27-7 while down south. The Harvesters slipped five places to No. 53 but maintained their 176 rating.

The Panthers haven't had this sparkling a record in years, and last week's blanking of Caprock puts them at No. 98 with a 165 rating.

No matter, though, Harris says Pampa by 10.

Dumas (0-3) vs. Monahans (2-1) -- The Demons are another district team that has had high hopes dashed early on. Last week's 31-6 beating by Lubbock Estacado actually improved Dumas' standing as the Demons moved up nine spots to No. 138 and added three points for a 156 rating.

The Lobos enter the game at No. 42 with a 177 rating after dumping Frenship last week.

Monahans rates the favorite's roll by 16 points.

Mojo-Odessa High tops state's prep grid schedule

By MIKE DRAGO
Associated Press Writer

It's only the fourth week of the Texas high school football season, but for the West Texas city of Odessa, it might as well be the week leading up to the state championship.

And even though Odessa Permian tumbled from The Associated Press Schoolboy Poll this week, Friday's battle with the crosstown rival Odessa Bronchos figures to be one of the most intriguing games in the state.

During any other season, the District 4-5A match might be just another mismatch between one of the state's football powerhouses and a perennial also-ran.

The Vietnam War was in its early stages and a different Texan, Lyndon Johnson, was in the White House when the Bronchos last beat Permian 24 years ago. This year's match might be played for little more than bragging rights in the city of 95,000 if not for sanctions lowered on Permian last week by the University Interscholastic League.

Because of rules violations alleged by Odessa coach Jerry Taylor, Permian has been barred from the 1990 playoffs and its coach, Tam Hollingshead, was suspended for two games.

Taylor told a state panel he witnessed Permian players and coaches going through practices last summer in violation of UIL rules.

The suspension has increased tension in a bitter rivalry.

"We are expecting a fight on and off the field," Odessa player Dominick McGee said after the UIL decision was handed down. "(The ruling) is definitely going to make it worse."

But Broncho linebacker Jason Johns said players are having no trouble keeping the game in perspective.

"I think really it's the parents, teachers, fans and all that," Johns said. "I think that's been one of the problems. We still know it's a game. It's the adults. You know how parents get."

Hollingshead, who will listen to the game on the radio as he serves the second week of his suspension, said the mood around his team has been "more intense this week," but added that the coaching staff is trying to keep any conflict confined to the gridiron.

"We've stressed to the players that they have to go out and play the game between the whistles," Hollingshead said. "We don't expect to see any extracurricular activities and we don't want any extra talking between the plays."

"I just hope all the fans realize as we do that this is a game for the players," he said. "The fans need to remember not to bring any bad light on our community and not to cause any more dissension by their actions."

In other Class 5A action Friday, top-ranked Aldine battles Humble Kingwood, while No. 2 Converse Judson plays Austin LBJ, No. 3 Arlington Lamar takes on Weatherford and fourth-ranked Cypress Creek plays host to Houston Jersey Village.

No. 5 Longview faces Dallas Roosevelt, the eighth-ranked team in Class 4A, and it's No. 6 Sugar Land Willowridge against Sugar Land Clements, No. 7 Waco battling Round Rock, No. 8 Dallas Carter against Dallas Skyline and ninth-ranked John Tyler playing host to Corsicana.

Amarillo, which fell from fifth to tenth with its 25-21 loss to Midland Lee last week, faces another challenge in Lubbock Estacado, the second-ranked Class 4A team.

A&M Consolidated, the top-ranked Class 4A team, will have to take the field against 5A foe Lufkin without the centerpiece of its offense.

Consolidated tailback Cliff Groce, who has rushed for 396 yards on 52 carries so far this season, injured his knee in practice this week and is expected to miss three weeks, Tigers coach Ross Rogers said.

Rogers said Groce's absence will force the Tigers into a more pass-oriented offensive scheme than usual.

"If we were just all pass they'll be able to handle us, and there's no way we can run all the time," Rogers said. "We're going to have to send a balanced attack at them."

Rogers said most of Groce's carries will go to starting fullback Curtis Sweed, who ran for more than 600 yards last year.

In other games involving top 10 Class 4A teams, it's No. 3 Henderson against Palestine, No. 4 Bay City battling Tomball, No. 5 McKinney taking on Fort Worth Arlington Heights and sixth-ranked Kerrville Tivy meeting San Angelo Central.

Elsewhere, No. 7 West Orange-Stark plays Jasper, No. 9 Big Spring takes on Snyder and No. 10 Athens travels to Sulphur Springs.

One of the best matches in the smaller classifications figures to be in Southeast Texas, where the Alto Yellowjackets, ranked ninth in Class 2A, attempt to knock off No. 1 Groveton.

Groveton's offense features running back Rodney Thomas, who has 477 yards and eight touchdowns on 45 carries.

"We're just going to do what we do best," said Groveton coach Don Hill. "They've (Alto) been scoring a lot of points, but we're going to line up and go right at them with our defense."

Vols to take on Auburn

By RICK WARNER
AP Football Writer

Something strange happened after last year's Auburn-Tennessee game - the loser went on to win a share of the Southeastern Conference championship.

Despite a 21-14 loss to the Volunteers, Auburn finished in a three-way tie for the league title with Tennessee and Alabama. Prior to that, no team had ever lost the Tennessee-Auburn game and gone on to win the SEC crown.

So if history is any indication, Saturday's meeting at Auburn between the third-ranked Tigers and the No. 5 Vols will go a long way toward determining this year's SEC champ.

Both teams are undefeated. The Vols also have a vastly improved defense which hasn't given up a point in the last two games.

Auburn is favored by 1 1/2 points. TENNESSEE 21-20.

Purdue (plus 23) at No. 1 Notre Dame. Are the Irish the best team in the country or just the luckiest? ... NOTRE DAME 31-21.

AL ROUNDUP

Kansas City's Bret Saberhagen (5-9) gave up three runs and five hits in five innings. Oakland scored twice in the fifth on RBI singles by Mark McGwire and Ron Hassey. White Sox 3, Twins 1

The White Sox reached 90 victories for the first time in seven years behind the pitching of Greg Hibbard (14-9), who held Minnesota to three hits in eight innings.

Chicago provided all the runs he needed on first-inning RBI singles by Dan Pasqua and Robin Ventura. Kevin Tampani (11-8) lost. Yankees 4, Orioles 2

Virginia Tech (plus 25) at No. 2 Florida St. The Seminoles won't get a real test until they visit Miami on Oct. 6. ... FLORIDA ST. 38-14.

No. 4 Brigham Young (minus 4) at Oregon in last year's game, Ty Detmer and Bill Musgrave combined for almost 1,000 passing yards. Expect another wild shootout. ... OREGON 52-48.

Maryland (plus 22) at No. 6 Michigan Michigan is 14-2 against ACC teams. ... MICHIGAN 28-14. William & Mary (no line) at No. 7 Virginia. Virginia hasn't started 5-0 since 1949. ... VIRGINIA 42-10. Oregon St. (plus 51) at No. 8 Nebraska. Nebraska's non-conference schedule is a joke. ... NEBRASKA 61-7.

Kansas (plus 42) at No. 9 Oklahoma. The longest uninterrupted rivalry in the nation. ... OKLAHOMA 58-10.

Iowa (plus 23) at No. 10 Miami. Miami has won 32 straight at the Orange Bowl. ... MIAMI 42-28.

No. 11 Texas A&M (minus 6) at LSU. The Tigers ambush the Aggies. ... LSU 28-27.

No. 12 Washington (plus 7) at No. 20 Colorado. After shocking Southern Cal, Washington suffers a letdown. ... COLORADO 24-14.

Rice (plus 29) at No. 13 Houston. This one's for the city championship. ... HOUSTON 48-14.

No. 18 Southern Cal (minus 1) at No. 15 Ohio St. The Buckeyes hand the Trojans their second straight loss. ... OHIO ST. 17-16.

California (plus 111/2) at No. 16 Arizona. Arizona has scored in 206 consecutive games, the second longest streak in NCAA history. ... ARIZONA 31-21.

Starter Chuck Cary (6-11) yielded five hits and both Baltimore runs before leaving in the seventh when he tore the nail on the middle finger of his left hand.

Jeff Robinson gave up an infield hit in 1 1-3 innings and Righetti pitched a perfect ninth. It was the 223rd save of his career, breaking the mark for lefties he shared with Sparky Lyle.

Mariners 8, Tigers 4 Erik Hanson struck out 10 in 7 1-3 innings and became the first right-hander in Seattle history to record 200 strikeouts.

Hanson (17-9), who has 204 strikeouts, won his sixth straight and equaled Mike Moore's 1985 club record for wins in a season by a right-hander.

Detroit's Frank Tanana (8-8) gave up five runs and five hits in 6 2-3 innings, including Jay Buhner's two-run homer in the third inning.

Rangers 6, Angels 2 Kenny Rogers, making only his second career start, gave up an unearned run and three hits in six innings.

Rogers (10-5), who has 139 appearances as a reliever, has won five games this month.

Texas scored three runs before Kirk McCaskill (12-11) retired a batter.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This letter will sound bizarre and I'm sure most of your readers will think it was made up by a student at Yale. Every word is true, so help me. I am praying that you will print it because my wife refuses to listen to me and I need some help with this problem. She respects you, Ann.

Revive your amazing legs

Take a good look at your legs. Whatever their shape, they're among the best-designed structures in nature. The hollowness of the leg bones help you stand and walk upright—because a hollow column is stronger than a solid one of equal weight. Your leg muscles are extremely strong. They can handle some 400 pounds of force.

* To improve circulation, put your legs up-above your head if possible for a few minutes every day.

* Lotion your legs. In winter, warm up the lotion in a sinkful of hot water. In summer, treat your legs to refrigerator-cooled lotion.

* Alternate heel heights daily to avoid straining leg muscles. You'll feel comfortable longer.

* Use a razor designed exclusively for a woman.

* Try some toe curls. Sit tall, with feet parallel on the floor straight ahead of you. Curl your toes like a fist. Squeeze, then relax. Repeat four times.

"Susan" and I have been married for seven years. We have a 6-year-old son and cannot have any more children. She was hoping for a girl and was deeply disappointed when "Jack" was born. Susan has treated our son like a girl from the day he came home from the hospital. She dressed him in frilly pinafores and puts ribbons in his hair. My family thought Susan was nutty at first and told her so. She threatened to keep them from seeing "Jackie" if they continued to be critical, so they caved in and now the even buy him tea sets and dolls.

When Jackie started kindergarten last year, he was registered as a girl. No one at school knows he's a boy. He wears dresses with lacy underwear and plays with dolls. He seems quite comfortable as a girl and loves to go shopping with his mom. I've told Susan that she is ruining Jackie for life, but she says several famous men in history were raised as girls, citing Ernest Hemingway (one of her heroes) as a prime example. Is this true, Ann?

My wife insists that I shouldn't worry because she's going to turn him into a male when he reaches puberty and he will be as manly as Hemingway. I get a sick feeling when I see her teaching him to sit like a lady and apply lipstick. This child should be playing with boys and learning how to be a boy.

Do you believe that what my wife is doing will cause a problem to our son later in life? She insists not, but I need some help.— Mr. T.B. Santa Ana, Calif.

DEAR T.B.: First, a bit of history: It is true that Ernest Hemingway's mother dressed him in girls' clothes. Actually, she attempted to create the impression that he and his older sister were twins.

Although Hemingway was regarded as one of the foremost writers of his time, his personal life was a mess. His mother was a bizarre woman and he despised her. His father, a physician, whom he also loathed, was an angry, bitter man, trapped in a nightmarish marriage. He committed suicide, as did Ernest, his sister Ursula and his brother Leicester.

Your wife is in desperate need of counseling and your son needs plenty of help, too, especially if his ditzzy mother insists on bollixing up his sexual identity. I urge you to enlist the cooperation of the child's pediatrician, his teachers—anyone who will help you rescue that unfortunate boy from this sick situation.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Every night my father-in-law comes over at 8 p.m. sharp and stays until 10. This has been going on for two years.

My wife keeps saying, "Dad won't be around long." Ann, he is only 65 years old and is in better health than I am. I've told her that her father will be here longer than I will if the situation doesn't change. How can I get my home life back?— Riled in Redlands.

DEAR RED: Since it's your wife's father, it's up to her to make the move. If she needs counseling to become more assertive, I recommend it. She is being unfair to you and to herself. It's time she grew up and took control of her life.

Gem of the Day (sent in by G.M.K., Van Buren, Ark.): Oh, Lord, fill my mouth with worthwhile stuff—and nudge me when I've said enough.

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong? "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" will relieve your anxiety. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Brides, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $4.45.)

Donation given by Circle of Friends

Paula Gibson of Dumas announced that the Circle of Friends made a $10,000 restricted contribution to Harrington Cancer Center this month at the Harrington's Annual Board of Trustees meeting.

The funds are restricted for use for the bone marrow transplantation program ($3,000), $1,500 designated for use by the pediatrics department, $1,500 for supportive care, $3,000 for operations including administrative, communications and development, and $1,000 earmarked for research.

These funds are in addition to the $12,000 patient care fund the group provided in 1989 for patients at Harrington Cancer Center.

The Circle of Friends provide financial assistance to cancer patients and their families in times of crisis and support education and research programs directed toward improving the patient's quality of life.

This year nearly 1600 interested people joined the Circle of Friends through membership parties in nine cities throughout the Panhandle including Amarillo, Canadian, Clarendon, Dalhart, Dumas, Hereford, Pampa, Panhandle and Perrington.

Among the 21 board members is Ruth Newsom of Hereford.

Consumer Groups Storm Local Grocery Stores!

Stores point finger at newspaper

Today saw one of the largest consumer responses of the week to offers made by local grocery stores for discounted prices. Across the city, shoppers were redeeming coupons cut from the local paper in record numbers.

"We know any offer we make will be highlighted most by the newspaper," commented a grocery store spokesman. "Our goal is simply to inform the consumers that these discounts are available. We are confident they will respond if they see it in the paper." His statement was backed by recent Consumer Data Service reports that indicated grocery store ads triple volume on discounted items and double volume on regularly priced items. It also revealed grocery ads are read by well over 70% of newspaper readers.

Grocery store representatives unanimously agreed that newspaper advertising was the only way to get immediate consumer response. One grocer remarked, "Most people read the paper, and a bunch of those readers clip our coupons. It's that simple." His comments reflect the well known Manufacturer's Coupon Center report which stated that over 80% of all families use coupons.

"When consumers want more for their money, they always go to the newspaper," a grocery official said. When pressed by reporters for the best offer he could make to the consumers he replied, "Look in the paper, it's all right there. Green leaf lettuce, two heads for 79¢... with a coupon of course."

Stripes come full circle as designer favorites

By BARBARA MAYER
AP Newsfeatures

In decorating, everything that goes around comes around. This time it's stripes.

On the east coast, designer Mario Buatta likes the look so much he sleeps on striped sheets, has stripes on his business stationery and has made stripes a prominent part of the upholstery collection he did for John Widdicomb.

On the west coast, designer Sally Sirkin Lewis also loves stripes. "A stripe is classic and goes back to the 18th century," she says. "As a California designer, I use them in a casual manner when I need a patterned fabric to pull all the solid colors together."

One of her favorite schemes is to combine a white canvas sofa with oversized throw cushions covered in awning stripes of turquoise and salmon, salmon and black and turquoise and black. She upholsters dining chairs in the same stripes and color combinations.

Motif Designs recently introduced "Parallels," a striped wallcovering and fabric collection, after the company computer found that seven of Motif Designs' 10 top-selling patterns were stripes. Motif's Lyn Peterson says using stripes is a good way to achieve a clean, crisp look without spending a fortune.

Other wallcoverings and fabrics firms reporting renewed interest in stripes include Laura Ashley, F. Schumacher & Co.'s Waverly division and Brunschwig & Fils.

"We are going bananas over stripes," says Murray Douglas, vice president of Brunschwig. "They go with everything - they suggest calm classicism and are contemporary at the same time. They marry well with prints and are perfect as the punctuation point of the whole point."

Rose Gerace of J.P. Stevens says stripes are a perennial second design element in sheets, primarily in combination with a floral. Upcoming new designs will coordinate black and white stripes with a white gardenia floral and a rep stripe with a coat of arms design.

"A stripe provides an interest you don't get with glazed walls, and it adds depth and height to a room that needs it," says Buatta. He advises combining wallcoverings of stripes with coordinating floral patterns. One example would be to put stripes in a foyer or hall off a living room which has a floral print on the walls.

Sirkin Lewis suggests this scheme for a dramatic, yet inexpensive, studio bedroom: Attach polished aluminum legs, 6 to 8 inches high, to a box spring. Staple a shiny black fabric, such as a faux kidskin in vinyl, to the box spring and headboard, if there is one. Create a tailored striped coverlet with the stripes running across the bed. Hang the same fabric at the windows over matchstick bamboo blinds.

In a living room, upholster traditional seating such as a French bergere chair in a stripe. Repeat the fabric for draperies, leaving it a little long so it "puddles" on the floor.

On walls, use a stripe if you want to hang artwork. Use an extra-wide stripe on a wall that will have no artwork.

Lyn Peterson suggests lining an armoire, bookcase or toy shelves with striped wall covering. Run striped wallcovering horizontally on a low wall, such as an attic room. Many homes have a small bathroom at the end of a short hall. Cover the hall walls in vertical stripes, then use the same covering horizontally or diagonally in the bathroom. Or line book shelves or cover a switch plate with horizontal stripes in a room of vertical stripes. The detail adds distinction to the room at no additional cost.

When combining stripes with florals, be sure the scale is similar and the colors are in the same family. Use stripes with florals to add a masculine touch to a traditionally feminine look. Stripes can quiet a room filled with several floral patterns, and Peterson says the repetition of the stripe organizes a room.

In addition to florals, stripes work with checks and plaids, but you should stay with patterns designed to coordinate with each other.

Exercise can impair hearing

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) - Overenthusiastic exercisers who do aerobics in tune with music from their personal headphones may be doing themselves more harm than good, says a Miami University researcher.

Dr. Helaine Alessio, a Miami assistant professor of physical education, says oxygen stress from this kind of exercise regime can damage cells of vulnerable people. In a worst-case scenario, this could lead to cancer, she says.

Added to that is the possibility that the diversion of blood and thus oxygen from the ears can make them more sensitive to noise. Alessio and Dr. Kathleen Hutchinson, Miami assistant professor of communications, have discovered significant temporary hearing losses among exercisers they tested after 10 minutes of exercise while listening to headphones. While normal hearing returns after 24 hours, repeated episodes can lead to permanent hearing loss, they say.

"Appropriate exercise is the key," says Alessio, who is working on a blood serum test to be used to determine people's tolerance to oxygen stress. "Our cells can handle certain stress levels and still repair themselves, but perhaps the stress associated with vigorous exercise is too much for some people."

"I'm not talking about athletes who go through pain when they are training hard to excel. I'm talking about the average person who exercises to reduce weight or stay fit."

Healthy lifestyle may pay off for grads

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) - Some graduates at Bowling Green State University will have one extra selling point as they enter the job market: A certificate that says they are physically fit, have healthy lifestyles and therefore will cost a company less money in health care costs.

To get a Fit For Hire certificate, students must pass tests for cholesterol levels, blood pressure, body composition, aerobic fitness and lifestyle analysis. Preparation includes a meeting with Dr. Richard Bowers, fitness director of the university's Student Recreation Center, where a senior student may start an individualized fitness program which might include exercise, a diet, or help in breaking a cigarette habit.

Students who pass all fitness tests receive a gold certificate they can show to prospective employers. Others who don't meet all standards get a silver certificate, which states they understand the significance of fitness in the workplace. Those who do not pass have the option of continuing their fitness programs and trying again.

Cherries, nuts dot dessert

I've lost my heart - and head - to this world-class dessert. With two colors of ice cream dotted with cherries and nuts, this spumoni charlotte looks gorgeous and tastes even more terrific. Just as important, it's easy to put together and can be made ahead and frozen. For easier serving, take it out of the freezer and let stand 10 minutes before cutting.

SPUMONI CHARLOTTE
18 ladyfingers, split
1/2 cup amaretto
2/3 cup finely crushed chocolate wafers

1 quart vanilla ice cream
1 tablespoon rum
One 6-ounce jar maraschino cherries, drained
1 quart pistachio-almond ice cream
1/2 cup whipping cream
1/4 cup sifted powdered sugar
1 tablespoon rum

Trim about 1/2 inch off one end of each ladyfinger, reserving cut pieces. Brush ladyfingers and cut pieces on all sides with amaretto; roll in some of the crushed wafers to lightly coat. Line sides of a 9-inch springform pan with a row of ladyfingers, placing them cut end down and split sides toward inside of pan. Place remaining ladyfingers and cut pieces in bottom of pan. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon of remaining crushed wafers.

Stir vanilla ice cream to soften; blend in 1 tablespoon rum. Spoon into lined pan. Place cherries on top of vanilla ice cream mixture. Freeze about 4 hours or until slightly firm. Stir pistachio ice cream to soften; spoon on top of cherries. Freeze until firm.

In a small mixer bowl combine whipping cream, powdered sugar and remaining 1 tablespoon rum. Beat with electric mixer on medium speed until soft peaks form. Remove charlotte from pan and place on serving plate; dollop cream mixture on top. Sprinkle with crushed wafers. Freeze until firm. Cover; freeze until needed. Let stand at room temperature 10 minutes before cutting. Makes 12 to 16 servings.

that show that a physically fit employee can save a company as much as $1,000 a year, reflecting lower health care costs and less absenteeism. These employees are also less likely to smoke, abuse drugs or alcohol, and are more likely to use seat belts when driving - all factors in reducing the chances of illness and injury.

JoAnn Kroll, director of the university's placement service, says that she knows many recruiters from large corporations take fitness seriously, since health care is one of the fastest rising costs in business. "They are very wellness and fitness oriented, and we believe that they look more favorably upon students whom they believe are better health risks. They seem to be genuinely impressed with Fit For Hire program."

Bowers observes that while the certificate may give students an edge in the job hunt, it also gets them thinking about the need for physical activity and maintaining a healthy lifestyle.
