By The Associated Press
PLO chief Yasser Arafat says he wants to resume talks with King Hussein despite Jordan's brusque reaction to the PLO refusal to be represented by the king in peace negotiations with Israel.

Hussein has not responded to Arafat's comments, made at a news conference Wednesday in Stockholm. Last Sunday, Hussein broke off his negotiations with Arafat and blamed the Palestine Liberation Organization for breaking a tentative agreement to cooperate in negotiations based on a modified version of President Reagan's Middle East peace plan.

Officials in Rabat said Moroccan King Hassan postponed the Arab summit conference he was planning to convene this weekend until early May because of the Hussein-Arafat impasse.

A Jordanian official in Amman told The Associated Press on Wednesday, "We never said we are not talking with the PLO any more. All we said was that we leave it to the PLO to choose what is best for the achievement of the aspirations of the Palestinian people." The official spoke on condition he not be named.

Arafat told reporters in Stockholm that "We are ready and we will do our best to continue these joint talks with the Jordanians. Some adjustments we offered are now being discussed with the Jordanians, not directly but indirectly."

The PLO leader stressed, however, that he rejects Reagan's plan because it calls for a Palestinian federation with Jordan rather than an independent state.

The Reagan administration countered that the president's peace plan is still alive and said it would continue to work to bring Jordan into the negotiating process.

Arafat left Sweden for Tunisia today to organize what he called "a meeting of the PLO executive to discuss all these things — the recent Jordanian Cabinet statement, as well as those of President Reagan and (U.S. Secretary of State George P.) Shultz."

Sarpalius' lake bill approved

A bill sponsored by State Senator Bill Sarpalius of Canyon to create a water district for Buffalo Lake was passed unanimously by the Senate State Affairs Committee Wednesday.

The bill will now be placed on the local consent calendar in the Senate, where Sarpalius, formerly of Hereford, says that it has a "good" chance of being approved unopposed.

The bill calls for the creation of a water district that would be able to raise money through bond sales or taxes to help finance construction of a new spillway at the beleaguered lake.

Such a water district would also be able to negotiate with the federal government, which now owns the lake, to divide the cost of a new spillway.

"If we can get the money to build a new spillway, then we've gone a long way toward helping that lake," Sarpalius said after the vote Wednesday. "If we get one (a spillway) in place, then, finally, we can start putting water back into the lake."

Panel studying water package

AUSTIN (AP) — A Senate subcommittee is studying a "water package" of eight measures that sponsors hope will ease Texas' current water woes and prepare the state for the future.

"It's not going to do any good to postpone any of this until the next Legislature," Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, told the Senate Natural Resources Committee Wednesday in presenting the three proposed constitutional amendments and five law changes affecting Texas water.

Sen. Tati Santiesteban, D-El Paso, committee chairman, said all eight measures would remain in a subcommittee for at least a week.

Montford said the "water package" was drafted under the direction of Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby with the participation of seven different senators and their staffs.

"These proposals provide us with a systematic approach to developing the water resources we will need to meet Texas' future requirements, but, even more importantly, they put the stress on conserving the water resources we already have," said Santiesteban.

The measures would: — Add $300 million to the Texas Water Development fund in order to finance water supply programs and water quality improvements.

— Authorize two new programs which would allow the state to guarantee bonds issued by local governments to finance water supply projects, and sell the bonds at lower interest rates, thereby reducing the cost of the projects.

— Create a program of low-interest loans to farmers who want to install newer, more efficient irrigation systems.

— Allow the Texas Water Commission to set aside enough water from the flow of a river to supply fresh water to bays and estuaries.

Texas Senate approves college funding bill

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Senate passage of a college funding proposal probably will shift a $50 million difference of opinion to a 10-member conference committee.

Senators approved a proposed constitutional amendment Wednesday that would dedicate $125 million a year to state-financed colleges outside the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems.

On Feb. 22, the House voted for a $75 million college fund.

Another major difference is that the House eliminated an "escalator clause" from its proposal, while the Senate measure pegs possible additional appropriations for colleges to the Consumer Price Index.

Also, the House proposal would be submitted to the voters on April 30, the Senate version in November 1984.

"This thing is going to conference committee, I promise you," said Sen. Carl Parker, the Senate sponsor.

If Parker is right and the House rejects Senate amendments, a Senate-House committee would try to work out a compromise settlement.

Parker's proposal would extend interest earned on the Permanent University System, which benefits only UT and A&M, to all institutions within those systems and would allow PUF money to be used on repairs and books, as well as new construction.

Another provision would allocate $6 million a year for 10 years from UT's share of the PUF interest to Prairie View A&M, a mostly black school.

Parker said the Prairie View provision could be a "critical factor" in negotiations with the federal government over whether Texas has achieved total integration in its state colleges.

The $125 million fund, effective in September 1985, would be made allocated under a yet-undetermined legislative formula, to 17 schools, or 25 institutions when branch campuses are counted.

Parker said by earmarking money for colleges, officials could issue bonds against it and also make long-range plans which would be more economical.

"We'll save millions of dollars of the taxpayers money and ensure quality education," he said.

At the same time, he said the proposal would not threaten "flagship" schools such as UT and A&M.

The Legislative Budget Board estimated that the draw on general revenue, or the state's main checking account, would be nearly $132.7 million in the second year and $140.6 million in the third year.

Sen. Ray Farabee sought to reduce the fund to $75 million, stating, "There's only so much of the pie to go around."

Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, said the fund would mean less money for faculty salaries, and he added, "If you don't spend money for faculty salaries and money for

Dallas firm buys Hi-Plains stock

The majority stock of Hi-Plains Savings and Loan Association has been agreed to be purchased by T.L. Welker, owner of Welker Financial, Inc., of Dallas, according to James Gentry, president and chief executive officer of Hi-Plains.

Hi-Plains has locations in Hereford and Dimmitt.

Welker Financial, Inc. is a real estate and real estate finance company with business centered in the Oak Cliff area of Dallas.

The transaction is expected to be completed by about June 1.

"The bringing together of Hi-Plains and Welker Financial will provide several benefits for the Hereford, Dimmitt and Friona vicinity," Gentry said. "Welker Financial will provide Hi-Plains with financial strength and will also provide Hi-Plains an entry into the lucrative real estate finance business in the Dallas area."

Hi-Plains will continue to provide real estate loans in Deaf Smith, Castro and Parmer Counties, Gentry said, adding that Welker has indicated an interest in constructing a senior citizens condominium project in

Court awards Rumbaugh another stay of execution

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Death row inmate Charles Rumbaugh tried to kill himself three times, but now says he has changed his mind and wants to live — and a federal appeals court has given him his wish.

Rumbaugh, who was shot as he lunged at a deputy U.S.

Marshal during a hearing, says God intervened and saved him from dying from the gunshot wounds. And the inmate says he now wants to live, believes he will never be executed, and hopes to be free someday so he can take care of his fiancée of three months.

"She's the most wonderful person I've ever met in my life," Rumbaugh said of the woman, who he met four or five months ago through letters.

Rumbaugh was scheduled to be executed by lethal injection May 2 for murdering a jewelry store operator during a 1975 robbery in Amarillo. But on Wednesday the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans granted a stay of execution.

The state of Texas did not oppose the stay because it is waiting for the U.S. Supreme Court to rule in the Thomas Andy Barefoot case, said Dave Richards, executive assistant to the state attorney general.

The high court granted Barefoot a stay in January and said it would use his case to decide how the handle death penalty appeals. The action effectively has blocked further executions until the court rules. The justices will hear the case April 26 but probably will not rule for several months.

The stay issued by the 5th Circuit on Wednesday was not requested by Rumbaugh, who says he does not have a lawyer and still is not actively appealing his sentence. The stay was won by Rumbaugh's parents, Harvey and Rebecca Rumbaugh of San Angelo, who he said Wednesday he has not seen in several months.

His parents have said in court papers that since age 13 their son has had a "history of self-mutilation and overt suicidal tendencies."

Interviewed in prison Wednesday just before the stay was announced, Rumbaugh said that since 13, he has spent all but nine months in reform schools, mental hospitals, jails and prisons.

He said he has tried to kill himself three times. The first time he cut himself while in the state mental hospital in Big Spring, he said, and the next time he took an overdose of narcotics in August on the Death Row.

Senate close to confirming Adelman as U.S. arms chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — High-pressure lobbying by President Reagan apparently has convinced a Senate majority to ignore doubts about Kenneth L. Adelman and vote to confirm him as the nation's arms control chief.

Both supporters and opponents said late Wednesday it appeared all but certain the Adelman nomination would squeeze through its final Senate test today after three months of controversy over the nominee's qualifications, his commitment to arms control and his candor under fire.

Sen. Paul Tsongas, D-Mass., the leader of the Adelman opposition, told reporters only a groundswell of opposition by the public would change the outcome. He said he could predict no such development.

President Reagan, Vice President George Bush and Cabinet members phoned senators to drum up support for the nomination and Adelman himself continued to make the rounds of Senate offices.

"If senators are getting no calls from home, and they are getting calls from the president, we are lost, ... we'll lose this thing," Tsongas told reporters.

"The administration has the edge at this point," Tsongas said. "Republicans who might otherwise support us want to be loyal to the president."

Republican Leader Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee said he believed Adelman would be confirmed but added, "It's going to be close."

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., who put aside his own doubts about Adelman to lead the drive to confirm him, told reporters: "I just have the feeling Ambassador Adelman will win, but by a very narrow margin."

36-year-old Adelman, now deputy U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, after getting administration agreement to a set of conditions he says will help move the arms control process forward.

If confirmed as the new director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, Adelman will succeed Eugene V. Rostow, who was fired by Reagan on Jan. 12.

Third Titanic expedition set

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Oilman Jack Grimm is planning a third expedition to the North Atlantic this summer in an effort to pinpoint where the luxury liner Titanic sank 71 years ago.

A 30-member crew will depart Halifax, Nova Scotia on July 15 for a two-week search of the area where the ship is believed to have met its watery grave, Grimm announced Wednesday.

The Titanic, one of the largest liners of its time and considered "unsinkable," struck with an iceberg off Newfoundland during its maiden trip from Great Britain to New York City on April 14, 1912 and sank early the next day.

The number of dead passengers and crewmen ranged from 1,490 to 1,517, according to various inquiries.

Grimm hopes to salvage diamonds and other jewels, valued between $17 million and $300 million, that were believed to have been on board. But Grimm said exploration of the inside of the ship will have to wait because a diving craft is not scheduled for use this summer.

"We can't dive on it," Grimm said, "but we'll have a drag line and drag bucket" to scour the ocean bottom alongside the wreck if it is found.

The crew will return to the area where an object believed to be a Titanic propeller was discovered during the last few hours of a search in 1981.

During the initial expedition in 1980, scientists were able to comb 60 square miles of ocean bottom and pinpoint 14 possible resting places of the ship, Grimm said.

Grimm said a research vessel from Columbia University will be used along with a sonar and video camera system to map and film the ocean floor.

The equipment recently was used by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration in 9,000 feet of water near the Juan De Fuca Straits off the coast of Washington, Grimm said.

The NOAA project achieved "excellent sonar images and photographs of the ocean floor along the earth's crustal plates," he said.

Senate panel defies Reagan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A rebellious Senate Budget Committee has redrafted much of President Reagan's domestic budget blueprint and is likely to further defy the president by providing for tax increases in 1984.

In a marathon session lasting almost 11 hours, the Republican-led committee voted Wednesday to leave intact tens of billions of dollars for welfare, food stamp, housing and other social programs that Reagan wanted to cut.

In a series of tentative budget decisions, the committee set spending limits for fiscal 1984 at $11.3 billion

Last week, the committee voted to cut Reagan's proposed defense buildup in half despite last minute efforts by the White House to delay the vote.

Congressional sources, speaking on condition they not be named, said Wednesday the administration has now given up hope of changing the committee's decision on military spending. Instead, they said it plans to wage a new battle when the budget resolution reaches the Senate floor later this month.

Comptroller says oil, gas taxes total 40 percent

AUSTIN (AP) — Comptroller Bob Bullock says a survey shows that about 40 percent of the state tax burden is borne directly or indirectly by the Texas oil and gas industry or their employees.

"When you understand the size of this burden, it's easy to see how dropping oil prices have had the major effects they have on our state tax revenues," Bullock said in a statement.

He said oil and gas pays 30 percent of the state sales tax alone.

The study quoted by Bullock said the sales tax impact of the oil industry and its employees was centered in Houston and Dallas.

"Together, these two urban areas account for more than 70 percent of the industry's total sales tax payments," he said. "Houston alone accounts for 52.5 percent of this total."

He said the survey found that oil and gas companies pay about 11 percent of the total state sales tax directly and their 286,000 employees pay another 19 percent.

House rejects sale of excess co-op electricity

AUSTIN (AP) — Reversing an earlier vote, the House changed its mind and decided not to let electric cooperatives to sell excess electricity to utility companies.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Bill Haley, D-Center, was tabled 71-70 on Wednesday after being given quick tentative approval Tuesday.

Under the bill, the co-ops, which operate under a 1937 law to make sure rural areas have utility service, could sell to investor-owned and municipally owned utilities. They now can only sell to their members or other cooperatives.

Most cooperatives buy electricity rather than generating it themselves. Haley's bill would apply to the few cooperatives that are part-owners of generating plants.

Rep. Fred Agnich, R-Dallas, complained that the bill was approved too quickly on its second reading Tuesday. He said it would allow cooperatives an unfair advantage in the marketplace because co-ops are financed by low-interest loans and get a tax break as non-profit corporations.

Stop planned in Texas for shuttle's return

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The space shuttle Challenger headed back to Florida today riding piggyback on a 747 jumbo jet during a flight that looked "peachy keen," the nation's space agency announced.

The jumbo jet, specially modified to carry Challenger and piloted by Fitzhugh Fulton, took off from the Dryden Flight Research Center at Edwards Air Force Base at 6:01 a.m. PST, said Ralph Jackson, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The shuttle-bearing jet was followed by a "chase" jet flown by NASA pilot John Manke, who radioed Fulton that the takeoff looked "peachy keen," Jackson said.

The jumbo jet with its spacecraft cargo was headed for an 11:30 a.m. CST arrival at Kelly Air Force Base in San Antonio, Texas, followed by a 1½- to two-hour refueling layover before flying to Kennedy Space Center in Florida, where it was due to arrive at 5:30 p.m. EST, said Jackson.

The Challenger was launched at Kennedy on April 4, and ended its mission last Saturday when it landed at Edwards, 65 miles northeast of Los Angeles, the NASA spokesman said.

Celebration of rings turns to fatal wreck

TOMBALL, Texas (AP) — Five high school students were celebrating a rite of passage — four of them had just been presented their senior rings — when they collided head-on with another car in a wreck that killed two people.

Tomball High School junior Marlina Polansky, 17, a cheerleader, and Jose Salud Garcia, a Mexican whose age and address are not known, were killed in the Tuesday night wreck.

H.G. Harrington, superintendent of the Tomball Independent School District, said he had presented rings to Miss Polansky and three other students in one car shortly before the accident. The students were going to a restaurant to celebrate, officials said.

The students collided with a car carrying five Mexicans along a farm road north of Houston, officials said. The eight survivors were injured.

Can't afford to be wrong

Our nation's commander in chief cannot afford to be wrong.

After every international embarrassment, investigators with 20-20 hindsight descend on the officials who should have warned us and did not.

After every war, scapegoats. President Reagan has urged us to prepare for star wars.

Congressional partisans are making fun of him: "Bizarre." "He's been seeing too many space movies."

That's easy for them to say. Congressmen are here today, nowhere tomorrow.

But history will hold accountable the lonely man in the White House. And our unborn children's children depend on him now.

So he goes over the heads of the partisans, skeptics and the jesters to plead with you: Before we are all held hostage by international terrorists with space weapons, we can and must build a defensive shield.

Space "guns" to shoot down anybody's missiles. Some sincere Americans hold the view that if we talk sweetly to the Soviets they will respond in kind.

But the Soviets have signed and then violated a succession of arms agreements — including the biological weapons convention.

And when their SA-12 goes into production they will have violated the ABM treaty.

But what the disarmers forget is that even if present or future Soviet leaders "get religion," we remain vulnerable.

American pride in all we have done sometimes distorts our perspective on what we can do.

Our contiguous United States comprise only six percent of the world's dry land and now only five percent of its population.

Were all nuclear and thermonuclear weapons destroyed, then we could surely be overwhelmed by the almost limitless legions available to Moscow.

Technology — as a deterrent — has thus far saved our lives.

This is all President Reagan is asking; that we buy an umbrella in case it rains.

Further, though there is valid disagreement on apportionment of the Pentagon budget, it is worth considering that American dollars invested in this umbrella will never leave home.

Jury hears gruesome recording of victim's own bludgeoning

By CAM ROSSIE Associated Press Writer

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Billy Staton slipped a tape recorder in his shirt before going to pick up his daughter for a picnic, planning to tape his ex-wife's hostility about his visitation rights.

Instead, Staton recorded his own slaying — in what a prosecutor called "23 minutes of murder" that a jury listened to Wednesday.

The defense will begin today trying to prove that a 21-year-old La Feria man accused of murdering Staton and his fiancée, and allegedly recorded on the tape, was insane at the time.

The state rested its case against Paul Wolf Wednesday after playing the recording that prosecutors say contains the sounds of Wolf bludgeoning the 26-year-old Staton to death.

Wolf is on trial for last summer's slaying of Staton's fiancée, teacher Leticia Castro, 26, killed as she waited for Staton in his car. Wolf and his wife, Sherry, also are charged with Staton's murder, although no trial date has been set.

Wolf has pleaded innocent to the slayings. His attorney, James Mardis, has filed a notice of intent to present the insanity defense.

Cameron County District Attorney Rey Cantu said Staton concealed a minicassette recorder under his shirt July 16, 1982, the day he last visited his daughter, Melanie, at the home of his ex-wife and her new husband.

Staton went inside the Wolf home where he was "ambushed" and beaten to death with a bar, Cantu said.

Miss Castro then was attacked in the car. Wolf choked her, and another man, Glenn Henderson, beat her with a hammer, Cantu said.

The two bodies were dumped in Rio Grande Valley drainage canals, where the tape was recovered with Staton's body.

Henderson, 19, is serving a life prison sentence for Miss Castro's murder and testified for the prosecution.

The first few minutes of the tape contain a conversation between people identified as Staton and his daughter, then 2 years old.

Staton: Hello, little one ... What ya doing?

Melanie: (unintelligible) I'm not going.

Staton: You want to go ride in the boat?

Melanie: No, I'm not going. Staton: Oh, yeah, you're gonna have to go with us for a little while. We're gonna go out and ride in the boat.

Melanie: (crying). Staton: And go swimming, don't you want to go play in the water ... hhm?

Melanie: (crying) No. Staton: You wanted to go last week. How come you changed your mind, hhm?

Staton continues to cajole his daughter, promising to bring sandwiches and have a picnic. She asks if she can see "Kevin" and "Baby Bosco."

Staton: You want to go see him and Kelly?

Melanie: (unintelligible) Staton: OK, we might ride down there and go see him.

Two hitting sounds. Staton groans.

Three more hitting sounds. Melanie cries and screams. A voice identified as Wolf: Get him. Get him, hurry up.

After the thuds, there is a sound of heavy breathing.

About four minutes later, more moaning followed by an unintelligible comment from a voice Cantu said was Wolf's.

A voice identified as Mrs. Wolf: Get him up, get him out of here, the front door. Hit him again.

Staton: Moaning. Hitting sounds, five times. A radio plays in the background.

Wolf: Ah, Glenn, look at the — mess you made.

Henderson testified that Wolf was upset because Henderson had been told to wrap a towel around Staton's head to prevent blood from staining the carpet.

After more unintelligible sounds, the voice identified as Wolf's says, "Get the car ... here right now."

Henderson: What about here? You go ahead, you know, I'm scared as —

Henderson testified that he and Wolf then loaded Staton's nearly lifeless body into the trunk of his car.

The last 10 minutes of the tape are the sounds of a car's engine and Staton's final gasps for life in the trunk.

White opines on teachers, repository

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White says he won't back away from his demand that lawmakers give the state's public schoolteachers a 24 percent pay raise.

"There will be a significant increase in teachers' salaries, and hopefully we can avoid a special session, but there will be a significant increase in teachers' salaries," the governor said Wednesday.

He was asked if a 13 percent hike, which some education officials have said is the most teachers can hope for because of poor economic conditions, would fit his definition of "significant."

"I don't think so," White said.

Teachers would receive the raise over two years.

Asked about negotiating downward from his request of 24 percent, White said, "I wouldn't want to retreat from that number."

"I'm going to insist that this Legislature not retreat from putting education as the No. 1 priority. It is the future of this state. It is the future of this nation," White said at his weekly news conference.

He said it would be "premature at this point" for him to promise a special session if lawmakers don't give teachers the raise White wants. The current regular session ends May 30.

"The fact we had 50 freshman members in the House may have caused some slowness in the start. At the same time, they are learning very quickly, and I think they will make the right choice," White said.

"This is not all that late in the session," he said. "There's still time for a great deal of reassessment of positions on the part of the members of the Legislature. We may even be debating this issue on the last night of the session."

On other topics, White told of new efforts to attract high-tech companies to Texas, and said he opposed the federal government's tactics in considering Deaf Smith County in the Panhandle as a possible nuclear waste site.

White said the federal Energy Department should first establish scientific standards and then try to find a site in the nation that fits those standards.

"They're doing it backward — they're trying to find out what's there and then saying that's exactly what we need," said White, who has complained in writing to the Energy Department.

"The real danger there is drilling that size of a hole in the ground, going through one of the most precious aquifers we have, and then putting high-level nuclear waste in," White said. "It appears they've done little study as to the possibility of its permeating into that reservoir, and they're talking about thousands of years of danger of that radiation."

He said in the past Texas could rely on "pretty lakes and pretty hills" to attract new industry, but "those days are past. We are going to have to be aggressive in going out and searching and offering packages of incentives just as other states are doing."

He said, for example, that Austin had offered for the first time a package of incentives, including low-interest loans to employees, in an effort to persuade Microelectronics and Computer Technology Corp. to locate here.

Talks

gested that Arab nations reconsider their unanimous recognition of the PLO as sole representative of the Palestinian people. And on Wednesday, a top State Department official said Arafat's willingness to continue talks with Jordan showed that a U.S. strategy of "squeezing" the PLO was succeeding.

Shultz's remarks about the PLO drew outraged reaction today in newspapers in Bahrain, which urged Arab governments to "reconsider your relations with the United States," and the United Arab Emirates, which advised Shultz to "shut up, or direct your instructions to Israel instead of the Arab countries."

Lebanese Foreign Minister Elie Salem told reporters Wednesday after meeting with Hussein in Amman that "The Jordan-PLO talks did not collapse but have reached a crucial, difficult milestone in Middle East history."

"I believe we are now witnessing a stage of reassessing positions," he said. "It's a breathing spell. I hope Jordan and the PLO will soon emerge from their impasse. There are ways out that both parties can benefit from."

Arafat's chief military aide Abu Jihad told reporters in Amman the talks between Hussein and Arafat broke down because "the United States is unable to exert pressure on Israel and its insistence on ignoring the Palestinian rights and the legitimate sole representative of the Palestinian people."

Clovis Maksoud, the Arab League's ambassador to the United Nations, Wednesday urged the Reagan administration to "tone down" its criticism of the PLO.

"We don't think this is very conducive for a continued Arab-American dialogue," Maksoud said.

Meanwhile, an editorial in the conservative English-language Kuwait Times said that Reagan's difficulty with the Arabs was the Kremlin's opportunity.

"The Soviet Union is now knocking on Mideastern doors, after the failure of the Reagan plan," the paper said Wednesday.

"Jordan's withdrawal from the talks with the PLO could signal the beginning of substitution of the Reagan plan by the Brezhnev plan ... which is now expected to be more plausible."

research, not all the constitutions in the world will make a university of the first class."

"We'd be better off having nothing than having this kind of amendment," said Parker. He said students would have to pay higher tuition to help make up the $50 million difference.

Farabee's amendment failed 28-2.

Another Farabee amendment to abolish the "escalator clause" was rejected 25-5.

Parker said the Senate proposal did not provide for automatic increases based on the CPI but would allow the Legislature to appropriate up to that amount.

A third Farabee amendment — to give the Legislature the option of having the Texas College Coordinating Board approve college construction projects — failed 21-9.

Senators, with Parker's approval, accepted Sen. Lloyd Doggett's amendment to prohibit spending money from the fund on houses for school chancellors, presidents or faculty.

Farabee said he opposed another dedicated fund, because the money "is going to be spent whether it's needed or not" and would take away revenue from "more dramatic" human needs.

Doggett, D-Austin, said he did not think the proposal was "fiscally responsible."

"I have reservations about drawing on general revenue," said Parker, "but nothing is more important to the future of this state than our colleges and universities."

He told his colleagues if the conference committee could find another source of revenue for colleges, "I will seize on it in a minute."

Require local governments that ask for state loans to show they have developed water conservation plans.

Protect fresh water supplies from pollution.

Land Commissioner Garry Mauro spoke in favor of the bill guaranteeing fresh water to bays and estuaries.

"Acre for acre, our coastal area is more productive than any agricultural land," he told the committee. "It is just common sense to realize our bays and estuaries are priceless possessions."

Agricultural Commissioner Jim Hightower said he supported the entire package, particularly the proposition to help farmers finance irrigation projects that would be more efficient and economic.

"Seventy-two percent of the water consumed in Texas is used for agricultural purposes," Hightower said. "If we don't deal with this huge level of water use, we will not really have a Texas water plan worthy of the name."

Alan Henry, mayor pro tem of Lubbock, appeared for the Texas Municipal League.

"Many cities have serious water problems," he said. "We cannot do the job by ourselves. We need these measures."

Fred Pfeiffer, general manager of the San Antonio River Authority, said the bills were "right in line with the recommendations we have made."

"Overall the approach is very good," said Stuart Henry, representing the Lone Star Chapter of the Sierra Club.

Today, Democrats on the committee were expected to call for $30 billion in new taxes next year, enough to repeal the third of this year's federal income tax cut, and to also urge elimination of indexing of tax rates in 1985.

"If we don't do something (to raise taxes) in 1984, we are jeopardizing the economic recovery," said Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., the senior Democrat on the budget panel.

Realistically, the committee is unlikely to provide for a full repeal of the tax cut, but capping it to exclude higher-income taxpayers was a possibility.

There are 10 Democrats and 12 Republicans on the committee. And at least two Republicans, Slade Gorton of Washington and Mark Andrews of North Dakota, indicated they might be willing to support higher taxes to diminish the federal deficit.

Conservative Republicans in and out of the committee are sure to wage an intense battle, with Reagan's support, against any new taxes next year.

"Raising taxes is not the way to balance the budget," said Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, a member of the budget panel.

Withholding rates reflecting the third year of tax cut, enacted in 1981 on Reagan's urging, take effect July 1.

Indexing, setting tax rates so workers are not penalized by inflation when they get cost of living increases, takes effect in 1985, and is expected to be a target of Democrats.

Sen. Pete Domenici, R-N.M., the committee chairman, said the spending levels set this week are too high, and he was expected to push for reductions today.

The Hells Angels started in San Bernardino, Calif., in 1947, but both men refused to say how many members or chapters the group encompasses now.

"Why should we help the government out?" Barger asked. "Why not let them figure out how many Hells Angels there are? The police call it a gang, anyway. We call it a club."

He scoffed at recent testimony before a U.S. House subcommittee that the Angels had a long-time contract out on the life of Rolling Stones lead singer Mick Jagger.

"I don't personally like the guy," Barger said, "but that don't mean I want to kill him."

"Let's just say that there are seven chapters in England and he comes over here enough that if there was a contract out on him, he wouldn't be singing anymore," he said.

Barger and Alexander, both burly blue-jeaned men with tattoos, chatted up the Angels' repeated brushes with the law to government persecution.

Now You're Cookin'

By LINDA CAUDLE
Family News Editor

Collecting antiques, painting, needlepoint, arranging flowers, gardening, decorating, cooking and baking, writing, entertaining, directing theatre presentations....

And those are just her hobbies.

Meredith Wilcox is also active in a variety of community activities. She is a board member of the Deaf Smith County Historical Society, and holds membership in Calliopean and Bay View Clubs, the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce, Hereford Art Guild, Hereford Garden Club, and Friends of the Library.

She has also served on the board of directors of the Hereford Satellite Center and Hereford Day Care Center.

"I have so many interests," smiles Meredith. "I like to do everything."

She and her husband, Jack, who is a trust officer at the First National Bank, belong to St. Thomas Episcopal Church, where she holds a diocese office and has served as bazaar chairman for the past four years. Jack has been Senior Warden.

The family moved to Hereford 14 years ago from Oklahoma City, Meredith's hometown (Jack is also from Oklahoma). The couple has three grown children, Margaret Ann Gilmore, a school teacher who is married and resides with her husband and son in Norman, Okla.; Meredith Sadler, who lives with her husband in Tulsa, Okla., where she is a psychiatric nurse; and Julie Wilcox, who is employed with a veterinary supply company in Houston.

Jack is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma Law School and Meredith earned a bachelor of fine arts degree from OU. The couple was married after finishing school and lived in Oklahoma for a time, including a period when Jack served on the Oklahoma legislature, which Meredith recalls as a very interesting and enjoyable experience.

Jack was employed in the oil business for a number of years after that and the family moved around quite a bit, living in Tulsa, Billings, Mont., Bismarck, N.D. and Denver, Colo., and Fort Smith, Ark.

"I enjoyed moving," notes Meredith, "and having the chance to live in various places. You pick up different customs and culture and learn from different people."

Meredith says she was delighted to become involved in the Hereford Community Players (which was active at the time) when she first moved here and she directed several plays for the group. She was always active in Little Theatre wherever she lived, and had been involved in a U.S.O. group in high school and Summer Stock in Massachusetts for about two years.

For the past three or four years, Meredith has been working on another project - writing and compiling information for a book which she is planning to publish. She has not set a deadline but says that she enjoys working on it when she has time.

The book will be full of "things I know" along the line of Heloise, giving all kinds of hints and things which Meredith has learned through the years, such as tips on painting and refinishing furniture, cooking and decorating hints, etc.

"When you first get married, you know so little about all of these things," she smiles. "Maybe sharing some of the things I've learned might help someone else."

Something which Meredith and her husband have been doing together ever since they got married is collecting antiques, and now Meredith is embarking on a new adventure - Merejock - her own interior and antiques business.

"I will be working out of my home," she says, "because I love my home. I want to be able to help people decorate their homes, select that special piece of furniture for a particular effect, and feel comfortable about furnishing their homes. I'm real excited about it."

Meredith's own home has a very warm and personal atmosphere, owing to the fact that it is decorated with many of her paintings, needlepoint wall hangings as well as chairs and other furnishings accented with needlepoint, antiques which she has refinished herself, and silk flower arrangements of her own making.

And she brings a bit of the outdoors inside by decorating with many live plants.

Meredith also enjoys knitting and other types of handwork. She always contributes a number of items for her church's annual bazaar. She has taught tole painting classes and adorns many of her household items with tole painting such as old trunks she is doing for her daughters.

Meredith is currently in the process of redecorating her kitchen. She enjoys being in the kitchen because she loves to cook and entertain, often hosting brunches and dinner parties in her backyard in the spring and summer.

"A friend and I were trying to decide whether or not we were gourmets so we looked up the word - a connoisseur of delicacies of the table - and then decided that we were epicures instead - having a refined taste of the delicacies of the table," laughs Meredith.

"I think one of the nice things about cooking is that there are so many different kinds of foods for the different seasons," she adds.

Meredith shares three recipes which could be used for serving a spring luncheon or dinner party.

STUFFED CHICKEN THIGHS

12 chicken thighs, skinned and boned
3/4 c. finely chopped dried beef
3/4 c. (3 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese

1 whole pimento, sliced into 12 strips
12 slices bacon
2 eggs
2 Tbsp. lemon juice

1 c. fine dry bread crumbs
2 tsp. lemon-pepper seasoning
1-3 c vegetable oil
3 Tbsp. lemon juice

Place each chicken thigh on a sheet of waxed paper; flatten to 1/4 inch thickness using meat mallet.

Place 1 tablespoon each of dried beef and cheese in center of each chicken thigh. Top each with a slice of pimento. Fold long side of chicken over stuffing; fold ends over and wrap each with a slice of bacon. Secure with wooden picks.

Combine egg with lemon juice. Dip each chicken thigh into this mixture. Combine bread crumbs and lemon-pepper seasoning; dredge each thigh in bread crumbs. Heat oil in large skillet and cook chicken until brown on all sides.

Transfer to a shallow baking pan; sprinkle with lemon juice. Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Yields 12 servings. Serve with rice.

SAUCY ASPARAGUS

1 bunch fresh asparagus (about 2 lbs.) or 2 pkg. frozen asparagus

1 cup mayonnaise
1 Tbsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. leaf basil, crumbled
1/4 tsp. freshly ground pepper
1 medium size tomato, peeled and finely chopped

Wash, cook, and drain asparagus. Keep warm. Combine all other ingredients except tomato in saucepan and heat slowly, stirring constantly until very warm. Remove from heat and stir in tomato. Place asparagus on heated serving plate and spoon sauce over it. Serves six.

Curtsinger discusses ### nutrition, using herbs

Suzy Curtsinger from World of Health presented a program on general nutrition to the Hereford Newcomers Club when the group met for lunch at K-Bob's Steak House on Tuesday.

She spoke about herbs as cures and also for preventive purposes, noting that there are no side effects such as are common with drugs.

Ms. Curtsinger commented that Americans consume large quantities of sugar and salt and foods that are processed until there is almost no fiber or nutrition left in them, citing the lack of fiber as the cause of many colon problems.

She encouraged the use of raw honey for sweetening and whole grain flours for breads. Kim Brackett, president, welcomed visitors and made several announcements.

Others present were Mitzi Bulger, Darlene McKinney,

Elaine Holly, Leisa Lewis, Sharla Nasta, Rita Jacobs, Brenda Stockton, Deanna Isley, Linda Ward.

Also, Sara Cook, Linda Caudle, Beth Altman, Donna West, Jan Barnes, Joanne Bone, Frances Ecfon, Sylvia Khuri, and Tracey Duncan.

1 9-inch baked shell
1 c. whipping cream
2 Tbsp. sugar
2 eggs
2 quarts fresh strawberries lemon curd (below)

Spread thin layer of lemon curd over bottom of pie shell and chill 30 minutes.

Whip cream and sugar to soft peak stage. Mix small amount of whipped cream into remaining curd, then fold in rest of whipped cream (this keeps it light and fluffy).

Slice all but a few berries into pie shell over lemon curd and cover with lemon cream. Chill four hours and garnish with remaining whole berries.

Lemon Curd

3/4 c. sweet unsalted butter
3 egg yolks
1 whole egg
1/2 c. sugar
1/2 c. lemon juice
1 Tbsp. grated lemon rind
Melt butter in pan. Beat egg yolks and whole egg with sugar. Add lemon juice and melted butter. Return to pan and cook over low heat until thick. DO NOT BOIL. Add grated lemon rind and cool.

Tigers rout Yankees

Nice to spoil party

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent

It's nice to come to the great "House That Ruth Built" with 55,579 screaming fans in the stands and parachutists falling out of the sky to proclaim that "Billy's Back" and then spoil the party with 13-2 clobbering of the mighty Yankees, but Sparky Anderson isn't gloating.

"I know how they must feel — I felt the same way when we blew the home opener to Chicago," said the silver-haired skipper of the Detroit Tigers, who turned Billy Martin's celebrated return into a disaster. "You have four or five games a year when everything goes right and the same when everything goes wrong."

"This was just one of those good days for us. We should be 6-0. We've thrown three games away."

Having had a close-up look at the team that oddsmakers have made a 3-1 favorite to win the American League pennant, Sparky isn't ready to mortgage the farm on the Yankees.

"Strictly on the basis of personnel, yes, maybe," Sparky said. "Don Baylor and Steve Kemp will help them a lot. But I've found that personnel is not a sure-fire guarantee of a championship."

The man who guided the Cincinnati Reds to five divisional crowns, four National League pennants and two World Series titles in the 1970s, said that free agency had injected a lot of unpredictable intangibles into the game.

"Everybody knows my attitude on free agency," he said. "I don't like the idea of people being able to hold people at gun-point and saying, 'If you don't like it, lump it.'"

"The situation breeds fat cats. Sometimes you can have too many fat cats. It's better to have one or two. But nobody should be too big to take orders."

Sparky was quick to say that these comments were not made in the same context with his appraisal of the Yankees.

"Personally, I think the Yankees made a mistake in letting Reggie Jackson go," he said. "He is one of the most competitive players I've ever seen. And, on a team like the Yankees with so many high-salaried stars, he could be a buffer. He could take all the heat and pressure from George Steinbrenner."

Sparky agrees with Whitey Herzog, manager of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, that the day of baseball dynasties — such as the Yankee eras between 1920 and 1970 as well as his own Big Red Machine domination in the 1970s, is long gone — never to return.

"You have to go with Whitey's judgment," Sparky said. "He has covered the whole spectrum of the game — minor leagues, scout, farm director, coach, manager, general manager. Nobody in baseball has better insight."

"The best thing you can hope for is to maintain a strong, competitive team. Earl Weaver did it better than any of us over the last 20 years. I only did it for nine at Cincinnati."

Hogs nab top talent

Baylor, UT land prize recruits

By The Associated Press

Baylor and Texas — two of the doormats of the Southwest Conference basketball race this past season — got the future off to a promising start by landing some prize schoolboy basketball recruits.

Arkansas, which overcame everyone but Houston in the race for the SWC crown, also nabbed some top high school players Wednesday on national signing day.

Baylor signed bluechip Dallas Kimball guard Dwayne Brown, rated as the top player in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

The 6-foot, 5-inch Brown, picked on the Dallas Times Herald coaches list of top Texas players, averaged almost 18 points per game and was recruited by many colleges.

Haller also signed 6-6 forward James Malone, who averaged 22.5 points per game for Jacksonville (Texas) Baptist Junior College; Jody Reeves, a 6-7 forward from Allen, who averaged 26 points and 16 rebounds per game; and 6-3 guard Dave Reichert of Highland Park, who averaged 19 points and eight assists per game.

"We got a really good group, some real good shooters," said Haller. "I'm thrilled with these four kids."

Texas Coach Bob Weltlich also had reason to be proud. He signed guards Marcus Bolden of Killeen and Mike Hess of Newport Beach, Calif.; 6-8 forward Jerry Holmes of Longview; and 6-9 forward Raynard Davis of San Antonio Sam Houston.

Davis, another Dallas Times Herald blue chip,

Conviction

could end

Ayala career

PATERSON, N.J. (AP) — Tony Ayala Jr.'s conviction in the sexual assault of a woman neighbor may spell the end of his once-promising boxing career, but his lawyer says that is not the first concern of the 20-year-old fighter.

When asked what effect the verdict might have on Ayala's boxing future, his defense attorney, William J. DeMarco, angrily responded: "Tony is something else besides a boxer; he's a human being. He's not concerned with being a boxer."

Ayala, who made the sign of the cross when the jury returned to the courtroom Wednesday with its decision, showed no emotion as the foreman announced he had been found guilty of all six counts against him.

He turned his head only once, staring at the victim and her roommate as they cried.

The two women provided key testimony against Ayala in the 11-day Superior Court trial. The victim, a 30-year-old insurance saleswoman, said she was "relieved" by the verdict.

averaged 13.6 points and 11.2 rebounds for Sam Houston.

"Holmes is a good rebounder and an excellent defensive player," said Weltlich. "He gives us muscle inside."

Holmes scored 15 points and averaged 10 rebounds per game.

Bolden averaged 23 points per game and six assists while Hess was a 12 points-per-game scorer.

Arkansas signed 6-8 Jay Crane of Haltom High School as Coach Eddie Sutton made his presence felt in Texas, Kansas and Oklahoma. Crane averaged 14 points and 9 rebounds per game.

Sutton also got Hunter McDonald, a 6-4 guard from Blue Valley Springs High School in Stanley, Kansas. McDonald averaged 22 points per game.

The Razorbacks also signed 6-6 guard Kevin Rehl, the player of the year in Oklahoma. Rehl averaged 34.8 points per game and was the third leading scorer in the state's history.

Southern Methodist Coach Dave Bliss signed Idaho schoolboy player of the year, 6-4 guard Scott Johnson of Meridian, who averaged 21 points per game and shot 51 percent from the field and 78 percent from the foul line.

Earlier, Bliss had signed Terry Williams, a 6-9 forward from Free Academy, Newburg, N.Y. Williams, a former teammate of SMU guard Butch Moore, averaged 24 points and 15 rebounds per game.

The Southwest Conference champion Houston Cougars, who lost by two points in the national title game, signed Nederland guard Jamie Weaver.

The Cougars also received a non-binding pledge from Austin Travis center Sylvester Kincheon, but did not immediately sign him. Houston Yates' Ricky Winslow and Carven Holcombe were thought to be joining the Cougars, but said they probably would not sign until next week.

Weaver, a 6-4 guard, averaged 24 points per game at Nederland. He visited the Houston campus last weekend.

"I decided to go to Houston because I liked the coach and the campus," said Weaver.

Winslow has visits scheduled to UCLA and Louisville. Holcombe was considering Texas, Texas Christian, Villanova and Missouri.

Rice signed Gary McGuire, a 6-6 forward from Houston Cypress Creek. McGuire, named one of greater Houston's top 10 players, averaged 16.1 rebounds a game last season.

Texas Christian signed 6-7 forward Pete Williams of Mt. San Antonio Junior College in California.

Texas A&M netted 6-1 Clint Thomas of Snook.

Texas Tech came up empty-handed Wednesday, but Coach Gerald Myers said he had hopes of getting Johnny Fuller of Wilmer-Hutchins.

AHS rips Herd, 18-13

SPORTS

Page 4—The Hereford Brand, Thursday, April 14, 1983

Hereford scored a season-high 13 runs, and you'd have thought it would be enough.

But, Amarillo High, which pushed across 14 runs over the final three innings, managed to outlast the Herd, 18-13, Wednesday in a wild District 3-5A baseball game here. The game originally was scheduled for last Friday, but had been postponed because of bad weather.

The loss was Hereford's third in a row, after three victories in a row had put the Herd in a contending position in the district race.

But, following Wednesday's setback, Hereford now is 3-6 in league play and 6-9 overall. AHS improved its league

Niland charged with 2 felony cocaine counts

DALLAS (AP) — Former Dallas Cowboys lineman John Niland has been charged with two felony counts of cocaine possession following two arrests in the past six weeks, authorities said.

Niland was charged Wednesday after police laboratory tests showed the white powder found in his possession March 3 and April 6 was cocaine, said Lt. David Davis of the Dallas police vice division.

Municipal Court Judge Mike O'Neal set bonds totaling $10,000. If bond is not posted, Niland faces arrest, said Jim Ewell, a spokesman for the Dallas County sheriff's department.

Each charge carries a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Niland was arrested March 3 in the parking lot of his ex-girlfriend's apartment after allegedly smashing a window of her car, police said. At that time, officers found a vial of white powder in Niland's possession, police said.

The woman told police that Niland had taken her suitcase containing clothing, jewelry and personal items. Niland subsequently was indicted on a misdemeanor theft charge.

mark to 5-4, and remained in the hunt for one of two playoff berths.

Sammy Suarez, Mike Scott and Brian Taylor all pitched for the Whitefaces.

Amarillo scored four runs in the top of the first, only to see Hereford knot the count with two runs in its half of the inning and two more in the fourth.

But, a five-run fifth inning and a six-run sixth all but iced things for the Sandies, who were paced by Dean Dome's three hits and five RBIs.

In another makeup game Wednesday, Monterey moved into a first-place tie in the district race with a 9-6 win over previously unbeaten Coronado. The two teams now are 7-1 in district play, followed by Plainview at 6-2 and AHS at 5-4.

The loss by the Mustangs snapped an 11-game win streak. Monterey, meanwhile, pushed its season record to 18-4—best in the league.

Hereford returns to action tomorrow as it hosts Lubbock High at 4 p.m. Saturday, the Whitefaces travel to Amarillo to take on Palo Duro at 1 p.m.

At Plainview Wednesday, the Hereford junior varsity came up with its first win of the season, edging Plainview, 4-3.

Chet Bunch went the distance, allowing seven hits and striking out four. Charlie White was 3-for-4 and stole three bases, while Doug Evans went 2-for-4 with a pair of stolen bases.

The JV will host Plainview Monday beginning at 3:30 p.m.

Court ruling expected soon

College telecasts still up in air

By DAVE GOLDBERG AP Sports Writer

The other day, CBS and ABC announced their schedule of college football telecasts for the coming fall. All done with a little ax called the 10th Circuit Court of Appeals hanging over their heads.

Some day — nobody but the judges know when — the court will hand down a decision that will either uphold or overthrow last fall's ruling by U.S. District Court Juan C. Burciaga invalidating the NCAA's contract with the two networks.

If Buciaga's ruling is thrown out, college football on television will be as usual in the fall. But if it's upheld, colleges and conferences are free to sell any game to the highest bidder — network, cable, local station — setting up a situation akin to college basketball with telecasts of every variety every weekend.

But network and college officials talk about a third option — a decision upholding Burciaga followed by an immediate appeal by the NCAA to the U.S. Supreme Court. Even if the high court declines to take the case, there's likely to be a stay that will allow ABC and CBS to carry on this fall's schedule.

What happens, however, if the NCAA's network contract is indeed out and if there is no stay? "Chaos," a network official said recently. "Chaos," said an NCAA official. "Chaos," said a college administrator.

More likely, a free-for-all, with the spoils going to the people with the most money, which happens to be the major networks, NBC as well as ABC and CBS. The confusion is basically over who will get what.

Does a network negotiate a contract with the entire College Football Association — the major powers including Oklahoma and Georgia, who brought the original suit? Does it negotiate with conferences? Does it negotiate with individual schools?

A couple of things are clear. One is that the schools in the best position to make a lot of money are powers with national appeal and without conference affiliation — like Notre Dame, Penn State and Pitt. They don't have to share the wealth or negotiate in conjunction with anyone else.

The other is that a lot of the little guys will do all right. If the Boston Colleges and Tulsa and Southern Mississippi can't make it on the networks, there would be plenty of other places to sell their wares.

Moreover, plenty of games will be picked up by the likes of Turner Broadcasting, the ESPN and USA cable networks and Katz Sports. Katz, an independent packager, has already snared the new Kickoff Classic, starring Penn State and Nebraska Aug. 28 in the New Jersey Meadowlands.

That game is on television for sure. For the others, check your local listings — or your law journal.

Comeback confirmed last week

Crenshaw seeking 1st win in 3 years

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Ben Crenshaw confirmed his comeback last week.

But there's one more step to take. "I need to win one," Crenshaw said before teeing off today in the first round of the $350,000 Sea Pines Heritage Classic.

His record for the season, highlighted by a strong performance in the Masters, made him one of the favorites in the 120-man field for the $63,000 first prize in this event.

"I played well last week," Crenshaw said with obvious satisfaction. "But I've played well all year."

"What I need to do now is win one. I don't think I'll feel like I'm all the way back until I do."

Crenshaw, in a slump all last season and a non-winner for almost three years, tied for second at Augusta, Ga. despite shooting a 76 in the first round. He closed the tournament Monday with a 68, the best score of the final day.

"I was really proud of that round," he said. "And it gives me good momentum, good confidence, coming in here."

That good finish was worth $44,000 from the Masters purse and gave Crenshaw $126,435 for the year, almost as much as he made in the 1981 campaign and more than twice as much as he won all of last season.

Perhaps the most positive statistics, however, lie in his scoring average, 70.6 and the sixth best on the PGA Tour, and his record of consistency. He's been 10th or better in half his starts this season, including the runner-up slot at Augusta and a pair of third-place performances.

"Now is need to win one," he said.

Although the quality of the field has been lowered by the shift of the Heritage dates to a less-than-desirable position — the week immediately following the Masters — the lineup of top-name players is extremely good.

Heading the cast, of course, is Tom Watson, the current U.S. and British Open champion, a last-round challenger in the Masters and the defending titleholder in this one.

Other top attractions who will test the demanding Harbour Town Golf Links are South African Gary Player, Lee Trevino, Calvin Peete, Craig Stadler, Tom Kite and a pair of former two-time Heritage winners, Hubert Green and Hale Irwin.

Among the 1983 title-winners entered are Bill Rogers, Gary Koch, Isao Aoki and Lanny Wadkins.

Portions of the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday will be televised nationally by CBS.

Jury awards Raiders $50 million in damages

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Al Davis smiled briefly, yet the managing general partner of the Los Angeles Raiders appeared more like a battler ready to resume fighting after a U.S. District Court jury awarded damages that could cost the National Football League about $50 million.

"There's been a conspiracy from the start, it continues and will go on," said Davis, whose NFL club was delayed more than two years in moving to Los Angeles from Oakland because of legal action by the league.

"Now they will try to win in Congress," he continued. "I felt we had to take them on. We beat them in Congress last year. We beat them here. We're right."

The league seeks to be exempted by Congress from antitrust laws with the action retroactive. Its bill died in committee last year but has been re-introduced.

Jury awards Wednesday were $11.5 million for the Raiders and about $5 million to the Los Angeles Coliseum, which brought the original suit in 1978 after the Rams announced they were moving to nearby Anaheim.

In antitrust cases, the damages are automatically tripled.

Raider attorney Joseph L. Alioto said, "In addition, the legal fees could reach $10 million and the question of interest on the lost income remains. Our charge of bad faith and malice has been fully proven."

The penalty was voted by the same jury of six women that last May 7 found the NFL had violated the Sherman Antitrust Law and statutes requiring "good faith and fair dealing."

Patrick Lynch, attorney for the NFL in this antitrust action, said he anticipated an appeal "if we have enough money left."

The May 7 verdict already is before the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which heard oral arguments last week.

Davis has long fought NFL rule 4.3, which requires a favorable vote of three-fourths of the league clubs before one can move. He was voted down 22-0 with five abstentions in 1980 and then joined the Coliseum in the antitrust suit.

There was no immediate comment from the league. There has been speculation that the downfall of rule 4.3 might put other NFL rules in jeopardy.

I WASN'T LOST; YOU WERE!

When Jesus' parents had fulfilled all the requirements of the law of God they returned home to Nazareth in Galilee.

There the child became a strong, robust lad, and was known for wisdom beyond his years; and God poured out His blessings on Him.

When Jesus was 12 years old he accompanied His parents to Jerusalem for the annual Passover Festival, which they attended each year.

After the celebration was over they started home to Nazareth, but Jesus stayed behind in Jerusalem. His parents didn't miss Him the first day, for they assumed He was with friends among the other travelers. But when He didn't show up that evening, they started to look for Him among their relatives and friends; and when they couldn't find Him, they went back to Jerusalem to search for Him there.

Three days later they finally discovered Him. He was in the Temple, sitting among the teachers of Law, discussing deep questions with them and amazing everyone with His understanding and answers.

His parents didn't know what to think when they saw Him sitting there so calmly. "Son!" His mother said to Him, "why have you done this to us? Your father and I have been frantic, searching for You everywhere."

"But why did you need to search?" He asked. "Didn't you realize that I would be here in the Temple, in My Father's House?"

But they didn't understand what He meant.

Then He returned to Nazareth with them and was obedient to them; and His mother stored away all these things in her heart.

So Jesus grew both tall and wise, and He was loved by God and man.

Soap Beat

Crude-and-rude murders help make soaps popular

By Connie Passalacqua

If love is the No. 1 subject of daytime drama, surely murder is an extremely popular subtopic. The last two months have seen three major murders on soaps.

The victims have included "As the World Turns'" longtime villain John Dixon (Larry Bryggman); "Edge of Night's" psychotic Nora Fulton (Catherine Bruno) and "General Hospital's" alcoholic Susan Moore (Gail Rae Carlson). Yet another murder — that of an "All My Children" villain, is in the offing before the end of the month.

What has created this spree?

Nothing keeps a viewer glued to the screen of his favorite continuing drama more than suspense. If the writers play it, right, the search for the identity of the real criminal can be stretched into months of riveting drama and be the highlight of a soap's year.

Unfortunately, soap murder investigations are usually so drawn out that by the time the culprit is revealed the audience couldn't care less who did it.

Catherine Bruno

How can you tell when a murder is impending on your favorite soap? Prior to such an act the writers will usually "stack the deck" against the potential victim. Just about everyone in town will be given a reason to hate him or her — a good motive for murder. That way there are lots of suspects — and many months of drama and accusations.

Undoubtedly the soap that does murder best is "Edge of Night," which also specializes in suspense. Noted mystery writer Henry Slesar, the headwriter of the show since 1966, is the acknowledged master of this soap genre.

Ann Landers

Long distance correspondence

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You could have done a lot better with your answer to the woman who complained because her daughter-in-law's letters started "Hi, there." Why didn't you ask her what her son's letters were like? I'll bet you anything he never writes.

women of America are supposed to write all the letters and send all the cards to their husband's families? My old man is a much better writer than I, yet he expects me to correspond with his whole family. If I asked him to correspond with mine, he would blow a gasket.

when I receive a birthday card from my husband's folks. His mother signs her name and then my father-in-law's signature appears in HER handwriting. Apparently she can't even get the old grump to sign it! At this very moment I have a birthday card on my husband's dresser addressed to his mother. For one solid week I have been asking him to write his name on it, but he is "too busy." Her birthday was yesterday. Shake up the men of America, Ann. It's high time somebody did. — I Call My Mother Long Distance

DEAR FRIEND: Your signature is my advice. It's what your husband ought to do. Dial the number for the lazy lummo and hand him the phone.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A few weeks ago I was driving a friend down a quiet residential street in Albany. It was late afternoon. The speed limit was 30 mph. I was going about 25. There were no other cars on the road.

From my left, two rather large dogs darted out in front of my car. I swerved to avoid them but struck the smaller one. The injured animal limped into someone's yard and sat down awkwardly. My friend rushed over and checked for open wounds and found none. Meanwhile I knocked on the door of an nearby house and explained I had hit a dog and asked if I might use the phone. They were very cooperative—even dialed the police. The officer I spoke with said he'd send out the canine truck at once.

When I went outside, the dog was gone. The couple whose phone I used came out with a blanket for him. We searched the neighborhood and concluded that he had not been badly injured and went home. It was a very unnerving experience.

The point of this letter is to tell your readers that if they love their dogs they should not allow them to run loose. It isn't fair to put dog-lovers like myself through such agony. — Still Shaking In Westchester.

DEAR WEST: Your letter was so filled with compassion and caring, it sounded as if it were written 30 years ago. Thanks for the lift.

CONFIDENTIAL to Upset by His Temper and Needing Some Counsel: Remember that how a man plays a game tells something about his character. How he loses shows all of it.

Club holds Student Musicians Day

The Hereford Music Study Club held its annual Student Musicians Day on Monday in the Heritage Room of the Deaf Smith County Library. Co-hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Joe Reinauer Sr., Mrs. Bob Sims, and Mrs. Wesley Fisher.

Mrs. J.B. Caraway, District I president, greeted club members. She shared with them a trophy presented for outstanding community participation by all clubs in District I during the past year.

Mrs. Wayne Thomas served as leader for the April program. She helped the young students feel at ease by playing "Under the Double Eagle" on her accordion. She then introduced the program.

Lee and Jill Reinauer began by playing a violin duet, "Song of the Wind," accompanied on the piano by Susan Shaw. Camille Betzen played a piano solo entitled "Sonatina," and Stefan Hacker played "Georgia Porcupine."

A vocal solo by Jennifer Cansler entitled "Cockles and Mussels" was accompanied by Mrs. Allen Cansler. Dorie Burdett played a piano solo, "Trumpets," and other piano solos were "My Rocking Chair" by Bri Reinauer, "Dune Buggy" by Santry Hacker, and "Moonchild" by Susan Gage.

Clay Striling sang "Luck be a Lady," followed by several piano numbers by Brenda Allen, "Dance No. 6"; Jill Reinauer,

"Parakeets in Birdland"; Denise Detten, "Sonata"; Jennifer Cansler, "The Horseman."

Also, Brenna Reinauer, "L'Arabesque"; Don Carl Tardy, "Fountain in the Rain"; Lee Reinauer, "Sonatina"; Mary Ruth Harman, "Craggy Gardens in the Spring"; and Amy Coneway, "Country Dance."

The two final numbers were a vocal solo entitled "Two Marionettes" by Dana Cabbiness, accompanied by Mrs. Shaw, and a vocal solo by Eric Murray, "If I Were a Rich Man," also accompanied by Mrs. Shaw.

Those performing are all either students, children, or grandchildren of music club members.

Guests at the program included Mrs. Bob Reinauer and Rob, Elizabeth, Criner and Justin, Mrs. Bill Allen, Mrs. Don Tardy, Mrs. Ralph Detten, Mrs. Gerald Hamby, Mrs. Bob Hamman, and Lauren Caviness.

Other members present were Mmes. J.R. Allison, Lynton Allred, Thomas Betzen, Bill Brady, Tom Burdett, Brent Caviness, Joe Hacker, Paul Lyons, Joe Reinauer Jr., A.J. Schroeter, Joe Wallace, and Ken Walser.

The music club is looking forward to the 60th observance of National Music Week May 1-8. Programs will be provided on KPAN during the week by club members. The club's closing luncheon will be held May 9.

Friends of the Library to hold book sale

Amarillo Friends of the Library will celebrate National Library Week with the organization's annual book sale, to be held in the Central Library basement, 413 E. 4th St., on Friday and Saturday, April 22-23, according to Dick Carter, president.

Available this year are books, records, cassettes, and "national Geographics," numbering well over 25,000 items. Everything has been donated by book stores in Amarillo and by individuals who want to help, explains Carter.

The sale will be open to the public beginning at 8 a.m. April 23 and will continue as long as sales are brisk.

A pre-sale is scheduled from 6 to 9 p.m. April 22 for Friends members only. Membership dues of $1 for individuals and 50 cents for students will be accepted by the Central Library office until Friday, April 15. Membership dues taken at the door the night of the sale will be $2 per person.

Carter states that the Friends use the profits from the book sale to help purchase library items not covered in the city library budget. Friends' projects in the past have included the annual book and author dinner, hosting the National Library Week awards program and presenting certificates to library volunteers, employing extra personnel to index Amarillo newspapers for 1930-1960, purchase of an Apple II computer, slide-sound and opaque projectors, and microfilm projectors.

Also, co-sponsoring library programs with the Texas Committee for the Humanities, renting special exhibits, funding books-by-mail, purchasing an outdoor sign for East and North Branch use, providing a library coffee fund for special programs and events, and financing attendance of staff members at professional and educational workshops.

It's time to get ready for Spring!

HEALTH
Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Calcium with a charge

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have heard that there are two types of calcium, one used by muscle tissue and one used by bone tissue. Is there any truth to this? Does this mean two types of calcium are needed in the daily diet?

What are some of the sources of calcium if there are two types? I have read that if the diet is deficient in calcium the body uses calcium from the bones. What does the body do with excess calcium if there is more than it needs?

DEAR READER — You are probably talking about ionized calcium versus calcium salts. When a chemical compound is formed it is a union of an element such as calcium which has a positive electrical charge with another element that has a negative charge. The resulting compound such as calcium phosphate has no electrical charge. When the compound separates in solution into the elements, they are said to be ionized.

Free calcium ions or ionized calcium are important in cellular functions such as in muscular contractions and in nerve conduction. The calcium compounds with no detectable charge such as calcium phosphate are used in bones as calcium salts to give the bone tissue its strength. The calcium compounds in the bones can be released into the bloodstream and provide the ionized calcium.

So you do not need one dietary source of calcium for ionized calcium and another for calcium compounds.

Yes, if you do not get enough calcium in your diet your body will take calcium

House turns down trucking deregulation

AUSTIN (AP) — Speaker Gib Lewis passed the first serious test of his ability to manage his colleagues as the House decisively rejected deregulation of intrastate trucking, lawmakers say.

As members of the Teamsters union watched from the gallery Wednesday, House members voted overwhelmingly for a Lewis-backed amendment to a bill extending the life of the Railroad Commission.

The bill that came to the floor eliminated requirements that those seeking trucking permits prove current service is inadequate. The bill's backers said it would ease granting of permits to new businesses, now reluctant to go through the hearing process. At the conclusion of almost five hours of frequently emotional debate, Rep. Foster Whaley, D-Pampa, accused his colleagues of selling their votes to the trucking lobby that sought to block deregulation.

"I happen to know that people on both sides of the fence have accepted money," Whaley said. He asked his colleagues to vote against the bill "and return us to the free enterprise system."

Rep. Bill Messer, D-Belton, sponsor of the Lewis-backed amendment that would maintain regulation, said he felt "compelled" to respond to Whaley.

"I personally know that many people received contributions on both sides," Messer said. "I take those contributions and you take those contributions because we believe those people want you to come and serve in the public interest, not because there is some quid pro quo."

"You've done good work today, and you can be proud," Messer said.

Both the bill, and Lewis' amendment were tentatively approved by division votes. A division vote is electronically displayed, but it is not recorded and the totals are not announced.

The bill needs another House vote before being sent to the Senate.

An amendment by Rep. Tom DeLay, R-Stafford, that would have negated the Lewis-backed amendment was tabled 113-26.

Lewis had spent most of the past two days lobbying members on the floor rather than wielding the gavel.

"Whatever problems with publicity he's had, he's strong with the members," Rep. Bruce Gibson, D-Cleburne, told reporters. "I didn't know he was this strong."

Under current law, those seeking trucking permits must show that present service in an area is inadequate.

Messer said his amendment, co-sponsored by Rep. Clint Hackney, D-Houston, and backed by Lewis, was a "compromise" to shift the "burden of proof" from permit seekers to the company or companies currently holding permits to serve the area in question.

But DeLay called the Lewis-backed amendment "terribly misleading."

DeLay argued that the burden of proof would not really change under the amendment, but "just change who goes first." He said permit holders would have to show their service was adequate, but permit seekers still would have to argue the service was not adequate.

He said a shippers would be unlikely to testify on behalf of new truckers.

"He has got to stand up in public and point a finger at the existing service and say, 'He isn't any good,' without knowing if the new service is going to get a permit," DeLay complained.

"Let's don't kid ourselves. This is confusing you," he said. "This doesn't do a thing."

Rep. Al Lewis, D-Beaumont, said the Lewis-backed amendment was "absolutely against the free enterprise system."

"The truth is, these people (permit holders) have a mammary gland with a fence around it and they don't want to get a hole in it," Price said.

The House also turned down amendments seeking exemptions for transportation of specific products such as agricultural commodities and Texas-produced steel.

The members did agree to accept Orange Rep. Wayne Peveeto's language allowing the Railroad Commission to "consider" the effect on Texas products of competition from industries unregulated in interstate commerce.

An amendment that Hurst Rep. Charles Evans tried to slide through without explanation would have allowed the Railroad Commission to block takeovers of utility companies by other companies. Rep. Fred Agnich, R-Dallas, said the amendment was meant to benefit a Houston gas company which feared a takeover, and the amendment was tabled.

The House also rejected an amendment by Rep. Ed Emmett, R-Kingwood, to change the Railroad Commission's name to the Energy and Commerce Commission.

"Have you heard anything about railroads all day?" Emmett asked.

Show, sale scheduled prior to annual BB-BS art soiree

Big Brothers-Big Sisters of Hereford will hold an art show and sale from 1-3 p.m. Sunday, April 24, at the Hereford Country Club prior to the organization's annual art soiree.

Members present energy program

Energy was the topic of discussion when members of Pioneer Study Club met at the Caison House Tuesday for a luncheon. Mrs. Ted Panciera was hostess.

Following the invocation led by Mrs. Frank Ball, the Pledge of Allegiance led by Mrs. L.H. Lookingbill Sr., and the salute to the Texas flag led by Mrs. Jim Clark, Mrs. O.G. Hill Sr. began her program on "America's Energy Future."

"The nation uses more energy per capital than any other nation in the world," she noted. "Although it contains only about six percent of the world's population, this country uses 35 percent of all energy consumed in the world."

Energy conservation and environmental quality go hand in hand, she commented, adding that, eventually, research will almost certainly lead to development of cleaner ways to mine and burn coal.

Mrs. Hill stated that research will also lead to greater utilization of energy sources such as geothermal power, solar energy, and that others not yet in widespread use will be economically and environmentally acceptable.

The second half of the program was given by Miss Roberta Campbell and was entitled "How Can We Save Energy." She outlined three general rules: 1) Do not use energy when you don't have to, 2) Use as little energy as you can to do the job, and 3) Reuse energy as much as possible.

Mrs. Clark presided over the business meeting. The club voted to donate $25 to the Statue of Liberty Repair Fund. The statue is reported to be in a serious state of decay and disrepair.

Members voted to enter the parade in the Town & Country Jubilee.

Mrs. W.C. Hromas, fine arts chairman, reported that each member will have an exhibit or perform at the next meeting. Some of the exhibitors include Mrs. Hill, master flower show judge - flower arrangements; Mrs. Clayton Sanders - music; Miss Campbell - collection of miniatures; Mrs. Ray L. Johnson - conchologist; and Mrs. Lookingbill - china painting.

Mrs. Hill dismissed the meeting by leading the club pledge.

The next meeting will be a covered dish luncheon at the Community Center on May 10.

Beware of child safety seat bargains

COLLEGE STATION -- Parents who feel they cannot afford the $30-$40 cost of a new child safety seat may be tempted to search the garage sales and want ads looking for a bargain.

"But a used child safety seat that is defective is no bargain," says Dr. Mary Ann Shirer, a health education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension System, Texas A&M University System.

"Parents need to shop very carefully to avoid buying a defective used seat which can endanger the life of their child if they are involved in an accident," she adds.

The first test of a child restraint device, says Shirer, is whether it has a label stating that it "meets or exceeds all federal safety standards."

Beginning in 1981, the federal standard governing child safety seats required crash testing of the devices to insure their safety. All seats that meet the standard can be considered good ones.

Some car seats manufactured prior to 1981 meet these requirements, while others do not. "Many seats now on the used market were made before 1981, so parents should always look for that label," warns Shirer.

In addition to the federal safety label, Shirer recommends that parents look for the following defects in used child restraint devices.

Check the harness to see if it is torn at any point. A torn belt system can be easily repaired on most safety seats with replacements ordered from the manufacturer.

Also examine the padding to see if it is torn. If so, it should be replaced with new padding from the manufacturer.

A child restraint system with these defects will not adequately protect a child until the belt system and padding are replaced. Parents should not purchase a used seat with these problems unless they actually intend to repair them, notes Shirer.

If the device has a metal frame, check to see if it rattles. Ask the owner if you may tighten the screws on the frame. If the frame is still loose after tightening, do not buy it.

Also, check the seat bars. If they are twisted or bent, do not buy the seat, since full protection cannot be guaranteed.

According to Shirer, the manufacturer's directions for using the safety seat should be provided by the owner. Most seats made after 1981 have a place on the seat to store instructions. For effective use of the seat, Shirer recommends that parents carefully follow the manufacturer's instructions.

Introducing The Universal Choice

others. The art soiree and cocktail buffet will begin at 7 p.m. April 24. Those attending this event are asked to bring their invitations for admission. Invitations may be obtained by calling the Big Brothers-Big Sisters office at 364-6171 or through any BB-BS board member.

Twenty-eight pieces of art have been donated to be awarded as door prizes at the art soiree. Hereford artists featured this year are Jean Lyles and Charles Lyles. Beginning this year, a local artist will be featured at each art soiree.

Jean and her son, Charles, are master instructors, well known for their painting seminars and classes. They guide students through personalized and sequential steps of learning. They reside in Hereford with their families, and own and operate the Texas Gallery.

Together they have published six books on drawing and painting. Their first-hand observations of cowboys, horses, cattle, and the ranch country of West Texas provide the basis for their drawings and paintings, which reveal remarkable detail and strong technique.

Featured Artists

Lajeun Henry, left, and Vera Threewit, members of the board of directors of Big Brothers-Big Sisters of Hereford, set up an art exhibit of paintings by Jean Lyles and Charles Lyles at the Hereford State Bank this week. Mrs. Lyles and her son are the featured artists for this year's BB-BS art soiree, scheduled at the Hereford Country Club on April 24. Jean Lyles has donated the center painting to be given away at the art soiree and other paintings will be displayed during an art show and sale which will be open to the public free of charge prior to the soiree on April 24. Other paintings donated by area artists are on display at the First National Bank.

Lone Star Study Club members meet Tuesday

Members of Lone Star Study Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Jessie Mae Dodson with Billy Morgan serving as co-hostess.

In the absence of the president, Oneita Davidson presided over the business meeting. Hilda Haven led the group in the club collect and the minutes of the called meeting were read which included updating the constitution and by-laws.

Carman Angel was welcomed as a new member and Ms. Davidson reported on the new club yearbooks which will be available at the next scheduled meeting.

Evadna Cox gave a book review from "Man Before the Morning" by Cecil Mailer. It concerned the story of Joseph of Arimathea. The author writes the book with dignity, reverence and charm.

The actual events as recorded in the gospels are combined with an inspired imagination to create an unforgettable character.

The next meeting, May 10, will be guest day in the Heritage Room at Deaf Smith County Library.

Others present during the meeting included Opal Bookout, Juanita Boyton, Margaret Ann Durham, Wilma Goettsch, Ursalee Jacobsen, Lucile Naylor, Verna Sowell.

Also, Grace Tinnin, Zoe Williams, Winnie Wiseman, Ruth Womble, Ella Higgins and Mildred Elliott.

Of course jogging is beneficial. Consider what it has done for the financial health of the umpteen authors on the subject.

The difference between daydreaming and concentrating lies in who you can convince that you're doing the latter while performing the former.
