Fill 'er up: oil could be $50 very soon

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas' top oil regulator says crude oil prices could reach $50 a barrel within two weeks.

And if war breaks out in the Middle East, the price could jump to $75 per 42-gallon barrel, Railroad Commission Chairman Kent Hance said.

"I think that the market is so psychologically driven right now - with the thoughts of war and its inevitability - that you're going to see it go up," Hance said Thursday in an interview with The Associated Press.

The Railroad Commission regulates oil and gas production in Texas, and Hance has been an observer at meetings of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

Hance said he based his $50 prediction on market reaction since Bush announced on Wednesday an order to tap 5 million barrels of oil from the Strategic Petroleum Reserve.

Although Bush said he wanted to combat escalating prices, Hance said, the president's announcement doesn't appear to have had that effect.

In trading Thursday on the New York Mercantile Exchange, contracts for near-month delivery of West Texas Intermediate oil, the benchmark U.S. grade, rose 87 cents to close at a record $39.54.

"I didn't think that we'd hit $50 until President Bush made his announcement," Hance said. "That should have made the markets go down."

"But traders worldwide are looking at it as if he's testing the strategic reserve for war, to make sure it works," Hance said.

"It should have hurt the market. But the market is so strong, it continued to go up even with that bearish news," he said. "That tells you this market has not seen its top."

Oil prices might not rise to $50 if Bush opens more of the strategic reserve, Hance said.

Oil prices have risen steadily since the Iraqi army overran Kuwait two months ago.

Saying he believes there still is a 70 percent chance of war, Hance said a peaceful settlement of the Mideast crisis could see oil prices fall back to the $21 to $25 per barrel range.

Hance said the higher prices were a "mixed blessing" for Texas.

"I think it will create some new drilling activity. Anyone who has a project that will make money above $20 a barrel will start those projects. But it's still not good overall for the Texas or U.S. economy for it to get this high," he said.

"But certainly, we have more revenues for the state. Royalty owners and producers are going to see their checks today double what they were two months ago. We had posted prices in Midland at $17 two months ago. Now they're seeing $38," he said.

The posted price is what refiners actually pay to producers. The futures price, derived by some oilmen as "paper oil," reflects what speculators will pay contracts for future delivery.

Chamber lists nominees

Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce directors heard committee progress reports and approved six nominees to be placed on the ballot for four new directors during a regular monthly meeting Thursday evening.

A nominating committee submitted the names of Bill Lyles, president of George Warner Seed; Lewis McDaniel, SPS manager; James McDowell, accountant at Barrett-Crofoot; Burl Miller, farmer; Cal Mitts, Northwest Grain & Fertilizer manager; and Donna West, accountant for Brown, Graham & Co., as candidates for election to the board. Directors unanimously approved the slate.

Chamber members will be received mail ballots in the near future to select four new directors. After new directors are named, the board will reorganize and elect new officers for 1991.

Mike Carr, executive vice president, announced that the retail business committee is sponsoring a Centennial Coloring Contest for Kindergarten through third-grade students. The committee is also planning to dress western for Centennial activities and to serve birthday cake on Oct. 6, in observance of the county's 100th birthday.

Marilyn Culpepper, Women's Division president, asked the board to change the organization's by-laws so that a president-elect is named instead of a vice president. The board approved the request. The Women's Division will hold a quarterly meeting Oct. 4 and elect new directors.

Doug Josserand, president, announced that last week's Fun

Breakfast was "a big success" and expressed appreciation to sponsors and volunteer workers.

Carr also reported that the "High Ground" organization will go to California in late October to make contacts with industrial prospects. The High Ground is a coalition of Panhandle chambers of commerce working together for industrial prospects for the region. Carr said 8,000 letters had been sent to potential prospects for the meeting.

Carr said he hoped the board could get one or two persons to represent Hereford, and that contacts could also be made on prospects for the dairy industry.

Directors attending the meeting were Josserand, Pat Robbins, Rocky Lee, Charles Greenawalt, Marilyn Culpepper, Diane Hoelscher, James McDowell and Carol Gerk.

Buena Vista project will be redone

Tenants of the Hereford Apartments, located in the Buena Vista subdivision, have been notified that the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and the Panhandle Community Services (PCS) will cancel the housing assistance payments to the apartments on Oct. 1.

HUD and PCS officials called a meeting of tenants Thursday afternoon to explain the notice, assuring tenants they were not being evicted and the apartments are in the process of being remodeled and repainted by the owner.

Tenants will be given the opportunity to relocate, since the repairs are expected to take 60 to 90 days to complete. Tenants also received a letter from Juan Jackson, apartment manager, who explained that the rent would be waived during the remainder of the repairs.

Celia Serrano, local PCS coordinator, said tenants were told Thursday about the process of relocation and were assured "everything will be done to assist them with their housing needs."

She said tenants of the apartments will be given priority processing to allow them to relocate to a well-maintained unit that passes the housing quality standards. If the tenant chooses to remain in the unit while it is being remodeled, no rent is paid but if it does not pass inspection when remodeling is completed, then the tenant will be removed from the program.

PCS will begin issuing certificates Oct. 2 for the relocation process. All tenants should go by the PCS office to obtain certificates for continued assistance.

Serrano said the meeting of tenants was called Thursday to quell rumors that they were being evicted, and to explain the relocation process.

Other landlords in Hereford who are participating in the HUD program have learned recently that housing inspections are becoming stricter. Any rent property in the HUD program must pass housing quality standards in order to be eligible for the housing assistance payments.

Bullock, Hightower cry foul

AUSTIN (AP) - The chairman of the state Democratic Party says he's angry over an FBI inquiry into campaign finance records of two of the party's candidates, Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower and lieutenant governor hopeful Bob Bullock.

"Perhaps the Justice Department and the public would be better served if they spent our tax dollars to prosecute drug dealers and savings and loan crooks and left the politics to the voters," said Democratic Chairman Bob Slagle.

Both Democratic candidates said Thursday that they had done nothing wrong and have nothing to hide.

Bullock, the five-term state comptroller, said he considered the FBI inquiry "just a routine matter" that may have stemmed from complaints of a disgruntled former employee.

Bullock said FBI agents would find nothing wrong. "Not a thing," he said. "I'm not concerned about it one bit."

Hightower said, "I resent the FBI getting into my political campaign with these kinds of overt acts of political activity. It amounts to Nixonian dirty tricks here."

But Hightower's Republican opponent, state Rep. Rick Perry, said that to him the inquiry means, "Where there's smoke, there's generally fire ... I am confident justice in all cases will be done."

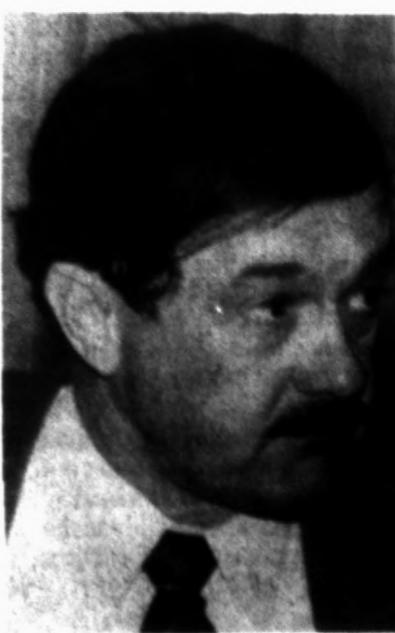

FBI officials didn't return phone calls from The Associated Press. On Monday, six weeks before the November election, FBI agent Greg Rampton obtained from the secretary of state copies of 1988-90 campaign finance reports filed by the two Democratic candidates.

Bullock's Republican opponent is Rob Mosbacher Jr., son of U.S. Commerce Secretary Robert Mosbacher. In the agriculture commissioner race, Perry has received backing from the president's eldest son, George W. Bush.

"Always, this stuff heats up right before (an election). This time, it's against the two Democrats who, according to the polls, are leading by the largest margins," Hightower said.

"Two Democrats who the administration seems most interested in getting: Mr. Bullock because he's had the gall to run against Mr. Mosbacher's boy ... Myself because I've been something of a burr under the saddle of the Bush administration on their price-busting, farm-bankrupting agriculture policies," Hightower said.

Perry and Mosbacher said they had nothing to do with the FBI inquiry. "I don't know anything more about it than I've read in the papers," Mosbacher said.

HIGHTOWER

BULLOCK

"I don't know anybody in the FBI, and I can assure you that none of them have talked to me," Perry said. But he said the inquiry shows that "irregularities in (Hightower's) agency have caught the attention of federal authorities."

Hightower told a news conference that he believes the FBI's action was improper. He said other inquiries had found nothing wrong at the Texas Department of Agriculture.

"The FBI (is) apparently frustrated by its inability to find anything on us. They keep catching us with our pants up," Hightower said.

"They can't get us through the legal process. So they've now entered into the political process. This agent, Mr. Rampton, appears to me to be an agent who's gone beyond the bounds," Hightower said.

Neither Byron Sage, agent-in-charge of the Austin FBI office, nor Rampton returned telephone calls from The Associated Press. Their office referred inquiries to FBI spokesman Claude Martin in San Antonio, who didn't immediately return a call.

Bush confers with exiled Kuwaiti ruler

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Bush, home from a $4 million GOP fund-raising trip, is conferring with the exiled ruler of Kuwait about conditions in his occupied country.

Bush's meeting today with Sheikh Jaber al-Ahmed al-Sabah was intended as a clear sign that the United States still regards the 64-year-old emir as the legitimate ruler of Kuwait.

The president has consistently insisted that not only must Iraq withdraw his invasion troops from Kuwait but that the emir must be restored to the power he has wielded since 1977.

"Those objectives are unchanged," Bush told a fund-raising dinner in Detroit for Rep. Bill Schuette, a Republican senatorial candidate.

The emir's Oval Office visit is "a chance for the president to talk with him about how it's going," his latest reports from inside Kuwait, said White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater.

During Bush's two-day political swing through four states, he helped raise about $4 million for Republican gubernatorial and Senate candidates and drummed up public support for his Persian Gulf policies.

The emir traveled to Washington following a speech Thursday to the United Nations, where he thanked the international community for its stance against Iraq's President Saddam Hussein.

Al-Sabah was warmly greeted by the multinational body. Officials pointedly referred to him as leader of the "state of Kuwait" in defiance of Iraq's annexation of the oil-rich nation.

The emir told the U.N. General Assembly that his country was suffering a crisis that is "a manifold tragedy whose dire consequences affect not only Kuwaitis, but other peoples as well."

"In fact, it has jeopardized stability in the world, especially in the gulf region," he said, adding his country now was ruled by "rape, destruction, terror."

Al-Sabah got a standing ovation from the General Assembly, but he three-member Iraqi delegation walked out as he began speaking.

The emir voiced hope that "the withdrawal of the invaders is, God willing, undoubtedly imminent."

Saddam, who sparked a regional crisis by sending his troops into

Kuwait on Aug. 2, claims Kuwait is an Iraqi province.

The two nations have been engaged in a border dispute for a long time. The United Nations has decreed the invasion in a series of resolutions that include setting up an international blockade to squeeze Saddam economically by preventing trade.

The emir fled Dasman Palace in Kuwait during the invasion, escaping by car just moments before Iraqi troops arrived. His young brother was killed defending the palace.

The emir, leader of a huge clan that filled government posts with about 1,000 princes, now maintains headquarters in exile in Saudi Arabia.

Mesa pays millions in civil suits

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas oilman T. Boone Pickens' Mesa Limited Partnership has agreed to pay a total of $7.2 million to settle two civil lawsuits, including one by federal regulators alleging securities law violations.

The Securities and Exchange Commission sued Pickens and Mesa Limited Partnership, a Dallas energy concern, agreed to settle with the SEC Thursday. Mesa agreed to put $2.3 million in alleged illegal profits into a fund to reimburse other investors.

In another development, Mesa announced it had agreed to pay $4.9 million to settle a 6-year-old class action lawsuit brought by Phillips Petroleum Co. shareholders against Mesa and Phillips.

Mesa, Phillips and other defendants agreed to pay a total $6.7 million to settle the suit brought by shareholders unhappy with how Phillips headed off a takeover bid by Pickens. That settlement is subject to a judge's approval at federal court in Delaware.

In 1984, Mesa offered $60 a share in cash for up to 23 million of Phillips' 154.6 million outstanding common shares, and was considering further shareholder enticements when it dropped the bid in an agreement with Bartlesville, Okla.-based Phillips.

Under the agreement, Mesa said it would sell back its 8.9 million shares of Phillips stock to the company for $53 a share in cash, giving Mesa a pretax profit of $89 million.

In some quarters, this is considered greenmail, where a party threatens a takeover but profits from forcing the company to buy back its stock at a premium. This kind of behavior earned Pickens, who also launched unsuccessful bids against Unocal Corp. and Gulf Corp., the reputation of corporate raider.

In a statement, Mesa said it still denies it violated any laws but "the risk and expense of litigation make this settlement an appropriate resolution of these issues."

A spokesman for Pickens in Washington said, "in both cases Boone wanted to get these lawsuits behind him so he could concentrate on the energy market."

The spokesman, Mark Helmke, denied that the SEC lawsuit had anything to do with Pickens stepping down earlier this month as head of the United Shareholders Association, a grassroots investors' rights group he founded in 1986.

"There's no linkage at all. Boone just wanted to broaden the base of USA," said Helmke.

Charles Cox, a former SEC commissioner, was named to succeed Pickens at USA.

The SEC's civil complaint, filed at federal court in Texas, charged Pickens and Mesa with alleged securities law violations involving the sale of common stock and call options of Homestake Mining Inc., a San Francisco gold mining company which is publicly traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Call options give an investor the right - but not the obligation - to buy shares at a fixed price at a later date. They are used in trading strategies betting that a stock's price will rise.

The SEC claimed that Mesa issued a news release that was "materially false or misleading" about its intentions to acquire Homestake without revealing that it also intended to sell Homestake shares it already held.

SEC regulations require anyone holding 5 percent or more of a company's shares to disclose it. At the time, Mesa only had a 3.8 percent stake, some 3.5 million shares.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just read E.F.'s solution to the "buy me..." syndrome that children sometimes fall into when shopping. I would like to offer a solution that worked for me.

We have three boys, 6, 8 and 10. For the last three years we have given them a weekly allowance. Fifty percent is for spending, 40 percent for saving, and 10 percent to be given to the church. We pay them extra for work they do beyond their regular chores. This is money they can spend on whatever they want.

We have laid down a rule: If they want something that is allowable but we feel unnecessary, they have to buy it with their own money.

Now, instead of demanding things, they look for the item they want, check the price to see if they think it's worth it, and decide if they have enough money to buy it. Then they have to make up their minds whether or not they really want it or if they'd rather save the money for something else.

When they decided that they wanted a Nintendo, they pooled their money for months until they had enough to buy it.

They know that if they want games, they must spend their own money because I won't buy them luxuries.

This system has not only eliminated many demands but has turned our children into thoughtful consumers—something that will serve them well all their lives.—It's Working in California

DEAR CALIFORNIA: What lucky kids to have been born into your family! Your plan sounds terrific. I heartily recommend it.

Read on for another example of wise parental strategy:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently, I read in your column about the mother who said that when she and her children go shopping they decide if it's a "looking day" or a "buying day." I did the same when my youngsters were growing up and it worked wonders.

I have four sons. Every Saturday, I gave them each an allowance. I taped a list of chores to the refrigerator. All were assigned. At the end of the week, I paid the children in quarters. Then we'd check the list. For each chore that WASN'T done, they'd have to give me back a quarter. I never scolded them. I just took their quarters. Needless to say, after a while I wasn't getting many quarters.

I started this system when each child turned 2. They received $1 a week. The 2-year-old had four chores: picking up toys, saying "please," saying "thank you" and saying nightly prayers. If he forgot just once during the week, it cost him one quarter.

Each child had his own log book. At the end of the year we'd sit down together and check the books. The one who had paid me the fewest number of quarters would receive a $1 raise. If anyone had outside activities or spent the night with a friend, he had to pay his brother a quarter to do his chores for him.

What fun we had! At the same time it helped make them responsible adults.

Our youngest son is 22 now and we are extremely proud of all our children. If you'd like to print this letter, feel free, but hold the name. Just sign me -- Mrs. J. from Pennsylvania.

DEAR MRS. J.: Cheers from Chicago on an excellent blueprint for teaching kids how to be responsible adults. My hat is off to you.

Auto Windshield cracked? don't replace, repair it

Troublesome minor windshield cracks and nicks can now be repaired inexpensively to make your auto windshield look like new.

"More than eight million windshields will require repair or replacement in 1990. Of those, as many as 15 percent or 1.2 million could be repaired, saving the consumer millions of dollars," said Vince Romans, vice president of marketing and planning for Globe/U.S. Auto Glass Centers, one of the nation's leading automotive glass repair and replacement companies.

The windshield repair process, known as "Clear Fix," utilizes a resin bonding agent cured with ultraviolet light.

Windshields are made of two layers of glass with a plastic vinyl laminant in the middle. As long as the breaks are in the outer layer and do not penetrate the laminate, the windshield can most likely be repaired.

In addition, the damaged spot should not be larger than a quarter and outside the driver's primary vision area, the 5 1/2" X 8 1/2" area within the sweep of the left windshield wiper blade.

The average cost of replacement is $205. Clear Fix windshield repair costs $40, creating an average cost savings of $165, or more than 75 percent.

With the average insurance deductible now $250 to $500, consumers are increasingly recognizing the benefits of windshield repair.

In fact, many insurance companies like Allstate, State Farm and Travelers will waive the deductible when a windshield is repaired rather than replaced, adding to further savings for the consumer.

The Clear Fix process involves cleaning the damaged area, precision drilling, and pressure injecting a transparent liquid resin into the carefully prepared area of the windshield. The resin is then cured with ultraviolet light.

Once the resin is cured, it has the same index of refraction as glass. The resin bonds any loose fragments within the crack, restoring visibility and strength to the windshield.

Most repairs are almost invisible. The repair of more serious damage may produce rings or halos at the point of impact.

The repair process is conveniently available from Globe/U.S. Auto Glass Centers through mobile service at no extra charge.

Herd JV whips Frenship, 34-14, for first victory

The Hereford Whiteface sub-varsity football teams all took to the road Thursday for games with Wolfforth Frenship, Tulia and Dumas.

The Herd junior varsity picked up its first win of the year with a 34-14 decision at Frenship while the sophomores lost to the Tulia JV 16-13. The freshman Maroon squad also suffered a loss to the Hornets, falling 34-8. The freshman White team pulled double duty at Dumas, dropping the A game 48-8 and winning the B game 8-6.

Herd JV 34, Frenship 14

The Herd jumped out to a 14-0 lead after one quarter as Shawn Fogo got the first score on a 65-yard romp and Ben Perry crossed the goal line from 5 yards out.

After the Tigers cut the margin to 14-7, Hereford came back with two second-quarter scores for a 27-7 halftime advantage. Pete Garza put up both touchdowns on runs of 4 and 3 yards.

Fogo ripped off another long run for the Herd's final score, going 40 yards to pay dirt.

Richard Rodriguez added the PAT kick on four of the Herd's touchdowns.

The Hereford defense kept Frenship under control for most of the game as Ramiro Garza recorded five sacks while Michael Ramirez and Ronnie Gomez came up with interceptions.

The Herd offense rolled for more than 300 yards rushing and did not commit a turnover in the game.

Fogo finished with 185 yards on 15 carries while Garza had 65 yards on 12 rushes and Perry added 48 yards on seven tries.

Tulia JV 16, Herd Sophs 13

A Hereford fumble at its own 4-yard line with 50 seconds left in the game set up the winning score for the Hornets.

FCA elects officers, sets meeting schedule

The Hereford High School chapter of Fellowship of Christian Athletes has elected officers for 1990-91.

Jason Paetzold was elected president with Shantel Cornelius chosen as vice president and Trisha

The Herd took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter when Jake Head connected with Leonard Martinez from 15 yards out. Shama Hernandez added the PAT kick.

After Tulia scored to take an 8-7 lead at the half, Hereford moved back in front in the third period as Richard Wilbanks, who finished with eight receptions, hauled in a 20-yard toss from Head.

The Herd defense was able to make the lead hold up until the final minute of the game.

Tulia 34, Frosh Maroon 8

Chad Carlile passed 50 yards to J.J. Aguilar in the third quarter for Hereford's only touchdown and Justin Wright tacked on the two-point gain.

Tulia opened a 20-0 lead at the half and added touchdowns in each of the final two quarters.

Dumas 48, Frosh White A 8

Ben Celaya put up the lone Herd touchdown in the third quarter when he recovered a Dumas fumble in the endzone and Chris Vallejo ran for the two-point conversion.

The Demons scored almost at will against the Herd, putting 24 points on the board in each half.

Jeremy Paetzold gained another turnover for Hereford with a fumble recovery.

Frosh White A 8, Dumas 6

After the Demons took a 6-0 halftime lead, Brandon Holcombe pulled Hereford into a tie with an 8-yard scoring run in the third quarter. Holcombe set up his touchdown with a 65-yard dash into Dumas territory.

The Herd defense came up with the winning points in the fourth quarter when Stacy Sanders tackled the ball carrier in the endzone for a safety.

Chris Gonzales led the defensive effort with three interceptions and Chris Williams recovered a fumble for the Herd.

Let's do it again

Hereford Whiteface defensive tackles Santos Liscano (77) and Eric Trujillo (60) gang up on Lubbock Coronado quarterback Craig Swanson as linebacker Mark Daniel comes up to provide support during last week's 21-9 win over the Mustangs. Herd coach Don Cumpston said the Whitefaces must have a good pass rush again this week to contain Wolfforth Frenship's Brad Cade when the Tigers invade Whiteface Stadium tonight.

SWC swings into action

BY DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

The Southwest Conference gets down to family feuding this weekend.

Texas Christian is at Southern Methodist in a regionally televised noon showdown to start the day off. The oddsmakers made the Horned Frogs six-point favorites.

There will be a crosstown battle in Houston with Rice making the drive over to the Astrodome to meet the high-scoring Cougars. Houston (2-0) rated a 28-point pick over the Owls, who are 2-1.

Baylor is at Texas Tech as the Bears and Red Raiders get their conference seasons underway. Tech was a field goal favorite at Jones Stadium game.

Texas A&M and Arkansas are involved in non-conference action. The 11th ranked Aggies make the perilous trip to Baton Rouge, La., where national rankings have been shattered in the past to play Louisiana State.

The Aggies are six-point favorites although the last time they won in Tiger Stadium was by a 39-8 count in 1975.

Arkansas, trying to rebound from a loss to Mississippi, hosts Colorado State and the Hogs were 13-point favorites.

SMU has had an extra week to prepare for TCU's "comeback kids" and may need it. The Horned Frogs have overcome deficits of 12 and 14 points in their final two non-conference games to beat Missouri and Oklahoma State of the Big Eight Conference.

SMU needed the break after opening with a 44-7 victory over Vanderbilt but losing 43-7 to Tulane.

The Frogs' last victory in Dallas was 1971.

Texas Tech will have a new starting quarterback when the Bears come calling. Redshirt freshman Robert Hall took over last week when Jamie Gill suffered a knee injury and rallied the Raiders to a 34-32 victory over New Mexico.

Houston leads Rice 15-4 in their series but the Owls have won three of the four games in the Astrodome. Houston has won nine straight games in the building.

This could be the toughest game on the schedule for Brigham Young (4-0), favored by just a field goal. Oregon has lost just once in three games, 22-17 last Saturday to Arizona. It was a disappointing effort for Musgrave, who threw four second-half interceptions but still had a chance to win when he was tackled inches short of the goal line as time ran out.

"It happens to every quarterback, no matter how talented they are," Brooks said. "You're not going to be perfect every game."

BYU coach LaVell Edwards said he was impressed by Musgrave's "presence on the field" and compared him favorably with Detmer.

"He and Detmer have a lot of the same kind of ability to do that," Edwards said. "That's probably what separates the real good ones from the guys who are pretty good, the ability to make plays and turn a bad experience into a positive one."

After close victories over both Michigan and Michigan State, Notre Dame finally may have picked a Big Ten opponent it can handle without getting lucky.

"They are finding ways to win," Purdue coach Fred Akers said.

Purdue is 1-1, with its only victory coming against Division I-AA Indiana State. Its loss was to Washington, which held the Boilermakers to zero yards rushing.

Bears-Raiders top NFL slate

By DAVE GOLDBERG

In 1984, the Bears and Raiders met in Chicago in a game that featured the year's two Bruise Brothers. They meet in Los Angeles Sunday in a matchup of the year's two biggest early-season surprises.

What we have here are the NFL's two stinkiest teams - the Raiders have given up just 25 points in three games, the Bears have allowed 29. Both, naturally, are unbeaten.

We also have two teams that don't exactly have Joe Montana at quarterback - after Chicago's Jim Harbaugh threw for just 47 yards against Minnesota last week, Mike Ditka suggested he'd run the ball 70 times if he had to. Even with Howie Long out, that probably won't work against the Raiders.

On the other hand, back to the passing game - Jay Schroeder may not throw better than Harbaugh.

But he throws it longer . . .

RAIDERS, 13-10

Denver (plus 2 1/2) at Buffalo

The Broncos are hurting on defense - comeback Tyrone Braxton is the latest casualty. If - and it's a big one - the Bills can remain up for two straight weeks . . .

BILLS, 27-21

Miami (minus 1) at Pittsburgh

The Steelers have yet to score a touchdown on offense. Last week, the Dolphins' offense played like the Steelers. But it's hard to shackle Dan Marino two straight weeks. The Steelers may score, but . . .

DOLPHINS, 24-13

Cincinnati (minus 3) at Seattle

This is the first of five straight road games for the Bengals, forced out of Riverfront until Nov. 14 by a combination of the league and the Reds. It's also a good spot for an upset as in 'the Seahawks are the best 0-3 in the league' That's not hard, there's only one other.

SEAHAWKS, 21-20

Cleveland (plus 6 1/2) at Kansas City

What does it tell you that Mike Pagel is getting more work this week in the event Bernie Kosar succumbs to his own offensive line?

CHIEFS, 17-3

Green Bay (plus 3) at Detroit

Where's the Silver Steak and where's the Majik?

LIONS, 24-20

Tampa Bay (plus 7 1/2) at Minnesota

The indoor Vikings (even with Rich Gannon) aren't the same as the outdoor Vikings, who have lost six straight.

VIKINGS, 21-16

Dallas (plus 14) at New York Giants

It was 28-7 Giants two weeks ago in the 100-degree-plus heat of Texas Stadium and could have been 45-7 if the Giants hadn't been loose with the ball.

GIANTS, 45-7

Indianapolis (plus 13) at Philadelphia

The last time the Eagles were favored by this much was two weeks ago against Phoenix. They've learned their lesson.

EAGLES, 27-7

NY Jets (pick 'em) at New England

Neither is a powerhouse, but the Jets don't have to be. The Patriots have given up more points than any team in the NFL.

JETS, 21-19

Houston (plus 2 1/2) at San Diego

Run and shoot doesn't work against brute force.

CHARGERS, 20-17

Washington (minus 7) at Phoenix

It was 31-0 Redskins in Washington. That was BH - Before Humphries - at quarterback.

Mets top Expos to keep pace with Pittsburgh

By The Associated Press

Randy Tomlin and Ron Darling don't quite see the pennant race the same way.

Yet on Thursday night, they each played a key part as the Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Mets head for a possible showdown at Three Rivers Stadium next week.

Tomlin was called up from Double-A ball to pitch in an August doubleheader. He has since become a part of the rotation.

Darling, meanwhile, seems on the way out as a member of the Mets.

"I haven't pinched myself because I don't want to," Tomlin said after beating Chicago 3-2 Thursday night at Three Rivers Stadium. "I'm a dream right now, so please don't wake me up. I didn't even think I'd be up here. I was just hoping to get to Triple-A this season."

The victory kept Pittsburgh three games ahead of New York in the National League East and reduced its magic number for clinching the title to four.

The Pirates, nearing what would be their first NL East championship in 11 years, finished 14-4 against the Cubs this season, compared to 6-12 in 1989. Pittsburgh plays three weekend games in St. Louis, then finishes the season at home with three games against New York.

The Mets kept pace with Pittsburgh by beating Montreal 6-0 behind Darling's second straight quality start.

Darling, relegated to the bullpen most of the season, gave up four hits in five innings before Bob Ojeda relieved. Both Darling (7-9) and Ojeda said earlier this week they expected to be traded after the season.

The Expos, eliminated Wednesday, have lost seven straight games after sweeping consecutive three-game series from Pittsburgh and New York. The Expos have scored only two runs in their last 55 innings.

Pirates 3, Cubs 2

Sid Bream's sixth-inning RBI double snapped a tie.

Andy Van Slyke added a run-scoring double and Bobby Bonilla drove in his 117th run as the Pirates swept the three-game series.

Mets 6, Expos 0

Daryl Boston's three-run homer off of Montreal starter Kevin Gross (8-12) highlighted New York's four-run sixth inning.

With the Mets leading 1-0, Dave Magadan opened the sixth by drawing a walk from Gross, who is winless since June 11. One out later, Pat Tabler and Tom O'Malley singled before Boston's 12th Homer.

Reds 4, Braves 2

Cincinnati reduced its magic number for winning the NL West to two by beating Atlanta on Glenn Braggs' two-run Homer.

Cincinnati was held to four hits through five innings by Steve Avery (3-10), who was protecting a 2-1 lead while pitching with a blister on his hand. But Avery walked Eric Davis to open the sixth and Braggs hit the next pitch over the left-center field wall for his sixth Homer.

Tom Browning (15-9) gave up seven hits - all in the first three innings - in seven innings before Rob Dibble relieved for his 11th save.

Phillies 4, Cardinals 3

St. Louis' Jose DeLeon lost 19 games in a season for the second time in his career as John Kruk doubled in two runs.

DeLeon (7-19) lasted only 1 2-3 innings. DeLeon was 2-19 in 1985 for Pittsburgh.

Tommy Greene (3-2) gave up two runs and six hits in seven innings for the victory. Joe Boever pitched the final two innings for his 14th save.

By The Associated Press

The odd race in the American League East is all even.

The Boston Red Sox and Toronto Blue Jays, who have taken turns blowing the division lead since early June, begin a three-game series in Boston tonight. And if ever there were two teams that could split a three-game series, these are the two.

"We've got six games at home. They've got three with us and three with Baltimore. But it means nothing. We have to win games," Boston manager Joe Morgan said after the Red Sox won a big one Thursday night, defeating the Detroit Tigers 3-2 despite Cecil Fielder's 49th home run.

Reds 6, Expos 0

Daryl Boston's three-run Homer off of Montreal starter Kevin Gross (8-12) highlighted New York's four-run sixth inning.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

MUSIC TO STILL THE SAVAGE BREAST!

THE FIRST MENTION OF DAVID IN THE BIBLE IS TO BE FOUND IN 1 SAMUEL:16. KING SAUL, HARD AT WAR WITH THE PHILISTINES, HAS BEGUN TO SHOW THE FIRST SIGNS OF HIS MENTAL ILLNESS, DEEP MELANCHOLIA, IF NOT OUT-AND-OUT SCHIZOPHRENIA! IN THOSE TIMES, IT WAS FEELT THAT MUSIC HAD A SOOTHING EFFECT ON THISAILMENT, WHICH INDEED IT HAD, AND SAUL'S ADVISERS SENT FOR YOUNG DAVID, WHO WAS KNOWN TO BE AN EXPERT PLAYER. THEREAFTER, WHEN SAUL WENT INTO DEPRESSED FITS, DAVID WOULD PLAY AND SAUL WOULD BE SOOTHED AND REFRESHED, AND SOON CAME TO LOVE DAVID AS HIS OWN SON. HOWEVER...

...DURING THE NEXT SIX YEARS, AS THE LAD GREW FROM YOUTH TO YOUNG MANHOOD, SAUL'S ATTITUDE BEGAN TO CHANGE—FOR DAVID SHOWED A FINE APITUDE AS A WARRIOR AND LEADER, GAINING GREAT POPULARITY WITH THE PEOPLE. SAUL, IN HIS DEPRESSED MENTAL STATE, BEGAN TO SEE DAVID AS A THREAT TO HIS OWN RULE, LET ALONE THE FUTURE RULE OF JONATHAN, HIS SON, WHOM HE TRIED TO ENTICE INTO KILLING DAVID—which Jonathan wouldn't do because he was a close and sincere friend. But, underneath this growing obsession to see David dead, love for him still remained which became quite evident, in this writer's opinion, when, the last time David played for him, Saul took up his javelin (1 SAMUEL:19) and half-heartedly attempted to pin David to the wall. The tribe of Benjamin, of which Saul was a member, was renowned as the greatest of left-handed marksmen (judges:20-16) with sling, spear, or any other weapon of war and, for a warrior of Saul's great caliber, to miss his mark in the close confines of a room, other than on purpose, was impossible! But it did serve as a sign to the escaping David that from hence his life was endangered, even though the king did not, personally, intend to have David's blood on his own royal hands!

Asbestos claims rise

Imagine reading a newspaper and coming upon an ad suggesting that people whose doctors have told them they suffer from smoking induced lung trouble should sue an asbestos company. It may sound ridiculous, but that's just what one law firm advertised.

Many may interpret this as a sign that some lawyers are out to cash in on other people's troubles. The statistics would seem to bear that out.

The incidence of asbestos claims filed is increasing dramatically, but there's a difference between most of today's claims and those filed in the past. Ninety percent of earlier claims involved diseases which result from heavy asbestos exposure. Only 20 percent of current claims do. The rest involved either no impairment or other lung ailments that are likely to have been caused by smoking.

People who do sue, however, even those who win may be in for a surprise. Plaintiffs receive only about 36 percent of the money paid via settlements or court-awarded cases. The rest of the billions of dollars awarded go to the plaintiffs' lawyers.

One company that's been a defendant in some of these lawsuits is the Keene Corporation. In 1968 it acquired a small company which had asbestos-containing products. It's paid about $300 million in asbestos litigation cost and will continue to provide settlements for plaintiffs whose health-impairment resulted from exposure to its asbestos-containing products. It is committed, however, to refuse payment to attorneys who are recruiting plaintiffs and filing nonmeritorious cases.

Presbyterian Women will meet for a covered dish luncheon at the church Wednesday, Oct. 3, at noon. A video "Come See What God Has Done" will be shown after the meal. Employed women whose lunch hour permits may attend but need not bring a dish.

Classrooms take over television

Information that won't be in textbooks for years is available today to America's students thanks to fascinating new television programs that bring the classroom into the home.

One such program is the first national call-in program, created for those who want to sound off on education policy. Hosted by John Merrow, it's called "Learning Matters: LIVE." Viewers call 1-800-368-5781 or 368-5782 from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. (ET) on the third Wednesday of each month to put education experts in the hot seat.

Also on one of the nation's fastest growing cable networks-The Learning Channel (TLC)-are some unique programs offering never-before-seen views from Eastern Europe and foreign language instruction in Italian, Spanish and French. It's all part of the "Electronic Library" of programs delivered via satellite and cable TV to over 421,000 classroom teachers each weekday. Via TLC, the programs are also delivered daily from 2 to 4 p.m. (ET) to millions of home as part of basic cable service for viewing or VCR recording.

"Eastern Europe: Breaking With The Past" is a 13-part series that helps teachers (and viewers at home) grapple with the fast-paced changes that shattered the Iron Curtain. TLC takes "globalization" another step with "Faces of Japan" which brings to life the dynamic and rich culture of Japan. Another monthly, half-hour series, "Italianissimo," helps provide a sense of understanding and appreciation for one of the oldest cultures in history. For those planning to sample foreign culture firsthand, there's multilingual instruction in Italian, French and Spanish.

These are programs for which student-and their parents-can learn a lot.
