Rhetoric roars from candidates

By DONNA CASSATA

Associated Press Writer Republican George Bush charged that rival Michael Dukakis is leading Massachusetts into a "budgetary Three Mile Island." The Democratic nominee, initially reluctant to join the rhetorical fray, defended his state's economy as sound.

The vice president, wrapping up a two-day campaign swing in California Thursday, also expressed his hope that former White House aide Oliver North will be exonerated on all federal charges stemming from his role in the Iran-Contra affair.

Bush refused to rule out a presidential pardon if North, who is awaiting trial, is found guilty.

Federal figures show that Massachusetts has gained more than 230,000 jobs in the past five years, while losing manufacturing jobs. The text of the vice president's speech said "manufacturing jobs," and Bush aides said the campaign stands by that description.

One debate the Democratic nominee refused to get involved in was the argument over whether the forest fires that have decimated the West should have been allowed to burn unchecked.

"This isn't the time to discuss what Dukakis was campaigning in might have been or should be," Dukakis said as he toured the park "Everbody agrees that once the fires are out, it'll be a good time to sit down and think through exactly how we deal with this problem in the future."

Birmingham knows forgiveness

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) - yesterday, today and forever." Twenty-five years ago, a Sunday school lesson about forgiveness ended with the blast of a bomb planted by a Ku Klux Klansman, and four black girls lay dead. Since then, Birmingham has learned much about forgiveness.

The bombing at the 16th Street Baptist Church sparked outrage that helped fuel the 1960s civil rights movement, which eventually eased the bitter racial divisions in this city, speakers noted at a memorial service on the anniversary Thursday night.

"There has been a turnabout in human relations in this city, which now has an improved image," the Rev. John H. Cross told a racially mixed congregation of 1,400 people gathered to remember Cynthia Wesley, Addie Mae Collins and Carol Robertson, all 14, and Denise McNair, 11.

"Twenty-five years ago the only blacks at City Hall were elevator operators and janitors. Now we have Richard Arrington as mayor," Cross said.

Cross was the church's pastor on Sept. 15, 1963, when the bomb, planted beneath basement steps, exploded after a Sunday school lesson on the theme of a love that forgives. The girls were killed as they were preparing to take part in a youth day program. Twentytwo other people were injured.

In a service that featured freedom songs of the civil rights movement, Arrington, who is in his third four-year term, said "the torch that we raise tonight is raised by two hands - one black and one white."

Cross told the audience that he has never preached the sermon he prepared for the morning of the bombing, and doesn't intend to.

He said he had planned to tell young people at the church to "anchor their lives to the solid Rock Jesus Christ - the same with love and understanding." All lower-level windows of the church now are covered with steel mesh, a sharp contrast to 1963, when glass shards from the windows covered virtually every square foot on the side of the building where the bomb explod-

Prior to the memorial service, black and white church congregations served food to people gathered in Kelly Ingram Park, a rallying spot for civil rights marches led by the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. in the early 1960s.

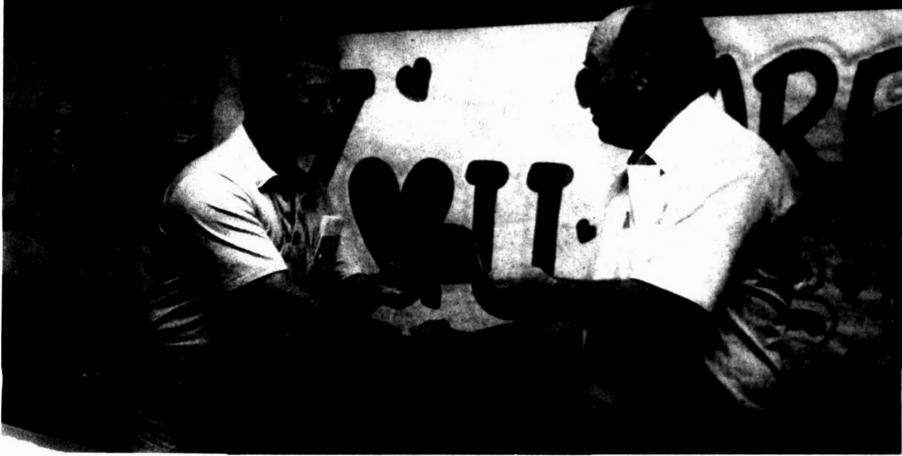

All visible racial barriers are gone in Birmingham, which has six blacks and three whites on its City Council.

The current pastor of the church, the Rev. James E. Young, said Birmingham "has" provided spiritual and moral leadership to the world for the past quarter century."

A retired automobile mechanic and Ku Klux Klansman, Robert Edward Chambliss, was convicted in 1977 of murdering Miss McNair. He died in prison after eight years.

Miss McNair's father, Chris McNair, a former state legislator and now a Jefferson County commissioner, said he still is not satisfied. Although segregation in politics and business has ended, it bothers him that most churches still are either white or black.

"Mankind needs the church or the synagogue," he said. "This is part of man's inner being. If they can't come together at that time, then how are they going to come together in genuineness at any other occasion? I have to doubt

Cavazos one vote from top slot

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas Tech University President Lauro Cavazos is now just one vote away from becoming the nation's top educator, and Sen. Phil Gramm says he expects a unanimous confirmation by the Senate.

"I would be very surprised if anybody voted against Larry," Gramm said Thursday after the Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee recommended unanimously that Cavazos be confirmed as the next education secretary.

The 61-year-old son of a South Texas cattleman and a registered Democrat, Cavazos would become the first Hispanic member of a president's cabinet.

He will only serve until the next president takes office in January, but Gramm believes Cavazos would stay on the job if Republican presidential nominee George Bush wins the election. "He will clearly then have an opportunity to have great impact on every school child in America," said Gramm, R-Texas. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

"Larry's dad was a cowboy on the King Ranch, he joined the Army right out of high school and worked his way through college and graduate school to become the nation's top educator."

Cavazos testified before the Senate committee last week that he would push for increased education spending and focus on meeting the educational needs of all citizens. "It is vital we have a Department of Education that speaks up for every citizen in the area of education. There is not a problem in the United States that could not be solved with education," Cavazos testified.

Cavazos is the first Hispanic to serve as president of Texas Tech, and is also the school's first graduate to hold the post. He is president of the Texas Tech medical school.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 22-year-old male who graduated from college in June. I have been thinking about suicide since junior high. Here is why:

I was always the kid who wasn't invited to the birthday party. I was the last one chosen on the basketball team. I went through high school without a single date. (I was too shy to ask a girl out). My college roommates were OK but they never made an effort to get to know me. Now I am trying to find a job and having no luck, even though the employment rate in this country is at an all-time high. I must be a real loser.

I have never experienced joy or satisfaction in anything that I've ever done. I have no real interests, no desires and no ambition. I consider myself a total failure.

I don't know why I am writing to you, Ann. Maybe it is to warn parents, teachers and others to pay attention to the quiet, obedient kid. My parents are nice, decent people, but they were never concerned about me because I made good grades and never got into trouble.

Maybe when they read my suicide note they will understand .- A Guy in Milwaukee

Zinser home site of Veleda Study Club meeting Monday

"Climb Every Mountain;" the theme of the '88-'89 club year of Veleda Study Club, was observed as members met Monday night at the country home of Margaret Zinser and together climbed to the top of ahill overlooking the Tierra Blanca

Members came dressed in their mountain-climbing attire. Waiting at the top of the hill was a supper of border beans, salad, cornbread and cake served on tin plates and ice tea served in tin cans. The yearbook committee of Zinser, Suzanne Stevens and Marcella Bradly were the hostesses for the supper.

The members returned to the Zinser home for the business meeting and program. Norma Walden, president, presided over the business meeting. Members answered roll call with their summer activities. Ruth Fish presented a gift from the club to Stevens, last years' president, in appreciation of her leadership.

In Zinser's presentation of the new vearbooks she stated that this year will be a year of renewal and rededicaiton. "Coming together is a beginning; Keeping together is progress; Working together is success," she said.

Members attending were Bradly, Juanita Brownd, Francis Crume, Fish, Betty Gilbert, Marjorie Lasiter, Joyce Ritter, Tommie Savage, Stevens, Walden and Zinser.

The next meeting will be Sept. 26 in Norma Walden's home. The program will be 'Rejuvinating the Home.'

Herd, Matadors battle to 6-6 tie

By JOHN BROOKS Managing Editor

In Webster's New Universal Unabridged Dictionary there are 21 definitions of the word tie.

You must read through 15 of them before you find the one that applies to Thursday's Hereford-Estacado football game at Lowrey Field in Lubbock.

"An equality of scores in a contest.

Nowhere among those definitions are there words like "disappointment," "inconsistent," "coulda wunnit," or "hadda coupla chances to winnit."

Those words should be in there, the better to describe an equality of scores in a contest.

Hereford and Estacado were the picks for the top two places in District 1-4A before the season started. Only the order of their finish was to be determined.

That determination was supposed to have come Thursday night, the opening district game of the year.

The game ended with the score tied at 6-all. The determination of who finishes where will have to wait.

Standing in the corner of a dressing room that, given the atmosphere, would have been suitable for a wake, Hereford coach Don Cumpton stood in isolated despair. "I'm disappointed in the score," Cumpton said, "We had three penetrations (inside the 20-yard line) and only one touchdown. I'm disappointed.

"I'm proud of our team because they played hard. We made too many mistakes, turned the ball over too many times.

"We didn't win."

Then Cumpton almost smiled. "But we didn't get beat."

If it comes down to an equality of records at the end of the district season, Hereford will be the "winner" because Hereford was inside the 20 three times, Estacado just

"But I'm still disappointed," Cumpton said. "I think we had the. better team."

The disappointment started before the first half was finished, almost evaporated early in the fourth quarter, then came back to leave a bitter feeling.

In the first half, Hereford dodged two bullets thanks to interceptions by safety Clint Cotten, but was unable to take advantage of the turnovers.

On Estacado's first possession, the Matadors moved from their own 33 to the Hereford 39 when, on third-and-8, Matador quarterback Reggie Essix overthrew his receiver. Cotten intercepted at the Hereford 22, and returned the errant pass to the Herd

After two runs for 14 yards by tailback Glenn Parker, tailback Keith Brown couldn't handle a pitchout from quarterback Jason Scott. Estacado's Calvin Blue recovered the ball at the Matador 49

Hereford's defense stopped Estacado cold. Essix, going down the line on the option, was dropped for a two yard loss by linebacker Moses Casas, then defensive end Brad Smith swooped down on Essix, forcing an incomplete pass. An Essix screen pass to tailback Derrick Shed lost two yards.

On Estacado's next possession, Cotten picked off another Essix pass, this time at the Hereford 42.

Until late in the game, Cotten was Estacado's "leading receiver," with two interceptions and 17 return

Hereford Fullback Kyle Andrews had picked up seven yards on the next play when an Estacado tackler forced the ball loose. Hereford tackle Bud Shirley recovered the ball for the Herd, but the drive stalled there.

Estacado stayed on the ground and quickly moved from its own 35 to the Hereford 27. Essix again tested the fates, throwing an incomplete pass. On fourth-and-six, Essix, trying to pick up a first down, was flagged for a forward lateral. It was five yards, loss of down, Hereford's ball.

In other words, the Herd was being primed for its first disappointment of the night.

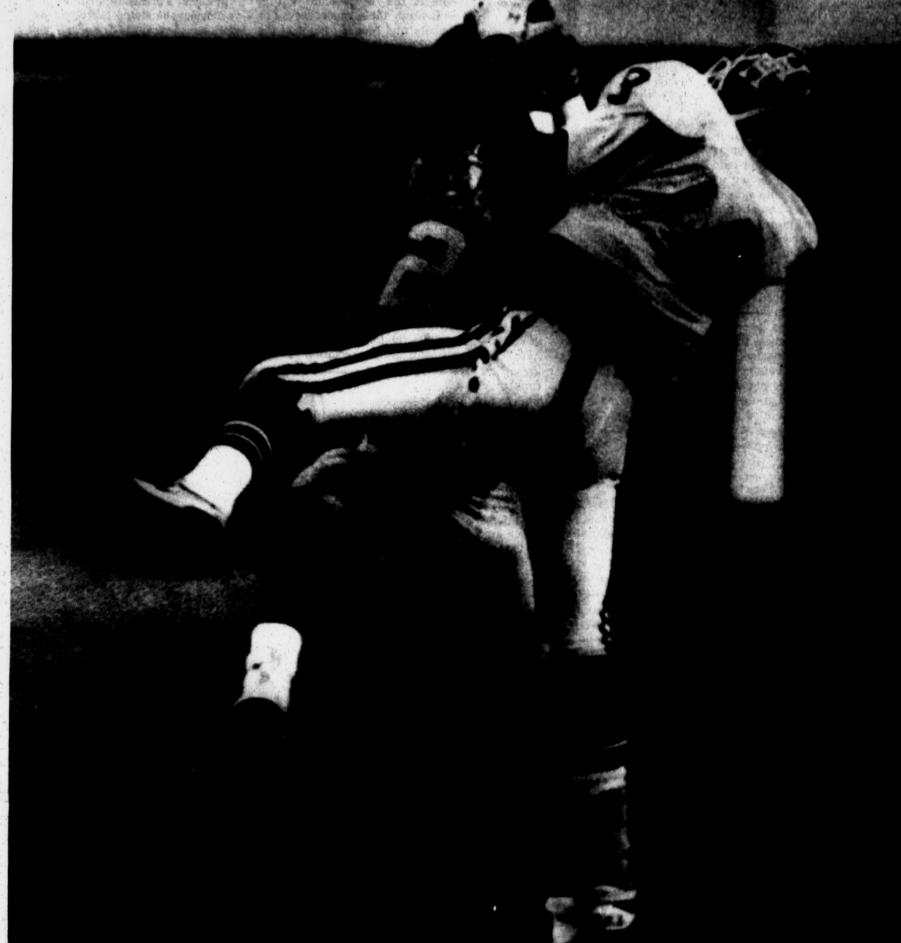

Andrews and Brown, on the round moved Hereford to the Estacado 47 where Scott hooked up with his district-leading target, split end Pat Mercer, for a 13-yard pass to the Matador 34.

Scott, Brown and Andrews picked up 17 yards on three rushes before Scott missed connections on a pass to Mercer, then was sacked twice to kill the drive at the Estacado 33.

'We thought about a field goal down there," Cumpton said, "but after we got sacked the first time it took us out of range.

On Hereford's next possession, two big plays by the Herd and two big penalties on Estacado set up Hereford Disappointment No. 2.

Starting at the Hereford 28 with 2:53 left until halftime, Andrews picked up 16 yards, then Scott hit wingback Jared Victor on a 7 yard pass to move to the Estacado 49. Scott, after losing six yards on a sack, tried to hit Mercer at the

With 1:24 left, Scott hit split end Brent Cumpton for 18 yards, then had a pass intercepted by Norris. Norris, however, was again called first-and-10 at the Matador 16. That's when the wheels fell off the Hereford cart. After an incomplete pass, Hereford was penalized for lining up in the neutral zone. Scott rushed for two yards to set up third-and-13. Scott tried to hit Victor with a pass in the end zone, but Victor was called for offensive pass interference, a 15-yard, loss-of-down foul that moved Hereford back to the 34. On fourthand-28, Scott hit tight end Cotten for a 23-yard gain. Hereford gave up the ball on downs with 11 seconds left at the Estacado 11. We had the ball down there a couple of times inside the 20 and should have scored both times," Cumpton said. "It wasn't any one person's fault, it was just a mistake here, a mistake there."

In the third quarter, Hereford again marched within striking distance, driving from its 45 to the Estacado 26. The drive was keyed by a 17-yard pass from Scott to Mercer and a three runs by Brown for 22 yards. On third-and-8, Scott's pass was picked off by Norris, but a clip on the interception return moved Estacado back to its own 10.

On first down, Brown, at cornerback, slung Essex to the ground at the two, then tailaback Robert Johnson recovered his own fumble at the three.

On third down, Johnson cut inside a charging Brown, then cut outside. 34 yards later, Cotten angled across the field and drove Johnson out of

On third down at the Matador 49, Johnson took a pitch from Essix and pulled up short to try a tailback pass. He was hit by two Hereford defenders just as he pulled the ball back behind his ear, and linebacker Moses Casas recovered the ball at the Matador 40.

This time, Hereford made its drive count, twice converting fourth down plays including a two-yard run by Andrews at the end of the third quarter for the drive's first firstdown, then a keeper by Scott on pass fell incomplete. Later, Norris would twice be flagged for interference, while Mercer had three catches on the night for 38 yards. The game ended in a 6-6 tie.

"We didn't think about the field goal this time," Cumpton said. 'Jason looked at their defense and saw they had a stack (a linebacker behind a down lineman) in the middle, so he took it down the line."

Scott ran over behind right tackle Anthony Tijerina, knifed through the line, and dove for the first down at the Matador four.

On the next play, Brown took a Scott pitchout around the left side on the power sweep and scored standing up with 8:49 to play.

The extra-point snap from center Ricky Rieves sailed over the head of holder Carl Delozier, who fell on the ball back at the 30-yard-line.

After a half-dozen misfires, Essix finally connected on a pass, hitting split end Kevin Ruth on a 41-yard pass to the Hereford 20. The Matadors moved to the Hereford 13 and faced fourth-and-three. The Matadors ran the same basic pitch play Hereford had scored on earlier: A simple toss from Essix to Johnson, who cut inside the Hereford rush and scored with 4:37 to play.

Placekicker Cory Flores just missed the extra point as the ball sailed off to the right, leaving the score tied Hereford was stopped cold on its next possession, but so was Estacado. Essix was sacked by Casas, then tackled twice in the backfield by linebacker Brian Wagner with 1:21 to play.

It was a bittersweet end for a Hereford death march: three games in 12 days against 5A powers Tascosa and Palo Duro, then Thursday's district opner.

"That's three tough games in 12 days, and I know we wanted to win this one, too," Cumpton said. "We really tried, and I know the team is not satisfied with this. We just have to work hard, get better during our

"We've played better than we did at times tonight. We got beat on that pass, they broke the sweep on us on fourth-and-3, we let them out of a hole at the three. If you take those three plays away, they didn't have a whole lot of offense (166 yards total, less than half Estacado's average going into the game, and, without those three plays, only 78 yards).

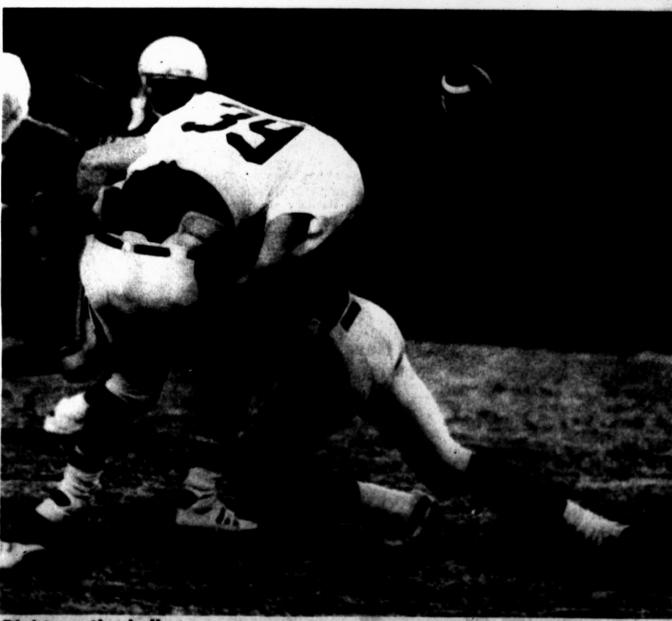

"Our running game was good at times tonight (117 yards) and we completed some passes (Scott was six-of-13 for 86 yards) but we were too spotty. Inconsistent is the word I'm looking for. We weren't bad at times, we were just inconsistent."

Hurricane Gilbert is bearing down on the Texas Gulf Coast, but baseball's Houston Astros and the Texas A&M football team are staying the course - at least for the time being.

Gilbert, the most powerful storm on record, was heading for the south Texas coast and northern Mexico. It was expected to strike land tonight.

That storm threatened to spoil the Astros' weekend homestand, that was to start tonight against the San Francisco Giants at the Astrodome. Also threatened was Texas A&M's game Saturday at College Station.

"Right now, we plan to play all three games," Astros publicist Rob Matwick said Thursday. "It's just too early to say what we'll do. Obviously, we won't do anything that would jeopardize the safety of the fans or the players."

NBC, which was scheduled to air Saturday's game as its nationwide backup game, cancelled the telecast for safety reasons, a network spokesman said.

Dozens of high school football games were canceled and a number of others were bumped up a day and held Thursday because of the threatening storm.

Texas A&M and Alabama, however, said Thursday that they planned to play Saturday.

"As long as the weather is not lifethreatening, we will play the game," Texas A&M Coach Jackie Sherrill said. "Football is played in all kinds of weather and heavy rain won't stop us. But if there is a possibility of lightning or a tornado, we would have to make alternate plans."

A&M sports information director John Keith said if rescheduling became necessary, the game could be played Saturday night or Sunday, or rescheduled for December.

Astros pitcher Nolan Ryan, who beat the Cincinnati Reds on Wednesday night, took an early flight home Thursday to help prepare his ranch near Galveston for the arrival of the hurricane.

"In 1983, it took me six months to recover from the storm we had," Rvan said of Hurricane Alicia. "You get a tremendous amount of wind damage with something like this."

The rest of the Astros hopped a chartered flight home after their loss Thursday night in Cincinnati left them seven games behind the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League West.

"We're all concerned, just like everybody else in Texas," Manager Hal Lanier said. "I'm a little concerned about my house. I've got 20-foot ceilings and eight big windows in the living room. I've got to find some way to tape them up or cover them up.'

The unbeaten Houston Oilers, fearing a disruption of their practice routine, fled to Memphis, Tenn., on Thursday.

He doesn't do it often, but Oilers Coach Jerry Glanville suggested Oilers family members get away from the storm by going to Dallas home of the in-state rival Cowboys.

"We just told them don't buy any hats or banners," Glanville said before taking the Oilers to Memphis to prepare for Sunday's game against the New York Jets at East Rutherford, N.J.

The killer storm also threatened to force postponement of several college football games and scores of high school games scheduled tonight.

Texas Southern officials announced Thursday that Saturday night's game in Houston against the University of Baton Rouge was postponed indefinitely.

The Houston Cougars left late Thursday for their game Saturday at Missouri. Rice, also located in Houston, has an open date on Satur-

The threat of the storm reach across the state line to Lafayette, La., where Saturday's game between Sam Houston State and Southwestern Louisiana was postponed until Sunday.

Seoul offers geography lesson with athletes gathering

By HAL BOCK AP Sports Writer

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) - They come from everywhere for this quadrennial athletic reunion called the Olympic Games.

From map-dots to monoliths, from curious countries with exotic names to nuclear powers who carefully match medal counts, the world is conducting a sports convention for 16 days in Seoul.

Bhutan is here. So are Djibouti and Gabon and Lesotho and a fistful of others you've probably never heard of until now. And on Saturday, they will line up behind their flags and join athletes from much larger nations, assembled for the opening ceremonies.

Vanatu's team will march behind the United States. Togo and Tonga will be up ahead of the USSR. Qatar and Rwanda are in the alphabetical line, of march along with Cote D'Ivoire and Burkina Faso.

Mysterious places, but on Saturday they all start even, 160 nations and nearly 10,000 athletes who have trained a lifetime for this moment. For them, it should be a time of ecstasy, of pride in their accomplish-

Instead, there is a cloud hanging over their participation and as they march proudly into the Olympic Stadium, they may be excused if they sneak an occasional peek over their shoulders. That's because despite the presence everywhere of the grinning tiger mascot Hodori and the slogan "Peace, Harmony, Progress," these are troubled Games.

A few miles from the Olympic venues, students at Kyungwon University demonstrated this week against the competition which they believe will strengthen the government they oppose. They tossed firebombs at the Olympic torch procession, injuring 16 riot troops as part of continuing protests that have troubled the city for some time.

A half-hour's drive north of Seoul lies the truce village of Panmunjom and the demilitarized zone dividing North and South Korea. Thirty-five years ago, it was the site of peace talks that ended a bloody three-year military conflict. It remains something of a symbol in this divided nation, a place where the two Koreas tensely face each other, watching warily from observation posts.

North Korea wanted to co-host these Games, a request that was denied by the IOC. The country has pledged not to interfere, but it also is not sending its athletes, causing a sad void, especially at a time when the Olympic movement is celebrating the end of boycotts that deprived the last two Summer Games of full world participation.

This will be the first time since 1976 that athletes of the Soviet Union and

United States have faced each other stage, forced to prepare for and often in the Summer Games.

After Munich and the slaying of 11 Israeli athletes and team officials in 1972, the Olympics became less of a celebration of sports than a world preoccupied by terrorism. Metal detectors are everywhere, and officials were so tense at Montreal that you were required to pass through them not only when you entered a venue, but when you left it too.

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP) - The NFL lifted the 30-day suspension imposed on Richard Dent for refusing to take a drug test after the Chicago Bears' defensive end agreed to fully comply with the league's substance abuse policy.

Dent-challenged the Sept. 7 suspension last week, saying he had not been given notice of the test, and was allowed to play Sunday against Indianapolis pending a league decision.

SEATTLE (AP) - Veteran cornerback Terry Taylor of the Seattle Seahawks flew to New York to appeal his 30-day drug suspension with NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Taylor, who was suspended by Rozelle's office for the first four games of the regular season, went to New York with his agent, Jack Mills, to dispute the findings of a drug test that detected an illegal substance. It was the second test Taylor had failed in 13 months

As the Seoul Games approached, the Organizing Committee proudly distributed films of its security troops in training. These are elite forces who can defy gravity by scrambling down the sides of buildings like waterbugs skittering across lily ponds. If that were an Olympic sport, South Korea would win the gold medal.

Reds edge Astros

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

Things are continuously looking up for the National League division leaders, while the Pittsburgh Pirates and Houston Astros both continue to move down.

Both second-place teams in the division races dropped farther off the pace as the result of Thursday's games, which saw the New York Mets beat the Chicago Cubs 4-1, the Montreal Expos stop the Pirates 9-4 and the Cincinnati Reds trim the Astros 7-5.

The results gave the Mets a hefty 11-game lead over the Pirates and reduced their magic number for clinching the NL East to seven. Houston's loss to the Reds dropped the Astros seven games behind Los Angeles and reduced the Dodgers' magic number to 11 in the NL West.

In the only other NL game Thursday, it was St. Louis 3, Philadelphia

Mets 4, Cubs 1

David Cone won for the eighth time in nine decisions and Kevin McReynolds hit a two-run homer, leading the Mets past the Cubs for their seventh victory in eight games.

Cone, 17-3, struck out 10 in seven innings for his sixth double-digit strikeout game this season. He gave up five hits, walked three and beat Chicago for the third time this year. Terry Leach finished, allowing one hit in recording his third save.

"The pitchers have been phenomenal lately, every one of them." Mets manager Davey Johnson said of his staff.

Reds 7 Astros 5

Eric Davis and Barry Larkin drove in two runs apiece to lead Cincinnati over Houston.

The Astros rallied from a 6-2 deficit on sixth-inning homers by Billy Hatcher and reliever Danny Darwin off starter Norm Charlton, but were shut down by the Reds' bullpen over the last three innings. John Franco pitched the ninth to gain his league-leading 34th save in 36 opportunities.

Charlton, 2-4, got his second victory in seven major league starts despite allowing five runs and nine hits in 5 2-3 innings. The Reds handed Bob Forsch, 10-5, one of his worst drubbings of the season. Cardinals 3, Phillies 1

Scott Terry won his seventh straight decision as St. Louis beat Philadelphia to snap a three-game losing streak.

Terry, 9-3, struck out six and walked none in eight innings. He made his first start on Aug. 11 and has allowed 11 runs in 57 innings over eight starts, a 1.74 earned-run average. Todd Worrell finished for his 30th

Shane Rawley, 7-15, gave up nine hits and three runs in 6 1-3 innings. Expos 9, Pirates 4

Andres Galarraga drove in three runs with a two-run homer and a triple as Montreal defeated Pittsburgh.

Left-hander Randy Johnson was a winnner in his major league debut with relief help. Andy McGaffigan pitched 2 1-3 innings of one-hit relief for his fourth save.

Johnson, recalled from the Expos' AAA affiliate at Indianapolis, became the tallest player ever to appear in a big league game. The 6-foot-10 Johnson is one inch taller than Johnny Gee, who pitched with the Pirates and the New York Giants in the 1940s.

Dave LaPoint, 4-1, the Pirates' starter, had a career-high sevengame winning streak ended. He had recorded three of the victories with the Chicago White Sox, who dealt him to Pittsburgh last month.

"It's everything it's cracked up to be," Johnson said of the major leagues. "It's a great feeling. I was nervous in the beginning, but after the first pitch I was OK."

Yanks top Boston

By The Associated Press

Ten years after the Boston Massacre, the memories remain.

With a 5-3 victory over the Red Sox on Thursday night, the New York Yankees began to exhume skeletons that generations of Boston players have tried to bury.

"Coming into this series 41/2 games we have nothing to lose." Mike Pagliarulo said after the Yankees beat Roger Clemens for their seventh victory in eight games.

It was in 1978 when the Yankees swept Boston by a combined 42-9, moving from four games out on Sept. 7 into a tie on Sept. 10. Thursday series opener a decade ago, but it was no less vital.

In other games, Oakland beat Texas 6-2, Minnesota beat Chicago 10-3, Toronto beat Cleveland 3-0 and Kansas City beat California 2-1.

Rick Rhoden, 11-10, won his fourth consecutive start, giving up six hits, walking four and hitting a batter in 5 1-3 innings for the Yankees. Dave Righetti, the fifth Yankees pitcher, went the eighth and ninth for his 22nd

New York found itself ahead in the second when Pagliarulo hit his 13th homer. Boston tied it 1-1 in the second on Dwight Evans' sacrifice fly.

New York took a 3-1 lead in the fifth when Jack Clark singled, Pagliarulo doubled, Willie Randolph hit a run-scoring groundout and Joel

Skinner followed with an RBI single. Athletics 6, Rangers 2

Dave Parker drove in three runs with a pair of singles and Oakland lowered its magic number to five.

Todd Burns, 7-2, pitched a sevenhitter for his second complete game. Bobby Witt, 6-10, gave up eight hits and five runs in seven innings."

Jim Dwyer's pinch grand slam capped a six-run sixth inning, Frank Viola became major league baseball's first 22-game winner and Kirby Puckett had his seventh fourhit game this season.

Viola, 22-6, allowed seven hits, night's victory was less impressive struck out five, and walked one over than New York's 15-3 drubbing in the seven innings. Melido Perez, 11-9, allowed five runs but only three hits in five innings.

Blue Jays 3, Indians 0

Jeff Musselman, 6-4, pitched a four-hit ball over eight innings for his first victory since Aug. 13, and Tom Henke finished with one-hit relief for his 24th save.

Mike Walker, making his major league debut, gave up six hits and all three runs in six innings, walking four and striking out five.

Fred McGriff hit an RBI single in the first, Tony Fernandez hit an RBI double in the fifth and Kelly Gruber hit a run-scoring groundout in the

Royals 2, Angels 1

Charlie Leibrandt pitched a fourhitter to outduel Dan Petry, who pitched a three-hitter, and Pat Tabler hit a two-run homer.

ASK DR. LAMB

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have so much gas at times that I cannot wear my usual clothes and am so miserable with gas bubbles and pressure. I have used Mylanta II and it hasn't helped a bit. I read about fiber in the diet helping to keep you regular, but when I use it, the fiber seems to cause much more gas and bloat. Is there a diet that can give me relief from gas and bloat? A friend suggested that I take charcoal tablets. She takes Charcocaps. I have been thinking of trying them but I want to know if they are harmful before I do.

DEAR READER: Most people who suffer from excess gaseous distention do so because of fermentation of food in the colon. Carbohydrates are the main source of food for the bacteria responsible for that fermentation. That produces hydrogen and carbon dioxide. Actual measurements of the gas have shown that these are the two main gases responsible for distention

- not swallowed air. Some people are more intolerant of certain foods and produce excess gas. The condition is often associated with a spastic colon that prevents the release of the accumulated gas; that is when the distention begins.

Antacids are useless for gas as they neutralize acid in the stomach and that is not the problem at all. The same can be said for taking Zantac, Tagamet and Pepcid which inhibit the formation of stomach acid. The action is in the colon and involves bacteria, not stomach acid.

It is important to try to find out which foods you are intolerant to, or cannot digest. The failure in digestion may be related to a lack of an enzyme, as the lack of lactase to digest lactose sugar in milk. These foods can be eliminated from the diet.

There are certain medical conditions that cause a failure in digestion. Gall bladder disease is one, but most people have a food intolerance with fermentation. I have discussed the causes of gas in my new Special Report 95, Gaseous Distention, which I'm sending you. Others who want this report can send $1 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/95, P.O.Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.
