PRESIDENT WILSON

If Woodrow Wilson again becomes a candidate for President, it will through operation of circumstances over which he personally has no control. His candidacy will be in answer to an unmistakable and irresistible demand by the people of America, and will be the direct result of the successful conclusion of the peace conference at Paris, where he stood for wearisome months as the unyielding champion of the rights of humanity, and the dastardly attempt of selfish politicians to destroy him at home during his absence.

No great step in human progress has ever been made except in the face of bitter opposition. The authors of the Declaration of Independence were denounced as traitors of the spirit of America. Washington was maligned without mercy almost to his grave. The name of Lincoln, until death made him a martyr, was spoken with a sneer by many who misunderstood that great soul, and the practice extended even to his own cabinet. Since the beginning of civilization, those in the front line of thought and advancement have been assailed and fired upon at every footstep, and the lowly son of God was no exception.

Nothing can be accomplished in the world by unanimous consent. There always have been and always will be dissentors.

It can be said that the League of Nations is the child of President Wilson's mind. He gave it the breath of life. It stands for the principles for which he is spokesman before the entire world. The two—the parent and the child—are inseparable. The League is being attacked in the United States Senate and elsewhere, and its enemies are easily identified as those who hate Wilson.

"We stand at the crossroads," said the President, as he was leaving France. He was commenting on the League of Nations as an instrumentality which shows the way to international understanding and peace. "Those," he continued, "who saw through the travail of war the vision of a world made secure for mankind must now consecrate their lives to its realization."

Left to his own wishes—Mr. Wilson probably would prefer to live as a private citizen, when his second term as President has ended. As a student and a leader, his influence would still be a factor in the world's future development. But, as he himself so well has pointed out, the friends of the League of Nations must consecrate their lives to a realization of those ideals, and it is not for Mr. Wilson to choose the part he shall play, but rather it is the voice of the people to which he must listen for a determination of that question.

Barelegs, Psychology and Mosquitoes.

Fashionable women in Paris have tabooed stockings, and the custom is said to be spreading to London and New York. There is a slim chance (probably "fat" would be a better adjective) that barelegs will become the universal style among women.

It is somewhat difficult to get the psychology of the bareleggers. The claim of economy falls down under weight of circumstantial evidence, because so far the stockingless women have worn the most expensive shoes that can be bought. The plea of "getting back to nature" likewise is inadequate, for nobody ever got back to nature unless their two bare feet were planted squarely on terra firma.

Still, we register no severe objection. We should like time for further observation.

The mosquito might prove a handicap. Now, speaking of the mosquito, there is an opportunity for service. Barelegs and mosquitoes are inimical. If barelegs preponderate, then mosquitoes must go. The Rockefeller Foundation conducted a demonstration in three cities in Arkansas which proved that mosquitoes can be eliminated entirely by a little work and a small expenditure. It is only necessary to do away with their breeding grounds, or breeding water, for the pest abounds in stagnate water. In one year the number of cases of malaria in the three Arkansas towns was reduced from nearly 4,000 to 59.

The barelegged woman, therefore, may be a blessing in disguise.

SING HALLELUJAH WITH THE METHODISTS.

Everybody rejoices with the Methodists in having approached so closely the goal in their campaign for a new church fund. A great victory for morality has been won, and there is not a resident of Hereford without the right to feel proud.

A splendid edifice soon will arise. It be a credit to the city, and the best sort of a local advertisement, as well. In due time the church will be dedicated to the usual religious purposes. Men and women will worship there. The word of God will be preached from its pulpit. Children will be christened. Marriage vows will be spoken, and in the hallowed presence leave will be taken of the dead.

It will, in a word, knit the community life into closer fabric, and will be a constant influence on the side of good citizenship.

Beautiful is the thought, too, that long after those who have sacrificed to make the new church possible have passed from the stage of action, it will be a ceaseless factor in the cause of righteousness.

Hereford is better today because of the achievement of the Methodists. All denominations are in a congratulatory mood. Sin has been given a severe body blow.

Now that Dempsey has licked Williard, we can look forward to that other great sporting event, to take place in the autumn. We refer to the trial of the former German kaiser, William Hohenzollern.

The prediction was freely made a few years ago, by two statesmen, that if Texas ever divided into two states the split would come over the prohibition question. Well, we don't have to worry about that anymore.

DISCUSSING THE FAIR

The Ways and Means Committee of the Curry County Fair Association held a meeting last Friday evening at the office of the Union Mortgage Co., and discussed plans for having the fair this fall. The majority of the committee favor putting the fair on a permanent basis if it can be financed that way and a committee was appointed to make an estimate of the cost that will be necessary in securing a site and erecting what buildings would be absolutely necessary this year. The committee will report at a meeting to be held next Friday evening. The committee has no preference as to location, and will look out for the best proposition that can be secured.—Clovis News.

FEEDING STANDARDS

Good judgment and intelligent observation on the part of the feeder are necessary in the application of feeding standards, as the calculation of economical rations is not merely a matter of applied mathematics. The local conditions as regards the feeding stuffs which can be grown and purchased economically, and the value of the products, will have much to do in determining how closely the feeder can afford to adhere to the standards or formulas, used in connection with the feeder's observation of his animals and the markets, are very useful, and have served a good purpose in improving the practice of feeding. It is in their abuse that the chief danger lies.

NONE BUT AMERICANS ON GUARD

Before the United States had proceeded far in the world war the discovery was made that enemies of a dangerous character were lurking at home as well as abroad. They represented then, as they do now, the radical element in the country which refuses to recognize the sanctity of the law and which, if given a slacked rein, would demolish the foundation of free government. At this moment, in the larger centers of population, under the constitutional guarantee of free speech, they are fomenting discontent, inciting to resistance of the law and urging the weaker and more excitable to revolution.

The presence of these anarchists and bolsheviks has become a problem of immediate seriousness. Many of them do not belong here; they should be sent to the countries whence they came. They would displace the government with chaos, and violence and anarchy they would set up in the place of law and order and protection to life and property.

They would achieve their ends by 'bloodless revolution', they say, but while engaged in that kind of propaganda their skulking brothers plant bombs under the homes of public officials in order to create a reign of terrorism among the people. Paid emissaries of the Russian soviet and of Germany are at large pouring poison into the minds of whoever will listen to them as they preach the gospel of force.

While the war was going on there was a way of dealing with this vicious element. Many enemy foreigners were interned. Some of the radicals, Debs and Hayward being notable examples, were sent to prison, under laws made for that emergency. Berger, a socialist congressman-elect, is now on his way to the penitentiary because of his attempts to incite opposition to the law.

The right of free speech under the constitution cannot be abridged, and for that reason the situation is a difficult one. These shift individuals use the constitution as a smoke screen behind which they conduct their operations against the government.

Little has been done by Congress to place an effective weapon in the hands of the officers of the government charged with the responsibility of law enforcement; probably there is little that can be done. Meanwhile the federal authorities, aided by state and other local officials, are going about the business of suppressing the evil to the extent that they are able under present law.

The early days of the war taught the necessity of putting none but Americans on guard in the safe-keeping of American institutions. It is doubly necessary now that none but Americans shall be on guard.

GAMBLE WITH THE GIANT

YOU MAY THINK you are not a gambler, but you are. Life is all a gamble. It's a game of chance from before you are born to after you are dead. You gamble every time you cross a crowded street—every time you ride in an automobile. Now, we ask you to gamble with us on an oil well. We'll drill it right there in the Panhandle, close to your home, as near the center of the district as we possibly can.

100 per cent Guaranteed

IN ORDER to facilitate the work of drilling by getting subscriptions on record in a hurry we're going to give you 100 per cent as a dividend if you are in on the first allotment. This means you'll have to hurry. Don't neglect this chance! Buy today—NOW. Now, honest, the first ones to come in just naturally get a bonus of one additional share free for each one bought and they get double profit if we win.

We'll Drill You a Well

EVERYBODY is buying oil stocks and some of them are fine buys. All that we are agreeing to do is to drill you a well right in your home territory. We'll drill it soon, too. If we get oil your share will be worth a fortune and you will be made rich by the increased value of your farms and ranches. If we don't get oil you lose what you invest. It's a gambling chance. But, remember, you are betting on your own home property. Every place in the Panhandle will be affected if we get a well.

Speed Counts

THE FIRST MAN on the subscription books is entitled to twice as much as the last man in. That's logical, isn't it? The books on this allotment will be open Aug. 2 to 5. But the time for you to buy is right now.

Millions Will Be Made

WE'RE GOING TO PLUNGE right into it with the same sort of pep that we're putting into the campaign to sell this stock. And we won't let you be fooled. We won't even let you take a big risk. The least you can buy is ten shares for one dollar or one thousand shares for $100. We won't let any one person invest a bigger sum. We know we might not get oil and you'd lose your money, so we're playing the game safe with everybody.

The Oil is There

JUDGE J. M. ELLIOTT, of Memphis, writes to E. C. Noble, president of the Giant Company, on this point. You know both of these men. Mr. Elliott quotes figures on a well drilled in the direction of Newlin and near old Saulsbury. Elliott says this well passed through five oil sands, at least one of which was "paystuff." But the well was never completed. The hole caved in and they ran out of money, or something of that sort.

MISS CECIL GILLILAND, Phone 26

Monday evening, July 7th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Tatman, Misses Elizabeth Tatman and Lois Cobb gave a 42 party in honor of Miss Frankie Mae and William Baker, who are soon to leave for Waxahachie, Texas, to make their home.

Upon arriving the guests were presented with tally cards and when partners had been found, the tables were placed and the merry games began.

Those to enjoy the occasion were Misses Jessie and Doyle Womble, Viola Nunn, Lola and Bruce Bradley, Mattie Mounts, Mary Lee Fuqua, Mae Womack, Dorothy Boardman, Annie Lora Lovelace, Elizabeth Tatman, Lois Cobb, Frankie Mae Baker, and Mrs. Glenn Boardman; Messrs. Philip Broadwell, Roy Nunn, Earl Springer, Dock Roberson, Otto Olson, Earl Nunn, Jessie Logue, Otis Cobb, Joe Allen Ballard, and William Baker.

Delicious refreshments of Ice cream and cake were served by the hostesses.

On Wednesday evening, July 2nd, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Johnson royally entertained "That C. E. Bunch of the Presbyterian Church" in their new home five miles north of town.

The young people met at the Church at 8:30. Nine carloads started on this their happy journey. The question, "Did they have a good time?" need not be asked for that C. E. Bunch always has a good time wherever they go.

At a late hour good old home made Ice cream and cake was served after which many old time songs were sung. Time went all fast and as the clock warned them of the hour all departed wishing that every night might be as pleasant as this had been.

One of the jolliest picnics of the season was that given by Mrs. Stegall to her Sunday School class of boys and young people's missionary society, of whom she has charge.

At four thirty p. m. Tuesday, July 1, the young folks began to meet at the church with their lunches, and left from there in cars for a shady spot down on the creek where they could enjoy the evening. Soon they reached a cool comfortable place and the boys and girls enjoyed the time playing various games. Later the lunch was spread which was a feast to all.

The young people heartily enjoyed the evening of pleasure. Mrs. Stegall has worked faithfully with these young people and her work among them has been very profitable. Mrs. Stegall was assisted by Mrs. Spratt in entertaining the happy crowd.

Griffith-Perkins
After a short acquaintance of seven weeks, Wm. C. Griffith, of Thompson Falls, Montana, and Miss Clara M. Perkins, of this city were united in marriage at the office of Judge Jas. A. Hughes Thursday, July 3rd at 3:30 p. m. Judge Hughes officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Perkins who reside southwest of Hereford and is a graduate of Hereford High School.

Mr. Griffith has recently returned from France where he saw eighteen months service.

The young couple will make their home with the bride's parents for a short while and will later visit the groom's parents who reside in Sawtelle, Calif.

Tuesday evening at the Methodist church at 8:30 o'clock, Miss Helen Lambert pianist, assisted by Miss Elzina Mounts and Mrs. C. J. Mounts, gave a recital.

Miss Lambert has grown to womanhood in Hereford and her musical talent has caused much notice and admiration since childhood. For several years she has been a pupil of Mrs. Lila Austin Myers of Amarillo and spent two months in Amarillo this summer where she had special training in music at the end of which time she was presented by Mrs. Myers in a recital there.

The crowded auditorium on last Tuesday evening showed to a very large degree the appreciation which the people had for the young musician.

Each selection was well rendered and showed careful selection. Each number caused a great applause which made manifest the success of the program.

The numbers rendered by Mrs. C. J. Mounts and Miss Elzina Mounts were very much enjoyed.

After the evening's entertainment the young artist received hearty congratulations of her great success as a musician.

Story Telling Hour
The Story telling hour, which is held each Thursday afternoon from 3:30 to 4:30 in the Library rooms, is well attended. Mrs. Chas. Donald will have charge on Thursdays, July 17 and 24. All children who love stories are invited to attend.

A Message to Women

The times have brought new and trying housekeeping problems to you—problems that have become intensified by the difficulty of securing competent domestic help.

It has accordingly devolved upon you, as upon other modern women, to be mistress of many things. While acting as mother and business manager in the home, you must also give ear nowadays to appeals of the community for welfare work and social service.

You have larger responsibilities and more to do, with less time in which to do it—a condition which prompts us to invite your attention again to the family service our laundry offers. We can assume for you the burden of the family washing.

We are well qualified to take over this duty. Our laundering methods have become perfected to a degree that even the most competent of laundresses cannot excel. Practices like boiling and bleaching, for example, have been replaced by us with the improved method of sousing and rinsing in water of velvety softness and suds of pure white soap.

If you seek leisure for more devotion to the interests of your children, or time for many of the other bigger things in life, could anything be simpler than to pack your washday troubles in a laundry bag and send them to us?

Or could anything be more satisfying than to have your washing come back to you at a definite time each week, sweetly clean and beautifully finished?

Ours is a modern laundry that can give you such service—a laundry in which you will find men and women who are courteous, accommodating and desirous of extending you that washday help for which you have been waiting.

Meet your multiplied housekeeping problems in the modern way—send us your family washing. A telephone call will bring our driver.

IT STANDS SECURE

Legal Reserve Life Insurance stands without a peer in all the realms of finance, for stability and permanency.

Bradstreet tells us that within the past ten years, there have been business tragedies as follows: 100,000 commercial failures with liabilities of $1,000,000,000.

Railroads gone into the hands of receivers with liabilities of $700,000,000.

Banks and Trust Companies with liabilities of $600,000,000.

But in the past 30 years there has not been ONE SINGLE Legal Reserve Life Insurance Policy that has failed. The above figures should challenge the thought and demand the action of every thinking man in this country, who is seeking an estate for himself, and for his family.

Legal Reserve Life Insurance is the Giant of Mercy in all the business world that extends to her shall policy holders the same careful and thoughtful attention as she does to the large purchaser, and at the same time she offers to the largest policy holder the same protection and administration of the funds he entrusts to her keeping, as she does the beneficiary of a $1,000 policy.

Legal Reserve Life Insurance is the ONLY commodity in all the world that can be purchased on 20 years time, and if the purchaser dies the first year of the contract, the remaining nineteen payments are canceled in full, and the face of the contract accrues to the purchaser.

Has any living man the moral right to withhold from his family the protection and blessings that is offered by Life Insurance? Put the risk on the Aetna Life Insurance Company.

People are still busy in the harvesting of the grain crop in this section, and will continue so for about another week.

Miss Gardner, Mrs. Hartwell, and Col. Bester have recently purchased a combination harvester-thresher, which they will use in taking care of their wheat crop. They are putting it up this week, seeing it in operation is awaited with quite a bit of interest.

CONSCIENCE AND HUMBUGS.

Little or nothing is known, in our corner of Texas, about so-called conscientious objectors. The specie does not thrive on our soil. Our men are red-blooded and our women are brave and loyal. We fight, if necessary, for home and country. That being the case, some difficulty may be encountered in an endeavor to discuss with equanimity the plea made to Secretary of War Baker that he use his influence with the President to secure the release of the conscientious objectors now serving prison sentences.

What can be said of the conscientious objectors? They were idealists. They were pacificators.

The taking of human lives they viewed with abhorrence. If the enemy sought to kill them, well and good; the excuse was not sufficient to rouse in them a desire to defend themselves, which is the first law of nature, we are told. In what they did, or rather what they refused to do—to fight for liberty—they took the course which conscience dictated.

Parenthetically, at this point, we should like to exclaim, "Bosh!" We shall use restraint, and allow Secretary Baker to make our comment for us. The Secretary, replying to the petitioners, expressed his firm conviction that not the young men who would not go to war, but those who answered their country's call were the real pacificators. As he put it, eloquently and lucidly: "The abolishment of future wars, for which I share your fervent hope, was immeasurably more advanced by the conscience which led young men to give up their lives for it than by the conscience which in the presence of vast and crushing force, found itself limited to protest."

Conscience has its rights, the Secretary wrote, but there are also the obligations of citizenship. The Secretary's letter was a splendid answer to the arguments of the conscientious objectors. We are still unconvinced that they should be let out of prison.

WAR AND PEACHES.

Love, the scamp who laughed at the locksmiths, is now making grimaces at the war. The cable dispatches say that the day following the signing of the peace treaty 140 American soldiers in the occupied German territory asked permission of their commanding officers to marry German girls. The incident forecasts probably thousands of such alliances.

It has ever been thus. Where war ends, romance begins. The rise and fall of the tide cannot be stopped by a presidential proclamation. Human nature cannot be changed by an army regulation.

Let us change the situation to propinquity and be done with it. In after years, it may be, when these couples get down to a practical basis in their married life, the question of the war now and then will arise as a domestic problem. These occasions will be a reminder of Sherman's famous definition. But just now—well, German girls are very peachy.

BOXING TO CONTINUE

So popular are the boxing shows staged by the Y. M. C. A. wherever there are Yanks in Europe, that it has been decided by the Y Athletic heads to continue this form of athletic amusement until the last Yank leaves for "Home Sweet Home." The doughboy likes his boxing so well that he will put in a day's work, play a game of baseball early in the evening, and then go into a hall, hangar or whatever the building may be to cheer his favorite in a mitt-slugging program. Besides the regular Y shows, some of the champion boxers of the different regiments and divisions are being brought together by the Y athletic directors for 10 or 12 round bouts, for good sized purses.

SAVE BY BUYING SEED TOGETHER

Leon County, Fla., farmers have found that cooperation pays. Through the assistance of the local county agent, cowpea seed was purchased cooperatively this year with a saving of several hundred dollars. The seed was obtained at a cost of $2.90 a bushel, while the local dealers were selling it for $4.24 a bushel. So interested have the farmers become in the plan to buy and sell cooperatively that the county agent has assisted them in starting other cooperative enterprises.

IN MEMORIAM

Sergeant John R. Gilliland.

While Hereford is rejoicing over the return of her many sons from the battle front, our hearts are made sad and we sorely miss the ones who are sleeping in France.

Among these is our neighbor, John R. Gilliland, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gilliland, who grew up as a boy and was educated in the schools of Hereford.

It is our earnest wish to pay a tribute of respect and affection to his memory before we leave Hereford.

His record as a soldier is one of which Hereford can be justly proud. He enlisted August 25, 1917, from Burns, Kansas, and was a member of Co. F., 139th Inf., 35th Division. He trained at Camp Funston, but was later transferred to Camp Doniphan at Ft. Sill, where he was made Bayonet instructor. He sailed for France April 24, 1918. He was made Sergeant and also volunteered for scout duty which is among the most dangerous duties of the Army. He was made Patrol Master of the scouts.

He went into action in June and saw active service until Nov. 9, when he sacrificed his young life for his country.

One of the officers wrote to his parents that by his cheerfulness and manly character he was a leader among the men and commanded the respect of both his officers and men.

As a boy and man he was quiet and reserved and among those who knew him best was esteemed for his courtesy and ever readiness to be of service to others.

His care and devotion for his mother was exceptional.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wheeler.

STUDY PEACH ORCHARD CONDITIONS.

Members of the county farm bureau of Kent County, Del., recently toured peach orchards in the county to study fruit production loads of farmers inspected a number of orchards and observed tractors cultivating orchards, became acquainted with the Government regulations of fruit packages and carriers, and saw results of attacks of leaf curl and twig blight. Early and frequent cultivation and dormant spraying were shown to be important in controlling these diseases.

"Meats in Storage"

Every working day of the year 75,000,000 pounds of meat are required to supply home and export needs—and only 10 per cent of this is exported.

These facts must be kept in mind when considering the U. S. Bureau of Markets report that on June 1, 1919, there were 1,348,000,000 pounds of meats in cold storage. If the meat in storage was placed on the market it would only be 20 days' supply.

This meat is not artificially withheld from trade channels to maintain or advance prices.

- Meats in storage consist of—
65 per cent (approximate) hams, bacon, etc., in process of curing. It takes 30 to 90 days in pickle or salt to complete the process.
10 per cent is frozen pork that is to be cured later in the year.
6 per cent is lard. This is only four-fifths of a pound per capita, and much of it will have to go to supply European needs.
19 per cent is frozen beef and lamb, part of which is owned by the Government and was intended chiefly for over-seas shipment. If this were all diverted to domestic trade channels, it would be only 1 1/2 lbs. per capita—a 3 days' supply.

From this it will be seen that "meats in storage" represent merely unfinished goods in process of curing and the working supply necessary to assure the consumer a steady flow of finished product.

SELECTIVE SERVICE? FOR HEN SHOULD RULE THROUGH YEAR

Culling Should Be Regular and Continuous, But August or September Is Best Time When Done All at Once; Points That Mark Dependable Layers.

There are two classes of farm fowl—those that are parasitic on flock profits, and those that are profitable. To bounce the boarders from the flock and encourage the increase and betterment of the profitable fiddies, are tasks of basic importance which confront every poultryman. With feed high in price and poultry products correspondingly valuable, it is of saved for hatching purposes. The inferior fowls should be marketed as soon as possible.

When a single systematic culling is made the best time for such work is in August or September. When it is easier to form a close estimate of the value of the hen as an egg producer, as well as to weed out the unprofitable birds. Hens which show indications of laying at this time are those which on the average have been the better producers for the year. It must be remembered also, that the better producers during the first and yellow beaks. Have hens that are healthy, strong, vigorous, alert, and active; good eaters, not molting or just beginning to molt in September or combs; thin, pliable pelvic bones well spread apart, wide spread between pelvic bones and rear end of keel, and large, soft, pliable abdomen. In breeds with yellow skins and shanks, the hens saved should also show pale or whitish shanks and pale or white beaks and vents.

JUVENILE CLUBS AID WORK OF COMMUNITY HEN ASSOCIATIONS.

Poultry-breeding associations are usually the outgrowth of pioneer work in organizing boys and girls into poultry clubs or of repeated efforts to interest producers in better poultry methods. In some instances, however, leaders in communities have expressed their desire to make an effort to establish for themselves a business or side line that will add to their incomes as individuals and likewise increase the community.

In such promising localities, the first step in organization usually get the support of local business men. In small towns many business men own farms and consequently are interested in agriculture, which in turn benefits the various lines of business. At the same time their assistance is helpful in financing the association. In fact this is frequently accomplished by inducing the business men's association to contribute a suitable fund for standard-bred stock which is to be distributed among the farmers who join the association. Co-operation of that kind is usually obtained easily if the business men are shown the advantages of the organization and how the increased prosperity eventually will benefit them.

Another plan that has proved to be satisfactory in Overton County, Tenn., is direct financial this case the banks advanced $1,000 to be invested in breeding pens through the cooperation of the poultry club agent and the county agricultural agent. Each pen consisted of 10 hens or pullets and a male bird which cost on an average $2.50 a bird. The pens were placed with club members in person who received a pen guaranteed to return, after the first year, 20 fowls in payment for the original 10 hens or pullets furnished him. Those 20 standard-bred fowls, together with 2 selected male birds, were divided into two pens and the next year were given under the same conditions to two additional members. One of the requirements of the plan was the continuance of this "endless chain" system for 5 years, or until every member possessed at least one pen of standard-bred fowls. Thus the original pens have been multiplied by many hundreds, and the entire county has become well stocked with one breed of fowls.

CARE IN HANDLING EGGS MUST BEGIN ON THE FARM

Good fresh eggs put in a basket and stored in the hot kitchen for a day or two may reach town in such condition that they must be used at once to be available for food. A basket of perfectly fresh eggs left on the back of the wagon and exposed to the sun during a 10-mile drive to town may reach the country merchant in such shape that not even immediate chilling will make them available for long shipment to the cities. This is the story constantly revealed by the candle on the egg car. Eggs of which the farmer's wife is very proud will show that they have been allowed to remain 24 or 48 hours in the nest or at some point in their history have been exposed to heat which lowers their value. It is evident, therefore, that if the egg is to be palatable to the city consumer care in its handling must begin on the farm. The farmer must gather his eggs twice a day and must keep them cool afterwards, just as he would cream or milk, until they are delivered in town. There the merchant must at once put them into a dry, cold place, or, if he wishes to be strictly up to date, must chill them in his own little refrigerating plant or in the larger refrigerating plant of the town, to a temperature well below 40 degrees F.

Heat is the great enemy, for once a good egg has stood for any time at a temperature of over 68 degrees F. it begins to incubate. If it is a fertile egg, or to spoil, if it is an infertile egg.

MOTOR REVENUES DEVOTED TO MEET GOOD ROADS BONDS

In most States the motor-vehicle revenues are devoted to the main tenance and repair of the State roads or other improved highways. These States thus seem to have solved fairly well the knotty problem of how to secure more important roads under the ever-increasing traffic requirements. As both the traffic and the revenues increase with the number of cars, there exists a possibility of so adjusting the registration rates as to keep pace with the ever-growing maintenance charges.

Recently, however, a movement to capitalize the motor-vehicle revenues and devote these funds to road construction has been quite noticeable. This is especially true in those States which have a comparatively large number of cars and only a small mileage of improved roads. Thus, Illinois, last November, approved a bond issue of $60,000 for the construction of a system of State roads. The interest and principal of these bonds is to be paid entirely from the motor-vehicle revenues. There is no doubt that these revenues will prove sufficient for this purpose. The main question which remains is whether or not a satisfactory source can be secured so as to prevent these roads, when constructed, from deteriorating.

It assures that the feed will be utilized by the profit-producing birds. It makes it possible to save the best suited for breeders, both because of their superior strength and vitality, which enable them to stand up under the severe strain of heavy laying. Additional culling during July is also desirable in order to eliminate hens which have stopped laying. Presbyterian Missionary Society

The Presbyterian Missionary Society met in the regular monthly social meeting at the home of Mrs. W. A. Stewart with Mesdames Stewart, A. L. Gibson and Hugh Witherspoon as hostesses.

A short devotional was held after which the business of the month was attended. A program was then enjoyed, which consisted of a piano solo by Miss Annie-Laura Lovelace, reading by little Eloise Pitman, vocal solo by Miss Jane Gregg, and piano duet by Misses Frankie Mae Baker and May Womack.

Mrs. Alice Lea, in her usual pleasing manner, then presented a diamond Invaliere to Miss Frankie Mae Baker. This gift was given by the Missionary and Christian Endeavor Societies in appreciation of Miss Baker's loyalty and service to the church.

An Ice course was then served and the society dismissed to meet with Mrs. Chas. Donald on July 9th.

On Wednesday, July 2nd, 1919, the Methodist Missionary Society had a splendid meeting at the home of Mrs. John McLean, with Mesdames McLean, Stanford Rutherford, and Saltzman as hostesses. Upon the invitation of our president, Mrs. D. F. Ashbrook, Mesdames L. Johnson, Frank Glasgow, and A. G. Stanley of Summerfield were our guests of the evening and very glad were we to have them with us. The meeting was opened promptly at 4 p. m. with a song after which Mrs. Ashbrook conducted the devotional and Mrs. M. E. Turrentine led in prayer. As this was our regular social and business meeting, reports of all the officers present were given and accepted as they were given. Committees reported, new business attended to and Mrs. Ashbrook gave a fine report of the District Meeting which she attended at Amarillo last week.

Miss Claudia Duncan then favored us with a piano solo, Miss Grace Smith gave a humorous reading and Miss Elizabeth Black rendered a beautiful musical selection. Little Murry Copeland then gave a reading that pleased all.

The hostesses served a delicious Ice Course, after which the meeting closed with the Lord's prayer. Program for July 16th will be given at the meeting Wednesday, July 8. All members are asked to attend these missionary meetings. They will help you and you can help them.

REPORT OF CIRCLE NUMBER THREE.

Mrs. L. H. Shore welcomed the circle, in her happy way, into her attractive home, last Wednesday.

All joined in singing, "O Happy Day" and "Work for the Night is Coming," while Mrs. Mounts played.

Mother LeGrand made an earnest prayer for all lines of work and for greater service while it is still today. Mrs. Gilliland led the devotional by reading the eleventh chapter of Matt., making appropriate comments. Mrs. Connel made a heart felt prayer of thanksgiving service and blessings.

Mrs. Mounts had an excellent lesson herself, and drew from others good and helpful thoughts. A general good feeling prevailed, each one seemed loath to leave. The roll call was answered by scriptural responses. Quite a number of visits had been made to the sick and strangers.

Mrs. Bradley had a fine report to make on the Red Cross work. Mrs. Gilliland, our president, held an interesting business meeting. A large contribution for the Sunshine Fund was made.

The meeting was dismissed by prayer by Mrs. Bourn.

THE WANDERING ARAB never has been able to develop a real civilization; it was only when a branch of that race settled down that the highest civilization of the race was reached. Stability is indispensable to growth; you can't pull a tree up each year and hope that it ever will become a giant. No more can you expect that a child shifted from one rented house to another will develop the community interest that is essential to progress.

Enlisted men are saving more than the officers, too, says the same authority. From Coblenz alone more than $10,000 a day is forwarded to the United States, most of it from the enlisted men.

Besides this the men of the Rhine Army are depositing several million francs a month with the Quartermaster, and a great deal more is sent to banks in Paris.

A lot of us have a great deal to learn from these sober-faced, quiet young men who have been fighting our battles for us.

Will we take this particular lesson to heart?
