Wayne Thomas to speak at fitness banquet in Canyon

Ninety participants in the "Shape-Up Canyon" program sponsored through the West Texas State University Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation will be honored at a banquet on Sunday.

Wayne Thomas, a senior partner in the Hereford law firm of Thomas and Burdett, and a jogger, will give a "motivational and encouragement talk," said Mary Hill, assistant professor of physical education at WTSU, who coordinates the program.

The banquet will begin at 12:30 p.m. at the WTSU East Dining Hall.

T-shirts will be given by

First National Bank of Canyon to the community residents who have participated in the three-month program since March. Participants will continue to exercise three days each week through May in a variety of jogging, walking, racquetball, swimming, stretching and aerobic-type activities at the WTSU Activities Center.

Tammy Donnell, a freshman from Canyon who is Miss WTSU for 1983, will present the shirts.

Thomas is a 1947 graduate of WTSU and earned a law degree at the University of Texas. He also is a member of the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System which he chaired for two years. His term will expire in August. Thomas jogs each morning.

Hill teaches fitness and recreation courses and also has developed courses in aerobic-type exercise and country-western dance lessons. Each summer she coordinates a Diet and Fitness Camp at WTSU.

Cost of the banquet is $5.50 per person and $3 for children who are 10 years old and younger. Reservations should be made by Friday with the WTSU Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Koenig is named Marshall Award recipient

LEXINGTON, Va.—Matthew D. Koenig of Hereford is this year's 1983 George C. Marshall Award winner from Texas Tech University, Lubbock.

Cadet Koenig, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark A. Koenig, Route 3, is one of 300 Army ROTC cadets nationwide to win the prestigious award.

Presented annually to the outstanding cadet of Army ROTC detachments at colleges and universities throughout the United States, this award is the highest honor any Army ROTC cadet can receive.

"I feel honored to have received this award and I've enjoyed representing Texas Tech at this conference," said Koenig, upon receiving congratulations from Army Chief of Staff designate Gen. John A. Wickham Jr.

In addition to attending the award conference in Lexington, Va., April 12-15, each cadet was presented with an award certificate and an authorized three-volume biography of Gen. Marshall.

Marshall is best remembered for his leadership as Army Chief of Staff in World War II and for his sponsorship of the European Recovery Act (Marshall Plan) while Secretary of State from 1947 to 1949.

By assembling these students from all over the nation, the Marshall Foundation gives nationwide recognition to their accomplishments.

The conference included seminars on national security issues and featured distinguished leaders of the Army, both past and present. Participants also learned the role Marshall played in the history of the nation.

A 1979 graduate of Hereford High School, Koenig has also received a Distinguished Military Student Award, a Department of the Army Superior Cadet Award and a three-year Army ROTC scholarship.

Music clubs share in service award honors

District I of the Texas Federation of Music Clubs, which includes Hereford Music Study Club and Dawn Music Club along with six other area clubs, was presented the Community Service Award and accompanying traveling trophy at the recent TFMC state convention in Houston.

The district, which is one of 12 districts in the state of Texas, will keep the trophy for one year. District I has earned the Community Service Award three times in the past 10 years. It is presented for performances in nursing homes and for civic organizations, as well as for scholarships provided by the music clubs.

At the state convention, a memorial service was held for Mrs. Frieda Coneway, who was a charter member of the Hereford Music Study Club.

Oriental Influence

Inez Witherspoon, left, and Camelia Jones admire the large Oriental room divider which decorates the living room wall in the Bill Emmons home at 101 Oak. This home is one of three which will be featured on the Garden Beautiful Club's home tour, set for 2-5 p.m. Sunday. Other homes include the residences of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Brackett, 809 N. Lee, and Mrs. Joe Reinauer Sr., west of Hereford on the Harrison Highway.

Senior citizens dance, social slated tonight

John Roberts of Amarillo and his big brass band will be at the Community Center tonight for a concert and dance following the Hereford Senior Citizens covered dish supper birthday social.

The regular supper, which begins at 6:30 p.m., will be held at the Community Center also to avoid moving for the dance. The concert and dance will start at 7:30 p.m.

Music will be from the 20s, 30s, and 40s. There will be no admission charge for the dance and all senior citizens are invited to attend.

Lanier leads Milwaukee past Celtics, 116-95

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

The 33-year veteran, who has never been on a championship team, surprised everyone, including himself, with an almost-flawless performance as the Milwaukee Bucks beat the Boston Celtics 116-95 in their playoff opener Wednesday night.

"I had an abnormal game. Even at 34 you can have an abnormal game," Lanier said after hitting 10 of 12 shots, scoring 21 points and pulling down 10 rebounds in 23 minutes as the Bucks took away Boston's homecourt advantage in the best-of-7 Eastern Conference semifinal series.

Elsewhere in the National Basketball Association playoffs, Philadelphia took a 2-0 lead over New York, overcoming a 20-point deficit to beat the Knicks 98-91 in the other Eastern Conference semifinal. In the West, George Gervin scored 30 points and Johnny Moore added 26 points and a playoff-record 20 assists as San Antonio beat Denver 126-109 for its second straight victory.

Boston led 38-31 midway through the second quarter when Lanier and the Bucks took control of the game. Lanier scored 12 points in the period and Milwaukee outscored the Celtics 20-6 in one stretch to take a 51-44 advantage.

The Bucks jammed the middle in an effort to neutralize Boston's strong front line. The strategy worked as they outrebounded the Celtics 66-54.

Nate Archibald led the Celtics with 23 points, while Sidney Moncrief had 22 for Milwaukee.

Game 2 will be in Boston Friday night. 76ers 98, Knicks 91 Philadelphia held New York to nine points in the third period, one more than the record low for the playoffs, to wipe out the 20-point deficit.

Moses Malone had 30 points and 17 rebounds for the 76ers, while Maurice Cheeks added 26 points and Julius Erving 20. Guard Andrew Toney didn't play for Philadelphia because of a bruised thigh, while forward Bobby Jones was sick with the flu.

New York led 59-41 at half time and scored the first basket of the third quarter to go ahead by 20. But the Knicks hit just three of their last 17 field goal attempts in the period as Philadelphia outscored them 24-9.

Games 3 and 4 will be Saturday and Sunday afternoons in New York.

Surpasses Walter Johnson's mark

Astros' Ryan becomes baseball's all-time strikeout leader

MONTREAL (AP) — The record book said Walter Johnson, 3,508 strikeouts. Best ever. The old newspaper clips said it was unmatchable.

But in Nolan Ryan's mind, the measure of a fastball was the one Sandy Koufax threw.

"It's been so long since Walter Johnson pitched, I really know very little about him," Ryan said.

Ryan was resting comfortably in front of a bank of television cameras and a large group of newsmen. On a clear Wednesday afternoon in Montreal, the Houston Astros right-hander had broken Johnson's 55-year-old lifetime strikeout record. It was only natural to ask what this strikeout king thought of the old one.

"The only thing I know about Johnson is what I have read in the newspapers," Ryan said. "I looked him up once in the Baseball Encyclopedia, but all that gave me was his stats. It didn't say too much about the man."

What that revered book of baseball statistics said about that original Hall of Famer was that he had struck out 3,508 batters in a 21-year career with the Washington Senators, ending in 1927. That was tops, until Wednesday, when the 36-year-old Ryan struck out five Expos for 3,509 in a career, which has just entered its 16th full season.

"When I broke (Sandy)

Koufax's single season record, that meant more to me," Ryan said. "I was a fan of Koufax's when I was growing up. I watched him when I was in high school."

Among Ryan's major league records are five career no-hitters and 383 strikeouts in the 1973 season, when he was with the California Angels. Both records broke old Koufax marks.

Ryan, who grew up and now lives in Alvin, Texas, some 10 miles from Houston, is a simple man. A cattle breeder and farmer, Ryan never was impressed with records. They were numbers, not nearly so important as heads of cattle. He said he became aware that Johnson's record was within reach only when he notched his 3,000th strikeout on July 4, 1980, and he didn't begin counting until he reached 3,500 on April 17 against the Expos.

"I'm really not record oriented," he said. "I had the opportunity to break the record, and I feel fortunate to be in that position."

Ryan tied the record by striking out catcher Tim Lincecum, playing in place of injured Gary Carter, to lead off the eighth inning. He got Blackwell swinging wildly at a 3-2 fastball. The next batter was Brad Mills, who was pinch hitting for second baseman Doug Flynn.

Ryan had two quick strikes on Mills, both fastballs, then missed with his third pitch, 1-2. Ryan's next pitch was a curve that came in toward the left-handed hitting Mills. Homeplate umpire Bob Engel called it a strike, and Ryan had 3,509.

"I don't get too excited about anything," Ryan said. "I was more relieved than excited when it happened. Now, I can sit back and relax and get more satisfaction out of it."

Mills, a 26-year-old utility infielder, was not happy to get into the record books in this fashion.

"I'd rather get in some other way," he said, "but it's history. I can't worry about that now. I thought the strikeout pitch was outside."

Mills said he was not even aware that he had become Ryan's record-breaking victim. He had been in the tunnel warming up for three innings.

"On the bench before the game, we were saying to one another, 'It's not gonna be me. It's not gonna be me.' But we didn't talk about it during the game. More than being in the record book, though, I'm disappointed that I didn't even get a good swing at him."

Blackwell was a strikeout victim twice. Ryan's other victims were Tim Wallach and Bryan Little. Despite not reaching his lifetime strikeout ratio of 9.46 per nine innings, Ryan pitched well in winning his second game with one loss, 4-2. He gave up just five hits and walked only one in his eight innings, and the game was finished by Frank LaCorte, who retired the side in order in the ninth.

Ryan began the season 15 shy of breaking one of those records that once was thought unbreakable. His first start was delayed when he was placed on the disabled list with an inflamed prostate gland. He did not pitch until April 17, when he struck out seven Expos at the Astrodome in a 6-3 victory. In his next start, last Friday night, he lost 6-3 to the Philadelphia Phillies, striking out only three.

"I didn't put as much pressure on myself today as I did against the Phillies," Ryan said. "I got wrapped up a bit against them, and I was very disappointed. I got wrapped up in trying to do it at home, and I because I knew Philadelphia was the type of team that would really give me a battle."

Ryan says he still would like to reach the 4,000 mark in strikeouts "because it would mean I'll be an effective pitcher the next couple of years." But he doesn't figure to hold onto the record.

Philadelphia's Steve Carlton has 3,480, with 46 appeared this season.

"I can't worry about that," Ryan said. "I just have to win ballgames. If he continues to have the kind of years he's having, I'm sure he'll surpass me."

Ryan began his major league career with the New York Mets in 1966, when he appeared in just two games. He pitched his first full season for New York in 1968 but was traded in 1972 to the

The Nuggets led 49-43 with 7:19 left in the first half, but a 17-2 spurt by the Spurs in the next 3½ minutes put San Antonio in control.

Denver fought back to cut the deficit to 106-101 late in the game, but the Spurs scored 10 of the next 12 points to regain a comfortable margin.

Five other players, including Bob Cousy twice, had 19 assists in one playoff game.

Game 3 of the series will be Friday night in Denver, while Portland, behind 0-2, plays host to Los Angeles on Friday in the other Western semifinal.

In Byron Nelson Classic

Wadkins seeking 2nd straight victory

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Tom Watson, Ray Floyd and Cal Peete last season won a combined total of 11 titles, about one-quarter of the number of events on the PGA Tour.

This year they have won none. Into the void has stepped Lanny Wadkins, who is making his bid to become dominant player in the game. At the moment, at least, his credentials say he holds that position.

He has won twice, a successful defense of his title last weekend in the prestigious Tournament of Champions and earlier in the Greensboro Open. Only Gil Morgan has won as many this season.

He leads the money-winning list with $229,048, and leads in the Sieko Grad Prix and Ryder Cup standings.

And he's second in stroke average, at 70.49.

Wadkins, 33, whose career has been interrupted numerous times by injury

Baker paces junior high golf tourney

Bobby Baker's round of 42 was the low individual score of the day, while a team consisting of Craig Rogers, Brenda Rodriguez and Dean Murphy shot 148 to grab low honors in a junior high golf tournament Wednesday at the John Pitman course.

Three-member teams were made up of 7th, 8th and 9th grade students from Hereford's two junior high schools (Stanton and LaPlata).

The second-place team, with a 149 total, consisted of Jason Bullard, Steven LaFuenta and Steven Sims, while the third-place team of Kelby Hagar, Johnny Urias and Todd Schroeter carded at 150. The event consisted of nine holes.

and illness, comes into the $400,000 Byron Nelson Classic, which began today on the new Las Colinas Sports Club course, with four positive factors working for him.

First of all, he's healthy. "If you look at my record, and don't know the facts, it looks pretty inconsistent," he said. "But the fact is, any year I've been healthy, I've always been in the top 10 (money-winners)."

Second, he's currently playing well. "The last four weeks have been pretty good to me," said Wadkins, who has won more than $165,000 in the period.

Third, he has a certain familiarity with the Las Colinas course, which is being played this year for the first time. A resident of nearby Dallas, Wadkins has played the course on several occasions and made some suggestions incorporated into improvements and refinements on the course.

And fourth, he's victory hungry. "I sort of set a goal for myself this year to improve on what I did last year (three victories, $306,827 in winning). With two wins and almost $230,000 already, in only 10 or 11 tournaments, I'm in good shape to improve over last year.

"And I'm going to play a lot the rest of the season, too; play a lot and have a good time doing it."

Peete is not competing this week, but Floyd, the current PGA champion, along with Watson and Jack Nicklaus are in the field.

"I haven't won, but, actually, I've played pretty well most of the year. I've had chance to win almost every time I played," Floyd said. Watson, who hasn't gone this deep into the schedule without winning since 1977, is trying to work his way out of a slump.

"I think I'm getting closer. I think I'm seeing some encouraging signs," said Watson, who has won this tournament four times and been second twice.

Other leading contenders for the $72,000 first prize include Morgan, Keith Ferguson, defending titleholder Bob Gilder, Bruce Lietzke, David Graham and Hal Sutton.

Mrs. Askew guest of honor at open house

An open house was given in honor of Mary Helen Askew, who is moving to Irving, on Sunday afternoon in the home of Jolene Bledsoe. Many local friends and guests from out of town shared in the special time together.

Other hostesses for the event were Mozelle Childers, Jackie Caviness, Ruth McBride, Corene Smith, and Nedra Robinson.

Mrs. Askew moved here in 1958 from a ranch in Elida, N.M., with her husband, Dalton, two daughters, Rhonda and LaReece, who both finished high school in Hereford, and one son, Jerry, of Quanah.

She operated Mary Helen's Beauty Shop for 10 years and taught cosmetology at Hereford High School. She has maintained a successful and interesting art studio for approximately 35 years. This is the continuing interest of her life. She has been presented in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Colorado.

Mrs. Askew is a member of La Plata Study Club, Garden Beautiful Club, and the First Baptist Church.

Youth Quake slated May 2-5

Youth Quake, sponsored by Hereford area churches, is scheduled May 2-5 at La Plata Junior High School gymnasium. Evening services begin at 7:30 p.m. and are free of charge. All ages are invited to attend.

There will also be two special sessions for youth and adults age 12 and up at the First Christian Church from 4 to 5 p.m. Tuesday, May 3, and Wednesday, May 4. The Tuesday session will be for "Ladies Only" and the Wednesday session will be for "Men Only."

Dr. Bob Turnbull from California will be the guest speaker Monday through Wednesday evenings. He is a former football and track-field coach and exercise instructor for "USam," a nationally syndicated T.V. show. Known as "the chaplain of Waikiki Beach," he is an author and is currently executive director of the National Association of Police Psychologists.

On Thursday night, Mike and Rose Warnke will speak. Mike, a former hippie, Marine Corps medic, drug addict-pusher, and priest over a coven of witches, is now a well-known Christian evangelist who uses an abundance of humor in his Bible-based messages.

Special music during Youth Quake will be provided by area churches, and will include performances by Keith Longbotham and Rich Hudson.

Lone Star Ballet to present 'Jesus Christ Superstar'

The Lone Star Ballet of Amarillo will present "Jesus Christ Superstar" Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Amarillo Civic Center Auditorium. Performance time is 8 p.m.

Tickets are priced at $12, $8, and $6, with a $1 discount for children under 12 and senior citizens over 65. For ticket information, contact the Lone Star Ballet Office, 1000 South Polk, phone 372-2463.

"Jesus Christ Superstar" is a modern opera which gives an account of God's son coming to earth to bring salvation to man. The music from "Superstar" was first recorded in 1970 and it was an immediate hit, with over 30,000,000 copies sold by December 1971.

Directing the cast of over 60 singers, dancers, actors, and musicians will be Neil Hess, artistic director for the Lone Star Ballet. Thomas Conlin is the music director of the ballet, Ron Wells will serve as conductor, and George Biffle as choral director.

Hess explains his approach to bring this production to the Civic Center stage in this way: "It is my goal to make 'Jesus Christ Superstar' a tasteful, spiritual event, in keeping with the religious mores of our community. I hope to bring to the stage a rewarding view of Christ.

"I will not depict him as a T.V. rock star, nor will he be presented as sugar sweet, timid, and pallid. It is my aim to show him as a celestial, powerful, dynamic representative of God on earth. While all people do not have the same perspective regarding Christ or his mission, I hope that we can forget our differences as we go to the theatre on this occasion and feel bonded together in a mutual respect for the Son of God.

"He came to earth for the express purpose of uplifting mankind and unifying all people in the Spirit of love and understanding. Hopefully, 'Jesus Christ Superstar' will inspire us to rededicate ourselves to these ennobling ideas."

Introducing the Aero. It's as smart as it looks.

Though looks can be deceiving, these are absolutely straight Aero. Because concealed by the sleek, modern lines of this fun-loving new scooter from Honda is a machine that's as practical and easy to ride as it is smart to own. Aero's compact size and nimble handling make it a breeze to maneuver and park. It's completely automatic, so there's no shifting. And it starts with a push of a button. Perhaps best of all, great gas mileage and a low price could make an Aero your smartest investment. But as compelling as those advantages are, we think there's an even better reason to buy a new Aero. The way it looks. In fact, it's so dashing that the beau and Aero may become this year's romantic symbol.

Former Astro G.M. suing over owner's remarks

HOUSTON (AP) — Tal Smith, former general manager of the Houston Astros, has sued team owner John J. McMullen, claiming remarks his former boss made to a newspaper sports writer were slanderous and defamatory.

Smith, whose firing in 1980 caused a revolt of Houston Astros limited partners and led to formation of a new organizational structure, filed the suit in state court Wednesday, seeking unspecified damages.

McMullen fired Smith as general manager in October 1980 shortly after the Astros won the National League's Western Division title and came within six outs of advancing to the World Series.

McMullen has been sensitive to suggestions that Smith engineered the Astros' rise to prominence and reacted strongly following recent criticism of the last-place team, the Houston Chronicle said in a story published Sunday.

"Tal Smith is a despicable human being," McMullen told a reporter. "It's unfair and wrong for people to keep giving him credit."

McMullen, who said later he had not meant for his comments to be published, could not be reached for comment about the suit.

Kids Inc. sets Bar-B-Q Saturday

Deaf Smith County Kids, Inc. will hold a barbecue from 4-8 p.m., Saturday (April 30) at the Community Center it has been announced.

The all-you-can-eat meal will cost adults $5, with children 10 and under admitted for $3.

Proceeds from the event will go to help operate this year's program, which will get underway soon.

Smith declined to comment directly on the suit but said, "When I read the comments by John McMullen in Sunday's Houston Chronicle,

I sought legal counsel because I felt the situation had gone far enough and I had to draw the line." The suit said McMullen's remarks have and will cost Smith loss of income, undermine the relationship with his clients, injured his reputation and damaged his ability "to attract new clients and-or his potential to secure additional positions of trust in professional baseball." In his comments to the Chronicle, McMullen said the Astros franchise was the "worst in baseball when I bought it in 1979. The 25 men on the field today are better than the Astros' 25-man team when I bought the club."

The Astros were in first place in the Western Division in July 1979 when McMullen and a group of limited partners bought the team. Since that time, the club has been reorganized into a corporation with McMullen as chairman.

The Astros finished second in the 1979 division race and won their only divisional title in 1980 before losing to Philadelphia in the National League championship series.

Since his firing, Smith has maintained public silence and refused to make any last-laugh comments now that the Astros have fallen near the bottom of the standings.

As yet untapped

Elway newest sports super star

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent

John Elway is an oil well waiting to be tapped. He is the mother lode of a gold mine whose rich vein still to be assessed. He is America's new sports super star who has yet to complete a forward pass or hit a home run on a bigtime professional stage.

Yet, there he sits in San Jose, Calif., atop a potential mountain of federal notes, waiting to see whose millions — those of the Yankees' impulsive George Steinbrenner or some pro football club hungering for a franchise saver — will purchase his relatively untested skills.

No single individual in our memory has commanded such attention at such an early stage in his career as this 6-foot-4, 202-pound passing wizard out of Stanford University, picked No. 1 in Tuesday's National Football League draft.

As Elway, in the driver's seat, plays one against the other, the sports world around him wonders and, in the case of his future peers, fumes.

"Where in the hell does he come off so great?" growls Terry Bradshaw, a 13-year NFL veteran who has led the Pittsburgh Steelers to four Super Bowl championships.

Commenting on Elway's reluctance to play with the cellar-dwelling Baltimore Colts, who chose him in the NFL draft, and reports that Elway's football asking price is $7 million for five years, Bradshaw, a $300,000 quarterback, adds:

"He says he wants to play on the West Coast, then don't play. Let him play baseball."

Baseball is Elway's alternative if Baltimore doesn't strike a deal to his satisfaction. Steinbrenner is waiting in the wings, with his check book open, ready to give the kid a five-year contract with an escape clause if he's not happy.

Steinbrenner supposedly is offering the youngster $1 million a year for the first two years, all of which probably would be spent in the minors.

Few figure the boss, with all his brashness and eccentricities, could be that stupid.

The very thought of such an act already has stirred bitter emotions in a locker room known worldwide as "The Bronx Zoo" because of its almost constant turmoil.

"I never thought I'd see the day when a minor leaguer would make more than I would after 15 years in the major leagues," complained Lou Piniella, one of the Yankees' longtime reliables, "I don't know how good a baseball player he is. The only way to find out is by riding the buses in the minor leagues for a while."

Oscar Gamble, the team's most consistent home run hitter, added: "Why don't they spend some money on a ballplayer? He's a football player. I'm a ballplayer."

Snead sinks hole-in-one

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Sam Snead, the 71-year-old golfing marvel who has won two Legends of Golf Tournaments, showed why in the Pro-Am Wednesday by knocking in the 25th hole-in-one of his career.

Snead pulled an 8-iron out of the bag on the 135-yard, Par 3, No. 2 hole at Onion Creek Golf Club.

He took his characteristic smooth swing and the ball hit on the front of the green and rolled dead into the hole.

A gallery of almost 1,000 fans went wild.

Snead turned to his caddy, Ernest J. "Creamy" Carolan and said "Well, that's number 25."

Scully-Garagiola possible victims of verbal overkill

By DAVE GOLDBERG AP Sports Writer

NBC spent a lot of money to get Vin Scully for its Game of the Week, pairing him with Joe Garagiola and dropping Tony Kubek to a second team with Bob Costas. Scully has no peer as a play-by-play broadcaster, but off the first few weeks, Scully-Garagiola appears to be verbal overkill.

Last Saturday, doing the Dodgers and Pirates, the pair played a game of "Can You Top This?" that overshadowed what was happening on the field. Did Scully know a pithy baseball anecdote? Garagiola knew a better one. Did Scully note a subtlety on that play? Garagiola saw that and more.

The key Dodger hits, Pedro Guerrero's homer and Jose Morales' double, were replayed several times over, each time to a Scully-Garagiola lecture on Pirate John Candelaria's carelessness with the pitch. Which is beside the point — if pitchers threw nothing but good pitches, nobody would get a hit.

One problem stems from a strong point — Scully's knowledge of baseball, gleaned from 30 years of living with the Dodgers day-in, day-out. He needs no ex-jock to explain what's happening on the field; nor does he need a "baseball man" to supply the anecdotes and the historical context that does so much to make the sport what it is.

Garagiola has some of the same strengths. Moreover, he's more than an ex-jock. He's a comic, a raconteur, an entertainer; in short, he's show biz, one of a breed that finds it hard to allow anyone else the last word.

But unless he does, viewers may be smothered in verbiage. Unless NBC finds another way to bring balance to the broadcast booth. Stay tuned.
