

Rains move to Oklahoma

-state of emergency declared-

By The Associated Press
Hurricane-spawned torrential rains finally moved out of Texas and into Oklahoma, where that state's governor declared a state of emergency in the face of more than a foot of rain in some places. Oklahoma City already received more than 13 inches of rain this week, enough by itself to make it the second-wettest October ever, and less than a half-inch off the record, with more than a week still remaining in the month.

The rains, which fell on some parts of West Texas from Tuesday through Thursday almost non-stop, stranded cattle, damaged cotton crops, closed some streets and forced the evacuation of about 90 residents of a Lubbock nursing home.

"The remnants of Hurricane Tico that caused all the rain are now across the Red River, exiting stage north and east of Wichita Falls," meteorologist Bill Alexander of the National Weather Service in Fort Worth said Thursday.

Lubbock was among the hardest hit of the West Texas cities. In a 24-hour period from Tuesday through Wednesday evening, the city got more than a third of its average 18-inch annual rainfall. The city received 5.85 inches of rain in the 24-hour period and more than 7 inches from start to finish.

The rains devastated the South Plains cotton crop, which farmers were ready to harvest. Hail had damaged much of the crop earlier in the week. Agricultural officials said not only was the cotton in the fields damaged, there was a strong likelihood the cotton seed itself will suffer, causing a likely seed shortage in next year's planting season.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service estimated that 100,000 bales, or 7 to 9 percent of the crop in the 25-county region, have been destroyed by hail storms.

The dry summer had already pushed the forecasted crop for the area down to 1.2 million to 1.5 million bales, 50 to 60 percent of average production.

"The rain came right when we didn't need it," said Kary Mathis, agricultural economist at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

The storm system drifted to the east and north on Thursday, bringing additional rainfall to North and East Texas.

Officials in Wichita Falls planned to keep a 24-hour surveillance of the Wichita River and swollen creeks, fearing that runoff from Oklahoma could cause the waterways to rise above flood stage.

David Tracey, Wichita Falls street superintendent, said any additional heavy rain would cause serious flooding.

"We're about mazed on our rivers and creeks, everything is full to the top. But so far, we've been very, very lucky and all the flooding has been minor," he said.

The light rain and drizzle Thursday afternoon was part of a cool front sweeping the state from the northwest, bringing temperatures in the 40s to the Panhandle. The heavier rains the preceding day were associated with the remnants of Tico, a Pacific storm that hit the northwestern Mexican coast Wednesday.

A light drizzle continued around Wichita Falls this morning, but skies were partly cloudy to cloudy over most

Communist leaders think arms agreement possible

By DAVID MINTHORN
Associated Press Writer
BERLIN (AP) - Soviet bloc leaders say they are confident a U.S.-Soviet arms agreement can be reached if talks in Geneva are extended, but they insist that NATO first scrap plans to deploy new nuclear missiles in Europe.

Warsaw Pact defense ministers and 10 Soviet bloc premiers made separate but similar statements Thursday in the latest of repeated demands that NATO forego the missile deployment that is scheduled to begin in December.

The two meetings in East Berlin of Kremlin leaders and their allies came amidst an escalated protest campaign in parts of Western Europe by anti-nuclear activists opposed to the missiles.

In Bonn, riot police dragged away some 2,000 anti-missile demonstrators who had gathered before dawn to try to block the entrances of the Defense Ministry. Several miles away, at the Economic Cooperation Ministry, helmeted police pushed back some 750 protesters who wanted to prevent workers from getting into the building.

Police appeared to outnumber protesters at both ministries. No arrests were reported, and both police and protesters said the attempted blockades were peaceful.

In London, the Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament planned a mass demonstration for Saturday.

About 50,000 West Germans joined protests against the NATO missiles Thursday in West Berlin, Stuttgart, Munich, Bremen, Hamburg, Cologne and other cities.

The 10 Soviet bloc premiers released a statement Thursday at the end of a three-day session of the Council of Mutual Economic Assistance saying they are "convinced that the chance of coming to an agreement at the Geneva talks still exists."

The statement also said a continuation of the talks "presupposes that the U.S.A. and its NATO allies disperse with the deadlines they have set for the deployment of new nuclear medium-range missiles."

Hours before the premiers completed their economic summit, an "extraordinary" one-day meeting of the seven Warsaw Pact defense ministers was announced.

That session is believed to have focused on North Atlantic Treaty Organization plans to station 572 Pershing 2 and cruise missiles in Western Europe. Deployment will start by the end of the year unless arms negotiators in Geneva reach agreement.

NATO says the medium-range missiles are necessary to counter the Soviet force of 370 SS-20 missiles.

Despite paperwork pleas

Southwestern case to start Monday

AUSTIN (AP) - Despite opponents' pleas that they need more time to sift through hundreds of pages of testimony filed this week, the Public Utility Commission hearing on Southwestern Bell's $1.36 billion rate case will begin Monday.

PUC Administrative Law Judge Jacqueline Holmes on Thursday denied the requests to postpone the case, but she did set a one-week recess to begin after Bell's opening witness.

Bell is looking for a $1.36 billion hike that would double monthly bills for basic home service.

In addition to giving the go-ahead for the hearing that will last about eight weeks, Ms. Holmes ruled Thursday that Bell's filing package was completed Wednesday. That means the telephone company can set temporary, bonded rates on Feb. 21 if the commission has not acted on the rate hike.

But Paul Roth, Bell vice president for revenue and public affairs, said the company can't wait until February. He said Bell needs additional money after Jan. 1, when court-ordered divestiture will leave Bell as an independent company.

"If we don't get interim rates here we'll be in real trouble in January," he told reporters.

Divestiture will leave Bell without much of the long-distance revenue it now draws. Bell lawyer Jon Dee Lawrence said the company will be out $2 million to $3 million a day after Jan. 1.

PUC General Counsel Allen King agreed the company needs more money soon.

"Southwestern Bell's toll revenues will disappear to a large extent. Something will have to be in place to replace them," he told Ms. Holmes.

The requests to postpone the hearing were based on a separate hearing on so-called "access charges," a method of replacing some of the long distance revenue. That hearing has been going on for five weeks.

Jim Boyle, the state lawyer representing consumers, said the rate hearing and the access charge hearing are equally important. The problem, he said, is "when you focus on the left hand, the right hand comes around and picks your wallet."

Geoffrey Gay, representing the State Purchasing and General Services Commission, said a delay was needed because "there's too much going on in the country today" relating to the future of telephone service.

Attorney General Jim Mattox wants the full commission - instead of its administrative law judges - to hear the case.

"The public has a right to expect the commissioners,

Community Mental Health Centers.

The Texas Council is an organization of community mental health and mental retardation centers from throughout the state. Coleman said it is the only statewide group that represents these agencies, and is in his opinion one of the most effective voices in pleading the cause of mental health to the state legislature. About 80 percent of the mental health patients in the state are served by the council.

Funded primarily by state grants, the council attempts to form consensus opinions and positions of all the centers, then work with the state government to further those collective goals and needs.

"Outside of the schools, mental health is the largest single item in the state budget," said Coleman. "Over $1 billion is spent annually. Despite that figure, however, Texas ranks only 47th in the nation in per capita dollar expenditures."

who are accountable to the public, to decide this critical issue' instead of a series of hearing examiners, who are not accountable to the public' Mattox said in a press release.

Ms. Holmes said the commissioners will decide whether they'll hear the case. Don Butler, representing the Texas Municipal League,

"Although there are a lot of needs that aren't being met because of lack of funds," he continued, "we still need to consider just how much we should ask the taxpayer to provide."

Coleman said that as an advocate of mental health and a member of county government, his sort of riding both sides of the fence "One of the council's primary aims is to reduce the number of persons who go to state hospitals and increase the amount of counseling, testing and other services provided at the community centers which would result in significant savings every year.

Citing developments in the last 20 years or so, Coleman said that mental health movements which began during President Kennedy's administration have seen a 75 percent reduction in the number of patients kept in state hospitals.

Two major reasons for this drastic change have been the development of drugs used to treat mental illness and House Bill 3, which created local boards of trustees to receive state aid and administer local programs under the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

The Family Services Center in Hereford is a result of the regional board in Amarillo, which now operates on $2.5 million a year. In fact, said Coleman, it was the first outreach center established in the area. According to Director Mike Moon, the Hereford center now sees 130 to 160 clients every month. The center operates with a staff of four, which includes Alcohol Treatment Director Barbara Karins. Free community education classes are also offered.

Commenting about his years of work in mental health, Coleman said he is most pleased with the strides made in the Amarillo area to provide good service from the budget available. He said the

Six nominated for director

Six men were named as director nominees when the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce board held its regular monthly meeting Thursday at the C of C office.

Jim Arney, Rex Easterwood, John Hays, Bob Jossierand, Garth Merrick and Joe Reinauer were the six nominees recommended by the committee and approved by the board. Four directors are to be named in the chamber ballot next month.

Other nominations can be made by C of C members before Oct. 31. The member must submit the nominee's name along with 10 signatures of current chamber members. Ballots will be mailed to all C of C members for the selection of four new directors.

Directors will be elected for three-year terms on the board. Terms expiring are those of Bob Sims, Buddy Peeler, Cal Jones and Don Tardy. Sims will remain on the board as past president while Bill Johnson leaves the board after serving an extra year as past president.

In other business Thursday, directors discussed choices for a banquet speaker in February, heard progress reports on chamber committees and reviewed the financial statement.

HHS College Night Tuesday

Approximately 40 vocational-technical schools and colleges are expected to send representatives Tuesday to Hereford High School's College Night.

The annual affair will be held from 7 to about 9 p.m. in the HHS library. Due to expected heavy interest, representatives from Texas Tech University and West Texas State University will be placed in their own rooms.

All interested students, parents and citizens are encouraged to make an appearance at College Night. Admission forms and information brochures should be available from every represented school.

Prior to the event, representatives will be given a dinner, sponsored by the Hereford Independent School District.

Four tires, wheels ripped off

Four wheels and tires, worth a combined $500, were stolen between Tuesday and Thursday from Gary Parman, Hereford police reported this morning.

Parman, who resides at 121 Ave. E, had the items taken off his 1968 Chevrolet van. The vehicle was parked in his backyard.

Police also reported two incidents of minor theft along with one non-injury accident.

Economic indicators for the third quarter of the year appeared brighter in Deaf Smith County, according to Mike Carr, executive vice president of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

Carr told C of C board members Thursday that retail sales were up 5.1 percent over a year ago, and the local sales tax rebate had increased 10 percent over the same quarter a year ago.

Retail sales for the first nine months of the year were $397,787, compared to $378,598 last year. The third quarter tax rebate on sales was $22,465 as compared to $20,321 for the quarter a year ago.

Carr pointed out that local building permits were up about 31 percent. Totals for the nine months are $1,222,184

Ask Swiss to host reconciliation conference

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The once-postponed peace talks among Lebanon's warring leaders will be held in Geneva, probably next week, if the Swiss government agrees to serve as host, Lebanese officials said today.

The officials, who asked not to be identified, said President Amin Gemayel's administration has asked Switzerland to be host for the reconciliation conference and is awaiting a reply. They said the date of the meeting would be announced once the Swiss government's approval is received.

The request to the Swiss was made after the government announced late Thursday that Gemayel and eight feuding leaders have agreed on a new site for a peace dialogue.

Foreign Minister Elie Salem, while declining to identify the site, said, "The meeting will be held on the territory of a friendly nation, and protocol necessities diplomatic contacts with this nation."

Agreement on the new site was worked out by Saudi Arabian mediator Rafik Hariri one day after Gemayel's government was forced to cancel the reconciliation dialogue that was set for Thursday at Beirut's international airport.

Programming error caused LD overcharges

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A computer programming error caused Southwestern Bell to overbill its WATS customers on one of every 12 calls in Texas and four other states between April 1982 and April 1983, but state utility agencies weren't informed until two months ago, a newspaper said.

The overcharges amounted to $10 million — more than half of it in Texas, where customers of the reduced-cost long-distance service are now owed about $5.5 million in refunds, the Corpus Christi Caller said in a copyright story Thursday.

A Southwestern Bell spokesman said WATS customers are owed about $3.1 million in the Dallas area, about $3.1 million in the Houston area, and almost $1 million in the San Antonio area.

Sonia Perez of McAllen, a Southwestern Bell spokeswoman for South Texas, said the company delayed notifying customers of the overcharge because it first wanted to determine how much each WATS customer was owed.

Americans conquer Everest from Tibet side

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Three Americans have conquered Mount Everest from the Tibetan side, the first non-Chinese to do so, a Japanese mountaineer reported today.

Almost all Everest climbers approach the 29,028-foot peak, the world's highest, from the Nepalese side. Until now, Chinese climbers have been the only ones to have scaled Everest from the Tibetan side, in 1960 and in 1975.

The names of the Americans were not immediately known. However, a 16-member American team led by Dr. James Morrissey of Stockton, Calif., left for the Tibetan side of the mountain in August and had hoped to reach the summit around Oct. 6.

The team, including Chris Kopsinski of Spokane, Wash., and David Brashears of Boston, Mass., were attempting to be the first Americans to reach the top via Tibet.

Staff alterations made smoothly

By JAMES GERSTENZANG Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan has a knack when it comes to making changes in his staff.

Jimmy Carter could lose a senior adviser or even a middle-level special assistant and by the end of the week it looked as though his administration was crumbling. Remember Bert Lance, Carter's budget director? Peter Bourne, his assistant specializing in medical issues? Mark Siegel, his liaison with Jewish voters? Each departed in a blaze of publicity that chipped away at the Carter administration.

But, from the events of the past week, it seems that Ronald Reagan can survive relatively unscathed a shift that leaves him with his third national security adviser — one of the most senior positions in the White House — in 1,000 days without his aides having to deal with a flood of questions about a major White House shakeup.

The personnel events of the last week illustrate not only the ease with which Reagan seems to manage major shifts in his administration, but also shed new light on the never-ending Washington game of trying to determine who is up and who is out at the White House.

If you thought Judge William P. Clark, Reagan's assistant for national security affairs, had by his presence in the White House turned the "Big Three" of Chief of Staff James A. Baker III, Deputy Chief of Staff Michael K. Deaver, and Counselor Edwin Meese III into the "Big Four," you were right.

But by shifting to the Interior Department, replacing Secretary James G. Watt, Clark is not giving up all of his insider status.

After all, he has spent 16 years as a confidant of Ronald Reagan, whether as Reagan's executive secretary in Sacramento, in the Reagan gubernatorial tenure in California, or as a member of the California Supreme Court, or as a deputy secretary of state. And he is unlikely to lose that special status by moving to the Interior Department.

When Reagan prepared to designate Robert C. McFarlane, his special Middle East envoy, to fill Clark's latest job, the right wing of the Republican Party became aroused that a top White House job was going to someone without a long resume demonstrating years of toil in the Reagan vineyards of conservative politics. And there was concern that the newcomer would not have the access to Reagan that Clark had.

Howard Phillips, head of the Conservative Caucus, said "my fear is that even if McFarlane had Clark's views, which he does not, he does not have the independent base or stature to argue with a George Shultz, Mike Deaver or Jim Baker."

But Viguere, Phillips and company are concerned that Clark's departure, with his replacement by a veteran of the Gerald R. Ford administration, will mean that the State Department, rather than the National Security Council and its White House staff, will have the upper hand in foreign policy work.

of the state. Early morning temperatures ranged from 40 degrees at Marfa to 79 at Beaumont and McAllen.

The forecast called for decreasing cloudiness to spread from the west this afternoon. High temperatures today were expected to be mostly in the 60s and 70s except for readings in the 80s over parts of Southeast and South Texas and in the Big Bend valleys.

Looking to the future, the new president said he still sees the reduction of state hospital population as the most important change the state council can work for. That, he said, and learning to offer even more services locally on the money available, an especially difficult task in areas such as

A current member of both the Panhandle and State Commissioners and Judges Association and the National Association of Criminal Justice Planners, Coleman is currently working for a more consistent method of sentencing criminal offenders.

Local voters will be taking part in the Constitutional Amendment Election Nov. 8, and the ballot in the general election will also include the Buffalo Lake Water District election for voters in Deaf Smith, Randall and Potter counties.

The sample ballot shows a three-part vote on the water district. Voters will decide whether or not to create the district, a vote of three directors from the county, and whether or not to give the district authority to levy a one-half cent tax per $100 valuation to maintain and operate the district.

The ballot contains 11 proposed constitutional amendments, and these will be on all ballots in the state. A number of counties will have other issues for their voters to decide.

Governor says Reagan offers only lip service

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The federal government's reluctance to beef up security on the U.S.-Mexico border has led to an unfair tax burden on Texans, who wind up footing the bill for the education and health care of illegal aliens, Gov. Mark White says.

White said President Reagan has failed to back immigration laws with adequate money and enforcement.

Legislation that would have effected sweeping reforms in this country's immigration laws, the Simpson-Mazzoli bill, stalled in Congress after House Speaker Tip O'Neill promised to block it from ever reaching a vote.

"The most controversial part of that bill has been the sanctions against employers who hire illegal aliens," White said. "The least controversial was that the Border Patrol be strengthened."

White, addressing the 7th Annual Conference on Immigration and Naturalization on Thursday, said the U.S. Border Patrol currently has only 2,600 employees to guard the 2,000-mile border between this country and Mexico.

Texas is hardest hit, he said, because the state stretches across 1,348 of those miles.

The federal government should increase the number of agents patrolling the border by 50 percent to 100 percent to ease the related problems the flood of illegal aliens touch off in Texas and other states, the governor said.

"The education of the children of undocumented workers is a very, very expensive burden to have placed on the people of South Texas," he said. "The government should enforce the laws. Their failure to protect that border has led to the cost of educating those children. There should be federal reimbursements to state and local governments."

Reagan has expressed concern over the situation, but continues to balk at spending more money to beef up the border, all the while racking up "enormous outlays for national defense," he said.

Oklahomans forced to leave homes

By TIM TUMLIN Associated Press Writer

GUTHRIE, Okla. (AP) — Stranded motorists clinging to car roofs, residents clambered into trees and rescuers tied ropes around their waists to keep from being swept away in the torrents that flowed through the streets in this rain-battered town today.

State and local officials waded into waters up to 7 feet high to speed the evacuation of the town's 1,800 families as nearby Cottonwood Creek overflowed.

The flooding was part of the devastation that has spun into Oklahoma and the rest of the southern Plains by the remnants of Hurricane Tico, which slammed into the Mexican resort town of Mazatlan with 150 mph winds that ripped off roofs and left eight shrimp boat crewmembers missing.

Five Oklahomans have died in weather-related accidents since the heavy rains started Wednesday. Kansas officials report that one pedestrian death has been attributed to rain and fog.

Flash flood watches were posted in parts of Kansas and Missouri today, and the rains were headed for Arkansas, Ohio, Pennsylvania and the Virginias.

Gov. George Nigh declared a state of emergency across Oklahoma on Thursday, authorizing the National Guard and other state workers to join dozens of rescue and relief efforts launched across the state.

In Guthrie, only large boats could be used in rescue efforts, Fire Chief Bill Ward said, because small boats were being sucked up by the strong current in this town 30 miles north of Oklahoma City.

Ward called it "a phenomenal flood ... (which) may be the worst in the city's history."

"It was a blast of water. It knocked out my windows and the latches on my doors. We couldn't get away," said Mary Mills, one of the residents rescued by boat today.

"It was worse than white water," said Capt. Jim Morton of the Oklahoma Lake Patrol, who boated around the streets of Guthrie. "You needed at least a 100 horsepower motor to get around out there."

"We think that probably the worst is over," Civil Defense program director Robbie Robinson said Thursday night after the rain began to subside. "We're still watching some rivers crest."

But Harry Gordon, a meteorologist with the National Weather Service Severe Storms Center in Kansas City, said no relief is in sight for Oklahoma until at least Saturday, and cresting on the Washita and Cimarron rivers could be damaging as late as Tuesday.

The Cimarron was rising at a rate of 2 feet an hour late Thursday, and Cottonwood Creek, which feeds the Cimarron, rose 4 feet in an hour starting at 5 p.m. Thursday.

Campaign to make Halloween safer

The local Taco Villa restaurant is participating in a company campaign to help make Halloween a safe holiday for children.

Freddie Torres, manager of the store on West Highway 60, said Taco Villa has trick-or-treat tokens available at $2.50 for a bag of 20. Each token is redeemable at all Taco Villa restaurants for a free 40 cent soft drink or 25 cent off any single item purchase. The company is suggesting the tokens be given to children instead of candy or other food treats.

He said all of the company's stores in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma are selling and redeeming the tokens, and the store managers he has talked with are really pleased with the idea. "We don't expect to make any money from this promotion; we're just happy to be able to do this for the children of our community," he explained.

"I have eight children, and I just don't feel safe in letting them go trick-or-treating for candy," Torres said. "Fortunately we haven't had any serious problems with candy being tampered with in Hereford, but there's always a first time. Last year I wanted to buy some candy to give away at the store on Halloween, but my superiors felt that even that could possibly leave us liable should a case be reported involving the same type of candy. Use of tokens is completely safe."

Chief Deputy Dean Butcher of the local sheriff's department, which supports the program, said in recent years he and his wife have only taken their children to the homes of people they know. "It's good to know that establishments such as this are concerned with the safety of our children. We're glad that they care so much."

The tokens, which went on sale Oct. 15 and will be available through Halloween Day, may be redeemed until Dec. 15. The local Taco Villa is open from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and from 7 a.m. to midnight on Friday and Saturday.

Safety Campaign Underway

The Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department and other local agencies concerned with Halloween safety have voiced their support of a trick-or-treat token campaign launched by Taco Villa. Chief Deputy Dean Butcher examines a bag of tokens with store manager Freddie Torres.

Plans discussed for district convention

Members of the Ladies Auxiliary to the VFW Post No. 4818 met in regular session Monday evening with Rose Goheen presiding.

Plans were made for the District 13 convention which has been scheduled Nov. 19-20 in Hereford.

Tickets were distributed for a Winchester 20 gauge pump action, vent rib barrel shotgun to be given away the afternoon of the opening day of pheasant season, Dec. 10. Anyone wanting a ticket should contact any VFW or Auxiliary member.

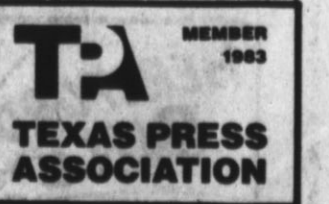

Final plans were made for a garage and bake sale to be held from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday. All members need to bring items for the sale to the Toy Barn located by the VFW Clubhouse at 5 p.m. Friday. The bake sale items, cookies and brownies, need to be brought Saturday morning.

Members voted to give a $10 donation for aiding in the restoration of the Statue of Liberty.

Those present included Betty Boggs, Leone Buckley, Doris Coffin, Mrs. Goheen, Erma Murphey, Doris Wilson, Mabel Yocum and Marie Goheen.

The next meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 7 with a covered dish supper preceding the meeting.

Feedlot Perspectives

Local cattlemen present perspectives of a feedlot

Members of the Hereford CowBelles heard "Three Perspectives of a Feedlot" presented by local cattlemen, Bob Sims, S.L. Garrison, and Milton Rudder, during their Tuesday luncheon at the Hereford Country Club.

Sims, president of Tri-State Feeders, spoke on "The Role of the Feedlot Manager." He stated that each feedyard is operated differently but that there are many similarities. The manager is responsible for everything, from nutrition to personnel and sales. Winning is through profits, he said.

Garrison, owner of Garrison Seed and Easter Grain Elevator and president of Bar G Feeders, explained "Backgrounding Feedyards." Comparing this to a conventional type yard, the big differences are size of yard, type of equipment, type of cattle and type of service. He commented that this type of yard usually takes smaller cattle, which require more care and may be kept for shorter periods with different feed rations in order for the cattle to start gaining weight.

Rudder, who is vice-president of AZTX Feedyards, spoke on the role of "Corporate Management" in feedlot operations. A tax advantage type of operation, corporate feedlots may be privately owned or by shareholders and public companies. Total team effort is more difficult because there are more people with which to communicate, he stated. If the tax advantage should be removed it is expected that cattle that are fed should make substantially more profit.

During the business meeting which followed, conducted by President Char-mayne Klett, the members voted to donate $25 to the Texas Scholarship Fund in memory of the late Paul Lawson, father-in-law of Sarah Lawson, Hereford CowBelle member.

Elaine Mies, chairman of the nominating committee for Honorary CowBelle and CowBelle of the Year, announced that David Hopper and Dr. Hollis Klett are Honorary CowBelle nominees and Joan Coupe, Mildred Garrison, and Glenda Hansen are CowBelle of the Year nominees. The winners will be revealed at a later date.

Election of officers for 1984 was held. Char-mayne Klett was elected president; Peaches Reinauer, first vice-president; Sue Sims, second vice-president; Dee Anne Trotter, secretary; Frances Berry, treasurer; and Kay Hall, Beef for Fathers Day chairman.

President Klett announced that Hereford CowBelles would participate in the Texas Beef Cook-Off to be held April 27-28 at the Home Economics Department at Texas Tech University.

The president also announced that she would be attending an appreciation luncheon Saturday at the Pampa Country Club. The luncheon will honor out-going state president, Becky Terry of

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Children's choirs are adding to the music at worship services in First United Methodist Church this fall. Three of the choirs have already been heard, and the Angelic Choir will debut Sunday morning when it sings the call to worship, "Sing to God."

It is made up of kindergarten and first graders. Beverly Bryant is the choir mother for this group.

Jeff Wakeley, minister of music and youth, directs all the choirs, assisted by the choir mothers. Kay Lynn Caviness and Billee Landrum are mothers working with the Cherub Choir of 3 and 4-year-old children; Donna Warrick and Judy Williams with second and third graders in the Sunshine Choir, which has Donna Ruland as accompanist.

Fourth to sixth grade children are in the Carol Choir, with Tina Langehennig as accompanist. Choir mothers are Sandra Thomas, Linda Cox and Grace Skelton.

Junior high and high school students comprise the Youth Singers, who have sung alone and with the Sanctuary Choir several times this fall. They are to be featured with the Sanctuary Choir Oct. 30 in the "Anthem of Dedication" by Warren Martin.

The Sanctuary Choir's anthem Sunday morning will be "Church of God Reach Up, Reach Out" by Eugene Butler.

A contest between Sunday School classes in First United Methodist Church is entering its final weeks, and winners will be decided Nov. 6. The top classes in children's, youth and adult divisions will be entertained by the also-rans with a family night dinner Nov. 13.

Contest points are determined by attendance, new members and class service projects. In the youth division, the junior high class washed windows in the church building last week as its service project, and the seniors will clean walls in the Education Building halls at their usual meeting time Sunday evening.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

A baptismal service and reception of new members will be held Sunday at Hereford Church of the Nazarene during a special combined worship service commemorating the 75th anniversary of the Church of the Nazarene.

The service is scheduled for the best New & Used cars in town see Majm Garza at Stevens Chevrolet 615 N. 25 Mile Ave. 364-2160 from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. There will be no separate Sunday school hour this week, according to the Rev. Bob Huffaker, pastor.

In addition to individual testimonies, a variety of special musical numbers are planned. The adult choir will sing "The Church Triumphant" and All God's Children, the junior children's choir, will perform.

Cyndi Kiker, Virgil Slentz and Susie Merrick will sing solos; Pat Holcombe and Gary Morgan will present a duet; a men's quartet, including Jim Haille, Jim Lewis, Terry Huffaker and C.E. Stanaland, will sing; and Lewis and Stanaland will play an instrumental on trumpets for the offertory.

There are two novels buried in the 1939 New York World's Fair time capsule: Margaret Mitchell's Gone with the Wind, and Arrow-smith, by Sinclair Lewis.

Herd, Dons hope to remain in 3-5A title chase

Before national TV audience in Texas Stadium

Texas, SMU clash in feature SWC battle

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

History repeats itself Saturday when two Highland Park products lead the unbeaten Texas Longhorns and Southern Methodist Mustangs against each other. Doak Walker and Bobby Layne were at the helm in 1947 when the Longhorns and Mustangs last came in this game unbeaten. On Saturday, the quarterbacks will be Lance McIlhenny and Rob Moerschell. Like Walker and Layne before them, both are from Highland Park, a fashionable Dallas suburb and football factory. The No. 2-ranked Longhorns and ninth-rated Mustangs both bring 5-0 season records into the nationally televised clash before a sellout crowd of 65,000 in Texas Stadium.

Transactions

HOUSTON ASTROS—Signed Al Rosen, general manager, to a three-year contract.
PHILADELPHIA PHILLIES—Signed Paul Owens, manager, to a one-year contract. Promoted Tony Stagle, to vice-president of baseball administration, Jim Basmer, to vice-president, director of player development and scouting. Added John Felske to the coaching staff. Named Lee Elia manager of Portland of the Pacific Coast League.
PITTSBURGH PIRATES—Purchased the contracts of Denny Gonzalez, second baseman right-handed, Ray Krawczyk and Mike Bielecki, pitchers and Robert Beville, outfielder, from Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League.
FOOTBALL—United States Football League

CBS paid $1.2 million for the privilege of televising the game. SMU hasn't lost in 21 consecutive games and it was the Longhorns who last beat them Oct. 24, 1961. But the Mustangs haven't won against Texas at home since 1965.

SMU, behind Walker, was 5-0 and Texas, behind Layne, was 6-0 in 1947. The Mustangs won the game 14-13 and advanced to the Cotton Bowl. SMU, the 1982 SWC champion, finished No. 2 in the nation last year by defeating Pittsburgh 7-3 in the Cotton Bowl. The Mustangs haven't lost a game since Bobby Collins became their coach at the start of the 1982 season, but the Longhorns are an 8-point pick Saturday.

Texas, which boasts the nation's No. 1 defense, hasn't won an SWC title since 1977. Both teams are 2-0 in SWC play.

McIlhenny has quarterbacked the Mustangs since getting his first starting job against Texas three years ago. Moerschell took over the Longhorn offense when Todd Dodge was injured before the 1983 season opened at Auburn.

"When I played on the varsity at Highland Park in 1979 everybody looked to Lance for the big play in crucial situations," said Moerschell. "Since he has been at SMU he has developed and I think he is one of the best in the Southwest Conference."

McIlhenny said of Moerschell "Robbie's got great quickness, he's smart. He knows how to win — he's a winner."

Moerschell and McIlhenny rank 1-2, respectively, in passing in the SWC.

In other SWC games, Texas A&M was a 15-point pick over Rice in Houston, Baylor was a 10-point choice over Texas Christian on homecoming in Waco, Arkansas was a 10-point nod over Houston in Fayetteville, and the Texas Tech-Tulsa non-conference game was a tossup in Lubbock.

The winner of the Texas-SMU game will join Texas Tech (3-0) at the top of the SWC race.

The Hereford Whitefaces will try to cool off the red-hot Palo Duro Dons when the two teams clash here tonight at Whiteface Stadium in a do-or-die grid contest in District 3-5A.

The Dons have blown over Coronado, 41-16, and the strong Amarillo Sandies, 27-0, in their last two outings and have a 4-1 record in district play. The Herd lost its first game of the season last week at Plainview, 21-7, and gave up almost as many points in the game as they had all season.

Kickoff time is 7:30 p.m. and a large home-town crowd will be urging the Whitefaces to rebound and maintain a share of the district lead. Plainview and Amarillo, the other two teams tied for the lead, are favored to win their games tonight and Saturday.

The Bulldogs play at Lubbock High tonight and can probably name the score against the winless Westerners. The Sandies have a tougher task at Lubbock Saturday afternoon, but are heavy favorites to down Coronado.

Tonight's game in Hereford will feature some of the top performers in the district. Wingback Gerry Smith of the Dons is the leading scorer and has caught 14 passes for 282 yards. Fullback Terrance Gardner is one of the top rushers, and sophomore tailback Ernie Williams has come on strong-gaining 190 yards last week against Coronado.

Don quarterback David Littlejohn is second only to Hereford's Mike Scott in total offense. The Herd counters with fullback Ronnie Terry, who has the best yards-per-carry average in the league, and Mickey Stengel, one of the top pass catchers and close in district scoring. Scott is averaging 125 yards a game passing and running. He's thrown for 700 yards without an interception.

As a team, Hereford is third in total defense and second in offense. They are first in points allowed, giving up only 43 in seven games. On the other side of the ledger, Palo Duro is second in team offense and rank third in team defense.

The game has all the statistics for a close game, but it could be a high-scoring affair or a defensive struggle.

The loser will probably be eliminated from the playoff chase, for all practical purposes.

If the Dons don't have enough incentive in the district race, they will be seeking to snap a five-game loss streak to the Whitefaces. Hereford has won the last four years, including two victories over Palo Duro in 1981. The Herd downed PD in a non-district clash, then came back to beat them in bi-district play.

College slate features Michigan-Iowa tilt, West Virginia-Penn State rivalry

By DAVE GOLDBERG AP Sports Writer

It will be a typical autumn Saturday at State College, Pa., when Penn State meets West Virginia — the No. 4 team in the country taking on an unranked team eager to knock off the big guy.

Only this year the roles are reversed.

West Virginia, 6-0, has been ranked fourth in the nation the past two weeks, a position much more familiar to the Nittany Lions. But the Mountaineers' last win over Penn State was in 1955 — they've lost 26 of the last 27 games to the Lions since then, with only a 1958 tie to break the monotony.

This year, however, the defending national champion Nittany Lions have broken out the cliches usually reserved for teams that face them.

"We'll have to play an error-free game," says defensive back Harry

Hamilton, the leading tackler for Penn State, which dropped its first three games, but has come back to win its last four. "This is a test to see how much we've improved."

"Each year, West Virginia gets better and better," says linebacker Scott Radecic, who returned a Jeff Hostetler pass 85 yards for a touchdown that broke open last year's Penn State 24-6 win. "And this year they're even better. We don't have any trouble getting fired up for this one."

There will be two confrontations of Top 20 teams on Saturday: No. 2 Texas will visit No. 9 Southern Methodist and No. 12 Iowa will be at No. 10 Michigan.

Top-ranked Nebraska will play host to Colorado; Mississippi State will be at No. 5 Auburn; East Carolina at No. 6 Florida; Kentucky at No. 7 Georgia; No. 8 Miami, Fla. at Cincinnati; No. 11 Illinois at Purdue; Washington State at No. 13 Arizona State; No. 14 Washington at Oregon; Duke at No. 15 Maryland; Iowa State at No. 16 Oklahoma; Michigan State at No. 17 Ohio State; No. 18 Brigham Young at San Diego State; and No. 19 Arizona at Stanford.

And, Southern California will be at Notre Dame, one of the few times those traditional rivals have met when both were unranked.

Thursday night, Florida State defeated Louisville 51-7 as Greg Allen rushed for 148 yards and three touchdowns.

Rosen passes AL post to stay with Astros

HOUSTON (AP) — Al Rosen says he thinks he could have been president of the American League if he wanted to, but preferred to remain general manager of the Houston Astros because he is excited by the team's future.

Rosen signed a three-year contract as the Astros' president and general manager Thursday. "I don't know if I was formally offered the American League presidency, but I got the idea the job was mine if I wanted it," Rosen said. "It was flattering, but I prefer to be in Houston. Building the Astros into a yearly contender is our goal, and I wish to be part of it when we succeed."

NBC-TV reported last month that Rosen, the Astros' general manager for three years, would replace Lee MacPhail when the president of the American League becomes director of the owners' Player Relations Committee.

Rosen denied that report. Later, Astros owner John McMullen said he had denied permission for AL officials to talk formally with Rosen.

Eventually, Rosen and the AL people made contact.

Redskins concerned about game with Detroit

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

The good news for Detroit is that John Riggins may not play Sunday. The bad news for the Lions is that Alvin Garrett may be in the lineup for the Washington Redskins.

Riggins, one of the National Football League's most punishing runners, has been taking quite a beating lately. The Redskins' fullback, last year's Most Valuable Player in the Super Bowl, has gained 660 yards and scored 10 touchdowns this season.

But he also has a painfully inflamed sciatic nerve in his right hip and was hospitalized for treatment at midweek.

The Lions remember him well. He rushed for 119 yards when the teams met last Jan. 8 in the teams' first-round National Conference playoff game — but the Lions no doubt have more vivid memories of Garrett.

He replaced the injured Art Monk in that game and caught six passes, three of them covering 21, 21 and 27 yards for touchdowns in the Redskins' 31-7 romp. Monk is healthy now, but fellow wide receiver Charlie Brown isn't, sidelined with a bruised ankle. So Garrett's back in the lineup.

Sunday's other games are New England at Buffalo, Atlanta at the New York Jets, Kansas City at Houston, New Orleans at Tampa Bay, Minnesota at Green Bay, Chicago at Philadelphia, Cleveland at Cincinnati, Miami at Baltimore, Pittsburgh at Seattle, San Diego at Denver, San Francisco at the Los Angeles Rams and, at night, the Los Angeles Raiders at Dallas. On Monday night it's the New York Giants at St. Louis.

"For the first time this year we are coming into a game at less than 100 percent physically," Redskins Coach Joe Gibbs said. "This is probably going to be one of our biggest challenges because we might have a lot of players missing and Detroit is really hot ... We are going to need some big efforts from people coming off the bench."

The Redskins are coming off their second loss in seven games, the 48-47 shootout in Green Bay last Monday night, while the Lions, 3-4, are shooting for their third consecutive victory, a feat they haven't achieved since November 1981. In their past two games they've beaten Green Bay 38-14 and Chicago 31-17.

Buffalo is alone atop the American Conference East at 5-2 and New England shares last place with the Jets at 3-4, but Bills Coach Kay Stephenson notes: "There's always been a special rivalry between the Patriots and the Bills, and it's always going to be a dogfight, no matter what the records."

Both teams are coming off big games, the Bills ripping Baltimore 30-7 and the Pats shocking San Diego 37-21. New England's Steve Grogan was the hot quarterback earlier this year but Joe Ferguson of the Bills is now. He has thrown eight TD passes in the past two games.

In New York, there's the drama of two teams in trouble, the 2-5 Falcons and the 3-4 Jets.

me and complains that she's 70-years-old. I tell her, 'Mom, be grateful you're not 71.'"

The Falcons biggest asset has been quarterback Steve Bartkowski, who shares the NFL passing lead with Green Bay's Lynn Dickey. "Steve has put us into position to win every game," said Coach Dan Henning. "He hasn't turned the ball over indiscreetly (only one interception, 12 fewer than the Jets' Richard Todd) and he's made the big plays. But some things happened out of our control."

Rivera critical after auto crash

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Gabriel Rivera, the highly regarded Pittsburgh Steelers' rookie defensive lineman known as "Senor Sack," escaped a brush with death in an auto accident but remained in critical condition today with severe spinal cord and internal injuries.

Steelers' publicity director Joe Gordon said he didn't know when the extent of the injuries suffered by the 22-year-old former Texas Tech star would be known. But he admitted "the possibility exists" that Rivera may suffer some paralysis.

Rivera was in surgery at Allegheny General Hospital for over three hours, beginning at 11 p.m. Thursday, as doctors tried to determine how badly injured he is, Gordon said.

At 5 a.m. today, a statement issued by the hospital spokeswoman Suzanne Gitomer said, "Mr. Rivera sustained serious spinal injuries and other internal injuries."

The accident, which doctors said for a time threatened Rivera's life, casts a shadow of doubt over the career of one of the Steelers' most promising young defensive players in years.

"This came as a great shock to us," Gordon said. "It's hard to believe. Dan (Rooney, the Steelers' president), Franco (Harris) and Mel (Blount) came to the hospital as soon as they heard, and many other players called."

Rivera also suffered various cuts, bruises and abrasions to the head and body in the accident, which occurred on a rain-slick Ross Township road at about 9 p.m. as he was driving to his suburban North Hills home from Julian's, a restaurant on the city's north side.

Rivera's car collided with a car driven by Allen Wates, 48, of Ross Township, authorities said.

Wates was treated and released from North Hills Passavant Hospital, but Rivera had to be airlifted from Passavant to Allegheny General via Lifeflight helicopter when his blood pressure dropped dramatically.

The 6-foot-3, 295-pound Rivera then was taken to surgery by a team of doctors headed by Dr. Daniel Diamond, the chief of Allegheny's trauma unit, said Fred Peterson, the head of Lifeflight.

The Steelers, 5-2 and the winners of three games in a row, will be in the Seattle Kingdom Sunday against the Seahawks. The Steelers are to leave Pittsburgh on Saturday.

Rivera was only the third defensive lineman to be drafted by the Steelers in the first round since 1969, the others being Joe Greene (1969) and Keith Gary (1981). He was sidelined for much of the Steelers' training camp with a pulled chest muscle, but had more playing time in recent weeks.

Rivera was credited with three sacks and Steelers' coaches said he began playing better after his weight dropped from an earlier high of 305 pounds. His weight has fluctuated between 285 and 305 pounds.

The Southwest Conference defensive player of the year last season when he led Texas Tech with 105 tackles, Rivera lives in the off-season in El Paso, Texas. His father, Juan Rivera Jr., is a high school coach in San Antonio, Texas.

Rivera played at San Antonio Jefferson High School, where he was both a tight end and tackle as a 265-pound senior.

Rivera was married to the former Kim Covington last May.

Ann Landers

Appreciate mean mother

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was visiting my sister's home in West Virginia and she had a column of yours taped to her refrigerator door. It was about "The Meanest Mother in the World." It is tattered and torn but still readable. We would both appreciate another copy.—Grateful In W.Va.

be an ornamental guard. I am not shopping for a second husband, but realistically speaking, I don't wish to appear married when I am not. What do you advise?—No Partner in N.Y.

DEAR N.P.: When a woman wears a diamond ring and a wedding band (even though it may look like a guard) she gives the impression to all the world that she is married.

If you wish to appear unmarried, continue to wear your lovely diamond on your left hand and remove the wedding ring.

Program on stress presented to club

A program on "Stress" was presented by Jackie McAlpin when members of La Afflatus Estudio Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Opal Elliston, with Pett Ott serving as co-hostess.

Jennie B. Terrell introduced Ms. McAlpin, who is associate registrar and counselor at West Texas State University. The speaker said that there really is no such thing as stress. Stress is an internal process that is caused, not by overwork, but by over worry.

She also mentioned that one should practice mind control

Rebekah Lodge meets Tuesday

Seventeen members of Hereford Rebekah Lodge No. 228 met Tuesday evening at Odd Fellow Hall. Noble Grand Lavita Fitzgerald expressed her thanks to the group for help with the chili supper, which was termed a great success.

She then presided as sick members were reported and cards were signed. Kay Bell sent a cake for the fellowship hour.

Others attending were C.D. Fitzgerald, Beth Hall, Edna Mathes, Sadie Shaw, Irene Merritt, Susie Curtsinger, Lydia Hopson, Anna Conklin, Ben Conklin, Verna Sowell, Karrol Rettman, David Rettman, Faye Brownlow, Peggy Lemons, Ursalee Jacobsen, and Kee Ruland.

The honeybee's wings beat two hundred times per second.

FAITH WILL PREPARE YOUR CHILDREN FOR TOMORROW

our children need to learn faith in God, as well as the basic skills of life. As the opening of the school season draws near, remember that it is also time to begin or resume their spiritual education: to fortify them for the time when you may no longer be on hand to guide and protect them. That a large segment of our young people have never learned goodness for its own sake is tragically evident in the almost daily accounts of juvenile wrongdoing. Children are not born with this knowledge; they must be taught it. Enroll your children in Sunday school, and set your own good example for them by the way you conduct your life, and by attending your Church.

"Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it."
— Proverbs 22:6

"His education forms the common mind: Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined."
— Alexander Pope
