Aguilar drops out; write-ins for school seat

Belia Aguilar has withdrawn from her race with Steve Coneway for the District One seat on the Hereford school board, leaving Coneway's name the only name on the school ballot for the May 7 election.

No one filed by the March 23 deadline for the District Three seat currently held by Bud Patterson, so a blank line will be provided on the ballot for write-in candidates.

"If anyone gets 51 percent of the write-in vote, they will be the winner," said Hereford school superintendent Charles Greenwalt. "If no candidate gets 51 percent, there will be a runoff between the top two write-ins to see who will be on the board.

"If there are no write-ins, the board has the option of appointing someone to fill the vacancy and there will be another election for the seat in the 1989 election."

Write-in candidates do not have to file to be considered in the vote tally, Greenwalt said.

Advisors identify ED goals

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

A 32-member advisory panel met Tuesday at the Deaf Smith County Library in Hereford to further identify objectives for the county for the 21st Century and to develop strategies for meeting those goals.

From a list of 9 primary and 12 secondary goals, the advisory group settled, by consensus, on 10 firm goals.

The goals, after rank-ordering by the committee, included:

1. To establish Deaf Smith County as the food processing capitol of Texas and the Southwest;

2. To develop community unity between the Anglo and Hispanic groups in order to work toward a better community with common goals;

3. (tie) To develop stronger support of lending institutions to finance new industry and businesses, as well as expansion of existing businesses; and;

4. To expand the industrial base of Deaf Smith County through expansion of existing industries and development of research facilities such as a cattle breeding center;

5. To establish an adult training center for the existing and future labor force of the community;

6. To establish Hereford as a regional shopping area by broadening of its retail base;

7. To develop more job opportunities within the community;

8. To develop long-range planning for community and economic development and financial support for its implementation;

9. To develop the educational system of the community to meet the needs of all students;

10. To establish entertainment facilities for the community such as a theater, bowling alley, race track, and miniature golf.

As a group, barriers to reaching some of the goals were listed for a few of the objectives.

For example, the group easily derived 11 barriers to establishing Hereford as a food processing giant, including financing, labor, profitability, intrastate freight laws, establishing a market and availability of growers.

Barriers toward developing

Objective search

community unity ranged from cultural differences to prejudice to creating differences that don't exist.

The panel then broke into five separate groups to mentally consider barriers while determining strategies to meet the identified goals.

You need to go through the mental process to achieve the objectives," said Phillip Niedzielski-Ehninger, executive director of the Economic Development Strategy Council.

If you identify the barriers you can get to the objective.

You have to determine whether you must eliminate, go through, or go around the barrier to reach the objective.

The strategies developed by the advisory group will be combined with strategies devised by several special interest groups for compilation into a report in April 1989, to be considered by the EDCSC.

Included in the draft will be data and analysis from a county-wide telephone survey being conducted by Dr. Steve Marlock of Texas A&M University. That survey will determine where the advisory group of the community is and where it will be. Marlock said. The community will define a goal in the 11 objectives that will be the product of the advisory group and 11 strategies. The survey will be completed April 25 when it will be the first draft of the report. The survey will be completed by the next 11 weeks. The survey will be completed by the next 11 weeks.

Swaggart gets year suspension

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Assemblies of God officials who barred TV evangelist Jimmy Swaggart from preaching for a year say their church has survived a constitutional dispute touched off by the scandal that led to his downfall.

"I believe that the church is strong and I believe that the church is purified and strengthened by this," said Rev. G. Raymond Carlson, the Assemblies' general superintendent.

The Executive Presbytery, which serves as the church's board of directors and is headed by Carlson, announced Tuesday that the fiery Swaggart must stop preaching for at least one year and undergo two years of rehabilitation to remain a minister in the nation's largest Pentecostal church.

Swaggart confessed to unspecified sins during a tearful appearance at his Baton Rouge, La., church on Feb. 21 and stepped down from his pulpit. A prostitute has said Swaggart paid her to pose nude for him.

Carlson said Swaggart "thanked" him and the two said a prayer over the telephone when Carlson gave him the news Tuesday, but they did not discuss whether Swaggart might refuse to accept the terms.

"I will just await word from him. It is very possible he may do that," Carlson said in an interview on ABC-TV's "Nightline."

"If he does not accept, then the Executive Presbytery would no doubt take action to dismiss him," he said earlier.

Swaggart has 30 days to appeal his suspension, according to church bylaws. He could not be reached for comment Tuesday after the decision, but his organization, Jimmy Swaggart Worldwide Ministries in Baton Rouge, La., scheduled a news conference for today.

Swaggart is the latest evangelist to be forced from the pulpit. His accuser, Marvin Gorman, was forced from the Assemblies of God when he admitted to an immoral act with a woman. And Jim and Tammy Bakker were forced from their PTL ministry in a scandal that included a sexual encounter between Bakker and young female follower.

According to the terms of rehabilitation, Swaggart must stop preaching and distributing videotaped sermons that reach a worldwide audience for at least one year, and undergo counseling and supervision by church elders for two years.

Swaggart's preaching may be limited during the second year of his suspension, church officials said.

Carlson said the rehabilitation formula announced Tuesday was the same plan recommended last month to Louisiana district officials, who had urged only a three-month suspension and resisted the recommendation.

Resignations rock Justice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General Edwin Meese III faces an expanded criminal investigation and top Justice Department officials are resigning for fear of being tainted by his mounting legal problems, officials say.

Independent counsel James McKay has widened his probe by subpoenaing payroll records and other documents of the Washington chapter of the Multiple Sclerosis Society in connection with a $40,000-a-year job Meese's wife, Ursula, got with the group in 1985.

Washington attorney James Bierbower, legal counsel for the society and a board member, said the records were delivered to McKay's office on Monday.

The independent counsel is trying to determine whether longtime Meese friend E. Robert Walden used his influence to help get Mrs. Meese the job, said several sources familiar with the probe, speaking in condition of anonymity.

Meanwhile, Sens. Arlen Specter, R-Pa., and Carl Levin, D-Mich., demanded that Meese explain why Deputy Attorney General Arnold Burns, Assistant Attorney General William Weld and four of their aides abruptly quit on Tuesday. Specter is member of the Judiciary Committee, said it may be necessary to convene hearings if an explanation is not forthcoming.

Burns and Weld offered little in the way of public explanation, but told associates they were concerned that the nearly year-long criminal probe of Meese is hurting the entire Justice Department, according to several department sources, speaking in condition of anonymity.

Meese repeated Tuesday night that he would step down.

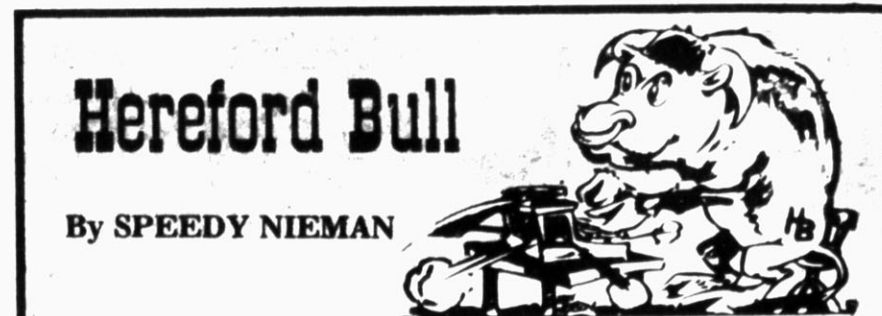

Weld, who as an assistant attorney general oversees all federal criminal investigations, told assistants at a news conference that the Justice Department's probe of Meese and Walden was "a major part of the new Justice Department's effort to reform the department's operations."

At the Justice Department news conference, Assistant Attorney General Philip H. Abner said the Justice Department is "committed to the highest standards of integrity and ethical conduct."

Weld said he was "concerned" about the Justice Department's probe of Meese and Walden.

BS News and the Washington Post reported that Burns and Walden had resigned. The Washington Post reported that Burns and Walden had resigned.

1. Talking
2. Chewing gum
3. Making noise
4. Running in the halls
5. Getting out of line
6. Wearing improper clothing
7. Not putting papers in wastebaskets.

3. Pregnancy
4. Suicide
5. Rape
6. Robbery
7. Assault

A small boy, age four, asked the meaning of "guaranteed."

It means "very good, most reliable, the best," his mother explained, and then she forgot about it.

When bedtime came, the lad gave her his good-night kiss and hugging her, said with deep feeling, "Good night, guaranteed mother!"

Attitudes are more important than facts.—Karl Menninger.

This country has seen great technological advances in the past half-century. We've put people on the moon, developed the world's most extensive television network, frozen our foods, swapped the body's organs, and made the tiniest of computer chips.

But in some areas, it appears we have gone backwards. While some advances have been noted in education, there have been many problems facing the schools which have come from outside sources.

A recent letter to Dear Abby brings the problem into focus. It listed the top seven problems that educators faced in 1940 and the top seven that are being faced today. The lists, which came from the Fullerton, Cal., police department and the California Department of Education, were:

Uninterested parents, broken homes, drugs and alcohol have become major factors that must be overcome at school in order for children to receive quality education. As the problems have changed, so have the teachers' roles in the educational system. They must now be replacement parents and disciplinarians and, in between, try to teach the difference between right and wrong, passing and failing, and a little bit of education.

In 1940, teachers concentrated on the three "R's"—reading, riting and rithmetic. In today's society, too many parents are leaving too many family responsibilities to the school, church and law enforcement agencies.

Babbling Brooks

By JOHN BROOKS

I hear Jimmy Swaggart is starting a new magazine. It's supposedly going to be called Repentance.

I couldn't figure out what in the heck was happening to the Democratic presidential race, with people dropping out and upsetting and losing and winning and not clear cut front-runners and sex and copying off of other people's work so I went to Dumm to talk to Jocko about it on Tuesday.

The way Jocko is a yellow-dog Democrat would be like saying Stalin was a hard-line Communist. He was, he is, he shall be a Democrat until death do us part. The closest Jocko ever came to backing the party was a thought about voting for Allan Shivers back before Shivers disappeared there was a party besides the Democratic party, but Jocko slipped out of his daze and submitted to psychiatric treatment for a few months.

Jocko didn't take the news very well that Jesse Jackson has one more delegate than Michael Dukakis.

Like Wladimir Killy in Gore Porter's Don't Fence Me In to turn his head and come out on top for you.

If Jesse is the nominee of the party, I'll vote for him," Jocko said. "He was not enthusiastic."

Jocko's guy is Tennessee Sen. Albert Gore Jr., who has about 380 delegates—enough to stay in the race, and more than enough to run a deal at the Democratic convention this summer.

But Jocko's really guy is in the race.

The one I really like is what's his name from New York," said Jocko. "Marty Cuomo."

Yeah, that's the guy. Edward J. "Boss" Cuomo, his mouth is always open, he was eating sushi for breakfast.

But Jocko keeps saying he's not sure, and he won't be married.

Heck, I don't even think I'll be a brokered convention," Jocko surmised. "Everybody's going in there without enough delegates to win third place in a horse race and the deal's gonna be made before the convention."

"They won't even get a suite for smokin' cigars."

Here's Jocko's look at how things will work in the Democratic Party between now and July. "Jesse won't even be vice president. People are going to think, 'What if something happens to the President... The country just isn't ready for Jesse Jackson to be president. I don't think they'll even promise something on the cabinet. What they'll do is let him write the platform—just turn it over to him.'"

"I think they'll all decide Mario is the guy to nominate because they'll finally figure Mario Kwomomo is the one guy who is electable."

Kwomomo Jocko now sounds like he has reached the raw octopus table. He's been out there getting his name slandered or slandering anyone else, and he hasn't had to waste all of his energy going from here to yonder for 20 delegates at the convention.

"It all goes back to that speech Kwomomo there went the squid past Jocko's lips gave at the '84 convention," Jocko explained. "Last time I tingled like that was on my honeymoon."

Don't be surprised if Jocko ain't right. Jocko's one of those Democrats who "got together one night at the convention and figured Lyndon Johnson wasn't going to be the next President of the United States. I was in there with Sam Rayburn and a blind judge from off downstate and we decided we needed to deal."

"We dealt, and came up with a winner."

Now Jocko says, "We've got four axes and a joker. Cuomo may be the unbeatable guy."

"I just don't know what it'll take to get him to run, but I bet it'll take more than a six-pack and Donna Rice."

grade placements for the 1988-89 school year. Preparation is underway for next year's classes through the high school level.

Dukakis wins Connecticut

By LAURA KING
Associated Press Writer

Michael Dukakis hailed his "wonderful victory" in the Connecticut primary, saying the decisive win puts his Democratic presidential campaign back on track for coming contests. Jesse Jackson chalked the results up to Dukakis' regional ties, and promised more muscle-flexing in Wisconsin's primary six days from today.

George Bush, the GOP nomination all but in hand, called on Republicans to "keep together and get to work." Bush won overwhelmingly in Connecticut — as he had been expected to do even before principal rival Bob Dole dropped out of the race on primary day.

Dukakis celebrated the 2-1 victory, his first primary win since Super Tuesday, telling backers in Boston: "This sends us back to Wisconsin and Colorado with a very good boost."

Colorado's Democratic caucuses are April 4, the day before the Wisconsin primary. All the Democrats were converging on Wisconsin today.

Jackson, who has beaten Dukakis in two states in the last two weeks — Michigan and Illinois — congratulated the Massachusetts governor. "He did well in his neighboring state. He invested the money and the staff in the state to win," Jackson said.

That theme was picked up by Sen. Paul Simon, who barely contested Connecticut. "We assumed this was Dukakis territory," he said.

Sen. Albert Gore Jr., who spent $75,000 in the state, called the Connecticut results a "total non-surprise."

Dukakis, however, insisted that his win was no less important for coming on home ground.

"It's as absurd to say those should be discounted as it is to say Jesse's should be because it's next to Illinois," he said.

With 100 percent of the Connecticut precincts reporting, Dukakis had 58 percent to Jackson's 28 percent. Gore trailed with 8 percent, and Simon had 1 percent.

Sandinistas, Contras set cease-fire lines

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Contra and Sandinista negotiators agreed on the cease-fire areas where rebels will begin gathering Friday, and President Daniel Ortega urged the United States to discuss normalizing relations with Nicaragua.

The negotiators identified the cease-fire zones Tuesday at the end of two days of talks in the southern outpost of Sapoa, but failed to resolve other crucial issues, including when the Contra rebels will lay down their arms.

Citing the cease-fire accord signed last week by Sandinista and Contra rebel leaders, Ortega said in a speech Tuesday the United States should begin negotiating a return to normal relations with his leftist government.

"We hope President Reagan keeps his word. He has repeatedly said that the day the Sandinistas sit down for direct negotiations with the Contras, then the United States government would sit down and negotiate with the Sandinistas."

"We hope he is a man of his word and immediately fulfills his word to accept bilateral conversations to deal with security issues that concern the United States with respect to Nicaragua and with Nicaragua in respect to the United States," Ortega said. The discussions should focus on normalizing relations, not the internal policies of Nicaragua, he said.

Ortega also urged the U.S. Congress not to approve more Contra aid in violation of last week's cease-fire agreement, in which the rebels agreed to accept only humanitarian assistance from neutral organizations.

House negotiators later reached agreement in principle on $50 million in non-military aid to the Contras and for children injured in the six-year war.

U.S. aid to the rebels expired Feb. 29 and Contra leaders say Reagan's inability to secure them continued military aid was a factor in their decision to sign the accord.

After three days of talks in Sapoa last week, the Contras and Sandinistas agreed to try to work out a lasting peace during a 60-day cease-fire that is to begin Friday.

Justice

Staff Howard Baker a week earlier and expressed their concerns about Meese. According to CBS, they asked if the Reagan administration was willing to urge Meese to step down, but Baker responded that the president felt Meese was a victim of political backstabbing and they could expect no help from the White House.

Meese has been under investigation for nearly 11 months by McKay, the independent counsel who last May 11 began looking into Meese's involvement with the scandal-plagued Wedtech Corp.

The investigation later expanded to include his involvement in a $1 billion Iraqi pipeline project, with the independent counsel trying to determine whether Meese may have been paid off by Wallach or others in exchange for helping Wedtech or the pipeline project.

Wallach's lawyer, San Francisco attorney George Walker, was quoted in today's Post as saying Wallach played a "peripheral" role in getting Mrs. Meese the job at the MS society.

However, Bierbower said the idea for hiring Mrs. Meese came from the chapter's executive director, Jeanne Bradley, who was pleased with Mrs. Meese's volunteer work for the group.

Bierbower said Mrs. Meese accepted the MS job rather than an offer to do public service work for local radio station WWDC.

Walker said Wallach had "suggested the possibility" of the radio job, and Bierbower said a foundation run by the family that owns the station ended up paying Mrs. Meese's $40,000 salary for the MS society job she took instead.

One Justice Department source said Weld, a former U.S. attorney in Boston, has frequently expressed an interest in returning to Massachusetts to seek political office, and didn't want to be associated with the department because of Meese's continuing legal problems.

Burns has been urged by family members and friends to quit based on fears that the taint of the Meese probe will damage Burns' reputation, said several department sources.

Herd scores 10-5 victory over Bulldogs

The Hereford Whitefaces took advantage of eight walks by Borger pitchers in the sixth inning to score seven runs en route to a 10-5 District 1-4A victory over the Bulldogs, Tuesday at Borger.

Relief pitcher Jason Scott hurled the last two and two thirds innings of the game, striking out seven of the eight batters he faced.

The win gave Hereford a 4-1 record, tied for first in the district with Canyon and Levelland. Lubbock Dunbar is half a game back at 4-2. Hereford hosts Canyon Saturday at 1 p.m.

The Whitefaces trailed Borger, 5-2, after five innings of play. The sixth inning for Hereford began with a walk and an error, with a run scoring on the error. The error was committed on a ball hit hard by Bill Ruckman.

Three more walks were followed by Keith Brown's two-run single. Later, with runners at second and third, Borger intentionally walked the Whitefaces' leading hitter, Robby Collier, loading the bases.

Collier, who went two for three to put his season batting average at .500, hit an RBI double in the first inning.

After the intentional walk, four more Herd batters walked, and Hereford held a 9-5 lead.

In the seventh inning, Michael Phibbs scored on a wild pitch for Hereford's 10th run.

"Although we were a little undisciplined at the plate early in the game, I was very pleased with our performance," Hereford Coach T.R. Sartor said.

"We played well defensively. We made two errors, but they were on tough chances. We played Russell Backus at shortstop and he did a good defensive job," he continues.

"There's not too many easy teams to beat in this district. You have to fight it out against every one of them," Sartor adds.

After one inning of play, the score was tied 1-1. Borger's run was scored on a sacrifice fly.

Derrell Page singled in the second inning for the Herd, advanced to second on a wild pitch, and scored on Ross Torres' single to give Hereford a 2-1 lead.

Borger used three hits, including a double, and three walks, to score four runs in the fifth inning.

Brown, Collier, and Torres each had two hits in the game. The Whitefaces had seven stolen bases.

Jason Scott's seven strikeouts gave him 39 in 21 innings this season. He allowed no hits in his two and two thirds innings of work, and walked two batters.

James Hernandez was the Herd's starting pitcher. He had six strikeouts, walked two batters, and gave up seven hits and five earned runs.

The Bulldogs had six hits, and committed three errors.

Boston College, Colorado State lose in semifinals

Connecticut, Ohio State in NIT finals

By BILL BARNARD
AP Basketball Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Connecticut, last in the Big East, and Ohio State, sixth in the Big Ten, are taking a back seat to no one in the 51st National Invitation Tournament.

"There's nothing magic about the number 64," Connecticut Coach Jim Calhoun said Tuesday night, referring to the number of teams invited to the NCAA tournament. "Why does parity stop at 64 and not 96? We can play with a lot of teams in the NCAA."

The Huskies, 19-14, rallied in the second half to beat Big East rival Boston College 73-67 and advance to tonight's final against Ohio State, 20-12, which defeated Colorado State 64-62 in the other semifinal.

Connecticut trailed 41-33 at halftime as Dana Barros scored 22 points on five 3-point goals in the first 20 minutes. The Huskies then started the second half with a 33-12 spurt for a 66-53 lead.

Boston College, 18-14, scored 10 consecutive points to get back into the game, but the Eagles couldn't recover from having Barros held to two shots and two points after halftime.

Lyman DePriest, a 6-foot-5 freshman, scored only four points in the game, but Calhoun gave him credit for stopping the 5-11 Barros, the Big East's leading scorer.

Cliff Robinson scored 29 points for Connecticut, six of them during the 33-12 spurt in the first 14 minutes of the second half, during which the Huskies were 14 for 19 from the field. After Boston College cut the 13-point deficit to three, Robinson scored the next six points for Connecticut as it rebuilt the advantage to 72-65 with 58 seconds left.

Tate George scored eight of his 12 points and Phil Gamble six of his 15, including a three-point play and a 3-point goal, during Connecticut's comeback.

Ohio State also trailed Colorado State at halftime, but only by 28-25 despite 15 points by the Rams' Pat Durham.

The Buckeyes used a pressure defense to hold Durham to five points in the second half, and they weathered a brilliant shooting exhibition by guard Trent Shippen.

Shippen scored 23 of his 28 points in the second half, when he was 9 for 12 from the field and 5 for 6 from 3-point range. He hit his first six 3-pointers, an NIT record, before missing in the final minute.

Jay Burson scored 16 of his 18 points in the second half for Ohio State after taking only two shots in the first 20 minutes and 12 in the game.

Burson, a 6-foot guard, got inside help from 6-7 junior Tony White, who scored 17 points for the Buckeyes. Colorado State, 21-13, had only one player taller than 6-6 for much of the second half as 6-8 center Eric Frieauf sat on the bench with foul trouble.

Rams Coach Boyd Grant said a 33-20 rebounding deficit cost Colorado State the game.

Colorado State hit its first three shots of the second half, including a jumper and a 3-pointer by Shippen, and grabbed its largest lead, 35-27, with 18:33 left.

Another 3-pointer by Shippen put the Rams in front 40-33 two minutes later before Ohio State scored eight straight for a one-point edge. Burson completed the run with a steal and layup.

Shippen gave the Rams 50-46 and 53-48 leads with 3-pointers and a 55-52 edge with an outside jumper. But Ohio State responded with a 7-1 spurt, including Burson's 3-pointer with 4:07 left that put Ohio State ahead to stay, 59-56.

Trailing 62-60, Colorado State had a chance to tie the score, but Durham was called for charging with 57 seconds left. Burson followed with two free throws with 19 seconds left.

Shippen then missed his only 3-pointer of the game, then made a jumper at the buzzer for the final margin.

Wilkins leads Atlanta with 40 points

'Spirited' Hawks beat Mavericks, 120-106

By BILL SCHULZ
Associated Press Writer
Coach Mike Fratello saw it in practice.

"Our spirit came back today at the shootaround," Fratello said after his Atlanta Hawks beat the Dallas Mavericks 120-106 Tuesday night. "It was good to get that spark back."

The team had struggled in a 109-102 NBA victory over Cleveland Saturday night.

"The mistakes we made tonight, for the most part, we made because we were playing too hard. I don't mind making those," Fratello said. "The second team came in and didn't miss a beat and that's what has to happen for us to win."

Dominique Wilkins, who scored 40 points for the 14th time this season, said Randy Wittman's shooting let him get open. Wittman made nine of 11 shots, most from outside, for 18 points.

Wilkins scored six points and Antoine Carr added six as Atlanta went on a 20-7 run, breaking away from a 31-28 lead at the 10:36 mark of the second quarter to 51-35 just 3:44 before the half.

The Mavericks never got closer than seven.

"When I get the outside shot, it loosens the whole thing up," said Wittman, who is fighting out of a slump and nearly doubled his season average of 9.8 points. "It's been my toughest season," he admitted.

He called the game "a good start that gets us on a roll. Now if I can continue to get offensively." The Hawks play three games in the next six days.

"It really opens up my game when Randy's hitting. When he's hitting, they have to give up something. They can't double-team me as much," said Wilkins.

Wilkins' 40-point scoring broke a 131-game streak in which the Mavericks had not allowed an opponent to score 40 points.

"I think he's a tremendous athlete, a tremendous player, that's Dominique Wilkins," Mavericks Coach John MacLeod said. "His spread is 20 to 40, he'll go for 60 someday."

"We had a lot of problems defensively," added MacLeod, who kept the locker room closed for more than 15 minutes after the game.

MacLeod was ejected in the second period after catching his second technical foul of the game, this one for protesting too vigorously on what he thought should have been a goading call. He hadn't been ejected from a game since 1979, when he coached at Phoenix, and had only two technicals this season.

"I didn't use any profanity. I was just standing there (10 feet out onto the court at the 10-second line) and he threw me out."

"Dominique gets going and that seems to give the rest of them a spark," said Derek Harper who led Dallas with 25 points. "They got running for some easy baskets. They blew it open with their speed and athletic ability."

Rolando Blackman added 22 for Dallas. Mark Aguirre and Roy Tarpley had 14.

In other NBA games, it was Portland 136, San Antonio 113; Los Angeles Lakers 122, Utah 111; Cleveland 108, New York 103; Denver 107, Sacramento 103, and Seattle 106, Chicago 103.

Trail Blazers 136, Spurs 113

Clyde Drexler says the Portland Trail Blazers got just what they needed when they played the San Antonio Spurs.

The Trail Blazers needed a victory to end a three-game losing streak and they got it Tuesday night with a 136-113 victory over the Spurs.

Drexler scored 29 points and Richard Anderson connected on five 3-point field goals to lead the Trail Blazers.

Drexler said the victory was needed for Portland to mount an April drive into the playoffs.

"We really needed to get this game tonight," Drexler said.

"After three losses in a row, you have to break out of it. We played very hard because the Spurs do present problems to us," Drexler said. "We went all out to get this one because you can't afford to go into April in a slump."

Spurs coach Bob Weiss complained about the San Antonio defensive showing which allowed the Blazers to shoot 63.6 percent from the field.

"Our effort was flat," he said. "I thought it was one of our worst defensive games of the year. I can't take anything away from Portland. They played a good game."

Kevin Duckworth scored 24 points for the Blazers and Jerome Kersey added 22. Anderson came off the bench to score 21 points, connecting on five of his seven 3-throw attempts.

All of San Antonio's starters finished in double figures. Alvin Robertson scored 25; and Walter Berry chipped in 21 to lead the Spurs. Frank Brickovski and Johnny Dawkins added 17 points each, and Greg Anderson accounted for 15.

The Blazers held a 35-28 lead at the end of the first quarter, and they opened the second quarter by outscoring San Antonio 6-0 giving Portland a 41-28 lead 3:35 into the quarter.

The Blazers extended their lead to 58-43 with 5:21 remaining in the second period after Anderson's third 3-point field goal in as many attempts.

Led by Duckworth's perfect 5-5 effort from the field in the quarter, Portland took a 69-59 lead at the half.

San Antonio failed to cut into the Portland lead after the half, and the Blazers led 103-92 after three periods.

They widened the margin to 118-98 with 6:59 remaining to play when Anderson connected on his fifth consecutive 3-pointer and the Spurs never recovered.

"It was tough tonight," Spurs forward Berry said.

"I think we had it going in the first half, but we just broke down in the second. Portland definitely is one of the best teams in the league right now."

Lakers 122, Jazz 111

The Los Angeles Lakers are up to their old tricks even though their magic man is still sidelined.

Losers of six of their previous nine games and still without injured Magic Johnson and Michael Cooper, the Lakers got 31 points from James Worthy and 29 from Byron Scott and beat the Utah Jazz 122-111 Tuesday night.

The Lakers decided to take matters into their own hands and held a team meeting before practice on Monday without the coaches.

"It was a great motivating thing for everybody," said Wes Matthews, who dished out 13 assists. "Instead of sitting back on our heels waiting for the season to end, we have to close out the season strong."

Los Angeles also got 21 points from Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. Karl Malone led the Jazz with 25 points and Thurl Bailey added 21.

The only adjustment we made was that we stopped looking over our shoulders at Magic and Coop sitting on the bench and hoping they would come in and help us," Mychal Thompson said. "We have to stop feeling sorry for ourselves and just go out and play."

That they did. The Lakers used a 14-2 run in the first quarter and a 12-3 spurt in the second to build a 48-26 margin after only 15½ minutes.

Cavaliers 108, Knicks 103

Mark Price scored 24 points and reserve Dell Curry scored 13 of his 19 in the fourth quarter and made a key steal as Cleveland handed New York its 30th setback in 34 road games.

A 3-point shot by Trent Tucker brought New York within 106-103 with 19 seconds left and the Knicks regained possession on a Cleveland turnover. But Curry stole a pass by Gerald Wilkins, was fouled and made one of two free throws. Wilkins led the Knicks with 21 points.

Nuggets 107, Kings 103

Alex English scored 30 points and led Denver to its sixth consecutive victory. Sacramento trailed 104-101 with 20 seconds left but Denver's Michael Adams made one of two free throws and Danny Schayes hit a pair. NO PINK SLIPS
NEW YORK (AP) — The 1987 National Football League season was admittedly chaotic, what with the strike by players, the fumbling efforts of their replacements and a campaign shortened by one game.

It was so chaotic that not a single coach was fired in the course of the season. Two coaches did resign shortly after the season ended. Forrest Gregg quit at Green Bay to return as coach at Southern Methodist, his alma mater, and Tom Flores resigned as coach of the Los Angeles Raiders to devote all his time to his several business interests.
