

Reagan to give reasons for recent military acts

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — While a U.S.-dominated invasion force on Grenada quells remaining resistance by Cuban and Grenadian fighters, President Reagan is preparing to tell the American people "why we're doing what we are" in the Caribbean island nation and in Lebanon.

Scattered fighting continued on the island late Wednesday against what Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger called "diminishing Cuban resistance." Less than two days after the 2,800 U.S. Marines and Army paratroopers, assisted by small contingents from nearby Caribbean nations, landed on Grenada, Weinberger was able to declare that all American students at two medical school campuses on the island were safe. Assuring the safety of about 1,000 Americans on the island, many of them medical students, was cited by Reagan as a principal reason for sending troops into Grenada. The first contingent of evacuees from the island — 69 Americans and one British civilian — landed at Charleston, S.C., and individuals praised the action of U.S. troops. "I've been a dove all my life," said Jeff Geller of Woodbridge, N.Y., "and I just can't believe how well those Rangers came down and saved us." With journalists prevented by military commanders from going to Grenada, all information on the fighting came from government officials and radio contact with American residents.

Weinberger said six members of the invasion force were killed, eight were missing and 33 wounded. He said about 20 Cubans were wounded and that he had no figure on the number killed. Barbados radio reports said at least 30 Cubans were killed in fighting at one of Grenada's two airports. The president planned to discuss the situations in a speech at 8 p.m. EDT.

Attending Performance

Concert Teens welcomed members of the Hereford Community Concert Association to the first performance of the season last night at the Hereford High School auditorium. "Here's a How-De-Do!", The Story of Gilbert and Sullivan, was presented by a company of 14 including chamber orchestra. Set on a charming Victorian stage, excerpts from all 13 Gilbert and Sullivan operettas were performed in period costumes with dialogue and choreography.

Drive's deadline delayed

With less than half of the contact cards being turned in to United Way headquarters, directors voted Wednesday afternoon to extend the Deaf Smith County campaign drive to Nov. 12. At the report meeting Wednesday, a total of $72,368 has been contributed or pledged to the participating agencies in United Way. This represents 58 percent of the campaign goal of $125,000. Wayne Amstutz, executive director, said the campaign was scheduled to end Oct. 31. "Our volunteer workers have busy schedules so we still have half of the contribution cards which have not been reported." He asked for volunteers who cannot make their contacts to turn in their cards to their captain or the United Way office. "There are many positive factors in the campaign, and we feel the goal can still be reached by Nov. 12 if all cards are worked," added Amstutz. "We urgently need the support of every business and employee to make it work for all of us." Agencies funded by the United Way in Deaf Smith County include: Big Brothers-Big Sisters, Camp Fire Inc., Boy Scouts, Family Services Center, Red Cross, Salvation Army, Senior Citizens, YMCA, Childrens Rehabilitation Center, and High Plains Epilepsy Foundation.

Reporters questioning segregation from Grenada

By MIKE FEINSILBER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The battle of Grenada has put the American press at war with the Pentagon. Reporters fume that they are being denied access to the scene of action in a way that didn't happen in the Revolutionary War and hasn't happened since.

"Safety is the only reason you're not being allowed in there," Larry Speakes, deputy presidential press secretary, told newsmen during a stormy session in the White House press room Wednesday. But Jack Landau, director of the Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press, said, "That's a phony-baloney excuse to keep them out." He said reporters have always covered war with the understanding that it was risky, and if they got hurt they couldn't blame the government for giving them access to the battlefield. Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger said he hoped the restrictions can be lifted soon, perhaps today. He said the decision was made by the commanders at the scene. But some news executives doubted that the safety of journalists was the reason none were allowed to accompany invading American troops.

and evacuated for their own safety," Army Lt. Col. Lee DeLorne said. Cody's boss, Howard Simons, managing editor of the Washington Post, said, "The best information we have — and I have no firsthand knowledge — is that he was pushed off the island. I'm sure he was screaming and kicking the whole way." Four others — identified as Claude Urraca, a Time photographer based in El Salvador; Morris Thompson of Newsday; Greg Chamberlain of the Financial Times of London; and Hugh O'Shaughnessy of the Guardian of Manchester, England — reached the island in the same group, but their whereabouts were unknown. The Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press said its research shows such total restrictions on press access to the scene of battle is unprecedented in the history of American warfare, starting with the Revolutionary War. Landau said that the Pentagon at least should have taken along a pool of reporters, selected by lot to represent all the press. Richard S. Salant, president of the National News Council, sent a telegram to President Reagan saying it was "unconscionable that American troops should be involved in a shooting war while the press is totally barred from direct coverage of the combat zone." "We find ourselves in the same position we were in when the British government wouldn't allow us to go to the Falklands, and when the Soviets wouldn't allow any reporters in the area (near the Soviet island of Sakhalin) where the Korean Air Lines plane went down," said Wick Temple, managing editor of The Associated Press.

The island of Barbados, 150 miles from the scene of action, was swarming with reporters and television camera crews awaiting clearance to fly to the besieged island.

Work completed at Red Cross building

By KIM THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer
Volunteer workers for the Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross have completed the first phase of improvements to the new facility at 224 South Main. An open house is set for Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. Director Betty Hensen said more than 20 workers, under the supervision of Fred Ruland, have finished remodeling the building to include office space, a classroom, two restrooms and a kitchen area. She said the Red Cross has a long range plan which includes landscaping and paving as well as more additions inside the building. The entire project may take five years to complete. Construction began shortly after the Red Cross moved from its former location on Avenue E on Sept. 1. The building was purchased with trust fund monies that accumulated for several years as the organization searched for a suitable structure within its budget. A flag-raising ceremony at 2 p.m., conducted by American Legion Commander Lloyd Crume, will get the open house underway. A ribbon-cutting ceremony by the Hereford Hustlers is slated to follow.

Local rapes may occur, but aren't often reported

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor
There may be some rapes being committed in Hereford, Police Chief Caydon Brush said, but none have been reported for about two years. Tuesday evening at a rape seminar, JoAnn Dwyer proclaimed, "A lot of rapes occur in Hereford." Dwyer, manager of the Amarillo Rape Crisis and Domestic Violence Center, is a former local resident. Appearing with Dwyer was

Helen Ward, who six years ago was raped here by Jack Hawkins. The seminar was sponsored by Hereford Young Homemakers. "I'm sure there are various crimes that happen in Hereford that are not reported," Brush said this morning. "I do not know how many and what types, but according to statistics from the FBI, only about 50 percent of all crimes are reported to law enforcement agencies." "There's not a lot we can do," Brush continued, "unless we see it take place or have knowledge of a crime. Unless people report it, there's not a whole lot of investigation we can do because we need to have a starting place. "Probably, there are some rapes occurring here which aren't ever reported to the law enforcement agencies." There was a report of attempted rape about a month ago." (See RAPE, Page 2)

Spook house, carnival set

A Halloween spook house and carnival are scheduled this weekend at the Easter Community Building, located approximately 11 miles south of Hereford on Texas Farm Road 1055. The spook house is supposed to open at 8 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday. Monday, the spook house and carnival are slated to get underway at 7 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend the events, which are being sponsored by the Easter Lions Club.

Appraisal board to meet

Deaf Smith County's appraisal district is supposed to have a regular meeting tonight at 7:30 in the board room at 402 W. Fourth St. Fred Fox, chief appraiser for the district, said he expects the gathering to be "routine."

Another 'month' proclaimed

November has been proclaimed "Chemical People Month" by Hereford Mayor Wes Fisher, whose action was taken at the request of Texas Governor Mark White. On Nov. 2 and 9, the Public Broadcast System will air programs titled "Chemical People," which are hosted by Nancy Reagan and deal with drug- and alcohol-related problems among youths in the United States. The shows will be rebroadcast over KVII-Channel 7 of Amarillo on Nov. 3 and 10. "Drug abuse in Texas is at alarming levels," Gov. White wrote Fisher. "Mounting evidence indicates drug and alcohol experimentation is becoming a way of life for many of our young people. Kids and drugs - it's shocking!"

Bentson makes announcement

U.S. Senator Lloyd Bentson announced earlier this week that Farmers Electric Cooperative of Clovis, N.M., has been awarded a $1.7 million loan by the Rural Electrification Administration. The cooperative serves Deaf Smith, Oldham and Farmer Counties in Texas. The federal funds will be used to finance system improvements designed to allow better service for around 545 customers.

4-H Council to gather

The Deaf Smith County 4-H Council will hold its first meeting at 7 p.m. today in the Community Center Lounge. All 4-H clubs are asked to send the club president and a council delegate or representative to take their place.

Hereford's Jerry Taylor vs. Amarillo's Larry Dippel

Former teammates to meet as opposing coaches

by SPEEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

They played side by side and helped the Stamford Bulldogs win the state championship in 1959...they faced each other as opposing players in college football games, and this Friday night they will meet for the first time as coaches of opposing teams.

Jerry Taylor and Larry Dippel meet again Friday night when the Hereford Whitefaces and the Amarillo Sandies clash in an important District 3-5A contest in Amarillo. To add more spice to the matchup, as most local fans know, Dippel coached the Herd in 1971-74 before moving on to Amarillo. After guiding the Whitefaces to 3 wins in 4 tries against the Sandies, Dippel promptly turned the tables and tutored Amarillo to five consecutive victories over Hereford teams. The Herd has won the last three encounters, however.

JERRY TAYLOR

Among the interested fans on the Hereford side of the field will also be Larry Wartes - the beginning of the

"Stamford connection" at Hereford High School. Wartes, former Whiteface coach and now an assistant superintendent, was the coach at Stamford when Taylor was at tackle and Dippel lined up beside him at guard on the Bulldog state championship team.

Friday night's opposing coaches started learning their winning ways at Stamford, where their teams lost only three games in four years. Gordon Wood was the mentor for three of those years, then assistant Wartes took over the head position when Wood left to go to Victoria.

Wartes knows the men well, so he was asked what kind of players they were in high school.

"They were average football players, as far as talent goes," reports Wartes, "but they worked harder than most players to achieve their goals. They were good, West Texas, country boys from good families who taught them that nothing is free."

They grew up in athletics learning the way to win, adds Wartes. "In their four years at Stamford, their team lost only three games."

Dippel went to Hardin Simmons University on a football scholarship. Taylor worked his way to a scholarship at San Angelo Junior College for two years, then went to Texas Western at El Paso his junior and senior years. The pair crossed paths again, this time as opposing players when HSU and Texas Western were playing in the old Border Conference. Dippel gained experience under coach Sammy Baugh at Abilene; Taylor learned more football from Bum Phillips at El Paso.

Dippel went into coaching as an assistant at Corpus Christi Carroll and Victoria, then Wartes hired him as an assistant at Stamford. When Wartes took the Hereford job, he brought Dippel with him. Wartes went into administration in 1971 and Dippel took over the post as athletic director and head football coach.

Taylor was an assistant at Spearman and Amarillo Caprock, then was head coach at Tahoka for two years. He was an assistant at Abilene High before going back to Stamford as an aide to Bill Anderson, a former assistant to Wartes.

Since Wartes has such a strong interest in both men, coaching them both in high school and having Dippel as an assistant, who will he be pulling for on Friday night?

"If anyone has the slightest doubt about that, they can call me and I'll straighten them out," responded Wartes.

Man arrested for bombing threats

DALLAS (AP) — A 48-year-old Garland man has been arrested in connection with three threatened bombings of Northeast Dallas savings and loan companies, police said. In the three robberies, a man wearing a suit and cowboy hat approached tellers and threatened to detonate a bomb hidden in his briefcase if he was not given money. The man escaped with an unspecified amount of cash in two of the robberies. In each case, the man left behind a live bomb that was safely detonated later by explosives experts. Police said the man was arrested Wednesday as he left a nightclub after police received a tip from some people who saw videotapes of the holdups on television. He was being held today on investigation of three charges of aggravated robbery, authorities said.

Killer wishes he'd plea bargained

HOUSTON (AP) — Convicted killer James David Autry told a network morning news show today that because he came within 24 minutes of being executed, he wishes he'd accepted a plea bargain which would have sent him to prison for 35 years. But Autry, interviewed on ABC's "Good Morning America," maintained he was innocent of the April 20, 1980, shooting death of which he was convicted. "Well, since they put me on that table, I would have took it," Autry told interviewer Steve Fox. "I'd take it now, you know, but I still look at it the way I did when I turned it down: that I didn't do it so I wasn't going to plead guilty to it." Supreme Court Justice Byron White ordered a stay less than half an hour before 12:01 a.m. Oct. 5, when Autry was scheduled to be executed. Prison guards had taken Autry to the death chamber at the Walls Unit of the Texas Department of Corrections and intravenous needles which were to carry poison through his system had already been inserted in his arms.

Ford superiority claims disputed

DETROIT (AP) — The U.S. Federal Trade Commission has asked Ford Motor Co. to document advertising claims that its cars are built better than those of Chrysler Corp. or General Motors Corp., a Ford spokesman says. The inquiry began after Chrysler complained to the FTC and the major television networks about the Ford claims, according to a spokesman for Chrysler's legal department who also was quoted in the Detroit Free Press. Ford will comply fully with an FTC request that it provide consumer surveys, in-plant quality audits and confidential information about warranty costs, which the spokesman said would back Ford's advertising claims. The Ford Division has made the claims on national television and in some print advertising since the 1984 model year began last month. In the advertising, Ford claims new car owners say the quality of its cars is 36 percent better than that of Chrysler cars and 10 percent better than that of GM's, citing its own survey of 14,000 owners of Ford cars and competing models three months after they bought their cars.

International

Writers in Americas restricted

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Journalists from the Americas say Nicaragua, Cuba and South America's military dictatorships are the hemisphere's worst offenders in restricting press freedoms. Speakers at the 39th General Assembly of the Inter-American Press Association recounted stories Wednesday ranging from government harassment of reporters to mysterious disappearance of reporters. The assembly is to issue a report on the status of press freedom in the Americas at its close on Saturday. It began Monday. IAPA President Andres Garcia Lavin, a Mexican newspaper publisher, called press freedom "the foundation of all the other democratic liberties." Garcia Lavin said "aggressions by the Sandinista regime" in Nicaragua threatened the survival of the independent Managua newspaper La Prensa. The Sandinista government subjects the newspaper to prior review of its prepared pages.

Marine 'Live List' completed

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — U.S. Marines today completed a "live list" of survivors from the terrorist bombing of their Beirut base and searched the wreckage for more victims as the confirmed death toll rose to 221. Capt. Wayne Jones, a Marine spokesman, said bodies of those killed in the suicide truck-bomb attack on the Marine command post were being flown to the American Rhine-Main Air Base in West Germany. He provided no specific figures on the "live list," but the Pentagon said there were 1,700 survivors. The command center at Beirut's international airport was flattened by a truck bomb driven into the building's lobby by a suicide terrorist at daybreak Sunday. Search efforts continued today both at the Marine post and at the wreckage of a nine-story headquarters of a French paratroop company about a mile away. The French Defense Ministry put its casualty toll from the almost simultaneous truck-bombing at 54 killed, 15 wounded and four missing and presumed dead. Cpl. Randy Barefoot, 21, of Kenly, N.C., who was helping to dig through the wreckage at the Marine camp Wednesday, said: "We've given up hope anybody is alive. All the floors are pressed down and everything is squashed."

Vice President George Bush inspected the disaster site Wednesday and also met with President Amin Gemayel and the commanders of the French and Italian peacekeeping forces in Lebanon.

Old-timers are inclined to remember early automobiles as they never really were, to endow them with a reliability and durability they never really had.

Some of today's American-made automobiles are the finest such machines ever built, in all ways improved over any heretofore. Might you drive your next car a million miles? you might.

MACHINE DESIGN tells us something about trucks which can tell us something about trucks which can tell us something about our cars. With soaring costs, American fleet operators need to keep their expensive trucks rolling longer. A big-rig (tractor-trailer) regularly travels 800 miles a day. Driven in two eight-hour shifts, it can easily cover 200,000 miles a year. Prudent fleet operators want trucks that are rugged, durable and reliable — and they provide preventive maintenance to keep cargos moving.

A truck is never retired until those maintenance costs exceed the rate of return on investment.

They used to trade-in a big rig after three to four years, after 500,000 miles or so, primarily because by then the power-train required rebuilding.

Not any more. Today's gears and bearings are so much improved, transmissions are so beefed-up, lubrication is so much improved, that more and more fleet operators are keeping their trucks rolling for a million miles.

Further, they are now getting as much work out of a 611 cubic inch diesel engine as they used to get out of an 855 and at great saving in fuel cost.

With careful maintenance, the engine that used to require replacement of worn parts after a quarter-million miles — can now go half a million miles without a major overhaul.

Most heavy-duty trucks have manual transmissions which are now so rugged that, unless abused, they never wear out!

With care, a heavy-duty clutch is good for 150,000 miles.

Most of the big rigs are now equipped for on-board greasing which lubricates the chassis without stopping.

You in your car would have to tend to lubrication as personally as religiously as theirs do automatically.

There is nothing mysterious about million-mile maintenance. It is all spelled out in the owner's manual which comes with each new car.

But most of us — face it — never read it — or never heed it.

We'd rather complain that Detroit "builds them to fall apart." Truckers have proved otherwise.

Bush takes Reagan's place

DALLAS (AP) — The day after inspecting the bomb-devastated Marine camp in Beirut, Vice President George Bush was due in Dallas today to substitute for President Reagan at a $1,000-a-plate Republican fundraiser. The dinner was billed as a "Salute to President Reagan." Former Republican Gov. Bill Clements, the chairman of tonight's dinner, said $1.4 million in tickets had been sold before administration officials announced Tuesday that the president would be unable to attend "because of the press of recent events." Texas GOP chairman George Strake said, "Texas Republicans are greatly honored that the vice president and our fellow Texan has been able to adjust his schedule and be with us." Clements said about 10 percent of the proceeds will go to the state party and the remainder will be put into the 1984 Reagan campaign in Texas.

First on Bush's Texas itinerary today was a morning address at Texas Christian University. Strake said there would be a reception followed by the dinner at Dallas' Registry Hotel. More than 1,200 are expected to attend. After the GOP dinner, Bush is scheduled to fly to Houston, where he will speak Friday morning at a Forum breakfast. He will then dedicate a school and speak to the international law section of the State Bar of Texas Friday afternoon.

Bush will conclude his Texas visit with a GOP barbecue fundraiser in Corpus Christi late Friday.

Legislators reacting to U.S. war involvement

By MIKE SHANAHAN Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — "It's surrealistic," said Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., of the three days that saw the death of more than 200 Marines in Lebanon and a U.S. invasion of Grenada. Since last weekend, there has been an atmosphere of stunned surprise and incredulity on Capitol Hill over events in the Middle East and the Caribbean.

"Where is the next war?" was a common wisecrack heard in the halls of the House and Senate.

"This is Wednesday and we must be in Grenada, or Nicaragua or Lebanon or God knows where tomorrow," said Rep. Barbara Boxer, D-Calif. "If we follow the reasoning of some of my colleagues, we may well be cheering on American forces in dozens of countries all over the world."

Similarly, Rep. William R. Hatchford, D-Conn., said, "Every time we wake up, we are committing ourselves somewhere else in the world."

Even as House members and senators sought information about progress of the fighting in Grenada, there was business as usual on the floor of both houses of Congress.

In the Senate, the issue was the Clinch River Breeder Reactor. In the House, the nuts and bolts of how much the Pentagon should spend for Air Force planes and Army tanks.

But off the floor, senators and House members struggled on how to react publicly to the involvement of the United States in two foreign wars.

Support or criticism of President Reagan's policies in Lebanon and the Caribbean generally fell along party lines, but not always.

In an unusual alignment, House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., a liberal Democrat from Massachusetts, agreed with conservative Sen. Gordon Humphrey, R-N.H., that the Marine command failed to adequately prepare for possible terrorist attacks against the military headquarters in Beirut.

"It was a military blunder of a tragic nature," said O'Neill.

"What we need are physical barriers to vehicles so this kind of attack won't be repeated," said Humphrey, almost in echo.

A few, like Rep. Buddy Roemer, D-La., said they support the Grenada invasion, but want the United States out of Lebanon.

Roemer said while the Reagan administration failed to adequately explain what the Marines are doing in Lebanon, "The mission of the Marines and rangers (in Grenada) was clearly enunciated by the secretary of state."

O'Neill made an emotional patriotic appeal for the need to back the American forces during a closed meeting of House Democrats Wednesday. "I think the speaker made the most passionate speech I've heard in seven years in Congress," said Rep. Edward J. Markey, D-Mass.

In reply, Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., O'Neill's principal opponent on Lebanon, said, "It was a great mistake to wrap the mantle of Americanism around himself. We're all Americans."

ago, Brush said. "And we've had one or two (reports of sexual abuse) that were questionable as to whether force was used," he added.

At Tuesday's seminar in La Plata Junior High School's cafeteria, Dwyer distributed a list of preventative measures women should take in order to help avoid being raped. It also gave some suggestions for what to do should an attack occur.

Following are quoted highlights of the list.

When at home: never let a stranger into your home. If the stranger is in uniform, ask for identification and call his office to verify his identity. If a stranger wants to use the phone, you make the call for him.

never dress or undress in front of an open window. Keep your blinds and curtains drawn.

always keep your doors and windows locked.

replace all locks when moving to a new place, or if you lose your keys. Install bolt locks.

install door viewers, intercom or one-way mirrors in your door.

use only your initials on your mailbox and in the telephone directory. Add dummy names or initials to your mailbox to indicate you have roommates.

always leave outside lights on at night and keep lights on in more than one room in the house.

never admit that you or your neighbors are at home alone.

When in a vehicle: traveling, you should stay on major thoroughfares.

always be sure your car is in good mechanical condition.

drive with your windows rolled up and doors locked.

never travel alone, if possible. Get a friend to go with you or take a cab, especially at night.

and are being approached, drive off even if you are at a red light or stop sign.

always look around before getting out.

When walking: try never to do so alone at night. Carry a flashlight, stay away from shrubs and avoid vacant lots.

plan your route in advance. Never take shortcuts through parks or unlighted areas.

and are being followed, go to a public place instead of your house.

be alert and aware of your surroundings.

walk with confidence and a determined attitude.

and you feel danger from being followed by a stranger, throw a rock through a window of someone's home. Make sure the house is occupied.

When you receive crank or obscene telephone calls:

do not talk to the caller. Hang up immediately or blow a whistle in the phone and hang up.

report all calls to the police and your phone company.

always try to remember the accent or anything unusual about the caller's voice or language.

and the calls persist, change your telephone number or get an unlisted number.

If babysitting: have available the telephone numbers of where the parents are, the child's doctor and a neighbor.

tell your parents who you are sitting for, the address and phone number and when you expect to return home.

never let a caller or someone at the door know that you are babysitting.

If "attacked," Dwyer's list advised you:

understand that weapons you have may be taken away and used against you.

may be able to talk your way out. Cooperation in a rape situation does not mean you gave your consent.

realize your attacker probably expects you to act in a certain way. If you deviate from that, it could confuse him or shake him enough to make him leave.

above all, try to remain calm. You cannot think effectively if you are hysterical.

Hensen said that although the Red Cross, as a non-profit organization, does not belong to the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce, Executive Director Mike Carr wants to honor the volunteer organization with such a ceremony because of the contribution it makes to the county.

The emergency services division of the Hereford Amateur Radio Club, headed by Wayne White, plans to be there to demonstrate how the club's emergency system operates.

Refreshments will be served by the Uniformed Volunteers. The Red Cross will present certificates to those who devoted their time and efforts to opening the expanded facility.

Now You're Cooking

A recent announcement about the opening of a hospice facility connected with St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo sparked the interest of local resident Edna Marnell, a registered nurse and former employee of Deaf Smith General Hospital.

"I think the hospice program is really needed," stated Edna. "The key to the program is quality of life, for both the patient with a terminal illness and the family."

"The idea behind the facility is for terminal patients to spend the last days of their lives in a home-like environment if they cannot be at home."

St. Anthony's Hospital is currently in the process of constructing the hospice facility in Amarillo and a core group of volunteers is needed in Hereford and other surrounding towns, according to Edna.

"With my background as a nurse, I would really like to become involved with the program," she said. "As I understand it, the volunteers would call on people with terminal illnesses and visit them regularly, allowing them to discuss their fears and problems and just giving support to the individual and his or her family."

"I have a personal interest in this type of program because my great-nephew, who just turned 7, has been diagnosed with cancer. The program in Albuquerque (where he lives) is so good, but it's still very difficult, especially when he has to have chemotherapy treatments one week a month."

"There are many cancer victims right here in Hereford. Chemotherapy is so traumatic, both for the patient and the family, and often they just need to feel that someone else cares and is nearby to give encouragement and also spiritual help."

Edna went to nursing school at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo before returning to Hereford where she worked at the local hospital. Her husband, Speck, who is engaged in farming and ranching west of town, also came back to Hereford after serving in the U.S. Army, and he and Edna were married here.

She is a native of Waterflow, N.M., moving to Nazareth and then Hereford with her family while she was growing up. Speck was born in Clovis, N.M., and has lived in Hereford since he was 4 years old.

They have five children and seven grandchildren. Three of their children live in Hereford: David, who farms west of town; Chris Hartley, an L.V.N. who works for a local physician; and Tom, who is employed at Harold's Body Shop. Joan Minks resides with her family in Durant, Okla., and Dorothy works with a wholesale jewelry business in Dallas.

Edna and her husband are members of St. Anthony's Catholic Church. They attend prayer meetings on Sunday nights and Edna plays the organ for Saturday evening Folk Mass.

"I really look forward to that and enjoy the challenge of playing each week," noted Edna. She said that she has had no formal musical training, but through her mother's encouragement and aid while she was growing up, she learned to play on her own.

Edna enjoys needlework, sewing and various crafts. She also likes to grow African violets and other plants.

She enjoys baking and said that when her prayer group holds covered dish suppers once a month, she likes to take new dishes for variety. She contributed several recipes to the cookbook compiled by the St. Anthony's Women's Organization.

Below are Edna's recipes for a simple casserole and two of her favorite baked items.

HAM AND NOODLE CASSEROLE
1 c. diced ham (1-inch pieces)
¼ lb. Velveeta cheese, diced
½ green pepper, chopped
½ pkg. noodles, cooked
¼ c. mushrooms (optional)
1 c. tomato puree and ½ c. water, or 1½ c. tomato sauce
Mix together all ingredients. Put in greased casserole and bake one hour at 350 degrees. This is an excellent way to use leftover ham.

APRICOT BREAD
2 c. sifted all-purpose flour
¼ c. plus 2 Tbsp. lard or shortening
1 tsp. soda
½ lb. dried apricots (2 c. chopped)
2 c. water
2 c. sugar
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. cloves
¼ tsp. nutmeg
½ tsp. salt

1 egg, beaten
Sift flour, soda, spices and salt. Cut apricots in small pieces and cook with shortening (lard makes a better product), water, and sugar for five minutes. Cool. Add egg and dry ingredients. Pour into greased 5 x 9 inch loaf pan and bake one hour at 350 degrees, or 325 degrees for glass pan.

CARMELLY CINNAMON ROLLS

2 loaves frozen white bread dough, thawed
3 Tbsp. butter or margarine, melted
3 Tbsp. granulated sugar
3 Tbsp. brown sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ c. chopped nuts, if desired
Let dough rise until double. Sprinkle nuts into buttered 9x9 or 10x8 inch pan. Pour in honey topping (see below).

Roll dough on floured surface to a 15x10 inch rectangle. Brush with butter. Sprinkle with remaining ingredients. Roll up, starting with 15-inch side. Cut into 12 to 16 rolls. Place, cut side down, in pan. Cover and let rise in warm place until double.

Bake at 375 degrees for 20-25 minutes. Turn out immediately onto rack.

Two tablespoons grated orange peel may be substituted for the cinnamon. Frost with a simple frosting.

TOPPING

½ c. honey
½ c. brown sugar
¼ c. butter or margarine
¼ tsp. salt

Combine ingredients in a small saucepan. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Simmer 1 to 2 minutes.

The Newspaper BIBLE

GOD HAS A PLAN FOR YOUR LIFE TOO!

"As I was on the road, nearing Damascus" (Paul continued), "suddenly about noon a very bright light from heaven shone around me. And I fell to the ground and heard a voice saying to me, 'Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting Me?'"

"Who is it speaking to me, sir?" I asked. And He replied, "I am Jesus of Nazareth, the one you are persecuting." The men with me saw the light but didn't understand what was said.

"And I said, 'What shall I do, Lord?' and the Lord told me, 'Get up and go into Damascus, and there you will be told what awaits you in the years ahead.'"

"I was blinded by the intense light, and had to be led into Damascus by my companions. There a man named Ananias, as godly a man as you could find for obeying the law, and well thought of by all the Jews of Damascus, came to me, and standing beside me said, 'Brother Saul, receive your sight!' And that very hour I could see him!"

"Then he told me, 'The God of our fathers has chosen you to know His will and to see the Messiah and hear Him speak! You are to take His message everywhere, telling what you have seen and heard. And now, why delay? Go and be baptized, and be cleansed from your sins, calling on the name of the Lord.'"

Mothers of Twins to meet Saturday

The Tristate Twosomes, Mothers of Twins Club is sponsoring a luncheon for mothers of twins in Borger on Saturday. The meeting is scheduled at 11:30 a.m. in the party room at K-Bob's.

There will be a door prize given at the beginning of the luncheon, a drawing for gift certificates from a Borger children's clothing store, and a few other small prizes.

Each person attending will order and pay for her own meal. All interested persons are welcome. For further information, contact Melyn Johnson at 339-7109.

The hummingbird is the only bird that can hover in one spot like a helicopter.

Upcoming flower show discussed at meeting

Members of Bud to Blossom Garden Club discussed their upcoming flower show, "This the Season," when they met recently in the home of Mrs. Joe Spann.

The annual show is scheduled Sunday, Nov. 20—the same day that local floral shops will be holding Christmas open houses. The flower show will be held from 1 to 4:30 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center and will be free to the public.

Mrs. Jess Robinson, club president, welcomed a new member, Mrs. Nadir Khuri.

A slide presentation entitled "The Mum Takes a Bow" was enjoyed by the members.

Mrs. Spann was hostess to Mmes. Khuri, David Duncan, John Seth, Jack Hughes, Robinson, and G.L. White. Two other club members, Mrs. James Hamby and Mrs. Gaylon Bryan, were attending a Course IV Flower Show School in Odessa.

Playoff hopes on the line

Herd to tackle Sandies in Amarillo Friday night

By SPEEDY NIEMAN

The road to the District 3-5A throne room doesn't get any easier for the Hereford Whitefaces, for this week it leads to Amarillo where the defense-oriented Sandies will try to derail the thundering Herd.

Kickoff time is 7:30 p.m. in Dick Bivins Stadium Friday night at Amarillo. Hereford sports a 7-1 record on the season and is tied with Plainview at the top of the district race with a 5-1 mark.

Amarillo was knocked out of a share of the lead last week by Coronado, and the Sandies are 4-3 on the year and 4-2 in the league. The Sandies lost to Odessa, 14-7, in the season opener, then reeled off four straight triumphs before losing to Palo Duro, 27-0, and Coronado, 13-12.

Herd coach Jerry Taylor pronounced his team in good physical condition Wednesday. "We'd better be ready. I know Coach Dippel well and I know we've got a tough task in playing the Sandies," said Taylor.

The Harris Rating System for schoolboy teams picks Hereford by 1 point. In other league action, Plainview is favored by 6 over Monterey; Tascosa is a 6-point choice over Caprock, and Palo Duro is rated by 29 over Lubbock High.

The Sandies own victories over Monterey (7-3), Caprock (27-0), Tascosa (23-0) and Plainview (3-0). The Sandies have not been a high-scoring team, but they have yielded just 70 points this season.

Taylor said scouting reports indicate that defense is the strongest point of the Amarillo squad. "I know Coach Dippel well and I know Amarillo has a fine football team...we had better be ready to play."

Amarillo's rushing attack is led by Scotty Reasonover, one of the district's top runners and scorers. He has rushed for 600 yards in 7 games and has scored nine touchdowns. Taylor said the Sandie quarterback, Russel Ringo, "is a good operator and can throw the ball."

Hereford ranks third in the district in team offense, averaging 275 yards a game. Amarillo is only seventh in offense, but the Sandies are right behind Hereford on defense. The Herd has yielded an average of 213 yards a game, compared to 214 for Amarillo.

While Amarillo is not an explosive team like Plainview or Palo Duro, Taylor figures the Sandies will try a ball-control offense and count on their defense to stop the Herd. "They have some fine defensive players," said Taylor, "and it will be tough to move the ball on them."

Hereford's Ronnie Terry boasts the top yards-per-carry average in the district at 7.1. Based on the seven games in which he's played, he also leads in yards-per-game with a 97.4 average. He has 682 yards on 96 rushing attempts.

The Herd's Mike Scott is the top passer with 854 yards and a 54 percent completion mark on 53 of 98. He also leads in touchdown passes with eight and is the total offense leader.

Mickey Stengel moved back on top in scoring last week with 58 points, two ahead of Gerry Smith of Palo Duro. He also has the most yards in pass receptions with 371 on 19 catches.

Hereford can assure itself of one of the playoff berths with two more victories, but one loss could lead to a possible coin flip. Amarillo is one of three teams with a 4-2 mark in district play and still a chance on gaining the playoffs. Monterey and Palo Duro are the other two teams.

Zoeller seeking golf's money title; for others, it's matter of survival

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — While the attention may be centered on Fuzzy Zoeller's attempt to gain golf's No. 1 money-winning spot in the Pensacola Open this week, a much more intense struggle will be taking place in the lower ranks.

"You're playing for your golfing life," said Terry

Diehl, one of about a dozen players in the scramble for the last three or four spots in the top 125 money-winners, a position that will provide them with an exemption into the regular PGA Tour events next year.

If they are 125 or higher, they're in. If they finish the season — and this is the final individual event on the 10-month Tour — at No. 126 or lower, they must return to the Tour's Qualifying School or, in effect, drop off the Tour.

"It's survival," Diehl said before the first round today in the chase for $250,000 in total prizes.

Diehl, 33, winner of one title in 10 years on the Tour, comes into the season-ending tournament in the 126th position, with $33,914. Jim Booros is No. 125 at $34,420.

The others in the scramble, all within $5,000 of each other, include Bob Boyd, Dave Ogryn, Wally Armstrong, Curt Byrum, Joey Rasset, Mick Soli, Greg Powers, Larry Rinker and Steve Melnyk.

Some of the veterans — such as Melnyk and Armstrong — said they will become part-time performers if they don't make it. Some of the others already have filed entries for the Tour School.

Zoeller and defending champion Cal Peete are engaged in more attention-getting quests. Each is attempting to overtake an absent leader for two of the game's major seasonal honors, leading money-winner and Vardon Trophy. Both races close in this tournament.

Zoeller, with $415,689 in winnings, trails Hal Sutton by $10,979 in the race for leading money-winner. Sutton is not competing. To catch him, Zoeller must finish no worse than a two-way tie for fourth.

Peete also faces an uphill battle in an attempt to overtake Ray Floyd for the coveted Vardon Trophy, which goes to the man with the low-stroke average on the Tour. Floyd finished with a 70.61 average.

Peete opens defense of his Pensacola title with a 70.76 average. To beat Floyd, Peete must play the tournament in 289, 15-under-par on the Perdido Bay Country Club course and one shot higher than his winning total last year.

Among the other leading contenders are Jim Colbert, a two-time winner this year, host Jerry Pate, and 1983 title-winners Ronnie Black, John Cook, Rex Caldwell, Larry Mize, Gary Hallberg, Mark Lye, Gary Koch, Mike Nicolette, Morris Hatafsky and Payne Stewart.

Maverick coach won't hesitate to report players using drugs

DALLAS (AP) — Dick Motta, head coach of the Dallas Mavericks, says he won't hesitate to report any of his players using drugs, and would like other National Basketball Coaches to be equally aggressive about the league's new policy against drug use.

"I believe in education and reforming people, but I guarantee you, and I'll tell our team the same thing: if I catch one (player with drugs), I'm turning him in. And I challenge the league to do that if they're going to do that (enforce the policy) properly," Motta said Wednesday.

Motta made it clear at the team's fourth annual media luncheon here Wednesday that drugs will not be condoned on his club. Anyone caught using drugs will be dealt with severely, he said.

The NBA and the players association agreed last month on a policy that takes effect Dec. 31. Players can voluntarily ask for treatment twice before being suspended. However, any player caught with drugs or implicated in legal proceedings could be banned from playing again.

Motta said he's never been able to see the attraction of drugs.

"I told Rick (Sund, player personnel director) the other day that we should get some of the stuff, because it must be great for a young man to throw his career away," Motta said.

"As a coach, I'd like to have as much fun as the next guy. But I don't want some druggie representing me on the floor with my paycheck in his back pocket."

Motta challenged the league to enforce the policy.

"It's only a piece of paper until enforced properly," said Motta, who said he hopes the league won't try to make examples out of marginal players while being lenient with superstars.

"I'm still waiting to see if it will be some sacrificial lamb instead of a superstar," he said.

The first president's widow to serve the federal government in an executive capacity was Eleanor Roosevelt, who was appointed on Dec. 19, 1945, by President Truman to the U.S. delegation to the U.N. General Assembly.

YOU AUTO KNOW
 Don Henslie

Q: Other than causing a lot of smoke, does carburetor solvent really do any good?
 A: Yes it does. Spraying your carb with gum and varnish solvent should actually be the first step in a tune up. The solvent, when run through an engine while at a fast idle, does a good job of loosening carbon deposits in the cylinders. When this carbon is loosened and begins flying around, it lands on the spark plugs, sometimes fouling them so badly they cannot be cleaned and reused. That's why you should begin your tune-up with carburetor solvent when you know you're going to have to replace your sparkplugs. Solvent should be fed through the carburetor as fast as possible without killing the engine.

TV ratings drop on pro football games

By DAVE GOLDBERG AP Sports Writer

Something funny has been happening to the National Football League this fall. America's League — the league America loves to watch — isn't being watched

Honolulu

Honolulu, which means "sheltered bay" in Hawaiian, was a small village when it was visited by Westerners for the first time. They came in two British ships in 1789 — eight years after Capt. James Cook had discovered the islands.

as much as it used to be.

Question: What is happening to the greatest television spectacle ever devised by man?

Answer: Probably nothing that a few good games wouldn't cure.

With half the season gone, ratings are down for all three major networks' NFL coverage. The comparison is 1981 — the season before the strike and an all-time ratings record holder. Leaving room for adjustment, CBS is down about 5 percent, NBC about 9 percent and ABC about 15 percent.

Why? There are a lot of opinions, which means no one's really sure. Some samples:

— Parity, which also means that there are few can't miss attractions. Dallas, always; Washington, maybe; the Raiders, Miami. Who else?

— The strike.

— The weather. Too warm at the beginning of the season, which started earlier anyway. Meaning people went to the beach or to the golf course or just took a walk instead of watching football.

— The United States Football League. Fans used to go without football from January to August. This year, they went without football from July until August.

— Monday night counter-programming. CBS and NBC lined up specials and other attention-getters to draw viewers away from Howard and company on ABC. Meaning the folks that bring us the NFL on Sunday afternoons are doing their best to blow it out in prime time.

The best bet: Parity combined with just plain bad luck, particularly for the big loser, ABC.

Or, as Val Pinchbeck Jr., the NFL's television coordinator and schedule maker puts it:

"We had a whole series of games that looked good on paper that were one-sided and uninteresting."

Ah, yes. Scratch off the Washington-Green Bay 48-47 game, Dallas' opening Monday night 31-30 win over the Redskins and the Raiders' 40-38 win Sunday night over the Cowboys and what did ABC get. They got:

San Francisco 48, Minnesota 17; the Giants 27, Green Bay 3, the Raiders 27, Miami 14; the Jets 34, Buffalo 10. Plus offending snoozers like Pittsburgh 24, Cincinnati 14; San Diego 17, Kansas City 14, and this week's clunker — the Giants 20, St. Louis 20.

Which gets us to parity, which can make one season's contender the next year's dog. Tampa Bay, 0-8 at midseason will be on ABC Dec. 12. The Cardinals and Giants demonstrated their wares Monday night and Cincinnati is due for an encore.

On the other hand, San Francisco, one of the better attractions, won't be on until the last week of the season.

Things should get better. Dallas and the Raiders set a record for ABC's Sunday night telecasts, and Dallas-Washington and Washington-Green Bay did fine in the ratings.

Moreover, network people point out that it's hard to do better than 1981. And as races for the playoff shape up, more people get interested. As it gets colder, more people stay indoors.

College teams eye bowl bids

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

The "official" bowl invitation day still is almost a month away, but a number of college football teams will be trying to firm up their holiday plans this weekend.

North Carolina and Miami, the favorites to provide the Orange Bowl opposition for the Big Eight Conference champion, meet other members of The Associated Press Top Twenty. The Auburn-Florida loser probably can forget about a trip to New Orleans as the Southeastern Conference representative in the Sugar Bowl, while the Michigan-Illinois and Washington-UCLA winners will take huge strides toward the Rose Bowl.

There are four pairings of Top Twenty teams, with fourth-ranked Auburn a 2½-point favorite over visiting No. 5 Florida.

The Gators never have won the SEC championship, but they defeated Auburn 19-17 last year and the Tigers have been seething since then. Both teams still have to play Georgia, but there will be no looking ahead. "If we do what we're supposed to do to prepare for Saturday, I don't see where there's any time for that," said Florida Coach Charley Pell.

The Gators are off to their best start since 1966, but are only 2-16-1 at Auburn. That's a pretty good home field advantage... Auburn 20-17.

Meanwhile, eighth-ranked Michigan and No. 9 Illinois

Rivera stable after surgery

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh Steelers rookie defensive lineman Gabriel Rivera remained in serious but stable condition after "successfully" undergoing an operation to stabilize a thoracic spine fracture.

Rivera, 22, returned to the trauma unit of Allegheny General Hospital following the three-hour operation Wednesday, spokesman Joe Gordon said.

"It is anticipated that surgery will facilitate his rehabilitation," Gordon said.

The surgery came a day after Donald Diamond, Rivera's physician, said the former Texas Tech star had massive internal injuries in addition to paralysis below the mid-chest.

Diamond said the operation would have no effect on Rivera's paralysis, but would allow doctors to "better treat his lung injury."

Rivera will have to undergo extensive rehabilitation merely to regain the simplest of physical skills, Diamond said.

Ann Landers

One successful approach

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was sad when I read the letter from the woman who had showered, brushed her hair, put on a pretty nightie, dabbed perfume all over and waited in vain for her husband to make a move. When he did nothing, she said, "It was humiliating for me to ask him to make love to me, but I did. He told me he was tired and rolled over and went to sleep."

I have a suggestion for that woman and all others with the same problem. When a man says he is too tired, be sympathetic. Say, "I know you are, dear. Lie on your stomach and let me give you a nice relaxing massage..."Get some cream or lotion—any kind will do—and give him a wonderfully loving back rub, working your fingers up and down his spine, onto his shoulders and neck, using a circular motion. The quality and variety of the massage is limited only by your imagination. Chances are very good that the back rub will make him realize he wasn't as tired as he thought.

A woman who wants love needs to be a participant—not a passive person who waits until her husband comes to her. So, I say to you wives out there it is high time you got busy and made an effort to get what you want, need and is rightfully yours.—Successful In Ore.

DEAR ORE: Hooray for letting married women know that physical intimacy from a spouse is not a privilege, it's an entitlement. I heartily recommend your approach.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a high school senior who is speaking for a lot of others my age (17 going on 18). We have a big complaint. First I want to make it clear that we don't go out and get smashed every night. Most of us are responsible people. The kids who make trouble get the publicity. Good behavior is not news.

What we are mad about is the attempt to raise the legal drinking age all over the country from 18 to 21. If we are old enough to go to war, we should be old enough to drink.

I'll be interested in whether you duck this issue or print my letter.—Just Benny

DEAR BENNY: The folks who want to raise the legal drinking age from 18 to 21 are not being mean. They are trying to save lives—and, I might add, they are succeeding. Every state, without exception, that has raised the drinking age from 18 to 21 has reported a decrease in alcohol-related teenage deaths and injuries on the streets and highways. I know of few laws that are such surefire life-savers.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am an elderly person living in Florida on a small pension. Something has bothered me for a long time. Can you help put my mind at ease?

Is it possible that I could be accused of shoplifting because I handled merchandise and walked outside with it to better judge the color of the garment? Thanks for your assistance.—No Name In Orlando

DEAR N.N.: One should never take merchandise out of a store without paying for it. The natural assumption is that shoplifting was intended. If you want to see the color of a garment in the daylight, ask the salesperson to accompany you.

Today in History

Today is Thursday, Oct. 27, the 300th day of 1983. There are 65 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On Oct. 27, 1858 — 125 years ago — the 28th president of the United States, Theodore Roosevelt, was born in New York City.

On this date: In 1880, on his 22nd birthday, Theodore Roosevelt married Alice Lee.

In 1904, the first rapid transit subway, the IRT, opened in New York City.

In 1920, the League of Nations moved its headquarters from London to Geneva, Switzerland.

Five years ago: Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin were awarded the Nobel Peace Prize.

One year ago: Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev told military leaders in Moscow that the United States was threatening to push the world into a nuclear war.

Today's birthdays: Producer Fred DeCordova is 73 years old. Actress Nanette Fabray is 63.

Thought for today: "Most folks are about as happy as they make up their minds to be." — President Abraham Lincoln (1809-1865).

CANCER American Cancer Society

ANSWER LINE M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute

QUESTION: Are there any identifiable patterns to look for in the development of breast cancer?

ANSWERline: The American Cancer Society points out that under 35, the risk of breast cancer is minimal; every woman over 35 is normally at high risk. Risk increases with age; about 75 percent of breast cancer occurs after age 50. All women are at higher risk if they have a personal history of breast cancer in the immediate family — mothers or sisters. Women with breast lumps or thickenings, nipple discharge or other abnormalities are also at higher risk.

However, a recent six year study by the American Cancer Society showed that fairly definite patterns were found in only small proportions of women.

The ACS report in Ca - A Cancer Journal for Clinicians was based on data collected during the first six years of the Society's large prospective study begun in 1959 to study the relationship of people's living habits to cancer. Among 365,812 women they identified 3,130 in whom breast cancer developed during 1959-65. Only 21 percent of the breast cancers in women aged 30 to 54, and 29 percent of those aged 55 to 84 were "attributable to accepted risk factors either singly or in combination. . . . The fact that three-quarters of all breast cancer cannot be attributed to any known specific cause is reason to increase our efforts to identify and quantify risk factors, and to seek effective means of intervention and control." the study declared.

Analysts asking

Solid or superficial recovery?

NEW YORK (AP) — The economy is flashing some powerful figures of late, but the question analysts are asking is this: Do the numbers really tell the story?
Too often, investors have learned that the company showing the best short-term performance is really being drained of energy needed for the long haul.

Such companies typically show low budgets in research and development and in the deployment of modern technology, and big budgets for advertising, sales, promotion, marketing and maybe fine furniture for the president's office.

Is something of the sort going on in the American economy?

Could be. The big problem with an economic question of this sort is that you can line up support or opposition in huge quantities from scores of economists and still not get

'Simon & Simon' helps CBS take ratings lead back

LOS ANGELES (AP) — CBS, pushed out of first place in the Nielsen ratings by ABC's World Series coverage, was back on top for the week ended Oct. 23 on the strength of two detective series and a prime-time soap opera.

According to figures released Tuesday by the A.C. Nielsen Co., CBS regained first place as "Simon & Simon" came in first and "Dallas" and "Magnum, P.I." tied for second. CBS had won the first two weeks of the fall season, but fell to second last week during ABC's telecast of the baseball championship.

CBS had five shows in the Top 10. ABC, back in second place, had three shows at the top, and third-place NBC had two.

CBS won the ratings with a network average of 18.0. ABC was second with 16.8, and NBC was third with 15.8.

For evening news shows, CBS remained in first place with a rating of 12.7, NBC was second with 10.6 and ABC was third with 9.7.

Here are the week's 20 top programs:

1. "Simon & Simon," CBS, a rating of 26.6 or 22.2 million households.
2. "Dallas," CBS, 25.3 or 21.2 million.
2. Tie—"Magnum, P.I.,"

CBS, 25.3 or 21.2 million.

4. "Dynasty," ABC, 25.0 or 20.9 million.

5. "The A-Team," NBC, 24.9 or 20.8 million.

6. "60 Minutes," CBS, 23.8 or 19.9 million.

7. Movie—"Policewoman Centerfold," NBC, 23.6 or 19.7 million.

8. "The Fall Guy," ABC, 23.0 or 19.2 million.

9. "Falcon Crest," CBS, 22.2 or 18.6 million.

10. "Hotel," ABC, 21.4 or 17.9 million.

11. NFL Football Special, Los Angeles Raiders vs. Dallas Cowboys, ABC, 20.7 or 17.3 million.

12. Tie—"Knots Landing," CBS, 20.4 or 17.0 million.

12. Tie—"Scarecrow & Mrs. King," CBS, 20.4 or 17.0 million.

15. "Hill Street Blues," NBC, 20.1 or 16.3 million.

16. Movie—"Women of San Quentin," NBC, 19.7 or 16.5 million.

17. "AfterMASH," CBS, 19.5 or 16.3 million.

18. "The Love Boat," ABC, 19.4 or 16.2 million.

19. Tie—"Remington Steele," NBC, 19.4 or 16.2 million.

18. Tie—"The Jeffersons," CBS, 19.4 or 16.2 million.

an answer.

But there are some indicators.

There is, for instance, evidence that the nation has been reluctant to deal with several major financial considerations. With the $200 billion federal budget deficit, for one, and with the future of Social Security for another.

The nation's big banks can't seem to decide what to do about the loans they made to less developed nations and which may never be paid off, and so they carry them on the books as assets and hide from the day of reckoning.

There is little widespread evidence that the nation's older factories are being upgraded, but that is probably because the recession left companies with massive overcapacity.

The country still hasn't figured out how to export more than it imports, and now it faces the prospect of running trade deficits of $100 billion a year.

Millions of Americans have deep reservations about whether energy problems have been faced squarely. And, while some headway has been made in containing health-care costs, they still rise at rates higher than most other items.

There is the infrastructure to consider.

Many people think the country's roads, bridges, dams, water systems, and waste treatment facilities are in poor shape.

All this doesn't prove the expanding economy is a flash in the pan. But it certainly suggests that some of its power is short-term, and that some of its glittering numbers hide rather grim, unattended problems.

Adventure group holds bike hike

The Yima Wa Shiko adventure group met at the Camp Fire Lodge Saturday for a bike hike. Nine girls rode to Veterans Park for a sack lunch picnic.

The group elected officers at the last regular meeting. They include Stephanie Fox, president; Leslie Billingsley, vice-president; Jeri Parker, secretary; and Brandy Messer, treasurer.

Other members are Veronica Casarez, Blanca Cordova, Melissa Davis, Melissa Stubblefield, Robin Sturgess, Cynamin Brownlow, and Liz Lion.

The next meeting will be Monday.

HEALTH
Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I really need your help. My problem is that my upper stomach swells up 90 percent of the time after I eat. I have a lot of gas right after I drink fluids — coffee, tea, water or anything liquid — and I have trouble with gas both ways. I can't walk the length of the mall without relieving myself every step of the way. My upper stomach hurts after it swells up. I don't believe I can cope with it much longer.

I do drink lots of coffee, tea, milk and eat lots of fruit, but no matter what I eat or drink this happens to me and I am really worried about it. I'm 57.

DEAR READER — The two main sources of gas are swallowing air and fermentation of undigested food in the colon. You should concentrate on the latter. The sudden onset of symptoms from drinking liquids may happen because drinking or eating stimulates the contractions of the digestive tract and propels gas and other contents along the way.

A frequent culprit in adults is milk. When it can't be digested it ferments, releasing gas. I would like for you to try, on a temporary basis, a very restricted diet. Don't stay on this diet, though. Eliminate milk and all foods that contain milk or are made with much milk, coffee, tea, carbonated drinks, alcohol, all cabbage-type foods such as brussels sprouts, cabbage and broccoli. Also don't eat onions, garlic, radishes, carrots, cucumbers, mature or dry beans, garlic and other seasonings or any fruits.

That will leave you with meat (red meat, fish and poultry) which should be lean to avoid fats, some vegetables, salads and cereals. In a few days you can tell if your gas problem has significantly abated. Then add one food at a time for a few days and see if it causes a problem. For instance add oranges or orange juice. Wait a couple of days and add something else.

In this way you can soon identify what causes gas. If you find a food that does, eliminate it from your diet.

You will find more help in The Health Letter 6-8, Controlling Gaseousness, which I am sending you.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I cannot get enough air through my nasal passages because of enlarged polyps or some other obstruction or swollen membranes.

I've heard that sniffing a mild solution of salt water would reduce the swelling but that would be only temporary. I have never used nose drops even with a cold.

I hope you have some advice to give me as I live 200 miles from the nearest ear, nose and throat specialist so if there is some solution other than an operation I would appreciate hearing of it.

DEAR READER — Yes, there is another solution. You should go see your family doctor and let him examine your nose and see if your passages are open or if there is some cause for the obstruction. I doubt that either nose drops or salt water will do you much good.

And if it is an obstruction from polyps or a displaced nasal septum, then the mechanical blockage will probably have to be removed by mechanical means, namely surgery, if you are to stop having the symptoms. But don't expect much help until you find out what your problem actually is.

Tape marks 'oil' away

DEAR POLLY — I would like to know how you take tape marks off of woodwork without harming the wood. The tape used was masking tape. — MRS. D.S.

DEAR MRS. D.S. — The safest way to remove the sticky stuff without removing the finish would be to rub the marks with a cloth generously soaked in ordinary vegetable oil. Use additional oil as needed. This works on removing sticky tape residue from almost any hard surface without damaging the surface. After it's done its job, the oil can be wiped away with a clean cloth or washed away with warm water and a mild detergent. If water and detergent are safe for the surface in question. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — If you like to make zucchini cake or bread, here's a hint for you. Harvest all the zucchini you can, then shred it and freeze in plastic bags in appropriate amounts for your recipes. All winter, you'll have zucchini ready to thaw and use in your baked products. — MRS. J.Y.

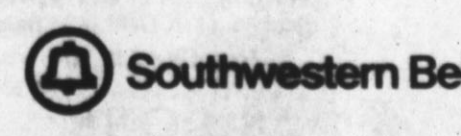

DEAR POLLY — To keep moths out of woolen clothing without the smell of moth balls, I use bath soap. I put one or two unwrapped bars of soap with a sweater in a plastic bag. Then it can be put into a drawer, on a shelf or in a box. Sometimes I store the sweaters in an empty suitcase. I have used this method for the last 30 years without finding a moth hole. It doesn't seem to matter what brand of soap is used, so I buy what I can find at a discount or on sale. This is also a good method for keeping linen closets fresh-smelling in damp and humid weather. — MRS. T.B.C.

DEAR POLLY — Use old washcloths for washing dishes. I find the terry cloth better than a regular mesh dish cloth for getting the dishes really clean. — C.S.

DEAR POLLY — Here's a garden Pointer to get the most from your tomato harvest. If you dislike allowing tomatoes to ripen in the house before frost hits, try this. Grow more plants than you really need. When most of the fruit is large enough, although still green, remove all the leaves on the main stem. This frequently makes the plant quickly ripen a lot of its fruit over the next two weeks. You can get the tomatoes to ripen before frost is expected. Any green fruit remaining can be plowed back into the garden as next year's green manure. — HERB

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with rules and orders of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of its intent to re-file evidence and appropriate tariff(s) in support of a request to establish rates for the use of certain complex inside telephone wiring in the amount of $54.5 million annually. This request was previously a part of the considerations in Docket 5141 and now has been re-docketed as Docket 5420. Customers who do not own the Complex Inside Wire associated with their Customer Premises Systems (such as PBX and Key Systems), and who utilize Southwestern Bell's wiring after January 1, 1984, could be affected by this request. On January 1, 1984, all of the Customer Premises Systems presently provided by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company will be transferred to a subsidiary of AT&T and that subsidiary of AT&T will be almost exclusively responsible for the charges pursuant to the proposed tariff on January 1, 1984. After January 1, 1984, customers who purchase their Complex Customer Premises Equipment and do not purchase, but continue to use, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's inside wire will be subject to the charges proposed in the tariff. The proposed effective date for these new rates is January 1, 1984. Persons interested in intervening in this matter should file a written motion expeditiously with the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7900 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Austin, Texas 78757, as the Hearing on the Merits in Docket 5420 is set for November 21, 1983.
