Two ladies who have checked a good many ballots in recent elections and in other elections for nearly 30 years are Mrs. Edith Hughes and Mrs. Vern Witherspoon. It seems that the election judges of Precinct 1 have indeed given these experienced helpers a "vote of confidence" through the years by asking for their assistance. Familiar faces to the voters of Precinct 2 are those of Mrs. Nona Jewell and Mrs. Earl Phillips who have a combined record of more than 20 years of helping with the elections here.

Buddy Poppy Sale To Aid Disabled Vets, Families

Commander D. C. McWhorter of Veterans of Foreign Wars Roy Wedderbrook Post 4818 said today that he has had many requests as to how the VFW spends money collected in the annual sale of Buddy Poppies in this community. The VFW Auxiliary on Saturday will hold the annual sale in Hereford.

"First, and most important," McWhorter said, "is the fact that of every dime collected five cents stay right in the community. We here on the community level know the needs and desires of those veterans who must have assistance."

Aid Veterans On Claims. "Two and one-half cents of the original dime goes to our own state and the National VFW rehabilitation service," he continued. "In a way that is like keeping the money here: the VFW last year processed 350,000 successful claims that netted a return of $139,000,000 to veterans."

"One cent goes to the VFW National Home for widows and orphans at Eaton Rapids, Mich. This is a home for the children and widows of our departed comrades and those who are not able to care for their own families," McWhorter said.

Small Overhead. "Just one and one-half cents of each dime goes to pay the disabled veterans who made the poppies and for other necessary expenses in the campaign," he concluded.

Mrs. Viola Massie, VFW Auxiliary president, said that the buyers who meet the Buddy Poppy sellers here on Saturday may pay any sum they desire for the symbolic flowers. "And we'll be able to make change, if it is desired," she added.

Mayor Henry Sears has designated Saturday, Nov. 10, as Buddy Poppy Day. Pointing out that the money received from the sale of poppies is for the benefit of the disabled veterans and their families, he has urged all of the citizens of Hereford and Deaf Smith County to buy a poppy.

The case of the State of Texas vs. Clifford D. Potter is scheduled to go on trial in 89th District Court here on Monday morning with a special venire of 240 prospective jurors to be examined in the opening days of the trial. Presiding judge is to be Judge Harry Schultz of Dalhart.

Veterans' Day To Be Observed In Program Monday

Special ceremonies and programs are being planned by veteran's groups in Hereford for Monday, Nov. 12, when the community will observe Veterans' Day.

While the holiday falls on Nov. 11, representatives of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars have obtained agreement from the Hereford Merchants Assn., to their proposal to close all business in the city on Monday.

No plans have been made, however, for schools to observe the holiday.

The Veterans' Day program will open at 7:30 a.m. with sunrise religious services, Rev. Lester Jones, vicar of St. Thomas Episcopal Church will officiate.

Unveiling of the monument to "Those Who Gave" that has been erected in Veterans Memorial Park by the Park Board in cooperation with the American Legion and VFW will be a highlight of the services. All Gold Star Mothers in the area are cordially invited to attend these ceremonies by Jim Roberts and D. C. McWhorter, commanders of the American Legion and VFW, respectively.

A breakfast for all veterans will be served following the early morning services. Plans for a luncheon and other activities will be announced in The Sunday Brand.

Poll Shows Strong Support Here For Building Airport

Results of a survey on the airport construction issue were reported by the Business and Professional Women's Club on Tuesday morning and may lead to petitioning for bond elections.

Of 719 qualified voters questioned in a B&PW telephone survey, 359 said they would vote "yes" in a bond election for an airport for Deaf Smith County, with the federal government paying half the cost. Only 182 persons said they would vote "no" on the proposition. The remaining 178 persons contacted in the poll said they were "undecided."

The poll had been undertaken by the women's club after a request from airport committee leaders was received. Considering the results, Dr. H. A. Cavness, committee chairman, said that he will take steps immediately to start action necessary to call an election.

Decision as to whether both county and city will be petitioned to set election dates, and as to what share of the costs should be borne by each division of the local government will hinge on the outcome of talks with officials.

A government appropriation of $139,500 for construction of an airport here was announced by the Civil Aeronautics Authority several months ago. The funds, all or any part, are to be matched by local funds in order to secure the federal money.

The airport issue has been debated on several occasions by both the city and county commissions and by representatives of business and civic interests in the community.

Masons who have completed York or Scottish Rite degrees will be eligible to take the Shrine work according to J. B. Nolan and Bill Hromas, team captains who are to secure candidates.

In addition to Deaf Smith County, candidates will also be taken from Oldham, Parmer, Castro Bailey and Lamb counties, said J. K. Baker, president of the Hereford Shrine Club.

Special degree teams will come to Hereford from Amarillo to confer the degree, according to Potentate Kohler, who said that in addition to gaining new members, the organization also hopes to create.

Price Daniel, Democratic nominee for governor, had little trouble defeating Republican William R. Bryant or write-in candidate W. Lee O'Daniel in winning the governor's race. Daniel had announced earlier in the campaign that he would support Adlai Stevenson in his bid for the White House.

The only Republican-Democratic race in the entire state which seems to have aroused interest was that of Republican Rep. Bruce Alger and Dist. Atty. Henry Wade for Congressman from the 5th District with Alger leading in the contest.

Eight proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution were adopted by the Teacher's Union in the largest vote of approval.

THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE VICTORY MARGIN IS INCREASED FOR IKE

Democrats Hold Majorities In Senate, House

President Dwight David Eisenhower on Wednesday pledged to work with all his strength for 168 million Americans after receiving an overwhelming vote of confidence in his bid for re-election.

The Democratic Party's candidate, Adlai Stevenson, in conceding the victory to President Eisenhower, said "Our party ultimately will prevail." He declined comment when asked by reporters if he plans to run again for the office.

Electoral Count. Voters, in what may prove to be record numbers, showed just how much they like Ike by giving him an estimated 457 electoral votes, while Stevenson was gathering only 74 of the 266 required for election. Wednesday morning returns showed the popular margin accorded Ike was near 60 per cent of the total after more than 50 million votes had been tallied. Well over 60 million votes were reportedly cast on Tuesday.

Ike was running well ahead in most states, with the Democratic Party showing clear majorities only in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, North and South Carolina, and Arkansas, Michigan and Minnesota were the only other states where Stevenson made good showings.

But while the President was chosen as the man to lead the nation, the Republicans apparently failed to gain control of Congress. In midmorning Wednesday, election returns for the Democratic Caucus showed the Democrats holding 51 seats of the 96 in the Senate, and 231 places in the House of Representatives with only 218 needed for control.

In 1952, Ike gained 442 votes of 89 for Adlai. He showed tremendous personal popularity, but was unable to carry legislative candidates with him to victory.

★ ★ ★ Texas Stays With Ike; Voters Okay All Amendments

Sunny skies and the world crisis in the Near East are being credited with a generous share of the credit for the near record vote cast in Tuesday's election, both in the nation as a whole and here in Texas.

Texas followed the voting trend of the nation in the election by giving the Eisenhower administration an overwhelming vote of confidence and the state's 24 electoral votes. President Eisenhower garnered an even greater percentage of the popular vote in Texas than he did in the 1952 election.

T. Coleman Andrews, the Constitution Party candidate, made a very meager showing in the state getting only slightly more than 5,000 votes.

Price Daniel, Democratic nominee for governor, had little trouble defeating Republican William R. Bryant or write-in candidate W. Lee O'Daniel in winning the governor's race. Daniel had announced earlier in the campaign that he would support Adlai Stevenson in his bid for the White House.

The only Republican-Democratic race in the entire state which seems to have aroused interest was that of Republican Rep. Bruce Alger and Dist. Atty. Henry Wade for Congressman from the 5th District with Alger leading in the contest.

Hereford Men Are Cleared By Jury

Arrested here Oct. 29 at the request of the Potter County Sheriff's department on charges arising from a reported theft in Amarillo, two Hereford men were cleared of the charges Wednesday morning.

The men, Jerome Noguera, 21, Route 3, and Johnnie Collier, 20, Route 5, were not billed when their case was presented to the Potter County grand jury, according to attorney Wayne Thomas.

City Police Will Have New Radios

Purchase of new high frequency radio sets for use by the Hereford Police Department was approved Monday night by the City Commission. Present equipment, designed for use on the state sheriff's frequency, will not be discarded but used to supplement the new system.

City Manager Dudley Bayne, in presenting the request for the new equipment, emphasized the fact that other stations frequently "jam" the wavelengths now used by the police and make radio communication between station and cars "generally difficult and sometimes impossible."

Equipment Ordered. Cost of the new transmitter, two patrol car sets and miscellaneous items needed for the installation will be $765, Dudley said, after the commissioners considered bids by General Electric and Motorola. Motorola's bid was high at $882. The equipment was ordered Wednesday, pending assignment of a frequency to the police department by federal authorities.

Other Actions. In other action the commissioners rescheduled the city board of adjustment composed of W. C. Meharg, Dub Reeves, Paul Harvey, Francis Hardwick and Don Zimmerman to two-year terms. The commission also voted that three members of the zoning commission are serving after the expiration of their term of office, but withheld new appointments pending outcome of a zoning hearing scheduled for Nov. 15. City Attorney Earnest Langley said that the present members will be serving "legally" until such time as successors are named.

A report of the number of boys enrolled in Scouting in this district revealed the following totals: Cub Scouts, 240; Boy Scouts, 120; Explorers, 19. This represents an enrollment of 379 boys.

A Court of Honor will be held at the First Presbyterian Church on Nov. 19 at 8 p.m., said Wayne Thomas of the advancement committee.

Boy Scout Leaders' basic training originally scheduled for Nov. 28 has been postponed until after the District Conference in January, it was reported by Earnest Langley.

To National Events. The National Boy Scout Jamboree to be held July 12-18 at Valley Forge, Penn., has attracted an enrollment of nine boys from this district, and the Somerset Scout Trip, which starts at Ely, Minn., on July 10 will see six Scouts from Troop 52 aboard. Rev. Lester L. Jones will accompany the Scouts on this trip. All units in the district joined in the district fund-raising on Saturday, Nov. 5, at the homes of Hereford and Deaf Smith.

Fred J. Cunningham, chairman of the fund-raising campaign now in progress here, reported to the executives that only about 20 per cent of the homes had been visited.

Ike Choice Of Voters In County

In Deaf Smith County, it was Eisenhower and Nixon by 1,685 votes to 1,361 for Stevenson and Kefauver in Tuesday's General Election.

The total vote was not as large as in 1952 when Stevenson and Sparkman received only 974 votes to 2,482 for the Republican candidates, and Eisenhower undoubtedly showed a loss of favor with many farmers.

He carried only one of seven strictly rural voting precincts, while building large margins of victory in the three Hereford polling places. Interest in the election, with a total of 3,057 votes cast in the presidential race, was great; he recent local option election brought out only 2,802 voters, but failed to reach the fever pitch of 952 when 3,456 voters were cast for the major party candidates and the county went Republican for the first time.

Governors Race. In the gubernatorial race, Sen. Price Daniel was an easy victor with 2,390 votes. The Republican William R. Bryant gathered 324 votes to stand well ahead of W. Lee O'Daniel whose extensive campaign as a write-in candidate netted him only 203 votes in Deaf Smith.

Local Races. The only local campaign generating heat occurred in Precinct 3 where Bernie Northcutt gained 39 write-in votes to 84 for incumbent J. T. Guinn who had previously gained the nomination over Northcutt in the Democratic second primary.

A. J. Schroeter, recently appointed by the Commissioners Court as County Surveyor, received 80 write-in votes for the position. The new far-right-wing Constitutional Party gained just nine votes here for its presidential nominee, T. Coleman Andrews. W. Lee O'Daniel had two write-in votes for president.

Teachers Retirement. Amendment Four, the Teachers Retirement Program, carried in Deaf Smith by a majority of 2,283 to 415. The other seven proposed amendments all gained approval by margins ranging from two to one to seven to one. The amendments were approved all across Texas by wide margins.

Here is how the Presidential candidates fared in the county's 10 voting precincts:

Table showing Presidential election results by precinct: Absentee, Hereford, No. 1, Hereford, No. 2, No. 3 Mitchell, No. 4 Simms, No. 6 Ford, No. 7 Dawn, No. 8 Angela, No. 9 Dappus, No. 10 Daniel, Hereford, No. 11. Columns for IKE and ADLAI.

If Baby Bites, Grin

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.
AP Newsfeatures

"Doctor, I've come to drop my problem in your lap," Mrs. Stimson announced as she entered the office. "Steve bites — he bites me." (She demonstrated an ugly looking black and blue spot on her arm.) "He bites his little brother, and now he's taken to biting the children in the neighborhood. It's gotten to the point where all the other mothers grab their children away when they see Steve coming. And much as it hurts me to see them do it, I really can't blame them."

She took a breath and went on: "I've done everything I can think of to stop it. I've bitten him back — good and hard, too. I've washed his mouth out with soap; I've punished him until I'm blue in the face, and if anything, Steve bites more and harder. Now it's your turn, Doctor. I want a miracle and I want it quick."

Mrs. Stimson laughed as she said this and settled back in her chair for the formula of the miracle. Steve was a little over three; his brother, Paul, was just about a year old. Steve had been pretty jealous of Paul. Mother seemed always busy with that squally baby when he needed her, and Daddy went right over and picked up Paul when he came into the house and didn't pay any attention to Steve the way he used to. One day when the two of them were going over the baby on the sofa, Steve crawled along the floor and took a good bite out of Mother's leg! Something surely happened then! Mother howled and grabbed her leg and Daddy forgot all about Paul, he shook Steve and talked big and loud. Steve didn't know much about what he said, but he loved having both Mommy and Daddy forget about Paul and pay attention to him.

Next day Steve tried it again: he bit Mommy on the arm when she was giving him his breakfast. This time Mommy bit him back. It hurt, but Mommy was excited and forgot about Paul.

Steve lived in a neighborhood with a lot of children, but they were all quite a bit older than he was — mostly four, five and six-year-olds. Steve liked to play with them, but he couldn't quite keep up; he couldn't get places fast enough on his fat little legs; he lost out on turns; he was slow making cakes with the sand. When Harry took his shovel he bit him, and he got his shovel right back. Biting seemed a good way to Steve to get what you wanted. Mom

C&C THRIFT STAMPS FOR VALUABLE GIFTS

C&C THRIFT STAMPS FOR VALUABLE GIFTS

By Jimmie Gillentine

You never can tell about elections. To me, the most startling thing about the Deaf Smith County vote Tuesday was the total. It soared up to 3,059, which is exactly 257 more votes than the 2,802 total cast in the "Wet-Dry" election here Oct. 2. Who would have thought that a presidential election would have pulled out more people than a hometown local option vote?

This should prove something or other. Many times the Presidential election drops in the number of voters. It must have been the war threat which, incidentally, did more to upset the Stevenson apple cart than probably any other factor. Word spread around town early Tuesday that the smart boys were predicting like to carry Deaf Smith County — and he did: 1,885 to 1,361, a margin of 324 votes.

Rumors, despite their malicious unjustness and the unhappiness which they frequently cause, can most times be traced to a lack of complete understanding or to poor judgment. Take the case last Saturday when everyone in town was talking about the Negro which Ernest Wade was supposed to have killed in his cleaning establishment.

"It's news to me!" said Ernest and the city police, likewise, de- clared that they found the man on the floor of the shop clutching a roll of bills. We ran their denials in The Brand-Sunday and, early Monday morning, J. W. Robinson walked in with a picture from the Lubbock paper. It all happened just like folks were saying — except it happened at Wade Cleaners in Houston. . . not Hereford! The Houston police did find the man on the floor with $562 in hand. Gerald McCaskill and Mrs. Ione Kemp also figured out the deal and were kind enough to furnish us with the same information, having noticed clippings in other papers.

It was quite a coincidence at that. Someone heard about a shooting at Wade Cleaners, probably on the tail end of a newscast — and jumped to conclusions. Anyway, we are glad to have the explanation.

And speaking of elections, there is nothing in Deaf Smith County more public than the "Secret Ballot" as cast in Precinct 2. This is probably true in the other precincts, but it is an unquestionable fact in Precinct 2. It doesn't make a lot of difference to me if two or three people hang their heads over my shoulder while I am voting — but there might be some who do object. Certainly, it is a far cry from the supposedly secret ballot as guaranteed by the Constitution of the U. S. A.

It seems to me that this is a situation which demands some sort of action on the part of the County Commissioners. I notice that Precinct 1 also has more or less public balloting out in the hallway of the courthouse. The trouble, without question, is another result of "growing pains." A few years back this country was casting 1,200 to 1,500 votes. Now we are casting in the neighborhood of 3,000 ballots — and we are doing it with the same facilities and in the same rooms which we handled the 1,200.

Clovis recently installed voting machines, as have many of the cities in Texas and New Mexico. Maybe we are not big enough to need voting machines, but we do need booths or partitions in some of the larger and more congested voting boxes. Right now, our voting methods are a lot like driving a new model 1957 automobile over a bumpy, 1915 model road.

Many, many people were complaining about this as they left the courthouse Tuesday. Certainly, they were right. If folks will remember and complain to their County Commissioner, it is probable that something can be worked out. I heard quite a bit of complaining on the "Wet-Dry" election, too, but nothing like the Tuesday election. The Commissioners are right nice fellows. They want to carry out the wishes of the majority of the people and, if folks are satisfied "as is," they will see little or no use of spending money for unnecessary trails. Besides, I would guess that the smaller boxes have little problem along this line. The biggest hue and cry seems to be from Precincts 1, 2 and 11.

If you don't ever see your commissioner, drop us a signed letter. We will be glad to print them in the paper, whether they be "pro" or "con."

ABOUT HUNTING. . . I think half of the town must have been away last week, and a big lot of them were hunting. I notice where N. D. Bartlett and his crowd got back with their "Blunder-Bus" from South Dakota. I heard that they were snowed-in, but they showed up in Hereford Monday. Jim Allison got his limit of pheasant in the Pierre country, where he hunted with Joe Poindexter — or so I hear. Frank Bezner and Frank Brinkman were out in Milford, Utah, during the deer season, but didn't hunt. Bezner says, however, that he never saw so many hunters in his life. He says there were 140,000 deer licenses sold in Utah at $45 bucks a throw. He says the folks out there estimate that the hunters spend $100 each in Utah in addition to their license — which makes it big business in a hurry.

I also owe Marcus and Ross

Latham an apology. I said that Marcus was in South Dakota when, all of the time, it was Ross Time was when I got these two mixed up, but not any more. Despite their glistening bald domes, really do know them apart. My typewriter just made a mistake

At least three Hereford men go their signals crossed up last week. They went fishing instead of hunting. They were Dub Hair, Do Zimmerman and Walter Hodges. They invaded Aransas Pass in a big way and reported nice fishing, although questionable weather. However, they caught around 135 snapper and trout.

ABOUT GOLF. . . Urlin Streu is mad. He says he cannot understand why Byron Nelson didn't remember him. Streu says they had one of those nationwide "Beat the Camp" tournaments and that h (Streu) laid a dollar on the line and played against Nelson. H says he can't imagine playing 3 holes with a fellow and then no even being remembered. He also says he doesn't remember if h won or lost which, knowing Streu means that he lost.

Bad luck came to Howard Gaul recently when the temperature dropped down close to zero in New Mexico and ruined something like a half section of "the finest potatoes you ever saw." Everyone says it was a wonderful crop.

Folks who are trying to get their grain stored seldom waste much sympathy on the elevator man. These boys, however, have really had a tough go this fall. The season has been running around the clock for the past two months — and they have done an excellent job. I think they deserve a big hand.

Nearly everyone knows that the Texas' flower is the Bluebonnet but folks are often shocked to learn that our state tree is the "Pecan" and that our state bird is the "Mocking Bird."

Quite a few Hereford people are being picked up as they return home from football games. Six or more speeding tickets were issued last Friday, according to reports. This week we play Dumas at home, however. It should be a good game in view of the tussle we gave Littlefield last Friday.

The Hallmark of Circulation Value

In the same way that STERLING on silver signifies a standard of known value, so is the A.B.C. emblem of integrity for the circulation of periodicals. It means that circulation so measured is measured according to the rules and standards of the AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS. The A.B.C. is a cooperative and non-profit association of 3,450 publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies. Organized in 1914, these buyers and sellers of advertising brought order out of advertising chaos by setting up standards for paid circulation and establishing rules and methods for measuring, auditing and reporting circulations. Therefore, the work of the A.B.C., which this newspaper is proud to be a member, provides you with a direct and valuable service. You can buy advertising as you would make any other sound business investment — on the basis of well known standards, known values. At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. The results of this exacting audit show: How much circulation we have; where our circulation goes; how it was obtained; and many other facts that you need in order to know just what you get for your advertising dollars. This audited information is published by the Bureau in easy-to-read A.B.C. reports which are available to our advertisers on request. Ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

Fall Matador Round-Up Ends--

By JUDY PINNELL

The next time you hear someone say the old West has settled down to a Cadillac and big brick mansion, just point them in the general direction of Adrian and the Matador Ranch.

Usually the spring is the busy season, but the past three weeks have put all this in the shade. It's been a round-up to end all previous round-ups!

Cattle that have never felt a rope around their necks or been stung by a branding iron are being rounded up into a high pasture on the Trullo Headquarters, just 20 miles north of Adrian. The push started nearly a month ago and all the cowboys you see now are saying, "The round-up is over." The larger part of the cattle are moved by the herd but the stragglers and the rogues, are being run down among the sagebrush. They are roped, hobbled, and a trailer is taken up on the spot; many of these are as old as three years and not yet branded.

Day's Returns
The round-up started on the New Mexico border west to the Canadian River almost to Channing on the north. The largest day's haul known for the ranch was when 1200 cattle were corralled on one day. The least so far has been 10.

Cattle are being shipped to wheat and maize pasture land in many different localities in the area. The total count rounded up is 3,900 head. Those from town that have been helping out over the weekends and when extra help is needed are Ray Brown, Earl Brown, Sam Brown, Clinton Brown and Jim Proctor. Manager of the ranch is Pep Howe. Other hands are Raymond Shelton and Red Garrison.

No More Coyotes
All the cowhands are glad that those days of hard work and sleeping out with the coyotes are over.

Jake Fortenberry was appointed postmaster and took over Thursday. Mrs. Anna Witt has resigned.

James N. D. Bartlett Jr., Tom Carter, Ray Cowser, E. W. Harrison, Charles Hood, Ansel McDowell, G. P. Owen, Lloyd Pool, D. B. Roberson, Mary Seigler, Roy Smith, W. J. Stanford, J. B. Mulkey, Miss Frances Turrentine and the hostess.

Glen Rio Fire

A fire was reported in the west part of Glen Rio early Monday morning by a truck driver going through town. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pedigre, owners of the lounge, cafe and dance hall under construction reported that the building was completely demolished. The cafe adjoining the building, owned by Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Mabane, was damaged but the appliances were taken out of the building before any damage occurred to them. The San Jon Fire Department was called and other citizens in the area joined in fighting the fire. It is not yet known just what was the cause of the blaze.

Lloyd Heaton and son, Davy, and Claude Heaton visited during the weekend with their sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mohart at Fargo, Okla.

Mrs. H. D. Tomlinson, Judy Nell and Mrs. T. A. Preston of Amarillo visited this week in Coleman. They reported that the former Tony Tomlinson, known to many people in Adrian and now Mrs. Joe Burrage, is the proud mother of a new daughter, Charlotte Jo, born Oct. 27, weighing 6 pounds and 7 ounces. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Burrage.

Two Matador Victories
Both of the Adrian Matador basketball teams walked away with victories Friday night with the teams playing the squads from Shallowater. The girls score was 56 to 36 and high scorer for the Adrian team was Erna Lou Jordan with 28 points and Wanda Pinnell was next high with 22 points. All members of the squad saw action during the game.

The boys final score was 57 to 42. Edd Pinnerl headed the scoring bracket for Adrian with 24 points and Lloyd Homfeld came close with 17 points. The next games are Friday night when Adrian will play return games at Shallowater.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Gruhkey visited in Vega with Mrs. Gruhkey's brother, Joe Scott, who has just returned from Deaf Smith County Hospital where he has undergone surgery. They reported him as improving rapidly.

On Army Leave
Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Schueler of Leavenworth, Kan., visited this week with many friends and relatives in Vega while he was on leave from the Army. Mrs. Schueler is the former Glenda Meeks. They visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Meeks and family. They visited in the R. L. Pinnell home Saturday.

Darla Betts was honored with a pre-nuptial bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Arthur Jewett with Mrs. Jesse Loveless acting as co-hostess. The serving table was adorned with a miniature bride and the table appointments were of crystal. Refreshments of punch, cake, nuts and mints were served to the guests.

Visiting in the Henry Creitz home Friday were Mrs. Creitz's sister-in-law, Mrs. Ina Rhine of Newsharua, Iowa, and niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Anderson of Monroe, Iowa. They were on their way to California where they will spend the winter.

Mrs. Percy Gruhkey and Mrs. R. M. Gruhkey spent the day with Mrs. R. L. Pinnell Wednesday.

Mrs. Johnnie Lewis visited with Mr. and Mrs. Dee Banks at Canyon this week.

A party was held at the home

Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Doherty spent the night with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dornell in Amarillo Saturday. While they were there, her brother, T. L. Woodard of Little Rock, Ark., dropped in.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Creitz and family visited with Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fuhrmann and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watson and family, all at Hereford, last Sunday.

New Post Office
A new site for the post office has been selected. The new facilities will be located in Mrs. Nellie Davis' building, formerly a barber shop. Work is now in progress to make the move in the near future.

Rev. and Mrs. Johnnie Williams attended the funeral of DeWitt Parker's brother which was held at Tulsa. Our sympathy is extended to the Parker family.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammock and their family of daughters moved to Hereford from Kentucky in 1906 and the children attended Hereford schools while they lived here. After a few years they moved to a Missouri farm and later returned to their native state.

NINE SISTERS HOLD REUNION

Nine sisters, daughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ben L. Hammock, formerly of Hereford, held a family reunion last week in Morganfield, Ky.

Mrs. Willie Daniel, the only sister still living in Hereford, returned Sunday night from Kentucky following the reunion.

The reunion was held at the homes of the sisters, Mrs. Marie Bland and Mrs. H. V. Allen in Morganfield. The other sisters attending were Mrs. C. H. Reasor, East Prairie, Mo., Mrs. J. W. Walter, Amarillo, Mrs. J. C. North,

Camp Fire Girls Near Funds Goal

Camp Fire girls collected $1472.50 in their annual solicitation campaign Saturday when they visited homes in a city-wide drive to collect funds to cover activities for the coming year. The groups of girls were escorted by Rotarians and Camp Fire fathers. Dick Barnard, finance chairman of the Camp Fire Council, reported they nearly reached the goal of $500, and "there's still more to come, because several persons have promised donations to the camp fire groups."

About 80 girls worked in the annual fund-raising campaign on Friday evening and all day Saturday. A small percentage of the fund will be sent to the national headquarters.

The larger portion will remain to cover Camp Fire, Blue Bird, and Horizon activities in Hereford. Bus expense, and maintenance of the Camp Fire Hut will cost about $750, and the rest of the funds will go toward work of the council.

Garden Club Will Sell Pecan Cakes

Mrs. Ansel McDowell, president of the Garden Beautiful Club, announced that the popular King Pecan Cakes are now available with the re-order supply at the home of Mrs. Ray Cowser, at a regular meeting of the club held Friday afternoon with Mrs. Gerald Wilson. Mrs. G. P. Owen was co-hostess.

The cakes, which have been sold by the club for the past several years, were sold during the annual Tour of Homes and the first supply was exhausted.

Final arrangements for participation in the Red Cross Table Show held Saturday were made. Committee for the table included Mesdames Roy Smith, N. E. Bartlett Jr. and Townsend Douglas.

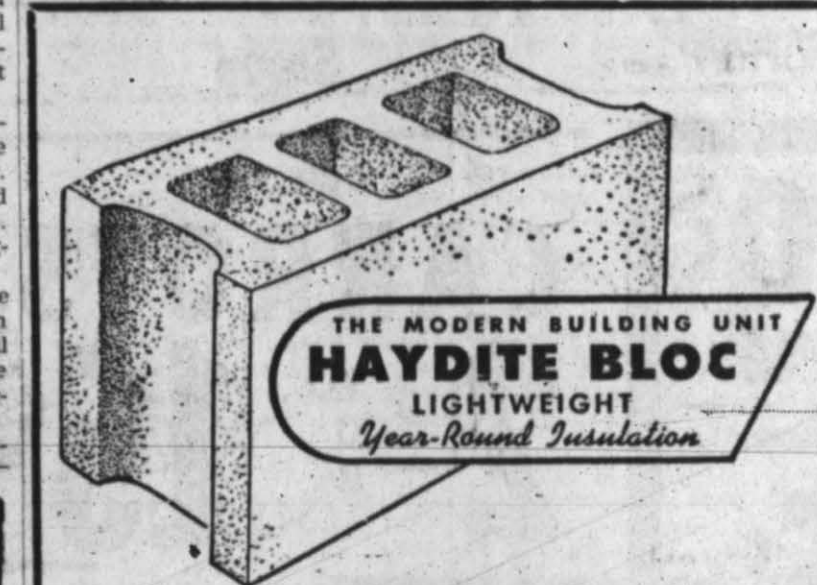

Mrs. Mary Seigler was in charge of the program for the day on "House Plants." Arrangements all through the house suggested the autumn season in colorful flowers and autumn leaves. Members present were Mes-

SPORTS GLANCES
by Bill Knox

Hereford's Whitefaces, conceded to be the least mighty of the "mighty five," are in the position right now of being the spoilers of 1-AAA.

Don't misunderstand us. The Whitefaces still are in contention for the district championship with only one loss, but experts predict the Whitefaces to finish last. Experts have been known to be wrong.

A Hereford victory Friday over Dumas would all but eliminate the Demons from the title chase. It would be their second loss, and they could do no more than break even in conference play.

Another Possibility
Then the next Friday Hereford meets Levelland, and if the Whitefaces defeat Levelland, whether they defeat Dumas or not, it'll be the Lobos second loss and will just about eliminate them. Phillips would be hurt — not as much as the others, but hurt — by a loss to Hereford.

But what have we, anyway? If Hereford does all this they'll win the district championship!

Hereford's passing attack against Littlefield was sensational. It created quite a discussion in the press box at Littlefield's Seely Stadium. One writer said, "Nobody in this district can pass like that. With a few breaks, Hereford could give somebody no end of trouble."

Had Potent Attack
The Whitefaces completed 10 of 17 tosses for an astounding — for high school anyway — total of 289 yards in the air. Added to the 69 yards rushing this amounted to a total offense of 358 yards compared to Littlefield's total offense of 335 yards.

This in itself indicates that the game was much closer than the score, 31-13. In fact very much closer. Hereford was ahead in the first half, 13-12, and had they continued their pace would have won the game.

Littlefield coach Gene Mayfield said that "Hereford's passing attack is pretty darn good." Indeed the Whitefaces had Mayfield's charges running in circles with their passing attack in the first half. And in the last half the Herd didn't do too bad. It was a couple of bad breaks which broke the Whitefaces' back. That can happen to any team.

Phillips' victory over Dumas

HERD MOBILIZES FOR BATTLE WITH FAVORED DUMAS DEMONS

An upstart Hereford Whiteface crew will collide with powerful Dumas Friday night in Whiteface stadium. The Demons will be favored to spoil the Whitefaces' homecoming.

Dumas, presently lodged in third place in 1-AAA, has broken even in two conference games, nipping Levelland and losing to Phillips. Hereford has lost to Littlefield in its only district start.

Loss Impressive
Hereford's loss to Littlefield last week was impressive in spots, and Dumas coach John Whinnery isn't taking the Whitefaces too lightly. He told a Brand reporter Monday afternoon that "we expect Hereford to be tough."

On the other hand, Hereford scouts have billed Dumas as "the team with the best material in District 1-AAA." And Hereford Coach L. B. Russell is taking their word for it and holding workouts until dark in an effort to come up with a winning team Friday.

A fine Hereford crew last year rubbed the favored Demons, 33-13, leading the Demons their only district loss. They tied Phillips and Canyon and finished with the Whitefaces in a tie for second behind Phillips in 1-AAA.

Dumas possesses a season record of five wins and three losses. They own victories over Ysleta, El Paso High, Canyon, Seymour, and Levelland. They have lost to Palo Duro, Snyder, and Phillips. Hereford has won three of seven games, winning over Tulia, Portales, and Clovis. The Whitefaces have lost to Canyon, Otron, Plainview, and Littlefield.

One Common Foe
The two teams have met but one common foe, the Canyon Eagles. Canyon clubbed the Whitefaces, 46-13, in the Herd's season opener.

er, but Dumas handed the Eagles a 19-7 setback. This would make Dumas a nine touchdown favorite but the bulge given Dumas will be not quite a third of that.

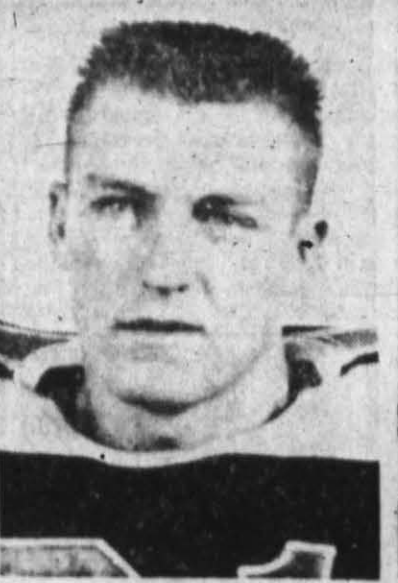

Hereford was impressive while losing to Littlefield. The aerial minded Whitefaces took to the air, completing 10 of 17 tosses for a percentage of 588 and 289 yards. End Danny Elliston netted 141 of these yards, snagging four passes, while end Bill Dufur and halfback Bill Callaway accounted for the other completions. Both Hereford touchdowns were on passes, one to Elliston and the other to Callaway.

Rely On Passing
From all indications given by Russell, the Whitefaces may rely heavily throughout the rest of the season on the thus far successful passing attack. The Whitefaces netted only 69 yards rushing against Littlefield, but outgained the Wildcats in total offense, 358-335.

Hereford scouts Cubby Kitchens and Alex Glass described Dumas as "a big, swift ball club." According to scouting reports, the Demons will be on the average heavier than Littlefield, who displayed a lot of weight in the line.

"They never give up and keep fighting to the final gun," Kitchens said. "They looked sluggish against Phillips, but they didn't look to be playing their best football." Dumas has not won over Phillips since 1939.

A Hereford victory over Dumas would send the Whitefaces to third place. A Levelland victory over Phillips would put the Whitefaces right behind Phillips with Littlefield in first. Levelland would take fourth with Dumas falling to the cellar.

JIM TINER

JIM BOXWELL

However, 1-AAA has proved to be quite unpredictable, and things won't be cleared up until the season ends. At present the Phillips Blackhaws are in the driver's seat. But all the other four teams, Littlefield, Dumas, Hereford and Levelland, remain in contention.

Heavier Line
Heaviest man in the Dumas line will be 215-pound tackle Jim Davis. At the other tackle will be James Walton, 209 pounds. Jim Hembree, 193, and Kent Vick, 187, will be on guards, with Don Woodman, 160, at center. Playing ends will be Gary Ward, 180, and Bill Hibler, 170.

Staffing the backfield will be Jim Tiner, 157, Dean McLellan, 160, Dwayne Mowery, 162, and Jim Boxwell, 158. The two backfields will average approximately the same, but Dumas will hold more than a 20-pound per man weight advantage in the line.

The Hereford scouts said the Demons may have not been at full strength against Phillips. Unconfirmed rumors of an influenza epidemic among the Dumas team were flying, they said, "and they were a bit sluggish," they added. However, the Demons are expected to be ready by Friday.

No Injuries
The Whitefaces suffered no injuries against Littlefield. Quarterback John Bryant, turned an ankle in practice but is expected to be ready for full service Friday. Other than that the Herd will be at full strength. Russell will start the same team which started against Littlefield.

1-AAA ROUNDUP

'Hawks, Wildcats Knotted For Lead

Last week's 1-AAA results left the Littlefield Wildcats and the Phillips Blackhaws tied for the district lead.

After a hectic week before, the results were not quite so surprising. Both the Wildcats and Phillips took victories, with Hereford and Dumas losing. Levelland won a non-conference game, 27-7, over Anson.

Phillips Wins
In probably the top battle, Phillips defeated the Dumas Demons, 14-7. Dumas was rated a very slight favorite after their victory over Levelland. However, it was Phillips all the way, and Dumas was hard pressed to score in the last 30 seconds of the game. The Hawks were at their best for the homecoming battle which was played before more than 5,000 people.

A first half Hereford lead fell by the wayside as Littlefield came back strong in the second half to win, 31-13. Hereford led, 13-12, at halftime thanks to a tremendous passing attack. The second half was all the Wildcats', though. Both Hereford touchdowns were via the aerial route, one to all regional end Danny Elliston and another to 180-pound halfback Bill Callaway. The plays covered 73 and 75 yards.

The Levelland Lobos were impressive in their 27-7 win over Anson.

Levelland Favored
In Friday's action Levelland and Phillips collide in a game which will decide much toward the district championship. A Phillips loss would vault Littlefield to the top spot and Phillips would drop to second. The game will be played in Levelland. The Lobos will be given a one-point advantage because of the home field situation.

Dumas meets Hereford in the Whitefaces' homecoming. Dumas is the favorite by two touchdowns, but the Herd, an unpredictable crew, may be keyed up. Littlefield takes a rest with an open date.

A recent survey showed that boys are preferred as the first child. Of eighty-four percent of women less than 45 who had children, 28 percent interviewed said they had wanted their first child to be a boy, 20 percent wanted a girl, 52 percent said it did not make any difference.

Striper - Less Bass Angler

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

COLD SPRING HARBOR, N. Y. (AP)—One year ago at the tail end of boating season I caught two striped bass, one three pounds and the other nine. All I can say now is that I'm thankful I had witnesses because this year more people have come to know me as the striper-less bass fisherman.

I tried everything. I fished with three in a boat and when the days got shorter I tried two in a boat. I tried for stripers with a fishing tackle expert, a photo engraver, a proofreader, an industrialist, a telephone worker, a banker and an aircraft plant foreman. I even took the engraver's wife, a large mouth bass expert from Ocala, Fla., and took my own wife. I tried all kinds of tackle — bucktail lures, a rigged eel, a June bug spinner, a feather lure with and without sandworms, bloodworms, pork rind and a silver minnow.

I tried light lures for the top and heavier lures for the bottom. A few porgies, several snappers (young bluefish) and a 2½-pound three months fishing. But no stripers.

I saw stripers break water 15 feet from my 16-foot outboard. I saw other fellows catch them. I even saw Jim Dinkler catch one on his line but it turned out to be my biggest mistake. I had given him 6-pound test line and a reel without a drag, either of which is enough to make anybody lose line and tackle. But they weren't striking and I never thought Dinkler would hook into a striper. Next year he's bringing his own tackle. He doesn't trust me.

Why, I even tried to help fishermen I didn't know. A boy and his father were trolling in a rowboat. They were going too fast to catch stripers, I told them. They slowed down. A half-hour later they passed my boat and the boy yelled:

"Look, my first one."
He had boated a 5-pound striper and had all he could do to hold it up with both hands. The boy wasn't weak; he was that small.

A fellow in the office has been going to Montauk Point for five years. He casts from the beach. He feels so badly about his luck that he casts alone. He has seen strangers pull in stripers from the surf but all he ever got was a seagull. He had a devil of a time releasing that seagull. Twenty fellow gulls dove for the angler and chased him from the beach. All he could do was cut the line.

This same fellow suggested I charter a boat for $60 and try Montauk for stripers. He has never done it himself. Ask him why and he replies:

"I like casting for stripers."
That's the trouble with striped bass fishermen. They are stubborn but so are the stripers.

Lillard Shuns Pins For Spot

By BILL LILLARD

There are three types of bowling, spot, pin and line. Since there are champions using each type, there are good arguments in favor of each. My own choice is spot bowling.

I am a pure spot bowler. I don't ever look at the pins during the course of my stance and delivery.

When I take my stance at the center of the alley, I pick a spot where I want the ball to hit. My spot is either the second arrow from the right on alleys with the rangefinder system or the tenth board from the right on older alleys.

I start at the same spot on every alley and use the same target. I then use the trial and error method to find my strike target. Once I find the right area on a particular alley, I can bowl high scores all night, provided, of course, my delivery is always the same.

If the ball is too light in the pocket, I move my starting point, my stance, out to the right. I move only slightly to the right, and I always work around that second arrow.

If my first ball hits too high (too full) on the strike pocket, I move slightly to the left, keeping the same target, that second arrow in the rangefinder system.

If my ball is still hitting too high after this adjustment, I move both my stance and my target to the right. This is the move if your hook is too much for a strike.

At the start and on each adjustment, I always make sure I am hitting my spot. This is essential to spot bowling.

NEXT: Shooting Spares.
It is desirable to take up the quail population slack. Jennings explained that the Howe area quail harvest is another of a series of public hunts designed to harvest surplus game on the commission's experimental-demonstration tracts.

SPOT BOWLING—Here's the spot Bowler of the Year Bill Lillard shoots for when he goes for a strike.

Texas Quail Hunters Are Advised Of Public Hunt

AUSTIN — A seasonal tidbit for select few of Texas' quail hunters will be provided in the harvest of some six hundred surplus quail on the Gene Howe wild management area near Canandaigua, according to W. S. Jennings, assistant director of wildlife restoration for the Game and Fish Commission.

A public drawing will be held at the commission's headquarters in Austin to determine the approximately 60 fortunate participants in the conducted hunts which will be patterned after the original hoot-held last year when a similar number of excess quail were taken. The assistant director said interested gunners should write the commission for formal applica-

Straw Goods Are Not Hay In Bahamas

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Nearly a million Yankee dollars will be sprinkled among the 86,000 inhabitants of this British crown colony this year — for straw goods alone.

Of the 200,000 tourists who visit the Bahamas in 1956-57, an estimated 90 percent will visit the straw markets and spend $3.75 to $5 each on such things as men's and ladies' hats, handbags, belts, sandals and mats.

The supply of straw comes from the "out islands" around Nassau. Natives split the center leaf of the palm into narrow strips and plait them into bands an inch or an inch and a half wide. These are rolled into "hands" and brought to Nassau aboard sloops or steamers, along with sea shells of every size, color and description.

No one is sure just when the industry began, but 17 years ago, Mrs. Harry Roberts, a friendly, energetic, white-haired lady, got into the business followed by her two sons, Algernon and Charles. Today they operate five stores and do a brisk export trade.

They buy straw and shells from the out islands, along with sisal. They import raffia from Madagascar, used for sewing the hats, belts, sandals and other goods.

Algernon Roberts supplies many of the natives with the straw, raffia, shells and sisal needed to make the finished product. He also manufactures straw goods, that he exports to Bermuda. (The United States has a 55 percent duty on such goods, hence little goes to wholesale or retail markets.)

The straw markets along Bay Street are crammed with excitement and bustling with activity, especially when tourist ships arrive from Miami, Havana and New York.

Here each merchant has a rented stall. While the sales go on downtown each day, the old folks and children back home are patiently plaiting straw, dyeing shells and fashioning finished products

France is paying philatelic homage to great men of other lands for their contributions to the world as well as their close association with the French people.

The only American in this group is Benjamin Franklin whose 250th birthday is celebrated this year. He appears on an 18 franc adhesive. Franklin was instrumental in obtaining French aid for the colonies during the American Revolution and drew up a treaty of alliance between the two nations.

Frederic Chopin, noted pianist and composer, is on the 20 francs. Although born in Poland, Chopin came to France at the age of 21 and spent the rest of his life and musical career in France.

Soon to be issued by France will be a 30 franc stamp honoring the Olympic Games and Pierre de Coubertin, who helped restore the modern Olympics. Depicted will be a portrait of Coubertin, an athlete taking the Olympic oath and the five-ring symbol.

Pakistan has issued a new series of stamps to commemorate the first session at Dacca (East Pakistan) of the National Assembly of Pakistan. The 1/2 anna green, 2 anna dark brown and 12 anna deep red show a map of the "Province of East Pakistan."

Japan has issued a Sakura Dam commemorative stamp. The Sakura Dam on the Tenryu River which was under construction since 1952 has recently been completed. It is reported to be the greatest power plant in Japan. The new 10 yen blue adhesive depicts the dam.

West Germany has issued four "Helpers of Mankind" stamps reports the New York Stamp Co. The 7 pfennig plus 3 depicts a nurse and child, 10 pf plus 5 a portrait of Ignaz Semmelweis, 2 pf plus 10 a mother and child, and 40 pf plus 10 a nurse taking care of a child. The additional values on these stamps go to the independent welfare agencies in that country.

Two stamps have been issued by Colombia to honor Christopher Columbus. The 3 centavos grey black for regular mail and 15 centavos airmail are of identical design. They show a portrait of Columbus and the Columbus-Lighthouse Monument being built by the nations of North and South America.

From San Marino comes word of three new stamps commemorating the third International Congress of Philately. The 20 lire blue and brown, 80 lire purple and red, and 100 lire orange and green show a view of the building where the meeting took place.

On The House

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

Some nice new backyard swimming pools are going to be ruined this winter. The same goes for garden fish pools, fountains and bird baths. Reason: There's no wrecker as tricky as Jack Frost.

If you want to be smart you'll start winterizing around your residence right now, even if you don't have a pool. Some chores like calking are always necessary. And there's a new calking gun on the market that seems certain of getting a good workout from the Rio Grande to the Arctic.

Something like 30,000 new ones were built this year and a big proportion of them in northern states where they are going to freeze.

Well, don't drain your pool. Keep it filled with clean water, says Swimming Pool Age, which ought to know since it is the industry's official publication.

An empty pool is more subject to winter damage because freezing moisture in the ground will heave tremendous pressure against a pool's walls and floor. This will buckle a metal pool and crack a concrete pool. However if you keep a pool filled, preferably to a level six inches below the overflow gutter, pressure will be neutralized. The filter system should be drained by closing the main drain valve and opening the other valves.

Logs anchored in the water along the sides and ends of the pool will absorb pressure from expanding surface ice. You can lash the logs to stakes outside the pool to keep them from drifting.

A tarpaulin or vinyl-coated nylon cover will prevent leaves and debris from staining the finish and also will act as an insulating blanket. Clean and dry all equipment before you store it. Drain hose and keep it in a dark, cool place. Lay diving boards flat on 2 by 4's.

Like a boat, a house must be watertight. A good roof is not enough. Water blown into cracks around the frames of windows or doors and freezing can cause serious damage. You won't have much of a house left if you let this go on. A good calking job is the way to prevent it.

Caliking is especially important where shingles or siding meet masonry work. Also, wherever wood overlaps brick or cement, you have a potential trouble spot.

One of the problems in using most calking guns is the continued oozing of the calking compound after the bead or fill has been completed. You lay the gun down and it keeps on oozing.

Now there's a cartridge type of calking gun that eliminates such annoyance and waste to point where they're nicknaming the gun "the Wizard of Ooze." A plastic diaphragm at the base of the cartridge takes up the pressure as soon as the ratchet rod of the gun is withdrawn.

Another feature is a flexible plastic nozzle which can be adjusted to produce almost any shape of bead merely by squeezing the sides to suit. The cartridge idea, of course, is very handy. One cartridge is supposed to produce 15 to 20 linear feet of calking bead. When empty, you throw it away and put in a new cartridge. No messy job of filling and cleaning the gun.

Bible Words for Today

GALATIANS 5:22 — "But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control..." (RSV)

Most people want to be good, although they may deny it. If you accuse them of being unloving, morbid, belligerent, impatient, unkind, evil, faithless, rough, uncontrolled, they would deeply resent the accusation. Goodness, in all its manifestations, is an ideal to which we naturally subscribe and aspire.

But how shall we be good? Shall it be by auto-suggestion or self-hypnosis? "Every day in every way I am getting better and better"? Shall it be by keeping a very careful guard on oneself, watching carefully lest one find himself breaking any of the rules of good behavior? Shall it be by retreating into a shell, away from the "world", so that no temptations may attack us? Shall it be by imitation of goodness in others?

Paul tells us that there is a better way than any of these: Let the Spirit bear fruit! Let the Spirit of Christ fill your life, and your life will bear the fruit of the Spirit. Instead of patching your life and prodding yourself, let the Spirit of God have freedom to lead you. The Spirit of Goodness will always bear good fruit. Then goodness will not be an artificial addition to your life, but the natural expression of your own best self.

Driftwood May Be Art Object

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

An ordinary piece of driftwood may become a work of art says an avid collector, Dr. Ivor Griffith, president and dean of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science.

"You may take your driftwood from salt or fresh water," he says. "If it has been exposed to the constant mulling and grinding of sand and pebbles that help make compositional changes within the wood itself, you'll have a real find. Driftwood collecting is a fast growing hobby. Some pieces are especially beautiful, such as one piece I saw recently placed at the side of a house and spotlighted so as to reflect an unusually graceful ballet dancer 20 times the size of the wood. Another collector might use an attractive piece as a lamp base, still another may burn his name in driftwood to make a lovely marker outside his house.

Among treasures Griffith located is one he calls "No Room at the Inn." A natural driftwood sculpture that resembles Mary and Joseph, Griffith has used it as the basis of a Christmas card in other years. He found this cedar piece at Upper Saranac Lake in New York, but will not reveal his pet place in the Adirondack mountains that abounds in the driftwood he loves.

An unaltered fire-scarred bottom wood with birch tree fungus became "The Dawn of Thought" and another large piece found in the same region he calls "Death of the Last Great Auk."

"The alert driftwoodsman" says Griffith "knows the instant he sees a grotesque piece of wood what might develop out of it, although occasionally it may be necessary to wait until the return home to exercise the imagination."

Finishing driftwood may be lots of fun, says Griffith. He gets his soggy, clammy, cold wood home and dries it against his fireplace screen. He turns each log to dry uniformly, sort of like toasting frankfurters, although he is careful not to scorch the wood. Drying shrinks it somewhat, he says, and shapes may be altered purposefully by using heavy cord to create tensions as you go.

If you decide to alter the shape of the wood, remember it should be kept as close to the original as possible. Limit finishing agents to sandpaper, wood file, steel wool, shoe brushes and soft polishing cloths, says Griffith. A saw, hatchet and chisel will just destroy the originality of your piece. He uses No. 20 steel wool, an old flannel shirt minus buttons and shoe polish, which he says is magnificent in light refracting values. It lends the wood a soft, natural glow.

He uses microsheen shoe polishes to get shades from tan to oxblood and exotic shades of blue and green to finish off the driftwood. He suggests too, for those who enjoy bleached driftwood that liquid shoe white will do the trick in fifteen minutes, working it in with a stiff bristled brush, allowing it to dry and finishing it off with a light wax polish. Griffith finishes dried forms with sandpaper, using a wood file on unsightly knobs. He uses various grades of steel wool to bring the piece to a smooth satin finish.

Children's heads are getting bigger says a Texas designer of headwear who has been making children's hats for the past 15 years. He bases his averages on 10,000,000 hats sold since 1941 and attributes the increase in head and hat size to the fact that boys and girls are healthier, taller and bigger.

It's a good idea after washing a blanket in soap or detergent suds to hang it to dry over parallel lines set two to three feet apart.

NAMESAKES

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — The

distinguished names of Benjamin Franklin and Oliver Wendell Holmes graced the traffic court docket on the same day.

Franklin failed to show up, and Judge James McWhorter ordered a bench warrant issued. Holmes was fined $36 for speeding, operating a car without lights and running through two stop signs.

How Can I?

Q. How can I render fabrics fire-proof?

A. Soak in a solution of one pound ammonium phosphate to 1 gallon of cold water. Or, add one ounce of alum or sal ammoniac to the last rinsing water, or to the starch used for wash fabrics. This will prevent the cloth from bursting into flame, although it may smoulder.

Q. How can I make a good silver polish?

A. Mix equal parts of whiting, ammonia, and alcohol. Apply with a flannel, allow it to dry, and then polish with tissue paper.

Q. How can I wash oil paintings?

A. Wash them with warm milk and water. Rub very gently. Then dry them without rinsing.

Q. How can I clean tinware?

A. Make a paste of powdered whiting and ammonia, olive oil or sweet oil. Dip a rag into this solution and rub the tin thoroughly. When dry, polish with a soft cloth.

Q. How can I keep pies from becoming too juicy?

A. Roll a soda cracker up into fine pieces and sprinkle it on the lower crust before filling with the fruit.

Q. How can I temporarily stop a leak in the wash tub?

A. Press firmly some ordinary soap into the crack from the outside. This will prove satisfactory until a permanent repair can be made.

Q. How can I prevent having to scrape cake tins, after using?

A. Where a number of kitchen utensils are required, such as during cake baking, keep the dishpan in the sink, filled with hot water, and as each utensil is used, place it in the hot water. Washing of these articles will be greatly simplified.

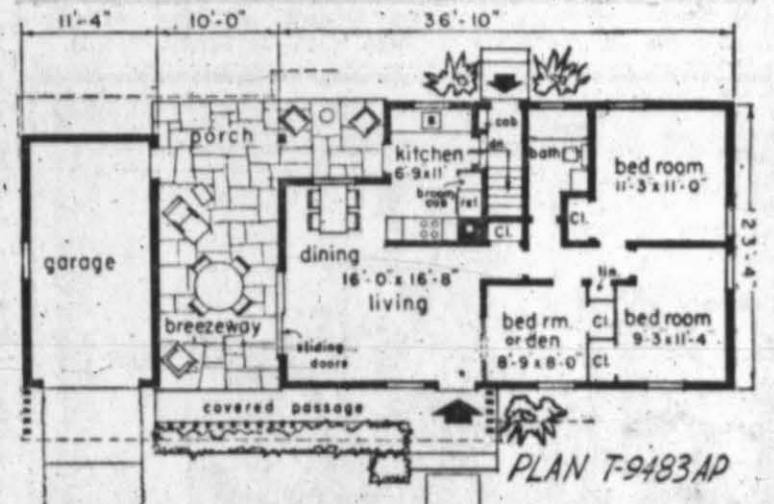

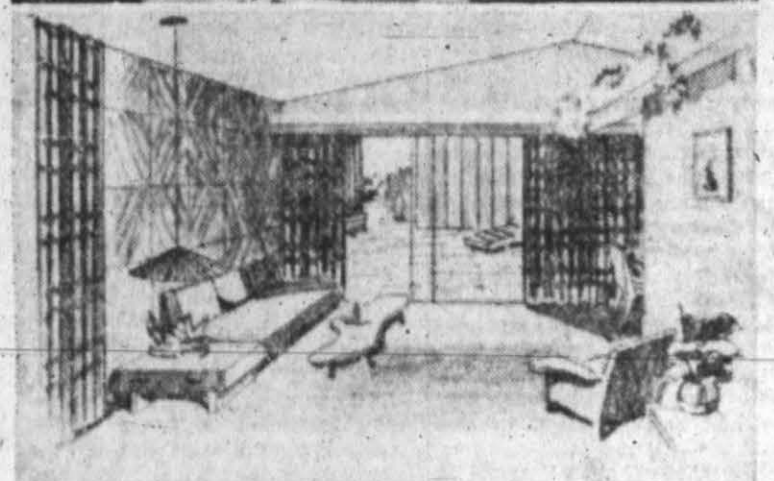

Q. How can I cork glue so that the cork will not stick and break when the glue is to be used again?

A. Rub petroleum jelly or cold cream on the cork before inserting into the bottle.

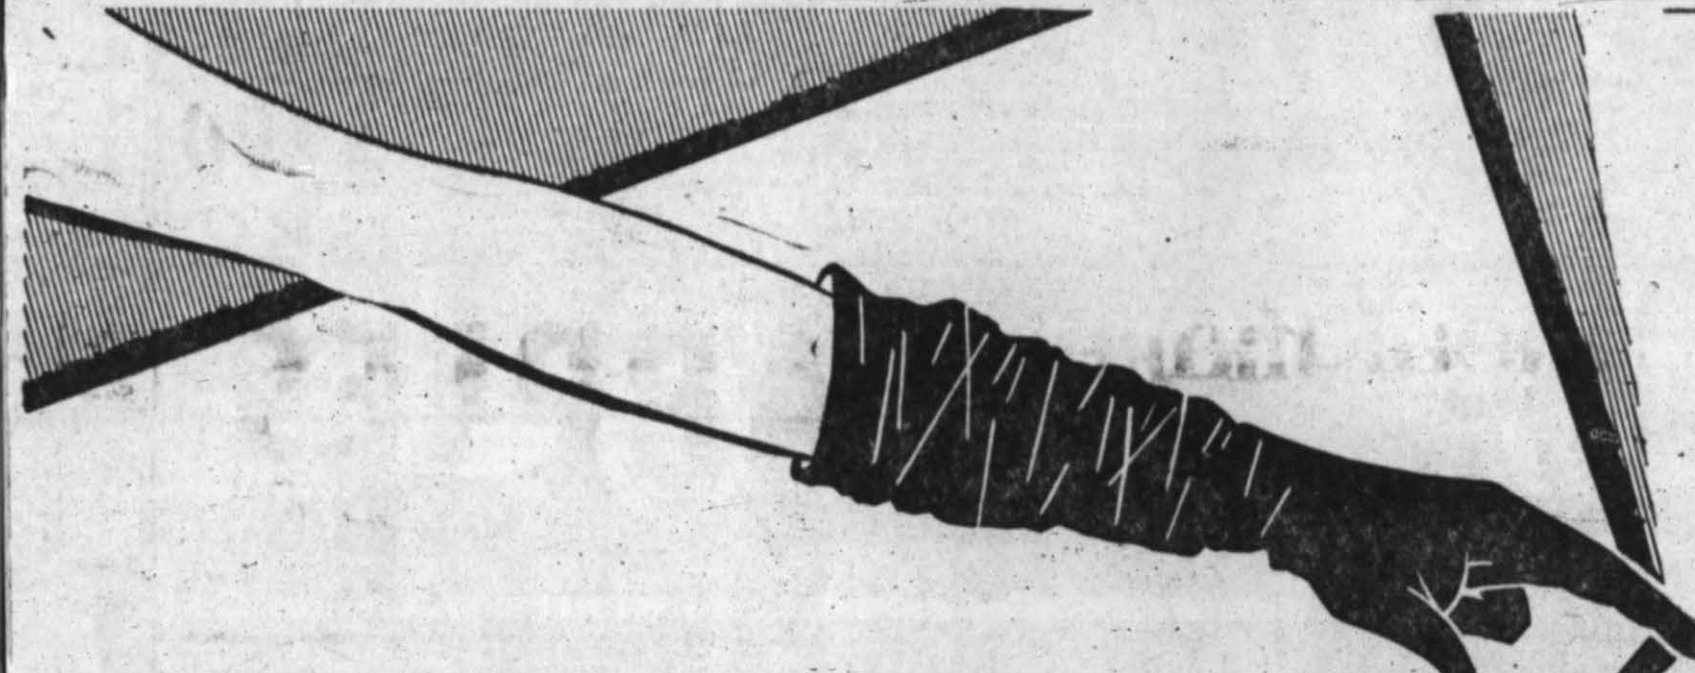

Q. How can I clean black felt?

A. By using a half cup of cold tea mixed with a teaspoonful of ammonia.

Safety Check May Be Difference In Life And Death

Getting early automobile safety inspections may mean the difference between life and death, according to G. C. Morris, executive secretary of the Highway Safety Council.

During the first month of the current inspection period, which will run through April 15, only 4 percent of the registered vehicles in Texas had been inspected.

"The importance of inspections has been proven by Department of Public Safety statistics," Morris said. "In 1951, before the inspection law went into effect, mechanical defects were a causative factor in 19 percent of the fatal accidents in Texas. Last year, that figure had been reduced to five percent.

"These figures show beyond a doubt that a person whose car is in good mechanical condition is

POTTER, Neb., (AP) — Blacksmithing is a woman's business in this western Nebraska wheat country town.

Mrs. Doreen Harmsen, a 52-year-old grandmother, is busy at the anvil and hearth of one of the town's two shops.

The other is run by Mrs. Lola Nelson, though she leaves the shop work to others.

Mrs. Harmsen was pressed into service in her husband's shop when help was short during the

They keep the smith busy in these parts. Mrs. Harmsen works six long days most of the year. "During the harvest season in late July and early August, the hours are from 7 to 7 and sometimes even longer, seven days a week," she says.

Winter Winds Demand Extra Makeup Care

Winter sports are the order of the day for all the girls. And there is no more hibernating for Mom, either. She's right there with the youngest on skates and skis.

Physical exercise is wonderful for women. It whips up the circulation, shakes the kinks out of muscles, and puts spring in the mental outlook.

Older women may pay for the privilege of cavorting with the young. Few women over 35 can afford to invite cold breezes to face, neck and hands, unless they have essential buffers in skin protectors.

A protective film of foundation cream or petroleum jelly spread lightly over the face and neck may keep this area smooth and unchapped. Hand's need a good lotion or cream under a pair of warm gloves. Lips may be protected from chapping with a new cosmetics stick that contains silicone to hold moisture in as well as antiseptic to protect against infection. This lip "ice" runs over the skin smoothly leaving its cool protective coat to guard the area.

Good warm undergarments and light windproof outer garments makes the best outdoor rig. Skiers should be sure that shoes are not too tight so that circulation is impeded, causing chill. One pair

The results obtained from the rain-getting operations of C. W. Post, the breakfast food king, were so satisfactory that it has been decided to follow the same plan next year, if it is found necessary.

Several times during the past summer, when there was danger of crops being ruined by the drought, Mr. Post had large amounts of dynamite exploded and each time a good rain followed. The cost of each rain was about when compared with the resulting good.

What might have been a serious loss in the total destruction of the new high school building was averted early Wednesday morning by the quick work of the janitor. He saw smoke coming from behind a window facing and upon examination found that a large beam near which the brick flue passed was a fire and had burned for some time. He put out the fire quickly, but the flue was put out of commission until repairs could be made. The cause of the fire is the result of poor construction, or rather unsafe construction in the flues and adjoining woodwork.

A hot bath is a marvelous way to relax after a session outdoors with Mr. Winter's blustery bite. A nap will complete the whole cycle of beauty that comes of the effort.

Several towns in the Panhandle are claiming to have struck salt water in paying quantities. But at Adrian, Oldham County, a stratum of solid rock salt 750 feet thick was penetrated by an oil prospecting company. This company may decide to mine this salt if it does not strike oil, or gas, or something better than salt.

Deaf Smith County came in for its share of the good rains that fell over the Panhandle during the last week. Tuesday night of last week brought a slight precipitation and Thursday night a heavy rain. Friday night still more rain and Monday night of this week added enough to make the total here in town nearly 1.25 inches.

Wheat will be greatly benefited by the moisture, and winter pasture will be abundant from now on, with only an even amount of rain and snow for the remainder of the winter. Farmers coming in over the weekend told of much heavier rainfall near their places than fell here in town, one of them reporting over two inches last week.

Generous Samples Of British Styles In Touring Art Show

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — "Come to England and look at painting and sculpture."

This is the invitation which, in effect, has been spread through the large halls of three museums and galleries here, constituting together one of the biggest displays of English art to be seen in many years in this country.

One show even had its spokesman — Sir John Rothenstein, director of the Tate Gallery in London, who credits the war, per se, with doing a good service for the native artist.

"The isolation of the main body of English artists during the years of the conflict," said Sir John, "gave them a chance to reflect, a respite. It relieved them from the pressures of the 'international style' in art. It granted them a new freedom in which to let their individuality expand."

Asked if he meant that there was a discernible, definable style, a French painting, an English painting, for instance, he said he believed there was but added:

"It's extremely difficult to say just what it is, for instance in the case of England. For the art we see in Paris, we speak of the 'international style.' As for the English painters and sculptors, I ought to stress the fact that they are so different, so individual — though I live in the midst of them and that makes it very hard for me to define them."

Then perhaps he could look across the ocean and, with that perspective, tell what was distinctively American?

"Nothing," he answered. "There is not much sign of a single American tradition. But I think if I had to name names, I'd look to the Northwest and such painters as Morris Graves and Mark Tobey."

He said the Tate owned works of four Americans, all bought within his administration, which began in 1938: John Marin, Bernard Perlin, Maurice Sterne and Theodore Roszak.

Sir John is also an author. His new book, "Modern English Painters: Lewis to Moore," is a sequel to his volume, now four years old, covering his fellow countrymen from "Sickert to Smith."

During his stay Sir John lectured in New England and the Midwest. It was his lectures and writing at home on contemporary British art which "inspired the acquisition and exhibition" of a collection at the E. and A. Silberman Galleries.

The show, which will be seen in several other American centers from Florida into Canada, contain works by Lynn Chadwick, newest (1956) winner of the Venice Biennale sculpture prize, and such familiar names as Epstein, Moore, Nicholson, Piper and Sutherland.

A 150-year retrospective of English painting is showing at the Museum of Modern Art, and will move later in the winter to St. Louis and San Francisco. Assembled by Andrew Carnduff Ritchie, of the museum, who also wrote the catalogue, "Masters of British Painting: 1800-1950," it offers the works of Turner, Constable, Blake, the pre-Raphaelites, Whistler, and some contemporaries. It overlaps the Silverman group, and in fact Sir John served with Sir Philip Hendy of the National Gallery and Sir Herbert Read on an advisory council assisting Ritchie.

The third show, all sculpture, has been held at the Chalette Gallery. In rooms where you usually see French artists, Chalette has presented Moore, Reg Butler, Barbara Hepworth, Adams, Paolozzi, Armitage, McWilliam and Meadows, plus a few others.

The artist in his country today, said Sir John, is better off than he used to be. The Tate director estimates that where some two dozen persons could make a living at art before the war, as many as 50 or perhaps 100 manage to do so now.

One of their problems, though, has been the lack of commercial galleries to handle them.

OUTSIDE LADDERS

DO . . . get ready for raising a long ladder against the outside of a house by laying it flat on the ground and pushing the bottom of it against the foundation.

DO . . . lift the top of the ladder, get under it, take a firm grip and raise it to the level of your eyes.

DO . . . walk forward, towards the house, moving your hands from rung to rung as you walk.

DO . . . when the top of the ladder is against the house, carefully move out the base about one-fourth the height of the ladder; thus, with a 20-foot ladder, the distance from the bottom of the ladder to the house would be about 5 feet.

DON'T . . . while working on a ladder, reach out more than an arm's length from it.

DON'T . . . ever go higher than the third rung from the top — and look at what you're doing, not up at the sky or down at the ground.

DON'T . . . paint a wooden ladder; use linseed oil or some other clear finish that will enable you to spot splits or other breaks in the wood.

DON'T . . . forget that, if your ladder is not equipped with a gadget to keep it steady on uncertain ground, you can buy an attachment for that purpose.

A SAFE WAY to raise a long ladder.

Photographers Must Know Important Story Of Light

By IRVING DESVOR
AP Newfeatures

The magic of light, by which all men see, made photography possible. Today, thanks to light, millions of pictures are snapped daily throughout the world. Only a minute percentage are great photographs which will endure for posterity. For better pictures, photographers must understand the nature of light better and be able to master it for creative purposes.

With that thought in mind, camera fans might well benefit from a careful study of the new "1957 Photographic Annual" (published by Ziff-Davis, N. Y.). Using a new approach, the editors have classified their annual collection of outstanding photographs according to the principal light sources by which they were taken — daylight, artificial and available.

In addition, each of the three groupings is introduced by an authority in that field with some sage words of advice and a portfolio of pictures. At the rear, every picture in the annual has its complete technical data listed, another instructive feature for analytical photographers.

Ansel Adams is the authority who gives his views on natural light. It's the light we've known for ages — our world under sunlight, skylight and moonlight.

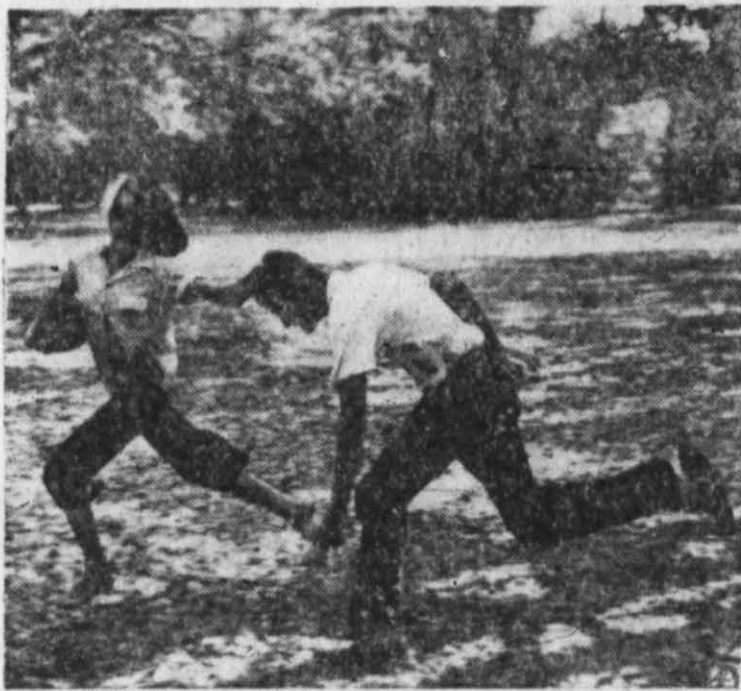

However, the qualities of natural light and the interpretation of light in a photograph are a bit more complex than we usually think.

"The 'mood' of light is paramount," says Adams. "To simulate reality, we must exercise considerable control in exposure and development of the negative and in making the final print as well. We must preserve the impressions not only what the eye sees but what the mind and heart feel when a picture is taken."

Atmospheric effects are important. Smoke, haze, mist, fog or rain should not be overlooked and their moods can be enhanced for effective photography. You must visualize the final print in order to take it properly to start with. Since you can't control natural light or move it around like a spotlight, you must shift your viewpoint or gauge your exposure, development or printing to gain the unusual effect.

Philippe Halsman is the authority on artificial light. "When you are not satisfied just to TAKE a picture but want to MAKE one," he says, "then you're ready to tackle the problem of artificial lighting."

Spotlights produce forceful lighting and throw sharp shadows. The floodlights are less harsh. The big-

TOUCH AND GO! This teen-age miss evading a tackler was the subject of a picture story about a tomboy by Carroll Seghers II of Miami. He panned his 35mm. camera to get a little blur and thus a feeling of action. Shot in the shade on a sunny day, the exposure was 1/250 second at f/5.6 with Plus X film. It appears in the 1957 Photography Annual.

er its reflector and the closer to the subject, the softer the lighting and shadows. Reflected or bounce light is delicate and usually eliminates shadows entirely.

Artificial lighting starts with a private sun, the main light. But, unlike the sun, it is under your control. When it is very close to the lens with a minimum of shadows it can flatten out the subject. At a sharp angle so that its rays graze the surface, it emphasizes the subject's texture. Set high, the light will produce deep shadow pockets under eyes and hollows under cheekbones. Set low it becomes a weird, mysterious light.

Along with light, of course, there is shadow. "How often I have blessed shadows," says Halsman. They can be used as elements of composition as well as light. They give depth to a picture. They can also be used to hide undesirable details or less attractive features."

Secondary lights can be used to soften shadows or when turned on the background can make the subject stand out. However, secondary shadows must be watched to avoid distracting cross shadows.

Bouncing or reflecting light from a ceiling or wall gives a soft, delicate, almost shadowless effect. To some it has a disadvantage for the lighting lacks strength and character. This can be overcome by introducing one direct light source into a bounce light setup, enough to give modeling but not enough to dominate. One photographer accomplished this by drilling a small hole in his flash reflector which faced the subject when the flash was aimed at the ceiling. A small amount of direct light escapes and hits the subject.

There is the danger of striving for too obvious effects with artificial lighting. It should be a tool used to emphasize the mood and carry the theme of a picture without drawing attention to itself. "A viewer should admire the finished work and not the way a photographer used his tools," Halsman concludes.

Ed Feingersh is the authority and exponent on available light photography. It has reached its present peak of popularity due to the tremendous technical advances and availability of fast lenses, fast films and super developers.

It requires minimum equipment on the part of the photographer and preserves the natural atmosphere of scenes. With less to fuss with, it leaves more time to concentrate on subject matter and

How To Care For Patent Leather's

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Those patent leather shoes and bags need a lot of care to keep them at their gleaming best.

Patent leather is very sensitive to heat and cold and few manufacturers guarantee that the shoes will not crack or peel.

Bernetta Kahabka, clothing specialist at Michigan State University, has some tips for babying along patent leather.

She suggests warming the shoes by rubbing them with the hands before going out, especially when the shoes are new or on a cold day. Or the shoes may be worn for a while in the house to accustom them to body temperature and to soften the leather.

Patent leather shoes or accessories, she advises, should be kept in a dry closet, never too near a radiator and never where cold will crack them.

Check your shoe dealer before using creams, oils or greases on patent leather, she advises.

Patent leather handbags also should be handled with care, the clothing expert says, especially when opening or closing them in cold weather.

HOME SEWING PUTS ON AIRS

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The sewing machine has made a "clothing constructor" of the latter-day seamstress, says Mrs. Edna Bryte Bishop, fashion consultant and educator.

Mrs. Bishop says "pins and basting" are now taboo in garment preparation. Instead it's "stitch and press."

The garment is "constructed" by cutting, fitting, sewing and also pressing, she advised, adding:

"Constant fitting eliminates so many mistakes and directional pressing and stitching are musts."

Mrs. Bishop, who calls McDonald, Pa., home, was here to conduct one of the many classes in sewing she teaches over the nation.

The significant instant of shooting. The medium can be misused too, warns Feingersh. To many, the experience of taking pictures under lighting conditions that were considered impossible till now, is an exciting novelty. They limit their thinking about light to one question: "Will it give me an exposure?"

Correctly used, it should contribute to the visual impact of the finished picture. One should use available light like an artist uses colors to make a painting to establish mood and design. All three experts are in agreement that no matter what light is used, it can be adapted to creative photography by a photographer who stops to think before he presses the button.

Fried Food Safe For Baby If You Just Fix It Right

by DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D. Newsfeatures

"May I let Tommy have french fries, doctor?" Tommy's mother asked timidly. She seemed to expect a lecture on the evils of fried foods.

"Are you a good cook?" I asked her. She looked at me in great surprise. "Why, I suppose so," she said nally. "but why do you ask?" "If you are a good cook, of course Tom can have french fries."

There is a great superstition about fried foods. Many people seem to think there is some special evil in the frying pan. This is mostly superstition nowadays, but like many beliefs, it is an historical basis in fact.

A generation or more ago the custom in many households was to keep a can of drippings on the back of the coal stove. A ladleful of drippings was put in the frying pan whenever a food needed to be fried. Small wonder the food so cooked got a bad reputation. The drippings were kept warm on the back of the stove, the can was seldom emptied and washed. More drippings were added every time any food needed to be poured off a pan. The drippings became rancid. Rancid fat is quite indigestible. Food cooked in rancid fat is likely to cause digestive troubles. People said fried foods made them sick. No one seemed to realize that it was the rancid fat that caused the trouble.

Nowadays no one has a can of drippings on the back of the stove. If you fry potatoes in fresh fat use potatoes are just as good for a child as a boiled or mashed potato to which you add a lump of butter. Fresh fat means fat that is not rancid. You can use bacon grease safely. When you cook bacon put the fat into a clean container and use it in the refrigerator until you want to use it. Next time you use it, use a clean, clean container for the fat you pour off. One more precaution when you fry foods. Do not let the grease smoke. If you forget the pan and the fire is too hot and it smokes, pour the fat away and start again. When fat smokes chemical changes take place in it similar to the changes that make it rancid. Another point about frying, have the grease hot (but not smoking) before you add the food. Hot fat cooks the food without soaking into it and produces crisp golden brown delicious food which is quite digestible.

So if you are a good cook and fry your foods well there is no reason why you cannot give children, even as young as a year, fried foods — french fries, fried chicken, fried mushrooms, french toast and all the multitude of tasty things most of us, children and adults alike, enjoy.

How Can I?

Q. How can I leave house plants for several days, so that they will have sufficient moisture?

A. Place a number of bricks in a tub, set the flower pots on the bricks, and pour in water to cover the bricks. The plants will draw sufficient moisture.

Q. How can I iron over buttons?

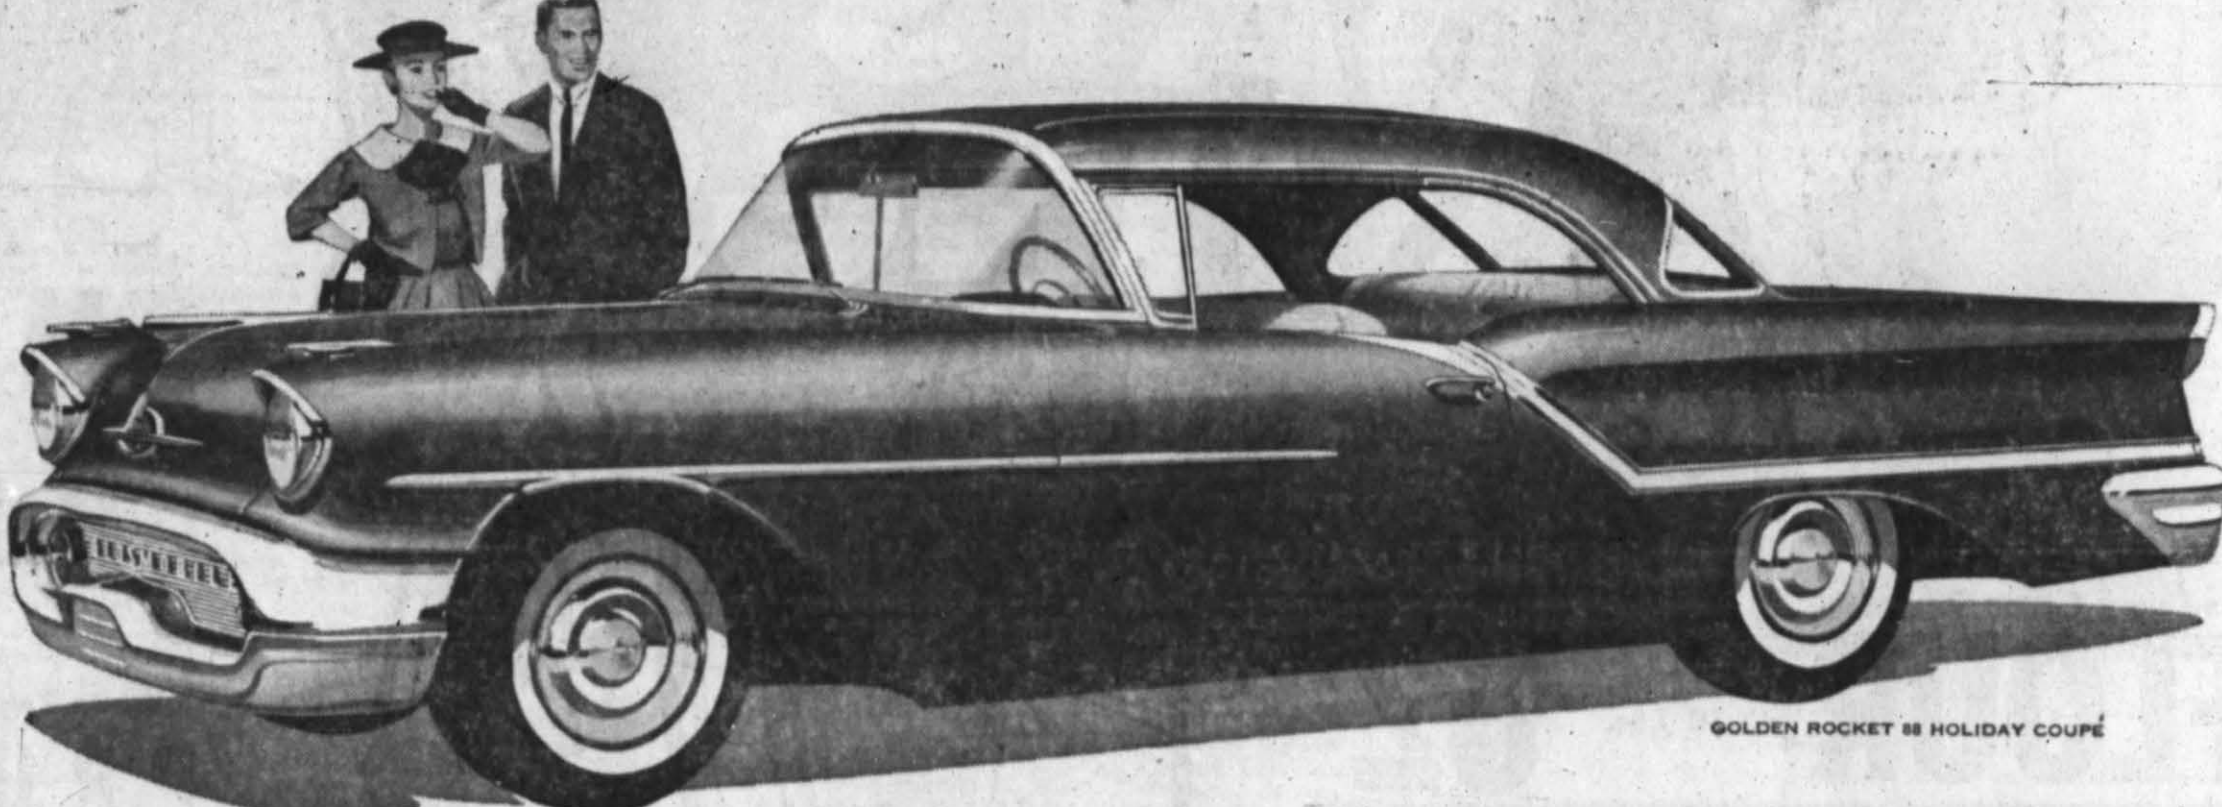

A. Turn a button into several pieces and lay the garment with the buttons face down. Iron the garment on the wrong side. The buttons will sink into the towel and the work will be smoothly finished.

Q. How can I give prunes a better flavor?

A. A few slices of lemon, or a few spices, cooked with prunes, add a delicious flavor.

Variety In Brussels Sprouts

By CECIL W. BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Let brussels sprouts, Tom Thumb member of the cabbage family, lend variety to menus. The English, who seem to dote on this vegetable, are teased for serving it in one fashion: plain boiled. Americans, with their customary energy, are inclined to offer the miniature heads in various ways. Here for your delectation are two recipes.

But one admonishment! Cook brussels sprouts only until tender-crisp; this way they'll retain their pretty green color and have a delicate flavor and interesting texture. Four reward for this care in cooking, will be the pleasure with which the sprouts will be greeted at your table.

BRUSSELS SPROUTS—Layered with tangy cheese sauce and topped with buttered crumbs.

BRUSSELS SPROUTS AU GRATIN

Ingredients: 1 pint basket (¾ to 1 pound) Brussels sprouts, boiling water, salt, Cheese Sauce, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 cup soft bread crumbs.
Method: Wash Brussels sprouts in cold water; remove the wilted leaves and soak in salted water about 20 minutes. Rinse and place in a saucepan with 1 inch of boiling water and ¼ teaspoon salt. Bring to boiling point; boil 3 minutes without cover. Cover and boil until tender-crisp—10 to 20 minutes. Drain, if necessary, and place in baking dish (1 quart), alternating layers of sprouts with Cheese Sauce. Melt butter and mix with bread crumbs. Sprinkle crumbs over the top of vegetable and sauce. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until bubbly hot—20 minutes or longer. If topping isn't browned, dish may be placed under broiler for a minute or so. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

CHEESE SAUCE
Ingredients: 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, pepper, 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind, ¼ cup grated sharp cheddar cheese.
Method: Melt butter in saucepan over low heat; blend in flour. Add milk; cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until bubbly and thickened. Remove from heat. Add salt, pepper to taste, grated lemon rind and grated cheese. Stir until cheese melts. If necessary, place sauce over very low heat and stir constantly to finish melting cheese. Makes 1½ cups.

COMPANY BRUSSELS SPROUTS

Ingredients: 1 quart basket (about 2 pounds) Brussels sprouts, boiling water, salt, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons slivered blanched almonds.
Method: Wash Brussels sprouts in cold water; remove wilted leaves and soak in salted water about 20 minutes. Rinse and place in a saucepan with 1 inch of boiling water and ½ teaspoon salt. Bring to boiling point; boil 3 minutes without cover. Cover and boil until tender-crisp—10 to 20 minutes. Drain, if necessary. Melt butter in a small skillet (6 or 7 inches); add almonds; brown almonds slowly, stirring often. Sprinkle almonds with salt to taste. Now pour over Brussels sprouts; toss lightly. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

The Cook Book
Just another touch to brighten up the kitchen is a gay oilcloth cover for the cook book. It not only adds to its appearance, but it makes it easier to wipe off any grease that may accidentally drop on the cover.

Clean Screens
Before repainting door and window screens, clean them with gasoline. It is more effective in removing dirt than water.

After Shellacking
Brushes which have been used for shellacking should be washed in denatured alcohol, then in soap and water. Straighten the bristles and put the brushes away dry.

Club Studies Cover Knowledge Of Texas

Personal knowledge of Texas and its many notable and notorious folklore tales has been the basis of discussions at recent home demonstration club meetings in the county. Each club member has contributed interesting facts to these "talking it over" sessions.

Hereford HD Club Honor Guests At Spaghetti Supper

Members of the North Hereford H. D. Club were entertained with a supper and game night held at the Walcott School on Friday, Nov. 2. Hostesses for the occasion were members of the Messenger H. D. Club.

The tables were decorated with fall flowers, fruits and vegetables for the main course of Italian spaghetti and a salad. A dessert course followed.

Feature of the game hour was the playing of "My Most Embarrassing Moment" which was enjoyed by all attending. A spelling bee and the identification of flags, as well as other games, were also included.

Guests attending were Mesdames Paul Hoff, Frank Brinkman, A. A. Hare, R. A. Fullwood, Glen Kapp, Belle Williams, C. L. Whitehead, Nell Hodges, Otto Massie and Miss Roberta Campbell.

The hostesses included Mesdames W. D. Howard, Joe A. Brown, J. T. Gulnn, H. D. Buse, Floyd Brown, R. J. Coleman, Bruce Coleman, E. M. Jack, Bob Howard, Roy Pruitt, Eldred Brown, N. A. Brown and Alta Wyley.

SPAGHETTI TIME
ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—What's the favorite noon-time dish of school children? That's easy—spaghetti, say school cafeteria managers.

Why? One manager said it was because spaghetti was familiar and one said it was because children hate to chew. Another said: "Spaghetti goes down quickly and kids are always in a hurry."

WATCH THAT ADVICE
COLUMBUS, Miss. (AP)—Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin, urging members of the Lowndes County Farm Bureau to do more bragging about Mississippi, climaxed his talk with this advice: "Yell like Texans."

SAFETY LAST
SEATTLE (AP)—A "stamped" selector cable trapped 19 persons here for 45 minutes in an elevator. The place? The Public Safety Building.

U. S. Army Family Is Off To Europe Again

By JUDY PINNELL
An extended Army leave was brought to an abrupt close this week when Sgt. James Morgan received a long distance telephone call from Brooklyn, N. Y., with orders to board a plane from New York on Nov. 13 for an 18 hour flight to Paris France. Sgt. Morgan and his family have been visiting with relatives and life-long friends in Adrian for the past 60 days.

James was born in Hereford and received a major portion of his education in the schools of Adrian. He entered the service eight years ago in California and soon sent back for his childhood sweetheart, Edith Jordan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Jordan, and they were married.

First Overseas Duty
Overseas duty was the next step for James and the couple was separated for a time. Mrs. Morgan joined him in Germany a short while later. Little black-eyed Edith joined the family in Germany. When the couple returned to California, she was a year and a half old and was speaking quite a bit of German and little English.

While Sgt. Morgan was stationed at Presidio, Calif., another little daughter, Cal, was born. Young John is a native of San Bernardino and another little Morgan will become a member of the family in France.

Appeal For Help
The Morgans' stay in Adrian became a problem when it appeared that their leave was extended beyond the limits of shipping for Mrs. Morgan. They appealed for help to the Red Cross only last week.

The Red Cross began to pull magical strings and by the first of this week the telephone call from Brooklyn came, advising the Morgan family to be ready to leave New York on Nov. 13. They will arrive in Paris, France, just 18 hours after their departure from the States.

Their new home is to be in Portiers, France, only a short drive from Paris. They expect to reside there for the coming four years.

To Visit En Route
A cross-country jaunt to reach New York began Saturday as the Morgans departed from Adrian. They will leave their car in New York to be sent over on a ship later. They expect to visit with other relatives en route to their departure station.

James is only one of Mrs. Nell Morgan's sons who have decided to make Uncle Sam's armed forces a life career. He volunteered for duty in the Army on April 8, 1948 and received his training in California. He says that he has thoroughly enjoyed the past eight years of his Army career and expects to serve for 22 more years.

Insects and Man Match Paces In Survival Battle

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Insects are keeping pace with man in the battle for survival. That is the opinion of scientists who attended a southern regional work conference on nuclear energy here. They said the insect population is at its peak and the weight of insects now in the world equals the weight of man.

Dr. Frank Soday of Decatur, Ala., said insects in many instances adjust themselves to local conditions and develop immunity to poisons, so that man must constantly devise new methods of eradicating them.

Dr. Eric Rodgers of the University of Alabama reported that insects are far more numerous now than when he was a boy. He said there are even reports of the boll weevil now attacking corn instead of cotton.

Dr. Ralph W. Singleton, professor of biology at the University of Virginia, pointed out that such modern means of transportation as autos and planes have spread insects far and wide, giving them a chance to establish new beach-heads.

Success in solving pest control problems will depend largely on a vigorous program of research, say the scientists, who warn that man must wage a continuing fight if he is to keep ahead of the insect.

OH, YEAH!
CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—A sign for motorists traveling on a nearby highway reads: "Don't just sit there, nag your husband."

The interesting combination of foods in this unusual Ham and Rice Salad recipe blends perfectly to make an excellent bridge party salad, or a substantial main dish for a hungry family. Salad dressing is suggested because its tartness will bring out the full flavor of these ingredients. Serves parsley biscuits, blueberry tarts, and lemons to round out the menu. Try it on an Indian summer day for an outdoor luncheon.

HAM AND RICE SALAD
2 cups cold cooked rice
1 cup diced cooked ham
½ cup cut dates
½ cup broken walnut meats
½ cup salad dressing
1 T. lemon juice
½ t. salt
Combine all ingredients and toss lightly. Chill thoroughly. Serve on crisp lettuce with additional salad dressing. Yields six servings.

Older Girls Give First Aid Lesson To 4-H Club Meet

The administering of first aid, with emphasis upon artificial respiration, has been the feature of recent girls' 4-H Club meetings, according to reports received from the reporter of each group. Demonstrations of the first aid techniques have been presented to each club by the older girls who have taken the training lessons.

Argen Draper
Linda Tooley and Audni Miller presented a demonstration on the administering of first aid when the Argen Draper 4-H Club met at the Dawn School on Oct. 18.

During the business session, the girls voted to make candles as the club project for this year. Those attending were Linda Tooley, Audni Miller, Betty Hagar, Wainne Beavers, Dotha Stewart Gail Miller, Mrs. Lenoy Tooley and Mrs. H. H. Miller.

Jolly Girls
The Jolly Girls 4-H Club met in the home of Fern Coursey on Oct. 25 for a lesson on first aid. Administering artificial respiration was the feature of the demonstration given by Wynona Roberts, Arlene Cupell and Fern Coursey.

Members attending were Arlene Cupell, Linda Cupell, Nancy Browning, Wynona Roberts and Fern Coursey. Others present included Mrs. Dyer and Mr. and Mrs. Coursey.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 8 in the home of Arlene and Linda Cupell.

DING DONG SCHOOL
TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Something went haywire the other day with the bell system which signals the time to change classes at Plant High School.

But assistant principal Orriem M. Schieter was equal to the emergency. At the end of each period, he spoke briefly over the intercommunications system which link the classrooms.

Said Schieter to the students: "Ding-dong! Ding-dong!"

NO EXCHANGES
VISTA, Calif. (AP)—A woman whose home was burglarized twice in two days says she is expecting a third call from the thief.

Mrs. Mary Williams said a camera was stolen the first time the thief entered her home. The following day an electric shaver was taken.

Later Mrs. Williams found a crumpled note on her front porch. "I shall return," the note said.

In Russia, children go to school six days a week.

OBSERVES 98th BIRTHDAY—H. C. Doak was born on Nov. 5, 1858, in Benton County, Mo. He came to Texas on Feb. 12, 1900, moving first to Silverton and then on to Hereford in 1918. Mr. Doak's family includes three daughters, Mrs. Mary Woolery, with whom he makes his home here in Hereford; Mrs. Delphie Gardner of Tulia, Mrs. Stella Brookshire of Silverton; and one son, R. A. Doak of Eugene, Ore. He has 18 grandchildren and 38 great grandchildren. His wife, Manerva, passed away in 1936, one son, H. V. Doak, in 1937 and another son, E. E. Doak, in 1955.

H. D. CHATTER TWO DEAF SMITH AGENTS ARE GIVEN 10-YEAR CERTIFICATES

By ARGEN DRAPER
The meeting at College Station was very good. It rained one morning while we were down there. People from all over the state are talking about the drought and the cattle and sheep ranges being about gone and how many ranchers are selling their stock. It is rumored that approximately 125,000 farm families have left the farm the last few years. This is a distressing thing and should be the concern of all of us. We advocate farm life and what a wonderful life it is but looks like there are going to have to be some radical changes before we can attract the best of our youth to come to the farm.

Price Daniel talked at our banquet of the Agents' Associations. He is a good speaker; tells jokes well, informs himself about the group before whom he speaks. The statement that got the biggest applause was that state workers are not paid well enough for the time and effort and training that is put into the job.

The Plains always look good to me. There's really no place like home. Hugh Clearman and I both received certificates from the Department of Agriculture for 10 years of service with the Department.

NO BOOSTERS FOR ROOSTERS
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Tallahassee's city commission has passed an ordinance which makes the keeping of roosters in the city a misdemeanor punishable by a fine up to $500 and 60 days in jail. Hens are OK.

OBSERVES 100th BIRTHDAY—Mrs. Mary Joephine Watkins of Tucumcari observed her 100th birthday on Thursday, Nov. 1, with a reception held in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Kaighn, in Tucumcari. Mrs. Watkins is the grandmother of Mrs. Ray Godwin of Hereford. The observance was attended by Mrs. Godwin and daughters, Nancy and Becky. Pictured here are Mrs. Watkins, daughter, Mrs. Kaighn and her physician, Dr. A. T. Gordon. Mrs. Watkins says that she is certainly a good advertisement for the medical profession, having attained 100 years of age despite a serious injury suffered three years ago from which she has not fully recovered.

RESORT PREDICTION:

Just Plain Black And White

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

In any season when color is rampant, just plain black and white begins to look awfully, awfully smart.

This is the reasoning of Mr. Mort, the bachelor who turns out dresses by the ton for enthusiastic juniors all over the country. So his new resort collection, forecasting the new look for next summer, puts strong emphasis on sun dresses, play dresses and cocktail dresses in plain white, plain black or a combination of the two.

"Nothing dramatizes a good sun-tan like black or white," says this alert authority. "The kind of girl I like to be seen with in the good old summertime is a girl with a golden tan and a white dress that does things in the right places."

Mr. Mort also has a yen for polka dots this season, a group of his most striking resort fashions being various treatments of black and white dots. One style bound to stand out at any resort is a sleeveless patio or cocktail dress of a white cotton printed in graduated black polka dots arranged to look like stripes. The Empire look is achieved by narrow black bands which crisscross under the bust to tie at the waistline in front.

Another is of plain white cotton with a harem skirt and a crisscross band of black and white polka dots wrapping and tying around the midriff.

The group includes half a dozen other variations of the black and white theme, all in crisp, easily washable cottons, designed to flatter the youthful figure.

The population of the world is growing at the rate of about 1 1/2 per cent a year.

USING HAND PLANES

DO... bear in mind that the key to good planing is a sharp blade, adjusted so that it extends a hair's width beyond the bottom and is parallel with it.

DO... plane with the grain (wherever possible), starting at one end of the wood with the toe of the plane flat on the surface and exerting over-all pressure as the rear handle comes over the wood.

DO... avoid breaking a corner on end grain by planing from the corner towards the middle.

DO... sharpen a plane blade on grinding wheel for best results, using an adjustable holder to get the right angle and rounding the corners ever so slightly on a sharpening stone.

DO... also use the sharpening stone for removing the wire edge usually formed by a grinding wheel.

DON'T... set down the plane on its bottom; rest it on the side, and when it is not to be used again for a period of time, retract the blade.

DON'T... be a lazy planer; turn the wood around in the vise whenever necessary to avoid awkward positions and poor results.

STONE will remove the wire edge, formed by a grinding wheel when sharpening the bevel of a plane blade.

DON'T... try to judge the smoothness of a planed surface by eye (as professionals do); use a try square at all times.

DON'T... forget that while the ordinary jack plane is probably the best all-around plane for a home workshop, there are many other types for specific purposes... among them the block, smooth, fore, jointer and rabbit planes.

Belts Tell Story Of New Styles

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Belts are back in the fashion picture, after several beltless years past.

And now that they're back, they are the accents of the various new silhouettes. Their placement defines the fashion. Worn just under the bust, a belt proclaims an Empire silhouette. Worn around the hips, it may suggest the bygone flapper look. Worn at the waistline, where it started, it defines a shirtwaist dress or a two-piece dress or a blouse and skirt.

Designers on both sides of the Atlantic are using belts in many ways this season. There are wide, dramatic belts with jeweled buckles used on some of the newest dinner gowns. These accent the midriff, reaching from normal waistline almost to the bustline, giving an Empire effect.

Contoured belts narrow in front, wide and dipped in back, give a new line to sheath dresses. Narrowest beneath the bust of a slim dress, for a new effect.

With the popular bloused silhouette, the belt is worn at the natural waistline, and it may be wide or narrow, in leather or satin, its color matching or contrasting with the dress.

Belted suits are important this year, with the belts worn everywhere from just below the shoulder blades to just above the hips.

MOVIE NEWS

Drag Strips, Prison Life Are Movie Fare

DOUBLE FEATURE

Lori Nelson and John Smith star in "Hot Rod Girl," the story of speedhappy youngsters, the operation of drag-strips, and the inevitable touch of juvenile delinquency.

The story concerns the fight by Chuck Connors to maintain a patrolled drag strip to keep hot-rodgers off city streets. Smith is the leader of this gang, but when his younger brother is killed in a crash, he withdraws, and the entire patrolled movement falls apart. With danger riding the streets and the youngsters breaking all the laws, the film moves along to an exciting climax.

As a job of picture making, the previews call it "woefully weak" concerning the scripting, direction, production values, and acting. Efforts to weave excitement and suspense into situations that couldn't possibly generate them miss by a country mile.

Showing on the same program is "Girls In Prison," starring Richard Denning, Joan Taylor, Adele Jergens, and Helen Gilbert. As concerns all of its basic ingredients, this is a far better picture than "Hot Rod Girl."

This is the story of women without men in a snake-pit of violence. Three beauties are involved in murders, fights and a thrilling prison break. The story tells of a girl imprisoned as a result of robbery and the attempt of vicious women prisoners to make her reveal the hiding place of the loot.

Academy award winner Jane Darwell appears as a prison matron, cynical of prison chaplain Richard Denning's efforts to clear Joan Taylor.

Household Tips

Add a little monosodium glutamate to the water in which you simmer a stewing chicken. You'll find this vegetable protein derivative will heighten the broth's flavor.

Kitchen arithmetic: five medium-sized beets make about one pound.

When there are a couple of slices of canned pineapple leftover, dice them and fold them into a half cup of cream (whipped, flavored with vanilla and sweetened). Use as topping for store-bought sponge-cake cups.

Bits of crisply-cooked bacon scattered over creamed spinach help win friends for that vegetable.

Try adding dill (fresh or dried) to pan-fried pork chops.

Is the caning of your chair sagging? Try turning the chair upside down and applying a damp towel to the under side of the caning.

Are you constantly wearing out your stockings at the heel? Then rub paraffin on the top insides of your shoes.

No More Stretchers?

... Oh, that this could be true! It could be if we feared God more and had greater love for mankind. Surely, this is the day when our swords must give way to ploughshares, and our spears must be refashioned into pruning-hooks. The terrible times at Lexington, Gettysburg, Normandy, Santiago Bay, Chateau Thierry, Okinawa and Korea should fortify our efforts for Peace. The spilled blood of American manhood must not go for naught... we must let battles of the past be the last. A way to eliminate 'war-need for stretchers' must be found... we must save our men and through honorable means abolish war. This is in Memorium of all our soldiers who paid the last full measure in our terrible wars. A-men.

Small Fry Modes To Reflect Robin Hood

RIGHT OUT OF SHERWOOD FOREST—This pint-size charmer wears a Robin Hood cap, complete with feather, and authentic boots with suedelike fabric tops and neoprene soles.

AP Newsfeatures
Robin Hood and his merry men are setting the styles for small fry once more, as both boys and girls emulate the dashing archer in new caps and boots with an adventurous air.
Popular with the kindergarten set this season are Robin Hood caps and matching boots in soft suedelike fabric with flocked designs. The boots may be worn indoors or out, have long-wearing neoprene soles and tops that resist scuffing. The caps are complete with rakish feather. Caps and the matching boots come in such color combinations as green and red, gold and blue, mustard and green, budget priced.

Beauty At Home

Q. Just what can I do about dandruff?

A. The skin of the scalp, like all skin, scales a little — so don't be alarmed if you find yourself shedding tiny white particles. Careful and frequent shampoos, plus regular brushing, will take care of them. However, if the flakes are large and rather oily, and if there is a great deal of itching, see your doctor about it, as you may be threatened with "seborrheic dermatitis." Left untreated, this can spread to the face and shoulders.

Q. Is there a way I can camouflage small brown spots, freckles, and other such discolorations on my face?

A. Try using a tinted foundation a shade or two darker than your skin tone. To hide serious discolorations, such as birthmarks, there are a number of good special makeup preparations especially for this purpose, on the market.

Q. How can I remove gravy stain from one of my non-washable frocks?

A. Sponge with cool water. Then apply an absorbent, or sponge with carbon tetrachloride.

Q. What treatment can I give hair that has been overbleached?

A. Use some lukewarm olive oil or sweet almond oil, and after rubbing this in with a rotating movement, take each strand between the palms and work the oil into it. Dip a turkish towel in warm water and wring out. Wrap tightly around the head, and keep repeating this for 20 to 30 minutes. Take this oil treatment at intervals until there is a noticeable improvement in the condition of your hair.

Q. Please suggest a good hand and arm bleach.

A. Cucumber juice, mixed with equal parts of rose water and glycerin.

Q. How can I help to firm and lift the drooping corners of my mouth?

A. Dip a pad of absorbent cotton into astringent lotion and lift the corners of your mouth by a brisk patting movement, "lifting" as you pat. Pat upwards in a straight line, then do a little "whipping" motion at the corners. Now pat from the chin line, slantwise across the mouth up towards the ear. Then use a little cream and mold the mouth with the fingertips. Beauty masks are a help, too.

Q. What can I do about the yellowish tinge my graying hair is acquiring?

A. Bluing rinses are good for toning this down. The amount used depends upon whether you wish only to whiten the hair, or to give it a decided blue cast. There are pre-den when a huckster wagon passed by ringing a bell.

"I wouldn't have been aware of the wagon except for the bell," she said. "I thought what a wonderful thing it would be if we would ring the bells on election day to get out the vote."

parations (rinses) which give a sophisticated violet or greenish cast. Where the hair is partially dark and partially gray, the darker portion will take on the darkest tone. Therefore, apply to the gray strands first and tone in the darker hair afterwards.

Q. I have a long, thin neck. How should I dress to counteract this?

A. High necklines are best for you, perhaps softened with ruffles, a choker necklace, or a collar in a contrasting color. Your hair should not be too short, either.

Q. What is a good exercise for arm, chest and shoulder development?

A. Fifteen million soldiers can't be wrong about the benefits of the "push-up." With hands on floor about 15 inches apart, hold body in a straight line from head to foot. Bend elbows until you are flat on floor. Now, push up with the arms until the elbows are straight and your body is in a head-to-foot slope. Breathe out as you lower yourself, breathe in as you push up.

Grass Stains

When removing grass stains from white cottons or linens only, rub with grease (cooking fat or oil) and wash in hot suds; bleach any remaining stain with hydrogen peroxide or alcohol, rinsing well afterward. With any washable colored fabric, wash in lukewarm suds and treat stubborn stains with alcohol or hydrogen peroxide, then rinse, well. In both cases, stains must be treated before garments are laundered.

Rust

Rust can be removed from fabrics by using lemon juice and salt. Then hold over a steaming teakettle. The steam will aid greatly in removing the spots.

The Skin

That greasy shine of the skin can be avoided by washing every morning and night with water, in which a pinch of borax has been dissolved.

Blackheads

A treatment for blackheads is to use soap and water freely. Gently massage a thick lather on the face, and when it has dried rinse off thoroughly. The larger blackheads can be pressed out with the fingers, using care not to bruise the flesh. Then sponge the skin with witch hazel. This treatment ought to be used daily.

Candles

The grease of the candles will not drip down the sides if they are given a coat of white varnish and put away to dry for several days. They will also last twice as long.

Removing Cake Crust

If you ever burn the crust on a cake you're baking, remove the crust with a grater rather than with a knife.

Dry Hair

A hot oil shampoo is good for dry hair. Heat pure olive oil and apply to the hair and scalp at bedtime. Bind the hair with a towel, and the next morning wash with a mild, liquid shampoo. Use this treatment about once a week.

Female Paul Revere Rings Election Bell

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A vivacious Nashville woman has come up with a bell-ringer to stir Americans out of complacency on election day.

Miss Ruby Lee Adams proposes that bells throughout the land be rung once an hour Nov. 6 to "awaken people to their opportunity and chance to vote." In 1952, she said, only 62.7 per cent of American adults voted in the presidential election.

She first voiced her thoughts in a story published by the Nashville Banner. Copies were sent to fellow members of American Women of Radio and Television. To date, Miss Adams has received hundreds of requests for reprints. "The reception has been marvelous, simply marvelous," she says.

Briefly, Miss Adams suggests that church bells be sounded in cities and towns, youth groups such as the Boy Scouts press doorbells and radio and television stations ring bells each hour.

How did Miss Adams, a self-employed research specialist, ever think of her "get out the vote" idea?

"I was working in my rose gar-

New Letters Shed Light On Young Lee

By SYD KRONISH

AP Newsfeatures
Gen. Robert Edward Lee's reputation as a brave soldier and keen military strategist during the turbulent Civil War is preserved in history.

But behind the stiff and serious facade of the soldier lay the warm and witty soul of a man with a zest for life.

And, as history relates, his happiest years were spent as a junior officer in the U. S. Army before the Civil War.

This young Lee vividly comes to life in a newly found and hitherto unpublished batch of 13 letters written by him between Nov. 3, 1831, and June 21, 1846.

To Best Friend

They were written to his best friend and former West Point roommate, Lt. John Mackay, and were saved for posterity by Mackay's family.

The fact that they were saved at all is one of the most remarkable things about them since they were written at a time when Lee was a young officer with no indication that one day he would become the general-in-chief of the Confederate armies.

The letters speak of adventures with the Indians, barracks life in the Army, and a secret expedition being fitted out to take over California.

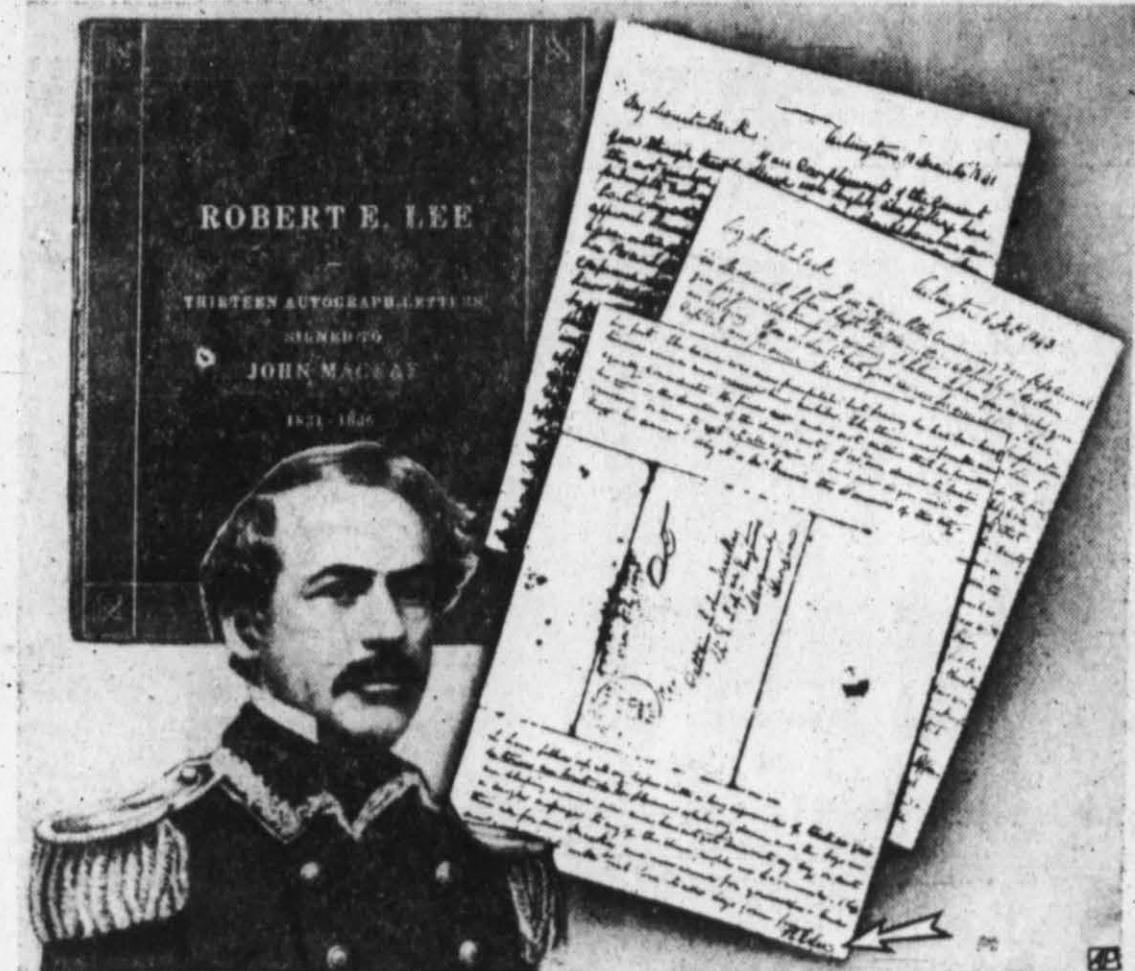

But this great man's letters also reveal a charming individual with a keen sense of humor and love for friends and family.

Lee makes many affectionate references to his family, calling his children "the dearest annals of the season" and tells how they play while he is at work. "I have been made a horse, a dog, ladder and target for a cannon by the little Lees since I started writing."

Sense of Humor

This one, dated March 18, 1841 from Lee's home in Arlington, Va., was written tongue in cheek fashion:

"Among the things that then distracted my attention was the arrival of another little Lee, whose approach however long foreseen, I could have dispensed with for a year or two more. However, as she was in such haste to greet her

LETTERS FROM LEE: Here are a few of the 13 hitherto unpublished letters written by Robert E. Lee as a young officer (1831-1846). Note how the letters were folded so the back became the envelope. Sealing wax kept them closed. The photo of Lee during this period shows him in the uniform of the U. S. Army.

Pa, I am now very glad to see her, although she has not conformed to the order established by her predecessors. For you must know that we have been very precise in arranging them in pairs of a boy and a girl, and come out of her turn. Yet I must play the forgiving father and excuse her first offense. To add to the confusion created in the wigwag by this unprecedented breach of discipline, the aforesaid couples prepared themselves with most-arduous colds and opened upon this newcomer with such an incessant barking that all my care and attention were required to keep them from her captivating presence.

Time for Gripes

As a young officer, Lee found time for several gripes about Army life. Said he on Oct. 19, 1838, from Des Moines Rapids:

"The manner in which the Army is considered and treated by the country and those whose business it is to nourish and take care of it, is enough to disgust everyone with the Service, and has the effect of driving every good soldier from it, and rendering those who remain discontented, careless and negligent."

There also are letters written during his bachelor days when he discusses the pretty young ladies he had seen and talks about the "flat, stale and unprofitable life of a bachelor."

The discoverer of these previously unpublished pieces is Charles Hamilton of 515 Madison Ave., New York, a dealer in rare autographs and documents.

Duchess' Memoirs Reviewed; Added To Library Here

Names that appear often in the news are those of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, but never again will such publicity follow their every move as it did at the time of their courtship and marriage. In her new book, "The Heart Has Its Reasons," the Duchess writes for all the world to read the details of their love story. Subscribers to the Deaf Smith County Library may now read this new autobiography and judge its merits for themselves.

A review by Critic W. G. Rogers follows:

"The Heart Has Its Reasons: The Memoirs of The Duchess of Windsor. McKay.

Wallis Warfield came of a Baltimore family with some money, position and connections, not exalted but well above average. After a kind of finishing-school education, and an intermittent home life, she made her first conquest—unless it was her first surrender—in marrying a young Navy flier, Win Spencer, in 1926.

He seems to have been a drinker — I have only the Duchess' word — and he was jealous and erratic, and she divorced him.

Ernest Simpson, husband number two, was an Englishman with entrée to the best circles, where she met the Prince of Wales, who began to squire the Simpsons here and there, and then confined his squiring more and more to the missus alone. Then things all came to a head: Ernest became interested in another woman, the Prince subject, says:

"Historians as well as fond admirers and readers of Lee (like myself) certainly are glad these new letters have been brought to light."

"Any time new evidence concerning the lives of great men is uncovered, it brings us all in more intimate contact with those revered so much and gives us a peek behind the curious curtain of history."

THROW-AWAY CUPS — Small fry love the gay dew-drop design and Mom likes the handy dispenser, useful in kitchen or bathroom.

Work Saver— Handy Paper Cup Dispenser

AP Newsfeatures

Busy housewives have discovered a work saver in a new paper cup dispenser designed to blend with the decor of any kitchen or bathroom. It is made of transparent styrene plastic with a chrome base, and fastens easily to any wall.

Children like to use the gay colored paper cups for orange juice, milk or soda pop, and Mom finds it a joy not to have a constant procession of glasses to wash.

If the dispenser is placed in the kitchen, the cups prove handy for storing refrigerator leftovers, pouring off bacon drippings and many other uses.

recommended a divorce lawyer to Mrs. Simpson, the King died, the Prince succeeded him, he determined to marry her — she was, she quotes him as telling her, "the only woman who's ever been interested in my job"—and finally he abdicated the job and they were married anyway.

By her own standards, I imagine, and the standards of a multitude of Americans, the Duchess is the most successful woman in American history. We have had, however, a multitude of better writers. The glamor everyone accords her does not show, and the romance vanishes under the clichés. The autobiography communicates none of the breathless excitement rife at the time of the abdication. The Duchess has not done herself justice.

SAD CASE

PETOSKEY, Mich. (AP) — The case of the Petoskey Grocery Co. against the Adams Grocery Co., finally has disappeared from the Emmet County Circuit Court docket. It had appeared regularly four times a year for 19 years.

All principals are dead. The firms have been dissolved. The original judge also died.

Judge Edward H. Fenlon finally threw it out but observed sadly that "the docket won't seem the same now."

Household Tips

For that ladies' lunch: chicken salad with cashew nuts added a long with the regular ingredients. Serve shortly after the nuts have been mixed in or they are likely to get soggy.

When you're skillet-cooking liver and onions, cook the onions first in butter until they're soft and golden. Then draw the onions to one side of the pan and fry the sliced liver, adding more butter if necessary.

Mix a quarter cup of sugar with a couple of teaspoons of cinnamon; spread over well-buttered toast and reheat under the broiler.

Mix a quarter cup of softened butter with 1½ teaspoons prepared mustard; spread bread with mixture when making ham sandwiches.

Small fry like this: bowls of cream of tomato soup sprinkled with popcorn.

Paprika, added to the seasoned flour in which chicken pieces are rolled before frying, helps give attractive brown color.

Who says dream cars never come true?

Dynamite from Detroit

Coming! America's first production dream car... it will influence the shape of cars for years to come.

The old Detroit rule was to introduce new features gradually, to make little changes each year. Sometimes a new grille, an engine improvement, or new colors and trim.

We broke that rule. In fact, we broke all the rules. This is dynamite!

For you are not the only one who has dreamed of a totally modern car, a car that has everything you find at automobile shows, in illustrations, and in custom-built experimental cars.

Detroit has had that dream, too. And that's why the 1957 Mercury is the car that has honestly excited the most car-jaded, the most sophisticated of Detroit's automotive experts.

When you see the new 1957 Mercury, you'll see America's first full-production dream car—a car that will influence the shape of cars for years to come.

You'll see a dream car you can own and drive—a car that has far more than startling years-ahead beauty.

THE BIG M for '57 boasts dream-car features never before found outside a designer's dreambook: a Keyboard Control that makes ordinary push-button driving old-fashioned; an exclusive Floating Ride with a revolutionary new cushioning action you have to feel to believe. There are Mercury "firsts" everywhere you look. A Power-Booster Engine Fan in the Montclair series that saves horsepower other cars waste. And many more Mercury exclusives.

You'll see THE BIG M—the new Mercury for 1957—soon. You'll see it. You'll drive it. The first dream car that can be yours. The dynamite is on its way from Detroit to your dealer's—now!
