Fiestas Patrias celebration begins Friday

Fiestas Patrias queen

Consuelo Castillo will be crowned queen of the 1989 Fiestas Patrias celebration during ceremonies Friday night at San Jose Catholic Church in Hereford. Miss Castillo was named queen during a contest held in August and will be crowned by 1988 queen Delinda Hernandez. Castillo will be the 35th queen crowned in Hereford since 1954.

Hereford will host the area's largest Mexican-American celebration this Friday and Saturday with the annual Deis y Seis de Septiembre (Sept. 16th) celebration.

The events celebrate Mexico's Declaration of Independence from Spain in 1810. Festivities will include special mass, a parade, two dances, events at the Bull Barn throughout the day Saturday, and addresses by two noted Hispanic leaders.

Activities begin with a "Mariachi Mass" Friday at 7 p.m. at San Jose Catholic Church, 735 Brevard. The service will give thanks to God for the unique Mexican-American culture and reflect on the religious meaning of the Sept. 16 events.

The Most Rev. Leroy Matthiesen, bishop of the Amarillo diocese, will preside at the liturgy and the Rev. Joe Bixenman of San Jose will be the homilist.

Hector Gallegos and his company from Amarillo will provide mariachi music, a lively mix of brass, guitar, violin and traditional lyrics.

The 1989 Fiestas Patrias queen candidates Annabel Liscano and Consuelo Castillo and their families will also be honorees.

At 8:30 p.m. Friday, the celebration will move to the San Jose church hall where Hereford Mayor Wes Fisher will welcome the gathering. Maria Luisa Mercado, a former assistant state attorney general and the current president of the Hispanic Network of Women will speak on "Education: The Great American Promise."

Castillo, who was named queen at ceremonies held earlier, will give her presentation on "Mexican-American Political Leaders: Past, Present and Future." Castillo and Liscano will be presented, and Castillo will be crowned by 1988 queen Delinda Hernandez.

Augustin Padilla, a native of Mexico will present re-enactments of the "Grito de Independencia" and the Tribuna Libre, and the crowd will be led in singing the "Himno Nacional de Mexico" and "The Star-Spangled Banner."

A dance, featuring La Herencia, will be held until midnight.

Admission to the ceremonies will be $2 per person.

On Saturday, the day will begin with a parade through downtown Hereford at 10 a.m. A festival will be held from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. at the Bull Barn, featuring a variety of Mexican food, games and other activities. Dance groups and mariachis will perform throughout the day. At 7:45 p.m., Judge Abe Lopez of Amarillo will speak on "Bilingualism: The Mexican-American Gift." A dance, featuring La Herencia and El Deseo, will be held from 8 p.m. until 1 a.m. at the Bull Barn. Admission to the dance will be $6 for singles and $12 for couples.

While the celebration is a major fund-raiser for the church, the celebration is more geared towards becoming aware of Mexican-American culture and the continuation of that culture in Hereford, which has the largest population of Hispanics in the Panhandle.

Educators want action promise

WASHINGTON (AP) - Educators are voicing high hopes for President Bush's education summit with the nation's governors, but warn of "a tremendous letdown" if the politicians fail to find ways to improve America's schools.

Bush on Wednesday held the first of several "listening sessions" with education leaders leading up to his Sept. 27-28 summit with the governors in Charlottesville, Va.

The educators, who are being excluded from the summit itself, said afterward they urged Bush to use the conference to help forge a new national consensus on what children should learn.

The White House indicated that is, in fact, what Bush has in mind.

Bush wants the governors "to help develop a set of realistic goals for the nation in education," said spokesman Marlin Fitzwater.

But Fitzwater said that Bush is likely to propose such goals, not at the summit's end, but at a later date.

American Federation of Teachers President Albert Shanker, one of 17 education leaders at the brainstorming session with Bush and Secretary of Education Lauro F. Cavazos, warned afterward:

"There will be a tremendous letdown if the summit takes place and turns out to be a mere media event and doesn't come up with anything that's substantive."

Keith Geiger, his counterpart at the National Education Association, said, "I don't think any of us are looking for another report."

Geiger called it an "excellent... freewheeling discussion," and said the educators' overriding message "was that the president could lead in a national role of setting (educational) goals for this country."

That could include spelling out what "youngsters need to know in order to graduate from high school," he added.

Shanker said Washington doesn't need to establish a national curriculum, but must do something about the paucity of graduates able to read and write at advanced levels.

Earlier, Fitzwater told reporters, "The president believes that the nation's education system needs more accountability in terms of student achievement. He will suggest the need for a results-oriented education system and ask the governors for their ideas to make education meet those goals in a more effective manner."

Cavazos noted that many governors were holding their own pre-summit meetings to canvass experts for advice, and he emphasized that the Charlottesville meeting was "only a start."

"It's the beginning... of an opening dialogue, not only with the governors, but with all of the people, with the teachers, with the educators, with the students, parents," said Cavazos.

Bush campaigned on a pledge to be "the education president." Cavazos said the administration's aim is to move education "back to the forefront" of national attention.

Cavazos has complained that school reform has produced only meager improvements. "Everyone in that room knows what it takes. ... The fundamental question is why hasn't it happened," he said.

Meanwhile, the National Governors Association held a daylong hearing to allow educators, business leaders and others to offer ideas for the summit.

Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton said that by convening the summit, Bush is going to have to "assume some personal responsibility for the future of the quality of education."

"Once you pick up this ball, you pretty well got to run with it. If you try to put it down after the summit's over, then I think you have dashed expectations, disappointed people, a divided country, people disoriented," said Clinton, a Democrat.

South Carolina Gov. Carroll Campbell said, "I don't think that we have any magical cure but I do think that when we finish this process of pouring all the thought and ideas into the funnel, that at the other end we will be able to come out with a little clearer focus of where we want to go as a nation, and in the states."

State hikes court costs at all levels

A recent increase in court costs throughout the state of Texas is giving an added bite to a criminal conviction. The same is true in many civil cases.

State legislation has increased misdemeanor court costs from $88.50 to $147.50 if a defendant does not bond out and from $90.50 to $159.50 if he does bond out, according to the office of Deaf Smith County Judge Tom Simons. If the charge is for no liability insurance (second offense) there will be a $75 fee above the basic court costs.

Court costs in district court have been increased from $98.50 to $113.50. These costs, in both district and county courts, are to be paid by a convicted defendant in addition to any fines which may be levied against the individual.

Individuals who are subject to paying court costs in the justice of the peace's office will also be seeing an increase in court costs. These increases include a $17.50 fee for the defensive driving course.

The annual Fiestas Patrias celebration will be held in Hereford Friday and Saturday, and all residents should be attracted to the big parade starting at 10 a.m. Saturday. The event includes a number of activities at the Bull Barn after the parade Saturday.

Is it really a 'man's world', as some women claim? Larry Crabtree, publisher at Vernon, compares these frequently-heard descriptions of a male and female:

"If a woman is short, she's petite. A short man is a runt. Lacking bravery, a woman is timid, while a man is a coward. A woman who is inept at earning a living is the domestic type, but a man who is inept at earning a paycheck is a ne'er-do-well."

"An unworldly girl is innocent while an unworldly man isn't dry behind the ears. The woman with a job in a masculine field is a pioneer while a male fashion designer is a sissy.

A girl stays single because she prefers a career, but a man stays single because he is egotistical and selfish. A woman who jilts a man is merely exercising a feminine prerogative, but a man who drops a woman is cruel and heartless.

"When a couple gets married, a girl is considered set for life, but the man gets hooked."

Many women are reluctant to tell their age, but if a lady is not too touchy you can figure it out by using a little numbers' game.

Have her jot down the number of the month (as 6 for June) in which she was born. Double it. Add 5. Multiply by 50. Add her age. Subtract 250. Got it?

Ask for the final figure and you have her age in the last two digits and the month in which she was born is the number (or numbers) on the left. For example, a total of 1,039 would mean she's 39 and born in October.

Reps debating anti-drug plans

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate Democrats are ready to work with Republicans toward a compromise anti-drug program but say they'll hold out for something close to their $10 billion plan that President Bush threatened to veto.

"The president's plan is wholly inadequate," said Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, adding that the White House is failing in its effort to paint the Democrats as big taxers and spenders for wanting to do more.

The Democrats, who hold a 55-45 majority in the Senate, united Wednesday behind a proposal by Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., to expand Bush's $7.9 billion drug program by $2.2 billion, with more money for drug education and treatment programs.

Mitchell contended the White House's quick threat of a veto for the Democratic plan, and its claim that Democrats just want to raise taxes, show that the administration knows its plan is in trouble.

But William Bennett, the president's point man on drugs, defended the administration plan as "our best assessment" of what is needed.

The administration, after the chest-thumping earlier in the week on the issue, was noticeably more subdued, working with Senate Republican leader Bob Dole of Kansas to set up talks with the Democrats.

Instead of raising taxes, Byrd's plan would pay for the extra spending by cutting other programs across-the-board by about one-half of one percent. "If we can't find that (cut) in everybody's department, we're not serious about fighting the war on drugs," said Rep. John Breaux, D-La., chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee.

While they hold a majority in the Senate, Democrats would need Republican votes to push any plan past GOP opposition. Mitchell announced Wednesday that he and Dole would each appoint negotiating teams and the Democrats would hold back their plan as long as the talks were progressing.

Despite the veto threat, the White House has made overtures to the Democrats to seek a compromise.

"My own view is that the Bush plan does not need any changes, but if there are good suggestions and if we get some agreement between the president and Congress, then obviously that is fine," said Dole.

Bush held a ceremony to honor a Los Angeles-based anti-drug program called DARE - Drug Abuse Resistance Education - and found himself being lectured by a 13-year-old about his support of the death penalty.

"To me, killing someone that has committed a very serious crime is wrong," said Chantee Charles, a seventh grader from nearby Arlington, Va., said at the Rose Garden event. "It does not solve anything. All it does is take someone else's life."

Bush complimented Chantee and two other students invited to speak for doing a good job expressing "what's on your heart" without worrying "if people agree with you or not."

Bush has advocated the death penalty for drug kingpins and for those who kill law enforcement officers.

Also on Wednesday, a former worker in a Colombian drug cartel warned a Senate subcommittee that embattled South American drug dealers might lash out with terror attacks in the United States.

"Some of you may be the victims of attacks and maybe the president of the United States would be the victim of drug traffickers," Diego Viazara Salinas told the permanent subcommittee on investigations.

Williams vows income tax veto

AUSTIN (AP) - Clayton Williams, under attack from Republican gubernatorial opponents over his refusal to back a constitutional ban on state income taxes, says he would veto "any, every and all attempts" to pass such a levy if he becomes governor.

GOP candidates Kent Hance and Jack Rains on Wednesday said they favor an income tax ban. Hance's campaign claimed Williams' remark that he wouldn't flatly rule out an income tax was a fatal blow to his gubernatorial hopes.

"Clayton Williams today lost the election," said Mark Sanders, Hance's press secretary. Hance, who launched his campaign by signing a tax-ban pledge, called Williams "incredibly naive." Rains said he, too, favors the ban. But he also criticized Hance for making the prohibition a cornerstone of his campaign.

"Everyone in Texas is against an income tax except a handful of liberals," Rains said. "It's a phony issue to avoid talking about the tough issues ... While Hance is signing a big income tax (ban) pledge, it's really nothing more than politics as usual."

Williams blasted Hance, charging that the Democrat-turned-Republican had a pro-tax record during his time in Congress.

"Kent Hance thinks he needs the crutch of a constitutional amendment to keep from raising taxes and judging by his record - he's probably right. I don't," Williams said.

"If Kent would spend more time reading my quotes in the paper and less time trying to come up with cheap distortions, he would see that I said I'm opposed to a state income tax," Williams said.

The furor erupted after Williams on Tuesday said he wouldn't rule out asking for a state income tax to combat illegal drugs.

Calling Hance's proposed income tax ban "just stuff," Williams said he saw no need for a state income tax now.

"I have not taken the position that you should have a constitutional amendment for no income tax," the Midland oilman said.

Williams said he believes strongly in the need to aggressively battle illegal drugs.

Insurance decision rescinded

A decision to accept the bid of Brewton Insurance Agency of Dallas for employee medical insurance was rescinded by Deaf Smith County Commissioners on Wednesday.

Commissioners overturned their vote from Monday's regular meeting after learning that the bid accepted did not meet specifications. Both the commissioners and John S. Brewton, insurance agent, had understood that the policy (from Washington National Insurance Company) had included a prescription card. It was later learned that this was not correct, said County Judge Tom Simons.

A special commission meeting has been scheduled for 9 a.m. on Tuesday so that insurance policies can be considered once again. The county is currently advertising for bids, and commissioners will select an insurance policy from those bids on Tuesday.

The PCS also has a Rural Transportation program and the Weatherization Program. The first program offers transportation for medical services, grocery shopping and other transportation needs. The Panhandle Transit will make trips to medical facilities in Amarillo Tuesday through Thursday. PCS needs 24 hours notice for trips to be scheduled.

Serrano said the PCS will help fill out forms with which people have a problem, and the office also tries to refer people to the proper source to help with other problems.

Further information or applications on these year-around programs, plus seasonal programs to help with utilities, can be obtained by visiting the PCS office, located at 603 E. Park Ave. The office phone number is 364-5631.

Elderly earnings good for all

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government could save $140 million a year by letting older Americans earn unlimited outside income without forfeiting Social Security benefits, two private research groups report today.

The new taxes paid by older workers who rejoin the labor force would more than offset the higher Social Security benefits that would be paid, the study said.

Members of Congress have repeatedly made proposals to relax or repeal the earnings limits, including a plan approved by the House Ways and Means Committee to raise the earnings limit for those age 65-69 to approximately $10,440 by 1991. The Senate also has gone on record in favor of a higher earnings limit.

Teen-threatening trends subject of T.V. special

Six rising trends that threaten to foreclose the future of one of every five American youths will be examined Thursday, Sept. 14, in a prime time news special on ABC television. The program will be seen on Amarillo's KVII-TV, Channel 7, at 8 p.m.

"Making the Grade: A Report Card on American Youth," is an innovative joint project of the National Collaboration for Youth and ABC-TV. It is designed to raise public awareness and stimulate action on behalf of youth at local, state and national levels, said Dr. Martha Couch, 4-H and youth development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Lubbock.

She said "Making the Grade" has two goals: to educate the public about the critical problems affecting a significant number of young Americans, and to provide opportunities for citizens to come together at the community level to find collaborative solutions to those problems.

"The unique focus of this project, emphasis on the interrelation of six growing trends that threaten at-risk youth." Those are functional illiteracy, juvenile crime, school dropouts, substance abuse, teen pregnancy, and youth unemployment.

"Young people are our country's most valuable asset, and yet a growing consensus exist that something is terribly wrong," Couch said.

Among industrialized nations, the U.S. leads the world in infant mortality, juvenile crime, substance abuse and teen pregnancy. Despite mandatory school enrollment, the U.S. literacy rate is below that of other developed nations. Twenty percent of American children live in poverty. Forty percent of the nation's poor are children.

"In addition," the Extension Service specialist said, "demographic data indicate that the high school class of 2000, which entered first grade this year, will provide fewer persons entering the work force and that a growing percentage of these workers will be less prepared for employment."

Increasingly, as "baby boomers" reach retirement age, more retirees will be dependent upon fewer workers to finance the Social Security system, Couch said. "To ensure a healthy and growing economy, all our young people must be prepared to fully participate in the job market."

While most young people prepare to lead productive and responsible lives, an estimated 15 to 20 percent of those aged 16 to 19 is a risk of not making a successful transition from adolescence to adulthood, Couch said.

In addition to 4-H, 14 other organizations are members of the National Collaboration for Youth. They are: American Red Cross, Big Brother/Big Sisters, Boy Scouts of America, Boys Clubs of America, Camp Fire, Child Welfare League of America.

Future Homemakers of America,

Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., Girls Clubs of America, The National Network of Runaway and Youth Services, the Salvation Army, United Neighborhood Centers of America, YMCA of the U.S.A. and YWCA of the U.S.A., National Board.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion, handicap, or national origin.

Cholesterol screening scheduled

A cholesterol screening will be held Friday at the Senior Citizens Center. The cost of the test will be $6 and the results of the test will be available in five minutes.

This test requires no special diet or fasting. The screening will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. with no appointment needed.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You missed a great opportunity to share information about a wonderful, free volunteer program when you ran the letter from the breast cancer patient who was suffering alone and received some badly needed emotional support from a woman in the Laundromat.

The "Reach to Recovery" program offered by the American Cancer Society has been a godsend to breast cancer patients all over the country. When a woman needs a mastectomy or any surgery for breast cancer, her doctor, a friend, a family member or the patient herself can contact the nearest office of the American Cancer Society and they will send out a volunteer who has had similar surgery. They make sure she has something in common with the patient -- age, marital status, children, etc.

The Reach to Recovery visitor will call on the patient again either before surgery or after, in the hospital or in her home. She will provide a wealth of information, a temporary breast prosthesis and, best of all, a rousing pep talk. ("I understand what you're going through for I've been through it myself!")

She will also tell her about other free programs that are available. There is: "Can Support," for cancer patients and their families; the "I Can Cope" group, to help people face the challenges of cancer, and "Look Good, Feel Better," which will help you do just that.

As a Reach to Recovery visitor for almost eight years, I can't speak highly enough about these great services. But we are unable to help if we don't know who needs it. Please pass the word, Ann. -- Roseville, Calif., Resident

DEAR ROSE: You did and I thank you. The American Cancer Society should be listed in your phone book. If you can't find it, write to the headquarters in Atlanta for guidance and information. The address is: American Cancer Society, Inc., 3340 Peachtree Road N.E., Atlanta, Ga. 30026, or call (800) ACS-2345.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I heard you speak in Fort Lauderdale a few years ago and you said something that I wrote down because I thought it was so good. I think you should share it with your millions of readers. Here it is:

Disciplining children is a lot like taking out the garbage. If you don't do it, you have no right to complain later if something smells.

Credit Ann Landers and sign me -- A Long Time Fan in Jackson, Miss.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I will be graduating from high school next year. I must make the decision about what I want to do with my life. I would love to go into the medical field and become a radiologist.

My parents keep telling me I'm not college material and that I could never make it. They are encouraging me to become a flight attendant.

I don't understand why they can't be more supportive. I'm beginning to believe that they are right when they say I am not college material.

Am I wrong for wanting to go to college and make a better life for myself? Or should I become a flight attendant to please my parents? Ann, tell me what to do. I'm losing confidence. --Getting Depressed in Georgia

DEAR GEORGIA: Take a college aptitude test and you will find out whether or not you should seriously consider a medical career. Meanwhile, be aware that many flight attendants are college graduates. Believe me, they did not choose that career because it's a no-brainer.

FORD ANNOUNCES PEACE OF MIND

The first time you pay for a repair should also be the last.

The Lifetime Service Guarantee means you'll never pay twice for a covered repair -- parts or labor -- for as long as you own your car.

No ifs, ands or buts. Only participating Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers can offer this kind of Peace of Mind.™ And only Ford, Lincoln, or Mercury owners can get it.

Once your dealer makes a covered repair on your car, he guarantees that if the same repair is needed again, he'll do it free. For as long as you own your vehicle, whether it's new or used. The Lifetime Service Guarantee covers thousands of repairs. And it's backed by certified technicians and quality Ford Motorcraft parts. Developed by Ford Motor Company, this limited warranty is another example of the Quality Care programs offered by Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers.

Nobody guarantees car repairs longer. Or better. Quite simply, it's America's best car repair guarantee.

Come in and ask for a copy. It's the quality guarantee that can help stamp out your car repair bills forever.

Herd JV set to test Vega varsity

The Hereford Whiteface junior varsity will move into varsity competition at 7:30 p.m. Friday when they host the Vega Longhorns at Whiteface Stadium.

The Longhorns of District 3-1A come into the game at 0-1 after dropping a 23-8 decision last week to Panhandle.

The Herd (1-0) is fresh off a 20-14 win over the Tascosa JV.

Hereford coaches Stan Carter and Ron Young said the Herd will matchup well with Vega, but the lack of scouting information and lost practice time this week have made it difficult to implement a game plan.

"The only thing we've really heard is they're a good size bunch; pretty big," said Young, who handles the JV defense.

"From the little bit of scouting report we've had we know they've got a real good quarter back (senior Roger Bromman, 6-2, 180 pounds), Young added. "He can throw and he can run if he gets outside, so we're going to do something to contain him and keep him under control. I don't really know what yet because we haven't been able to work out (because of the weather). We're going to have to get our week in (Thursday)."

Vega's Coach Gary Lewis said the Longhorns will come out throwing from their Multiple I offensive set in an attempt to rebound from last week's loss.

"We didn't look to good last week," Lewis said "but I hope to turn that around Friday.

"We like to throw the ball and we'll use a lot of motion to set up our passing game."

Lewis said a key for Vega will be pass protection.

"We should be able to protect the quarterback more than we did last week. We got into trouble early because we couldn't handle the pass rush."

Vega will suit up 34 players for the game, with nine expected to start on both sides of the ball, according to Lewis.

"I expect those Whitefaces to be stoked up," he said. "This will probably be the first time they've played on a Friday night in their lives and it will be in front of a home crowd. It ought to be a good game for us."

Both Hereford coaches said the JV will be using most of the tactics sported by the varsity.

"On the front seven we run basically the same stuff," Young said. "Now, we don't really get as technical in the secondary because we don't get the repetitions in practice that the varsity does, so we've got to stay with a basic coverage that we can handle. If they go in motion we've got to be in a coverage where we can handle that stuff. We're not going to do a lot of man coverage because we don't get to work on that enough, so we'll stay real basic in the secondary."

Carter said the offense will start with running tailback Lary Brown in an effort to open up the Herd's passing attack.

"Against Tascosa we got the running game established," Carter said, "and then we could throw a little play-action stuff. I'd like to do that again with Larry. He had more than 150 yards last week.

If they get to keying on him then we're going to fake it to him and throw the play-action pass."

Carter said the bad weather has hampered installing the game plan, but there have been pluses.

"We've been running scout team for the varsity most of this week," the coach of the JV offense said, "so we haven't had a chance to work on our game plan yet. But Palo Duro runs the I in addition to the wish-bone so we'd just run our own plays in practice when we ran the I."

Carter said the work against the varsity will be beneficial to the JV.

"We've gotten in some good work against some good people. That's going to help us more than just practicing against ourselves."

Carter added that quarterback Chris Blair will return from a hand injury suffered in two-a-days.

"Chris is going to play, he should see a lot of action. And Max (Mungia, the JV's other signal caller) has been sick this week, so I may even start Chris."

Carter said the two quarterbacks offer the JV a variety of weapons on the field.

"Max runs the option real well and Chris can drop back and throw the ball. We have to use a lot of sprint-out and play-action when we throw with Max."

Young said the experience of facing a varsity squad on the field will not be a problem for the JV.

"Speed-wise I'd say we're going to match up alright. Size-wise I couldn't say. We're pretty good size so we're not worried about that."

"Any time we play a 5A school or a varsity team they're going to be bigger than us, but that's never hurt us at all."

Considering one's options

Herd JV quarterback Max Mungia (10) prepares to pitch to Larry Brown (22) as George Jowell (55) and Phillip Pesina (78) block during the scrimmage with Amarillo High. Mungia is expected to share time with Chris Blair in Friday night's game with the Vega Varsity at Whiteface Stadium.

Air Force quarterback has Falcons flying high

By RICK WARNER
AP Football Writer

The smallest player at Air Force could win the biggest prize in college football.

Quarterback Dee Dowis has rocketed into Heisman Trophy contention with a couple of eye-catching performances that left opponents shaking their heads in wonder.

In Air Force's season-opening 52-36 victory over San Diego State, the 5-foot-10, 153-pound senior slithered and sprinted for six touchdowns - an NCAA record for quarterbacks - and gained 249 yards on only 13 carries.

On Sunday, Dowis rushed 21 times for 201 yards and two scores in a 45-7 rout of Wyoming. That made him Air Force's career rushing leader and left him only 524 yards short of the national record for quarterbacks (3,299 yards) set by Fred Solomon of Tampa from 1971-74.

Dowis already holds the single-season mark for rushing yards by a quarterback, 1,315 in 1987. At his current clip, he would surpass that total midway through this season.

"He's as good a wishbone quarterback as there is in the country. Maybe ever," Wyoming coach Paul Roach said. "When he starts juking, he is unbelievable. His quickness is amazing."

San Diego State coach Al Luginbill geared his defense to stop Dowis, but it didn't matter.

"That was the best performance I've ever seen by an individual player," Luginbill said. "Air Force is certainly not a one-man team, but they were close to one today."

Despite his impressive credentials, Dowis was virtually ignored in preseason speculation about the Heisman Trophy. But the lack of a clear front-runner and his showing against Wyoming on national television have catapulted him into contention.

"If he keeps this up, it'll be like Barry Sanders," Roach said, referring to last year's Heisman winner from Oklahoma State, who also started the season as a long-shot.

"I think you've got to throw him into the thick of the Heisman consideration," Roach added. "He's durable, smart, a great athlete and he's the catalyst for everything they do."

To promote Dowis, Air Force is sending his photograph and list of accomplishments to 1,000 writers and broadcasters across the country. But his biggest boost would be a good showing against Notre Dame in a national TV game on Oct. 14.

Dowis, a soft-spoken Georgia native, prefers to let others talk about his Heisman chances.

"It's a great honor just to be mentioned, but it's not something I think about," he said.

While running is his strong suit, Dowis also can be a proficient passer.

Against Northwestern last season, he completed all 11 throws for 294 yards and two touchdowns, tying the NCAA record for most completions in a perfect passing game.

As a sophomore, Dowis passed for 600 yards and four touchdowns. Last year, he improved to 870 yards and seven touchdowns and set a school record by averaging 21.2 yards per completion.

"I've been working hard on my passing and it's starting to show," Dowis said.

The only thing Dowis has failed to improve is his weight.

He's pumped iron. He's wolfed down lasagna, pizza, hamburgers and steak. He's tried all kinds of high-calorie drinks. But he can't break the 160-pound barrier.

"I guess I'm just stuck at this weight," he said. "It doesn't bother me, though. As long as I can play, it doesn't matter how much I weigh."

Growing up in Royston, Ga., Dowis dreamed of playing in the NFL. But with a 5-year military commitment after graduation and limited demand for pint-size quarterbacks, he knows his chances of playing pro football are as slim as his waistline.

"Right now, I don't know what my plans are," he said. "Maybe I'll become a pilot. That's a lot of fun, just like football."

Pads win again, keep pace with SF

By The Associated Press
San Diego manager Jack McKeon said swing batter, and that's just what Benito Santiago did.
With pinch runner Joey Cora on first and none out in the eighth inning, Santiago missed two bunt attempts before hitting Dwayne Henry's fastball into the seats to give San Diego a 3-2 victory over Atlanta.
The Padres, who have won 17 of their last 20 games, remained five games behind first-place San Francisco in the National League West.
"I didn't do my job. I feel mad at myself because I didn't," Santiago said. "But they let me swing the bat, and the one I hit was down and in. I can't hit a strike. Pitch around me, and I hit better. Give me a strike and I don't hit it."

Garry Templeton led off the inning with a walk against Henry, 0-2. Cora ran for Templeton and Santiago hit the 0-2 pitch into the left-field seats for his 12th home run.
"I didn't put the pitch in the spot where I wanted it," Henry said. "He just lunged over the plate and got it. I'm learning the hard way."
Elsewhere in the NL it was San Francisco 8, Cincinnati 7 in 13 innings; Houston 3, Los Angeles 1; Chicago 3, Montreal 1, and New York 10, Philadelphia 4. Pittsburgh at St. Louis was rained out with no score in the sixth inning.

"I was telling Bruce Hurst in the dugout, 'How many times have you seen a guy mess up a bunt, and then hit one out?'" McKeon said. "The next pitch, there it went. I'm sure glad he didn't bunt it then."
Santiago has six of his 12 homers during the Padres' streak, including a grand slam, a three-run homer, and a pair of two-run shots.
Giants 8, Reds 7
Brett Butler's run-scoring single with one out in the 13th inning capped a three-run rally.
Trailing 7-5, the Giants started the rally when Chris Speier was hit by a pitch from reliever Bob Sebra. Rookie Rosario Rodriguez relieved and walked Ernest Riles on four pitches. After a wild pitch moved the runners up, pinch-hitter Greg Littion doubled down the right-field line to tie the score.

Rodriguez, 1-1, walked Bob Brenly intentionally to face Butler, who sliced the game-winning single to left to score pinch-runner Jim Weaver.
Ernie Camacho, 2-0, pitched one inning for the victory.
Cubs 3, Expos 1
Scott Sanderson, making his first start since Aug. 18, allowed no runs in 5 1-3 innings.
Sanderson allowed six hits, all singles, and struck out three to improve to 11-8. Les Lancaster finished for his seventh save, allowing three hits in 3 2-3 innings.

Joe Girardi, Andre Dawson and Shawn Dunston had RBI singles for the Cubs.
Mets 10, Phillies 4
Dwight Gooden made his first appearance since July 1 and pitched three scoreless innings.
Gooden, who was placed on the disabled list July 3 with a muscle tear under his right armpit, allowed two hits, struck out four and walked one.
Tom Herr, the first batter Gooden faced in the sixth inning, singled to left and stole second. But Gooden, who threw 45 pitches, got out of the inning and helped preserve the victory for Bob Ojeda, 12-10.
The Mets snapped a 3-3 tie in the sixth on Dave Magadan's two-run pinch single. Rookie Jason Grimley fell to 1-1.

Astros 3, Dodgers 1
Orel Hershiser lost his fifth straight decision as Craig Biggio hit a tie-breaking double in the eighth.
Mark Portugal, 5-1, allowed three hits in seven innings en route to his fifth straight victory. Danny Darwin pitched the final two innings for his sixth save, allowing one hit.
Portugal was lifted in the eighth for pinch-hitter Harry Spilman, who walked. Pinch-runner Eric Yelding took second on a sacrifice by Terry Puhl and scored when Biggio lined a double to right field.
Hershiser, 14-13, pitched eight innings and allowed six hits.

Saberhagen, Stewart get 19th wins

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer
While their teams fight for the American League West title, Bret Saberhagen and Dave Stewart duel for the Cy Young Award.
Saberhagen got his 19th victory Wednesday night as the Kansas City Royals beat Texas 3-2. He pulled even with Stewart, who had lost a chance at his 20th win when Dennis Eckersley blew a ninth-inning lead in a game the Oakland Athletics eventually won 7-6 over Milwaukee.
Oakland stayed two games ahead of the Royals. Saberhagen figures he is ahead of Stewart in their matchup.
"So far, if I was a writer looking at things, I would say I would have to be the leader," Saberhagen said.
Saberhagen, 19-6, leads the league with a 2.41 earned-run average and his 11 complete games are most in the majors. He won the Cy Young in 1985.

Stewart, 19-9, has a 3.48 ERA and is tied with Saberhagen and Houston's Mike Scott for most victories in baseball. He was a 20-game winner each of the past two years, but lost in the Cy Young voting to Boston's Roger Clemens and Minnesota's Frank Viola.
In other games, Minnesota beat Toronto 3-2, Chicago stopped Baltimore 3-0, Seattle beat Boston 7-4, California topped New York 4-3 in 10 innings and Detroit downed Cleveland 3-1.
Stewart left after seven innings with a 6-4 lead. Eckersley pitched a scoreless eighth, but Greg Vaughn's second two-run homer of the game tied it in the ninth.
Dave Henderson led off the bottom of the ninth with a home run and Eckersley got credit for the victory.

"I feel terrible," said Eckersley, 2-0. He blew his fourth save opportunity in 33 chances this season.
Stewart seemed undisturbed by the near-miss and no-decision.
"There's no doubt in my mind I'm going to win my 20th game, and I'm going to win some after that," he said.
Henderson's 12th home run of the year came against Chuck Crim, 9-6.
At Kansas City, Saberhagen pitched another complete game. He gave up two runs, one earned, on seven hits.
Frank White's first home run at Royals Stadium since Aug. 9, 1988, broke a 2-all tie in the seventh inning. He connected against Charlie Hough, 10-13.

Twins 3, Blue Jays 2
Rookie Kevin Tapani won his second major-league start and Kent Hrbek drove in two runs.
Tapani, 2-0, gave up one run on six hits in 7 2-3 innings. Jeff Reardon held on in the ninth for his 29th save.
Hrbek had an RBI single and run-scoring groundout against John Cerutti, 11-9.
Tony Fernandez met Reardon with his ninth home run leading off the ninth. The Blue Jays put runners on first and third with two outs before right fielder John Moses reached over a fence in foul territory to catch Mookie Wilson's fly ball.
White Sox 3, Orioles 0
Rookie Greg Hibbard pitched four-hit ball for 8 1-3 innings.
Hibbard, 5-7, won on his 25th birthday. Bobby Thigpen finished with hitless relief for his 30th save.

Rookie Dave Johnson, 4-5, allowed 10 hits.
Mariners 7, Red Sox 4
Jay Buhner and Alvin Davis each homered.
Jerry Reed, 6-6, pitched 1 1-3 innings for the victory. Mike Schooler got two outs for his 29th save.
Mike Boddicker, 12-11, gave up six runs on nine hits in 5 1-3 innings.
Angels 4, Yankees 3
Wally Joyner singled home the winning run with two outs in the 10th inning.
Dave Righetti, 2-6, relieved to start the Angels' ninth with a 3-2 lead, but Brian Downing hit the second pitch for his 13th home run.
With one out in the 10th, Devon

White reached second base on shortstop Alvaro Espinoza's error. White moved to third on a groundout by Chili Davis and Joyner followed with a single off Righetti.
Greg Minton, 3-3, pitched three scoreless innings.
Tigers 3, Indians 1
Jack Morris pitched a five-hitter and won his third straight start.
Morris, 6-11, struck out six and walked two.
The Indians lost for the 13th time in 18 games and are 1-1 under interim manager John Hart. Tom Candiotti, 12-9, took the loss.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: On my annual medical checkup I had my cholesterol breakdown done. My total cholesterol was 192, my HDL-cholesterol, 49, and my LDL, 131. The LDL and HDL values do not add to equal 192. Why?

I'm a 50-year-old male, 6 feet 1 inch and weigh 169 pounds. I am an active person and also walk approximately eight miles a week at a fast pace. My general health is very good. Please give me your opinion of my cholesterol levels.

DEAR READER: Your values are quite good and should put you in the low-risk category for a heart attack as far as the cholesterol levels are concerned. I must add that there are more factors than just your cholesterol levels that determine a person's overall risk.

The total cholesterol measures all the cholesterol in all the fatty-cholesterol particles in your blood. Part of that total is the HDL-cholesterol (the cholesterol in small particles), another part is in the moderately large particles which is your LDL-cholesterol and there is still a smaller amount in very large fatty-cholesterol particles. Your studies would indicate that about 12 mg of cholesterol are in these very large particles.

I have explained how total cholesterol is divided into the different sized fatty-cholesterol particles and the significance of them in Special Report 44, Understanding Cholesterol and Triglycerides, which I'm sending you. Others who want this special report can send $1 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/44, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

DEAR DR. LAMB: My 41-year-old son has been diagnosed as having Guillain-Barre disease. He was hospitalized and received plasma treatments and is now back at work. He says he feels pretty good but gets tired. After having the flu, he developed tingling in his toes and fingers.

His physical condition deteriorated until he could not hold a pencil and had to support himself when walking. He has three children. Is this hereditary? Should he be on a special diet or vitamins? Above all, will this disease recur and will it be more severe?

DEAR READER: It is sometimes called ascending paralysis because it often begins with paralysis of muscles in the feet and progresses upward. The disorder is an inflammatory disease, involving the spinal and peripheral nerves. In most cases it is transitory with complete recovery. But a few individuals are not so fortunate. It does not recur, so that should not be a worry, and it is not inherited.

It is believed that the body's own immune system attacks the nerve fibers involved. The reaction is triggered by some event, often the flu, as in your son's case, or other viral respiratory illnesses or even gastroenteritis. A preceding episode of flu occurs in about 60 percent of cases. A few individuals develop the disease after vaccinations, such as for the flu.

It is important to be seen by a doctor and in the hospital if such paralysis develops as it can progress rapidly and even involve the nerves that enable respiratory movements. Exchanging the plasma, as was done for your son, has been helpful in many cases.

I would assume your son is well. No special diet or vitamins should be necessary and the damaged nerve fibers have probably healed.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

The week of Sept. 17-23 commemorates the signing of the constitution of the United States. This great document, the guardian of our liberties, established our Republic as a self-governing nation dedicated to rule by law. Constitution Week provides an opportunity for all Americans to recall the achievements of our founders, the nature of limited government and the rights and privileges of citizenship as well as the responsibilities.

In 1952, Bill Mosienko of the hockey team, the Chicago Black Hawks, scored an amazing three goals in just 21 seconds.

PD picked by 19 points

The Palo Duro Dons have been rated a 19-point favorite over the Hereford Whitefaces by the Harris Rating System going into Saturday's game at Dick Bivins Stadium in Amarillo.

The Dons moved up one spot past Plano East in the Harris rankings for Class 5A to No. 3 in the state after beating Odessa High last week, 31-7, in their season opener. Palo Duro's power rating is also up a point to 196, according to Harris.

The Herd moved up four places to No. 24 in the Harris Class 4A poll after opening the year with a 35-17 win over Tascosa. Hereford's power rating increased one point to 177.

The Herd remains the highest-rated team in District 1-4A after the first week of play, but several of Hereford's district foes moved up and down the scale:

Pampa -- The Harvesters made it the biggest gain in the state after pasting Canyon, 48-0, as they moved up 83 places to No. 31 and added 21 points to their power rating. Pampa is listed as a one-point underdog as they host Amarillo High;

Estacado -- The Matadors dropped five places to No. 49 and lost a point off their power rating to 171 after falling to Plainview, 34-21. Estacado is picked by one when they visit Big Spring;

Levelland -- The Lobos also picked up a spot, to No. 77, and stayed at a 164 rating after dropping Lamesa, 19-14. Levelland will travel to Snyder as a 10-point favorite;

Borger -- The Bulldogs leaped 41 places to move into No. 78 behind Levelland and raised their power rating 11 points to 164 after edging Perryton, 15-12. Borger will be a two-point underdog at Tascosa;

Frenship -- The Tigers made it three District 1-4A teams in a row as they climbed nine spots to No. 79 and were rated at 164, three points higher, after stopping Andrews, 14-9. Frenship will host Coronado as a six-point underdog;

Dunbar -- The Panthers fell 30 places to No. 85 and watched their power rating drop seven points to 163 after losing to Lubbock High, 7-6. Dunbar faces Monterey as a 14-point underdog;

Randall -- The Raiders made big gains after whipping Tulia, 42-14, jumping 36 places to No. 88 and increasing their rating 12 points to 163. Randall is picked by nine as they host Caprock;

Dumas -- The Demons bring up the rear in the district and almost in all of Class 4A, sliding one spot to No. 143 out of 148 4A teams. The Demons also lost two points to a 139 rating after losing to Caprock, 27-6. Dumas will be a 24-point underdog in hosting Perryton.

New commissioner named

Vincent accepts job, does not replace 'Bart'

MILWAUKEE (AP) - For a man so accomplished, Fay Vincent Jr. stepped ever so tentatively from the shadow of the loyal friend and predecessor against whom he will now be measured.

Successful private attorney, Securities and Exchange Commission attorney, movie studio mogul, Coca Cola executive vice president, deputy baseball commissioner - Vincent's background bespoke varied talents and valuable experience made him the most logical candidate for the one job he never sought.

At least, not until one of his closest friends, A. Bartlett Giamatti, died of a heart attack Sept. 1, just five months after assuming the commissionership of baseball.

"I told the owners I'm grateful and flattered," Vincent began Tuesday, moments after the 26 club owners made him the eighth commissioner in the history of the game. "I'm also approaching it with a great sense of conflict. I know this is not the way to get this job. Bart was very special. His loss is an irreparable one."

"I take the job," Vincent added, squaring the jaw that anchors a large, pleasant face. "I do not replace Bart."

Yet Vincent is, in many ways, an extension of the man he still refers to simply and repeatedly as "Bart."

That fact never was made more clearly than during last month's news conference to announce baseball's lifetime ban of Pete Rose. Giamatti, who was rarely at a loss for words, deferred to Vincent on questions about the precise language of the agreement.

The two had worked incessantly, almost interchangeably, throughout the long negotiations with Rose and his team of lawyers, and Giamatti may simply have wished to deflect some of the spotlight to his right-hand man.

But he may also have wished to shine some light on a man most of the American public did not know, but certainly should have. In what was truly a mutual admiration society, Giamatti was revealing, at the very least, that he valued Vincent nearly as much for his incisive legal mind as for his captivating friendship.

The two were introduced by author Peter Benchley at a party some 12 years ago.

Both men were the same age, both were New Englanders - Giamatti from Massachusetts, Vincent from Connecticut - both were affable, talkative, mingled easily in many circles, and most important, had an abiding passion for the national pastime.

"We used to kid each other about working together, that which ever one got a job where that could be managed first would pull the other one along. ..."

"It was a remarkable friendship," recalled Vincent, now 51, "because it developed so late in life and with such intensity."

Vincent's own passion for the game was born during the grand successes of the New York Yankees teams of his childhood and inflamed during the summer of 1956 when, as an 18-year-old college freshman, he spent several months in a hospital bed.

What began as a prank ended in near-tragedy after a friend locked him in his room at Williams College and Vincent, rising to the bait, climbed out onto an icy ledge and tried to reach another window.

He fell four floors and broke his back. All that summer, as he coped with pain, gradually got back most of the use of his legs and learned again how to walk, telecasts of Yankees games turned a sterile hospital room into the lush oasis he knew when he stepped onto the baseball diamond as a young man.

Yet Vincent, who still uses a cane to walk and curses the arthritis that has wracked his 6-foot-3, 240-pound frame with increasing regularity the past few years - "A kind of double whammy," he explained - does not consider himself handicapped.

He earned a degree from Williams by compressing four years of studies into three. After being turned down for the seminary because the Jesuits regarded him as unable to withstand the rigors of the priesthood, Vincent enrolled in law school at Yale.

He led a charmed life from that point forward, making his biggest leap in 1978 from the SEC to Columbia. There, he presided over the making of several profitable movies - "Kramer vs. Kramer" remains his favorite project - and cleaned and steadied a business in an industry used to feast or famine. It was an impressive feat because the studio was still reeling after former chairman David Begelman was found to have forged checks.

Expects to continue with Giamatti's policies

MILWAUKEE (AP) - It was Fay Vincent answering the questions, only it sounded like A. Bartlett Giamatti. That's just fine with the new commissioner of baseball.

Vincent, elected Wednesday to a 4 1/2-year term as his late friend's successor, said he intends to follow the agenda and implement the policies of Giamatti, who died of a heart attack on Sept. 1.

"It's a chance to influence something very precious and special in American life," said Vincent, who had been the deputy commissioner. "I have an addiction to baseball."

Giamatti, the former Yale University president, had a national reputation as a baseball nut for many years. Most people hadn't even heard of Vincent until the last two weeks.

"Everybody wanted to get it resolved," American League president Bobby Brown said, "and we had somebody who fit the bill real well."

Vincent and Giamatti come from similar backgrounds: Yale degrees, friendships with President Bush, love of the English language.

While Giamatti had no business experience outside of Yale, Vincent ran Columbia Pictures Industries Inc. for nearly 10 years. While Giamatti was eloquent, Vincent is low-key and was somewhat shy in his few public appearances.

Vincent, 51, said he hadn't thought about whether he would want to remain past April 1, 1994, the day his term is to expire. He said that except for partial paralysis in his left leg, his health is good and that he has regular physicals. Although he does not smoke cigarettes, he does smoke cigars.

In his "stay the course" message, he said "there's very likely to be a deputy commissioner" in his administration, but "I don't have

PLAYERS' SHARES

NEW YORK (AP) - The players' shares in the 1988 NFL playoffs, including the Super Bowl on Jan. 22, 1989, came to almost $13.5 million.

Each of the San Francisco 49ers, the Super Bowl champions, wound up with $64,000.

The losing Cincinnati Bengals each received $46,000 in playoff money, which included the early-round game. Other teams sharing in the playoff pool were the Buffalo Bills, Houston Oilers, Seattle Seahawks and Cleveland Browns of the AFC and the Chicago Bears, Minnesota Vikings, Philadelphia Eagles and Los Angeles Rams of the NFC.

Man Caught With Classified Information

Claims information regularly published

Neighbors today were surprised to learn Melvin Kline, a seemingly quiet, well-mannered man was making extra money with classified information. When questioned earlier this morning, Kline professed surprise that everyone wasn't using the classified section to earn extra income and get rid of unwanted items.

"It's common," he said. Recent studies tend to bear Kline out. Consumer Data Service reported that over 85% of the public read the newspaper and over 80% of those read the classifieds. Kline claimed widespread use was being made of the classified information. "But you have to act quickly," he remarked.

"If I have something to sell, I can be in the paper by tomorrow. I do that a lot now," he confessed. "With classified, whether I'm buying or selling, I can reach a large market instantly. And it's easy...just pick up the phone."

When asked if price mattered at all, Kline stated he was in possession of Consumer Data Service documents that indicated newspaper readership increases as income increases. "The more money they make, the more they read the paper," he said, "and I can prove it."

Asked for a last comment, Kline replied "No matter what you're looking for, a new job, a great car, merchandise, or even a home, take a long look at the classified section.

Local confesses he profited from classified information in newspaper

"Sure, I've made some money from classified information, but so can anyone who reads the paper."

The information's all there." Response Analysis Corp. studies indicate the public does exactly that, with 98% preferring the newspaper over radio and 68% preferring the newspaper instead of TV.

Kline was last seen in the company of an unidentified man carrying two outboard motors.

Get meal to table fast with frozen stuffed shells

Here's a stuffed-pasta main dish that solves several mealtime problems.

- Need a meal for one or two diners? This entree is frozen in individual dishes for serving convenience.

- Want something quick to fix? It's ready for the freezer in 15 minutes. When it's time for dinner, two servings cook in the microwave in about 12 minutes.

- Want to step beyond commercial frozen entrees? This main dish tastes fresh - and is economical - because it's homemade.

SAUCY SHELL DINNER

- 12 jumbo shell macaroni
- 3/4 pound ground beef, pork or turkey
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 beaten egg
- 1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon ground allspice
- One 15 1/2-ounce jar (1 and 2-3rds cups) meatless spaghetti sauce

Cook macaroni according to package directions. Drain; set aside. In a 1 1/2-quart microwave-safe casserole, cook meat, onion and garlic, covered, on 100 percent power (high) 4 to 6 minutes or until no pink remains, stirring once. Drain off fat.

In mixing bowl combine egg, bread crumbs, pepper, cinnamon and allspice. Stir in meat mixture and 1/4 cup of the sauce; mix well. Stuff each shell with about 2 tablespoons meat mixture. Place 1/4 cup sauce in each of 4 microwave-safe individual dishes. Place 3 stuffed shells in each dish. Pour remaining sauce over shells. Wrap in moisture- and vaporproof wrap. Seal, label and freeze. Store up to 6 months.

To serve, unwrap. Cover frozen dinner with vented clear plastic wrap. Cook 1 serving on 70 percent power (medium-high) 6 to 8 minutes or until heated through, turning dish once. To heat 2 servings, cook for 12 to 14 minutes or until heated through, turning dishes twice. Makes 4 servings.

Frozen dinners

Do you like the convenience of frozen dinners but prefer the taste of homemade? These stuffed jumbo shells can be frozen in individual dishes, then heated in the microwave when you are ready to serve.

Mrs. King is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Birdwell.

GROWING OLDER
BOSTON (AP) - America's elderly population, 65 and over, is expected to reach 60 million over the next 40 years.

This means double the current number of elderly, including an unprecedented number of those 85 and older. Medical experts say skyrocketing medical costs and shortage of nursing home beds means more elderly will get health care at home.

According to Lifetime Corp., a supplier of home health care personnel and services, 32 percent of those over 85 now get home health care and generally prefer it to being institutionalized. The firm says the aging population and efforts by insurers to reduce hospital stays will boost the home care market to nearly $10 billion next year.

PUBLIC NOTICE

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS SPECIAL ELECTION NOVEMBER 7, 1989

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 102 proposes a constitutional amendment that would increase the salary of members of the legislature to one-fourth of the Governor's salary and increase the salary of the Lieutenant Governor and the Speaker of the House of Representatives to one-half of the Governor's salary. The annual salary of members of the legislature, the Lieutenant Governor, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives is currently $7,200. Under this provision, the annual salary of the Lieutenant Governor and the Speaker would be $46,716, and the annual salary of members of the legislature would be $23,358, based on the Governor's current annual salary of $93,432. The increase for the Speaker and the members of the legislature would take effect when the legislature convenes for its regular session in January 1991. The increase for the Lieutenant Governor would take effect when the term of that office begins in 1991. The salary increase for the Lieutenant Governor would not make members of the legislature ineligible to run for the office of Lieutenant Governor.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to limit the salary of the lieutenant governor and the speaker of the house of representatives to not more than one-half of the governor's salary and to limit the salary of a member of the legislature to not more than one-fourth of the governor's salary."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 5 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Texas Water Development Board to issue an additional $500 million of Texas water development bonds. The additional bonds are to be used as follows: $250 million of the bonds are to be used for water supply loans and facilities acquisition; $200 million of the bonds are to be used for water quality enhancement projects; and $50 million of the bonds are to be used for flood control. The legislature may provide that $100 million be used for subsidized loans and grants to economically distressed areas of the state for water and wastewater facilities.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to authorize the issuance of an additional $500 million of Texas water development bonds for water supply, water quality, and flood control purposes."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 51 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the legislature to provide for the issuance of general obligation bonds to provide money to establish a Texas agricultural fund, a rural microenterprise development fund, a Texas product development fund, and a Texas small business incubator fund in the state treasury. The Texas agricultural fund would be used to provide financial assistance to develop, increase, improve, or expand the production, processing, marketing, or export of crops or products grown or produced in Texas by Texas agricultural businesses. The rural microenterprise development fund would be used to stimulate the creation and expansion of small businesses in rural areas. The Texas product development fund would be used to aid in the development and production of new or improved products in this state. The Texas small business incubator fund would be used to stimulate the development of small businesses in the State.

The principal amount of bonds outstanding at one time could not exceed $25 million for the Texas agricultural fund and $5 million for the rural microenterprise development fund. The financial assistance offered by both funds could include loan guarantees, insurance, co-insurance, loans, and indirect loans or purchases or acceptances of assignments of loans or other obligations. To carry out the Texas product development fund, the legislature could authorize loans, loan guarantees, and equity investments, and the issuance of up to $25 million of general obligation bonds for initial funding. To carry out the Texas small business incubator fund, the legislature could authorize loans and grants of money, and the issuance of up to $20 million of general obligation bonds for initial funding.

Bonds authorized under this amendment would be paid out of the first money coming into the treasury in each fiscal year that is not otherwise appropriated by the constitution, less any amount in any interest and sinking account at the end of the preceding fiscal year that is pledged to payment of the bonds or interest.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to provide for the recovery and further development of the state's economy, with goals of increasing job opportunities and other benefits for Texas residents, through state financing of the development and production of Texas products and businesses."

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 13 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the legislature, by general law, to exempt from ad valorem taxes property owned by nonprofit veterans organizations that are chartered or incorporated by the United States Congress.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to exempt property of nonprofit veterans organizations from ad valorem taxation."

PROPOSITION NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 11 proposes a constitutional amendment that would provide an exemption from ad valorem taxation for goods, wares, merchandise, other tangible personal property (including aircraft), and ores (other than oil, gas, and petroleum products) if the property is acquired in or imported into the state and is destined to be forwarded out of the state, regardless of whether the intention to forward the property existed when the property was acquired or imported into the state, if it remains in Texas for 175 days or less for assembly, storage, manufacture, processing, or fabrication. The proposed amendment would authorize the governing body of a county, municipality, school district, or junior college district to prevent the exemption of this tangible personal property from taxation by taking official action before April 1, 1990. A county, municipality, school district, or junior college district could rescind a decision to tax the property, in which case the exemption would become effective in the year of the rescission and the property could not thereafter be taxed.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment promoting economic growth, job creation, and fair tax treatment for Texans who export goods to other states and nations by restoring and allowing, on a local option basis, an ad valorem tax exemption for certain personal property that is in Texas only temporarily for the purpose of assembling, storing, manufacturing, processing or fabricating."

PROPOSITION NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 4 proposes a constitutional amendment that would enable the legislature to provide, by general or special law, that members of a hospital district board may serve terms not to exceed four years. Currently, hospital district board members' terms are two years.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"Authorizing the members of a hospital district governing board to serve four-year terms."

PROPOSITION NO. 7 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 40 proposes a constitutional amendment that would change the format of the oath of office for officeholders in this state. All elected and appointed officers would be required to take an oath or affirmation swearing to faithfully execute the duties of office and to preserve, protect, and defend the constitution and laws of the State and the United States. In addition, each elected and appointed officer would be required to sign a sworn statement that he or she had not paid, offered, or promised anything of value for a vote or to secure appointment to an office, as applicable. The written, sworn statement would be filed with the secretary of state. The information in the statement is currently contained in the oaths of office taken by elected and appointed officials.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to require that a member of the legislature, the secretary of state, and an elected or appointed officer, before assuming office, sign a written oath stating that the member, the secretary of state, or the officer did not engage in bribery to obtain the office."

PROPOSITION NO. 8 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 24 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to authorize the issuance of up to $400 million in general obligation bonds. The proceeds of the bonds could be used to acquire, construct, or equip new corrections institutions, mental health and mental retardation institutions, youth corrections institutions, and statewide law enforcement facilities and to repair and renovate existing facilities of those institutions. The bonds would constitute a general obligation of the state. The bonds and interest on the bonds would be paid from the first money coming into the treasury that is not otherwise appropriated by the constitution, less any amount in a sinking fund at the end of the preceding fiscal year that is pledged to payment of the bonds or interest.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of general obligation bonds for projects relating to facilities of corrections institutions, youth corrections institutions, mental health and mental retardation institutions and for the expansion of statewide law enforcement facilities."

PROPOSITION NO. 9 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 101 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the legislature to pass laws to organize and combine state agencies that perform criminal justice functions. The legislature could combine into one or more agencies all agencies that have authority over the confinement and supervision of convicted criminals, and that set standards for or distribute state funds to political subdivisions with authority over the confinement and supervision of convicted criminals, and that gather information about criminal justice administration. Agencies that could be combined would include the Texas Department of Corrections, the Board of Pardons and Paroles, and the Texas Adult Probation Commission. The amendment would also authorize the legislature to pass laws authorizing the appointment of members of more than one department of government to serve on the governing body.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to organize and combine various state agencies that perform criminal justice functions."

PROPOSITION NO. 10 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 4 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the legislature to enact laws requiring or permitting judges to advise juries that a defendant convicted of a criminal offense can receive credit for good conduct that results in a shorter prison term and that eligibility for parole or mandatory supervision can also affect the length of time a convicted criminal serves in prison.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to require or permit courts to inform juries about the effect of good conduct time and eligibility for parole or mandatory supervision on the period of incarceration served by a defendant convicted of a criminal offense."

PROPOSITION NO. 11 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 102 proposes a constitutional amendment that would increase the per diem of members of the Legislature. The amount of per diem allowed during a calendar year would be equal to the maximum amount allowed for federal income tax purposes as of January 1 of that same year as a deduction for living expenses incurred by a state legislator. The per diem of $30 would increase to $81, which is the current maximum living expense deduction.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to set the amount of per diem received by a member of the legislature at the amount allowed for federal income tax purposes as a deduction for living expenses incurred by a state legislator in connection with official business."

PROPOSITION NO. 12 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 53 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the legislature to provide for the use of the permanent school fund and the income from the permanent school fund to guarantee bonds issued by the state for the purpose of providing loans or purchasing the bonds of school districts to acquire, construct, renovate, or improve instructional facilities. If the permanent school fund were required to make payment as a result of its guarantee of bonds issued by the state, the fund would have to be reimbursed immediately from the state treasury. The amount of bonds guaranteed by the permanent school fund could not exceed $750 million unless a higher amount was authorized by a two-thirds vote of both houses of the legislature. If a school district were to become delinquent on a loan, the amount of the delinquency would be offset against other aid to which the district was entitled.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to provide for using the permanent school fund and its income to guarantee bonds issued by the state for the purpose of aiding school districts."

PROPOSITION NO. 13 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 19 proposes a constitutional amendment that would provide a bill of rights for crime victims. This constitutional amendment would give crime victims the right to be treated with fairness and respect and to be reasonably protected from the defendant. On his request, the crime victim would have the right to notification of court proceedings, the right to be present at all public court proceedings unless a court determines that the victim's testimony would be affected by hearing other testimony, the right to confer with a representative of the prosecutor's office, the right to restitution, and the right to information about the conviction, sentence, imprisonment, and release of the defendant. The legislature would be authorized to enact laws to define the term "victim," to enforce the rights of crime victims, and to provide that certain public officers and agencies are not liable for a failure to protect a victim's rights.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing a bill of rights for crime victims."

PROPOSITION NO. 14 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 71 proposes a constitutional amendment that would require the district attorney in Fort Bend County to be elected and serve terms at the same times as criminal district attorneys in the state. Currently, criminal district attorneys are elected in gubernatorial election years and district attorneys are elected in presidential election years.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment requiring a district attorney serving in Fort Bend County to be elected and serve a term in the manner provided by general law for criminal district attorneys."

PROPOSITION NO. 15 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 32 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the legislature, by general law, to permit charitable raffles conducted by qualified nonprofit organizations. The amendment would require that the raffles be conducted, promoted, and administered only by members of the qualified nonprofit organizations and that the proceeds from the sale of raffle tickets must be spent for the charitable purposes of the organizations.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to permit and regulate raffles conducted by certain nonprofit organizations for charitable purposes."

PROPOSITION NO. 16 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 34 proposes a constitutional amendment allowing the legislature to pass general laws authorizing the creation of hospital districts upon approval of a majority of the qualified voters of the district. The amendment would also permit the legislature to authorize the creation of hospital districts by general or special law in counties with populations of 75,000 or less and to authorize the commissioners courts of such counties to levy ad valorem taxes and issue general obligation bonds for the support and maintenance of such districts.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment granting to the people the right to decide whether to create and maintain hospital districts to protect the public well-being in a manner independent of the legislature."

PROPOSITION NO. 17 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 33 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature, by general law, to authorize the use of public money to provide local fire departments and other public fire-fighting organizations loans or other financial assistance to purchase fire-fighting equipment and to aid in complying with federal and state law. The legislature would also be allowed to authorize the use of public money for scholarships and grants to educate and train members of these organizations. Part of the money could be used for administrative costs of this program. The legislature would provide for the terms and conditions of all such scholarships, grants, loans, and other financial assistance.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the state to provide scholarships, grants, loans, and other financial assistance to local fire departments and other public fire-fighting organizations to purchase fire-fighting equipment, to aid in providing necessary equipment and facilities to comply with federal and state law, and to educate and train their members."

PROPOSITION NO. 18 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 44 proposes a constitutional amendment that would repeal subsection (e) of Article III, Section 50-d of the constitution. Article III, Section 50-d currently allows the Texas Water Development Board to issue and sell Texas agricultural water conservation bonds in an amount not to exceed $200 million, if two-thirds of the members of each house of the legislature approve. Under subsection (e), this authority will expire in November, 1989. Repeal of subsection (e) by passage of this amendment would continue in effect the authority to issue and sell the bonds.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to eliminate certain time limitations relating to the issuance of Texas agricultural water conservation bonds."

PROPOSITION NO. 19 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 59 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow local governments to invest their funds as authorized by the legislature. Currently, the constitutional prohibition against a grant of public money to an individual, association, or corporation or against becoming a stockholder in a corporation, association, or company prevents local governments from making some kinds of investments. This proposed amendment would allow local governments to make any investments authorized by the legislature.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to authorize local governments to invest their funds as provided by law."

PROPOSITION NO. 20 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 16 proposes a constitutional amendment which, if passed, would abolish the office of county surveyor in Cass, Ector, Garza, Smith, Bexar, Harris, and Webb Counties. A majority of the voters in an affected county must vote in favor of this proposed amendment before the office is abolished in that county. If the office of county surveyor is abolished in any of these counties, the powers, duties, and functions of the office are transferred to a county officer or employee designated by the commissioners court of the county in which the office is abolished.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to abolish the office of county surveyor in Cass, Ector, Garza, Smith, Bexar, Harris, and Webb Counties."

PROPOSITION NO. 21 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 74 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the legislature to enact laws authorizing the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board or its successor to provide for, issue, and sell an additional $75 million in general obligation bonds as college savings bonds. The form, terms, and denominations of the bonds would be prescribed by law. The interest rate and installments would be prescribed by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board or its successor. The maximum net effective interest rate would be set by law. Proceeds from the sale of the bonds would be credited to the Texas opportunity plan fund, which is used to make loans to students to attend institutions of higher education in Texas. The bonds and interest on the bonds would be payable from the first money coming into the treasury in each fiscal year that is not already appropriated by the constitution, less the amount remaining in the sinking fund at the close of the prior fiscal year.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing for the issuance of general obligation bonds as college savings bonds to provide educational loans to students and to encourage the public to save for a college education."
