Research Unit Site Inspected by Committee

A three-man inspection committee from the U. S. Health, Education and Welfare Department Tuesday expressed favorable opinion on the location of a medical research laboratory in Hereford.

Final decision on whether the lab will be built here will be given on Oct. 24 of this year. Tuesday, the three men, a doctor, a lawyer and a chemist, were accompanied by Dr. L. B. Barnett as they looked at the proposed site of the lab.

"The reaction for locating a research unit here was very favorable," Dr. Barnett said. "The unit will be connected with the University of Texas Medical School at Dallas," he added.

"It will deal primarily with research on bone healing, but lab will be completely equipped as a soil testing unit as well as a food and drug testing center," he said.

Members of the committee are Carlyle Jacobsen, M. D., former dean of Washington University Medical School in St. Louis; Dr. Meyer Doblinsky, chemist, of Silver Springs, Md., and Bradshaw Mintener of Washington, D. C.

Dr. Jacobsen and Doblinsky are members of the 12 man National Research Committee which acts as an advisory group to the department of Health, Education and Welfare.

If the laboratory is built here the initial staff will include one doctor, two technicians and one stenographer, Dr. Barnett said. He said the staff would be expanded later.

C. W. Wheeler, 58, Former Resident, Is Buried Here

Clarence Wayne Wheeler, 58, a member of a pioneer Deaf Smith County family, was buried in West Park Cemetery here Tuesday after funeral services were held in the Spring Creek community near Borger.

Mr. Wheeler died Saturday in a Pampa hospital. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wheeler, early-day ranchers in this county.

He was born Aug. 25, 1898, in Amarillo. There was no hospital in Deaf Smith County at the time. He was graduated from Hereford High School in 1916 and was captain of the football team during his school years.

Mr. Wheeler was a veteran of World War I, serving in France with the 36th Division. He was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion and the Masonic Lodge.

He had lived in the Spring Creek community for the past 23 years. Services were held in the community's Baptist Church Tuesday morning.

Survivors include his wife, Corrine; a son, Bill of Kellon; three daughters, Mrs. Jack Baker of Amarillo, Mrs. Scott Clark of Lubbock and Mrs. Carl Loflin of Pampa; two brothers, Perry of Amarillo and Frank of Norwalk, Calif.; and two sisters, Mrs. Isabel Patterson and Mrs. Myrtle Mollineux.

FOR 3-YEAR INTERNSHIP New Teacher Will Receive More Pay Than Supervisor

A good man nowadays is hard to find. That is what Superintendent of Schools Fred Cunningham told members of the school board Tuesday night when he proposed offering a contract to George D. Muse Jr., which calls for him to begin a three-year "internship" as an administrator-teacher.

Before approving the contract, the board members noted that his starting salary will exceed that of his principal-supervisor, Financial Secretary Fred Baird.

Baird said that he had no objection to the salary schedule proposed for Muse, and felt that his services would be of advantage and be paid through improved efficiency in assessments for taxes.

MUSE'S CONTRACT calls for him to undertake both the district tax assessor-collector and superintendent, and to teach two business course classes in high school. He has held a similar position in the Dimmitt school system and is now school tax assessor-collector there. This is a newly created position in the Hereford system.

His work in the tax office is expected to enable Baird to undertake more complete assessment and evaluation of properties in the 700 square mile district. Muse, eventually, will be expected to undertake field work for the office.

His contract calls for a salary of $6,000 the first year, $6,500 the second and $7,500 the third. When a board member called attention to the fact that Muse's salary would exceed the $5,850 paid Baird, the veteran financial secretary added his recommendation to that of Cunningham.

The school superintendent earlier this year had recommended Baird's salary be increased from $5,100 per year to $7,500. The trustees settled on $5,850 per year plus a car allowance, although Cunningham declared Baird to be the best qualified school tax man in the entire region.

THE EMPLOYMENT of Muse to fill a newly created position was just one event during the meeting that emphasized the growth problems of the school district.

For example: Cunningham briefly outlined a talk on school finances that he will deliver this week to a service club. Highlights of the talk will include explanation of the school's steadily increasing student body and budget. While the District's budget just 10 years ago called for $238,000 in expenditures, about $885,000 will be spent during the 1957-58 school term.

And the trustees considered whether to undertake major repairs or to replace the boiler that has heated the old high school building, now Stanton Junior High, since 1925. This problem was tabled until next meeting.

Skelton Becomes Sheriff Today

Charles Skelton will be sworn in as Deaf Smith County sheriff this morning. Skelton will replace Lowell Sharp, who has resigned for business reasons.

Skelton will serve until Dec. 31, 1958. He has been a deputy since 1954 and prior to that was with the U. S. Border Patrol and the Amarillo Police Department. He is a native of Hereford and a graduate of Hereford High School.

Skelton has not appointed any deputies as yet. He now has two vacancies. Skelton said he is considering several applications.

YEAR'S FIRST ENCEPHALITIS CASES BEING TREATED HERE

An infant girl and a 14-year-old boy are now being treated for mild cases of encephalitis (sleeping sickness) at Deaf Smith County Hospital.

The first case of encephalitis to be reported here this year was that of Diana Zellner, 11-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don W. Zellner, Star Rt., Hereford. She has been in the hospital since Friday.

Wesley J. Poarch, an All-Star Pony League ball player, was admitted to the hospital Sunday morning. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. V. H. (Hoot) Poarch, 232 Bradley.

An attending physician said that both cases of the disease are mild and that both patients are doing very well.

Deaf Smith County, which last year had 18 cases of encephalitis reported, including one death, has for the past several weeks been in a state of emergency declared by County Health Officer Dr. R. R. Willis due to the presence of encephalitis-carrying mosquitoes.

A county-wide mosquito control project, together with a continuous anti-insect campaign in Hereford, has been undertaken in an effort to lessen the chances of an epidemic of sleeping sickness.

Giants Are Minor League Champions

The Giants won the season's championship of the minor league Monday night by whumping the Yankees, 18-4, in a play-off game.

By winning the game, the Giants won the second-half title to go with their first-half championship. Prior to the game, the Giants and Yankees were tied for the first second-half standings, each team having seven wins and two losses.

Danny Loerwald and Lyn Warren pitched for the Giants and Gary Northcutt for the Yankees.

OH, WHOOPS! Iron Curtain Slammed on Sneaky Peeper

A glaring error in judgment resulted in a complete change of the point of view by a man picked up by police Tuesday night.

When sheriff-designate Charles Skelton and his wife returned to their apartment at the county jail, Skelton noticed a man hanging around. The Skeltons went on in the building and a few minutes later, Mrs. Skelton saw a man peeping through a bedroom window.

Skelton, who was reading a paper in the front room, dashed outside but the man had run away. Skelton called the city police prowl car and a man was picked up later as a suspect.

Shortly thereafter the suspect, who Skelton says is the same man he had seen loitering around the jail, was being held inside the jail for investigation.

No charges had been filed Wednesday morning.

Red Sox Capture Pony League Title

Harold Carter singled in two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to give the Red Sox a come-from-behind, 7-5, victory of the White Sox and the season's Pony League championship Tuesday night.

The Red Sox had won the second half of the regular season and the White Sox took the first half.

Carter was the big gun for the winners, knocking in four runs on three hits, two singles and a double, in four times at bat.

Clyde Whitaker pitched a three-hitter, but walked 10 men and had six errors committed behind him. Whitaker fanned 14 of the White Sox batters.

Bud Martin and Greg Combs pitched for the losers. Martin gave up three hits, four walks and struck out 11 in four innings. Combs also gave up three hits, walked one and fanned five.

The White Sox also committed six errors.

Two runs on one hit and a pair of walks gave the Red Sox another lead in the fifth inning but the White Sox tallied three in the sixth to go ahead, 6-3.

Around Town

Deaf Smith County Hospital attendants report that 11 babies were born over a four-day period at the end of last week and the first of this week. Four babies were born Saturday, one Sunday, one Monday and five Tuesday. Dr. Roy Grubbs said that babies born during the last four or five weeks have averaged about one a day.

A 12-page supplement to the 1957 The Round-up, Hereford High School annual, has been mailed to students. The supplement covers activities of the latter part of the school year.

Around 60 Campfire Girls and 25 mothers and sponsors plan to attend a camp Sunday through Friday at Ceta Glen Christian Camp near Happy. Mrs. Richard Barnard is serving as camp chairman. Other leaders attending will be Mesdames J. T. Gilbreath Jr., Jack Gilliland, Jimmie Gillentine, Sam Nunnally, Irvin Reeves and Lola Scott. Mrs. Clyde Cave, council secretary, will also attend.

Big Spring, which defeated the Hereford Little League all-stars in the Section I play-offs at Abilene Aug. 5, went on to win the section title but was eliminated by Waco in the state finals at Fort Worth Aug. 9. (Continued On Page 2)

Noyes Family Leaves Hospital

Four members of the Johnnie Noyes family injured in a highway collision June 18 were released from Deaf Smith County Hospital Wednesday to return to their Tulsa, Okla., home.

The father of the family, 37, was killed in the collision and seven members injured. The Noyes family was returning from a vacation in California when their car collided with a loaded El Rancho Feed truck near Summerfield.

Johnnie Steven, 12, and Harold Dwight, 10, have already been released from the hospital. Released Wednesday were Mrs. Ruby Noyes, 37, Brenda, 3, Duane, 6, and Mrs. Anna Williams, mother of Mrs. Noyes.

Police Force Gets New Patrolman

Dale Henry Walderscheid, 27, was added to the city police force Tuesday to replace J. T. Sanderson who has resigned.

Walderscheid came to Hereford from LeMars, Iowa. He spent nine years in the U. S. Air Force. He is married.

Chief of Police Henry Aycock said Walderscheid has no previous experience in police work. Sanderson, now on vacation, has made his resignation effective Aug. 20.

Petition Requests Labor Camp Road

A new petition requesting the opening of a road from the Hereford Labor Camp to Highway 51 was received Monday by the county commissioners court. Action was considered then and again on Tuesday, but was tabled until the next session of the court Aug. 26.

There were about 125 signatures on the petition, which was brought before the court by John Baetzold and five other signers. Only two property owners would be affected by the road, according to an engineer's sketch that accompanied the petition. Hereford Housing Project directors presented a statement promising to pave the road should it be approved by the county officials.

They are Commissioner Charles Sowell and County Agent Hugh Clearman.

Sowell said that objections he has previously expressed to the camp road project have been altered by the paving proposal, but that his action will depend on the decision of his neighbor Clearman. He told his fellow

Worker Slightly Injured in Fall

Harold McAllister, 52, of Amarillo was slightly injured Monday morning when he fell seven feet from a scaffold. He was working on the Presbyterian church expansion project when he was knocked to the ground by a hoist.

He was treated for bruises and shock at Deaf Smith County Hospital. McAllister is an employee of the Silver Construction Co.

Pleds Guilty To Assault Charges

G. W. Russell, 26, a farm worker, pleaded guilty to charges of aggravated assault Tuesday and was sentenced to 15 days in jail and fined court costs by County Judge Homer Henslee.

Russell was charged with beating his son on Sept. 16, 1956. Charges were filed on him July 27. Also on Tuesday, Bridgido Villalare pleaded guilty to having possession of wine for sale and was sentenced to five days in jail and fined $100 and costs.

Transient Charged in Stabbing Case

Being held in Deaf Smith County jail in lieu of $2,500 bond on charges of assault with intent to murder is John Randolph Bingham, 55, a transient fruit worker.

Bingham was charged Monday in the Saturday morning stabbing of Bud Brown, 52, of the Al-Mar Trailer Courts, 705 E. 2nd.

Brown was stabbed three times in an affray about 4 a. m. Saturday at the trailer courts, according to city police. Brown was admitted to Deaf Smith County Hospital at 4:12 a. m.

He was treated for a deep slash on his left hip, another cut on his left forearm and a stab wound in his stomach. Exploratory surgery Saturday revealed the stomach had not been perforated. Brown is said to be in good condition by hospital attendants.

According to Chief of Police Henry Aycock, Bingham, Brown and Fred Clark Jr. had gone to Lockney Friday to see about work there.

Bingham's statement to police says they went from Lockney to Amarillo and started drinking.

Clark's statement says the three were sitting on a divan in front of Brown's trailer house talking when Bingham started scuffling with Brown. Brown pushed Bingham down, Clark said, and then Bingham pulled a pocketknife and started slashing Brown.

The deep cut on Brown's hip dropped him to the ground, Clark said. Clark said he knocked Bingham down and he and Mrs. Brown carried Brown to the hospital.

Bingham told police he had

Cost of Vehicle Registration To Go Up on Aug. 22

The cost of vehicle registration fees will, with a few exceptions, go up approximately 10 per cent in Texas as of Aug. 22. House Bill 620, passed recently by the state legislature, provides for the increase.

All registration fees except a dealer's license, road tax, factory delivery license and in transit license will be boosted.

Deaf Smith County tax assessor-collector Sank Ramey said he has new rate books at his office if anyone wants to check the new costs on his vehicle.

Shortage of Farm Workers Foreseen

A shortage of 625 farm workers in Deaf Smith County is expected during the peak of the cotton and late vegetable harvest, according to Texas Employment Commission officials.

The estimate of the shortage, together with a possible solution—the importation of Mexican Nationals, was presented last week during the first meeting of the County Farm Labor Committee and TEC officials.

Farm labor committeemen, appointed by the TEC from among the county's farmers, includes seven men. Only Elmer Combs, W. T. Carmichael and Jack Renfro, of the seven, were present. They met with Edward D. Vaughn and Eldrid G. Travis, manager and field assistant of the regional TEC office, and J. R. Patterson, local TEC office manager.

The committee will function under Public Law 78, obtaining facts relevant to the supply of domestic farm workers and the shortage of workers. If any, which must be met by importing Mexican Nationals.

The TEC must supply this information to the Secretary of Labor who must limit the number of Mexican Nationals to be used under Public Law 78.

Hereford Lass Is District Winner

Pat Dawson, 17, of Hereford was one of the five winners at the District I 4-H Dress Revue at Amarillo Tuesday.

Miss Dawson now advances to the state finals to be held in Dallas in conjunction with the State Fair in October.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dawson, 219 Lee, Pat won the Deaf Smith County 4-H Dress Revue recently for the third straight year.

Fifteen counties were represented in the district competition at Amarillo.

Philadelphia Waiter Trying Hard To Save Music of Early America

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — Is there a market for songs that date back to 1790?

Is anybody interested in copies of the original sheet music of "Yankee Doodle," "I Wish I Was in Dixie Land" or baseball songs like "Tally One for Me" and "Home Run Polka"?

Harry Dichter thinks so. And for more than 20 years he has tried to exploit the songs that background American history from the days of its Revolutionary War beginnings.

Dichter is no musician but he loves old music.

He's a waiter by profession, working at that job mostly at night. The bulk of his earnings — after providing for his family — he puts into a music publishing company called "Musical Americana," of which he is owner, editor and chief consultant.

"My wife used to ask me years ago when I'm going to make money out of it," he says. "She's stopped asking that now."

Dichter, at 58 with two married sons and a 16-year-old daughter, realizes he can't keep pushing "dead" music without some profit. But he still hopes "someone will see the light" — libraries, universities, foundations — and rekindle the interest in American historical music.

"America has always committed its history to music, and people would know about it more fully if they could see and play these old songs," he adds.

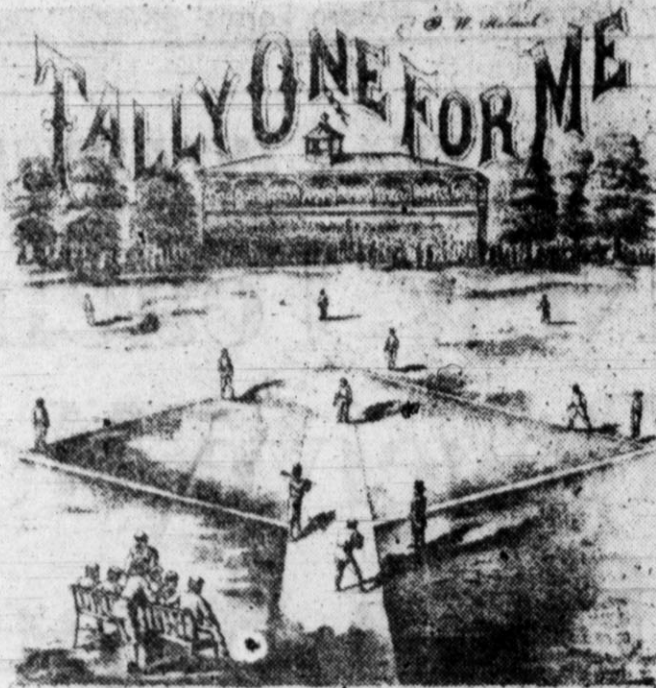

"America sang songs of the Revolutionary War while the fighting was going on. It had its choice of 50 or more dirges to sing over the assassination of Lincoln.

"American sheet music is far more than a nostalgic memento of the past. Today it is probably the only medium through which we can recapture the human side of the happenings of the nation of yesterday."

"The whole gamut of the emotions of a people are contained in the lyrics and music of thousands of writers and composers, some now long forgotten."

Since then his "Musical Americana" firm has published various assortments of old music ranging from "Federal Overture," a conglomeration of tunes popular in colonial times, to "Baseball in Music & Song," which contains 14 songs about the nation's national sport.

The music Dichter publishes must be 56 years old or more, because it takes that long for the original copyrights to expire. He says he's the only man in the world publishing these old songs — "It's really a labor of love."

TWO DECISIONS regarding bus operation, also attributed to the changing times, required about an hour's discussion before the board members reached a decision. One question involved the hiring of three senior high school students as bus drivers for the coming term.

Continued difficulty in obtaining qualified drivers had prompted the school administrators to consider the use of students as drivers. The board had first discussed the matter during an earlier session. The proposal, with the understanding that the students had already been selected after careful screening by the bus supervisor and principal, won approval by a 5-1 vote. Trustee Ralph Hastings cast the dissenting vote.

The second bus operation problem involved driver responsibility.

Work on the largest section of the city paving project, widening Ave. K from Park Ave. north to the city limits, began yesterday. City Manager Dudley Bayne said that property owners were generally very cooperative — 95 persons own property along the section of the street to be improved — but that assessments will be made against a few persons who declined to sign paving agreements. None of the persons to be assessed declared their property a homestead, and most are non-residents, he added.

The board members approved a tax levy of $1.50 per $100 valuation, the same tax ratio in effect here last year. Baird reported that his final budget figures will be ready for study shortly before the public budget hearing, previously scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 20, in the school superintendent's office.

The estimated $885,000 budget for the coming year represents about $50,000 more outlay than for the 1956-57 school term. Baird said that the major part of the increase is a result of the $400 per year teacher salary increase to be paid by the state.

THREE TEACHER resignations were accepted and three new teacher contracts approved. The resignations were submitted by John Poindexter, former assistant coach, Mrs. Jim Whelan, and Mrs. Mattie Bell Ray.

To be offered teaching contracts are Rook Rogers, former West Texas State basketball star, as a physical education teacher with some coaching duties; Mrs. George D. Muse Jr., as a high school math teacher, replacing Mrs. Whelan who has accepted a position in Bovina; and Mrs. Doris C. Holmes, who will replace Mrs. Ray as public school music teacher. Mrs. Ray plans to live in Friona, Cunningham said.

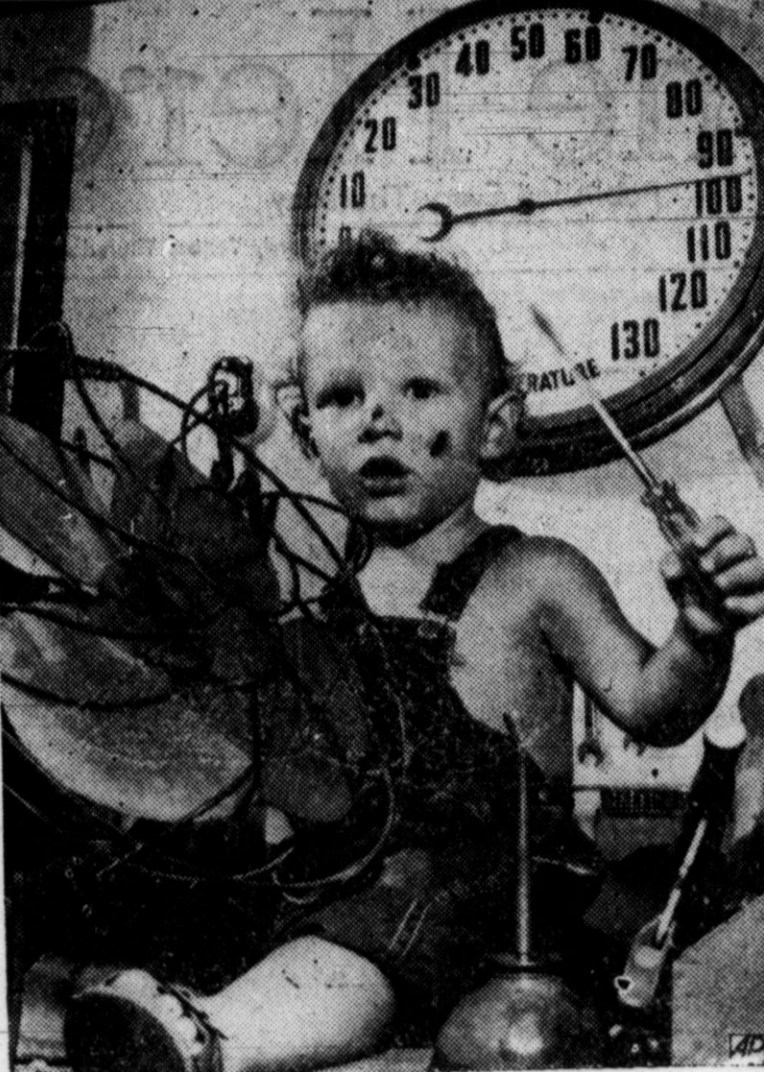

After 20 months of discussion and development work by the trustees and school staff, the trustees gave final approval to a lengthy pamphlet of written policies for the school. One section was deleted before approval. It would have made retirement of school system personnel mandatory at 70 years of age.

County Is Second in Bond Purchases

During the first six months of 1957, the citizens of Deaf Smith County invested $170,979 in Series E and H Savings Bonds. This report was made today by Robert L. Thompson, chairman of the county savings bonds committee.

Sales in Texas during the first half of 1957 were $85,566,685 or 44.3% of the 1957 goal of $193,100,000. June sales in Texas were $12,988,481.

Deaf Smith ranks number two in the Amarillo area of 44 counties in percentage of sales to the year's goal of $179,928. Having reached the 95 per cent mark of the annual sales goal, the county is outranked in the area only by Yoakum County with 96.9 per cent.

Sales in Castro County totaled $44,970 during the first half year; in Parmer County, $64,558, and in Oldham County $12,337. Parmer's total represents 72.7 per cent of the year's goal, and is the third highest percentage recorded in the area.

The Hallmark of Circulation Value

In the same way that STERLING on silver signifies a standard of known value, so is the A.B.C. emblem a symbol of integrity for the circulation of newspapers and periodicals. It means that circulation so identified is measured according to the rules and standards of the AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS. The A.B.C. is a cooperative and non-profit association of 3,450 publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies. Organized in 1914, these buyers and sellers of advertising brought order out of advertising chaos by setting up standards for paid circulation and establishing rules and methods for measuring, auditing and reporting circulations. Therefore, the work of the A.B.C., of which this newspaper is proud to be a member, provides you with a direct and valuable service. You can buy advertising as you would make any other sound business investment — on the basis of well known standards, known values. At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. The results of this exacting audit show: How much circulation we have; where our circulation goes; how it was obtained; and many other facts that you need in order to know just what you get for your advertising dollars. This audited information is published by the Bureau in easy-to-read A.B.C. reports which are available to our advertisers on request. Ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

PRaise FOR INERTIA CLEVELAND - The "lazy man" is a better citizen than the "eager beaver" type, says author and lecturer William Hazlett Upson. He told a recent dinner meeting at Western Reserve University. "The lazy man is always a better citizen, and does far more good for himself and society than the 'eager beaver'. In my opinion, it is the 'eager beaver' who causes most of the trouble in this world."

SAFE HAVEN LIMA, Ohio - A large hole in a city street is usually a traffic hazard. But in Lima, such a hole was responsible for saving a boy's life. Douglas Weber, 3, suffered only minor bruises when a car backing out of a driveway "squashed" him into the hole.

PAINTING TIP Avoid house painting in the hot rays of the sun. You'll keep cooler and obtain better results if you follow the shade around the house.

By JIMMIE GILLENTE

Police Chief Henry Aycock figures that Hereford people are turning over a new leaf, which makes him quite happy. Aycock says that the number of warrants issued for unpaid traffic violations has dropped from an average of 80 to 90 each month to only seven in July. What's more, folks are getting fewer parking meter tickets with only 500 issued in July as compared with a monthly average of 1,000 earlier in the year. City revenue is up on the take of penalties and nickles from the meters, but fines are sharply down.

This is Henry's idea, not mine. I figure it is probably due to the fact that a lot of heavy violators are on vacation. A few of them might even be out working. Besides, it's too hot to run back and forth and watch for the meter maid these days. Most people just slug in a penny and forget the whole thing. Sort of easy come, easy go. This fall the violations will go back up, or I will be wrong.

EVEN THE BAPTIST Sunday School teachers got quite a bang out of the predicament in which they found themselves last Sunday. It happened in one of the preschool-age departments that, while pasting up cutouts from magazines, one of the ladies slapped down a full page mount, gave it a final swipe — but failed to notice that it had been mounted backwards. As they started through the mounts with the children, one teacher was quite startled when she turned the pile and came face to face with a foaming, frosty color illustration of a sparkling glass of beer. Despite her confusion, though, she managed to slip the mount out of the pile, eliminating a lot of unnecessary questions.

Berry Orr Tuesday was proudly displaying a group of fine, handmade quilts, which he turned out in his spare time. He says they won't compare with the quality Miles Roberson's dad used to make — but they looked like excellent workmanship to me.

CONNIE JOHNSON says she has completely lost faith in the Bull Column. She read about the proposed mortuary and was telling a friend about the Park Ave. location. The friend protested that it was to be on 25-Mile Ave., and the argument started. Connie was finally convinced, and is now passing the buck on to me. I checked the location and, bad as I hate to admit it, I was wrong. The new mortuary will be on 25-Mile Ave. or, if you prefer, Highway 51. I jumped to a conclusion — and landed about a mile and a half off target. I can't even think of a good alibi, and that is bad.

Mutt Wheeler contends that he also made a mistake last week when he accepted a chance to "drive out in the country" with Jack Brown. "Jack is a wonderful driver, knows the country like a book — but I had to open all the gates," declares Mutt. He says he never knew there were so many gates in all the world. However, he did get a cup of coffee out of the deal which, according to Mutt, is another story.

DR. R. R. WILLS was the guy who really pulled the boner of the week, though. For some time, Doc has been telling everyone at the Clinic that the lock system on the foyer was dangerous, and last week he proved it. He got locked in the vestibule himself. He couldn't get out; he couldn't get back in to a telephone. Doc admits he may have lost his temper for a while, but finally solved the situation by taking off his shoe, breaking out one of the small windows and reaching around to the knob on the other side. What's

It's a dear bargain to buy any kind of insurance on the basis of price alone, without considering all the many other important factors that may affect your financial security.

We have a hunch you'd rather BUY FROM AN AGENT whose expert knowledge assures you of getting the best available protection and whose friendly assistance is yours when you have a loss, or when a claim is made against you.

more, it won't happen to anybody else, says Doc, who personally supervised installation of a more practical lock system the very next day.

Raylan Evans, former respected Texan who recently moved to Colorado and "went native" is at it again, as the following letter will show:

Mr. Jim Gillette, The Hereford Blabber Hereford, Texas Dear Jim: For many years now, I have been defending the variety, integrity, and honesty of Texans. I have always known that we (Texans) spread it on pretty thick, but I knew also that we had quite a thick spread so I had to go on thick. Outsiders often questioned the accuracy of statements made by Texans, but I thought that it was merely a matter of jealousy. Often times, it is hard to see the trees for the forest, so I am most thankful that, at last, I have released myself from the allusion under which I have labored for these many years. I can now see your Texans for what you are.

Alas, I am most discouraged and disappointed. To know that one who is vested by his choice of vocation with the responsibility of presenting in the most accurate manner possible, those choice morsels of news and stories of interest to the public which is also his clientele, now stoops to an alliance with a string-bean character of long known ill-repute in an attempt to disillusion innocent people, is more than I can bear. To think that you, a messenger of the people, should adopt the attitude of "truth or falsehood," I shall uphold my fellow Texan! My heart is heavy. The heart of Coehise is heavy, too.

In Colorado, the Notary Public who would swear to the validity of such statements as those of Ray Bed Slat that were printed last week, would have his license revoked. At my request and recommendation, Governor McNichols has instructed all ports of entry to bar editors, morticians, and notary publics of questionable character from this fine state of unexcelled fishing and hunting. I mention no names, of course, but tell Earnest Langley that I shall include lawyers if he is not more careful with his statements. I regret that I learned of the true character of Texans from men of whom I thought so much, but I suppose that the disappointment had to come at some time. I can hear it no longer, so shall close for this time and try to forget by preparing for another successful fishing trip that will be unmarred by the presence of fishermen who can only talk.

Sincerely hurt,
Raylan Evans

MR. EVANS uses big words, but I doubt if they will fool any Texan who has ever vacationed in Colorado. The fallacy in his pleas rests, of course, on the fact that he presumes all Colorado residents to have "a heart and a conscience." If this is true, I have been going to the wrong places in Colorado, especially those guys who rent cabins. I checked with "Honest" Marlin Gilliland and he says the same thing.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Walter Seed is just back from California, where she caught a 20 1/2 pound tuna. She says it was such a tussle that it made her sore for the next two days. The only trouble was she couldn't get it canned — and they couldn't eat it all. Despite Mr. Evans' disillusionment, this is a far cry from the stories that keep coming back from Colorado. It sure is.

Post-War Religious Revival Is Having Effect on Record Sales

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

THE POST-WAR religious revival is having a belated but pronounced effect on album record sales. Hymns, carols, cantatas and other religious music always do a bustling business in the Christmas season, but seldom before have done much during the rest of the year.

religious albums have moved high in the best seller lists during the summer months and bid fair to remain there.

Tennessee Ernie's "Hymns" (Capitol), a dignified baritone rendering of old favorites of all faiths, has jumped from 15th to ninth place in album sales and is climbing steadily.

"The House of the Lord," featuring hymns by the Roger Wagner Chorale, also a Capitol album, has made a surprise invasion of the top 20 list, despite its rather somber and at times overly dramatic mood.

Pops singer Joni James leaves the every day world of rock 'n' roll far behind in MGM's "Give Us This Day — Songs of Inspiration." At times, she cannot soar with her material, as in "Pans Angelicus" and "The Lord's Prayer," but in less demanding numbers more in the pop vein, like "Bless This House" and "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You," her voice is warm and vibrant.

Tenor Roland Hayes, on a Vanguard label, superbly sings "My Songs," a collection of Negro spirituals that are approaching semi-classical status in American music. Included are such old favorites as "Deep River," "Go Down Moses" and "Dry Bones," and the lesser known "I'm Troubled and Heaven," "Two Wings" and "You Must Come In, By and Through the Lamb."

London Records offer 15-year-old evangelist Renee Martz singing "Revivalist Songs." Although famous throughout the South as an evangelistic preacher, this pretty teen-ager adopts a pop singing style for religious ballads like "Peace in the Valley," "Why Not Try Prayer" and "Tenderly, He Watches."

Folk singer Stuart Hamblen, son of a Texas traveling preacher, evokes boyhood memories of camp meetings in RCA Victor's "Grand Hymns." Aided by Paul Mickelson's choir and orchestra, Hamblen sings such favorite anthems as "The Old Rugged Cross,"

"His Eye Is on the Sparrow" and "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder." The album is also distinguished by an excellent non-Dixieland rendering of "When the Saints Go Marching In."

Even spoken word records have gotten in step with the public demand for religious themes on records. Decca's excellent Parnassus series features a long playing album entitled "Words to Live By — Prayers and Inspirations." Readers Arnold Moss, R. E. Johnson and Jay Jostyn offer a varied repertoire that ranges from Kipling's "Recessional" and Browning's "The Year's at the Spring" to St. Paul's discourse on charity and the Sermon on the Mount.

Helga Thome Writes G. W. Newsoms Here

(Editor's Note: The following is taken from a letter from Helga Thome of Giessen, Germany, to Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Newsoms, in whose home she stayed while attending Hereford High School 1955-56. She made a tour of Europe with the Newsoms' daughter, Jane.)

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Newsoms,
August 2, 1957
We are in Paris now, and just an hour ago we completed our "day at leisure" as it was called on the schedule. There was not any leisure time for us, though. We got up at 6 this morning and after a quick breakfast we left the hotel at about 7 for Moulin Rouge, the red windmill. It is situated in Montmartre, the quarter of Paris where at the end of the 19th-century almost all the famous painters of France lived. Today there are quite a few of the famous Parisian night clubs. When we got there this morning they were closed, of course. To me the whole Montmartre looked very much like "the morning after the night before." The streets were awfully dirty, and most of the people we met too and they didn't seem to have finished dressing and combing yet. The red windmill was just like I had imagined it to be. I bet it looks quite pretty at night.

After having seen it we walked over to "Sacre Coeur" (Sacred Heart), the famous church of Montmartre, which is built of white marble. I had seen so many beautiful pictures of it and was very thrilled to really see it now and find out that it is not only on pictures beautiful. Then it was time for us to go back to the hotel, from where we left for a sight-seeing tour by bus. We took this tour because both of us didn't know much about Paris and really needed to be guided. It was pretty good, but most of the places of interest were passed very fast, because we had to see very much in two hours. Among other things we saw the Opera of Paris, the Arc de Triomphe, the church "La Madeleine," which is built just like a Greek temple, the Palace de la Concorde with its famous obelisque, the Eiffel tower, the Military school of Paris and the Dome des Invalides (the church built by Napoleon for the unabled soldiers) where Napoleon and many other famous French soldiers and politicians are buried. We drove through the very pretty park of Boulogne and up the Avenue de Champs-Elysees, the street that was built by French emperors to show off and boast.

After we finished the tour we had lunch in a little restaurant

100 Persons at Albracht Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Albracht held a family reunion Sunday afternoon in honor of their daughter, Sister M. Thomas and their nieces, Sister M. Dorothy and Sister M. Jeanne, all of St. Scholastica Convent, Fort Smith, Ark., who are spending their week's vacation at their homes.

One hundred people attended. They were Mr. and Mrs. John S. Albracht, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Albracht and Roger, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Kregshauer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Albracht and family, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Banner and family, Capt. and Mrs. Harry Hill and family of Abilene, Dr. and Mrs. E. Z. Albracht and family and Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Heiman, all of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Ramécker and family of Umbarger, Mrs. P. Huseman and son Ralph, Mrs. George Ueselding and family and Mr. and Mrs. Arch Johnson and family, all of Happy, John Heiman and daughter, Sister M. Jeanne, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Albracht and family and their daughter, Sister M. Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Hoelting and family, Mr. and Mrs. Al Hoelting and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gregg Hoelting and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schaecher and baby, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Birkenfeld and family, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Wilhelm and family and Mr. and Mrs. Andy Schumacker, all of Nazareth.

where you can get all kinds of American food. I ate the first hamburger after more than a year. It was so good.

In the afternoon we went to see the Louvre and Notre Dame. We walked quite a distance and nothing makes me more tired than walking the streets of a noisy city. But I'm very glad we walked, anyway, because we saw so many things that we would never have seen riding in a car.

Let me just tell you the general impression of Paris I have after having walked in its streets for one day: It was very nice and interesting to see all the famous places and buildings I have always heard about and I enjoyed it very much, but during this one day I really could not discover very much that makes Paris be different from any other old European city. It's probably dirtier! But I do not want to judge; maybe you have to stay longer to understand the atmosphere of Paris. Bye for now.

RESEARCH REPORT

New Markets Seen for Castor Beans

The castor bean appears to have a place as a cash crop on the irrigation soil of the High Plains. In an attempt to determine the best adapted variety and find the cash per acre value, twelve varieties of castor beans have been included in the research program of the High Plains Station at Halfway.

The station scientists, in cooperation with representatives of the Baker Castor Bean Corporation, are searching for not only the most productive but also the varieties that can be harvested with minimum difficulty. They want a variety of combine height that can be harvested cleanly so as to leave few or no seed to volunteer. Recent predictions indicate a future increase in the castor bean market due to the need for castor oil in the operations of jets and rockets. There is also a potential tremendous market for use in the production of synthetic fibers.

Nitrogen fertilizer tests on castor beans are under way at the High Plains Station to determine the most economical rate and the time of fertilization. Two varieties are being used in four row plots one hundred feet long. Each plot is being replicated four times. Each variety received four different fertilizer treat-

ROW CROPS NEED NITROGEN!

APPLY PHILLIPS 66 AMMONIUM NITRATE NOW

Corn and other row crops need plenty of nitrogen to return bigger yields and profits at lower unit production costs. Phillips 66 Ammonium Nitrate contains a guaranteed 33.5% nitrogen. Half is quick-acting nitrate nitrogen for fast, healthy growth right from the start and half is ammonia nitrogen to provide long-lasting continued plant feeding.

This high quality fertilizer promotes stronger deeper root systems which make better use of available subsoil moisture to help you beat the drought. And it helps increase the protein content of grain and feed crops which put more money in your pocket.

DESIGNER'S DILEMMA:

Wanted: New Look for Home

By EDWARD S. KITCH
CHICAGO (U) — Undecided about the type of house to build or the style of furniture to put in it?

Think nothing of it. You're in the company of architects and designers of furniture who have reached a sort of crossroads in their search for a new look.

In fact, it seems they don't know which road to take because they confess they don't know what YOU want.

This appeared evident during the international summer furniture market where designers, manufacturers and buyers of home furnishings gathered and discussed today's discerning homemakers.

They find that the homemaker is budgeting her desires because she wants to be sure she's up with the fashions and the Joneses. Gen. Lawrence H. Whiting, president of the American Furniture Mart, says that one-third of all women in the United States are now employed and well over half of them are married women, not single or widowed.

"They work for that extra money for clothes, car, furniture and they want style," he says.

THIS IS the area that stumps the artisans. They don't know which road style will take, so they have created a sort of contemporary design that is a blend of many cultures.

The furniture designer looks to the architect for inspiration for new creations. The architect looks everywhere for his theme.

Both agree that we live in a machine age of steel, glass and automation. We've lived with these cold things for so long that our furnishings are beginning to reflect this influence.

Edward Wormley, furniture designer, says that there is a noticeable questioning of the square and geometric in what is known as international architecture, which originated in Germany in the early '20s.

The designers feel that it now is cold and unfriendly. They seek new guideposts for American creations. They want a new American design based on the American tradition and its amalgamation of peoples and cultures.

Wormley says the American idea began to flower at the turn of the 19th century.

The ranch house of the west, the Newport "cottages," early Frank Lloyd Wright and the bungalow of the Midwest have influenced home designs.

VICTORIAN, early American and Swedish modern furniture have steadily experienced an evolution of design into what now is known as contemporary.

Contemporary furniture has many forms and is scaled to fit into today's small family home. In some cases it is a modification of Colonial, French Provincial, and traditional furniture.

Designer John Van Koert takes exception.

"We are suffering from too much Ivy League look," he says. "There's too much predictability. Although we've produced nicely constructed, utilitarian, light and crisp designs, we've grown a little tired of it."

"The risk in this country is the monotonous look. People are groping for some decorative idiom, striving for a good decorative look."

Larry Peabody, designer, suggests that the sculptured look from Denmark is highly adaptable to American tastes. His formula for home furnishings selection is the use of half antique and half modern pieces.

Still Confused?

NEW DESIGN—This room setting is an example of Edward Wormley's efforts for something different. The black iron fireplace of original design—"I just made it up"—is the center of interest. A sofa bed rests on the raised hearth and low occasional tables in the foreground show Oriental influence.

COLORFUL THIEF

FAIRMONT, Minn. (U) — The stain of his crime was plain to see on a certain Fairmont teenager.

Arnold Jahn, plagued by thefts of gasoline from a tank in his back yard, rigged up a homemade thief catcher. He fixed a small charge of explosive so when the hose was lifted from the tank it would go off, spraying the culprit with hard-to-remove dye.

It worked, and not long afterward the sheriff's office arrested a teenage boy — brightly colored — for gasoline theft.

RETIREMENT BLUES

LEWISTOWN, Md. (U) — J. William Strine has retired as janitor of an elementary school he first entered 74 years ago as a first-grade pupil.

His retirement, at 80, was not voluntary and Strine is still an energetic man.

"How old is old?" he asked. "If it is in their 60s that folks are supposed to sit back on their Social Security, someone should have told me long ago."

ments. These included no fertilizer, 50 and 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre at planting time and 50 pounds of nitrogen at planting time with an additional 50 pounds sidedressed when the castor beans were six inches high.

Success in this research program will help reach the objective of the regional council in finding new cash crops for the High Plains area.

This seems to be the essence of the new look revealed in terms such as the new humanism, the new romanticism, the new individualism.

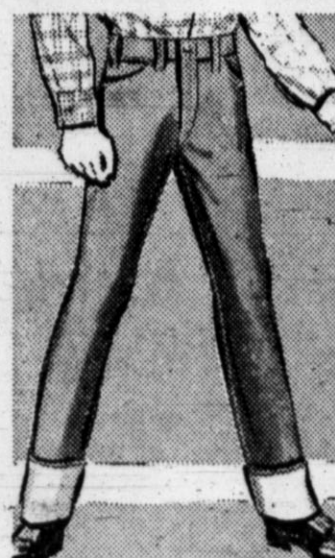

But Designer Forest Wilson's approach is more simple. He finds that it's more effective not to follow a distinct style or trend but to devise his own style from contemporary influences to create an appealing design for a mass market.

Convict Tells of Years as Fugitive

By THOMAS DYCARD

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — About dusk on a December day in 1934 Roy Hunkins boarded a bus in downtown Jackson and rode to Chicago.

He changed buses at Chicago and rode to Kansas City. There, in a strange city, he got a room under the name Harry E. Bennett. He got a job as a farm laborer. Later he worked as a wrapper in a shipping department, as a carpenter, as a ditch foreman over 15 men, as a maintenance man in an office building, and as a door-to-door campaigner in a gubernatorial campaign.

He married and after 11 years was divorced. Then he married again. That marriage ended in a separation. He fathered a child by his second wife.

Harry E. Bennett, laborer, husband, father, was Roy Hunkins, an escaped convict. For 22 years and five months he was a successful fugitive.

DURING THAT time he told no one that he was Roy Hunkins, who had walked away from Southern Michigan State Prison while a trusty, serving 10 to 20 years for armed robbery.

He had served five years and had 2½ years to go for parole. He told no one that before his escape he had served time — a total of about 17 of his 32 years for car theft, larceny, desertion from the Army, parole violation, and other offenses.

Then, because of his tangled family life, he started to travel. His journey led to his home town of Kalamazoo, Mich., where he wanted to visit a cousin. Somebody recognized him.

Now he is No. A-95371, finishing a term for armed robbery.

PRISON OFFICIALS are checking his record on the outside the last 22½ years. If it is clean, he probably will get out in a few months. He now is 61.

"It never bothered me much that I was an escapee," he said, "until my little boy was born two years ago."

Hunkins was intent on getting custody of his son when his second wife left him, but he discovered he would have to go to court to do it. After 22 years, "I finally found something I wanted to do and couldn't do it because I was a con."

He claims he returned to Kalamazoo to give himself up and square his record.

Life on the outside had its edgy moments for Hunkins-Bennett.

Twice he almost ran into men he had known in prison.

"I saw them on the street and ducked," he said. "They didn't see me."

MINOR BRUSHES with the law — traffic tickets mostly — rolled off his back. Nobody asked for a birth certificate. His Social Security card, in the name of Harry E. Bennett, was one of the first issued. When he was asked about military service, he replied that he never had been in the service.

"One thing that bothered me," he said, "was guys, a neighbor or somebody I worked with, talking about some crime they had read in the paper. They would always say, 'What do you think about that?' or 'Do you think they'll catch him?'"

"I always wanted to ask them, 'What makes you think I'd know?'"

"Those kind of questions were rapping right at my front door."

On the outside Hunkins built three houses. The first he sold to get a bigger one. The second went to his wife when she divorced him. The third was sold because his wife didn't like it.

The future, which 30 years ago looked like alternate periods of violence and the drabness of prison for Roy Hunkins, is doubtful. He wants to return to Kalamazoo, get a job barbering, and build himself another house.

"Coming home at night and eating a good meal and sitting down in front of the television, maybe with a beer or two — that's hard to beat."

Hippocrates, father of modern medicine, was born in 460 B.C.

Beauty at Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. How can I exercise to help reduce overly fat buttocks?

A. If you'll really keep at it, this is the easiest part of the body to reduce! Do this exercise at least 36 times daily for six weeks, and you'll see real improvement. Lie on back, knees bent, feet on floor. Lift buttocks off floor and swing to right. Let weight fall on the left side, bumping it three times as hard as you can. Then repeat this procedure on the left side, bumping the right side.

Q. My hair, which is really blonde, is turning light brown. Is there anything I can do to make it lighter and brighter?

A. You can try one of the vegetable rinses, which are not dyes, and which wash out with the shampoo. Or, for general use, try a lemon rinse.

Q. Just what is the physical cause of graying hair?

A. A lack of pigment in the hair. In older people, this is natural. Premature graying is often caused by vitamin deficiency. Include ample quantities of meat, butter, and green vegetables in your diet.

Q. What makeup is good for eyes that are too widely set apart?

A. If you'll apply your eyeshadow heaviest toward the nose, this will tend to bring the eyes slightly closer together.

Q. What type of face powder should the oliveskinned woman wear?

A. She should use a copper shade of powder. She should not try to lighten her skin by wearing a light powder! This would make her look on the ghostly side.

Q. How can I remove egg stains from one of my washable dresses? A. After scraping off the excess, soak in cool water, then wash in warm suds.

Q. What is a good aftershampoo rinse for hair that is finetextured?

A. A stalebeer rinse is very good for fine hair, and leaves no odor. It should not be rinsed out of the hair — and be sure that the beer has been uncapped and allowed to stand for at least 24 hours before using.

Q. How can I remove traces of flakiness which are now appearing on my skin?

A. Mix a little kitchen salt with your cleansing cream two or three times a week.

Q. What can I do if perspiration odor still clings to washable materials after they have been laundered?

A. Soak them for an hour or more in warm water containing three or four tablespoons of salt for each quart. Or, sponge the stained area with warm water containing a little vinegar, apply powdered pepsin, and work it into the cloth. Let it stand for an hour or two, keeping the spot moist, then brush off the pepsin and rinse by sponging with clear, warm water.

Q. Isn't there a special parting suggested for hair that is quite thin?

A. Yes. This type of hair should always have a diagonal part, running from a point on the forehead line to an opposite point on the crown of the head. This provides even distribution of the hair, makes it appear heavier, and more generous in dressing.

Q. My face is dry and some times sensitive to soap. How can I wash it?

A. At times like these, you can try using warm milk for cleansing your skin.

How Can I?

By Anna Ashley

Q. How can I remove wall paper easily?
A. Wall paper can be removed easily if one will use a heaping tablespoon of saltpeter to a gallon of hot water and apply to the paper with a brush. A whitewash brush is best for this purpose. The water should be kept hot, and after a few applications the paper can be easily pulled off.
Q. How can I treat the leather of a shoe that is scuffed?
A. Pasten the scuffed portion down with a little glue, and after it is dry, polish right over it. It will hardly be noticeable.
Q. What can I do if the layer cake comes out of the oven a little lumpy?
A. Make it even with the rest of the layer by slicing off the hump. Put icing over the cut surface and the cake will be nice and smooth.
Q. How can I make use of old felt hats?
A. Use them for iron holders, pot lifters, mats for plants, or cut out discs and paste them on the chair legs to prevent scratching of the floors and to deaden the noise.

Bone To Pick? Try Spareribs

CHOICE PICKINGS—Barbecued spareribs cooked outdoors and topped off with a tangy sauce.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

BARBECUED SPARERIBS

COMING UP! Taste that tangy sauce while you pick a rib up in your fingers and eat the good meat right away from the bone.

These spareribs are cooked outdoors by a special method that keeps them from overbrowning and drying out. First the ribs are browned on both sides on the grill over a moderate fire, and then cooked in a pan made from two thicknesses of heavy duty aluminum foil.

That moderate fire, for the browning is important and you can achieve it if you space the charcoal briquets one inch apart. Some briquets come in a foil package and they can be shaken out, then lifted and spaced with tongs. If the breezes are brisk while the spareribs are roasting in their improvised pan, place a sheet of foil over the top of the pan to hold in the heat.

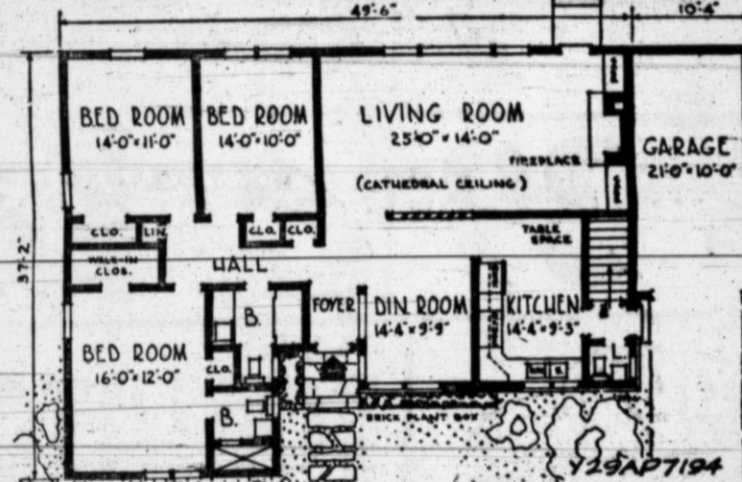

BARBECUED SPARERIBS

Ingredients: 2 racks (4 to 5 pounds) fresh pork spareribs, salt, pepper, Barbecue Sauce.
Method: Sprinkle spareribs with salt and pepper and brown on grill over moderate fire, turning them once or twice. Prepare pan from double thickness of heavy duty aluminum foil to fit spare-ribs, by turning up edges of the foil 1 1/2 inches all around. Mitre corners so pan will be secure. As soon as spareribs have browned, transfer them to the foil pan and spoon over about 1 cupful of barbecue sauce. Place the pan on the center of the grill and continue cooking for about 1 1/2 hours longer. Baste with the sauce occasionally. To serve, transfer foil pan with spareribs to platter. Ribs separate easily when cut with sharp knife. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

BARBECUE SAUCE
Ingredients: 1/2 cup honey, 2/3 cup soy sauce, 2/3 cup catsup, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 teaspoon paprika, 1/2 teaspoon tabasco, 1 clove garlic (crushed), 1 cup orange juice, 1 cup wine vinegar.
Method: Stir all the ingredients together.

Elvis, No; Harry, Yes in Folksong Archives

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON — Today's young rock 'n' roll and hillbilly singing stars may be grasping fame and fortune, but their recordings aren't included in the nation's top repository for American folklore.

"They're not folk singers," says Mrs. Rae Korson, head of the Archives of American Folksong at the Library of Congress, which already boasts some 60,000 songs and tales on recordings. "They're singing published songs. Folk music is handed down from generation to generation orally."

Recording stars Harry Belafonte, Burl Ives, Pick Temple and some of the older favorites, though, could make the grade. "Belafonte sings all types of folk music and has a large collection of his own gathered mostly in Jamaica," says Mrs. Korson. "Also, he spent some time studying at the library before singing at night clubs. We'd like to have some of his records."

Mrs. Korson is not worried about the current hullabaloo over the Elvis Presleys, Pat Boone and other disc jockey hit stars.

"A tremendous interest in our heritage of folksong has been developing in the past five years," she said.

"Increasing numbers come to the library looking for the authentic folksong. They listen, buy records, sing and learn how to play them. Sometimes they bring their guitars with them and learn to play the tunes in accompaniment to the songs."

A steady stream of musicians, teachers, scholars, writers, historians, students and tourists come to the archives "listening room" to play records.

"We are anxious to stimulate interest in the young to carry on research and also to preserve our songs," she said.

There is still a great reservoir of untapped material, she said, and it is important that recordings be gathered from old people still living who remember them.

Under a $25,000 grant from the Carnegie Corp., the library is issuing long-playing records in its series of American folk music and folk lore. Five of these already have been made from material previously recorded.

Mrs. Korson first got interested in folk music through her husband, George Korson, a former newspaper man.

FOLK MUSIC DISC JOCKEY—Mrs. Rae Korson, head of the Archives of American Folksong at the Library of Congress, spins a record for Mrs. B. G. Cutler of Baton Rouge, La., one of the many visitors to the archives, where 60,000 folk songs and tales are on record.

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press-Arts Editor
NEW YORK, (AP) — "Now look at that!" exclaimed the young man, his eyes practically popping out of his head.

It was at the Museum of Modern Art's monster Picasso show, which daily draws monster crowds.

The fellow was talking to his girl, and to a small laughing crowd gathered around him. He waved a hand to trace the lines, cocked his head like any knowing connoisseur, and cried:

"Whew, what symbolism!"

He was looking at a hole in the wall. Covered by a small barred door and containing a red fire extinguisher, it was a foot square and stood at the height of a picture.

He really didn't mean it — though Picasso with his master's touch could have made it a Picasso. But a few of the spectators really scoffed at the show proper:

"If a kid did it, who'd come, but he has only to sign his name!" exclaimed a woman whipping away in disgust.

"I can't believe it!" a man complained, wondering what the world was coming to.

But the museum people heard the jingle of cash in the registers as the double line of men, women and children poured in to view one of the most thrilling shows in years.

If Picasso isn't the greatest artistic genius of the century, he is certainly the most spectacular. Maybe he is also the most valuable:

Supplementing the usual force of attendants, there were the blue-uniformed operatives of a private detective agency, pistol in holster, patrolling the jammed halls.

First armed guards that this gallery-goer ever saw threatening to turn an art gallery into a shooting gallery were in the same museum in 1932 for "American Painting and Sculpture." Lead item in that collection was "The Artist's Mother," Whistler's masterpiece, now in the Metropolitan but borrowed then from Paris. That picture alone traveled coast to coast to be seen by 2,000,000 people. Ropes kept the crowds away, and two guards were on constant duty.

That was a seated woman. There's a "Seated Woman" painted in 1946 in the Picasso show, and a "Woman in Rocking Chair," painted only last year.

Picasso is not quite as popular as Whistler, and neither is he as popular as Van Gogh, incomplete attendance figures suggest. Highest attendance for a single day at the Van Gogh show in 1935 was 5,969; highest for the 1939 Picasso show, 4,694; highest for the current show, 5,017. With attendance running at twice the normal rate, perhaps 250,000 people will have seen Picasso by September closing time. The show will go later to Chicago and Philadelphia.

Assembled by Alfred H. Barr, Jr., the exhibition tells admirably the whole Picasso story. It attracts a polyglot crowd, Spaniards from Picasso's native land, and French from his adopted country, the well-to-do, the impecunious, the camera fans.

One youngster was busy with a sketch. Another gawking at the "Guernica" said, "There's a bull" and added: "Something's happening to the horse." But it was a bronze that stymied him, and that was hardly Picasso's fault. After reading the title, he asked his father:

"What does 'Pregnant Woman' mean?"

An angry man is Sylvester T. Bly,
Who today was sold a piece of "blue sky."
He'd stepped in a showroom—out of the rain,
Was sold a new car before he could explain!
How he hated the styling—so high and square
And in new features it was really bare.
"I got a real bargain—the buy of my life—
But how do I ever convince my own wife?"

Moral: You're paying for a new car... make sure you get one!

When you buy a new car, put your money on tomorrow—not yesterday. Swept-Wing Dodge actually obsoletes other cars in its field. Should you invest in high, boxy styling when Dodge offers the low, low look of tomorrow? Should you invest in outmoded coil springs when Dodge offers new Torsion-Aire Ride? Should you invest in an old-fashioned lever-type transmission when Dodge offers the ease of Push-Button Driving? In other things, too—engines, brakes, interiors—Dodge is years ahead. So put your money on tomorrow. See your Dodge dealer. Join the swing to the Swept-Wing Dodge!

Letter Tells of Tour of European Nations

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Capt. and Mrs. Frank W. Durkee and Connie Lynn and Jill Ann, who are stationed in Germany with the U. S. Air Force, recently completed a 19-day tour of parts of Europe. This letter from Mrs. Durkee tells of their trip. Mrs. Durkee is the former Billie Davis of Hereford.)

August 4
Greetings from Gulliver.
Well, well, this leaves the world travelers at home and can say I didn't know that I was so tired as I was so have been busy resting. Of course to say nothing of the dirty clothes that we had for three weeks. We were gone 19 days and drove 3,300 miles and I came home with about 15 dollars so guess we did pretty good. We had as a whole lovely summer weather and guess we really missed the weather they had in Germany which consisted of rain every day and the first pretty day they had was the day we got home. Guess the weather was really lousy. Most of the sqdn. went to Turkey several days after we left and they are due back Tuesday.

Will start and perhaps you can best route our trip if you have an Atlas as we went the entire length of Germany two ways and only overlapped about 15 miles of the same route. We drove up to Kassel, Germany, the first night and stayed at a regular service hotel and then on to Flensburg, Germany, which is just outside the Denmark border. We had hoped to drive on up the large part of Denmark and cross the ferry into the upper east coast of Sweden, but even two months before the ferries were booked so we crossed over into the smallest little island of Denmark to Odense and that was by ferry for about $5-$6 dollars and then over to the island that Copenhagen is located and then across to Helsingborg, Sweden. You may find these towns spelled a little different than I spell them for actually I wouldn't have known where I was by looking at the signs because the European spelling is so differently. You see Germany is Deutschland, Norway (Norge). — Sweden (Sverige), Denmark (Danemark) and Holland is known as Neiderland. Think we should change the history book spelling at home. This last crossing was again by ferry and we waited two hours. There were cars parked bumper to bumper for several miles and about six, I think, ferries in constant operation.

Denmark was so very clean, and we didn't see the women working in the fields as you see in Germany and their livestock looks as ours at home, well kept. In Germany they use the poor little old cows to pull wagons, etc. The houses had changed from the tile type in southern Germany, red brick in Northern Germany and then brick in Denmark. We had not sent for what is known as a green card with the insurance, got the papers and it was in German so we didn't know what it was about so didn't get a green card which merely shows that you have third party insurance and boy they really stick you in those three Scandinavian countries. We figured we paid our $15 of third party insurance and if we could have read the papers from the ADAC (Germany Auto Club) we could have gotten the green card for $3, well, travel and learn. The roads in Denmark were out of this world, real big concrete roads and such a blessing. We spent the third night in Halmstad, Sweden and might say here that all our hotel accommodations were very nice averaging about $8 per night for the four of us, had private baths in about six places and that was where we took our Saturday night baths and the darnest hardest beds that you ever saw. For a nominal fee you get what is known as a continental breakfast which means coffee, hard buns with butter and jelly. Well, I might not eat an egg at home all time, but the minute I get away from home, as well as the kids, have to have an egg to the tune of 30 cents per egg.

G. E. Brewster Family Holds Reunion Here

By MARSHA COCKRELL

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Brewster, 505 N. Miles, had their children and grandchildren together for a reunion recently. Present were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brewster of Covington, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Odum and children, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Savage and children, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sweigart and children, Newport, Ky.

Mrs. Carmen Angel of Angel Photography Studio was awarded a special certificate of merit by the Winona School of Photography for being an outstanding student. She has been taking a summer course in "Machine and Free Hand Negative Retouching." The photography courses are held during July and August at Winona Lake near Milwaukee, Wis.

Mrs. L. J. Mueller and new son Rodney Blain have been spending the past two weeks in Knox City with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Loper. Mueller joined them last week and they also visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Mueller, in Stamford.

Stanley Fuhrman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fuhrman, is back home after a month's visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Fuhrman in Caldwell, Kan.

Mrs. Byron Durham's sister, Mrs. Gordon See of Los Angeles, is visiting her and another sister in Amarillo for two weeks. Mrs. See plans to return home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Edwards and Linda got back Sunday from a 10-day trip to Colorado. They took care of ranching interests at Center, and drove on to Lake City for fishing. Charlie Martin, employe at Edwards Pharmacy, spent the week with their son Larry while they were gone.

Martin's mother and sister from Cheyenne, Okla., were in Hereford last weekend visiting with him. They are Mrs. Glen Williams and Shirley Martin.

Sadye Rigler returned recently from a visit in California. She went to Huntington Park near Los Angeles, to be with a nephew during surgery. She visited points in and around Los Angeles.

Mrs. Glen Snyder returned home Sunday after spending 10 days in the hospital in Amarillo for eye surgery. Visiting her for a week is a granddaughter, Glenda Holman from Tulla. Mrs. Snyder's sister, Laura Gibson, came Monday morning to spend a month here. She lives in Hammond, Ind.

Oldham County Bake Show Set

By ARGEN DRAPER

A card from Mrs. A. N. Green of Wildorado which announces the Oldham County 4-H Bake Show and Home Demonstration Clubs exhibit will be here in the Legion Hall in Vega on Aug. 30. This will begin at 2:30 p.m. and will last until 6. Refreshments will be served and the Oldham County home demonstration club women will appreciate your attendance.

Mrs. Jim Sproule of Vega sent a card inviting us to the Oldham County Round-Up on Aug. 10. It was impossible to go as we were finishing the 4-H Rally Day for our 4-H girls.

The leaders who helped make the 4-H Rally Day successful were Mrs. C. F. Hornfeld and Mrs. R. L. Pimmell; they were with the Caprock 4-H girls; Mrs. Louie Olson, leader of the Happy Workers and Mrs. Earl Plank, leader of the Willing Workers 4-H Club; Mrs. Glenn Buffus, leader for the Walcott 4-H Club; Other adults who attended part of the program were: Mrs. Clinton Jackson, Mrs. LaNoy Tooley, Mrs. Ira Ott and Mrs. M. H. Wiseman.

I am glad to see the new flag at the Dawn Post Office. There are some good books in the office on "Flag Etiquette" and we would be glad to give them to anyone who is interested in learning flag etiquette or giving a program on flag etiquette.

Byrle Elliston still has turnip seed and will give them to you if you come by his home.

A hint on cleaning steam-irons: Use distilled vinegar occasionally in the water cavity of the steam iron. Fill the cavity with vinegar, steam for 15 minutes and then let the iron stand overnight. The next morning pour the vinegar out of the cavity and rinse thoroughly. This rinsing is important and should be very completely done.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture laboratories are working on making cotton fabrics oil-proof as well as water-proof. Cotton work clothes with heavy grease stains will disappear, which will save a lot of time and energy with the family laundry. Cotton aprons and house dresses will be resistant to kitchen grease splatters and cleaning oils will not spot them. Too, cotton upholstery will be grease and soil resistant. The hair oil stains will disappear from the backs of chairs and sofas. I have always liked solid prints for house dresses, but the oil and grease stains make them hard to care for.

Pvt. Herman Hund Is in Germany

U. S. FORCES, Germany (AHTNC) — Army Pvt. Herman P. Hund, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hund, Route 1, recently arrived in Germany and is now a member of the 45th Antiaircraft Artillery Battalion.

STATELINE SPECIAL

Craig Cheney Feted on Sixth Birthday

By MRS. C. L. HUTCHINS
Craig Cheney celebrated his sixth birthday Friday in the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Rutherford, near Broadview.

Present to help him celebrate the occasion were Karen Cheney, of Norfolk, Va.; Janice Kay, Jackie Lynn, Vickie Lee, Rickey Ann, Judy Nan, and Monty Bill Harper, all of Broadview, and Jake, Don and Gary Abernathy of Clovis.

Also helping to celebrate and serving refreshments of birthday cake and soda pop were Craig's sisters, Suzette, Connie and Michelle.

The Cheney children are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford from Houston.

Craig's other grandmother, Mrs. Frank Cheney of Clovis, was also present as was an aunt, Mrs. Aden Abernathy, also of Clovis.

Rosedale Baptist Missionary, G. A. Auxiliary conducted a regular and special meeting at the home of Miss Donna Kay Osborn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Osborn, recently.

The girls and their sponsor, Mrs. Vachrel Ridley, met for a regular meeting to study about mission work in Malaya and the lives of several missionaries of that region. Miss Donna Kay Osborn was in charge of the program. A map box was used to emphasize and to be used for receiving the different letters.

Guests served freezer ice cream in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lofton and sons Sunday week were Miss Glyne Pulliam, Frank Edsel Foster, Miss Novita Pulliam, and Tommy Dale Lofton. Sunday night the group ate Mexican food in the Johnnie Foster home.

Barney Blackburn has been released from the Clovis Memorial Hospital where he received medical attention last weekend. He is home and able to do his farm work.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Allen and her parents Mr. and Mrs. Edd Shierson left Friday morning for Farmington, where they spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. Lester Brown. The Browns, Allens and Shiersons then drove to Grand Junction, Colo., where Mr. and Mrs. Shierson took a bus for their home in Drummond, Mont. The Allens and Browns then made a tour of Delta, Colo., and Viceta Dam which is located east of Durango, where they enjoyed fishing and picnicking during the weekend, returning to Farmington, on Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Allen stopped in Albuquerque on Tuesday night being guests in the home of Earl's cousin and family Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Danzer and children Mike, Gana and Rolf, returning home Wednesday.

Dinner guests Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frances Decker and daughters Beverly and Donna Jean were Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lofton and sons Tommy Dale, James Ralph, and Donald Kleth have their sister and son, Mrs. Charles Gunnels and Paul Dean from Upland, Calif., visiting in their home for the next ten days. Thursday night friends and relatives gathered in the Lofton home to visit with Mrs. Gunnels and son and to watch television. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Foster, Artie Don, and Frank Edsel; Miss Glyne Pulliam; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thompkins and daughters Sharon (Continued On Page 5)

the sporting events. At that point I decided to try a little Swedish cooking and Jill of course tasted along with me, but Bud and Connie still hung on to a great expense, their European (cooked American) food. All in Sweden is also clean though I was not as fond of the people and the houses were no longer of stone, but of wood. All the flowers were in bloom and the countryside were just flourishing with cattle and crops and the Swedish people not been hit by the war, really you could tell they had wonderful prosperity.

We went on to Oslo, and there our houses had turned to the style that the railroad uses for its section houses and of course the soil was rocky (as along the coast of Sweden) and indeed a very poor country. But Oslo in itself was a beautiful, but comparably small city and very clean and thriving from the sea and the influx of tourists. They had some historical spots to visit, the museum with the Viking ships was interesting, we also saw the Fram (Polar ship that has been the furthest north and furthest south) and the Kon Tiki raft that three men sailed across the Pacific ocean in. The next day we took a 2 1/2 hour boat trip, but were a little disappointed in the facts that the precipices were hot high and the scenery was like much other boat trip, water and coast with trees, etc. At that point the night was never dark, it got almost to dusk and that was it. Luckily all the hotels had heavy curtains that kept some of the light out. It was there we tried some of our first smorgasbord, some things I liked and might mention, the bread in all these countries is out of this world, it is so good. Just the idea it was pickled herring and boiled cod, discouraged me from a few dishes and Connie still clung to the part of the food that tasted American and Jill ate everything in sight. The roads in Norway were very poor so glad we didn't have to drive more than we did there.

Speaking of roads, the Swedes still drive on the left side of the road and that isn't too bad, but when you get in the city traffic it is a panic so we were making a right hand turn in Gothenburg and I looked out and saw this street car right up against the door and that liked to have finished our vacation. Gee, I was scared an hour later. We left Oslo and drove across to Karlskoga for one night. That is straight across from Oslo, about half way in between there and Stockholm. We crossed some beautiful country including the area of the Vanern sea and Sweden is packed with lakes. I took along 75 cans and jars of food, our car which had a luggage rack on top with three suitcases on top, but surprisingly we still had some crannies that weren't filled and could also put a kit and another weekend bag in the hood of the car, you know the engine of the Volks is in the back. Will say at this point, the kids were good, but of course, they got tired and we did have many arguments.

This puts us at Stockholm where we had the smallest hotel room and the worst food of the whole trip and believed we enjoyed this city the least. In all these countries the clothing in the windows looked surprisingly American. Stockholm itself was pretty being right on the water, but you had to get up somewhere to get a good look at it. That day we walked the legs of the kids and us too and mainly wandered around in the old city and the antique shops where I picked up a copper plated about a six quart size for a beautiful plant that Jean Barrow left when she rotated. It is split phenodendron and stands about four feet high. Incidentally the plant and pot look beautiful. We left Stockholm and drove diagonally across the southern part of Sweden and stayed that night at Jonkoping on the Vattern Sea which is the center of the match industry and was there the kitchen match was invented. We then crossed the same little ferry and dropped down into Copenhagen.

For the first time we hit rain, but the first night we got the kids to Tivoli which is the European famous amusement park and the lights were beautiful, grounds, etc. We saw some free aerial acts at the various theaters and in this spot there are 19 some restaurants. The food was very good and quite reasonable. Our hotel was right in the middle of the city and a very good location. Here our breakfast rather than being the regular hard rolls and coffee, included an egg and wonderful pastry. Of course, all along the way we saw many British and American people and thought of all the money the Americans must have had to come over and do as we were doing. We saw a good many historical places. Copenhagen was very pretty, but very crowded. One day it rained too much to do anything so we got our heads clean and Bud got a haircut and that night decided to go to an American movie, but they were sold out. You go to all movies, and even so many eating places by reservation. We succeeded in getting a cancellation, drove a few thousand blocks to the place to pick up the tickets, raced back over found the theater, but no parking place, found one four blocks away rushed into the theater and it was packed and all I got to say was, it was a good show luckily, John Wayne in the Searchers. Would liked to have bought some of their furniture, particularly coffee and end tables as they are made from teakwood which cost a fortune in the states and are very plain, but just beautiful. They had a lot of things in the line of silver, etc., but just wonder where I am going to put all the stuff I have now.

We had a leisurely drive down

NOW SEE HERE PUSSY CAT—"Freddy" the cats became curious of the new visitor and white mouse pet of Joe Reynolds, 7, son of Mrs. George Reynolds of Dallas, and the newest of the Reynolds' many pets, which include a rabbit, dog and these cats, "Chum", left, and "Magnolia" which are Siamese. The on the little island of Denmark which contains Copenhagen and boarded the reservation ferry at 5 that evening for the ride to Grossenbrode Germany, straight up from Lubeck. That was the roughest of all because all our driving 225 mile was after night. It was a huge ferry and we had paid for reservations before we left, which was $5, but what we didn't know was it cost another $12 for the people when we got there. We got aboard and I've never seen such table loads of food and it was smorgasbord with the hot dishes on the side and it ran us about $6.50 to eat. We had a nice crossing; however, it was raining pitchforks when we again reached Germany and we arrived in Oldenburg, Germany at 1:30 in the morning. Oldenburg is about 30 miles from Bremen. Most of the trip was on Autobahn so that wasn't as bad as it could have been.

The next day we left Oldenburg and crossed into Holland and such a pretty country with nice highways and flat as the Panhandle of Texas. This I think we enjoyed as much as any portion of our trip. Holland is no longer filled with windmills, but we did see a few and in going down into Amsterdam we went over the longest bridge in Europe (2 miles) and went right over the northern part of Holland along the dyke for a good many miles. The houses were again red brick, but where immense in size with the barns built right up. We tried to get movies of most of the houses to show you the style and I think I forgot to mention, we were amazed at the straw (thatched roofs) in Denmark and the sod roofs with grass growing on them in Norway. Connie had studied about these in school this past year so that was interesting to her. It was raining when we got to Amsterdam and that is a beautiful city built six feet below sea level with canals and millions of bridges and reminded me somewhat of Venice, except so much cleaner. We had a very nice hotel in the midst of town and incidentally the city is crawling with night life (which we left behind on account of the kids). The next morning because we only had one day there to sight see, it looked like rain, but we had read in our paper (thought I saved the article, but didn't) about Madurodam, a miniature city just outside the Hague. We went over about 30 miles or so and saw it and I can't begin to describe its quaintness and originality. It was a place about 400 by 400 feet. It was a Dutch village, complete with every detail all in miniature built 1/25 of actual size and each building was the exact replica of the streets or buildings in Holland. There were 94 buildings, including oil refineries, shipyards, streets, etc. Everything moved except the models of the people. The ships moved in the water, the trains and even when you passed the tulip fields, they smelled. You walked on paths around the area and we spent several hours there. It was about the most unique thing I have seen in Europe and built to aid students who were stricken with TB in order to give them finances and also as a memorial to a Lt. Maduro who was a Dutch flier in World War II and died in Dachau prison camp in Germany. The children loved it. By then it started to pour and we ate lunch at the cafe there on the grounds and back into Amsterdam. It is about the only place we have been, other than Switzerland that I would like to spend a little more time there. We left Holland and shortly picked up the Germany autobahn which was crowded as heck because we came through Koin (Cologne) which is the center of the German steel industry and the trucks were countless. It was all autobahn and that part of Germany is very hilly and quite pretty and the northern part seem richer because of industry instead of the farming industry in the southern part. It was a beautiful day when we hit Weisbaden and got a room at a service hotel (Hotel Von Streuben), a real nice plush deal and had two rooms with two baths for $6. Can say we had a wonderful time with the blankets on the bed, almost everywhere in Europe you sleep with the sheets over a feather bed and you either sleep with that on (which isn't easy to keep on) or nothing. The whole family enjoyed the good old American food again.

European Tour Is Near Completion for Jane Newsom

(Editor's Note: Jane Newsom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Newsom, has nearly completed a tour of Europe with Helga Thome of Germany, 1956 exchange student to Hereford High School. She will return the last of August.)

Dear folks, This is a very late Sunday. It is almost 1 a.m. and we just got back from taking a girl who was on our tour to the airport to fly back to New York.

I hardly know where to begin telling you about all that we have been doing. First of all, I must tell you about the people on our tour. We felt fortunate to be with such a nice group. Most of them were Americans but there were also people from Holland and Germany. We had so much fun together! It seemed as though we were always either singing or laughing. There was a Rev. Winturner who kept us laughing most of the time. He won the trip to Europe for being the most outstanding teacher in Cincinnati, Ohio. After being with him and talking to him, I can see why. The bus driver and the hostess were tops, and each person added enjoyment to the tour.

After we left Rapallo we drove along the beautiful Mediterranean to Nice, which is the center of the French Riviera. On the way, we went through Geneva where we saw the home of Columbus and also a memorial which was the three ships, the Nina, the Pinta and the Santa Maria, designed in a garden with shrubs and flowers. In Monaco we came through Monte Carlo and saw the famous casino and the palace. We arrived in Nice, France, at 7 p.m. and had supper and then several of our group went for a midnight swim in the Mediterranean. It was warm and we really had fun. We spent the next day in Nice and swam again in the afternoon. We stopped at a perfume factory and saw how perfume is made. Finally after a long drive we came to Paris. When we got there, it was late so we went to bed and got up early the next morning to tour the city. After breakfast we walked to see the Moulin Rouge and Sacre Coeur. Paris, like Venice, is a fascinating city. The streets seemed so narrow and dirty. The houses were old and crowded and garbage cans sat along the streets in front of the houses. I couldn't help but think of the song, "Poor People of Paris," as we walked along. Later that morning we went on a tour visiting the Arc de Triumph, the Eiffel tower, Hotel les Invalides, which is the place where Napoleon is buried, Palais de Chaillot and other places of importance and interest. We had lunch and walked to the Louvre and Notre Dame. When we returned to our hotel we had walked approximately 70 blocks and we were completely worn out but we had seen Paris!

We went from France to Belgium, where everything seemed pretty and clean, especially compared to Italy and France. From Brussels we went to Amsterdam. Holland is also a beautiful country.

Our tour is almost over. We have had a wonderful time. Sunday I leave for Sweden to visit Elisabeth Brummer. I am looking forward to seeing her again and meeting her family. I'll write from Sweden next week. Bye for now. Jane Newsom

BITING RETORT

VENTURA, Calif. — An attorney here, William Selby, recently was discussing remarks of judges that had been held to be prejudicial when appeals were taken. He recalled that one Los Angeles judge was noted for his biting remarks. On one occasion in his jurist's courtroom a jury reported that it was split 11-1 and would resume deliberations after the dinner hour.

Attorney Selby recalled that the judge said: "Baiff, take this jury out and buy them 11 dinners and one bale of hay."

In a subsequent appeal this remark was held to be prejudicial and the verdict reversed.

NUMBER ONE ON THE BALLOT

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 5, 1957.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 37 proposing an amendment to Subsection (a) of Article XVI of the Constitution of Texas, relating to establishment of a retirement, disability and death compensation fund for officers and employees of the State.

Section 1. That Subsection (a) of Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to read hereafter as follows: "Section 42. (a) The Legislature shall have the authority to levy taxes to provide a State Retirement, Disability and Death Compensation Fund for the officers and employees of the State, and may make such reasonable inclusions, exclusions, or conditions as it may deem advisable. The Legislature may also include provisions of judicial districts of the State who are or have been compensated in whole or in part directly by the State, and may make such other reasonable inclusions, exclusions, or conditions as it may deem advisable. Persons participating in a retirement system created pursuant to Section 1-a of Article VI of this Constitution shall not be eligible to participate in the Fund authorized by this Subsection, and persons participating in a retirement system created pursuant to Section 42-a of Article VI of this Constitution shall not be eligible to participate in the Fund authorized by this Subsection. Provided, however, that an officer or employee of a county as provided for in Article XVI, Section 42, Subsection (b) of this Constitution shall not be eligible to participate in the Fund authorized by this Subsection. The amount contributed by the State to such Fund shall equal the amount paid for the same purpose from the income of each such person, and shall not exceed at any time five per centum (5%) of the compensation paid to each such person in the State.

NUMBER TWO ON THE BALLOT

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 5, 1957.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 38 proposing an amendment to Article III of the Constitution of Texas, relating to the maximum payment to be made from state funds for assistance to needy aged persons, blind children, and needy children.

"All funds provided from the compensation of such person or by the State of Texas for such Retirement, Disability and Death Compensation Fund, as are received by the Treasury of the State of Texas, shall be invested in bonds issued by any agency of the United States Government, the payment of which is guaranteed by the United States; or in such other securities as may be provided by law as investments for the Permanent University Fund or for the State School Fund of this State under the same limitations and restrictions imposed by the Constitution for investment of the funds which subject to such regulations as the Legislature may provide. However, a sufficient amount of said Fund shall be kept on hand to meet the immediate payment of the amount likely to become due each year out of said Fund, such amount of funds to be kept on hand to be determined by the agency which subject to such regulations as the Legislature may provide. The Legislature enact enabling laws in anticipation of the adoption of this Amendment, such legislation shall not be invalid by reason of its anticipatory character. Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be held for ratification at a special election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1957, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon the following: "FOR THE Constitutional Amendment amending Subsection (a) of Article XVI of the State Constitution, relating to establishment of a retirement, disability and death compensation fund for officers and employees of the State." "AGAINST the Constitutional Amendment amending Subsection (a) of Article XVI of the State Constitution, relating to establishment of a retirement, disability and death compensation fund for officers and employees of the State." Sec. 3. The Governor of the State of Texas is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for said special election and this Amendment shall be published and the election held as required by the Constitution and laws of this State.

NUMBER THREE ON THE BALLOT

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 5, 1957.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 39 proposing an amendment to Article III of the Constitution of Texas, relating to the maximum payment to be made from state funds for assistance to needy aged persons, blind children, and needy children.

available upon such terms and conditions as the Legislature may prescribe, to the various political subdivisions or bodies politic and corporate of the State of Texas including river authorities, conservation and reclamation districts and districts created or organized or authorized to be created or organized under Article XVI, Section 59 or Article III, Section 52, of this Constitution, interstate compact commissions to which the State of Texas is a party and municipal corporations in the conservation and development of the water resources of this State, including the control, storage and preservation of its streams and flood waters and the waters of its rivers and streams, for all useful and beneficial purposes, including improvement, extension, or construction of dams, reservoirs and other water storage projects, including any system necessary for the transportation of water from storage to points of treatment and distribution, including facilities for transporting water therefrom to wholesale purchasers, or for any one or more of such purposes or methods. "Any or all financial assistance as provided herein shall be repaid with interest upon such terms, conditions and manner of repayment as may be provided by law. "While any of the bonds authorized by this provision or while any of the bonds that may be authorized by the Legislature under this provision, or any interest on any of such bonds, is outstanding and unpaid, there is hereby appropriated out of the first moneys coming into the Treasury in each fiscal year, not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $100,000,000, which is sufficient to pay the principal and interest on such bonds that mature or become due during the fiscal year of the close of the prior fiscal year. "The Legislature may provide for the investment of moneys available in the Texas Water Development Fund, and the interest on sinking fund established for the payment of bonds issued by the Texas Water Development Fund, in such manner as it may deem advisable. The Legislature shall be authorized to issue additional bonds in an amount not exceeding One Hundred Million Dollars ($100,000,000). The bonds authorized herein or permitted to be authorized by the Legislature shall be called "Texas Water Development Bonds" and shall be executed in such form, denominations and upon such terms as may be prescribed by law, provided, however, that the bonds shall not bear more than four per cent (4%) interest per annum; they may be issued in such installments as the Board finds feasible and practical in accomplishing the purpose set forth herein. "All moneys received from the sale of State bonds shall be deposited in a fund hereby created in the State Treasury to be known as the Texas Water Development Fund to be administered (without further appropriation by the Texas Water Development Board in such manner as prescribed by law. Such fund shall be used only for the purpose of aiding or making funds

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 5, 1957.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 40 proposing an amendment to Article III of the Constitution of Texas, relating to the maximum payment to be made from state funds for assistance to needy aged persons, blind children, and needy children.

not inconsistent with restrictions herein set forth, provided however, that the amount of such assistance out of state funds to each person assisted shall never exceed the amount so expended out of federal funds; and provided that the total amount of moneys to be expended out of state funds for such assistance to the needy aged, needy blind, and needy children shall never exceed the sum of Forty-seven Million Dollars ($47,000,000) per year. "The Legislature shall have the authority to make laws to make lists of the recipients of aid hereunder available for assistance grants. "Supplementing legislative appropriations for assistance payments authorized by this section, such sums as are allocated out of the General Tax Clearance Fund and are appropriated to the State Department of Public Welfare for the period beginning December 1, 1957 and ending August 31, 1958: Four Million, One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($4,900,000) for Old Age Assistance, One Hundred, Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars ($125,000) for Aid to Dependent Children. Such allocations and appropriations shall be made available on the basis of the total yearly expenditures for these purposes. "Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be held for ratification at a special election to be held throughout the State of Texas on the 8th day of November, 1957, at which election there shall be printed on such ballot the following: "FOR THE Constitutional Amendment increasing the limit on the maximum monthly payment to needy aged persons from state funds from Twenty Dollars ($20) per month to Twenty-five Dollars ($25) per month and on the total yearly expenditure out of state funds for assistance to needy aged, needy blind, and needy children from Forty-two Million Dollars ($42,000,000) per year to Forty-seven Million Dollars ($47,000,000) per year. Many folks in Hereford are not dulling their hoes cutting weeds. The efforts of the mayor and the Civic League have brought some results, but it appears that Hereford will be last in the list of towns in the Holland Clean Town Contest.

Perhaps if the weeds persist in growing where they are not wanted, how would it do for the city to purchase a herd of goats of the angora strain. It would assist those who possess to a degree a disinclination to harvest their own weeds. After the weeds have been destroyed, the animals could begin on the tin cans and baling wire.

Oh, the power of tears! At times they are more lovely than her smiles. The damaged finger is a major catastrophe in this child's life. Trust is radiant in her eyes. A mother was near to lessen the pain from the misfortune. Perhaps you too have been hurt and deep in the heart. Did you shed a tear? Try it sometime. It might get some stories told which you could tell in no other way. You may not have a mother, third but one thing sure... you do have a God. Tears move people. They tell stories of deep meaning. Maybe the world should cry more. It would offer more opportunity for God to "come in." Then soften up and let your lacrimal glands work more freely. Someone is waiting to kiss away every tear.

Let us forget: "On the last day our Lord will come again visibly and in great glory to judge the quick and the dead — all men. You, too, must appear before the judgment-seat of Christ. On this day He will cast away the wicked and unbelievers into everlasting punishment. The righteous He will receive into His everlasting Kingdom. Believe in Christ, and you will be saved. We know neither the day nor the hour of His coming, but we know that He will come unexpectedly and soon. Watch always and be prepared to receive your Lord.

A cordial welcome to you.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDREW C. LANG
AP Newsfeatures

What are the things that influence you most when you're deciding whether to buy a particular house?

We can give a fairly good answer to that if we first know the answer to another question: are you a man or a woman?

Mom and Pop see things a little differently when they're looking over a house, just as they do when buying an automobile. But whereas Mom's purchasing interest in a car begins and ends with its eye-appeal, she's a bit more practical in her appraisal of a potential future home, even though appearance does play a part in her decision. She's especially down-to-earth in her evaluation of the kitchen, where she spends so much of her time. She looks at it from the standpoint of saving steps, of counter and cabinet space, of service to the eating area and of accessibility to other rooms and the outside. And she's also interested in whether it's at the front or rear of the house, with a considerable difference of opinion among women in general on this point.

POP GIVES a critical once-over to such things as the plumbing lines, electrical fixtures, floors, etc. The president of the Long Island Home Builders Institute, A. Sidney Roth, says men also pay particular attention to the garage. If there is one, he figures out whether it's large enough, not only for his car, but for the million and-one things he knows inevitably wind up in the garage. Says Roth: "It's extremely rare when a man, in looking over a garage, doesn't open and shut the door several times. A garage door seems to have a fascination for him. It's almost as though he were thinking: 'If this door works smoothly, everything is all right. I'm not saying this is a logical line of thought, but just telling you something that's a fact.'"

The man also shows an interest in any area of the house which might be utilized for a home workshop. This is a fairly recent development in house buying and, of course, allied to the do-it-yourself era in which we now live. There was a time when Pop wasn't interested in any work except that for which he received a salary.

SPEAKING of money, it's the man who asks the most questions about the down payment and the carrying charges of the house he's about to buy. The woman asks a couple of questions about it and then gets on to her inspection. Pop not only wants to know the financial details, but returns to the subject several times. Somewhat different, isn't it, than the general notion that women pay more attention to price tags than men?

On many matters connected with looking over a house, the prospective purchasers agree pretty much on the importance of certain things. There is equal interest, for instance, in the role of the living room in the over-all picture. The man and woman seem to feel the same way about whether they want a large, a small or a medium-sized living room . . . possibly because they are equally dissatisfied with the one they now have. There is agreement, too, on how many bedrooms and bathrooms there should be, whether a family room or den is necessary, and whether certain outdoor living areas are preferable. These undoubted subjects are subjects they have discussed ahead of time.

One thing everybody wants is plenty of closet space. A small bedroom will be tolerated if it has one or more spacious closets. A large bedroom with very little closet space gets the figurative thumbs-down reception. Fortunately, builders are fully aware of

HERE'S HOW:

Live on Budget and Like It

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Once upon a time 'tis rumored there were two people who lived on a budget, happily that is.

Most times being on a budget causes revolution in the home — something every wide-eyed bride should know. If the wife is budgeteer, her husband will surely feel underprivileged. If husband is the thrifty bookkeeper, it's the wife who adopts a sneering attitude to the "pennies he throws." Some families feel poorer, hungrier and tackler when obliged to become penny coddlers.

There are secrets to budgeting, however. One is to pretend you are not on a budget. Call it "The System" or what have you.

Explain to your husband that on YOUR SYSTEM you'll never feel pinched, that you can have steak every Saturday, if you like. Then sell him on the idea the cheaper casserole dishes provide pleasant variety and are not being served to save money.

CAREFREE types who detest record keeping should stick to an informal plan, whereas those who do not mind higher mathematics may get embroiled in a comprehensive budget plan that involves keeping books.

One housewife I know makes out a check to herself every week for a specified sum. The check includes 1/32 of the big bills she must meet during the year — car insurance premiums, taxes, etc. When the time comes to meet one of the bills she tears up the checks and writes another one for the full amount of the bill. Another housewife has a system that is ideal for those who count on their fingers. She makes up dozens of small envelopes — for car, for mortgage, for installment payments, for other monthly obligations. Into each envelope she puts a sum of money on pay day. When the bill falls due, she has the money to pay it.

AWAITING CLEARANCE—BenJack Cage talks to AP correspondent Jack Rutledge, left, in the Mexico City airport as he awaited customs clearance. NUMBER TALK

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — You wouldn't have to know the language to reserve a hotel room in a foreign country, under a system being worked out by a State University of Iowa professor.

Prof. Erich Funke, head of the university's German department, calls the system Translingua. Under it you would simply substitute numbers for common words.

For instance, if you wanted to cable "Arriving Monday. Reserve single room with bath" you would simply transmit "432-27.212". Dr. Funke feels that such a system might be a boon to travelers and hotel operators the world over. The numbers, he explains, would mean the same in any language and clerks could decipher the number messages by consulting dictionaries now being prepared by Dr. Funke and his staff.

Everything's Big except the price

The new kind of Ford looks big because it is big... and it acts as big as it looks!

No matter how you measure the new kind of Ford, it comes out BIG! Not only is it the longest sedan of the low-price three... it's longer even than some medium-priced cars. And no other car in Ford's field can match its performance!

Styled to stay in style. Measure Ford's exclusive "Sculptured Look" against cars costing hundreds more. You'll see that Ford is years ahead... with styling that makes it unnecessary to pay more.

Built to stay built. Try Ford's "big-car" ride, and you know why Ford makes luxury a low-price word. With new suspension, new frame and body, you'll wonder where the road bumps went!

There's a great deal waiting in the new kind of FORD

If you are the type who'd like to try your hand at a budget, but do not know what type to embark on, here are two basic plans suggested by the American Banker's Assn. Try the one that fits you, but if you start to feel hungry, or get that hangdog look, go back to your abacus and start all over again.

The first budget is a "no budget" plan. (your own system). MAKE A three-way division of your income as follows:

FIXED EXPENSES. List all items you'll have to pay next year with amounts required. Include hospitalization plans, other insurance plans. Add them up. Divide by the number of pay days in the year. The result is the amount to set aside for fixed expenses every pay day. (This portion should be deducted and put in your checking account to be used for meeting these obligations as they come due.)

CASH SAVINGS. Set a sum that will not be too difficult to save, increasing it as you go along and depositing it each pay day.

CURRENT EXPENSES. The entire portion of your income that remains is available for current living expenses.

THESE ARE suggestions, good for those who enjoy keeping books, but should be tailored to fit specific family situations.

1. Keep trial records on ledger sheets you can buy at a stationery store, sheets with vertical columns ruled horizontally for daily entries each day of a month. Three months should prove ample for this period.

2. List expenses that family incurs. Group these under main headings such as food, shelter, clothing. Down the left side of the sheet write the days of the month. Keep a record of expenditures during that period.

3. Add fixed expenses (mortgage, insurance, etc.) Divide yearly cost by 12, include it in your monthly budget.

4. Decide on your savings. Determine the amount you wish to set aside in your savings account each month. Include this in your budget.

5. Using the figures you have acquired in the trial period, set up the budget. If the monthly outlay, including savings, exceeds your monthly income, obviously some retrenchment, or at least realignment, is necessary. Divide your monthly income among the ex-

YOUNG MODERNS Doctor Says Sunburn Aids Oily Skins

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Sunburn is one of the best beauty treatments for youthful skin, says Dr. Betty Ettinger, a physician specializing in dermatology and a consultant for a cosmetics firm.

Why? Because adolescent blemished skin is usually too oily. The ultra-violet rays of the sun may dry the skin's surface oiliness, and that will lessen the chances of the oil condition aggravating acne, she says.

"Length of exposure varies with the lightness of the skin," Dr. Ettinger advises. "Blondes and redheads who burn easily should spend no more than a half-hour in direct sunlight," she says, and suggests that it is a good idea to start acquiring a burn in the middle of the afternoon when the sunlight is waning rather than late morning or around noon when the sun is strongest. She prefers sunburn lotion with an alcohol rather than an oil or cream base for best results.

The physiological process that explains the improvement in adolescent skin after sunburn and peeling is based on the premise that sunshine will dry skin. This process categories in a way to suit your tastes and you will know exactly how much you can spend in each category.

is not a disadvantage for everyone, but it is what leads to wrinkles. If the skin is overly oily, the kind that sprouts acne, the drying effect of the ultra violet rays is likely to remove excess oil, drying the entire area. After peeling, the new skin will be dryer and continued careful exposure of the skin to the sun will be helpful. It is not a good idea to burn and peel continuously, Dr. Ettinger says, and young people who wear the sun to improve their skin should continue to watch their diets — skip items like chocolate, nuts and shellfish and eat a well-balanced diet of meat, vegetables and fruit.

Once you have had a good sunburn and a peeling it's a good idea to be very cautious when sailing, swimming or sunning. Dr. Ettinger advises. Sun lotion should be applied about every hour as it may be washed away by swimming or perspiration.

"Dry off quickly when you come out of the water after swimming, too," Dr. Ettinger advises. "Droplets of water that adhere to the skin not only wash off protective lotions but act as tiny lenses which strengthen the sun's rays and intensify the possibility of a painful burn. If you swim in salt water, a residue tends to dry on the skin and can irritate it."

HOME COMING STANTON, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Callie Bowen, 69, found a way to lure her children home for more frequent visits.

She built a 5-acre lake on her farm, stocking it with bass. Then she built a cabin on the shore. Now so many of her flock are returning home at vacation time she is planning to build another cabin.

Add something crisp to that fish platter: cucumbers, celery, radishes, pickles are all good choices.
