Two new service stations are slated to open on west Highway 60 this summer. One is being built by Don Little, across the highway from his former location, and will be called Speed Stop. The station will have either 10 or 11 pumps and 150-foot frontage, according to Little. The other station, Lewis Gasmart, will be constructed in the vicinity of the Lucky U Motel by Quentin Lewis of Amarillo. Construction began last week on Little's building, and is to be completed within two months.

General Electric Supply Corporation was low bidder on the sale of four traffic lights for the intersection of Highways 60 and 51, according to Mayor Ray Godwin. GE's bid was $675.57, slightly more than $100 less than the next lowest competitor. Highest bid was $1,118.46. The lights will be similar to those already installed at Highway 51 and Park Ave. Estimated delivery date is 60 days from bid opening, which was Friday afternoon.

Virgil Dodson, chairman of the Deep Test Well committee, said yesterday a meeting has been called of the location committee and five interested farmers for June 20, but no site has been named for the meeting. Dodson said Ed Telchick, K. W. Bunch, Roy Wilhelm, Bruce Burney and Palmer Norton are the prospective farmers on whose land the well might be located. Bill Broadhurst, Lubbock hydrologist, will also attend the meeting.

A midnight rabbit hunt near Dumas ended abruptly for two Amarillo men Friday night when a farmer, roused by the gunfire called the sheriff. The weapons were taken away from the men and impounded. They were returned Saturday morning when the farmer did.

Handicapped Children Clinic Report Made

A TOTAL of 207 various medical problems were diagnosed among the 120 children who were examined at the recent third annual Oasis Shrine Club's clinic for the handicapped. Orthopedics — trouble with the feet — was the most prevalent with 39 cases examined. Next high were ear, nose and throat and general medicine with 31 each. Neurology problems totaled 30; dental, 28; speech, 18; eye, 16, and plastic surgery, 14.

"Approximately 80 per cent of these cases were new, and had not been seen before," said Dr. L. B. Barnett, president of the Oasis Club.

"The overall degree of handicapped children was much more severe than those seen in previous years," he added.

By comparison, approximately 170 medical difficulties were found in the 133 children who were examined in 1957. Speech handicaps were the most prevalent last year.

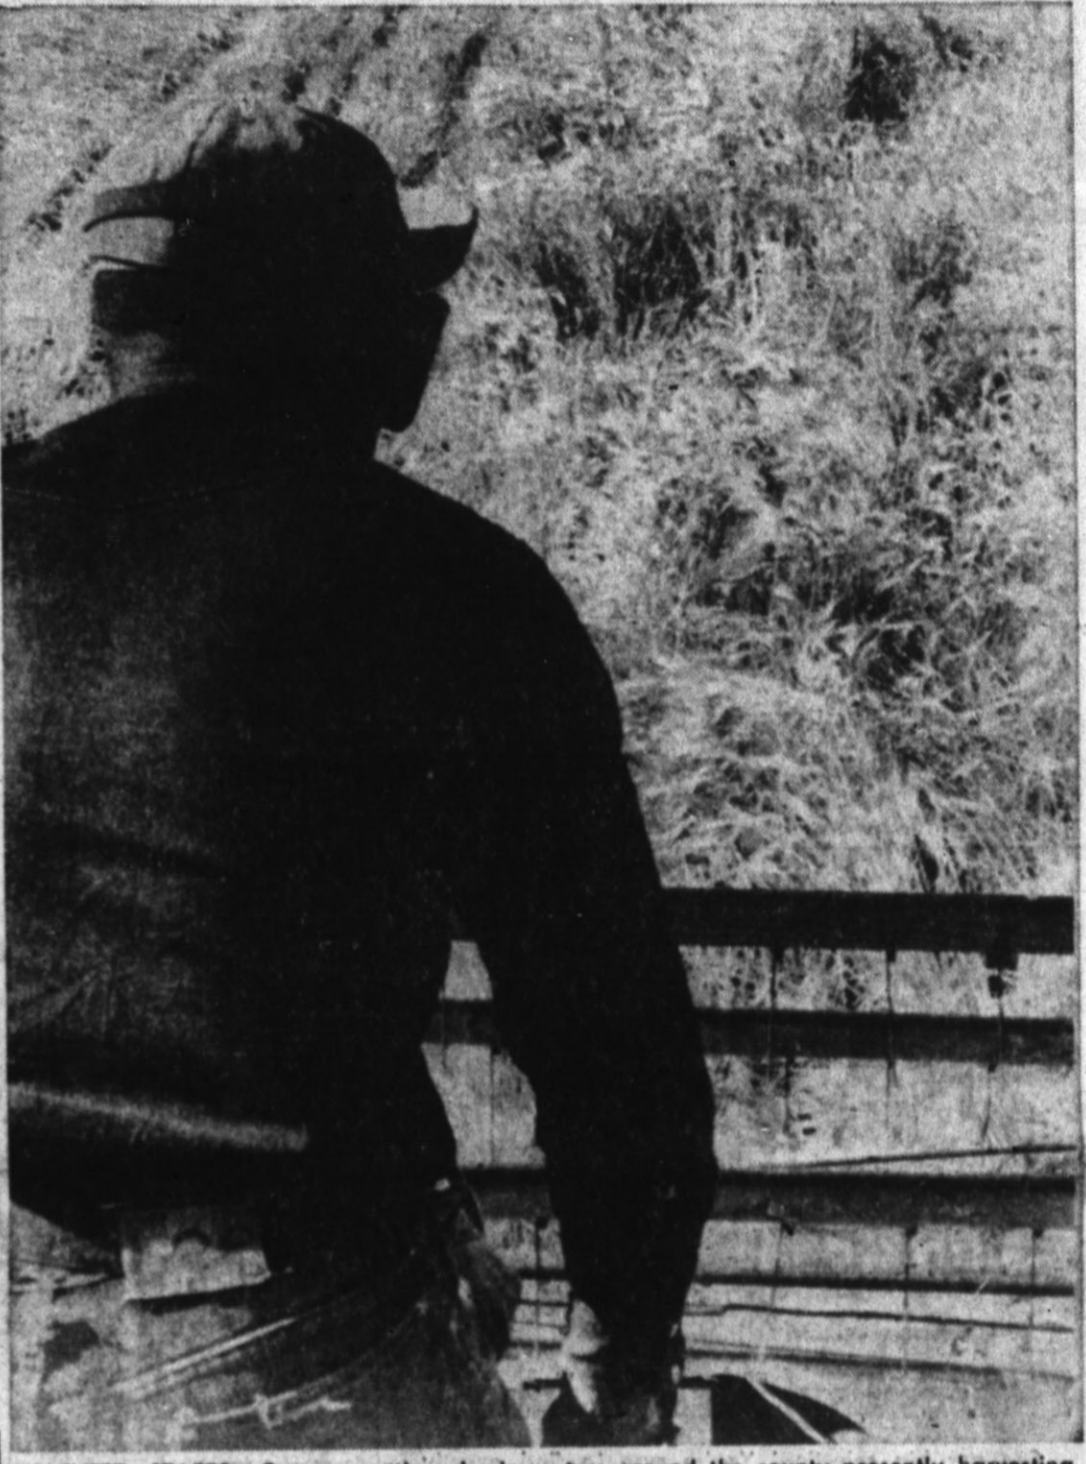

This year's clinic covered a much larger area than the

Barley Harvest Is Started, Wheat To Follow This Week

Adequate Storage Space Available

Combines pulled into barley fields of the county as early as Monday of last week, and farmers are already planning to start in on wheat this week.

Storage, elevator operators around the area have assured The Brand, will be no problem for either barley or wheat.

HARVEST STARTS—Custom cutting barley for Martin Wagoner, four miles south of Hereford on the cotton gin road, is Leland Rutter. Rutter is only one of several cut-

Perforation On LaMance

Work on perforating the LaMance oil well eight miles southwest of Hereford began Saturday afternoon. The perforation was made at 7,740 feet. No results on the test were available at press time.

A company spokesman said if no showing of oil results from this first perforation another will be made today.

The well originally was drilled to 9,610 feet and drilling was suspended in December of 1957. There had been no work on it since. It has been cut back to 7,800 for the perforation.

If the perforations are not successful, the well will be capped and abandoned.

County Agent Urges Fast Hopper Spray

Menacing grasshoppers are feeding in areas from the Oklahoma Panhandle to Lubbock, and Deaf Smith County is no exception.

"Now is the time, while it is migrating slowly, to spray and get rid of the damaging grass-terminals during the past few months preparing for the bumper crop.

Actually, the total capacity of elevators in the seven communities is more than 12,195,000 bushels. This naturally does not include space for several thousands of bushels on individual farms in various types of structures.

One elevator man stated there would be "ample storage for wheat because the Fort Worth terminals have plenty of storage space and the railroad has assured delivery of as many cars as needed."

Elevator operators said farmers in their areas anticipated starting wheat harvest any time from Tuesday through June 16. One local farmer, Tom Robinson, said he believed he would be able to start cutting the first of this week.

Loan value on barley in the elevator this week is 81 cents per bushel. Wheat price, according to a local elevator, is selling at $1.65, and the tentative loan value is $1.68. The operator said price on wheat has been dropping strongly during the past two weeks because of harvest on the southern plains.

Hereford Grain Elevator reported E. J. Copeland's barley as the first received this year, starting Tuesday. It is being cut by Ray Wilhelm, and is testing 46 pounds to the bushel at 10 per cent moisture.

Two others who delivered to the same elevator Tuesday were A. L. Hodges and Jack Franco. Hodges' dryland field is north of Jumbo school house, is testing 46 pounds per bushel, 10 per cent moisture and, after some hail damage, is averaging about 55 bushels to the acre. Franco's irrigated barley, though having suffered approximately 40 per cent damage by

Final Rites for James Newell, 71

Funeral services for James "Jack" Orville Newell, 71, pioneer Deaf Smith County merchant and former well-known sheriff, were held Saturday morning in the First Methodist Church with the Rev. Alby Cockrell, pastor, officiating.

Mr. Newell died in Thurston Rest Home in Amarillo Thursday afternoon. He had been ill for several months. He owned a home at 809 Park Ave.

He was born in Rockwall County, Tex., on Aug. 8, 1882, and came to this county in 1900 from Silverton. He married Miss Merline Patton on June 13, 1907, in Hereford.

Mr. Newell owned and operated a drygoods store in Hereford for many years. He was elected sheriff in 1936, taking office in 1937. He served consecutive terms until 1947.

Surviving are his wife of the home; three sons, Gaylord, Orland and Charles, all of Hereford; three daughters, Mrs. Elaine Willoughby of Amarillo and Mrs. Virginia Winget and Mrs. Nadyne Blanton, both of Hereford; a sister, Mrs. James A. Hughes of Lubbock; 13 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Burial was in West Park Cemetery. Gilliland Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Herford Lass Preps for Stay in Land of Hamlet

Everything except the time is set for Eugenia Alexander's trip to Denmark where she will be a foreign exchange student.

Eugenia, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Alexander of Hereford, now knows where she's going to live, which school she'll attend and has found someone to teach her Danish.

The only thing she doesn't know is when she'll go and exactly how long she'll be there. That will be announced later by The American Field Service, co-sponsor of the exchange program. The Hereford High School Future Homemakers of America chapter is also sponsoring Eugenia.

At the school, Eugenia will study the following course: Danish literature, 19th and 20th Century; English literature, 19th and 20th Century; German literature, Goethe and Schiller; French, second year; Latin, conquest of Gaul, Cicero, speeches; world history, 1270-1848; Greek culture, Sophocles, Antigone, Herodotus; religious instruction; geography of Denmark; music and physical education.

By comparison, Eugenia took plane geometry, English, Spanish, Latin, American history and choir this past semester.

She will return to Hereford sometime next year and graduate.

Dr. Hicks Joins Hereford Clinic

Dr. Clarence E. Hicks will join the Hereford Medical and Surgical Clinic staff on Aug. 1. Two other doctors, one a former Hereford man, are to report on July 1.

Dr. Nina M. Sisley, a staff physician since June, 1957, resigned this week.

A graduate of the Medical College of Virginia, Dr. Hicks is a specialist in internal medicine. At present he is practicing in Middleboro, Ky. He did intern work at Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, Mich.

Dr. Bruce Beene, a Hereford High School and West Texas State College graduate, and Dr. Larry Beyers will join the clinic July 1.

Both Beene and Beyers are completing internships at St. Paul's Hospital in Dallas. Both are graduates of Southwestern Medical School of the University of Texas at Dallas.

Adrian Man Shoots Self

ADRIAN — Claude Heaton, a 64-year-old Simms Community farm-ranch hand, was reported in good condition late Friday afternoon after he attempted to kill himself with a .32 caliber revolver around 5 p.m. Thursday.

The report was made by the attending physician at Veterans Administration Hospital in Amarillo.

Heaton shot himself after two officers stopped him as he was driving about 3 1/2 miles west of Guymon, Okla., on Highway 54. Guymon policeman John Labrier said he stopped Heaton at the west outskirts of Guymon to check a drunk driving complaint.

Heaton got out of his pickup threatening to kill himself, waving the pistol above his head. Rather than try to arrest Heaton himself, Labrier let him go and radioed for aid.

Oklahoma Highway Patrolman Bill Hensley joined Labrier and the two officers stopped Heaton a second time. Heaton, who lives near two brothers, Lloyd and Ivan, told the officers, "I have no family or friends."

The officers argued with Heaton.

UNDERPASS OPENING—According to resident engineer of the Texas Highway Department, I. J. Clark, the Highway 51 underpass under the railroad just south of the intersection of Highways 51 and 60 will be opened some time this week. Clark said yesterday morning "Unless we get a tremendous rain between now and the time we finish cleaning up operations, we'll have the underpass open no later than next Saturday."

Trusty Quits Jail Job

Yard work was too much for a trusty at the county jail Friday afternoon.

Lonnie Andrews, 36, of Spur had been let out of the jail with two other prisoners to do some spading in the jail yard.

About 12:30 p.m. Andrews strolled away and was still gone Saturday morning.

He was serving time in lieu of a $80.50 fine for misdemeanor drunk and the work was cutting down on his time.

"He's the first trusty who has run away here," Sheriff Charles Skelton said. "We'll get him back though and his days as a trusty are over," the sheriff added.

Gilbreath, Pitman Take Partnership

Punk Gilbreath and J. A. Pitman won the Partnership Handicap Golf Tournament at the municipal course with an aggregate score of 129.

Gilbreath and Pitman posted their score last week but had to wait on the results of Jack Ethridge and Sam Gilbreath whose round was stopped by rain last Sunday. Ethridge and Gilbreath completed the course hopper. I have already seen about ten to the square yard in most places in the county," Lefty Thomas, Deaf Smith County Agent, said Friday.

The hoppers are getting thicker every day and Thomas believes they will cause considerable damage this year. It is not the thickest he has seen them, however. "I have seen them thicker, but these could migrate and cause lots of trouble dollar-wise if spraying isn't done immediately."

He suggested that spraying be done in ditches and along fence rows. The ditches make for good breeding because of their dampness.

"The grasshoppers will get thicker after the first and second weeks in June, so it is best that the spraying be done now," Thomas said.

Elsewhere, emergency action has been taken to fight the harmful migratory grasshoppers that are feeding in seven North Plains counties. These counties are Moore, Hartley, Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, Ochiltree and Hutchinson. The action is a joint federal-state-county eradication program to rid the migratory species of grasshopper known as the "Mexicana."

The homegrown type grasshopper, such as the one in Deaf Smith County, could be as damaging as the migratory one but emergency control funds are available only for migratory species. Farmers and ranchers fighting the non-migratory species must either foot the entire bill or seek other funds.

Federal and state insect control agents have moved into the seven counties and the pro-

After a desperate search for someone who could speak Danish well enough to teach it, Eugenia finally came in contact last week with Mrs. Avery Rush of Amarillo. Mrs. Rush's parents were Danish and she also took advanced courses in the language at the University of Minnesota.

EUGENIA WILL be going to Amarillo at least once a week to study before she leaves. The Hereford girl is a select member of about 50 American students who will be sent abroad this year by the American Field Service. This is the second year for the program. In the past it has been reserved with the Service sponsoring European students in America.

Hereford has had four students, all girls, from England, Germany, Sweden and Italy as exchange students. This year's student has been Silvana Felizia of Turin, Italy. She will return home this summer.

Joel Tillier Laroche of Royan, France, will be Hereford's 1958-59 student. She will arrive here in August. By that time, Eugenia hopes to be in Denmark.

FIRST LOAD brought into Pitman Elevator in Hereford was from the A. T. Jones farm, testing about 50 pounds to the bushel with a 12 per cent moisture content.

Tri-County Elevator at Black reported John Henderson as the first to deliver to that elevator. Henderson's barley, testing 48 pounds to the bushel at 12 per cent moisture content and averaging 72 bushels to the acre, is located four miles southeast of Black.

G. H. LaPlant, 11 miles southwest of Adrian brought his first load to the Adrian Wheat Growers elevator Thursday morning. LaPlant's barley is averaging 20 bushels to the acre and is testing 46 pounds to the bushel at 11.6 per cent moisture content. Tom Fields also delivered some barley to Adrian later Thursday.

gram thus far has been effective. Three sprayers were working in the vicinity of Dumas and by Thursday afternoon about 50 miles of roadway had been sprayed.

AT LEAST 17 hoppers to the square yard have been reported seen by these various agents. Early estimates show spraying operations may be necessary on about a million acres of land in the Panhandle.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said about $25,000 in state funds are available for insect control work. Field men will be spraying right-of-ways at a cost of some $3.60 per mile, and work on private land is expected to run about 60 cents per acre, with costs shared jointly by property owners and the state and federal governments.

Entomologists say the new crop of grasshoppers, unless exterminated, will remain in the area to devour summer pastures and feed off summer crops and small grain this fall. Should the hoppers be allowed to stay in the area their offspring would tend to migrate creating a menace in other areas.

Proper Management of Crop Residue Important

By MAX SCHRADER

The conservation practice having the greatest application locally is the proper management of all crop residues. Its importance is made greater by the fact that the proper use of residues is a part of nearly all farmers farm operations. It has great common use locally.

Many years ago the burning of residues was a common yearly occurrence. The decline of this soil deteriorating practice has likely been one of the major factors in keeping erosion at a minimum and production high.

The residues that we return to the soil merely replace that which we have harvested. To take the crop and destroy the residues results in eventual unproductive soil.

The purpose behind the burning of residues is usually that of the problem of preparing the land for a crop that is to follow immediately after the harvest. It is certainly true that it reduces the time and expense involved in getting a seed bed prepared, but isn't this sacrificing a future gain for that of the present? Heavy residues certainly do present a problem, but what is to be gained by their use certainly makes them worth it.

By far the most undesirable feature of destroying crop residues is the unfavorable effect it has on soil condition. Unless residues are regularly returned to the soil the organic material within it gradually disappears, resulting in a general deterioration. It isn't only the lowering of the fertility level that makes this an undesirable condition. It will even lessen the effect of fertilizers.

Soil is in its most productive state when it is filled with decaying roots and other residues. In order that these residues be broken down into plant food, soil organisms must be present to do the job. Bacteria and other organisms can thrive only in soil where residues are maintained at a certain level. Below this point they die, leaving

Redskins Take First

Pushing across two runs in the bottom of the last inning, the Indians edged the Red Sox, 8-7, Friday night and took undisputed possession of first place in the Pony League.

The winning runs came after two were out. Jerry Curtsinger had walked to lead off the frame. Bill Steele tripled him home to tie the game and they scored the final run on a single by Ken Loerwald.

Thursday's game between the Tigers and White Sox was rained out after three innings and will be completed later.

Husky Gary Smith pitched for the Red Sox and lost but he banged a bases-loaded home run in the third inning and drove in another run in the seventh. Smith had three hits in three at bats and five runs batted in.

The win kept the Indians in the undefeated class with three victors. It was the first loss for the Red Sox, pushing them into second place with a 2-1 record.

CALLING ALL GOOD DEMOCRATS TO THE SPOILS
Yes, the Republicans done it for us: 160 acre farm for sale, located about four miles from Bovina, fairly good modern improvements, including five room house, windmill, overhead water tank and plenty of barns. 130 acres in cultivation, 30 acres in native grass, the price "what a dirty shame" this Republican ADMINISTRATION has forced the price down to $75.00 per acre, however, it's a good buy even at $1.00 wheat and 75c maize.

HIGH FINANCE
NEWPORT NEWS, Va. — Back in 1936 the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company purchased a huge heavy-duty engine lathe for $6,600. In 20 years it was depreciated on the books in the amount of $6,300 and this amount set aside for replacement.

It was sold for $3,700, making $10,000 available for replacement. The new lathe cost $36,000 and $26,000 had to be taken from profits after taxes. Taxes amounted to 54 per cent of earned profit and, therefore, $37,000 had to be earned in profits. The company figures it required $807,000 in new business to make enough to buy the new lathe.

HIDDEN ALCOHOLICS
CHICAGO — The alcoholic no longer is represented by the figure slouched on a bar stool.

A research study indicates that the nation's five million chronic alcoholics are of the hidden type — hidden from recognition by family, friends and supervisors.

The analysis for an encyclopedia shows that alcoholics are hidden by their ability to present a fairly normal appearance of personal and social recognition. Consequently management and labor are enlisting psychiatry and programs built around Alcoholics Anonymous to help discover and treat the addicts among two per cent of the United States' industrial workers.

More than $20 million dollars worth of candles are sold in the United States each year.

Giants Top Cards in 4

Hereford's Little League Giants stopped the second-place Cardinals Thursday night, 7-3 in a game that was called on account of rain after 4½ innings.

The Giants, now riding on a two-game winning streak, picked up their seven runs on seven hits, making it easy for hurler Jerry Sheppard, who went all the way.

He yielded six hits to the Cards and had trouble only in the first inning when the Cards notched their three runs on four hits. Dave McNelly pitched the whole game for the Cardinals.

In Friday night's play the first-place, red-hot Yankees continued their winning pace by blasting the last-place Dodgers, 10-1.

The Yankees, who have won seven games without a set-back, were led to victory on the big bats of shortstop Van Smith and secondbaseman Steve Hodges.

Danny Cates and S. D. Balize shared the pitching chores and gave the Dodgers only three hits, shutting them out the last five frames.

In Minor League play, the Cardinals beat the Giants, 12-6, Thursday night, and the Yankees out-lasted the Dodgers, 16-10, in Friday's game.

END OF THE STRING

BETHLEHEM, Pa. — A stopped freight train delayed a frustrated motorist once too often.

A 104-car Reading Co. freight train blocked traffic for nearly half an hour waiting for a signal to move onto the Jersey Central tracks. Finally the signal came. Freight cars, including the one blocking the street, moved off with the locomotive. The rest remained and traffic began to flow.

Someone "unofficially" uncoupled the freight cars at the crossing.

WEATHER TODAY with DICK BAY
Tues. & Fri., 6:25 P.M. & Thurs. 10:15 P.M.

By JIMMIE GILLENINE

Wheat harvest is scheduled to start this coming week. Some of the elevator boys predict it will get going Monday; others figure a few days later. Most everyone agrees, however, that it will be rolling right along by the end of the week.

Meanwhile, I get the impression that things can stand some improvement. I saw two candidates buying coffee for each other Friday morning — and that's the height of something or other.

OVERHEARD BY O. R. Sanders. Three colored men were smoothing out rough spots of the new Dimmitt Highway Tuesday. One kicked a pebble out of the way and asked, "Ah wonduh what this heah rock is made out of?"

The second man raised a knowing eyebrow and answered, "Carborandum," then resumed working.

The third fellow thought a minute, then snickered, "Heh! You don't know no mo' than you did."

"That makes two of us," said the first one, whereupon he took careful aim and kicked another piece of "carborandum" out of the way.

A Santa Fe official spoke before the Lions Club Wednesday, reviewing the current plight of American railroads, including a general lack of passengers. And just to prove the point, Earnest Langley pointed out that Wayne Thomas, age 29, took his first real train ride in 1957, when he and Mrs. Thomas made a trip to Nevada.

I never have understood the wrestling game, but now they really have me confused. I notice where Dory Funk Thursday night won the World Junior Heavyweight Championship. Well, it so happens that I have seen Mr. Funk — and I can't figure out how, by any stretch of imagination, an old bald headed man like Funk could be classified as a "junior." A lot of people who first started watching Funk are now taking their grandchildren to the wrestling matches. If Funk thinks he is going to make anyone believe he is a 'teenager, he is plain nuts. What's a veteran like Funk doing in the ring with a bunch of Juniors in the first place? Dory is a medium fair duck hunter, a better than average ham on T.V., and a darn good wrestler — but the old boy will never again see 40. The best you can say for Funk is that he really is a nice old man, whose hair will never turn gray — and let it go at that.

Henry Aycock, Hereford's general police chief who prefers ice cream to morning coffee, got stumped the other day when someone asked:

"If two of those little foreign cars are packed in the space of one parking strip — on a dead meter — which one gets the ticket?"

Bill Kerr is an old boy I hardly ever see these days, but admire tremendously. Bill wrote one of the first Santa Claus letters ever published in The Brand back when he was a little boy living in Castro County. He has been a lot of places since then, but says this part of the country is up among the best he has seen... anywhere. Bill quit the machinery business a few years back to concentrate on farming. Says he likes it fine.

Word has it that Dave Benvers and Gene Moore did some trout fishing in New Mexico — and barely caught enough to eat. When these two boys miss, you can put it down that fishing is not at its best.

I notice where Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo is pushing for a sales tax. It may be a few years, but this is inevitable. Lots and lots of people pay not a cent in taxes, while others pay only withholding taxes. The big trouble is that the proposed sales tax will not reduce other taxes. They will just spend more — and we will continue to have the same state and national deficits. This is not all due to any political party, but mainly to the automobile. Since roads became highly important, our state and national money problems have increased tremendously. Now, in addition to being behind on our car payments, we are also getting behind on our road payments.

It really is a tough deal but, as Henry Benson pointed out, "I still wouldn't want to go back to the horse and buggy" — and I will add, "not even an air conditioned buggy."

No matter how much unemployment you read about, says Paul Harvey, it is always tough to locate any of your friends who want to lend a hand when you are moving. It is always surprising to find how many of them are booked with previous engagements.

Odice Bulls is most unhappy with the new street gutters the city is in the process of installing on a lot of streets. He will, without too much encouragement, wax eloquent on the subject. I asked him how about running for the city commission and putting a stop to "such foolishness" — and doggone if he didn't agree. I believe he actually means it.

And speaking of service station operators, Don Little is the boy who will operate the new station now under construction on U. S. 60. Don says he will have 10 pumps, and will go strictly independent.

Francis Hardwick, president elect of the Hereford club, is just back from Dallas, where he attended the Rotary International Convention. Needless to say, he was somewhat impressed with the meeting and the 16,000 people who attended.

Crop prospects are booming the loan business these days. A total on the report issued this week by the Credit Association added up to $24,819.34, which is pretty well above the usual average.

Human males think they have it rough, especially as they grow older in age. The other side of the story was pretty well put, however, by a pair of young ladies walking down the street, when one was heard to remark:

REMEMBER WHEN?

By CHARLIE SEEDS
They called him the "Iron Man." Through the first half of his career with the New York Yankees he was overshadowed by the mighty Lou Gehrig, Babe Ruth. But Lou Gehrig went on to carve his own niche in baseball's Hall of Fame, and to win an enduring place in the memories of America's sports fans. Perhaps his greatest achievement was the one which earned him his nickname. For from the time he first went out to first base as a raw rookie in 1925, until his last game fourteen years later, Gehrig played in every Yankee game. His record stands at 2,130 consecutive games. . . an "Iron Man" performance that might never be equaled. It was a fatal illness which finally sapped his strength and brought to a close his consecutive game streak. Baseball fans will never forget his tearful thanks for the tribute paid him that year in Yankee Stadium, the year his streak ended. Remember the year? America was entering a new period of prosperity about that time, but even so, a man buying a new car made sure of getting the best deal. He demanded real savings, not just a "Paper Deal." The year was 1939. We'll be glad to spell out our deal on a new 1938 FORD to show you in concrete facts and figures just how much we can save you. You'll find our delivered prices, our trade-ins and our terms will give you real savings, at Charlie Seeds Motor Co., Inc. 146 E. Second Phone EM-4-2727.

Peggy Bumpass, J. G. McDaniel Exchange Vows

Miss Peggy June Bumpass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Bumpass, 1013 Grand Ave., became the bride of James Grady McDaniel, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. McDaniel of Crowell, Saturday at 8 p.m. in the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Howard Scott, pastor, read the double-ring ceremony.

Baskets of white gladiol and miniature chrysanthemums with greenery were combined with candelabrum holding pyramiding white tapers to form the altar setting.

WEDDING MUSIC was furnished by Mrs. Howard Scott, organist and Mrs. Floyd Messenger, vocalist.

Mrs. Scott played "I Love You Truly" and other nuptial selections preceding the ceremony and Mrs. Messenger sang "Bless This House." The traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and the recessional, and the organist played "The Wedding Prayer" during the ceremony.

Bobby Miller of Gilliland was best man. Danny Bumpass, brother of the bride, Dwayne Brown and Jimmy Brown were ushers.

Miss Ann Reeves was maid of honor. She wore an ice-blue chiffon dress having a fitted bodice with sweetheart neckline and full skirt. She carried an arm bouquet of Frenched white carnations.

RING BEARERS were Connie Dale Balnum who wore ice blue organdy and a white hat, and Bill Erwin of Crowell, nephew of the bridegroom. Candles were lighted by Kay Woolery and Lynn Thompson. They were dressed in ice blue organdy with white accessories and wore white carnation corsages.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of white rose petal lace over satin styled with molded bodice having a deep "V" neckline and long pointed sleeves. The bouffant lace skirt fell to floor length. Her fingertip veil of silk net was banded with satin ribbon and lace and caught to a net halo. (The veil was a wedding gift from Mrs. N. C. Vogele, a close friend of the family.) She wore lace and satin slippers matching the dress and carried a white Bible overlaid with rosebuds and silver leaves tied with white satin streamers. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore a pastel blue dress with white accessories and a white carnation corsage tied with ice blue satin. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink two-piece frock with white accessories, and wore a corsage of white carnations with white satin leaves.

THE RECEPTION was held in the church fellowship hall. The bride's table was laid with an ice-blue cloth overlaid with lace. The center attraction was ice-blue candle holders entwined with white roses and satin leaves. The traditional three-tiered wedding confection was featured. Ann Reeves presided at the wedding cake and Kay Woolery and Lynn Thompson poured punch. Mrs. Wilbur Gibson kept the guest register. Gladys Lee presented informal music during the reception hours.

Gale Dee Blythe, Jerry Malone to Wed Here Today

Miss Gale Dee Blythe will become the bride of Jerry Dale Malone in a double-ring ceremony read today at 4 p.m. in the First Methodist Church. The Rev. J. Max Poteet, ministerial student of Farwell, will direct the exchange of vows.

AFTERWARD the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Malone, will be hosts at a reception at their home, 108 Centre.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Blythe Jr., 809 Knight.

Baskets of white and orchid gladiol will flank a white trellis entwined with greenery at the altar and white wedding tapers will burn in seven branched candelabra to give illumination.

Carol Ann Newell, organist, will play a prelude of nuptial selections and accompany Mrs. Alfred Stansbury of Wilcox, Ariz. aunt of the bridegroom, who will sing "Because" (De-Hardelot) and "I Love You Truly" (Carrie Jacobs Bond). "Love — The Perfect Gift" played softly, will give musical background as vows are spoken. The traditional wedding marches will be used.

SANDY BLYTHE will be her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaids will be Kee Skypala, cousin of the bride, and Sue Sowell. The honor maid's dress is white and the bridesmaids' dress is mauve, all made over orchid taffeta and styled identically. The dresses feature fitted bodices having off-the-shoulder necklines and ballerina skirts. They will wear white hats and mitts to match their dresses and will carry hand bouquets in white and orchid.

Kim Ward wearing a white embroidered crystalline frock will scatter rose petals before the bride and Kirk Ward will carry the rings on a white satin pillow. Gayle Wagener and Sandra Story will light the candles.

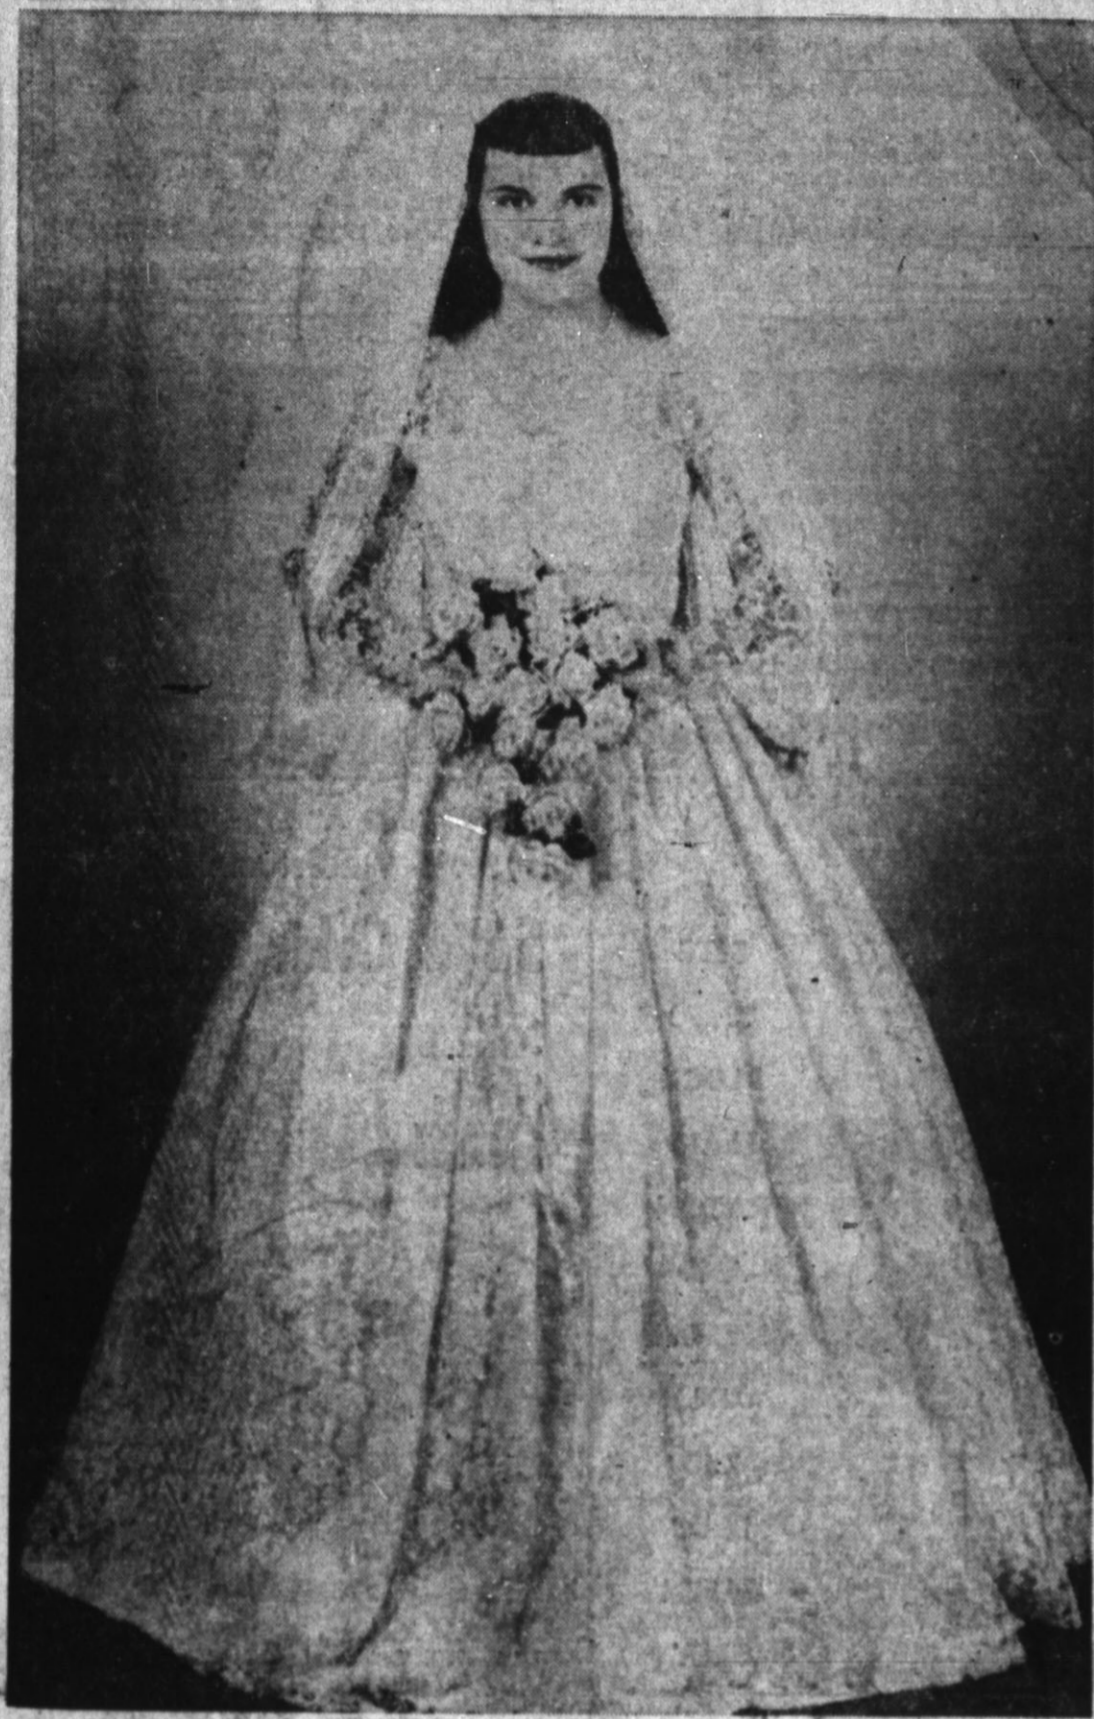

Don Ray Parsons will serve as best man and ushering will be Jack Walker of Amarillo and Pat Ferguson and Bobby Burus.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, has chosen a gown of imported Chantilly lace over taffeta with figurine bodice having a Sabrina neckline edged in lace and long fitted sleeves that come to points at the hands. The bouffant skirt falls to carpet length in lace edged illusion. The veil of imported illusion is secured by a lace tiara encrusted with simulated pearls and rhinestones. For sentimental reasons she will wear her maternal grandmothers pearls.

The bride's mother's dress will be of rose lace worn with white accessories and a corsage of white gladiol. Blue linen will be worn by the bridegroom's mother, being fashioned in a sheath with Eton jacket. She will wear pink rosebuds.

AT THE RECEPTION, the attendant's bouquets will center the brides table, laid in oyster cutwork linen over orchid. Mrs. Edgar Skypala, Mrs. Cecil Malone and Mrs. G. W. Bradshaw of Clarendon will be in the house party. Margaret Stallings will pour punch and Agatha Malone and Mrs. Tony Benson of Roswell, N. M., will serve cake. Mrs. Gene Lewis of Dimmitt will keep the guest register.

One of the prettiest of early summer parties being given to compliment brides and bride-elect, was the shower courtesy given in the home of Mrs. Troy Moore Tuesday afternoon honoring Miss Nancy Godwin, bride-elect of Jim McDowell.

Other hostesses included Mesdames Bess Moore, Howard Gault, William S. Dameron, Louise Ferguson, John Blocker, James M. Gillentine, Liston Wilson, Carl McCaslin, Glenn Williams, Pat Robinson and Don Zimmerman.

The bride-elect's chosen colors of pink and aqua were used throughout the house in decorations with the refreshment table done entirely in pink. The table was covered with a pink organdy cloth and held a tiered centerpiece filled with pyramiding sweetheart roses topped by silver candelabra holding pink tapers. A miniature bridal couple rose above the candles to complete the pyramid.

An arrangement of sweetheart roses with a single pink candle rising from their midst gave decorative accent to the registration table.

Recorded music featuring wedding music and romantic tunes provided background entertainment. In the receiving line were Mrs. Moore at the door, the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Ray Godwin, Mrs. Ansel McDowell, mother of the prospective bridegroom, and the grandmothers of the bride-to-be, Mrs. Marie Godwin and Mrs. J. L. Watkins, both of Vega.

Mrs. Ansel McDowell Jr. of Friona and Mrs. Howard Godwin presided at the serving table and Martha Bookout secured names for the bride's book. Also in the houseparty were the attendants who will serve in the wedding, Glenna Gault, Betty Ferguson, Dorothy Williams and Charlotte Moore.

Approximately 100 guests signed their names in the bride's book.

Dang Them Millers, Douse the Lights! IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

By BETTY BABIONE

MY FRIEND Gertie says that I come up with some of the darndest excuses for what I do with this column, and she's right. My problem today is getting the thing written before the miller moths eat me alive.

Now that's a sure give-away that I don't get my work done before the 5 o'clock whistle, but it doesn't matter what a body does in the evening these days — it's almost impossible to do it without being bombarded by a drove of the delicate creatures — leastwise if ya have any light on the subject.

I don't know for sure if millers and candle bugs are the same varmints but I assume they are since the people talking about both seem to be talking about the same thing. Anyway, I've heard enough about why the moths are so abundant this year — what I want to know is: is there any defense against them? 'Tis rumored that the hexachlorophene, or whatever the City uses in its spraying machine, will alleviate the situation some. Let us hope!

GUESS YOU'VE heard that Amarillo has happened along with a selection of its best dressed men this week.

Well now, that's all right. Af-er all, the idea wasn't exactly original with us in Hereford — it's been done on a national level for years. But I can't help being just a little proud that we beat Amarillo to the draw, so to speak. In fact, so far as I know, the idea hadn't been promoted on a local level anywhere before it was here. How about that?

For some reason tho, you're never quite sure that an idea is worth anything until you see someone else use it, too.

SCHOOL HAS been out for barely more than a week now, and I could name some mamas who are already wishing they could send the youngsters off to school again every day.

However it may be too short a summer for those who are readying little ones for the first grade. By the way, one of the incidental things that Johnny Junior should know before he starts to school, is how to use a drinking straw.

According to Mrs. Don Moore, one of our highly regarded, first grade teachers, there are a surprising number of children who have to be taught to drink through a straw during the first days of school. And the ability is essential if a child eats lunch at school, because the beverage containers are designed for use of straws.

I have another new-found reason for admiring Mrs. F. W. Dool. She's a woman of many capabilities, only one of which is her enviable dexterity with a bowling ball, but I mean she is really a whiz! I don't remember the exact score but she has to her credit one of the highest on record in this neck of the woods — better than most of the proficient male bowlers and therefore almost fantastic for a mere female.

Don't know the secret of Mrs. Dool's success with the tennpins but Nicki Dameron's apparently is her hubby, Bill.

I saw it with my own eyes. Nicki, a comparatively inexperienced bowler, was rolling a long at the rate of a few pins at a time when Bill strolled in to view the goings-on at Ladies' League — Wham! Nicki immediately made a strike, and then another, and she was an absolute expert all the while her everlovin' spouse was watching. Can't say if William was impressed, but I sure was.

Sally Skelton (sporting a very cute, new hair style) and Margaret Woodall (with a new and becoming suntan) are a couple of the more promising beginners who have signed up for summer bowling.

AND SPEAKING of beginners: if any of you are interested in a swimming class for adult beginners, please let Bill Hardwick or me know about it. We think there ought to be quite a few who never had the opportunity to learn to swim when they were younger and may be hesitant to start at this late date. But the importance of knowing how to swim was emphasized again by the appalling toll of deaths from drowning over the recent holiday.

Bill has in mind to hold the adult class during the last week of this month and the first week of July. And to keep the 6:30 to 7:30 a.m. schedule which seems to be working out so well for the classes now in progress. The early hour should please interested beginners who would just as soon not show off their ignorance in front of the whole world — like I mentioned last week, there is so little of the world awake at that time of day, much less observing what's taking place at the swimming pool.

WERE YA watching KFDTV Thursday night when we Herefordites were urged, by way of a regular commercial, to "Shop at our local stores" and "Trade at home"? Sounds to me like somebody has gotten smart. Think I'll ask around and find out about this advertising deal.

Got to interview Bill Decker, too — heard he had an exciting forced landing in his little ole plane.

ARIZONA VISITORS Mrs. Luetta Gifford, Clyde and Emma, Bill Walker and Joe Shirl, all of Tempe, Ariz., visited last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Crofford and family. Emma Gifford is remaining with them for a few days more.

VISITS DAUGHTER Mrs. Art Lewis and granddaughter, Debbie Wilson, visited in Hobbs, N. M., last week with Mrs. Lewis' daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Bartlett.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL Bill Knox has returned from the hospital in Lubbock where he has been a patient for about a week.

Hog Feeding Program Might Supply Answer To Area's Economic Problem

Grain sorghum, an outgrowth of the "Indian Corn" found here by the first white men who penetrated the territory, has long been a controversial commodity in Washington. Trapped through loss of other commodity quotas, growers in this irrigated area are now complaining that they find it difficult to make a profit with the crop under our complex agricultural supports and schedules.

Last week, however, Vernon C. Jelley, district manager of American Cyanamid Co., made a talk in Amarillo and pointed to expansion of swine production as the logical answer to a lot of our problems. When you couple the visitor's remarks with records and experience achieved by G. W. Brumley and other hog men in the area in years past, his ideas are even more sound.

"An abundance of grain sorghum, dry climate and a tremendous growth of population," are the basis of Jelley's advice, although he did stress the importance of nutritional management and adaptation of proper breeds of swine for the area.

At the present time, hogs are shipped to the Midwest for fattening, then the pork is shipped back into the Southwest, where a tremendous population shift is seen. High freight rates make the present procedure an expensive one. In addition, a local excess of grain sorghum continues to exist, while Midwest farmers clean out their corn cribs from year to year.

The same situation is true with beef cattle, of course, but swine fattening should do equally as well and would run into far less opposition. Future years, in all likelihood, will see an adaptation on both fronts.

Needless to say, there are times when pork prices are down. Most experienced producers, however, will promptly point out that the man who feeds out his crop has a double-barrel chance at a profit, thus cutting the risk sharply. Freight advantages

This Old Boy Has Troubles

The gentle art of being a parent—be it father or mother—often presents problems which stump the nation's industrial tycoons. Such a situation was recently demonstrated on a father in San Francisco.

The 11-year-old son played hooky from school, "borrowed" $5 from the family "new car fund" in the cookie jar and spent the afternoon downtown. The lad took in three western movies, purchased a $1 chance on a new car, played all of the machines in a penny arcade and literally "stuffed himself" with candy, popcorn and other tempting morsels.

The situation might still be undiscovered, except for the fact that a man called that night to ask the boy's father where to deliver the new automobile the youngster had won in the raffle.

What the father can't figure out now is how he will ever fully convince his 11-year-old son that crime doesn't pay. Furthermore, if you have a good, logical answer, let us know.

would still put the Panhandle farmer in a position to do "better than average," such has been the experience of vegetable growers in the area when faced with adverse price conditions.

Frankly, it seems to us that Mr. Jelley hit the nail on the head. His advice is something everyone already knew—but perhaps few of us has stopped to calculate the present day advantages of "feed on the ground, higher freight rates than ever before, plus a greater market created by the influx of new families into the Southwest."

Midwest farmers and producers are among the nation's most solid and most prosperous. The pattern of feeding out what they produce has accounted for much of the prosperity. Certainly, there is no good reason why it cannot be followed in this territory.

Service Is Real Test of Any Town

A feeling of smug complacency frequently precedes the most severe jolts we mortals suffer.

With things rolling along in good shape on the paving program, a new underpass near completion, a modern airport about to be dedicated, and new traffic lights in the process of installation, you cannot exactly blame the people of Hereford if they complacently pat themselves a few whacks on the back. Hereford, you might say, is actually becoming a little city; it is a mighty nice place to live.

Suddenly, out of a clean blue sky, appears an item that a 16-month-old baby has been bitten by a rattlesnake. Snakes seldom flourish on city streets, not even little cities. Everyone knows that rattlesnakes seek the remote, seldom populated areas. Hereford, after all, may not be the little city we thought.

The real test, perhaps, lies in how the case was handled once it was discovered. Instead of rushing the child to Amarillo, Dallas or New York, the case was handled right here at home. The actual diagnosis and tests which followed were, in a way, an indication that Hereford really is a good place to live. A community should definitely be judged by the services it has to offer. This is true in other fields, as well as medicine, and provides the best possible yardstick by which a town can be measured.

Demo Rally Could Be A Cornerstone

Preliminary plans were released this week for an area-wide Democratic Party Rally to be held in Hereford on the night of Saturday, June 21.

The rally is definitely not a new idea in state or national Democratic organizations, but it does afford several possibilities in the area.

Local and area voters, in the first place, will have a chance to hear state and district candidates. This, alone, should provide sufficient interest to clear much confusion and make the rally worthwhile.

Downstate candidates, at this time, are also beginning to realize that the Texas Panhandle is growing—and that our votes, though still in the minority, can determine the outcome of state elections. An area rally should attract most of these office seekers, thus laying the cornerstone for rallies to be held in future years that will continue to play an important part in future Texas politics.

Of greatest importance, though, will be the bringing together of liberal and conservative elements of the party. If the rally is conducted on an impartial basis it will provide a common meeting place for both sides. The result will be a stronger Democratic party, less bickering and more tolerance on both sides.

With these things in mind, residents of the area should contribute in every possible manner to make the first rally outstanding. In addition to the immediate benefits, it could be the forerunner of far greater things in future years.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Price Prathers Met At a Box Supper

By MRS. E. L. CRISWELL
Mr. and Mrs. Price Prather of 1006 E. Third were married in a quiet home wedding Sept. 9, 1906, in Hollis, Okla. "I knew her father and uncle but had never met her," says Prather. "I had noticed her on her way to school as she came by my father's harness store. I was out of school and worried some that she might fall for some of the high school boys but luck was with me.

"WE REALLY got acquainted at a box supper. Of course I had planned to buy her box but I did not have in mind to pay $20 for it. I really did not know which was her box but luck was with me and I bought it for a nominal sum. I was not sure it was hers until I opened it and found her name in it. The folks accused me of bribing the auctioneer but it was just luck, and in more ways than one.

"We had dated for almost a year before I mustered enough courage to ask her the all important question. We only had dates on Sundays as she was still in school and we were not allowed to break the rules of no dates on school days.

"On one of our quail hunts and picnics, one of the fellows bought a new skillet. It was one of those long handled ones, they had just come out and he thought it would really be fine for cooking over a camp fire. He did not know of the special girls given new utensils and the girls probably knew but did not stop to think and they cooked the quail in it. You can imagine the taste of the quail. We had to throw it away but we used that skillet many times after that and it was nice to have the long handle over the campfires. A few times we had prairie chickens but they were few and the government soon protected them to prevent them from becoming extinct, but it was a little late as I suppose they are all gone now.

"There were every stables in those days and usually the owner was a real pal to the young fellows, but they sometimes had to speak for several months ahead to be sure they would have a rig for special dates and occasions, and especially picnics.

"We went to the Hays Camp on the Old Mill Iron ranch, some miles from Wellington. There was at least 20 vehicles on this one picnic. We boys carried fruit and candy and the girls brought the other food. Sometimes we fished or hunted quail and the girls would dress and cook them and we surely had a wonderful time.

"A COUPLE of our friends married sometime after we did and they did not have a honeymoon either so we planned a trip to Sweetwater Creek, near Old Fort Mobeetie. This was in July the following year after we were married. They had changed the county seat of Wheeler County to Wheeler from Mobeetie and were moving it to Wheeler.

"The walls of the old fort were still standing, but I do not know if there is any trace of it there now. That was in 1907. We camped near a large cottonwood tree and the girls would shoot doves as they came in to water and light in the big tree. We had a great respect for girls who could shoot in those days, and I still have to help with the dishes even to day.

"I wish the girls of today could have seen the bathing suits my wife made for us when we were preparing for the trip. Mine was cash, she just cut off the legs of an old pair of overalls and the sleeves of a shirt. She made hers of wool, long trousers and then a blouse and bloomers over these. I don't know how she kept from drowning with all that heavy wool and then the additional weight of the water. We looked as if we were dressed for a tacky party but we had such a wonderful time we remember it with joy to this day.

"We came to the Plains during the depression and things were really rough for a lot of people. I remember selling eggs for 5 cents per dozen and butterfat at 11 cents per pound. I sold hogs to George Brumley for 34 cent and had a very large hog that would weigh in at 350 or 400 pounds and he would not even take him for free. There was just no sale for an animal of that size.

"OUR PLANS on arriving on the Staked Plains was farming. We had heard of the good crops made here and we had four boys and we thought they would like farming. We lived on the farm for years but not one of the boys farm. Harvest went out with the horse and buggy and tractors came along to take the place of the horse.

"We had four boys and a son-in-law in the service during World War II and were lucky indeed for them all to come home unharmed. It kept us busy trying to keep up with them on the map as they were scattered all over the world," he concluded.

"Our wedding was a simple one and the Rev. H. B. Ellis, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Hollis, read the ceremony," said Mrs. Prather. "My dress was of grey taffeta with yards and yards of yards of ruffling, headed with white. It had three six inch ruffles around the bottom of the skirt and the skirt was floor length and very wide. A crushed cumberbund around the waist, with puffed sleeves, fitted from elbow to wrist. It took sometime to make it as ruffles are rather slow in the making. My hat was a large grey felt with feathers on it. (George Snider reminded me of the hat when I saw him at his son's wedding. He was 10 years old at the time.)

"For the 'enfaire' dinner I wore a white silk blouse trimmed in lace with a black silk skirt, wet off by a wide reptile belt and bag to match, and black hi-topped shoes with pointed toes, much more pointed than the ones that are in style today."

Rail Man Urges Support Of Transport Legislation

"You can further the welfare and economic advancement in your community by helping the railroads which are currently in a declining situation," H. C. Vincent of the Santa Fe Railway, Amarillo, told members of the Lions Club Wednesday.

Vincent said the railroads concern the welfare of everybody, and he presented examples proving his statement. His main example brought out the railroads' interest to the taxpayer.

"In Deaf Smith County alone, Santa Fe paid in county, school and city taxes in 1957, $18,197.35. Any threat to the ability of railroads to continue their local tax burdens can mean only a deterioration of essential local functions or an increase in the tax burden borne by you as individuals, or both," he said.

TRANSPORTATION of commodities and people by railroad was another example Vincent discussed. It is, according to Vincent, "an absolute essential to commerce and to the sustenance of life itself."

Vincent presented a report from the Sub-Committee on Surface Transportation which stated that the railroads were in a deteriorating situation.

"Among various findings cited to support this conclusion, the report noted that the net railroad working capital, out of which is paid current expenses of operation, such as wages and the cost of materials and supplies, has declined to only a little more than half the safe minimum level.

"Freight carloadings for the first four months of the year were 20 per cent below last year and the drop in railroad earnings has been even more severe. Class I railroads lost $723,000,000 on passenger service in 1957. Santa Fe's loss was $53,000,000," he said.

VINCENT THEN discussed the sub-committee's four reasons behind the railroad's current decline. They included the growth and development of newer forms of transportation, government assistance offered to railroad competitors, over-regulation and the attitude of some railroad managements and their failure to recognize changing conditions, times and tastes.

"The sub-committee," Vincent said, "then described specific policies and practices of government which it found to be at the very foundation of the railroads' troubles and offered suggestions of their correction.

"These suggestions are embodied in Senate Bill 3778 (Smathers Bill) and the companion House Bill No. 12488 covering seven of the sub-committee's recommendations, and the eighth recommendation is covered in a resolution known as S. R. 303." They are now before the 85th Congressional session. The sub-committee's recommendations dealt with transportation factors and provisions set up by the Interstate Commerce Act.

Vincent also discussed three other recommendations that the committee brought up but felt were out of their jurisdiction.

Closing his talk, Vincent urged the members to support the committee's recommendations by writing their national representatives in Washington.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Increase in Insects Around Homes Noted

Have you noticed an increase in insects and grasshoppers around your home this year?

MRS. RAY GODWIN—Not particularly, but we do have a lot of millers.

C. D. FITZGERALD SR.—No, to tell the truth, I haven't.

MRS. CLINTON E. WEST—No, I haven't.

JIM CASSELS—Yes, the millers are worse this year.

MRS. A. A. HARE—Yes, I sure have. Especially worms. There are so many bugs and worms in gardens this year. I guess it's because we've had so much rain lately.

RAYMOND PAETZOLD—I sure have and I've got a lot of reports about them too. I wish everybody would spray their places.

MRS. WILBUR GIBSON—I should say so. I never saw so many in my life. I had such beautiful flowers at first and they are just stripped now. I've noticed an increase in every kind of bug.

C. D. CAISON SR.—I don't know. Seems like there are a few more—more millers anyway.

WAR ON INSECTS

County Agent Bill Kimbrough this week warned cotton producers that they need to go to war against an invasion of thrips—a tiny insect that's having a ball on young Lamb County cotton plants. The county agent said he had toured the county, spot checking about 30 fields. Most of the county's cotton is up to a good stand. He said the insect also is affecting all types of flowers and gardens.—COUNTY WIDE NEWS (Littlefield).

$1 MILLION BOOST FOR COLLEGE

More than a million dollars worth of building permits for West Texas State College gave Canyon building a boost that may make this year's total higher than ever before. Two permits for a total of $1,147,957 were issued to Floyd W. Richards for an addition to the science building and a new fine arts building. The addition will cost $230,181 and the new building will cost $917,776.—THE CANYON NEWS.

RAIN, HAIL DAMAGE IS SLIGHT

Rain, hail and wind lashed Moore County Tuesday, May 27, and early Wednesday, throwing in a spectacular aerial display of lightning and thunder, but the crop benefits were limited. Spotty in nature, the rain fell in "gully-washer" proportions in some places and barely wet the ground in others. Far western portions of Moore County recorded from a trace to .25 inch of moisture, while 1.26 was reported in Dumas. The storm actually centered on Dumas, with moisture reports dropping off in other areas.—MOORE COUNTY NEWS.

HOPPERS PICTURE WORSE

The Dallam-Hartley counties grasshopper infestation—already the worst in history—is so heavy that unless their numbers are drastically reduced the hoppers can virtually destroy this year's grass and crops in both counties. And the picture will get even blacker unless large-scale aerial spraying is done, because an undetermined amount of grasshopper eggs still haven't hatched, and some of the hoppers that have hatched are now laying eggs to produce more hoppers that will hatch a few weeks from now.—THE DALHART TEXAN.

HIGHWAY TOPPING COMPLETED

Topping of the Highway 87 loop project was completed early this week by Cooper & Woodruff of Amarillo. The 68-foot curbed and paved street extends from Highway 87 in West Tulsa eastward along North 5th to the Vigo Y, a distance of 13 1/2 blocks, and from the end of the brick pavement on North Maxwell north to North 5th, a distance of 3 1/2 blocks. The wide street accommodates four lanes in addition to parking space along both curbs. The remainder of the loop, that part which follows Southwest 1st, was widened and curbed two years ago.—THE TULIA HERALD.

OLTON PLANS TENNIS COURTS

Olton civic leaders are studying plans for building a new tennis court and play area. Spearheading the drive is the Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. The proposed court would be lighted permitting night play. A group of civic leaders met the latter part of last week with Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture board of directors.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm apparently is feeling optimistic this week, his letter indicates.

Dear editor: Everybody in the country has been wondering when things are going to get back to normal, and I wish to let you know I have now found an unmistakable sign that normal times are about here.

Last night I read an article in a newspaper which I picked up in town earlier in the day—it was blowing along the street and any time a man can help beautify the town and get a free newspaper at the same time he has to be mighty lazy not to do it—that convinces me things are now approaching normal.

According to this article, the Secretary of Commerce in Washington said he saw "some fairly rosy prospects ahead for the economy." He said the "economic picture will be much brighter later this year. Employment has been rising, business indicators are a bit better, and a spirit of revived confidence is beginning to appear."

In the same article, the Director of the Budget said beginning July 1 the government will go in the red about two billion dollars.

If this isn't prosperity—business picking up and the country going further in debt—I've never seen it.

What this proves is that in the final analysis there's nothing wrong with installment buying. It's only installment paying that keeps a man's nose to the grindstone.

Personally, I don't know whether the recession is disappearing or not, probably it is, and that suits me fine, but what I have decided after considerable thought is that economics is like the human body. A man can get sick occasionally for no reason at all, and while the doctors stand around stroking their chins and calculating what's wrong with him, he suddenly starts to get better and nobody knows for sure what caused him to get sick in the first place and what got him well, whether it was the medicine or just the natural course of events or the thought of a long hospital bill.

There may be people in this country who really know what causes a recession and what cures it, but if there are they're sure keeping quiet.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

"My double oven ELECTRIC RANGE gets me out of the kitchen QUICK!"

says Mrs. P. R. Garre,
4212 GEM LAKE ROAD,
AMARILLO, TEXAS

And that's good. For when this vivacious and attractive doctor's wife is out of the kitchen, she's spending much of her time making her community a better place to live.

Time is important to Mrs. Garre. In addition to being a fine mother and homemaker, she is a working leader in the P-T-A, Amarillo's Child Guidance Center, The Family Service of Amarillo, and The Potter-Randall Citizen's Committee.

You'll find there's more time for you — and the things you want to do when you cook — and live — better electrically.

Your Reddy Kilowatt dealer has a bonus for you if you see a demonstration of his electric range in his store. He'll give you a certificate good for two bug lamps at any Public Service office.
