Wheat Marketing Quota Approved In Friday Vote

Farmers in the 38 commercial wheat producing states voted by referendum Friday in favor of the national wheat marketing quota by 83.7 per cent "for" at the latest count, according to the Associated Press. Deaf Smith wheat growers voted 85 "for" and 10 "against" in the referendum.

THE VOTE, from 152 Texas counties, including all important wheat producing areas, was 833 "for" and 1,004 "against." It is necessary that 66 2/3 vote in favor of the marketing quota for it to go into effect.

If quotas are approved at the final count, the 1959 wheat program will include acreage allotments, marketing quotas (with penalties on "excess" wheat) and price supports at a minimum national average of $1.81 per bushel, or 75 per cent of parity.

If the quotas are not approved by at least two-thirds of those voting, there will be no marketing quotas or penalties, but allotments will remain in effect as a means of determining eligibility for price support. The price support rate would be about $1.20 per bushel, or 50 per cent of parity, as provided by law.

Growers who were eligible to vote in the referendum were those who would be affected by the wheat quotas if they become effective.

The term, "eligible voter," in the referendum this year on 1959 wheat quotas included all farmers in a commercial wheat state who will be engaged in the production of the 1959 wheat crop and who will harvest more than 15 acres of wheat for grain on their farm.

Voting in Deaf Smith County was divided in communities, patterned according to regular voting precincts. Polls were stationed at the County Attorney's office, the Commissioner's Courtroom, Walcott School, Sims Community House and Palo Duro Church from 8 a. m. to 7 p.m. Friday.

Wesley Methodist Has New Pastor

Appointed pastor of the Wesley Methodist Church recently was the Rev. Alvin Smith. He replaces the Rev. Bernard Seay, who has been appointed to the Lazbuddie Methodist Church in Lazbuddie.

Originally from Colorado City, Tex., the Rev. Smith comes to Hereford from Lamesa, Tex., where he was pastor of the Methodist Church there for the past two years. He is a graduate of Howard County Junior College and attended McMurry College one year.

The Rev. and Mrs. Smith are the parents of one son, Cecil, age 15, who will be a sophomore in high school this year. They live at 517 Irving.

KRAZY KAT—Joining all the rest of the Hereford merchants, Paul Harvey of the C. R. Anthony Store (with the aid of a little messin' around by a Brand photographer) is fixed up for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, when the whole town goes Krazy during the city's first Krazy Daze. If you think Harvey looks bad, drop downtown during the three-day event and look at some of the rest of the salespeople. (Staff Photo???)

Local Merchants Go Nuts; KRAZY DAZES are Here!

IF YOU CAN hold your splitting sides and shell out small amounts of money at the same time, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday you will be able to pick up some of the greatest bargains ever offered in Hereford.

DURING KRAZY DAZES! The wise shopper will, along with a thrifty-minded purse, also carry a loaded camera while downtown. Actually an advertising promotion drummed up by the Hereford Boosters, the business retail members of the Chamber of Commerce, Krazy Dazes promises to afford low prices and entertainment at the same time.

All salespeople will be dressed in some of the most ridiculous attire obtainable. One man is planning to dress in swim shorts, leather chaps, low-cut shoes and a Hawaiian print shirt. His name won't be disclosed in this article, so you will have to go downtown to spot him.

Post Office Rent On Boxes Raised

Rental on small post office boxes here will be raised slightly the next quarter, beginning on July 1, according to Mrs. Curtis Traweck, temporary postmaster of Hereford.

Small box rental will be increased from $1.10 to $1.20 quarterly, Mrs. Traweck said. All other rates for boxes, however, will remain the same, she added.

Effective July 1, rates will be $1.20 for small boxes. Remaining rates will be $1.50 for drawers, $3 for large boxes, $2.25 for small drawers and $3 for large boxes.

Exempt from paying poll tax are those persons who must have reached 21 years of age between Feb. 1 and June 26, 1958, according to the pamphlet on instructions to the Tax Assessor-Collector from the Office of Comptroller in Austin. The certificate of exemption must be obtained not later than 30 days before the primary, July 26.

County Sprayers Start War Against Hoppers

Utilizing the only two sprayers owned by the county to start with, Deaf Smith county commissioners have begun spraying all county road right-of-ways in a joint effort with the entire Panhandle district to combat what has been termed by state Agriculture Commissioner John White as the "worst grasshopper infestation in the state's history."

Federal equipment for spraying, according to USDA representative D. H. Russel, Amarillo, will be made available to the county as more reaches the area or as soon as the earlier requesting counties complete their spraying. Meanwhile, the two county vehicles and what else can be obtained will be used in the "hopper war, according to the commission.

SPRAYING COSTS are being shared on all state roads, which include national highways, state highways and farm-to-market roads, with the federal government paying 1/3 (not to exceed 25 cents per acre), state paying 1/3, and county the balance.

Three agencies in the state are combining their funds to finance the spraying, the Department of Agriculture, Highway Dept. and Texas National Guard.

County Judge Homer Henslee said the county would start spraying and continue as long as available funds held out.

However, according to Russel, only roadside spraying along cropland, and not where pasture lands front the roads, will be shared in payment by the federal agency. Russel said it would do no good in grazing areas unless the land owners were spraying their part.

The federal government is paying 1/3 of the cost (not to exceed 25 cents per acre) for spraying of grassland also, but the land owner must pay the rest.

In a telegram received from Commissioner White Thursday, he said federal government agencies would pay 1/3 of the expense for "aerial spraying highway right-of-ways." Russel advised Judge Henslee and county agent Lefty Thomas Friday ground spraying could be used if equipment were available.

RUSSELL WARNED that if farmers were to enter in an agreement to spray grasslands and land in the soil bank, and use any of the chemicals for spraying crops, all benefits from the federal government would be forfeited by the farmer. The county sprayers, as suggested by agent Thomas, will be using three ounces of Aldrin in four gallons of water per acre of roadside lands. There are 1,412 miles of county roads in Deaf Smith.

"It is vitally important that as many counties participate as possible," Commissioner White said in an announcement this week. "Even if the grasshopper threat is not serious in some (Continued On Page 2)

Engineers Reject Dam Site Request

According to a letter received Friday by Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce manager Bill Lenderman, the county will not get the flood control dam requested for Tierra Blanca Creek.

THE LETTER from Col. John D. Bristor, District Engineer in Tulsa, Okla., on the basis of the Corps findings "The Corps of Engineers has concluded that there is a lack of possible economic justification of a flood control project, and that more detailed study of the proposal is not warranted."

First correspondence on the subject was a request to the Corps by Congressman Walter Rogers to look into the prospect of locating a dam somewhere west of Hereford, Rogers had been in the city at the request of the Chamber, given a tour and background of floods on the Tierra Blanca, and enjoined of the need. The survey was authorized Dec. 15, 1957.

Two engineers of the Tulsa office made a survey Jan. 10, and results of their findings submitted to "higher authority" April 15.

Col. Bristor's letter was the first received by the Chamber since learning the engineers' report had been sent for further study in April.

Application for the dam was made after it was learned that construction of small flood control projects had been authorized by Public Law 885, 84th Congress, had been passed.

Bristor said in the letter "As suggested to our representatives during a reconnaissance examination of the area, a dam site on Tierra Blanca Creek about one mile west of Hereford was considered as a means of providing flood protection on that stream. A dam at that location would have a watershed area of about 782 miles above it; of which about 159 square miles are considered to contribute runoff past the dam site. The normal annual rainfall is about 18 inches. Extremes recorded in the area were 39 inches in 1941 and 10 inches in 1955. It is estimated that major floods have been experienced about once in 10 years, moderate floods once in six years and minor floods about once a year. The property subject to flooding from the dam site to Buffalo Lake has an estimated value of about $750,000, and the average annual flood damages in that reach probably would not exceed $10,500."

"Channel capacity of Tierra Blanca Creek is about 1,800 cubic feet per second. The maximum flood of record at Hereford occurred in May-June 1941, with a maximum estimated discharge of 6,000 c.f.s. and a volume of 5,200 acre-feet."

"The topography of the site is such that the suggested dam would be about 2,000 feet long and would have a maximum height of 50 feet. The potential capacity of the reservoir would be about 7,000 acre-feet. This storage space would provide only about half of the space considered necessary for flood control and sedimentation purposes. Preliminary estimates indicate that a 7,000 acre-foot capacity reservoir could not be justified even if all flood losses could be prevented by the project," Bristor said.

Specifications call for an 8,000 foot test hole. This will be the fifth well drilled in the county in less than a year, two of which were dry holes. Last year's 1.8-mile southwest, brought in some oil Tuesday and Wednesday but has been shut down. F. H. Lindsay No. 1, one-half mile southwest of Lamance, is drilling below 6,200 feet. The two dry wells were drilled in the northern part of the county last summer.

On the Reimauer well, the crew is digging a water well, making a road and a slush pit before actual drilling begins. The well may be spudded in Monday.

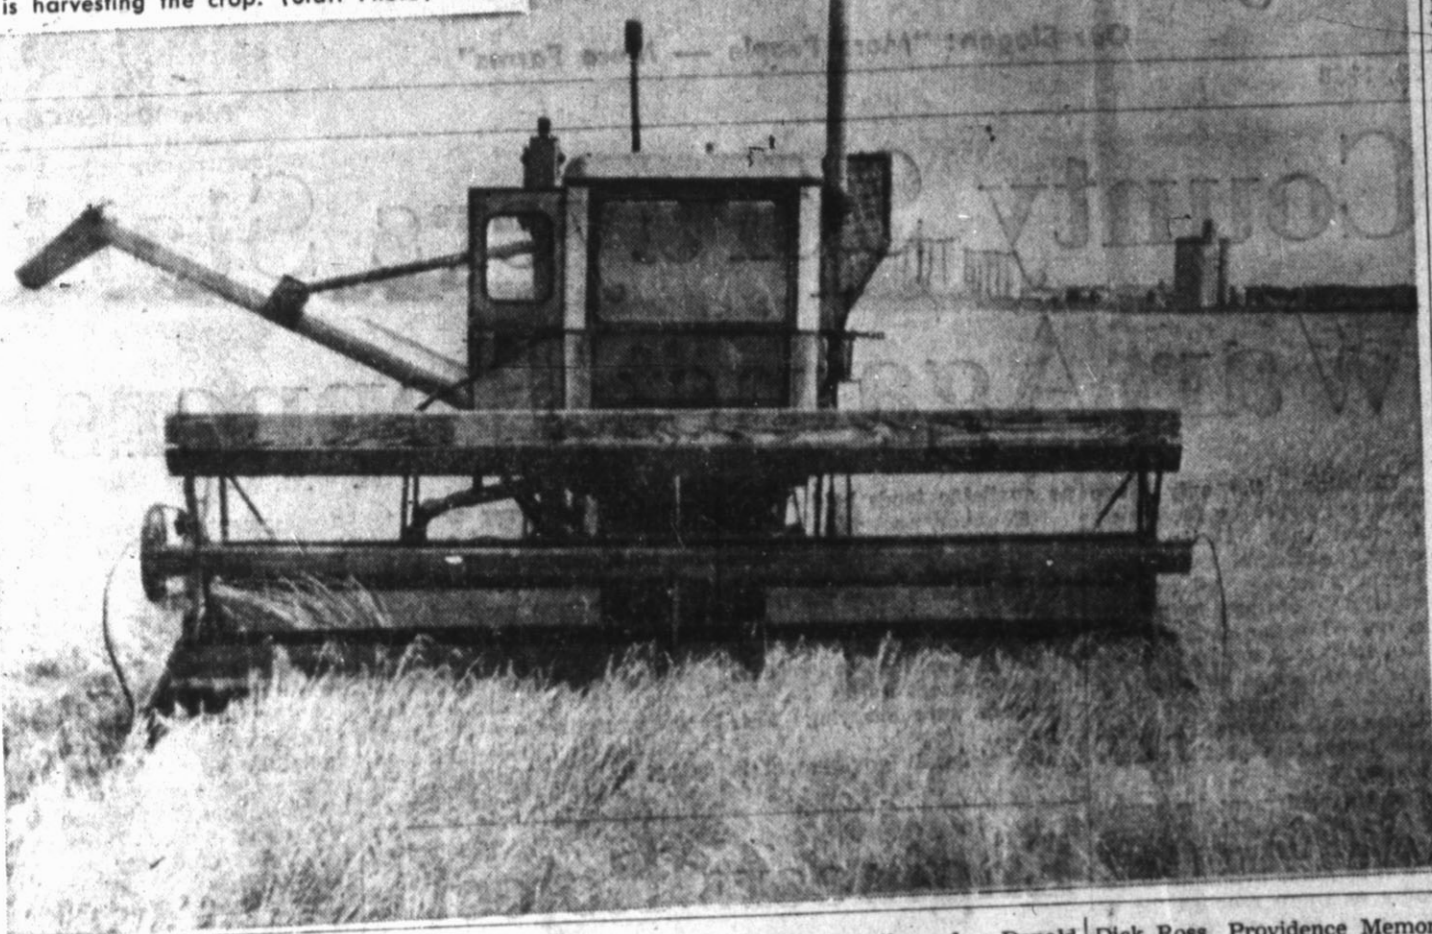

Joe Reimauer said Humble holds a 9,200 acre block of leases on the Reimauer Bros. property and has had it leased since 1950.

A spokesman for Humble was quoted as saying "the geology looks favorable" for oil on the Reimauer location.

areas yet, the migration from infested areas will result in the deposit of millions of eggs in relatively 'free' counties. Next year, the emergency of hoppers from these eggs could reach drastic proportions."

White explained that highway right-of-ways and field endrows are favorite depositories for hopper eggs. Spraying certain insecticides leaves a residue that will be effective against next year's 'crop' of hoppers, as well as keep down the current infestation.

Some 38 men of the Texas Dept. of Agriculture have been sent into the Panhandle to aid in the program on an emergency basis.

Nineteen new counties urged by White to join in the program were Deaf Smith, Lipscomb, Roberts, Hemphill, Odham, Potter, Carson, Gray, Wheeler, Randall, Armstrong, Donley, Collingsworth, Parmer, Castro, Swisher, Brisco, Hall and Childress.

Almost all of these counties have joined since the request was issued, according to authorities.

Highway spraying is already being conducted in Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, Ochiltree, Hartley, Moore and Hutchinson counties.

AGENT THOMAS said earlier this week the roadways were needing spraying more than any place else in the county, as most of the farmers who have expensive crops planted have already sprayed at least once, and some many times.

A meeting was held Tuesday evening of local farmers, chemical suppliers and aerial sprayers. From the meeting a committee was formed to work with the county commission and agent. They were Bill Waldrop, Frank Bezner and Raymond Higginbotham.

Two county commissioners,

Charley Sowell and Donald Hicks, Monday attended a meeting in Dumas where Gov. Price Daniel heard first-hand reports on the need of cooperative spraying financing.

Harry Schultz, 69th District Court judge, will be in Hereford Monday along with District Attorney Frank McCown. The judge will hear several cases.

The home economics department of Hereford High School will hold its summer Achievement Day Thursday in the high school auditorium. Approximately 95 home ec students and their mothers are expected to attend. Summer projects will be exhibited.

A style show will be sponsored by the Frio Homemakers Club at the Frio community building Friday at 8:30 p.m. Members will model clothes they have made. Admission will be 10 and 25 cents.

Tigers Turn Giant Killers

The cellar-dwelling Tigers, apparently tired of being kicked around, handed the first-place Indians their first defeat Thursday night, beating them in a close, extra inning game, 4-3.

It was a run in the eighth that brought the Tigers their first victory of the year. They had got off to a good start by scoring three big runs in the second inning.

The Mack Hale went all the way for the Tigers and gave the Indians only six scattered hits. The Indians used two pitchers, Bill Steele and Jim Haney. Haney was the loser.

The Indians had won six straight games before Thursday night's loss. They scored one run in the second, one in the third and another in the seventh. Going into the last of the eighth they trailed by one run and that's the way it ended.

In Friday night's play, the second-place Red Sox and the third-place White Sox battled in a slugfest that finally saw the Red Sox win, 12-10. The win moved the Red Sox closer to the Indians but dropped the White Sox into a tie with the last place Tigers.

It was the steady scoring that won it for the Red Sox. They scored in every inning except the fifth. Winning pitcher was Gary Kendrick, loser was Ron-

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I make a lotion that is an astringent?

A. For oily nose or skin, use this lotion: Alum, 35 grains; rosewater, three ounces; thick almond milk, six drams. Dissolve the alum in the rosewater and pour the mixture slowly into the almond milk, beating it constantly with a silver fork; apply several times daily with a soft cloth.

Q. How can I prevent yellowing of white garments?

A. It is claimed that a white garment will not become yellow if a little kerosene (inflammable) is added to the washing water.

Q. How can I test dye to see if it is a fast color?

A. Dampen a small piece of the dyed cloth and then rub it on a piece of clean white paper. If it leaves no stain, the dye is fast.

Q. How much cocoa must be used when it is being substituted for chocolate?

A. If one wishes to substitute cocoa for chocolate, it is well to remember that three tablespoons of cocoa are equal to one square of chocolate. And a little more butter must be added, as the cocoa is not so rich as the chocolate.

Q. How can I make a mouth wash?

A. By mixing 20 drops of tincture of myrrh in 40 tablespoons of water. This solution is both healing and cleansing.

Q. How can I smooth soft custard that has curdled?

A. Set it in a pan of iced water and whip with an egg beater. It will become smooth.

Q. How can I shrink thread that is to be used for drawn work?

A. This can be easily done by placing the spool of thread in a vessel of boiling water for about an hour. It will not destroy the gloss.

Q. How can I stop the bleeding of a cut?

A. It is claimed that a bleeding wound can sometimes be checked by applying very hot water, as hot as can be borne.

Q. What is the best way to wash rugs?

A. Do not wring them after washing. Hang them on the line and play the hose on them to dry. Then let them drip and dry.

Q. How can I make the whites of eggs beat quickly?

A. Add a little salt to the whites of the eggs when beating, and it will make them froth quickly.

Q. How can I clean a clogged sink?

A. A strong solution of copperas water poured down the drain pipe of the sink will open it.

Young Twins Flying Pupils

KERRVILLE (AP)—Ten-year-old twin boys are among the prize pupils of Bill Sieker, flying instructor and owner of Kerrville Flying Service.

"They're not afraid to do what you tell them," Sieker said of fifth-graders Roger and Harley Hollan, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hollan, owners of the Lazy H Guest Ranch.

The law won't allow the twins to solo until they are 16. But Hollan wants them to be ready.

The twins are observant. Before their lessons began Sieker gave them a plane ride from the Kerrville airport to the Hollan ranch. On the third lesson, Roger guided the plane directly to the ranch. Sieker asked how he knew what to do.

"I noticed when you took us before, that the compass reading was 300 degrees," Roger replied, "so I just flew a 300 degree course."

Sieker, an Air Force instructor before becoming airport manager here, says they are the youngest flying students he has ever worked with except his own sons. But the sons, now 9 and 13 years old did not get formal instruction. Urging an early start on flying lessons, Sieker said grown-ups often are apprehensive and "reluctant to follow instructions."

He said younger students learn more quickly, and when the time comes for them to solo, they've already had a lot of flying experience.

HOME COMING SLATED

The annual homecoming of the Sunnyside Community of Castro County will be held Friday, July 4, at the Sunnyside community building. Drinks will be furnished by the community, and everyone planning to attend is asked to bring a picnic lunch.

All the residents and former residents of the community are urged to attend.

Parsley will be much easier to cut if it is washed in hot water, instead of cold.

Household Scrapbook

Complexion Mist
Buttermilk, taken internally and also used as a cleansing agent, will aid materially in clearing the complexion. The skin which has become dry from the combined effects of seawater and the sun, should be washed several times a day with buttermilk.

Old Potatoes
When boiling old potatoes, if a teaspoonful of vinegar is added to the water, it will prevent the potatoes, in spite of their age, from turning black.

The Hands
Drop a little lemon juice into the palms of the hands while they are still moist after dishwashing, rubbing them well, and it will keep the hands soft and white.

Finger Joints
Rub the stiffened joints with a preparation of camphor gum dissolved in olive oil three or four times daily. The rubbing, as well as the oil, will help to soften the bony formation around the joints.

Buttermilk
Buttermilk is considered one of the best cosmetics known. Apply it to the face and hands. The milk may be warmed, but should not be boiled.

Cake Batter
Do not let the cake batter stand after it has been mixed, as this causes air bubbles to form, making the cake coarse-grained.

Satin
Satin material can be renovated by rubbing over the soiled parts with a cake composed of magnesia and prepared chalk. Follow the grain of the goods, and allow to remain for several hours, then rub off with a soft cloth.

Cottons
You can prevent the colors in cleaning fluid used in cleaning clothes add a few drops of oil of sassafras. The fluid will be deodorized, and there will be no disagreeable smell emanating from the garment after the cleaning.

Yankees Remain On Unbeaten Path

Danny Cates and S. D. Baize combined their righthanded dealings and spun a neat four-hitter Friday night as the yet-to-be Yankees blanked the winless Giants, 6-0.

The Yankees now maintain a 2-0 second-half record. Cates, the starter, and Baize, who came on in the fourth, had the Giants handcuffed the entire night. Wayne Hastings and Ronnie Northcutt starred as hitters. Both collected two hits in three trips to the plate.

The loss pushed the Giants further into the cellar with a 0-4 record. The Cardinals played their first game in two weeks Thursday night and topped the Dodgers in a scoring bout, 12-9.

Because of the bad weather, the Cards had been idle the previous two weeks. The win over the Dodgers put them in a first-place tie with the Yankees. The Cards trailed only once, 7-2 going into the last of the second. It wasn't for long, however, because the Cardinals rattled across six runs in that same inning and never were in trouble again.

Frank Cain, Steve Conway, Mike Ferguson and Henry Galvan all collected two hits to lead the hit parade.

In minor league action, the Cardinals stopped the Dodgers, 8-7 and the Giants blasted the Yankees, 21-4.

Raymond Guion, Hollywood changed it when he went into his first film, "Personal Maid" opposite Nancy Carroll.

Columbus' first landing in the New World was on one of the Bahama Islands.

Heat causes baking powder to generate bubbles which makes baked products swell or "rise."

REAL LIFE BASE FOR 'FAIR GAME'

NEW YORK (AP)—The new Broadway play "Fair Game," its author admits, was based on the true life adventures of a Chicago divorcee.

Sam Locke says he became intrigued with dramatic possibilities when he met the woman when she came here to study for a college degree. Locke told her that her skill in handling romantic males should make a good short story.

"When I said that," Locke adds, "she fired back 'I'll make a play or nothing.' That's how 'Fair Game' came into being."

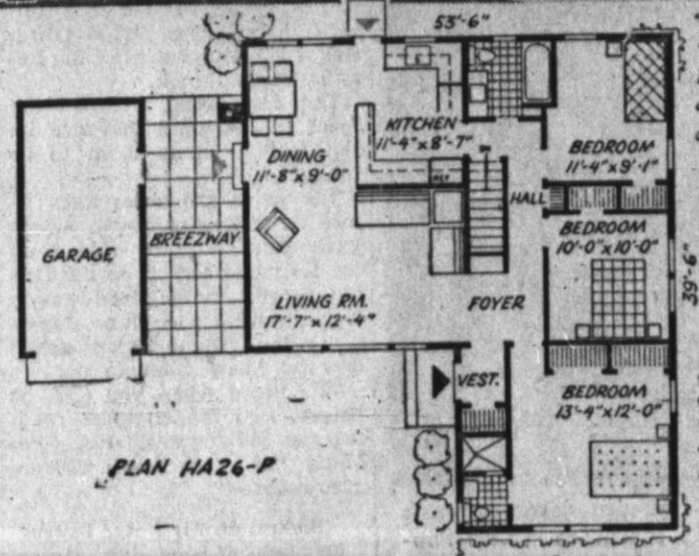

TWO JOBS FOR SINGERS

NEW YORK (AP)—Four young singers are taking time off from regular jobs for a stage debut in "The Music Man," a musical by Meredith Willson.

Known as the Buffalo Bills, the group has won prizes in barbershop quartet contests. Hailing from Buffalo, N. Y., they are Al Shea, a member of that city's police force; Vern Reed, engineering salesman; Scotty Ward, salesman for a machinery supply house; and Bill Spangenberg, truck driver.

Bagpipe music is produced by collecting air in a leather bag and forcibly pressing it into a tube.

Miss Hall successfully answered $54,000 worth of questions about Shakespeare on a television show between performances in "Ziegfeld Follies" last spring. In the musical she just paraded about the stage and never said a word.
In "One Foot in the Door," she appears in the supporting cast for star June Haver. The play arrives on Broadway Dec. 1.

Nancy Godwin, Mr. McDowell Wed in Presbyterian Church

Mrs. James Parsons McDowell, formerly Miss Nancy Lysle Godwin. (Ray Wagner Photo)

Miss Nancy Lysle Godwin and James Parsons McDowell were united in a double-ring ceremony at 3 p.m. Saturday in the First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Alby Cockrell, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Godwin and Mr. and Mrs. Ansel McDowell Sr.

FLOOR-LENGTH folds of white satin draped the altar centered with a bronze cross. Woodwardia fern and palms formed a background for a tall crystal chandelier holding white tapers and floor standards of pink gladioli and white peonies with candle bars holding cathedral tapers. The white satin kneeling bench flanked by fan shaped arrangements of white peonies and gladioli on colonial columns framed the immediate nuptial space. Colonial standards and silk roping marked the bridal aisle.

Mrs. Marie Godwin of Vega, grandmother of the bride, organist, played a prelude of nuptial selections and accompanied Mrs. Bill Tolbert of Vega who sang "At Dawning" (Berhart), "All For You" (Bertrand-Brown) and "The Wedding Prayer" by Dunlap. She played Clair De Lune softly as vows were spoken and the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin as the wedding party entered the church with Mendelssohn's Wedding March used as the recessional.

Miss Dorothy Williams was maid of honor and Glenna Gault, Joan Brown, Betty Ferguson and Charlotte Moore were bridesmaids.

The honor maid wore a pink sheath of silk organza over taffeta with matching pink headband, and the bridesmaids wore aqua sheaths fashioned identical to that worn by the honor maid. They wore matching headbands and all carried mirrored wedding rings holding slender cascades of pink Delight roses tied with streamers of azalea pink ribbon.

Becky Godwin, sister of the bride, and Marian McDowell, niece of the bridegroom, served as flower girls. They wore identical pink organza frocks with pinpoints effect and white picture hats. Each wore a wristlet of satin and lace.

Candle lighters were Dick Hale of Vega, cousin of the bride, and Dan McDowell, brother of the bridegroom.

Dr. Ansel McDowell Jr. of Bakersfield, Calif., was his brother's best man and ushering were Carl Zimmerman, Robert Kinsey of Portales, N. M., Pat Ferguson and Ron Zimmerman.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE by her father, the bride wore a traditional gown of Alencon lace and tulle over satin. A scoop neckline was complemented with embroidery of pearl beads and long fitted sleeves came to points at the hands. From a slightly elongated bodice accented with crystal pleated ruffle panels in the front and in the back, swept into a cathedral train. Her tiered veil of French illusion fell from a tiara made of seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of white Butterfly roses and stephanotis centered with a white Cartleya orchid. She also carried her great grandmothers wedding band.

The bride's mother wore an ice blue lace dress with silk organza overskirt. She used matching accessories and wore a white cymbidium orchid.

REMEMBER WHEN?

By CHARLIE SEEDS
It began on a Thursday morning in October. For several days before, there had been heavy selling and severe losses in the stock market. But on the morning of October 24th, the bottom dropped out of the market. Panicky crowds gathered outside of the dignified Stock Exchange Building in New York, on famed Wall Street, that morning. The big bankers of the nation came to the rescue of the market that day, and the avalanche of selling was temporarily stopped. Over the weekend there was frantic debate, a mixture of fear and the hope that the nation's financial giants would be able to lead the market to recovery. On Tuesday morning, all hope died. This was the day of the great liquidation, the famous 16-million share day. On this day the October "bear market" came to its disastrous climax. This was the beginning of an era which America will never forget. Remember the year? A lot of Americans gambled that year — and lost. But strangely enough, when a man bought a car in those days, he figured he couldn't afford to gamble. He shopped for the car that was the best buy — and the dealer who would give him greater savings.

The year was 1929. A lot of Americans this year have discovered that the new 1958 FORD is today's best buy, for beauty, value and performance. And you'll discover your "best buy" on a new 1958 FORD when you check our deal, at Charlie Seeds Motor Co., Inc. 149 E. Second. Phone EM 4-2727.

Monday Rain Halts Harvest

By Christine Fortenberry
Harvest began in full-swing Saturday and Monday, but Monday afternoon brought a about showers which stopped cutting for several days. From 1 1/4 to 1.00 to 2 1/2 inches were received at different places. Harvesting and hauling wheat cut down the attendance at Sunday School and Church to only 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Rogers and children and Mrs. Rogers' sister, Mrs. Muri Brown of Amarillo, spent Saturday night and Sunday near Hart visiting with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Higgins and Clifford of Hereford visited Sunday in the J. G. Fortenberry home.

Mrs. C. F. Homfeld also visited Sunday afternoon in the J. G. Fortenberry home.

Mrs. Jim Atkins was the hostess at a Stanley party Wednesday afternoon. Those present were Mesdames Jim Perrin, Bob Northcutt, Charles Hoover, Hill, Batley and the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Rogers of Amarillo were down to visit his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Rogers and family who were in Hart.

The Rev. E. L. Naugle was a visitor in the Jim Perrin home Sunday. Later in the afternoon he visited several other families in the community.

Wheat in this community is making from 10 to 40 bushels per acre, depending on where they get rain last fall.

begin with a personal note to F. S.: Ya might do well to be more keener about the "big-ared little pitchers" around your house when you're telling those off-color stories — particularly those way, way, off-colored ones!

If doth appear, dear F. S., that your "little pitcher" is making quite the sensation by repeating the jokes among the Little Leaguers. And their mamas are beginning to be more than a little concerned.

We all know how "mamas" are, but don't you agree that, all things considered, it would be better to confine the sensationalism to the plays on the ball field?

I WOULD say that Catherine Moore did a sensational job of candy-selling recently.

It seems that somehow or other the order for her garden club's supply of Mrs. Leland's Golden Butter Bits was more than a Butter bit fouled up, and the ladies received a shipment of 288 cans of the candy instead of 144 as planned for. Catherine, feeling very responsible as club president, elected to sell the extra supply herself — all 144 cans — rather than return it. And by golly that's just what she did. Of course, it took some bush-beating and some door-pounding and an A-1 sales pitch didn't it Catherine?

I GUESS there are myriad anecdotes that come outa these Boy Scout Camps — most of them being on the MEN who go. The latest one is on LeRoy Williamson.

LeRoy was feeling rather smug with himself when the rains began to drench the campers — he had thought to put a tarp into his pickup with the other gear. The smug feeling left the instant he got the tarp rigged however. . . of all the tarps on hand, he grabbed up the ONE that was full of holes.

NOT MUCH telling what I could think up now that I've half-way tried, but thinking does take time and energy and I have so little of either today.

I notice where the Army Engineer Corps turned thumbs down on the proposed Hereford dam site, declaring it unfeasible on the basis of flood control. The boys in the news department wanted to write a headline as follows:

"U. S. ENGINEERS DON'T GIVE A DAM FOR HEREFORD"

but I finally managed to talk them out of it. When you boil it all down, the survey is probably accurate, and correct.

The reason most of us want a dam is for recreational purposes, such as boating and fishing for the youngsters. If we had applied on this basis and been turned down, I would be mad. As things stand, however, we keep on fussing about the government spending so much money foolishly, and then get upset because they won't "look the other way" and build us a dam on the basis of flood control.

All of us know that we get more direct returns from our local tax money than from any other taxes we pay. If we really want or need a dam, let's call a spade a spade. Let's build a county dam, then we can run it like we want. Certainly, it can be built for 25-cents on the dollar compared with federal costs and, regardless of what level the taxes are collected, we are going to pay for it anyway.

What's more, this deal works both ways. A lot of people might not even want a local dam. At least, two or three would have to figure out some different type excuse to get away from town.

Members of the Hereford School Board got quite a chuckle recently when they were checking expense accounts and ran across the following entry: "One cake from Hereford Bakery for use in the Home Economics Department."

Mrs. John McLean, Brand Society editor, says that there have been more local weddings in June, 1958, than any month she can remember. Mrs. McLean, incidentally, holds the record of being with The Brand 22 years this August — longer than any other person on the staff. She was doing society when I came to Hereford in 1937 — and has missed very few issues since that time. All through the years, the Brand society page has been outstanding in comparison with other Panhandle papers. Its consistent quality has contributed greatly toward the large display of plaques and cups which are on display in the lobby of the office.

She has probably described enough white gowns and going-away-suits to fill Macy's stockrooms for a rush season. Nowadays, she occasionally writes up the wedding of a bride who is the daughter of a previous bride, whose wedding was also handled by Mrs. McLean. No doubt, she has seen a lot of style changes down through the years — and I don't know of any society editor who has recorded community events more accurately or efficiently than "Mrs. Mac."

J. C. Simpson, who now lives at Hamlin, was visiting here this week and dropped in to complain about not getting his funny papers. Truth is, we do not send comics outside of the Hereford trade area, chiefly because it would run the cost up sharply — and we think the outside subscribers would rather have the savings.

Mrs. Phil Radovich also popped in to tell me that her granddaughter is now five weeks old; the young lady's name is Jessica Liann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dishman of Dallas. Jessie still is spry and chipper. If she hadn't insisted, I would never have believed her old enough to have two grandchildren.

ECONOMY IS GOOD, but it also has its drawbacks, according to a Hereford man who was telling me that his teenage daughter has a deal whereby she buys the groceries for the week — end gets to keep the difference she saves. It is working out fine, except the mother is limited to one coke per day, no cigarettes and the other evening, when pop started to take a second helping of meat, he got his hand gently slapped. I had to promise not to use any names, but I can sure understand how it would happen. The man says:

DIRTY, BUT GLAD is Joe Evans, above, who got a good soaking in crude oil when they swabbed and tested LaMance No. 1, west of town. Joe ruined a new hat, shirt, slacks and almost new shoes, when the county's first crude swirled out and caught him unawares—but didn't seem to mind one bit.

"We figured it would be good training for our daughter but, so far, my wife and I seem to have been learning all of the lessons."

Joe Evans, pictured above, used to operate a ranch in the vicinity of the LaMance test well which had the oil showing this week. Joe says when he lived there he dreamed on two different nights that a flowing well had been brought in on a ered with the first oil produced in Deaf Smith County.

Several people have been wanting to know who ran the political ad last Sunday entitled, "Who Did What to the Electric Coops of Texas?" The space was ordered and billed to Tom Draper. By law, it should have been so marked — and is definitely a matter of public record. Any time you see a political ad, you have the right to request the name of the person who inserted it.

Oris Miller of Sweetwater was in this week talking about the "Krazy Daze" they pulled off down there. He says everyone really loved it. Similar reports are drifting in from Tucumcari, where it was held a month or so ago. Folks like the big bargains, first, and they seem to get a real bang out of the crazy garb the clerks and merchants wear. Oris is a printer on the Sweetwater paper and was here visiting his brother, Clyde Miller, chief cook and bottle washer in the Ink Spot printing department. Printers don't usually get very excited, except on pay day, but Oris was really enthused over Krazy Days.

NEW TEXAS STORY — An Easterner, visiting the Lone Star State for the first time, walked into a restaurant, sat down and ordered "A Texas-size cup of coffee." The waitress, thinking to go along with the gag, gave him one of those special giant size cups which hold about one-half gallon. When the customer asked for a roll, she brought out an entire coffee cake.

The man sat drinking away for some 15 minutes, then asked for the location of the rest

Telephone Use Subject at Meet

"How to Use a Telephone" was the subject of the program at the meeting of the Sadie Lee Oliver 4-H Club Thursday, June 12, in the Westway Community house.

During the business meeting, it was decided the club would not have the 4-H workshop as planned. Plans were made for a recreational trip, but a definite time or place was not set.

Nancy Green, member of the club, was attending 4-H Round-Up at Texas A. & M. College. Refreshments of cookies and punch were served to the Home Demonstration Club by the 4-H club girls.

room. He was told to go down a long hall, then turn to his right. A bit coffee-logged, the visitor made a mistake and turned to the left, stepped out of the door and splashed into a large swimming pool.

"Help! Help!" shouted the Easterner — and for goodness sake, don't flush it! There's someone in the tank."

Three Law Enforcement Agencies Serve Hereford

By DAVID STOKER

THE LAW enforcement officer is continually serving law and order, keeping our homes and loved ones from danger. In Hereford there are three law enforcement agencies always on duty. There are the City Police Department, the Sheriff's Department and the State Highway Patrol.

The City Police Department, located in City Hall, is headed by Chief Henry Aycock. Under him are 13 employees, including three school patrolmen who work only when school is in session. He has five police officers, Sgt. Leon Atchley, Eugene Martin, C. L. Lynch, Roy Bevers and Eugene Taylor.

Larue Harris is the department's parking meter attendant. Virginia Cowan, secretary, and Stanley Vinson and Ethel Logan, dispatchers, complete the staff.

Presently the department is lacking one officer and Aycock is looking for "an able man." "It's hard to find a capable man," he says, "because the pay an officer gets is not too attractive."

Aycock admits that the department sometimes gets dishonest officers. "We have to clean our own laundry of course," he says, "but it's hard to find a man who is tops because of the salary." The department has jurisdiction over the city only, but they also aid in other cases that might extend from their jurisdiction.

"Our function," says Aycock, "is to enforce the laws of the Constitution, the federal laws, the laws of the state and the ordinances of the city of Hereford."

As one enters the police department at the city hall, there is a display of the various kinds of weapons which have been taken from people in the city, knives of different lengths, clubs, whips and even a bicycle chain.

"Most of the people in Hereford are unaware that they sometimes walk the streets and rub elbows with guys carrying those kind of weapons," the chief says.

When a person is arrested by the department, he is immediately photographed, fingerprinted and a written report is made of him. These records are sent to the headquarters in Austin and to the FBI in Washington in order to maybe find more on the person. The sheriff's office works the same way.

"I'm a man that believes in records," Aycock says. "Many a dangerous criminal escapes every day because such records are not kept in other cities. I feel that by keeping such records we aid greatly in cleaning our society."

According to the chief, the department's biggest problem is traffic accidents. "We had 190 accidents last year, costing over $40,000." He says they also have a lot of trouble with drunkenness. "We pick guys up that have even been drinking after shave lotion."

In each of the department's patrol cars there are two radios, one with a closed frequency for local calls and one with an open frequency to communicate with the sheriff's department and the Highway Patrol. The department also has three walkie talkies.

The sheriff's department is located in the county court house and is headed by Charles Skelton. This department has jurisdiction over the entire county. It's main duty is to enforce state laws, and to assist in the city's traffic accidents.

"WE COVER everything from simple drunks to murder," Sheriff Skelton says.

Skelton says that one of the biggest problems is hot check writing and drunk arrest. "We have a great number of drunk arrest but they are seasonal. Transit drivers come in and bootlegging picks up." He says they also have a great number of child desertion cases.

The sheriff has five employees under him. They are deputies Bill McCarver and L. R. Cheryomes; Mrs. Florence Robinson, secretary and dispatcher; and two part-time deputies, Clay Angelo and Domingo Pesina. The department is equipped with two cars with two-way radios. It has one walkie talkie. Each car carries a shot gun and a rifle.

Also the sheriff plays a vital role in the selection of jurors. He sends letters to the qualified persons notifying them to report for jury selection.

The Highway Patrol also is located in the court house and is run by Sgt. Dan Duggan.

This department is under the Texas Department of Public Safety at Austin.

Its general function is to supervise traffic on rural highways and to enforce criminal laws. Duggan has six patrolmen working in nine counties. They are R. W. Brown, Kenneth Maxwell, R. L. Maxwell, G. B. Ray, Don Tabor and Harold Wheller.

Their cars are equipped with two radios, one for local use and one for state use. The cars also carry two guns, usually a shot gun and an automatic rifle.

"We are very short of employees, and we are looking for men all the time. I believe the Patrol offers a man a good living. It is something a young man should look into," Duggan says.

There is a lot more to being a law enforcement officer than many people believe. It is more than issuing tickets and giving warnings. It means missing Christmas and other holidays. It means watching killings, suicides and all sorts of filth. It means keeping our cities safe at night so we can sleep without fear.

Mrs. Wilmer Studer

Miss Stalcup, Wilmer Studer Are Married in Dimmitt Church

In a double ring service read June 10, Miss Shirley Stalcup daughter of Mrs. Henry Stalcup 705 Lee, Hereford, and the late Mr. Stalcup, became the bride of Wilmer Lee Studer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Studer, 306 5th, in the Dimmitt Church of Christ, with D. C. Lawrence, minister, performing the ceremony before an altar decorated with arched candelabra's holding white tapers and floor standards of white gladioli and stocks and banked with emerald palms, which was defined by colonial columns at either side. The aisle was marked with white satin ribbon on pew markers.

Traditional wedding music was by the Church Chorus, under the direction of Faywayne Murphy, who sang, "Because" and "I Love You Truly." Accompanied by the chorus Mr. Murphy sang "The Lords Prayer."

Mrs. Troy Stafford of Lockney was matron of honor, and Miss Nancy Neumayer as maid of honor. Misses Nelda Bagwell, Karen Bell and Gail Cooper were bridesmaids. Judith Cleavenger and Sue Bagwell were candlelighters. They wore identical waltz-length dresses of party green taffeta and lace with bateau necklines and full skirts with matching hats and shoes. Each attendant carried a fan-shaped nose-gay of pink carrol smiling roses.

Janice Killough, niece of the bride, was flower girl, and was dressed identically to the other attendants. She carried a white satin basket filled with rose petals. Richard Stalcup, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Best man was Edmond Hunter, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Jeff Sperry, Leon Crum, Don Johnston, Charles Minchew, Bobby Bradley and Jay Mullins of Turkey, were groomsmen, and also served as ushers.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle Ray G. Cowser of Hereford, wore a original gown, model of imported chantilly lace and tulle over net and satin. Fashioned with a Sabrina neckline edged in escalloped lace, the molded bodice had long sleeves ending in points over the hands. The floor-length skirt of gathered tulle was bandied with swathe of escalloped lace, enchaned with scattered appliques of lace embroidered with iridescent sequins. Her finger-tip veil of illusion was joined to a plateau-type cap of tulle embroidered with pearls and iridescent sequins. She wore a single strand of pearls belonging to her mother, and the traditional blue garter. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid surrounded by a garland of white Frenched carnations and streamers of white satin and net.

Mrs. Stalcup, mother of the bride, chose a pink lace dress for her daughters wedding. She wore matching accessories and a corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Studer, mother of the bridegroom, chose a grey lace dress over pink with white accessories. Her corsage was the same as Mrs. Stalcup's.

The reception which followed immediately was at the home of the bride. Miss Nelda Bagwell and Karen Bell presided at the brides table, which was laid with a floor length cloth of white embroidered nylon over green, and centering the table was a five branched candelabra eperque holding green tapers and cascades of tiny pink rose buds and white baby breath. White gladioli and small mums were used throughout the entertaining rooms.

Mrs. Bob Killough, sister of the bride, registered the guests. For the wedding trip to Ruidoso and Cloudcroft, N. M., the bride chose a blue linen suit with white accessories, her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The couple are 1957 graduates of Dimmitt High School. Mrs. Studer is employed at the First State Bank and Studer is with his father in construction work. They will make their home in Dimmitt.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Ray G. Cowser and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morton from Hereford, Mrs. D. M. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Griffith, Mrs. Clarence Stalcup, Vickie Albert, Ronnie and Richard all of Plainview Mrs. A. T. Owens, Mike and Mary Jean, Mrs. Lela Simpson and Mrs. L. D. Brock from Amarillo.

Mrs. Stilla Baker, Mrs. Frank Gonzolas of Robinette, Brenda and David of Lubbock, Mrs. Floyd Rogers, Mrs. James Harris of Wichita Falls, Miss Neva Hogte, Donna Hogue, Ann Studer and Mrs. Betty Gidon and

Club Holds Last Summer Meeting

The South Hereford Home Demonstration Club held its last meeting for the summer Tuesday, June 17, in the home of Mrs. J. W. Hacker.

In the absence of Mrs. Argen Draper, County Home Demonstration Agent, Mrs. W. H. Goettsch presented the program on "Lines and Designs in Clothing." She said that the ability to make the more pleasant contribution to one's own satisfaction and to that of other's is neither a gift nor an accident. It results from recognition that dress design, like any other design, is an orderly arrangement of lines, shape or form and color. Fashionable, smartly cut and original designs make becoming lines which stress your good figure or conceal your poor proportions.

The roll call was answered by each member telling why her dress was becoming to her. Mrs. J. W. Hacker reported on a recent trip to Washington, D. C., and showed a dish garden and material for a winter suit she brought back.

Present were Mesdames J. P. Slaton, Clara Shore, Bobby Manning, Ada Hollabough, A. C. Flowers, J. E. Moody, W. H. Goettsch and J. E. Hacker.

Birthday Party For Mrs. Stanford

Bible Ceremony Honors Members

Members of the Young Women's Auxiliary of the Temple Baptist Church met Sunday afternoon, June 15, to honor two members in a white Bible ceremony.

Honored were Miss Pat Dawson, bride elect of Richard Clark and Mrs. Nelson Lee Rutter, formerly Miss Sue Sparks. The candlelight ceremony gave emphasis to the importance of Christian homes and the daily use of God's word as a guide.

Pat Caywood, president of the Auxiliary, gave the initial challenge, which was followed by a solo, "Bless This House," sung by Tawana Thompson, accompanied by De Ann Sparks.

The final challenge and presentation of white Bibles to both the girls was made by the counselor, Mrs. Robert Laceywell.

A prayer of dedication and benediction was led by Mrs. Sam Long.

Following the ceremony, about 20 guests were served refreshments of cake and punch.

The Y. W. A. colors of green and white were carried out in arrangements for the table, presided over by Delores Andrews and Miss Thompson.

Shower Hostesses Are Entertained

Hostesses for the shower given recently to honor Miss Carol Sue Sparks who became the bride of Nelson Rutter Friday, were favored at an informal salad luncheon given by Mrs. M. T. Rutter, assisted by the bride-elect and Cleta Kay Rutter, at the Rutter home, 401 W. Third, Monday.

Guests were seated at one large table carrying out the colors, used by the bride in her wedding, of pink and aqua. Centering the table was an arrangement of pastel summer flowers.

Those attending were Mesdames Frank Brinkman, O. A. Smith, Gerald Wilson, G. P. Owen, M. A. Bettis, John F. Martin, R. N. Yarbro, Walker Freeman, and Brice Glass. Mesdames O. H. Herring and O. G. Hill Sr. were unable to attend.

Research Lab To Hold Open House Today

Open house will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. today at the Deaf Smith Research and Clinical Laboratory, Fourth and Miles.

The $42,500 lab is the center of a long-term research program investigating the medicinal properties of Deaf Smith County foods and water.

INCLUDED in the program which is sponsored jointly by the Deaf Smith Research Foundation and Southwestern Medical School of the University of Texas are the following four phases:

1. To determine if factors in the area's food and water might be brought to bear in other areas and produce faster and more complete bone healing. Dr. C. E. Gregory, associate professor of surgery and head of the department of orthopedic surgery, Southwestern Medical School, will supervise this phase.

2. To study the influence of chemicals that occur naturally in foods and water upon the central nervous system, more especially to try and determine some of the causes of such diseases as epilepsy and mental disturbances. Dr. Kemp Clark, chairman of the division of neurosurgery, Southwestern Medical School, will supervise this project.

3. To study the influence of foods and water on teeth and related problems. Dr. Robert V. Walker, director of oral surgery at Southwestern Medical school, is supervisor.

4. General and basic research dealing with nutrition of laboratory animals and livestock of this area and detailed studies of the chemical composition and nutritional values of feeds and produce grown in this area. Considerable work has been done on this phase and it will include additional programs, all related to the first three phases. Dr. L. E. Barnett of Hereford will head this phase.

THE RECENT completion of the lab has allowed work to start on the neurology phase. Already the lab is receiving 20 samples a week of spinal fluid and blood from Southwestern Medical School. This will continue for three months. The specimens are from persons with various neural disorders and are being analyzed for chemical content.

At the end of the three months, the results of the analyses will be compiled and patterns or trends will be sought. For example, it may be found that epileptics tend to be deficient in magnesium. Local spinal fluids and blood will be used for comparison.

Already it has been established that persons living in this area for 10 years or more have three to four times as much magnesium content in their bones as persons in other areas.

Some of the research will be a continuation rather than a beginning. Dr. Barnett and others have been working on the bone-healing properties of the area for 10 years, and some work has been done on the neurology for five years. Last fall an agreement for the joint program between the research foundation and Southwestern Medical School was made.

The laboratory is set up as a non-profit organization. It will do clinical research on a commercial basis but money derived from the clinical work will go right back into research.

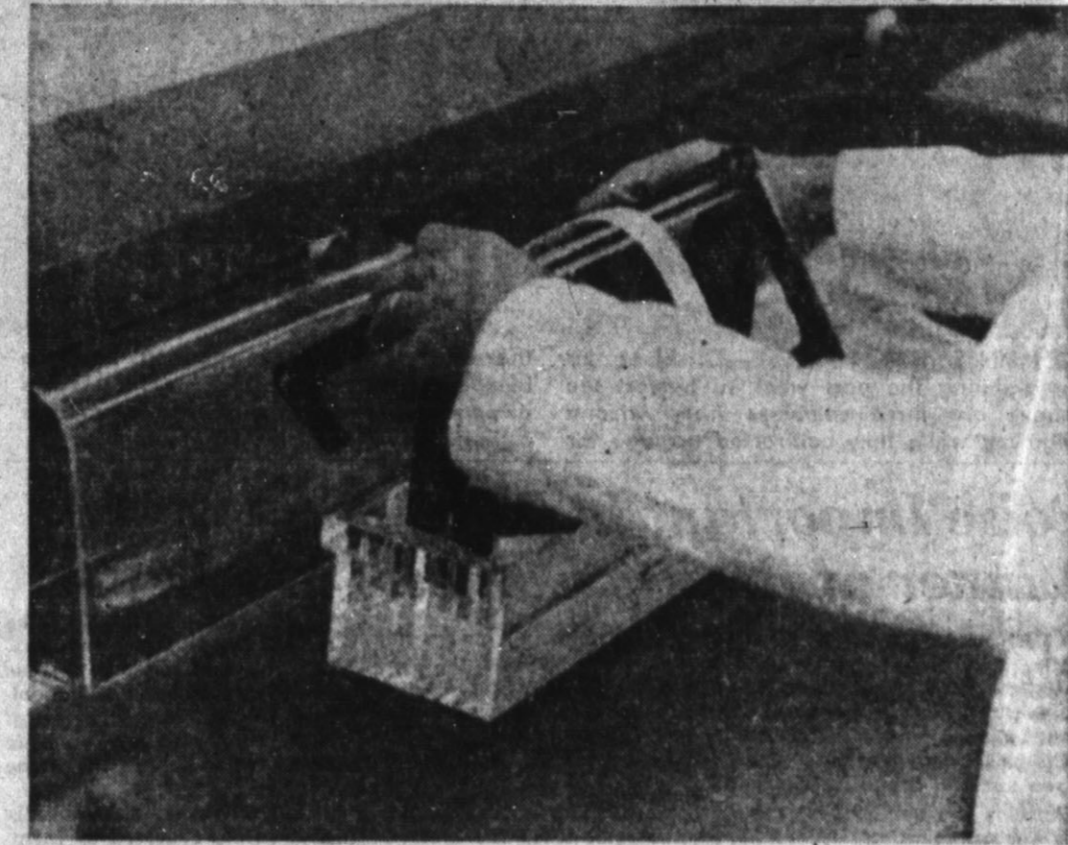

"Doctors all over the Panhandle will be using our facilities," Dr. Barnett said. Some commercial soil analyses also will be done.

THE PRESENT schedule calls for work to continue on neurology and bone-healing and the dental and soil analyses to begin by fall.

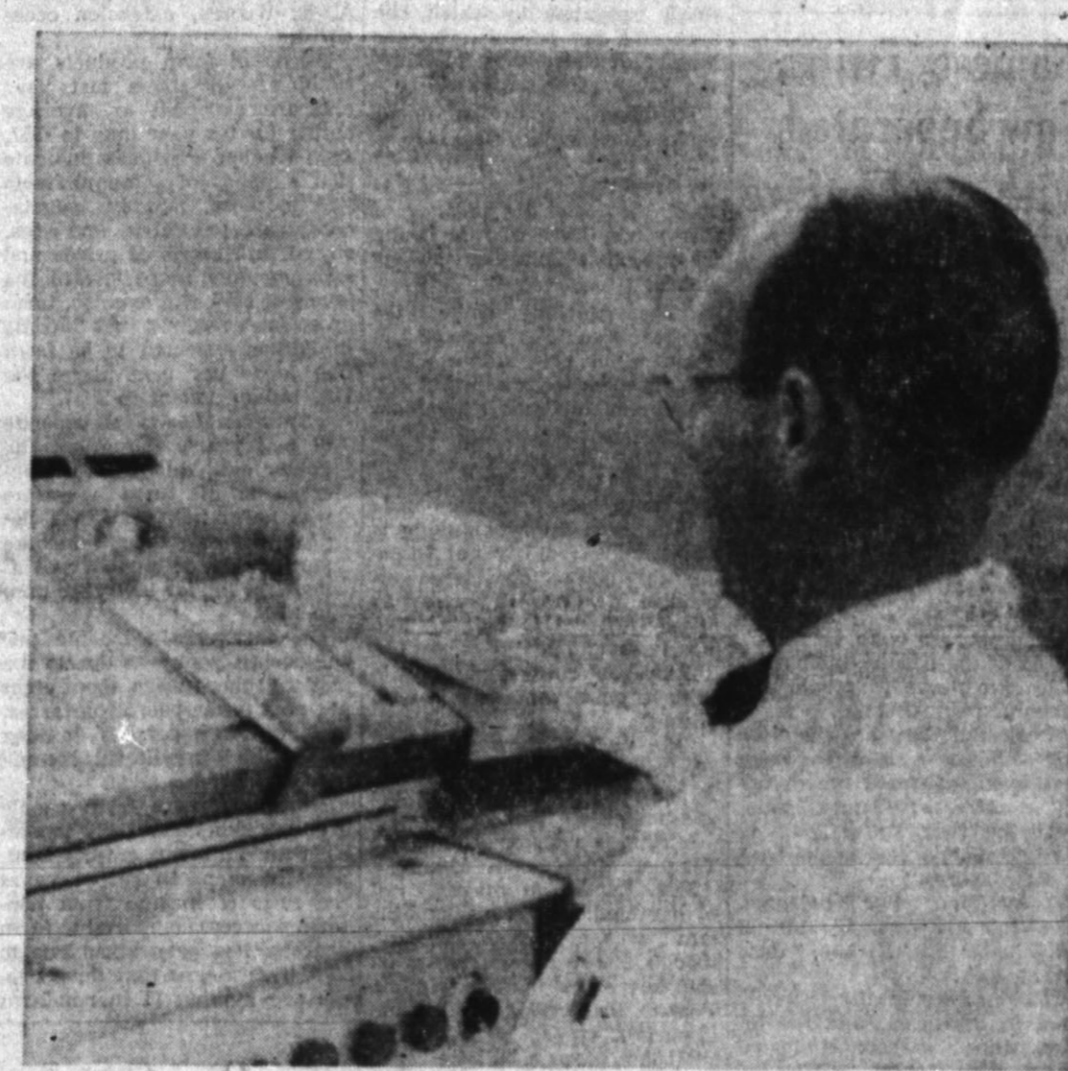

A six man board governs the research lab. It is composed of T. E. Seigler, Deaf Smith County Hospital administrator; Owen Bybee, local attorney; V. O. Hennen, local banker; and Drs. Barnett, A. T. Mims and Millard Nobles.

There is a four-man medical advisory board composed of Drs. Ben Wilson, Charles Gregory, Kemp Clark and Robert Walker, all of Southwestern Medical School, Dallas.

The lab has applied for a $15,000 grant from the U. S. Health, Education and Welfare Board. The HEW decision will be known July 1. Applications for small grants for specific phases of the program have been made to national drug companies.

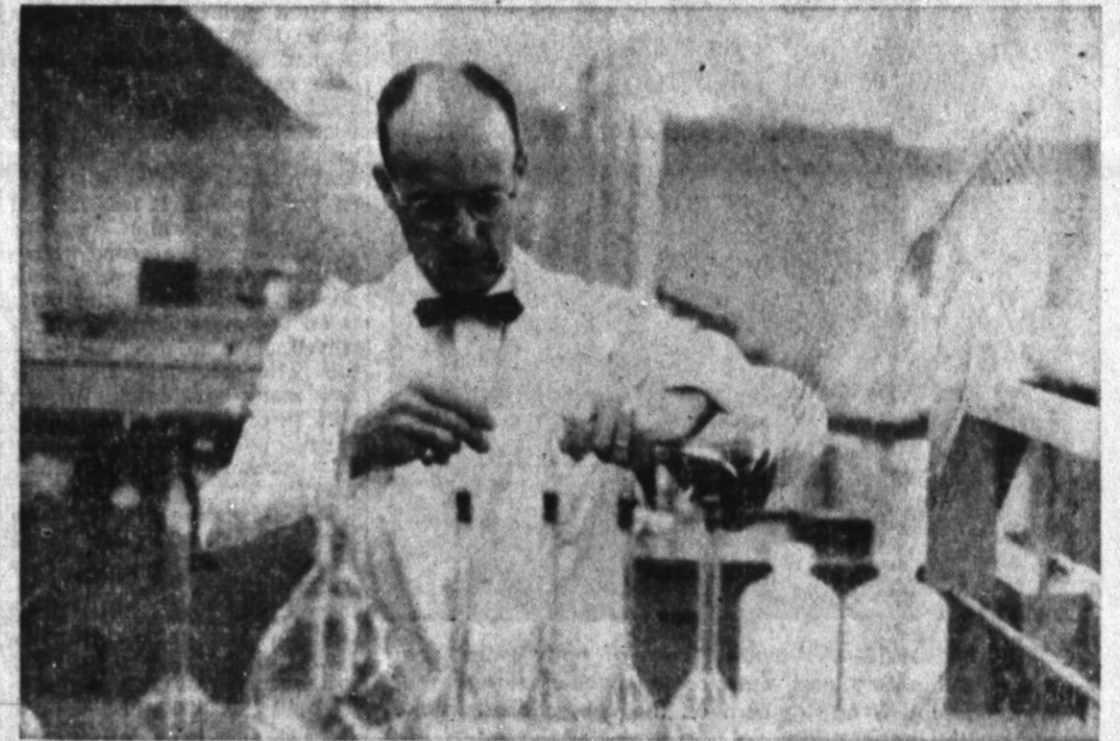

ELECTROPHORESIS machine has many uses, including diagnosis of anaemia. This portion of the machine measures contents of protein elements by breaking them down according to electrical charge and molecular structure.

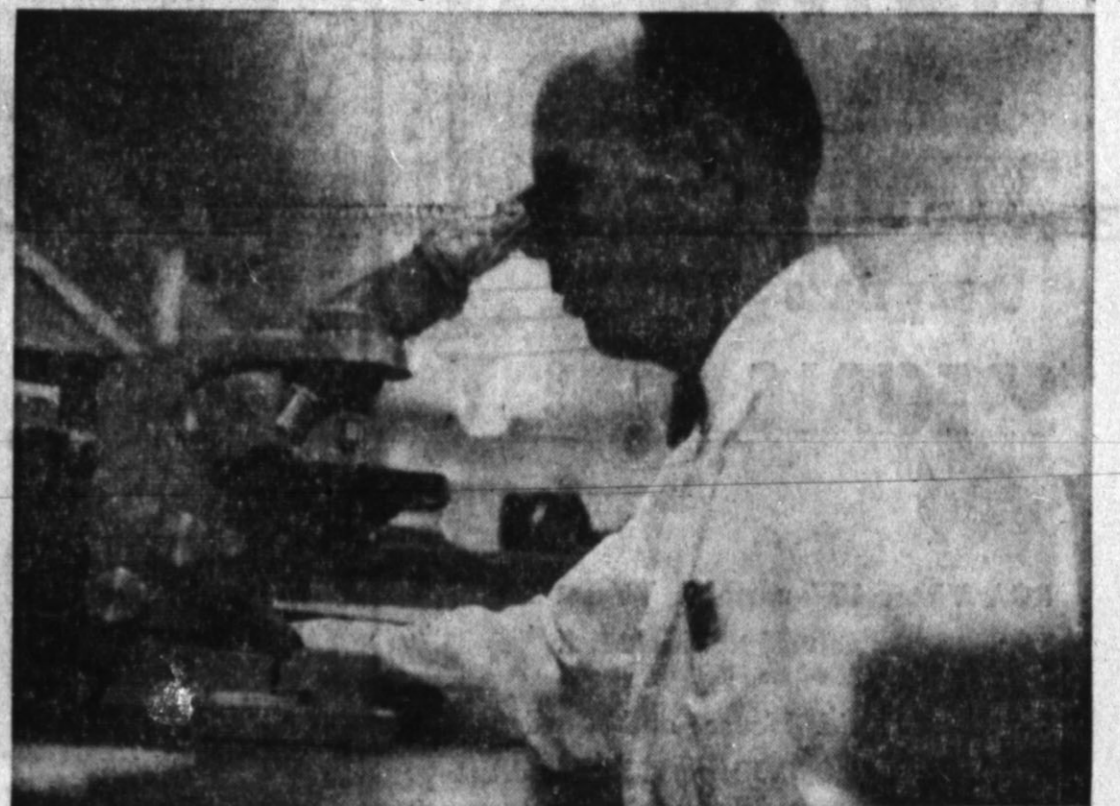

ANALYTICAL—Lab technician O. Z. Golden adjusts the ratio-recording spectrophotometer, a $9,000 machine which measures energy content of various compounds.

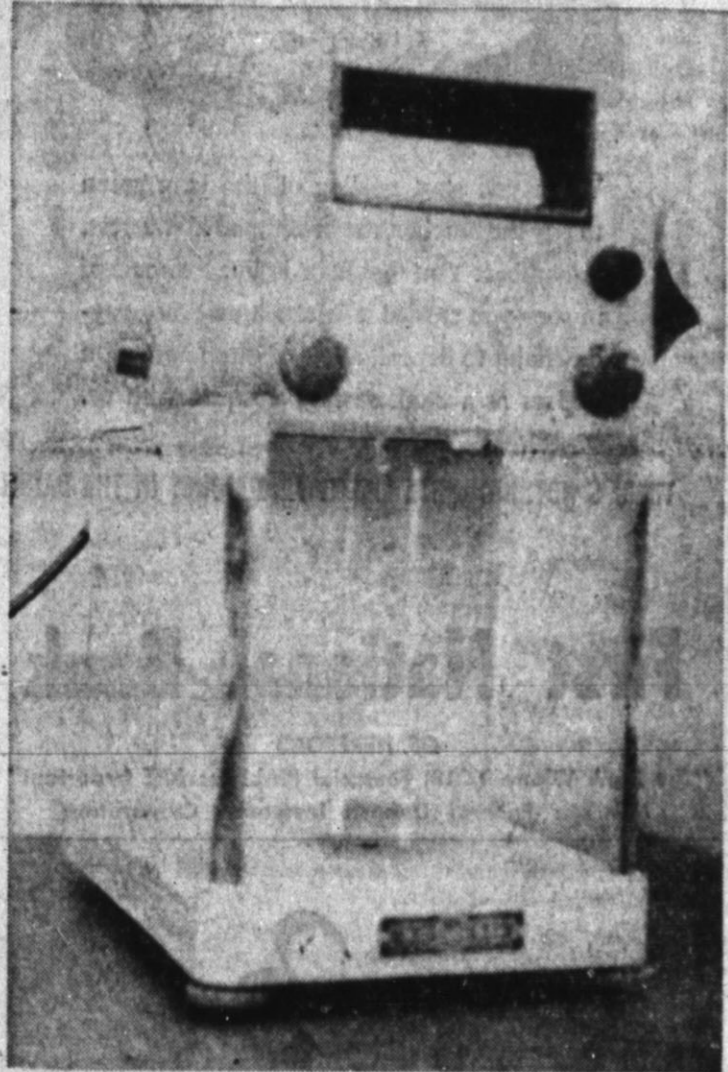

THIS SIGN labels the new laboratory which joins the Hereford Medical and Surgical Clinic at Fourth and Miles.

TEST TUBES are many and varied in the lab. Here O. Z. Golden measures a solution used to diagnose liver damage resulting from long exposure to insecticides.

THREE-POWER microscope can magnify 970 times at its maximum. It also has 430 and 100 power lenses. (Staff Photos)

SENSITIVE SCALE—This new electric scale can measure weights down to one-tenth of a milligram.

OUR AMERICAN HERITAGE

Corn Touches off Nostalgia

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor.

Who wants to rush the season by wearing a straw hat in January or a fur stole in July? But when fresh sweet corn on the cob comes to markets early, it's a different story. America's attachment to the good eating that lies beneath those green wrappers and silky brown tassels is one no other country knows.

Years ago, were corn feeds young of the high spots of your one life? Those were the days when a country house had a summer kitchen. This was an unheated room, lonesome and closed-off in winter, with its dark green blinds pulled down. But when the warm days came there was a great excitement and commotion while it was opened, scrubbed and aired. Then the blinds stayed raised part way — just enough to let in golden flickers of sunlight and keep out waves of heat. It was here untold delights were prepared. Here sat the extra stove, needed for the lengthy old-fashioned summer-vacation visits of hordes of relatives and friends.

In that cool and inviting room, fruit preserves and spicy relishes were simmered and stirred, tasted and tested, to be ladled into glasses and jars. Here a whole fresh salmon was poached in the huge oval-shaped steamer with its outside surface of gleaming copper. And here dozens and dozens of ears of fresh sweet corn were boiled for a wondrous feed.

CORNY BUT NICE—A bountiful crop of early sweet corn offers good eating and a welcome chance to remember when. This lad is having corn on the cob, cooked in the husk on the patio grill.

This event was often scheduled for a Saturday or Sunday when carloads of guests came just for the day — the more mouths to feed the merrier! As the water began to bubble in the copper boiler, all hands shucked the corn. While it turned tender everyone was occupied in setting himself up. This might be in the long dining room or at a picnic table under the trees. Each person made sure he had an ample plate and a case knife. Huge salt shakers, stacks of paper napkins and pounds of butter were ready and waiting.

As a batch of corn was cooked and drained, it was heaped onto a large white ironstone platter. In one second teeth sank into sweet kernels, cobs piled up on another platter. That is all but the children's. Theirs stayed close to their plates — the better to count and boast how many ears eaten. We can still hear our mother say, "Don't gobble, children, chew each mouthful before you swallow!"

These days the chances are a corn feed will take place on the new-fangled patio. Wrappers will be turned back, silks removed, then husks turned back again over the kernels. Next the ears will be lined up on the grill over the hot coals and cooked until the husks are dry and browned — maybe 20 minutes if the fire's right. Who volunteers to turn the corn so every row of kernels gets even cooking? At last it's ready. Husks are broken off, small fry and older folk spread the ears with butter and sprinkle them with salt. Now to the age-old pleasure of eating!

Poise Important in Being Winner of Beauty Contest

RENSELEAR, N. Y. (AP) — Miss New York State's nose is slightly imperfect. Her face is on the square side. She's not voluptuous either. But she has poise, sir, and that's what won her the title.

Poise is the quality that carries a woman smiling, erect and graceful through the most trying competition. Miriam Sanderson has it.

The judges who selected the 20-year-old beauty, queen said it was this attribute that impressed them the most. "There were others who were more beautiful," said Judge F. Joseph Leone, an Albany attorney.

Miss Sanderson, 5-foot-4 with brown hair, blue-green eyes that change color when the occasion demands, and a slim 114 pounds, convinced a reporter-photographer team. She chatted antimentally while posing in the small bungalow in which she lives with her parents, younger brother and sister, in this Hudson River community.

Tumbling from an upper bunk, doing a bicycle exercise upside down on the floor, racing down the stairs, none of this upset the sparkling balance of this young lady who is bound for the Miss America sweepstakes.

The gracious smile, the graceful carriage remained even when her father, just home from work as a toll collector on the New York State Thruway, scowled and said he thought the whole business was "a lot of corn."

Of poise, Miss Sanderson said: "The most important thing is being interested in what is going on. You're considered attractive if you are interested in people. There is nothing like paying attention."

Does she consciously try to achieve poise when she is with people?

"No, no," Miriam admonished. The only thing she usually is conscious of is whether she is standing straight.

Miriam is a junior at the State Teachers College in Albany. Mrs. Sanderson makes most of her clothes. The sack? Miriam was non-committal, although she was wearing what she termed a modified sack. That is, the dress sagged in unimportant areas.

Miriam keeps a bulletin board in her room where she pins pictures or stories about clothes, hair-styles, make-up tricks, anything that catches her fancy. She said she constantly experiments and will do so until the Miss America competition.

One last word of advice — "Tell the girls not to be afraid of brushing their teeth. I brush furiously and wear out a toothbrush a month."

Farm Income Shows Increase

COLLEGE STATION — The annual rate of farm operators' realized net income rose sharply to about 13 billion dollars in the first quarter of 1958, compared with a rate of 11.7 billion in the same quarter of 1957.

This reflected substantially higher prices received by farmers for beef cattle, hogs, eggs, potatoes and other vegetables, for which supplies were reduced from a year ago, points out A. B. Wooten, extension economist.

Prices of farm products are running well above last year and are expected to average higher for the year than in 1957, says Wooten. Prospects indicate that supplies of some products will increase, notably vegetables, hogs, fed cattle, and eggs, so, current levels of prices and incomes may move toward the levels of 1957. But even so, farm operators' realized net income in 1958 is expected to be from five to 10 per cent above the 11½ billion dollars in 1957.

This increase is the opposite of last year's situation, he points out. Realized net income to all farm operators was lower last year than the year before, though income per person on farms was about $90 higher last year than in 1956.

The increase in income per person last year was due to the fact that there were about eight per cent fewer people on farms, leaving fewer persons among whom the agricultural income was divided, he adds.

More and more farm people are supplementing their incomes with off-farm employment, notes Wooten. In recent years the ratio of income from non-farm sources, compared to farm sources, has been about one to two. This means that farm people are making $1 in non-farm

Scientists Testing Apple-a-Day Adage

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Besides having a life-long appetite for apples, Dr. Eugene Lucas has a healthy scientific curiosity.

As an apple fan and horticulturist at Michigan State University, he firmly approves of the old saying that "An apple a day away does the doctors stay?" But is that old saw really true? And if it is, just how far away does the doctors stay?

Dr. Lucas hopes to have scientific answers in another two years. He has passed the midway mark in a four-year experiment that has 500 students eating not one but two apples a day.

Their health is being compared against a test group of 500 non-apple-eating students and against the health of the entire student body.

Lucas explains that there is a theoretical advantage in eating an apple a day. The fruit contains pectins, jelly-like chemicals that apparently absorb toxic materials in the digestive tract. They also contain minerals and organic acids that in laboratory tests have been shown to help regulate cell growth.

Lucas is reluctant to admit any conclusions at this stage of his tests.

"It would be irresponsible to talk about what little we know now," he said. "But there is one thing we can positively state at this point. The apples haven't done them any harm."

The university hospital is keeping score on whether the apple-eaters or the non-apple-eaters report in with more of such common illnesses as colds, throat infections, skin disorders and stomach upsets.

The students are as enthusiastic as their sponsor about the experiment. The apples are delivered to dormitories weekly in individually-packed bags. So the students taking part in the test won't give the apples away, their roommates also are supplied with free apples.

The National Apple Institute, naturally interested in promoting eating of more apples is footing the bill for the supply.

Cookbooks Are Translated

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Do you have a passion for fine food? Would you like to acquire a repertoire of French dishes? Do you like to travel and feast via reading, and then buttress this vicarious enjoyment with some delightful cooking in your own kitchen?

If such a preference and appreciation is yours, we suggest you look into some of the help and pleasure to be found in American. Charlotte Turgeon, an American who has lived abroad, has done a notable job in her books of translating and reworking French recipes. The second volume of "The Gourmet Cookbook" with its handsome format and color illustrations, includes many French specialties. A young woman we know is at present cooking her way through this new Gourmet volume. She's having a fine time — and so are her husband and friends!

You might also be interested in the new "The Food of France" by Waverley Koot (Knopf) — even though it does not contain recipes, because it is a remarkable account of a gastronome's adventures. With observations on cooking and eating intertwined with historical and geographical facts, it is an open sesame to a knowledge of French food.

Anyone can gain worthwhile information about French food and drink from the recently published "Paris Bistro Cookery" by Alexander Watt (Knopf). In addition to descriptions of Paris restaurants that offer exceptional value, there are recipes for some of the bistros' specialties.

Several years ago when I was in Paris, Alexander (Sandy) Watt and his pretty Danish wife invited me to supper. I can still remember the Watt's delightful informal hospitality, with Sandy serving a perfect fish en papillote and then going into the kitchen to finish the sauce for a blanquette de veau. "Paris Bistro Cookery" has the same true flavor of Paris as does the Watt apartment overlooking the Seine.

With warm months ahead, you might like to try a classic French salad from "Paris Bistro Cookery." It is a specialty of Chez Quinson, in the Place Felix-Faure, where the proprietor is also chef. Sandy Watt says "you can vary the ingredients according to your own taste and add or substitute sliced potato cucumber, celery, raw cauliflower."

SALADE NICOISE

Ingredients: 1 garlic, 3 tablespoons olive oil, 1 tablespoon wine vinegar or lemon juice, salt, pepper; 1 large heart of lettuce or chicory (cut in broad strips), 1 sweet green pepper (cut in rings), 12 black olives, 1/4 cup cooked French beans, 1/2 cup chopped onion, 2 tablespoons finely chopped fresh tarragon or chervil or parsley, 1 can tuna, 2 hard-boiled eggs, 4 tomatoes (quartered), 8 fillets of anchovies.

Method: Rub a salad bowl (preferably a wooden one) with the garlic. Prepare the dressing with the oil and vinegar, salt and pepper. Mix well and pour into the bowl. Add the other ingredients, placing neatly on top the tuna, eggs, tomatoes and anchovies. Keep in a cool place and bring to the table when required. First serve the tuna, eggs, tomatoes and anchovies, and then the rest of the salad having turned it well in the dressing. Serves 4.

BLACK NEWS

Area Damaged By Hail, Wind

By MRS. DICK ROCKEY
The wind, hail and hard rain Black received Monday did a great deal of damage to a number of residents. Those reporting from 80 to 100 per cent loss on their crops were Lester Dean, L. W. Gibson, Ralph Price, Clyde Hays, E. E. Barnett, Fern Barnett, O. L. Rankin, Irby Carlisle, J. E. Coker, Nelson Coon, O. T. Patterson and John Benger.

All the windows on the north side of the John Benger home were broken out. The door glass at the Giles Cobb house was broken and there was considerable damage at the Guss Schlab home.

Over the area, the rain averaged from 1 1/2 to five inches. Most of the wheat was ready to be harvested, so it was quite a loss to the farmers. Also, most of the cotton is gone.

The political rally Thursday evening at the Community House netted $113. Even though the ceiling price was $5, the last box was sold for $13. Politicians who were present at the meeting were Judge Smith, Loyde Brewer, Wesley Hardesty, Karl Lovelady, Andy Rogers, Hugh Mosley, Hurschel Harding, Bill Sheehan and Walter Loveless.

Hostesses were Mesdames L. W. Gibson, Helen Fangman, John Henderson, Clyde Hays and Goggans.

Mrs. B. C. Day and John S. Thompson left Tuesday for Andorka, Okla., on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Don Wigley have moved their trailer house into Black Community.

Marie Roberson left last week for a visit at Center, Colo., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Christian and daughters.

There were 13 ladies in the Community who brought their cookers and had them tested at the Cooker Clinic Tuesday in the Community House.

Danny Carthel is reported to be greatly improved since he broke his arm last week in a fall from his bicycle.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Tatum met their son, Tommie, at Littlefield Sunday and visited with relatives. Tommie had been visiting relatives and friends in Albany the last three weeks.

Mike Glenn of Fort Worth visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Rockey Saturday. He was en route to enter the army at Fort Bliss. Mike was a roommate and college friend of the Rockey's son, H. V., when he attended college at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth.

"FAIR LADY" ROAD HIT
NEW YORK (AP) — Traveling show business is far from dead — at least when the show is "My Fair Lady."

A report just issued on the first six months' activity of the national company of the smash musical which is also still playing to capacity on Broadway — shows a boxoffice gross of some 2 1/2 million dollars.

Visiting nine cities, the musical averaged weekly receipts of $94,154. This, the backers proclaim, is "an average well above and beyond that of any song-and-dance show that has ever scoured the nation."

BUSINESS IN ROSWELL
Gaylon Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Patterson, was in Roswell, N. M., Thursday on business.

HART VISITORS
Mr. and Mrs. Barney Locke of Hart visited recently in the home of his nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Locke and children.

HOW TO STAY YOUNG:

Never Grow Bored

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press

The only way to stay young is to keep busy and interested in many things, the more the better, says Margaret Rudkin, one of the country's best-known and most successful women executives.

When her doctor recently ordered her to slow down, Mrs. Rudkin was appalled. "How can I?" she demanded. "I'm not geared to slow motion. I can't just stop and be a vegetable. I've got to have something to do!"

Both her doctor and her husband were firm, however, so Mrs. Rudkin agreed to take more time away from the office and spend more time at her Pepperidge Farm home near Norwalk, Conn., where she baked the original loaf of bread which launched an international business.

Staying at home didn't mean doing nothing, however. The energetic Mrs. Rudkin at once plunged into a number of diverse enterprises, including the purchase and renovation of a 17th Century home in Ireland and the study and enlargement of her collection of rare old cookbooks.

"Nobody's going to retire me to a rocking chair and shawl," says she. "They'll have to tie me down first. That sort of thing may have been all right for Whistler's mother, but not for Maggie Rudkin."

The house in Ireland is a huge, eight-bedroom structure built in 1640 and situated in Bagenalstown, County Carlow, about 70 miles south of Dublin. Mrs. Rudkin has proceeded with a complete restoration job, including — central heating, with the aid of a Dublin architect. This comes under the head of "relaxation."

So do her latest hobbies of color photography and trout fishing.

"We love our Irish home," says she. "It's true what the Irish say — the grass is greener there and the flowers are bigger. The pace of life is much slower, too, in Ireland — that's the only thing that bothers me — I have to keep busy."

Mrs. Rudkin's greatest pride at the moment is a rare cookbook recently presented to her by her employees. It is the oldest dated edition of a cookbook in the world, she says proudly, having been printed in 1475, only 20 years after the world's first printed book, the famous Gutenberg Bible. It was written in Latin by an Italian scholar and gourmet, Bartholomaeus de Platina, and is titled "Of Honest Voluptuousness."

"I have had a lot of the recipes translated," says Mrs. Rudkin, "and although some of them sound rather exotic, modern cooks might take quite a few tips from them."

One of her favorites is the following:
Grind sour cherries in a mortar after they have been stoned. When these are ground, add red roses, finely chopped, a little fresh cheese and a little old cheese, ground, a little pepper, a little ginger, a little sugar. Mix in four broken eggs.
After the mixture has been lined with a crust, cook it in a well-greased pan over a slow fire. When it has been removed from the fire, pour sugar and rose-water over it.

"When you read a recipe such as that," says Margaret Rudkin, "you must admit that there's a lot to be said for 'Honest Voluptuousness.'"

Well, is Mrs. Rudkin retiring? "Not on your life," she laughs. "I couldn't quit if I wanted to. And believe me, I don't want to."

NEW YORK (AP) — Theater fans in Poland are going to see "Kiss Me Kate," one of America's most popular musicals abroad, as the result of special royalty arrangements.

The writers of the show, Sam and Bella Spewack have assigned their percentage to Jewish relief work in that country.

Area Service Adds To Hereford Prestige

Research Lab Opens New Vistas On Health, Farm and Growth Horizons

The new Deaf Smith Clinical and Research Laboratory which is holding open house today has a variety of meanings and implications for Hereford and its area.

Primarily, the lab is devoted to pure scientific research into the qualities of Deaf Smith County foods, soil and water. The doctors and technicians want to find out how the local substances affect bone healing, teeth structure and the central nervous system. It is believed that the mineral content found here may prove highly beneficial and preliminary research has supported that belief.

The basic research may lead to discoveries in helping broken bones heal faster, keeping teeth healthier, improving diets and preventing developing cures to nervous and some types of mental disorders. By fall the lab will be doing analyses to help local farmers determine how to grow more and better crops by correct fertilization.

An immediate medical effect will be to help all doctors in the Panhandle make thorough and correct diagnoses of special or complex illnesses, thereby improving the quality of medical care.

Hereford will gain prestige—as it already has as "The Town Without a Toothache"—by being the center of Deaf Smith foods and water. It will gain recognition as being the site of the only lab in the U. S. devoted primarily to studying bone healing.

Another direct benefit would be the possible location of a multi-million dollar Shrine hospital for crippled children here or in the area. The lab could be a definite factor in bringing the hospital here and it will be useful to the hospital by making analyses.

More than a decade has gone into preliminary medical research and in planning for the laboratory. It is set up to carry on its program for at least another 10 years and probably more. It has a connection with Southwestern Medical School of the University of Texas and the school's leading men are connected with the lab's projects.

Hereford is now the center of an important medical project and the men responsible are due a vote of thanks, not only from the medical profession, but from all who will benefit.

Oil Is Better Without 'Boom'

Deaf Smith County's "showing of oil" the past week was a long way from the sensational gusher type discoveries which have made Texas famous throughout the world. On the other hand, the showing does indicate that some oil exists in this area, and that some production can be expected in the territory in the years to come.

Despite the fact that the oil business is now in a slump, the eyes of many oil men and financiers have been focused on the local test. A gusher, or more exciting discovery, might easily have set things booming in the area. As a result of the current situation, development can be expected to follow a more normal and a generally healthier pattern.

Meanwhile, the small showing proves beyond any doubt that the area does possess oil deposits, a fact which many people were beginning to question following several "dry holes."

Oil provides a definite means of economy. However, we doubt if it will ever surpass agriculture as the chief economy in this territory. Instead, it will add to present incomes materially, leaving the country even more diversified than in the past.

What more can the citizens of any community ask?

It's easy to spot an intelligent man. His opinions are just like yours.

Now that school is out, most of the educational problems seem to have "Hit Home."

Oswald West, a former governor of Oregon, recently said: "If the spunk critics of our educational system will have a little patience they will soon be turning out graduates who can pass a football to the moon—were some Russian there to receive it."—Gas City (Ind.) Journal.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Pros and Cons of Local Oil Field Are Discussed

How many ways would a major oil field in this area affect Hereford?

MRS. J. K. BAKER—In the first place, there would possibly be an influx of population. It would establish new businesses along the oil field supply lines and, of course, I suppose it would bring in more wealth. It might create a problem of undesirable people coming in, but we would probably benefit more than we would be hampered.

W. W. ANGEL—I don't know too much about that subject, but it might help populate Hereford more than anything else and it would boost the economy.

MRS. BILL BYERS—Well, it would bring in a lot more people and would probably change the whole industrial outlook of Hereford.

URLIN STREU—It would affect the prosperity of the town by creating new jobs and a need for additional housing. It would also increase year-round sales potential, due to increased demand for sales and servicing. It would probably affect the town adversely due to an influx of oil field worker, additional bootleggers, etc. It would just generally boom conditions.

MRS. WAYNE CARTEL—I think it would make a rougher town and help open up new jobs. I don't think it would affect the farming. I do think it would benefit the town.

P. T. CLARK—I don't believe it would affect the town as much as people might say. It would affect the town growth, probably bring in some undesirable characters.

MRS. A. A. HEAD—It would bring more people to Hereford and give more people jobs. I believe the whole town would profit by it.

PACK BROGDON—It would be the best stationary thing that could happen to Hereford.

MRS. L. J. JONES JR.—We used to live in Morton and it brought quite a lot of industry to the Morton and Levelland area. With all the materials and people moving in, it would bring a lot of business to Hereford.

GLENN WILLIAMS—It would bring lots of new people to Hereford, naturally enlarge our economic status, and help our schools immensely.

MRS. GEORGE MARSHALL—It would bring in a lot of people and certainly mean a lot of money to some. It might benefit the whole town at first, but I don't think it would last.

DR. MILTON C. ADAMS—It should pick up business, but it would definitely bring many unsavory characters into the town. The advantages would be of a short term and the disadvantages would be of a more permanent nature.

Matt. 5:22 — "Every one who is angry with his brother shall be liable to judgment."

When a man loses his temper, he loses a lot more at one and the same time. He loses his balance, his poise, his sense of proportion, his mental equilibrium. He becomes hopelessly unfair in judgment, reckless in the use of words, incapable of dealing with the situation that aroused him. How can he be otherwise when he has lost his head? A mirror will reflect what he is at the moment he loses his temper. A Christian must learn to be in possession of himself at all times, not to give way to heady emotions that sweep through him until hot and wild words, later regretted, pour out in torrents. How disillusioning is such a display to those who look to him for Christian witness!

Watch those preliminary warning signals when temper is about to flare. Pause to look into the face of God and ask his aid to check the rising tide. Some urge us to stop and count ten. The Christian stops to pray.

EFFORT TO CURB FIRES

The City Council of Shamrock has issued a stern warning that persons responsible for grass fires will be prosecuted. Drastic action must be taken to protect the public interest, the Council decided this week, after an outbreak of fires that has kept members of the volunteer department and property owners in a state of jitters for 10 days. Fire Chief Raymond York met with the Council Monday night and appealed for help. He reminded officials that members of his department serve without pay (except $1.00 token payment for answering an alarm) and cannot take the time away from their own jobs and businesses that is required to answer the stream of alarms. He said the minimum cost of each fire is $18 in token payments to the fire boys alone, not including cost of equipment and supplies which would more than double the amount.—THE SHAMROCK TEXAN.

MEASURE COTTON ACRES

Almost 50 men will scatter across the county Tuesday to start measuring of cotton acreage, ASC Office Manager Lamar Aten announced this week. The cotton measuring program, required by law, is held annually. Measuring of Lamb County's 200,000-acre cotton allotment is expected to take about 60 days, Aten said. Aten held the first day of school to train men in cotton measuring procedure Friday. The two-day course will continue in the county courtroom Monday. Those who qualify will begin measuring cotton Tuesday morning. First measuring is done at no charge to the farmer. If a farmer thinks the measurement is wrong, he can apply for a remeasurement, upon deposit of $12 for the first plot and $4 for each additional plot. The farmer's deposit for remeasuring will be returned if the remeasurement brings him within his allotment, Aten said.—COUNTYWIDE NEWS (Littlefield).

AIRPLANES JOIN HOPPER BATTLE

Ground forces got aerial support this week in their battle against huge invasions of grasshoppers. Two aerial spray companies started work in Moore County Friday, according to County Agent Martin Gossett. They are now spraying along fence rows. The two companies are Plains Aero Service of Dalhart and the Rogers Air Service of Cameron. Using Aldrin, the most potent grasshopper poison on the market, the planes are attempting to prevent widespread grasshopper movements into cultivated fields and grass lands. The aerial sprayers are working early in the mornings and late in the evenings, since daytime winds and hot weather make accurate spraying difficult. Gossett said Aldrin, and other grasshopper sprays, should not be applied during the heat of the day. The heat, he said, destroys some of the effectiveness of the poison.—MOORE COUNTY NEWS.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm has an odd idea this week, which is not unusual with him.

Dear editors:

I was listening to the radio the other night—I don't listen to it very much on account of it doesn't leave enough time to think, by the time somebody says off something and you settle back to think it over he's said something else, I prefer a newspaper, where you can read a paragraph, think it over, sleep on it awhile, get up and walk around, and still come back to the same place—at any rate, I was listening to a Congressman, I don't even know the state he was from, and he said something that suddenly made me come alert.

What he said was: "It's time we returned the government to the people."

Now I have heard this statement lots of times before, but somehow or other it stuck in my mind this time and I've been thinking it over for a couple of days and have come to the conclusion that as far as I'm concerned I'm not sure I want the government back. Not at this time.

That is, I guess if I was running the government and it was in the financial shape it is, I'd be looking around for somebody to unload it on too, but with my present financial strain I don't see how I can take it on.

Understand, I think the government's sound all right, it still owns more than it owes and it has an awfully steady income, and I think it will eventually pay out, but it is the longest-term investment I ever heard about, and some of its stockholders are the hardest people on earth to please.

Nope, I don't believe it's the right time to return the government to the people. We're saddled with so many other debts and burdens I just don't believe we're in shape to take on anything else right now. A man can get too far out on the limb.

I'll appreciate it if you'll tell that Congressman and any other government officials who have come around to the conclusion it's time they gave the government back to the people that I decline the honor. They're stuck with it and will have to work it out the best way they can.

In fact, the more I think about it the madder I get. That's a shoddy trick, waiting till the government's in the shape it is and then trying to give it back to us.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

Pal Takes Cliburn On Tour of Capital

By TEX EASLEY
AP Washington Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Around the Capitol:
On his recent visit to Washington, Texas' famed pianist Van Cliburn got away from the hubbub for a while by accepting the invitation of a long-time friend on Capitol Hill to take him on a private sightseeing tour.
It was six years ago that Bob Waldron, now administrative assistant to Rep. Homer Thornberry of Austin, met Cliburn at a mutual friend's home in Longview. Cliburn had returned to Kilgore from his initial study course in New York and Waldron was back at his East Texas home town of Henderson from school at the University of Texas.

Over the years the two have kept up their friendship, and when Cliburn won laurels in Moscow, Waldron cabled congratulations and asked him to look him up if he ever came to Washington.

Arriving in town, Cliburn, his parents and Russian friend and conductor, Kiril P. Kondrashin, contacted Waldron. The sightseeing tour he gave them included not only Capitol Hill with a quiet Saturday luncheon in the Senate restaurant, but a trip to Mount Vernon and a visit to Bob's 100-year old house in near-by Alexandria, Va.

Thornberry, as chairman of the Texas congressional delegation, invited Cliburn to be an honor guest at the group's weekly luncheon, but he was unable to attend because of his

Local Students On Honor Roll

CANYON (Special) — Three Hereford students were among the 94 named by Dean Walter H. Juniper to the spring semester honor roll at West Texas State College.

The dean's honor list is composed of the upper five per cent of the undergraduate student body at WT.

From Hereford are Elna Faye Bishop, Marion Dene Caple, and Earleen Faye Plank. Miss Bishop, who will be a senior at WT this fall, is an elementary education major.

practice schedule.

Aloma Qualls, 16, of Wichita Falls, was here recently as the "Young Homemaker" of the year of the Girls Clubs of America. Chosen from among 44,000 members, she presented Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower with a ceramic jewelry box she made. After a capitol luncheon with Mrs. Ralph Yarborough and Mrs. Frank Icard, Texas congressional wives, Aloma was invited into the Senate kitchen to see how the chef prepares food for the lawmakers.

Miss Lera Thomas, 16, daughter of Houston Congressman and Mrs. Albert Thomas, has been chosen Texas Rose Queen for National Rose week festivities here.

A young lawyer in the U. S. Tax court who plans to go to work for a Dallas law firm next fall advocates revamping oil depletion allowances in a manner he thinks should please virtually all Texas oil men.

Outlining his ideas at a Duke University Law alumni gathering here, Robert C. Taylor proposed that the depletion allowance be increased from 27 1/2 per cent up to 30 per cent for all domestic producers whose companies have assets of less than 100 million dollar. He would have the allowance cut to 25 per cent on the major companies with holdings in excess of 100 million dollars.

Probably less than a score of the giant concerns would be adversely affected, he said, and the additional tax revenues from the wouid offset the taxes lost in giving the smaller producers a greater depletion allowance.

Taylor is the son of Dr. B. C. Taylor, Shreveport Methodist minister, who is on the board of Southern Methodist University.

Students at Wichita High Conduct Radiation Work

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Teen-age future scientists are digging into the effects of nuclear radiation at Wichita North High School — with the help of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Their enthusiastic instructor, 32-year-old Jack Rogers, says it's one of the first high school projects of its kind.

A course in radiation biology at the University of New Mexico put Rogers in contact with officials of the AEC's Los Alamos laboratory and launched the project at North. He came home with a gift of $1,600 worth of equipment, and promptly installed it in the school's lab.

Cause for Roger's enthusiasm is interest his students are showing. Pace-setters among the young scientists' experiments have been 17-year-old Jon Cornell's blood count and radiation checks on white rats, given controlled exposure in an AEC reactor at Los Alamos; a similar check by Jack Fishback, 16, of rats exposed to gamma rays from a cobalt "bomb" and to X-rays at a Wichita hospital; and a test in a different field, blood system linkage, by 17-year-old Jack Hiebert.

Young Hiebert, a surgeon's son, joined two rats as Siamese twins by a skillful operation. He's using a radioactive tracing element in his study, iodinated proteins. The first experiments were for the sheer thrill of finding out things — without academic credit. But they've done so well that the faculty approved a credit course for seniors next year in radiation physics.

"Young people are developing faster today — partly due, no doubt, to the wars," says North Principal C. E. Strange. "They're a bit jumpy, because they have the prospect of military service — but they're seeing things clearly, and they're doing more things. They're getting a better foundation than ever before — and we've always had the potential to meet the nation's future needs."

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean F. Bishop, now of Muleshoe. A graduate of Hereford High School, Miss Bishop is a member of Alpha Chi, national honor society, and the Student Education Association. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Caple, 318 Ave. J, Miss Caple will be a senior elementary education major this fall. She is a member of the Student Education Association and Kappa Tau Phi, women's social club. Miss Plank, who received her Bachelor of Science degree in May, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Plank, Route 1, Hereford. A home economics major, Miss Plank was vice president of Kappa Omicron Phi, national home economics fraternity, and was president of the Home Ec Club.

RADIATION READING—Student Jon Cornell, left, checks a white rat for nuclear radiation under watchful eye of instructor Jack Rogers. The rat was exposed to radiation at an Atomic Energy Commission reactor at Los Alamos.

"We're encouraging them to take science and lab courses — showing them that such courses, which they used to avoid because they're difficult, are important to future life and understanding."

"But it won't work unless we have an enthusiasm on the part of adults. Parents are going to have to want education for their children, and talk it in their homes — to keep education as something worth shooting at. They must furnish the fertile ground in which education can take root and sprout."

Quality Cotton Demand Good

COLLEGE STATION — Extra rewards await the cotton producer who succeeds in producing a high-quality crop this year, while discounts for low quality will continue to be stiff, reports Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton specialist.

The abundance of low-grade cotton that was left over from last year's crop will continue to depress the market for lower grades, points out Elliott. However, he adds, the present outlook for the 1958 crop indicates a continued shortage of high grade fiber. A late spring, shortages of good seed and too much moisture have contributed to a poor start for cotton this year in many areas. But the specialist says there is still plenty of opportunity to aim for high quality through careful management and harvest practices.

These practices include weed, disease and insect control; fertilization at rates based on Extension Service recommendations; irrigating for good maturity in areas where it is done with special reference to cutoff dates; careful harvesting and ginning; keeping low and high grade fiber separate and selling on grade.

Almost a third of last year's cotton crop classified as spotted, resulting in a lower average grade for the 1957 crop than for any year on record.

Much of this spotting could have been avoided through better management practices, says Elliott. Widespread failure to adhere to such practices weakens cotton's position with synthetic and other fibers in marketing for many uses. And this, in turn, contributes to cotton surpluses and depressed prices.

County agricultural agents can provide the latest information on how to grow cotton for quality, and how to preserve that quality in harvesting and ginning.

"My family likes soups and stews. The electric deep well cooker makes it easy for me to give them what they like!"

SAYS
Mrs. Cecil Alf,
1824 ORANGE,
AMARILLO, TEXAS

★ "The deep well cooker is so wonderful for making soups and stews that it's not surprising it does a wonderful job sterilizing baby's bottles. This is a new use that the Public Service Home Service Advisor told me about when I first got my electric range."

...and sterilizes baby's bottles, too!

"I've found it's economical and practical to prepare soups and stews in large quantities in the deep well cooker and then freeze part for later use. There just seems to be no limit to the things you can do with an electric range."

"Thanks to the dependability of electric cooking, I can set my range to cook while I'm out. I love to entertain and with people in the house, I'm not tied down to the kitchen. I just let Reddy take over. So, in or out of the house, Reddy makes a good, silent, non-complaining servant."

Let Reddy be your servant, too. See your Reddy Kilowatt dealer for an electric range demonstration. He'll give you a certificate good for two bug lamps, which fit ordinary sockets, eliminate most of the light that insects see, yet provide a soft comfortable light for outdoor living.
