County Hale - Aikin Committee Makes Report

Around Town

One of the matters to be considered by the County ASC committee at its meeting today in the ASC office will be a telegram which informed the members "Restriction has been removed in use of Sorghum Alum and Perennial Soday."

Seven members of the Hereford JayCees organization are in Austin this week attending the state convention. Making the trip are Don Fudge, Bill Howard, Stanley Slagle, Kenneth Brock, Mike Elliott, Walter Kirkland and Gerald Hale.

Members of the Hereford Riding Club are making preparations to attend the annual Sheriff's Posse Roundup at Amarillo April 25-27.

Little League try outs will be held Monday at 13th and Ave. I.

Members of the Hereford Kiwanis Club will be knocking on every resident's door in the city today selling brooms, mops, brushes, floor mats, skirt hangers, car mops, floor brushes, cup towels, wash cloths, ironing board pads and covers, pot holders and many other items.

Five Beauties Enter Contest

Five entries in the "Miss Deaf Smith County Rural Electric" beauty contest have been received by officials. The contest will be held in the Bull Barn April 24 in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Deaf Smith County Electric and Cooperative West Texas Rural Telephone Cooperative.

Contestants, all sponsored by high school Future Homemakers of America chapters, are Gayle Wagner of Hereford, Joy Redden ofovina, Myrna Finch of Dimmitt, Gaye Routen of Farwell and Johnnie Hand of Friona.

Registration will begin at 10 a.m. and the telephone meeting is set for 1 p.m. The same day. Two trustees are to be elected by the telephone group and three directors will be named for the electric cooperative.

"Live Better Electrically" is the theme of the meetings this year. Walter Jetton's catering service will serve a barbecue at noon. Charlie Phillips and his Sugartime Trio will supply musical entertainment and Mrs. Suzanne Huston will sing.

New Jail Building is County's Aim Again

PROPOSED PLANNING consumed most of the day at Deaf Smith's County Commissioners' Court Monday, but action was taken on purchasing two new pickups, approving a parking area for law enforcement officers' vehicles which will consume part of the east lawn, coming to terms with a Pioneer Natural Gas Co. representative on a road-crossing pipe situation and approving a request to send a delegate of the Tax Assessor-Collector's office to a state meeting.

Otto Massie, commissioner of Precinct Two, was present for the first time since suffering a heart attack several weeks ago. The proposed planning was on the "old situation of a jail" and re-doing the courthouse lawn. Every commissioner, and County Judge Homer Hieslee, agreed that the court should take action as soon as possible to have another bond election, and build a much-needed new jail for the county.

"I think we ought to get started soon, so we won't be rushed into anything when the time comes and we have no jail at all," stated Donald Hicks, Precinct Four commissioner.

Tornado Warning Practice

Hereford's two new tornado alert sirens which were recently installed will be sounded this morning at 10 a.m. for practice, according to city manager Dudley Bayne.

"If everything works smoothly, we'll just have the alert and take-cover signals, and shut 'em off," he said.

The sirens were installed atop City Hall and in the alley between H and I avenues south of Union. Their sound is supposed to be easily distinguishable from the fire siren.

time, anyway. We would just have to make room for someone to sleep there somewhere." Judge Henslee commented on the fact that the county already has one woman being held in Canyon at the present on a 30-day sentence, because there are no accommodations for her here. "We have room for 17 or 18 prisoners," he said, "and have had as many as 35 or 37 in there at one time."

A REPRESENTATIVE of Kerr and Kerr of Amarillo, architects who drew up the plans for last year's proposed jail building but which was refused on a bond election which called for $175,000 was present.

The representative stated "Material prices are down, but labor is up some. We can give a better bid now, because none of the contractors are so busy and there will be a wider range of bidders."

One commissioner said "We probably will hold off until the latter part of harvest to work on the jail any."

Others, however, said it might be a good idea to go ahead and hold another bond election at the same time of the July 29th Democratic primary.

The architect said he would revise the original proposed plans without office space for the sheriff's department, and be back at the next meeting, the fourth Monday of April.

The commissioners, as a body, felt that the only way to rid the courthouse's lawn of weeds, and also take care of a serious drainage problem along the sidewalks, was to take up a few inches depth off the lawn and

Charged With Sale Of Whiskey Here

William Menter, 43, Hereford Negro, was arrested and charged with sale of whiskey in a dry territory Saturday night. City police made the arrest.

Menter is being held in county jail. Bond had not been set Wednesday morning.

IN EIGHT DIVISIONS Deaf Smith 4-H Members Hold Competition Saturday

County 4-H champions, runners-up and third places will be decided in eight divisions here Saturday, with the senior division winners qualifying for the district competition at Canyon May 3 and a chance for a trip to the annual 4-H "Roundup" at College Station.

Three of the contests will be open to both boys and girls in the organization, if they qualify to minimum age, two are for girls only and three for boys only.

Saturday's schedule is: 9 a.m., Electricity Demonstrations, County Courtroom, boys and girls.

10 a.m., Public Speaking, County Court room, boys and girls.

11 a.m., Farm and Home Safety, County Courtroom, boys and girls.

1:20 p.m., Soil and Water Range, County Courtroom, boys.

1:30 p.m., Vegetable Preparation, REA kitchen, girls.

1:40 p.m., Field Corps, County Courtroom, boys.

2 p.m., Poultry Method, County Courtroom, boys.

2:30 p.m., Dairy Foods, REA kitchen, girls.

Two county champion teams will be competing again this year after victories last year. Kay and Royce Lee Pruett won county, district and competed at the Roundup in the farm and home safety division. Sheron Bezner and Peggy Browning were the county champs in placed second in district.

The general public is invited to witness competition held between the Deaf Smith 4-H Club members.

County Teachers Name Bob Naylor As New President

More than 200 attended the Deaf Smith County Teachers' Association annual steak fry at Shirley Elementary School Monday night, when the new officers for 1958-59 were elected.

Named as president was Shirley principal Bob Naylor. J. C. Rose was voted first vice president, Ellen Bryant second vice president, Mrs. Ruby Crawford secretary and Mrs. Faust Collier treasurer.

Entertainment was furnished by the High School girls' quartet under the direction of Don Moore.

After months of study by some 60 people, the Deaf Smith, County Hale-Aikin committee, which had been broken down into four separate committees, School Program, Teacher Personnel, School Buildings and School Finance, made individual group reports at a general meeting Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium, all of which were adopted for transmitting to the state committee.

Although most of the present practices within the two school districts, Hereford High School Rural School and Walcott Common School, were accepted as adequate, there were numerous recommendations for changes, some of which were considered rather radical both on the local and state level.

One of the recommendations which drew the most comment from the floor was that, on the state level for providing state aid to local schools by means of sales tax or an income tax for additional revenue, to be used for schools only.

A statement on the recommendation qualifying its purpose was made to the effect that it was not actually wanted, but that it, in the committee's opinion, about the only way additional revenue could be secured under present conditions.

SMALL CROWD—Only 38 people were present Tuesday night at the high school auditorium to hear and give the final reports of the county Hale-Aikin committees. Of those attending, only three were not members of a committee and four were members of the school board. The smallness of the crowd made a somewhat lonesome gathering in the huge room. (Staff Photo)

Another recommendation which captured considerable interest was from the Teacher Utilization committee, which answered the question "On the basis of the above data (showing number of students in classrooms and teachers) it is felt that teachers are being very well utilized in this county, however it is recommended that:

"1. Serious consideration be given to moving pupils from Dawn and Parkview into the elementary schools in Hereford for the following reasons:

"A. It would meet the legal requirements regarding integration.

"B. The total enrollment of approximately 75 pupils in these two schools would not increase the present teacher-load to any appreciable extent.

"C. It would reduce the need for four or five teachers, (teachers currently employed might be used to fill vacancies and increased enrollment demands).

"2. Consideration be given at the state level to extending the school year to 10 months for the following reasons:

"A. It would give teachers needed salary raise through an extra-month's employment.

"B. It would give more time for teaching all the subjects in overcrowded curriculum.

"C. It would partially solve the problem of summer recreation programs for youth.

"D. It would reduce the need for teachers seeking employment in other fields during the summer supplement salaries.

"E. It would leave adequate time for teachers to take summer courses - providing colleges would gear their programs to the changed time."

It was recommended by the Teacher Supply committee the salaries should be increased in proportion to preparation and duties; and that salaries should be comparable to that of private industry.

Other recommendations by the same committee were to stress opportunities for professional careers in education; placing more emphasis on FTA organizations in both high school and college; encouraging the ex-teacher who has raised her family to return to the profession; utilize Negro and Latin American teachers who constitute a great potential, and others.

Under school construction, it was stated that the equivalent of 30 classrooms would be necessary by 1963, at an approximate cost of $750,000, with the money being provided under passage of Senate Bill 116 on the local level.

The committee said, that by taking into consideration the total number of students, floor space and all in the total county, there was no real need for additional classrooms this year, but that "We cannot reduce our classrooms under any circumstances."

For Walcott, the committee recommended physical education facilities.

Continuing, the committee stated there is a "possibility of eliminating present unnecessary facilities in Hereford (study hall, etc.) for additional classrooms."

The School Program committee recommended the 6-3-3 school grade system for plant as soon as facilities could be made available.

Members also stated that spelling is inadequately taught; more concentrated instruction on writing in the early grades; lengthen arithmetic class periods from the first to eighth grades and strengthen the course; considerably greater emphasis on geography should be placed from the first to sixth grades; greater emphasis on history; health and safety inadequate; taught for lack of defined program and lack of gyms and equipment; the same in physical education.

Bracero Labor Supply is Cut

Local and area farmers have begun to feel the pangs of a decision handed the Texas Employment Commission that it must cut out almost entirely the use of less expensive Mexican National workers. A meeting of all interested persons is to be held in Big Spring tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. to make recommendations and work on proposals to ease restrictions made earlier this month.

"It's going to hurt the smaller farmer more than anyone else," stated Leon "Red" Coffin, local farmer and board member of the Western Texas Farm Labor Association of Muleshoe.

Jack Renfro said yesterday morning he believed it would effect the cotton growers of the area even more than vegetable producers.

U. S. Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell telegraphed the TEC April 3 stating that Missouri and Oklahoma have potential supplies of tractor drivers and that employers will be required

Baby's Life Saved By Blood Donation

While members of one Hereford civic organization, the Jay-Cees, were standing in a Deaf Smith County Hospital corridor Tuesday afternoon registering as donors for the "Walking Blood Bank," a four-hour-old baby's life was being saved by transfusion of blood in another room not more than 50 feet away.

The baby, the second this week, had to be saved by changing blood in its body because of conflicting RH factors. The operation requires one pint of blood.

Hospital officials report 398 people registered the first two days of the drive to establish a new "Walking Blood Bank" here. The drive will continue through Saturday.

One local physician estimated the hospital would use approximately 100 pints of blood during a normal year. The blood is all donated by local residents through the "Walking Blood Bank."

WHEN REGISTERING, the process takes approximately five minutes to fill out an information blank and have ones blood typed. Typing is not necessary if the donor's blood has already been typed through another source.

Those who have been members of the "Walking Blood Bank" in the past are requested by officials to bring their cards to the hospital where new cards can be made out and correctness of address can be established.

150 Attend Meeting Here

More than 150 delegates attended the Panhandle district meeting of Theta Rho and Junior Odd Fellows here Saturday and Sunday.

The program included registration Saturday afternoon, a dance Saturday night at the Hotel Jim Hill, devotional services Sunday by the Rev. A. J. Cockrell, First Methodist Church pastor, and a lunch served by the local Rebekah Lodge.

Janice Jacobs received individual charges as first chaplain and first vice grand. The Pampa group won first in team work competition and Hereford was second.

Linda Wilhelm of Pampa was elected president, Rose Marie Strange of Hereford, vice president, and Barbara Jacobs of Hereford, secretary - treasurer. Rose (Continued On Page 2)

French Girl Will Attend School Here Next Year

A 15-YEAR-OLD French girl will attend Hereford High School's foreign exchange student for 1958-59.

She is Joelle Tillier Laroche of Royan, France. Miss Tillier Laroche will be the fifth European girl to attend Hereford High under the American Field Service plan.

Miss Tillier Laroche will arrive in Hereford sometime in August. She will live with the Elmer Patterson family at 610 E. Fifth as the "American sister" of the Patterson's daughter, Sheryl, a sophomore student here.

Travel expenses for Joelle's trip to America are being paid by the Future Homemakers of America chapters at the high school and Hereford civic clubs.

She has had six years of English and also speaks German. She lists Latin and philosophy as her major academic interests. At present she is attending a boarding school, College de Jeunes Filles at Saintes, France. She will be a senior here.

Her father is a government civil servant and works as a town planner. Her mother is a dental surgeon. They have another child, a 25-year-old son.

Miss Tillier Laroche was born in Bordeaux, France, in September, 1941. Her present home, Royan, is a harbor town of about 13,000 population on the west coast of France. It is northwest of Bordeaux.

Eugenia Alexander, Hereford high junior, has been selected by American Field Service to study abroad this year but has not been told which country she will go to or how long she will be abroad.

New Jail...

"start all over." Conversation on the lawn began with Judge Henslee said "there was going to have to be something done about the condition of the west sidewalk leading into the courthouse."

The judge stated there was, actually, nothing which could be done without some sort of drainage along the sidewalk.

Several propositions were offered, but later all had agreed the new lawn proposal was the most satisfactory and workable, along with re-doing the west sidewalk.

Precincts Two and Three accepted the low bids of Osborn-Norwood Chevrolet for new vehicles. Both bids were on the same specifications on 1953 half-ton pickups of the six-cylinder Apache model.

Precinct Three was allowed $849 on a 1953 GMC half-ton, and paid a difference of $1,229 for the new vehicle. Precinct Two paid a difference of $994.12 after being allowed $1,014.03 for a 1954 half-ton vehicle.

The company's representative complimented the commissioners on the care shown in the two vehicles being traded in on the new ones. He said they were in good condition and "showed signs of being well kept."

Commissioners agreed to pay $400 to Pioneer Natural Gas Co. to either case a gas line crossing farm-to-market road 2351 or put over it a six-inch reinforced slab of concrete.

THE COURT was informed by letter last month the pipe would have to be protected because the road is to be paved in the near future.

Some question arose between the commissioners and the representative as to whether the company should in fact be held responsible for the cost, since paving of the road had already been indicated in another county when the pipe was laid in 1955.

Under the agreement finally arrived at, Pioneer Natural will do the work. If the pipe is cased underneath the road, the $400 will apply on that cost. However, should the concrete be used and the cost not surpass the $400, the balance will be refunded to the court.

The court approved paying Mark Woodall's expenses to the Tax Assessor-Collectors Association meeting in Houston May 4-7, as a representative of the county. Dave Alexander, county tax assessor-collector declined to make the trip because of his wife's health, but said Woodall could convey all the information he received at the meeting to the office employees.

"I'm just about ready for Wichita Falls," reported county welfare agent Jewel Smith to the court. "I've about had it."

The agent's complaint stemmed mainly to the fact, she said, that an "awful lot of widow women with children are moving to the labor camp, then coming up here asking for help." She said the families were moving in here from other places and expecting to be taken care of by her department.

"I FEEL REAL strongly that something should be done to the situation at the Hereford Housing Project (labor camp)," she told the commissioners, and cited several instances where she believed the county was having to pay for cases which were actually the responsibility of other counties, stating the man in charge of the camp was allowing such cases to settle out there without looking into their background first.

The new parking area for law enforcement vehicles will be made on the south side of the east driveway entrance on the square. It will be paved 15-feet from the present south curb, and hold between six and 10 vehicles, which are now, according to the court, blocking the drive which is supposed to be kept clear for moving traffic. Along with the paving of the new parking area, the present driveway is slated to be torn out and redone because of its pitted condition.

to go to the supply points on a recruitment program. However, local farmers feel that the domestic laborers demand a far too high wage scale than do the Mexican Nationals, making overhead too much for a justified margin of profit.

"If employer declines to take advantage of this potential labor supply, you cannot authorize Mexican nationals," the telegram told TEC officials.

Coffin said Tuesday the number of Mexican Nationals used in this county alone could not be exactly established because not all were obtained through bureaus operating out of Muleshoe and Littlefield. He said the larger operators went to the border themselves to obtain workers, a practice too expensive for the smaller farmers. In a letter calling for tomorrow's meeting at Big Spring, Loyal Walker of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce said "All associations and users must unite and follow the same procedure (in obtaining Mexican laborers) or very serious trouble is in store for all."

Coffin said the 950 members of the WTFI Assn. used 3,800 braceros in Deaf Smith, Bailey, Lamb, Castro and Palmer counties last year.

Continuing, Coffin stated local labor contract price had been raised about 20 per cent over last year because of the situation.

USDA Extends Grain Reseal Program to Include '57 Crops

The U. S. Department of Agriculture recently announced that the reseal program on grains will be extended to include 1957-crop grain sorghums put under farm-stored price-support loans and to permit extension for another year of loans on 1956-crop farm-stored barley and oats now under reseal.

Under this program, farmers may continue their price-support loans on certain farm-stored grains in some areas for another year. Farmers will earn storage payments during the loan extension period.

In addition to 1957-crop grain sorghums and extended reseal of 1956-crop barley and oats, 1957-crop corn, barley, oats and wheat put under price-support farm-stored loans may be resealed and loans may be extended on 1956-crop wheat and 1955- and 1956-crop corn now under reseal as announced previously.

State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees will determine whether or not the loans should be resealed or extended in their states. The committees will consider the feasibility of safe storage of the grains on farms for another year and storage needs for the next price-support takeover of crops in making their decision.

BY HOLDING these grains on farms for another year instead of delivering them at maturity, the amount of storage space needed by USDA in taking over 1957 crops under price support should be reduced.

Eligibility requirements for grains under the reseal program will be the same for quality and storage as under the original loan. For grain sorghums, a representative sample will be required to determine that the moisture content is not above the 13 per cent minimum.

USDA officials pointed out that grain sorghums are more difficult to store over long periods than most other grains. In view of this, they urge farmers who reseal their farm-stored grain sorghums to make periodic quality checks, particularly for any increase in moisture content. A closer watch may be needed for grain sorghums that have been artificially dried. Producers are responsible for safe keeping of grains in farm storage and will receive discounts for delivering under-quality grains.

Even though the maturity date of March 31 for grain sorghum loans has passed, producers will be given an opportunity to reseal their farm-stored loans and to convert their purchase agreements on farm-stored grain sorghums to loans to run for a year. In States where State ASC Committees announce a program, farmers who desire to participate should make application to their county ASC offices as soon as possible.

Resealed loans on 1956-crop oats and barley mature April 30. Farmers desiring an extension of loans should make application to county committees before the maturity date.

Storage payments for the full year's reseal for grain sorghums will range from 28 to 31 cents per hundredweight depending on the area; for the full year's extension on oats, 12 cents per bushel; and on barley 16 cents per bushel. If a farmer redeems his resealed grain prior to the new maturity date, his storage payment will be prorated for the time of the loan. Farmer who have 1956-crop oats and barley under reseal will receive the full storage payment for the 1957-58 storage period at the time they extend their loans.

STATES IN WHICH State ASC Committees may permit reseal of grain sorghums are: Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oklahoma, South Dakota and Texas. Extension of reseal loans on 1956-crop barley and oats will be permitted in Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin, and in addition barley in Montana and Nebraska.

As of Feb. 15, approximately 10 million hundredweight of 1957-crop grain sorghum had been put under farm-stored loans in eligible States. These quantities could be eligible for reseal as well as the quantity in farm storage under purchase agreements. The purchase agreement total for these States as of February 15 was approximately 3,270,000 hundredweight of grain sorghum. Approximately 7 million bushels of 1956-crop barley and 4 million bushels of 1956-crop oats were under reseal as of Feb. 15.

Courses that should be required, the committee thought, were adding one unit each to English, social studies and math and two to foreign language. The latter is not required at the time.

The committee recommended lengthening the day by one period for the first three grades because of the school bus situation, which requires that after getting out of school the children must be properly supervised until 3:30 p.m. until the buses leave for home.

"We recommend that a pre-first grade (or kindergarten, or low-first) be established," the report continued, "with enrollment to continue at age six, to provide more time for first grade work. It is the opinion here that a majority of six-year-old children are not mature to accept the disciplines required by first grade, that a longer time is needed in the first year. It should be permitted, however, the more mature pupils to progress to second grade in one year's time."

The committee said that in the next few years it expected to be able to use six units in first six grades instead of the two for handicapped children, and perhaps one or two units for junior high.

Inadequate library facilities were found by the committee in grades from one to six, with no central library in all but one school.

Recommendation was also made that the high school needs an additional lab for chemistry or physics, equipped, and one room to be used for general science or biology.

On school lunch services, the recommendation was that the inadequacy to be improved where available funds for building were made possible.

Three other recommendations made by the committee were: 1. "We recommend that local school boards make a firm general policy on excusing absences of pupils due to personal reasons, extra-curricular and co-curricular related activities, or for any other reason, with the purpose of minimizing absences from class as far as possible."

2. "We recommend that this system be placed on the 6-3-3 basis as soon as plant facilities will permit this arrangement."

3. "We recommend that principals request their teachers in the low grades to make a supreme effort to communicate with the parents of the children in those grades (either by a called group meeting at night, or by individual visits to homes), to explain what is being presented to the pupils for learning and how parents may help at home."

Former WT Students Appear Herein Movie

Three former West Texas State College students are appearing in the movie "Jamboree" Friday and Saturday at the Theatre here in Hereford. They are Buddy Knox, Jimmy Owen and Donnie Lanier. Knox, the only graduate of WT State, is a former Mappy. Bowen and Lanier were both in Dumas. Several former Mappys played basketball, football and ran in track against the demons, who graduated in 1954. Lanier was a scholarship basketball player for the Buffs. Lanier, captain of the Demon football team, and Knox, who formed together while attending college, and named themselves the "Rhythm Orchids."

ANCIENT LAW LOVELAND, Colo. (AP) — An old city ordinance here requires every male resident to work a day and a half every year on city streets, provide a substitute if he doesn't work or pay a fee of $1.50. Police Judge Ernest Hartwell discovered the ancient law while recodifying the city's statutes.

HEALTHY BURGLAR CLOVIS, N. M. (AP) — Police here are looking for a healthy burglar with a big appetite. They reported that an intruder overlooked money when he entered the Humphrey Milkway here but took 26 gallons of milk, five dozen eggs and four quarts of an orange drink.

In the year 1800 the average work week consisted of 84 hours. In contrast to the 40-hour-week today.

FLOATING A LOAN

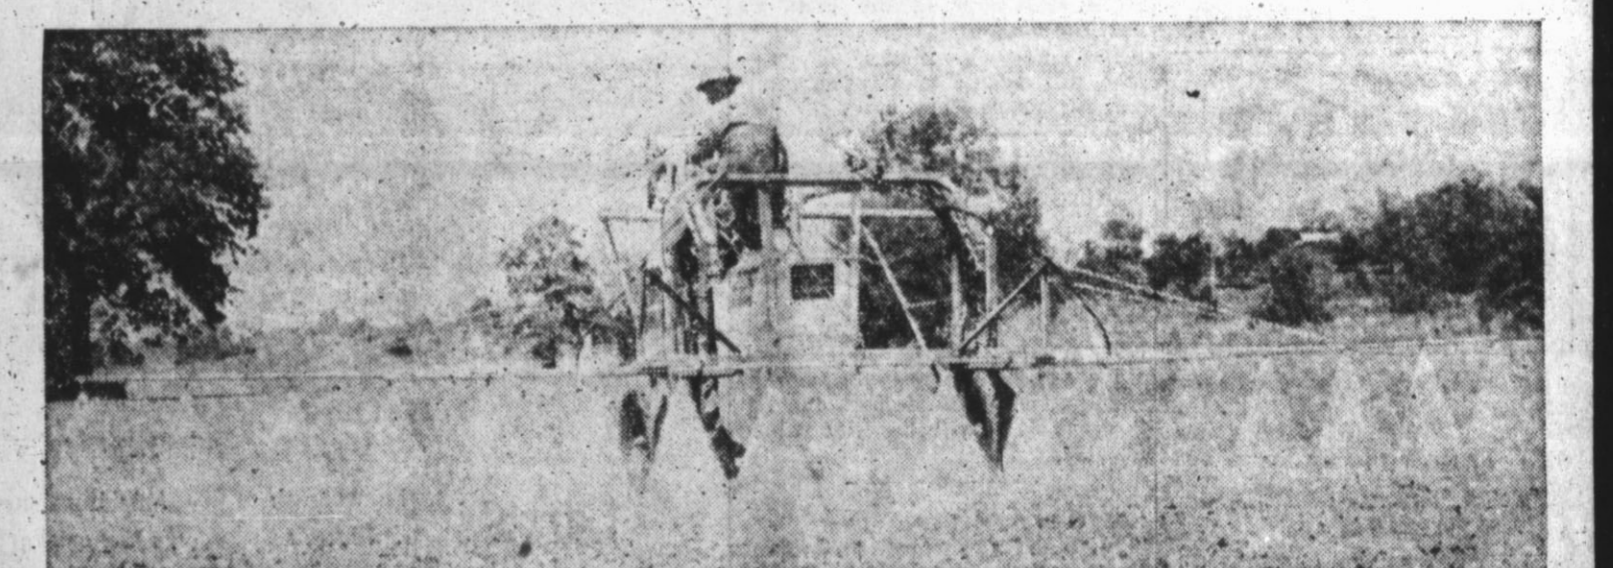

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Water oozed into a bank here during a recent flash flood and employees were busy getting files and records up high for protection. The telephone rang. A voice told the employee who answered: "Can I float a loan?" He didn't — at least for a while.

You can spread all the nitrogen your crops need as fast as 100 to 200 acres per day—when you use URAN.*

IT WILL PAY you to see your ARCADIAN® dealer for non-pressure URAN Nitrogen Fertilizer Solution. URAN gives you quick-acting, long-lasting nitrogen that's ideal to build big crop yields. You spray or dribble it on the soil from a simple tractor-tank rig. Pumps and machinery do the work. You have no bags to lift, no high-pressure equipment to fuss with.

SPREAD URAN on crop residues before you plow. Top-dress your small grains and grass. Use URAN for side-dressing too, or apply it in irrigation water. You can spread URAN any season you want to apply nitrogen. Get ARCADIAN URAN Nitrogen now for the easy way to make your crops pay! *Trade-mark

SMOG CANNER—Hy Weingarten, who works only on smoggy days, captures a caseful of Los Angeles' famous product before canning "Genuine Los Angeles Smog." It sells, too.

In Zany Los Angeles They Now Sell Smog

LOS ANGELES (AP)—In this zany city anything can happen. When it does, somebody usually makes money on it.

There are days, for instance, when you can't see men waving empty tin cans in the air. They do this when it's smoggy. After a few swipes at the murky atmosphere, they clap lids on the cans.

You'd swear they were canning smog.

They are.

Once sealed and labeled, the cans are packed for shipment by the Los Angeles Smog Corp.

The firm claims it has two aims — to turn a profit for its founder, a 52-year-old actor named Carleton Young, and to help rid Los Angeles of smog. While it hasn't won any prizes on the second, it seems to be making out on the first.

How can you make money out of smog? Young's idea is to sell the cans as souvenirs of Los Angeles.

"Genuine Los Angeles Smog," proclaim the labels. "This is the smog used by famous Hollywood stars."

Contains hydrocarbons, nitrogen oxides, sulphur dioxide, organic oxides, aldehydes and formaldehydes. No pollutants or irritants removed.

"To insure freshness and purity, keep container tightly sealed."

The canned smog is sold at such tourist attractions as Disneyland and the Farmer's Market and at joke shops. Firms holding convention in Los Angeles are big buyers.

Young, who has appeared on radio, television and in the movies and served as producer and director as well as actor, says he is more interested in the second of the company's two goals than the first.

In fact, he maintains, it was the buring desire to do something to get rid of smog that put him in business.

"Gad," he recalls chocking out one day as he peered with streaming eyes at the smog-draped city, "if only we could pack this stuff up and whip it someplace."

All that remained was to draw up the articles of incorporation.

A girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Angel Maya at 4:29 p.m. on April 12 and she weighed 7 pounds and 7 ounces.

Michael Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Bartlett, was born April 15 at 8:48 a.m. He weighed 7 pounds and 5 1/2 ounces. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Art Lewis of Hereford and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Bartlett of Hereford.

BURDETTE HAD ONE LEAGUE SHUTOUT

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Lew Burdette, pitching star for the Milwaukee Braves in the World Series with three victories — two of them shutouts — over the New York Yankees, turned in only one shut-out during the National League season. It was a 1-0 victory over the Cincinnati Reds on April 18 in Milwaukee's home opener.

UNGUARDED MOMENT

CAMP DAVIS, Utah (AP)—A fire destroyed the fire station at this Utah National Guard training camp. It was unmanned at the time.

PAPA GIVES ORDERS

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—She may be a big girl now, but Diane Cross is still going to have to take orders from poppa.

Diane was recently commissioned a lieutenant in the Women's Air Force (WAF).

But poppa — Julian B. Cross — is a full colonel at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base here.

FLY-EQUIPPED HAT

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP)—Geron Tanner, deputy assessor here, has one fine fishing hat — it came to him equipped with 30 dozen hand-tied flies.

The hat was created by a friend, William Little, a federal-state vegetable inspector at Del Norte, Colo. Little figures the hat is worth $130, with the flies valued at $125.

NAME-PLATE FUN

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP)—Some Burlingtonians are having fun with desk name-plates. They look like the real article until you take a second glance. Then they show titles such as: "Stupidvisor," "Sales Mangler," "Asst. Clock Watcher," "Vice-President (in charge of vice, naturally)."

FRIEND IN NEED

CHEOKEE, Okla. (AP)—Highway Patrol Trooper Dave Dvorak had to call Alfalfa County Sheriff Aubrey Tatro for help.

The trooper stopped in at a drug store. After he finished a drink, he reached for his money and found he was without any funds. The sheriff arrived in time to loan Dvorak some money.

STUNNING COLD

BLOOMFIELD, N. J. (AP)—Winter took the sting out of millions of bees in hives across the state. Paul Schindler, a bee-keeper, said the extreme prolonged cold paralyzed the bees, millions starved to death in hives when they were unable to reach honey, only inches away.

No Scarcity of Jobs for Office Machine Operators

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The recession may be shrinking the supply of jobs in some fields, but there is one office specialty where demand apparently is still far ahead of supply. And it's one in which women can excel.

"These are requests from business firms for trained workers," said the supervisor of an office machines training center holding up a thick sheaf of papers, "and we haven't enough to fill the demand."

As she spoke women bent busily over practice machines and exercise books in a nearby classroom. There was a young wife whose husband is in the Army and who wants to work so they can establish a home sooner; a white-haired woman who came to learn operation of a new calculating machine to fit herself for a higher-paying job; a young Polish immigrant who had been a bookkeeper in her homeland but had never used machines; a polio-crippled girl who had worked as a file clerk and who was preparing herself for a better position.

Women of all ages, varying education and business experience find their way to schools such as this but many people, unfamiliar with the business world, do not know of them. They are set up by business machine manufacturers to teach operators how to handle the equipment, taking over an ever increasing share of office work.

This particular school, a non-profit training center established by Burroughs Corp., has branches in several large cities.

"It is a service to customers, to supply them with skilled personnel, and it also makes special training available to persons interested," explained Miss Margaret Klindt, supervisor of the center.

"Every woman should have an earning power," asserted Miss Klindt, who has been training women in business for over 20 years. She maintains it is not true that women in their 40s or 50s cannot get jobs.

"If they have specialized training, business firms want them, and they will find they can rise more easily to responsible positions," she said.

Some of the women who come to the center have never worked before. They may be widows or wives who have raised their families.

"It is easier for those who have worked a few years after they finished school," Miss Klindt said. "They know how to adjust to the business world."

For those already employed, the training center offers evening and partial courses. The full-time courses run from four to nine weeks, and may be in one of three major fields: calculating, billing or bookkeeping. There is a tuition fee to $3.00.

MRS. BETTY McREYNOLDS, whose husband is in the Army, gets instruction in operating a calculator from Miss Margaret Klindt.

cover cost of instruction and materials furnished. Those who complete the course satisfactorily and meet set standards of performance are "certified" by the company and helped to find jobs.

DOUBLE BLESSING
MORRILLTON, Ark. (AP) — The Morrilton Lions Club got a double blessing when club president Thomas E. Massey called on Bob Allison to say grace at a luncheon meeting.

One voice that responded was that of Bob Allison of the Morrilton club and the other that of Bob Allison, a visitor from the Conway club.

HONEY OF A STATE
MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin might be described as the fourth sweetest state in the nation.

The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service has announced that the state's production of about 14 1/2 million pounds of honey was the fourth highest in the land, and worth $2,728,000 to farmers.

TOWER OF BABEL
JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP) — Classrooms at St. Peter's College are a babel of tongues nowadays.

By using soundproof booths and tape recorders, professors are teaching several foreign languages simultaneously. Whereas only one student could recite at a time in the old classrooms, now up to 40 can recite at once by using the tape machines.

Pistols, revolvers or other firearms which can be concealed on the person are not permitted in U.S. mails.

BLUEBERRY BRUNCH—A new method of using berry kuchen, excellent for brunch or more cake mix was employed in making this blue- coffee.

Here's a New Use for Cake Mix

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor

We have just tried a new way of using a cake mix, with good results. Less liquid than is regularly called for was added to the mix, then the batter was strewn with canned drained blueberries and a crumb topping (streusel) before being baked. The blueberry kuchen that resulted was served warm, with butter passed for those who are not weight-watching.

The cake mix we used is a spanking new one designed to fit one 8- or 9-inch square or round cake pan, one 6 by 10 or 7 by 11 inch pan, as well as a number of other baking pans and dishes. The mix comes in four flavors—white, chocolate, yellow and marble. The white and yellow varieties are particularly good for upspiced cakes—not only because of their texture but because the amount of cake they yield balances the amount of fruit usually used.

We used the white cake mix for our blueberry kuchen. It would be fine to serve at a brunch or a morning coffee.

The topping given in the recipe is the sort often found on bakery products. We note this because several readers have asked us for this particular streusel.

QUICK BLUEBERRY KUCHEN

Ingredients: 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/4 cup flour, 2 tablespoons cold hard butter or margarine, 1 egg, water, 1 loaf-size package (10 ounces) white cake mix, 2/3 cup well-drained canned blueberries.

Method: Butter the bottom of a square cake pan (9 by 9 by 1 1/2 inches); lightly flour the bottom. Stir sugar and flour together in a small bowl; add the hard butter and cut in with a pastry blender just until fine crumbs are for reserve. Break egg into a measuring cup; add enough to come up to the 1/2 cup. Add egg-water to cake mix until blended. Beat with speed of electric mixer for 4 minutes; or beat with spoon for 1 minute. Turn into prepared pan. Sprinkle over reserved crumb mixture. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes or until cake tester in center comes out clean. at once, cutting squares in and lifting out with a spatula reheat in a hot oven at same time.

Note: The berries drained an 8 1/2-ounce can will yield amount needed for this recipe use 2/3 cup of the well-drained berries from a larger can.

Woman Who 'Hates Babies' Gets A Cold Shoulder from Neighbors

TIMPERLEY, England — When Mrs. Sheila Winkley's fourth baby is born next July, it will be given immediately to a childless couple in a nearby town.

Mrs. Winkley and her husband want it that way. "I hate babies," she explains. "And I don't care what people are saying."

What the people are saying has made life in Timperley somewhat chilly for the Winkley family since the 25-year-old mother announced that her unborn baby was available for adoption.

Eighty offers for adoption came in fast — almost as many as the letters of abuse from indignant people throughout Britain and even from the United States.

Although offers of adoption from America arrived too late for consideration, Mrs. Winkley says she would have liked the child brought up in the United States.

"She likes Americans," she explains. "I just adore Johnny Ray. And there's no one like Elvis Presley."

Mrs. Winkley says she gets no thing but stony stares when she goes shopping now. Someone shattered the glass in her front door with a brick. Strangers write to tell her she deserves to die in childbirth.

But Mrs. Winkley only seems more determined.

"Nothing can change my mind about the one we're expecting. My decision is firmer than ever. We shall give it away as soon as it's born."

The foster parents have been chosen, and lawyers are busy with the adoption formalities.

Mrs. Winkley's husband, Roy, is an engineer.

"He hates babies, too," she says. "Certainly I do," Winkley agrees, "It's our own business. What can it matter to anyone? We just don't want any more."

Family planning? "Well, this one was a bit unexpected," Winkley says. "After the last one was born the doctor told us we couldn't have any more. So we were surprised when we heard this one was on the way."

Mrs. Winkley emphasizes she is not giving her baby away because of financial difficulties. Her husband earns $42 a week — good pay by local standards.

You can sense the local hostility to the Winkleys as soon as you inquire about them on the bleak municipal housing development here where they live. A neighbor says "Oh, her" — and points to an unpretentious little house with virtually no garden.

Inside, it is neat and well kept. Fair-haired Mrs. Winkley looks like an ordinary fond mother, and her children are playing happily.

She puts her arm around Annette, 3, who was playing happily with a big teddy bear, and says: "Of course I love my children. It's babies I hate. And my children aren't babies any more."

PERFORMER HURT ELIZABETH N. J. — Duffy, the long-haired guinea pig, won't be on television for awhile.

The tiny pet of John Birgel broke his leg in a fall after appearing on a children's television show. A doctor set the 2 1/2-inch limb with tape and a piece of a coat hanger.

LOVES CHILDREN, HATES BABIES—Mrs. Sheila Winkley shown here with daughter Annette, 3, says she's wild about this daughter, and a son David, 7. A third child, 15 months is being cared for by welfare officials and a fourth expected in July is scheduled for adoption by a childless couple.

Tiny Neck Fibers May Hold Key to Behavior

GALVESTON — Why doesn't a husband hear his wife when she is describing her new sack dress? How can a mother sleep soundly through loud noises but awaken immediately if her infant whimper?

How can a man lift a wrecked automobile to release his wife from beneath it when a wrecker couldn't?

An anatomist at the University of Texas medical branch here believes he can correlate these and more everyday occurrences through his research findings covering seven years.

Dr. Glen V. Russell, associate professor, has written and lectured extensively on his rediscovery and detailed description of the position of a major pathway leading from the brain's reticular formation (a central column of nerve cells in the brain which appear to regulate consciousness and attentive behavior to the cortex on the surface of the brain.)

By using routine research methods he found this pathway to be made up of previously uncharted tiny fibers leading out of the reticular formation. The pathway had been predicted by physiologists but the details of the position were not known until Dr. Russell's research. His work confirms and supports the hypothesis the reticular formation is able to integrate body thought and function.

He says his work is a rediscovery because a scientist named Lewandowsky in 1904 first reported the existence of fibrous pathways, but the pronounced existence of these fibers, Dr. Russell has gone a step further by correlating anatomy and function so medical students may have a better insight to patient behavior and symptoms.

"The fibers, I believe, exert a subtle control over everyday behavior such as our ability to block out thinking of unwanted feelings or vital functions," he said, "and they also seem to control muscle action."

An everyday example of thought blockage is the sleeping mother who does hear anything but her child's cry at night, or the husband who does not hear his wife talking.

Further, the little fibers, Dr. Russell believes, are responsible for the fact a person can read or study with the radio playing, or can concentrate amidst rings of telephones or conversational chatter.

The fibers also can cause remarkable strength under stress, either emotional or physical. It's the fibers' work, Dr. Russell's work shows, that allows a 150-pound man to lift a car to release his wife trapped after a wreck.

The fibers' influence on muscles might explain why a football player, under the stress of a defeating score, can be described as "a ball of fire" in the last quarter. And, likewise, the fibers can give a mental patient, under certain conditions, the power of a prize fighter. Dr. Russell believes tranquilizing drugs work upon the reticular formation to effect some reduction in the region.

He tells his students it has been found that in cases of profound coma of accident victims and in some sudden death areas of hemorrhage of the central region of the mid-brain are found.

"Coma is an example of interference with the normal function of the reticular formation, because in the state of coma the pathway is blocked altering normal activity," he says.

BRIEF INTERLUDE

NEW YORK — Monumental patience finally paid Broadway Actor Wynn Pearce — briefly. Understudy for the lead role of the hit comedy "No Time for Sergeants," Pearce found himself restricted for 86 solid weeks to playing a bit part only as Andy Griffith and Charles Hohman, his successor, never missed a performance.

Acute tonsillitis finally felled Hohman and Pearce took over the part on a Saturday night. The audience gave him an enthusiastic reception. But two performances later Hohman returned and Pearce went back to his curt chores.

BLIND LOVE

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Two persons who had never seen each other — Le Roy Means, 46, and Priscilla Seanz, 40 — were married at a ceremony attended by 65 guests who had never seen either of them. All were blind.

HERE FROM AMARILLO

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Fritzpatrick of Amarillo were visiting in the home of Mrs. Fritzpatrick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Elliston.

Dr. Russell says, "my analysis, in all cases, may be incorrect but remember this is a working suggestion designed to stimulate thought and speculation in the borderland between psychological function and behavior. All examples are based firmly upon anatomy that we can demonstrate at the present time."

Brother of Two Hereford Men Dies

Final rites for Henry John Wilhelm, 58, brother of two Hereford men, were held Wednesday morning in the Holy Family Church of Nazareth.

Mr. Wilhelm died early Monday morning in an Amarillo hospital. He had firmed near Nazareth. He was the brother of Rank and Ray Wilhelm of Hereford. Other survivors include his wife, two sons, a daughter, three sisters and five more brothers.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deepest thanks to Dr. R. R. Willis, Dr. Mimms, Dr. Nobles and others. The hospital nurses, Mrs. McGilvery, the clinic nurse, the ministers and to those who helped watch over him in the hospital and at home. To the neighbors and friends who ministered to use in caring for our out of town family. For flowers, food and everything we thank you and May God bless and keep you is our prayer.

Gelans Are Set for Brilliant Solor Furnace

ALAMOGORDO, N. M. — Instruction is about to start on massive mountain-top tool to what intense heat does to materials which may go into a space ship.

A couple of city blocks away a giant frame holding a Venetian-blind type shutter will control the amount of light which reaches the third main part — a big saucer-shaped mirror mounted a short distance behind the shutter and in line with the first two parts.

By adjusting the shutter, Millspass explains, it will be possible to regulate the amount of light reflected from the heliostat to the parabolic (saucer) mirror so that even the heat of a nuclear explosion can be simulated, from the time it starts building up to the time it dies down.

The shutter also will act as a switch. Close it, and the path of sunlight from the heliostat to the parabolic mirror will be cut off. The saucer shape of the parabolic mirror will concentrate the sunlight into a superhot patch five inches in diameter — the largest bit of sun-heat scientists will have been able to concentrate so far.

In that spot goes the piece of material to be tested. Millspass figures that sometime in the summer of 1959 people will be able to see the finished product. "It'll be a fascinating tool," he says. "I think it'll be one of the tourist attractions of the nation. A lot of the work will be classified, but we will do our best to cooperate with the public."

TCH! TCH! — SAN DIEGO, Calif. — An airline stewardess turned down priority for a choice trans-Pacific flight to Honolulu so she could work the Los Angeles-San Diego shuttle run. Her reason: If she'd gone to Hawaii, she'd have missed her favorite television program.

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

AUDITED PAID CIRCULATION

for advertising, too!

What a fix we'd all be in without those standards of measurement for the goods you buy and sell. Imagine the confusion, waste and doubt in business transactions if we didn't have accepted standards of weights and measures—known values.

We believe it is just as necessary for us to tell you what you get for your advertising dollars, in terms of known circulation value, as it is for you to do business with your customers on the basis of recognized standards. That's why this newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

WHAT IS THE A.B.C.? The Bureau is a cooperative and nonprofit association of 3450 publishers, advertising agencies and advertisers in the United States and Canada. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. brought order out of advertising chaos by establishing a definition for paid circulation, rules and standards for measuring, auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.

WHAT A.B.C. DOES FOR YOU. At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors comes to our office and makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. He has access to all of our books and records to obtain the FACTS that tell you what you get for your money when you advertise in this newspaper.

WHAT A.B.C. REPORTS TELL YOU. The circulation FACTS obtained by the A.B.C. auditor are condensed in easy to read A.B.C. reports which tell you: How much circulation we have; where the circulation goes; how it was sold and many other FACTS about the audience we provide for your sales messages. Make your advertising investments on the basis of this audited information. Ask for a copy of our A.B.C. report.

Hereford Folks Get Stuck for Blood Types

MORE THAN 250 Hereford residents turned out to have their blood typed Monday, the opening day of establishing a "Walking Blood Bank" in Deaf Smith County.

The blood of each person is typed and filed and the person is given a card with his blood type on it, for use in case of emergency. Most persons agreed to be donors, if called upon.

Sponsoring the blood bank are the local Red Cross, Deaf Smith County Hospital and local doctors. The drive will last throughout this week with lab technicians working from 3 to 8 p.m. at the hospital.

This is the first time new blood-type cards have been issued since 1951.

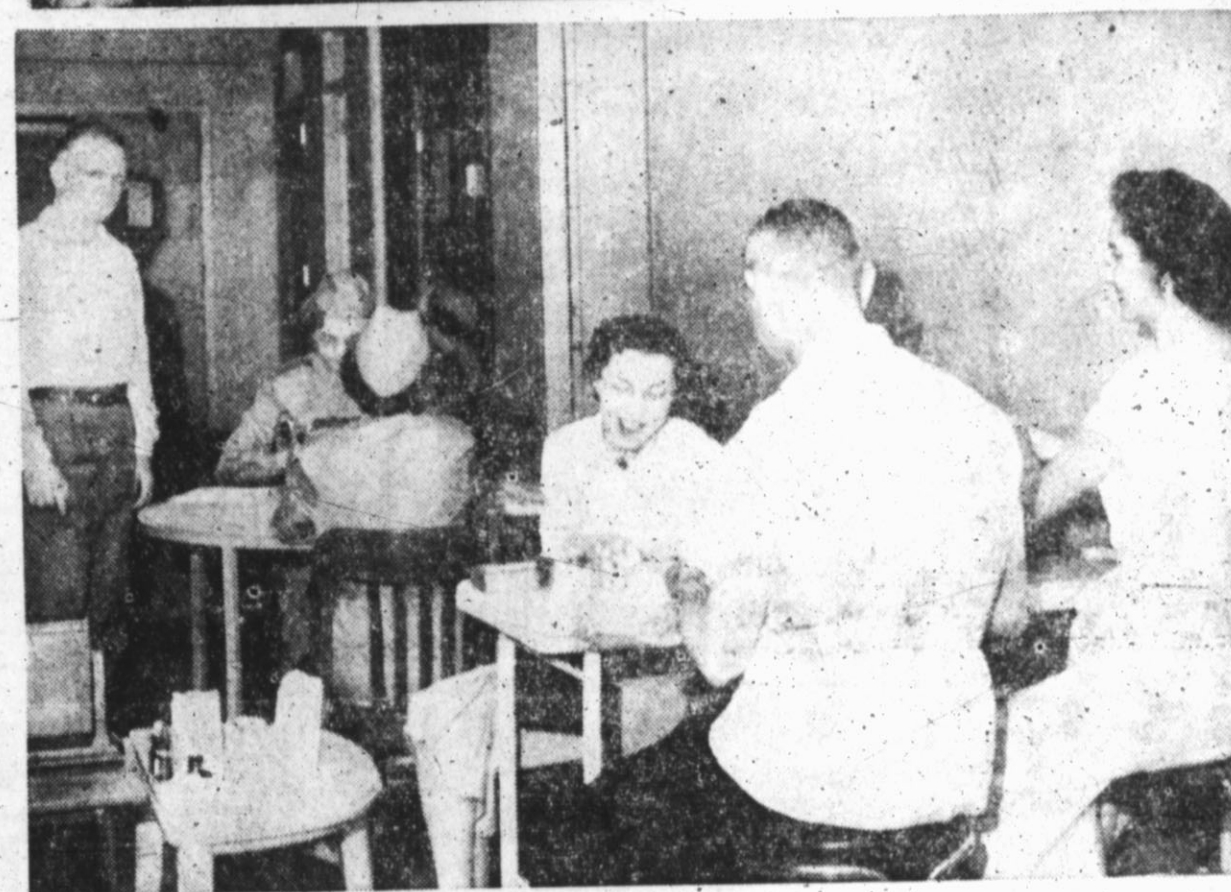

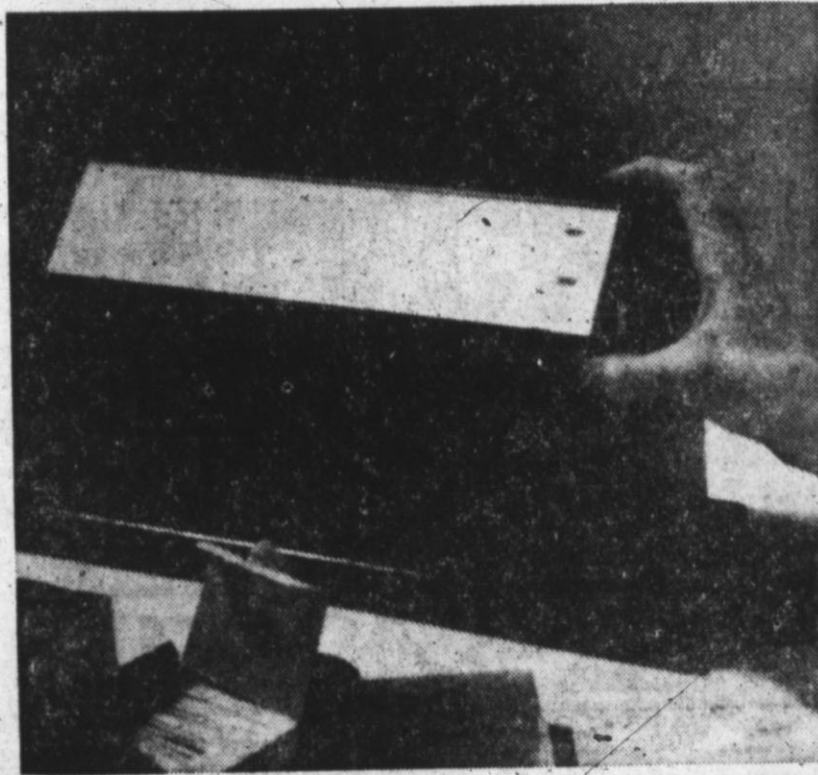

IN THE PICTURES:

At top left, lab technician O. Z. Golden has his finger pricked by Ruby Mae Annen as lab tech DeWitt Alsop waits to get the blood. Golden has type AB RH negative, the most rare form of blood.

At far lower left, the three drops of blood are treated with chemicals to prepare them for the heat lamp, next picture. The blood reacts to the chemicals and the heat and the drop which coagulates signifies the type.

At top right, Mrs. Bill Stanford has her card typed by Mrs. Lee Clark as she prepares to have her blood tested.

At lower right is an overall view of the hospital corridor where the typing is being done.

Though Early, Flowers and Weeds Flourish from Moisture

TE FROSTS AND SNOWS have failed to keep the flowers, grass, trees, and weeds from springing up blooming into beauty this area has not seen in several years. With more than six inches of precipitation having fallen on Hereford, almost everyone has found that their grass needs mowing, weeds cut and dandelions plucked from the yard. Yes, Spring is here, and vegetation is making sure we are all aware of it. In the picture on the left, weeds are shown at a height usually obtained about the first part of May. The two measurement pictures show how high the weeds (above) stand against an 18-inch stick, and grass (below) is shown at about seven inches. Only color could explain more about the flowers on the right. They are beautiful, to say the least. (Staff Photos)

ENTERS SENATE RACE—Former Senator William Blakley, models his white western hat in Dallas at a press conference, where he announced plans to run for U. S. Senate. The multi-millionaire lawyer and businessman served 4 months in 1957 as interim senator when Price Daniel resigned to become governor of Texas. Asked if he planned a town-by-town campaign, Blakley said, "I don't think so." But he also said, "I plan to move a little." (AP Photo)

By JIMMIE GILLETINE

Maybe it's just the weather but everywhere you turn these days, people are complaining about dogs. A couple of unhappy citizens were in the office this week. The dogs seem to play havoc with their lawns and shrubs, which makes their wives irate; the wives, in turn, take things out on the husbands — and this is the point where most husbands get downright interested.

A wholesale dog roundup, on the other hand, would make a lot of kids unhappy, the kids would yipe to their moms and the moms would, once again, take it out on the husbands — which puts us back where we started.

All in all, there doesn't seem to be any real good answer to this dog problem. Lo, these many years, it has been an official city headache, along with providing a serious community problem. At Boy's Ranch they let each boy have and care for his own dog — and you never saw so many mutts in your life. Honest, it looks more like a town for stray dogs than for boys. This is especially true in the summer time. Last month the City of Hereford impounded 67 dogs, and there's no telling what the records will show for April and May.

Understand Hap Wiseman gave a talk on sour-dough biscuits before one of the Home Demonstration Clubs — and made quite a hit. They say Old Hap is really tops in this particular branch of culinary art.

A representative of the Forestry Service was here from Albuquerque Monday interviewing boat and ski enthusiasts who had complained regarding stepped up charges at Buffalo Lake. The man said, however, that the fees seem to be pretty well in line to him, whereupon some of the boat owners pointed out Conchas Lake and the new Snyder Lake. In a nutshell, it appears that boat users will either pay the new scale at Buffalo — or else float their boats on Conchas. An old fashion hog — round estimate gives Hereford approximately 60 boat owners at the present time.

Proof that Hereford residents are doing their part in the proposed federal campaign to encourage optimistic spending appeared Tuesday, when the mercury dipped — and a dozen or so young ladies ventured out in shorts. Anyone who bought shorts last Friday or Saturday just had to be an optimist. Anything, however, is better than those sack models. I notice where Gloria Swanson gives them her wholehearted approval — and they are probably just about her speed. At least, I can remember Miss Swanson as being 30 or 35 years of age when I used to get into the movies on a child's ticket — and that doesn't leave Miss Swanson much room to tell the younger gals exactly what is chic in 1957.

Farmers lucky enough to have cotton allotments are about the only ones who haven't been complaining. Most of our cotton is planted in early May, and the growers are right happy about the moisture. Which reminds me, Go ahead and let your wife put that old beat-up overcoat in the rummage sale! You might need it once or twice, but not for long at a stretch — and the sun will probably warm things up during the day. The long, hard winter is about to come to an end. More rain, though, during April and May. The potato boys won't like it, but it sure is a bannanza for the wheat grower. I still say we are going to have a bumper wheat crop in '58. You haven't seen anything like it in a long, long time.

Messenger H. D. Studies Furniture

The Messenger Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Ernest Brown Friday at 2:30 p.m. for a program on "Selection of Furniture." Mrs. Argen Draper presented the program.

Mrs. Draper pointed out that in buying furniture you should look at the tag on the upholster. She told the group that the white tag shows it is new material and the yellow tag means it is used material.

Mrs. S. N. Thweatt won the recreation prize, Mrs. J. E. Rouse received the gift and Mrs. Argen Draper won the game prize.

Present were Mesdames N. A. Brown, S. N. Thweatt, Elmer Northcutt, Floyd Brown, Jack Buse, Argen Draper and Ernest Brown.

the Lee Benefields in Paris, also affording the background for a reunion of some consequence. When all of these travelers get their slides back, things should really start picking up.

Clara and I were down in Orange, Texas, over the week-end — and that's quite a hop. This area is being industrialized rapidly. Much faster, it seems to me, than the progress of the town. They call the Orange-Beaumont-Port Arthur area the "Golden Triangle." It always reminded me of the "Golden Spread" deal sponsored by the Amarillo News.

POLITICS didn't hold much interest for the Gulf Coast editors, though quite a few did think Price Daniel would be smart to accept the presidency of Baylor University, given the opportunity. Some figured Yarborough would run for governor, but most of them did not. They also seem to think that the Blakely-Yarborough tussel will get pretty hot, provided Yarborough runs for the U. S. Senate again. It's the same old story, Left Wing vs. Conservatives.

It is also interesting to note that the boys from farming areas in the Tyler-LaGrange-Austin countries talk about this "new crop" called "milo." Anyway, it is fairly new to many of the growers in those areas — and they seem to think it is a real windfall. Some even report elevator construction to handle the crop. "It's a good price," they will tell you, "and no acreage allotments!"

This, of course, isn't exactly what you hear out in the real milo country but, with the cuts in cotton acreage, it figures that the crop should spread. What it will ultimately do to the areas which depend on milo largely for income is a story all of us can watch unfold in the future. Anyway, East and Central Texas seem to be moving in on the grain sorghum business.

It does prove what I always thought: West Texas stays about five years ahead of East Texas. The only trouble is that East Texas invariably winds up with all of the money, so it is hard to say who is really ahead of whom. (That sounds screwy enough to be right but, if it isn't, I'll hear from my teen age daughter.)

SOME JOKES Report from a man who spent 30 days in a nudist colony: "The thing that impressed me most was a cane bottom chair."

A man whose dog won fights far and wide was approached one day by a fellow with a stumpy-looking little mutt with a long snout. After the proper wagers were lodged, a match was set and, right off, the little dog bit the prize winner right into halves.

"Well, you won," said the owner of the prize dog, "but tell me one thing, 'What breed is that critter of yours?'"

"Before I cut off his tail and filed down those knots," replied the other man, "most folks said he looked like an alligator."

"This vase, Madam," said the antique dealer, "is more than 2,000 years old. One of our finest."

"Don't try your tricks on me," answered the lady, "how could it be 2,000 years old when this is only 1957?"

The furniture buying program in clubs is proving to be good. I am interested in where people get their first furniture. It seems that the attic and the cellar still furnish newbies with the most furniture. When buying furniture follow the rule of simplicity. Select the easy to live with, easy to look at, and easy to care for style.

This year's furniture tends to combine modern with traditional styles. It is not severe and bleak nor purely informal. The accent has changed from straight lines to a softer look. Colors are warm and materials are rich. Many pieces are designed to serve a variety of purposes, and to shift from room to room. To keep the whole house in mind in selecting furniture makes it much easier when moving into different type house from the one when the furniture is chosen. Furniture reflects your taste and judgment. It also involves a large expenditure of money. It will be used for many years, and may receive hard wear and demand much care. So, whether you are buying furniture replacements, or just starting to furnish, take time to plan and shop carefully.

THINKING OF DOING some painting, papering, or reupholstering this summer? If so, choose colors for a reason! — to get the special effects that you may want and at the same time provide a comfortable, pleasant background for everyday living.

Begin by analyzing the room. Its use, shape and exposure will determine colors best suited. Decide how you want the room to look. Will it be light and gay, restful or dramatic? Do you want it to be predominantly warm or cool?

A good color plan has few colors, usually no more than two or three — in different values and intensities. The best color schemes grow from a dark color, a light color and a bright color. Black, white and grey are not considered colors, but are often used to give a needed accent of light or dark.

Choose your favorite color if you do not need to consider the color or colors of furnishings which you must keep. Or select a picture or print which has your chosen colors and plan your scheme from that.

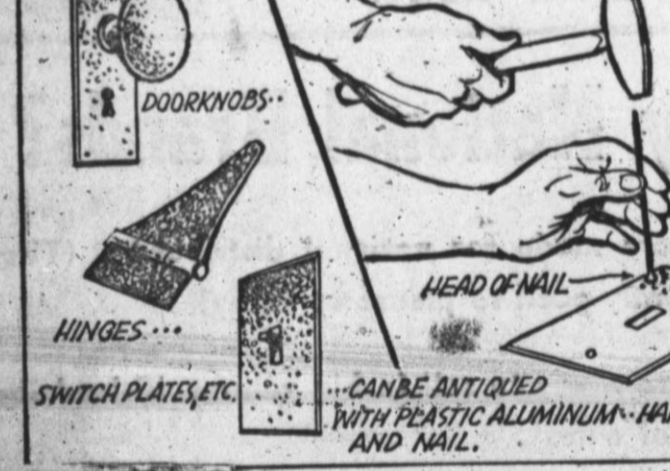

GOOD PROPORTION of the different colors is important. This means that your color scheme will be definitely dark or light and that eight warm or cool colors will predominate. Proportions of 60 per cent of area for one color, 30 per cent for a second color and 10 per cent for accent, insure good proportion.

When you place the colors in a room, choose the color for the largest areas first — floor covering, walls and large upholstered pieces. In most cases, these are your most livable colors, or colors that are greyed in intensity. Next, choose colors for small upholstery and the window treatment. This treatment may be a blend of the room colors, or match or contrast with the walls. Lastly, choose your colors for accessories and small areas — pillows, lamps, ash trays, etc. Usually, this accent color is the brightest color.

Hope to see you at the 4-H Demonstrations for the County Contest Saturday at the Court Room and at the REA Kitchen.

If you're tired of the door hardware and light switches in your home, they can be transformed into anciently-mellow antique finishes.

It's a simple job, requiring only a screw driver, a couple of ordinary nails and hammer, an easy-to-apply tube of plastic aluminum — and some flat black paint.

Here's the step by step procedure for the job: Unscrew hinges, knobs and switch plates and lay them out on some work area.

Squeeze a generous layer of plastic aluminum on the exposed areas of the hardware.

Now, before the aluminum hardens, pock mark the exposed areas with the head of a nail and hammer to achieve an effect somewhat resembling hammer marks.

Then stipple some other parts of the hardware with the point of a nail to produce a weather-beaten look.

After the plastic aluminum is thoroughly dry, paint all hardware pieces with the flat black paint.

The result is close to the real wrought iron wanted by many homeowners for basement playrooms and recreation rooms.

You'd have to use a chisel on the pieces to tell the difference from real wrought iron — and it's much less expensive than buying new wrought iron hardware.

RE'S HOW

Mementoes Build Living Wall

AP Newsfeatures

Anything goes on the wall these days. This news should ease the man whose wife picks odds and ends at antique shops and shows, only to hear him ask: "Now, what are you going to do with that?"

He can tell him now, without giving an eyelash, that she is going to use her new "treasures" to brighten up the house. There is nothing about an old sampler or whale oil lamp that makes a man look like it had roots.

She doesn't visit the antique shops, she can get a lived-in look exhibiting some of the memorabilia in the attic trunk. Old birth certificates, children's diplomas honor awards, father's service cards and mother's garden club lions, may all be used to brighten up a room area.

The small antiques — samplers, quilts, coats of arms, prints, carvings, Civil War mementoes, primitive portraits, wooden toy boards, fans, dessert and other molds, candle-sticks, are popular these days. The prices are that these items will in greater demand than ever at the New York Antiques Fair this year.

A little hall or a foyer is an ideal place to display a collection of old items. A sleigh seat formed focal point for one such group. On one side of the seat there is an old butter churn. Above it are signed American silhouettes, prints dating to 1742, a samplers, dated 1839, and flower prints mounted in frames. On either side of the seat are some old gas lighting fixtures with ivy. An American eagle reads his wings above the seat. A powder horn hangs between bird pictures.

A collection of samplers above a bachelor chest makes a charming display for a man's room. A dry sink also takes interestingly the idea of wall groupings. A row of shelves above the sink, in this instance, was used to display an 18th century whale oil lamp, patent medicine bottles, brass mortars and pestles, an antique coffee grinder, and a pair of signed American silhouettes.

It's a good idea however, to mark off your display before pounding in picture hooks into the wall. There is a method recommended by antique dealers:

Mark off with a string on a flat surface, such as a carpet or bare floor, the dimensions of the wall to be decorated. Arrange the objects you wish to use within this area, and study the layout from a few feet away. If you have a step-ladder handy, climb up and look down upon the arrangement to give yourself a good perspective.

Arrange the objects in different patterns until they are pleasing to your eye. Balance off pairs of objects, and make sure that they are of equal height and location within the scheme. Variety is what counts, so do not try to match everything in pairs. Mix types and textures, colors and sizes.

When the layout suits you, measure the distance of each object from its two nearest boundaries, and pencil mark a corresponding spot on the wall. It will be an easy matter with this advance preparation to pound hooks and nails into proper places.

Bounty-jumper was a term used during the Civil War to denote men who enlisted in the U. S. Army to receive the government bounty, then deserted.

Scout District Hires Executive

B. J. Lewis, new district scout executive to service Dallam-Hartley-Sherman and Moore Districts, came to work for the Llano Estacado Council, Boy Scouts of America, on April 15 and is living in Dalhart.

He attended the 146th National Training School at Mendham, N.J. This is a training school for the professional men have to attend in order to be Scout Executives.

Lewis was graduated from San Angelo High School in 1944 and from Hardin-Simmons University in 1950 with a B. B. A. Degree. He served in the 301st Battalion Seabees.

He has earned a Wood Badge Training Award Certificate by doing additional study of the program of the Boy Scouts of America. He is an Eagle Scout and has earned the Silver Award which is the highest rank for Explorer Scouts. He is a member of the Order of the Arrow. He attended the Region Nine Camp School in 1954 and received a certificate for completing the requirements for aquatics.

Lewis attended the National Jamboree in 1953 as assistant scoutmaster. While in College he was Scoutmaster and Explorer Advisor of Units in Abilene.

He was born and raised at San Angelo. Before coming to this Council he was employed in the Yucca Council at El Paso and Silver City, N.M.

Frankie? He's Terrible?

By HUGH MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Singer Frankie Vaughan, a thoroughly British answer to Elvis Presley, is encountering no end of difficulty over the way the mother tongue is employed here in the colonies.

After appearing at a disc jockey convention in Kansas City, Frankie was enthusiastically told that his act was "terrible" and that, by comparison, the preceding singer had "laid a bomb."

He was quite put out about it. In England, even among the cool Teddy Boy set, terrible is still terrible, if not downright awful, while a bomb is definitely considered a rum good show.

But in Kansas City, where everything is more up to date than ever, Frankie was relieved to learn that terrible now means wonderful in teen-ager argot and a bomb is the worse kind of dud.

"Everything, you see, is quite in reverse," he said, in between bites on a thoroughly American hamburger. "It can be a bit unsettling until one gets used to it."

Frankie, who looks strikingly like Victor Mature and sings like a West End edition of Frankie Lane, has just cut his first album, called "Man Alive," for Epic Records and has scored several smashing successes in guest spots on network television shows. His latest movie, "Dangerous Youth," which treats of the Teddy Boy problem, will have its American premiere in June.

Already teen-agers on this side of the ocean are flooding him with letters and flocking about his Manhattan hotel waiting for autographs. If the rage continues unabated, Frankie may become a sort of reverse lend lease Elvis Presley, but without the guitar and sideburns.

Where rock 'n' roll is concerned, British and American tastes are quite similar. Frequently, the same songs appear in the top 10 on both sides of the ocean simultaneously. "Actually," says Frankie, "the British are even more record crazy than Americans. Some of our hits sell 750,000 copies, which is pretty fantastic for a small country. Our disc jockies, however, are not as powerful. There are only seven in the whole country, compared to the thousands I saw in Kansas City, and their job is to play the hits rather than make them."

When he delivers a rhythm and blues number in his typical slambang musical hall style, Frankie all but abandons his precise Liverpool accent and employs the customary hillbilly dialect of his American competitors.

A New York taxi driver, who had Frankie as a passenger after catching his act on television, found this particularly disconcerting.

"How come," he wanted to know, "you talk like a Limey and sing like a Yank?"

Teen-agers, on the other hand, think that the combination of British accent and American yodel adds greatly to Frankie's rugged charm. If the crush on him gets out of hand, they may even trade in their black leather jackets and blue jeans for the velvet-cuffed Edwardian jackets and drain pipe trousers affected by Frankie's youthful admirers in England.

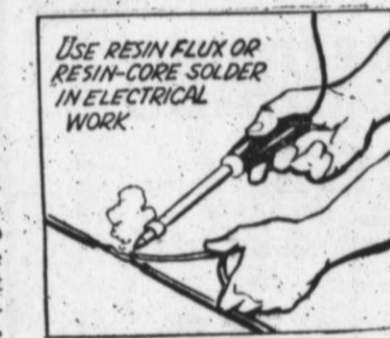

Here's the Answer

By ANDREW C. LANG

QUESTION: I expect to make a large coffee table within the next few weeks. I have a large piece of birch plywood left over from another project, but it is only a quarter of an inch thick. My plans call for the table top to be three-quarters of an inch thick. In order to save money, I thought about the possibility of buying the cheapest grade of plywood available in half-inch size and then gluing it to the thinner birch in order to get the required thickness. The birch side of the combination would, of course, be the upper side of the table top. But I don't want to start this job unless I am sure that the 2 pieces of plywood can be glued together permanently. Can you advise me?

ANSWER: First, we'll have to agree that when we say permanently, we don't mean forever, since nothing material has permanence. Aside from that, the answer is yes, you can glue together the 2 pieces of plywood so that they will hold permanently. Use a good quality wood glue, spreading it evenly and clamping the wood together for 24 hours. Or you can use contact cement, in which case no clamps are necessary but extra care must be taken to see that the 2 pieces of wood are aligned perfectly before bonding.

QUESTION: About a year ago, I made a splice in an electric lamp cord. The lamp would not light the other day. I could find no apparent reason, so I finally took the splice apart. I found that, at the point where I had made the splice, it was all corroded. Can you tell me what caused this? I made the splice in what I thought was the right way. I sanded the wires a little, wound them together securely, put on some flux and then soldered the connection.

ANSWER: The chances are that you used an acid flux or an acid-core solder or both. No flux or solder with acid in it should be used in any electrical work, since it has a corrosive effect. In making a new splice, be sure to use a resin flux or, if you are using one of the solders that do not require flux, a resin-core solder.

Community Girl Is New FHA President

By MRS. CARL WIMBERLEY

Betty Hagar of Dawn has been elected president of the Royal Rose Chapter of the FHA at the Hereford High School to serve 1958 and 1959 school term. Betty, who will be a senior, has been active in FHA all during her high school years.

Rain totalling two thirds to over an inch fell from Friday night through Sunday. Snow covered the ground in some places Saturday morning. The rainfall was heavier to the west part of the community. Roads are very muddy. Precipitation recorded by the government gauge at Carl Wimberley's farm was 2.76 inches for March and the total to date of 5.25 inches for this year.

Attendance at the services of the Dawn Church Sunday was only 16 people. Beginning Sunday, April 20, the Training Union time will be changed to 7 p.m. and evening worship services at 8 p.m.

The Dawn Home Demonstration Club will meet Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Leo Hoffman. The members of the South Hereford Club will be guests of the local group.

Mr. and Mrs. Rea Cox and children spent Easter Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hynds at Pampa.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Brown and children of Borger recently spent a night at their farm south of Dawn.

Mrs. Muri Little and sons went to Cheyenne, Okla., Friday to get Mrs. Little's grandmother, Mrs. Nelson, who has been in a hospital there. They returned home Saturday.

Mrs. Muri Little's mother, Mrs. Ruth McDuffey, recently purchased a house trailer which is located near the Little home. Mrs. McDuffey lives there when she is not working.

Miss Bertha Frye returned home this week from a visit of several months with relatives and friends in El Paso.

Mrs. Louie K. Wetzel and son Karl of Amarillo visited Monday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Miller and family.

Mrs. Miller and children called in the home of Miss Vera Crawford in Canyon Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Caraway, Mrs. L. W. Tooley and Mrs. Zed Stewart went to Stratford Thursday to attend the District Home Demonstration Club Convention. In the afternoon they were guests at a tea given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hartland Caraway for the women of Deaf Smith County. The Hartland Caraway family are formerly of Hereford.

The Dawn P-TA will meet Monday evening at 8 p.m. at the school auditorium. Mrs. Argen Draper will speak on "Vocational Opportunities." Mrs. Reece Stewart and Mrs. J. B. Caraway will present special music. Everyone is invited to be present.

Orval Galley and children, Robert and Janice visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Galley in Hereford after church services Sunday evening. A cousin, Leland Turner of Oklahoma City was there visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Fleoda Galley.

A family gathering was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Smith Friday evening. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Weeter and children of Borger, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Johnson and sons,

Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Miller and family. Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Neal and children spent the weekend at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Murphy at Clarendon.

The Woman's Missionary Society met Friday afternoon at the church. Mrs. Leonard Schmidt presided over the business meeting.

The Girl's Auxiliary and Sunbeams met after school. Mrs. Walter Lemons was a visitor.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Dow and Della Ruth returned home Sunday from Elk City, Okla., where they visited her mother who is ill.

Women's Tag Team Match Scheduled

A tag team match between two Negro women wrestlers is scheduled for Saturday night at the Bull Barn. The match is between Ethel Johnson and Lula Mae. The match is scheduled for two out of three falls with an hour time limit. Funk and Evans continue their feud with two out of three falls with an hour time limit. Last week Funk defeated Killer. Funk is a newcomer to the Hereford ring. Dory won the first fall. Christie stayed outside the ring too long and then both fighters were disqualified for wrestling outside the ring, and Funk was awarded the win.

Cotton Seed Standards Are Lowered Again

LUBBOCK — Germination standards for certified cotton seed have been temporarily lowered again for the 1957 seed crop. Dr. A. W. Young, chairman of the State Seed and Plant Board, has announced. This lowering of the germination standard is a temporary emergency measure for the '57 seed crop. Young, emphasized in announcing the decision of the board, is also head of the agronomy department in the Texas Tech school of Agriculture.

The action permits producers of germinating cottonseed, produced under certification regulations in 1957, to place certification on lots of seeds showing germination down to 40 per cent. Young noted that in January the board made a temporary approval lowering germination from 80 per cent to 60 per cent. The decision to again lower germination to 40 per cent was made at a meeting recently.

"Reason for the change is that farmers in some sections of the state already have had to re-plant their cotton acreage and are unable to find adequate quantities of seed for the re-planting," Young said. "It is the board's opinion," he explained, "that if it is necessary to growers to plant seed with germination below 60 per cent, it will be better to plant the low germination seed produced under certification than to plant low germination seed of unknown or questionable origin." Young said, "The farmer should expect to purchase the low germinating seed at a reduced price since it will contain less live seed per bushel than seed germinating at a higher percentage." Young said, "However, the reduction in price is not proportional to the reduction in germination since it is the same to cull, treat, bag and tag both the low and higher germination seed," he added.

REP. WALTER ROGERS WRITES:

Group Charges U.S. Supports Batista's Cuban Dictatorship

To the people of the 18th District: Ten persons, representing themselves as former members of the Cuban Congress, have sent a memorandum to the members of the United States Congress. This memorandum includes statements of a very serious nature, insofar as the United States is concerned. For instance, the second paragraph of the letter is as follows:

"There is at present a widespread belief in Cuba that the United States Government is supporting Batista's ruthless dictatorship in contradiction to the repeatedly declared American policy in favor of world freedom and democracy. This belief is buttressing Batista's dictatorship, prolonging the terrible civil war now ravaging the country and seriously impairing the prestige and good-will of the United States in Cuba."

You will note that the statements contained in that paragraph are conclusions of the writers and not facts; however, this paragraph is followed by another paragraph containing four subheads purporting to document supporting facts. A close observation of the matter contained in the four subheads reveals the assumption of facts rather than the documentation thereof.

The information has been sent out by one Dr. Lincoln Rodon, 5121 Alton Road, Miami Beach, Fla., and he is joined by nine others. The gravity of the charges would certainly warrant a full investigation by the Department of State, the Department of Justice, and the Department of Defense.

The President's proposal to reorganize the Defense Department will probably cause major fireworks on Capitol Hill. There is a decided division of opinion as to the role that should be played by civilians in the military setup. It is accepted that the military has always been very jealous of what it considers its jurisdiction. This applies not only to the military as a whole, but to the several departments of the military, to wit, the Army, the Air Force and the Navy.

In fact, there have been rumors of jealousies cropping up between the different branches of each of the departments. It is these inter-service rivalries that could be the major factor prompting the President's new proposal. It will be remembered that it was only a few years ago that our military establishment was reorganized and the Office of Secretary of Defense created. This new office was given cabinet status and replaced the former Secretary of War and Secretary of the Navy. That reorganization was supposed to answer all of the inter-service problems and unify under one command the operations of our military. The purpose to be accomplished was a more effective military operation at less cost to the taxpayer.

It has been argued many times that unification was not accomplished by that reorganization and that costs were not reduced but increased; that the actual result was nothing more than the creation of a new and additional department of the military. It would certainly be safe to say that the sought after result was not accomplished by the previous reorganization; otherwise, there would be no need for the new proposals of the President. Whether or not the President is right in this new approach is not the controlling question in my mind. The fact is that something must be done in order to carry our entire military establishment. Our national security program now consumes over 60 cents of each tax dollar.

In other words, the security program is slated to receive almost 46 billions of dollars out of the 75 billion dollar budget request of the President for the 1959 fiscal year. During the 1959 fiscal year the government will collect 38.5 billions of dollars in individual income taxes. This is more than half of all of the taxes collected by the federal government from every source. The military not only consumes all of the individual income taxes, but must dip into other taxes to the tune of an additional 7.3 billions.

Speaker Named for Historical Society

CANYON (Special) — Speaker for the 37th annual meeting May 9 of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society will be Dr. D. M. Wiggins, Lubbock banker and former president of Texas Technological College.

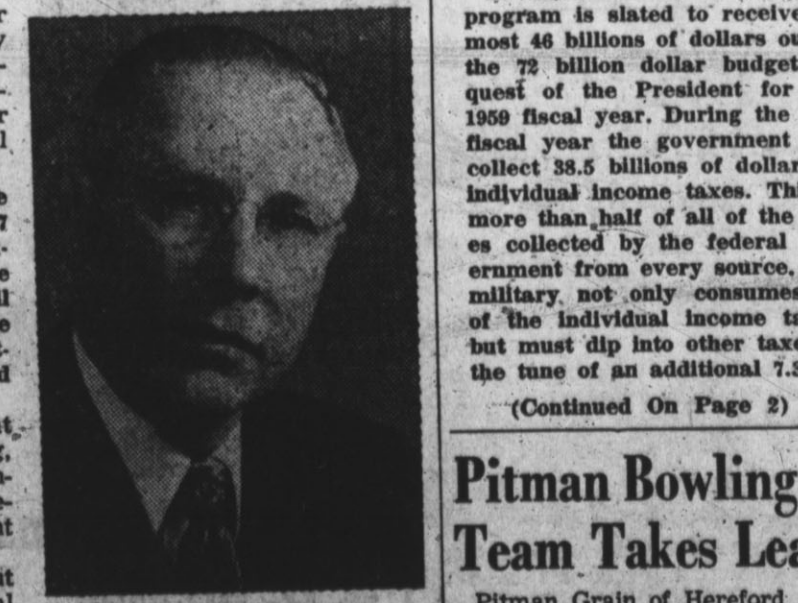

Dr. Wiggins will address the society's evening banquet at 7 p.m., according to Floyd V. Stender of Amarillo, president of the society. The annual meeting will include a session of the executive committee at 2 p.m., and a meeting of the board of directors and members at 3 p.m.

New officers will be elected at the afternoon business meeting, and will be presented at the banquet. Committee chairmen will report and an auditor's statement will be heard.

Plans are being made for about 400 members to attend the annual dinner meeting in the West Texas State College cafeteria. The society has members in 63 of Texas' counties and in about 15 states.

Though he is a native of Louisiana, Dr. Wiggins was reared in Canadian, where he completed grade and high school work. He attended Goodnight College, transferring to Hardin-Simmons University in 1916. He was coach and principal at Burk Burnett High School.

During World War I, Dr. Wiggins served at the Central Officers' Training School at Waco, and following the war, he re-entered Hardin-Simmons and received his B. A. degree in 1919.

DE. D. M. WIGGINS

In 1920, Dr. Wiggins returned to Canadian as principal-coach, and two years later he became superintendent of schools there. During the years 1925-30, he received the M. A. degree at Yale, did graduate work at the University of Chicago, and returned to Yale for the Ph. D. degree.

From 1926 until 1935, Dr. Wiggins was professor of education and dean of students at Hardin-Simmons. He holds the LL.D. degrees from Hardin-Simmons and Texas Tech.

The speaker was named president of the society.

AUSTIN HIGHLIGHTS

Politicos Tuning Up for Campaign

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, — Next summer's campaigners are tuning up to play from a familiar score — the conservative vs. liberal melody Texas voters have been hearing for years. But, like the rock 'n' roll version of a Stephen Foster song, it may sound different. Campaign pitches will have to keep time to the fast beat of 1958's new issues. Such as "curing the recession" and "catching up in education."

On the federal level, talk is of cutting taxes to give the people more money to spend. Here in Texas, it's raising taxes to give the state more money to spend. In a situation like this, a voter can get confused.

For each issue, there'll be several choruses — more or less drowning each other out. Some will chant of scaring away recession with large-scale government spending. Others will say the only way is to give business a break.

For schools, some are calling for a nationwide program to require more work from students, provide better teachers at better pay, more lab equipment, scholarships for promising students, etc. But many Texans say "never" to any scheme that would eat away at local control over schools.

On how to get money to bail out the state treasury, there are already a number of tunes being struck up — sales taxes, income taxes, corporation taxes, more economy in government — but no prospect of close harmony.

who had to "work out" for other farmers, Blakely parlayed a little grit into a lot of money — in law, banking, real estate, ranching, oil, gas, insurance and an air line.

He'll not be troubled by most candidates' sorest problem — raising campaign funds.

Incumbent Yarborough has made statements leaving the door open for either of two courses — running for another Senate term or a fourth try at the governorship.

PURSE-WATCHER NEEDED — Texas' governor should have some power to keep a hand on state purse strings after the Legislature leaves.

So says Vernon McGee, director of the Legislative Budget Board. McGee heads the board with responsibility for studying the fiscal needs of all state departments and making recommendations to the Legislature.

Under present system, McGee pointed out, after the Legislature makes its appropriations, only the individual department heads are responsible for how the money is spent. Many administrators are admirably "tight-fisted," McGee said, but others will spend money, that could be saved for later needs, just because they have it.

McGee's recommendation: give the governor authority to ask for periodic reports from departments and to cut from their budgets items no longer necessary.

Most other states have this system, said McGee.

STILL TOO MUCH OIL — Despite severe cuts in production, Texas is still producing more oil than anyone wants to buy. It could mean even deeper cuts and more idle drilling rigs next month.

Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson noted an increase of 1,208,000 barrels in stocks of crude oil. It shows, he said, that April's lowest-in-history, 8-day production

Edgar Horton Is Going to Korea

FORT COLLINS, Colo. — Leaving Fort Carson after three years for a tour of duty in Korea is CWO Edgar M. Horton, son of Mrs. R. S. Naylor of Hereford.

Entering the Army in Aug., 1935, Horton was a bandsman for the first 14 years of his Army career. He was a member of the 33rd Armored Regiment Band during World War II in Germany.

At Carson since March 1, 1955, Horton has been the chief, operations branch, Adjutant General section. Previous to his Carson stint, Horton was in Stuttgart, Germany, in the intelligence section, Headquarters VII Corps. He attended Intelligence School at Oberammergau, Germany in 1954.

Horton makes his permanent home in Manitou Springs, at 817 Midland Ave. His family, which includes besides four children, two dogs and 10 cats, will live in Manitou while Horton is on duty in Korea.

SET TO GO — Texas Highway Department is poised for a $36,000,000 speed-up in road building if a new stepped-up federal aid bill becomes law.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer said the bill, sent to the President by Congress, would enable Texas to avoid a summer lull in highway construction. Texas has already planned the projects in anticipation of the money, said Greer.

Designed as an anti-recession measure, the bill specifies the extra money must be spent within 12 months.

It won't put all the unemployed people to work, said Greer, but it will stimulate the economy. And, he added, it's not a "leaf-raking job."

SCIENTISTS MUST EAT — With all the emphasis on scientific education, importance of training farmers and ranchers should not be neglected, said Gov. Price Daniel.

Speaking to a Future Farmers group, the governor said food is as necessary to the nation's defense as development of better weapons.

Texas' farm population, he noted, has declined by more than one-half since 1933.

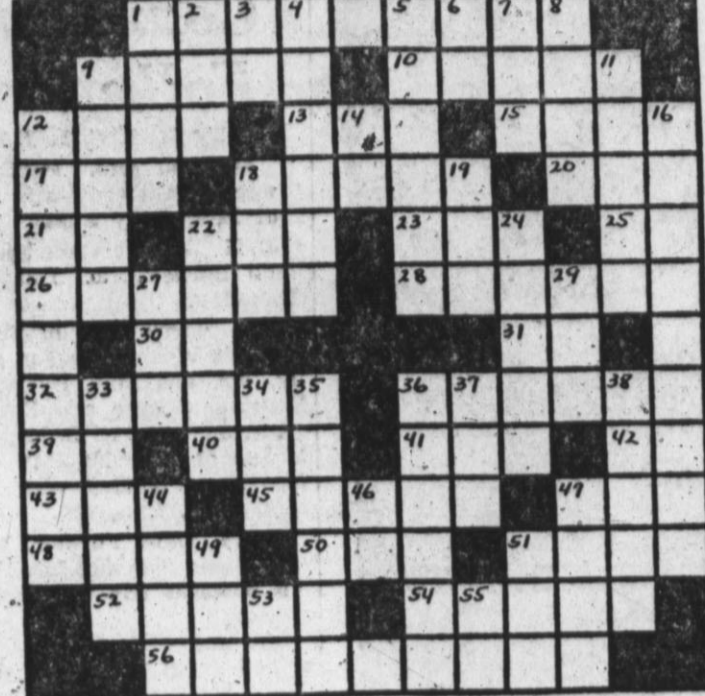

PINCH ON SMALL SCHOOLS — Small schools are going to have to help to meet higher state standards in math and science, says Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro.

Beginning with the 1959-60 term, high schools are to be required to teach four years of science and four years of math. Sen. Martin said he doubted smaller districts had or could get, without assistance, the necessary staff and equipment to meet the new standard.

"Most have gymnasiums," he observed, "but a lot lack laboratories."

Cotton Preferred For Home Drapes

LIVING ROOM draperies in U. S. homes are more likely to be made of cotton than any other fabric fiber, according to a U. S. Department of Agriculture survey made last summer. Four in 10 of the homemakers who had living room draperies said they preferred cotton and also said they preferred cotton. Their reasons: 1. Cotton is durable; 2. easy to wash; 3. can be laundered at home; 4. is inexpensive and economical. Cotton and rayon mixtures and rayon rated second in use for draperies and plastic third, the survey showed.

indicated increasing interest in draperies that wash easily and require no ironing. In fact, 85 per cent of the homemakers said they wanted drapery fabric that is easy to care for and requires minimum effort to clean. Appeal of the no-iron fabric was indicated by the fact that while only 2 per cent of the women now own fiber-glass drapes, 10 per cent said they would prefer them. About 10 per cent of the women were interested in other of the newer drip-dry synthetics.

Most draperies were opaque so they could be used to give privacy and protect against bright light, as might be expected in these days of picture windows and other large windows. Women in the upper income groups who lived in or near cities were the most likely to have drapes.

The back of the American taxpayer is already at the breaking point; therefore, it is essential that every effort be made to provide better efficiency at less cost in the military. This will not only better serve the defense of this nation, but can also be the source of much needed tax relief for John Q. Public. Let us all hope partisanship will not prevent a sound and practical evaluation of our military establishment to the end that proper changes be made in keeping with our best interests.

Delegates of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale are meeting in Los Angeles, Calif., on April 14 for their 51st convention. These delegates came through Washington and were entertained several times. The delegates came from both sides of the Iron Curtain, some being from Russia, Poland, Rumania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia. They were welcomed in the Rose Garden of the White House by the President, who told them, among other things:

"If we can get people talking to each other, living together, going to each other's homes, I am certain that most of the world's troubles would be over..."

"I have tried in this country, to talk about people meeting people. I think governments are far more stupid than are their people."

These delegates, 200 strong, were also entertained by the Washington Aeronautics Club at the Mayflower Hotel where they were addressed by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. F. A. Ballet Boosts U.S. Cultural Prestige

TOKYO — A group of leggy young American barnstormers has started the Japanese thinking there may be culture in the United States after all.

Before the New York City Ballet troupe flashed onstage in Tokyo — with a verve that kept some reviewers coming back for every performance — the most accessible yardsticks of the American arts were rock 'n' roll, canned television comedies, widescreen movies and reports from returning Japanese that creativity across the Pacific was being stifled by comfort.

While the New York dancers by no means caused a slump in the rock 'n' roll, television or movie business, they did give Japan's reviewers a rare opportunity to say something first-hand and enthusiastic about American art. Most of them took it.

"One of the world's greatest artistic achievements. . . Indeed, the greatest ballet in the contemporary world. . . Full of the freshness, the brashness and the athletic ardor one has come to associate with America. . . Japan has never before seen anything even faintly like the New York City Ballet. . ."

wrote the critics.

The traditionally passive Japanese audience, including the Emperor's son and the Prime Minister, also seemed caught in the fervor from the stage and the 71-member troupe was given the rare tribute of spontaneous applause throughout its Tokyo stay.

More reluctant critics, who despaired for the American fire-cracker-like approach to the dance, the absence of schmaltz and the presence of teen-agers on the ballet stage, confined themselves to praising the choreography of George Balanchine and Jerome Robbins and the directing of Lincoln Kirstein.

Until the first applause died down, Tokyo's Western community gloomily prophesied that the New Yorkers would fall flat in Japan. American culture, they noted, was not readily accepted here and six months ago Russia's Bolshoi Ballet reaped superlatives for 20 performances.

The expected Bolshoi vs. New York contest, however, never quite materialized.

Several cities compared the American techniques unfavorably with the Russian, bemoaned the departure from tradition, and one went so far as to say NYC's interpretation of the classics was sub-standard. Generally, however, the dissenters agreed that the two schools were so diverse that objective comparison was difficult, if not impossible.

"It is a brand new art, made in the U.S.A. and yet universal in its appeal," said one newspaper. "We didn't get as much applause as usual," said Jacques d'Amboise, 23-year-old soloist. "Some of our work is satirical, and I don't think they understand the satire. They like 'Swan Lake' and the emotional things."

"The Japanese dancers I've talked to seemed disappointed in the Bolshoi and impressed with us," said d'Amboise.

"The audience is fine, although the applause hasn't been as much as we're used to," venture Allegra Kent, pert and 20, who was hailed as "simply amazing" by the reviews.

Off the stage, the dancers trekked unbeaten paths through the Japanese capital, most of their 24-hour-a-day dancers instead of tourists or cultural ambassadors.

Some, dressed in tights, swarmed into the tiny Japanese restaurants in Shinjuku around the Koma Theatre where they performed, bewildering the pedestrians and amusing the Japanese shopkeepers.

D'Amboise, an American TV specialty dancer and dancing lead in three Hollywood movies, moved his family into a Japanese-style hotel. They slept on the floor and did some of their own cooking.

The dancing d'Amboises — son George, age 16 months, does plies with the old folks and wife Caroline formerly danced in the corps — ducked the pearl and brocade stores and shopped for a kite for the "Honorable Baby."

NKK, Japan's national broadcasting network, reported with some surprise that members of the troupe were living in Japanese hotels and remarked that the Americans had "freedom" not granted to the Bolshoi dancers.

Miss Kent and Ruth Sobotka charmed and impressed at least one Japanese professional photographer, driving all over town and doing arabesque poses on garden bridges and temple steps.

Statistically, the Bolshoi topped the New Yorkers in Tokyo with sold out houses for every performance. Ticket seekers for the NYC Ballet were turned down while blocks of empty seats went unsold due to a snag in the distribution system.

The company came to Japan in early March for a series of 25 concerts, sponsored by the U. S. State Department. It will also tour the Philippines and Australia. For accompaniment here, an all Japanese orchestra was selected, led by the ballet's conductor Hugo Fiorato.

RATTLER HUNT

DOTHAN, Ala. — The Houston County Revenue Commission recently sponsored a one-day rattlesnake hunt and offered a $2.50 bounty for the reptiles.

It cost the county $627.50 in bounties as 251 snakes — most of them alive — were brought to the courthouse lawn. In addition, Pat McDaniel won a special $25 prize for the most snakes by bringing in 28 — 25 of them alive. And Sam Thompson won $25 for the largest rattler, a monster 6 feet, 2 inches long.

Grange Recalls 90 Years' Growth At Birthday Party

FREDONIA, N. Y. — A national farm fraternity that since has grown into a sturdy, vigilant force for a better life in rural America sent down its first root 90 years ago today in this small community in western New York.

The successors of Fredonia's 21 members in the first unit of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry (the Grange) will celebrate their 90th birthday April 19, three days after the official date. National Grange Master Herschel D. Newsum is scheduled to be on hand to help the festivities along.

The charter for Fredonia Grange No. 1 was granted April 16, 1868. Since that day 7,200 other community Granges have been chartered, membership across the nation has grown to more than a million, and the national Grange has become a far more formidable organization than the ruralist fraternalism its founders designed almost a century ago to weld farm families together and help them save a few dollars.

The Grange claims credit for gaining Cabinet status for the Department of Agriculture. It has championed the Extension Service, rural mail delivery, farm credit, agriculture experiment stations and dozens of other major benefits to American farming.

It was all started by Oliver Hudson Kelley's vision of a rural family fraternity that might heal the scars of the Civil War. The vision began to take shape during a trip the Minnesotan made through the South immediately after the war. Sent by the new Department of Agriculture to survey farm conditions, he found his Masonic connections opened many doors to him despite the fact he was a Yankee.

Shortly after he returned to Washington he quit his federal post and with a handful of others began the work that brought the national Grange into being at Washington in the spring of 1868. Kelley then set out from his home state intent on forming "subordinate" or community granges.

Farmers listened. They acknowledged the advantages of a fraternal farm society but they shied away when it came to putting up money.

At Fredonia, however, Kelley found a more responsive audience and he granted the first charter here. Newton, Iowa, got the second and St. Paul, Minn., the third. The first state Grange was organized in Minnesota in 1869 and be-

All who farm or who have a real interest in the land are eligible for membership, from the age of 14. Children 5-14 may belong to the Juvenile Grange.

The Grange is dedicated to saving money and making life easier for farmers. It has organized insurance companies to provide lower premium rates, cooperatives to help market crops, and cooperative subsidiaries to sell seed, feed and machinery.

Martin Schur, Plainview, Tex., says: "I farm 420 acres, and last year I ran 30,000 pounds of Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia through my rig. That shows how I depend on this fertilizer to give me high yields of cotton and maize. I put all my Phillips 66 ammonia down pre-plant, in order to get the job out of the way before the busy spring season."

Other Southwestern farmers have discovered that 82% nitrogen from top quality Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia helps them get more profit per acre through higher yields. They get more cotton that classes higher at the gin . . . yields of sorghum grain and ensilage are increased . . . more marketable vegetables are harvested . . . and profits on wheat are increased through higher yields of grain and extended grazing periods.

U.S., Russia Match Cultures

By EDDY GILMORE

BRUSSELS (AP) — A close cultural cold war between the United States and Russia begins today. And the United States is in danger of losing.

The defeat — if it occurs — will be at the Brussels World's Fair where 35 million people are expected to throng the exhibition here Oct. 19.

The United States has plenty of cultural evidence to exhibit and ways how to show it. But the prize is money — money to pay the American effort and to go in style.

The United States has a cramp-budget for the fair. The Russians are spending lavishly. They enjoy another advantage.

The U.S.S.R. has only to order state-paid artists to perform at the fair and they perform. No artists asked and no union bibles.

The Russians will show magnificent works of art from the Hermitage Museum near Leningrad and paintings from all the galleries of Moscow.

The Russians are keeping their program plans quiet. Requests for artists have been met with, "Call in, we don't know yet."

As we know they plan to present performances by the famous Bolshoi Ballet, the national Folk Ensemble, the Ukrainian National Choir, the Academic Russian Choir, the Moscow Circus and the Moscow and Leningrad philharmonic orchestras.

The Russian theatrical offering will be so titanic it will spill over to a half-dozen Brussels theaters.

We plan to swamp the city with artists," said one Soviet spokesman.

Similar American officials are bringing the country's top singers, musicians, and other performers to their services free. They've added to the movie industry and business for other help.

There has been a cheering response.

The UNITED STATES cultural program will include two art forms, movies, opera, theater, and ballet performances by individual artists and orchestral groups.

On the list of American contributions to the fair will be world premiere of Gian Carlo Puccini's opera "Maria Golovin," being staged for this work commissioned by the National Broadcasting Company for the NBC Opera Company will be Aug. 20.

Penotti will stage the work, Peterman Adler will conduct and Noel Chotzinoff will be producer.

In the motion picture division, the United States will offer the European premiere of "South Pacific." Also planned are such outstanding films of the past as "Meet Me in St. Louis," "It Happened One Night," and "Horse-shoers."

On the stage will be: "Carrousel," "Porgy and Bess," "The Menagerie," "Our Town," "American Ballet Theater, and Agnes de Mille Ballet.

We made a great effort and in the situation became public, many people rallied our support," said Mrs. Katharine G. Howard, a fair official.

Thanks to the private help we are a program we can now be proud of.

American industry and private resources are being magnificent.

Benny Goodman will open May 15 for a week of concerts. Violinist Yehudi Menuhin is scheduled June 1. Violinist Isaac Stern will play with the Philadelphia Orchestra, Eugene Ormandy conducting, July 2-4.

Topic for Sunday, April 20: "The Risen Lord and Your Soul." Text: Psalm 23.

Lest We Forget: Alone we cannot find the way, but the risen Lord is always present to guide us. All we need to do is to keep the way and leads securely on until the darkness turns to light. And when the last shadow is passed, there will be the everlasting light of the heavenly heights. This is full, true, effective comfort for the Other artists will include: George London of the Metropolitan Opera; clarinetist Ralph Kirkpatrick; soprano Eleanor Steber; baritone Robert McFerrin; pianist Rosalind Turek; soprano Blanche Thebom; pianist Leon Fleisher; violinist Berl Senesky; and pianist John Browning.

The list of contributors to the American Folk Art section is massive. Paintings will include such pictures as: De Kooning's "Gotham News" (valued at $5,000), Marin's "The Old Salt" ($2,750), Hopper's "New York Movie" ($8,000), Shahn's "Avenue" ($10,000), Tobey's "Voyage en Blanc" ($6,000) and Roszak's "Firebird" ($25,000).

And these American owned paintings by foreign artists: Mondrian's "Victory, Boogie Woogie" ($100,000), Picasso's "La Peche a Antibes" ($150,000), Cezanne's "La Montagne Sainte Victoire" ($100,000) and many more.

The Martha Baird Rockefeller Fund has contributed $60,000 towards transporting the Juilliard Orchestra to Brussels.

The Ford Motor Co. has given $200,000 towards the super modern movie theater that will show spectacular scenes of the United States.

The Radio Corp. of America has handed over more than $51,000 in television equipment for a live closed-circuit color television show.

But the Russians have countered by offering free TV rights for relaying all the performances of their artists over Europe's huge television network.

CRIPPLED SANTA

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Crippled Children's Hospital here has received another present of handmade leather goods from an anonymous patient at Richmond's McGuire Veterans Administration Hospital.

The latest gift from the patient, who is both paralyzed and a paraplegic, was 18 dozen leather shoulder bags, wallets and belts. A local leather merchant estimated the value of the articles at about $4,000 retail.

The VA patient, who wishes to remain anonymous, has made several other similar gestures in the past.

Sauce Lends Flavor to Broccoli

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

CHANCES ARE THAT baked ham or roast lamb will star on Easter tables. For a vegetable that goes well with either meat, choose broccoli with a mustard-flavored Hollandaise sauce.

Don't shy away from making this French sauce! You have only to be sure that it is cooked over hot (never boiling) water to have it come out satin smooth. Our own method for preparing the sauce is to use the small bowl in our set of opaque heat-resistant glass mixing bowls set in an iron skillet of very hot water and a small French whisk. The rounded surface of the bowl makes easy the constant beating that is necessary and the heavy skillet (set over low heat) keeps the water very hot without boiling.

Do cook the broccoli so it is a pretty bright green and is tender but still slightly crisp. Here is our way of achieving this desirable end.

COOKING BROCCOLI
This method is fine for a bunch of broccoli weighing from 1 to 1½ pounds; for more broccoli you'll need a larger skillet. Pare the outer fibrous covering from the broccoli stalks with a swivel-blade vegetable peeler, but don't remove the leaves. Divide any heavy stalks lengthwise so they and the flowerets are of uniform size. Wash in cold water, using a sink spray (if available) on the flowerets. Arrange broccoli in a deep 10-inch skillet that has a dome cover, with stalks on bottom and flowerets on top. Add a cup of boiling water and one-quarter teaspoon salt. Cover and keep water boiling until stalks are just tender when pierced with a fork — about 7 minutes; lift cover a few times during cooking to help keep broccoli bright green. Drain and serve with Mustard Hollandaise Sauce.

MUSTARD HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

Ingredients: 2 egg yolks, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons heavy cream, 1/3 cup butter.

Method: Put egg yolks, mustard, lemon juice, salt and cream in a small heat-resistant glass mixing bowl. Place bowl in an iron skillet partly filled with hot (but not boiling) water over low heat. Beat constantly with a small French whisk (tapering globe-shaped wire whip) or a rotary beater and cook until thickened about 3 minutes. Add the butter, 1 tablespoon at a time, still beating constantly. Remove from heat. Serve at once over cooked broccoli. Makes about 2/3 cup — enough for 5 servings, about 2 tablespoons per portion.

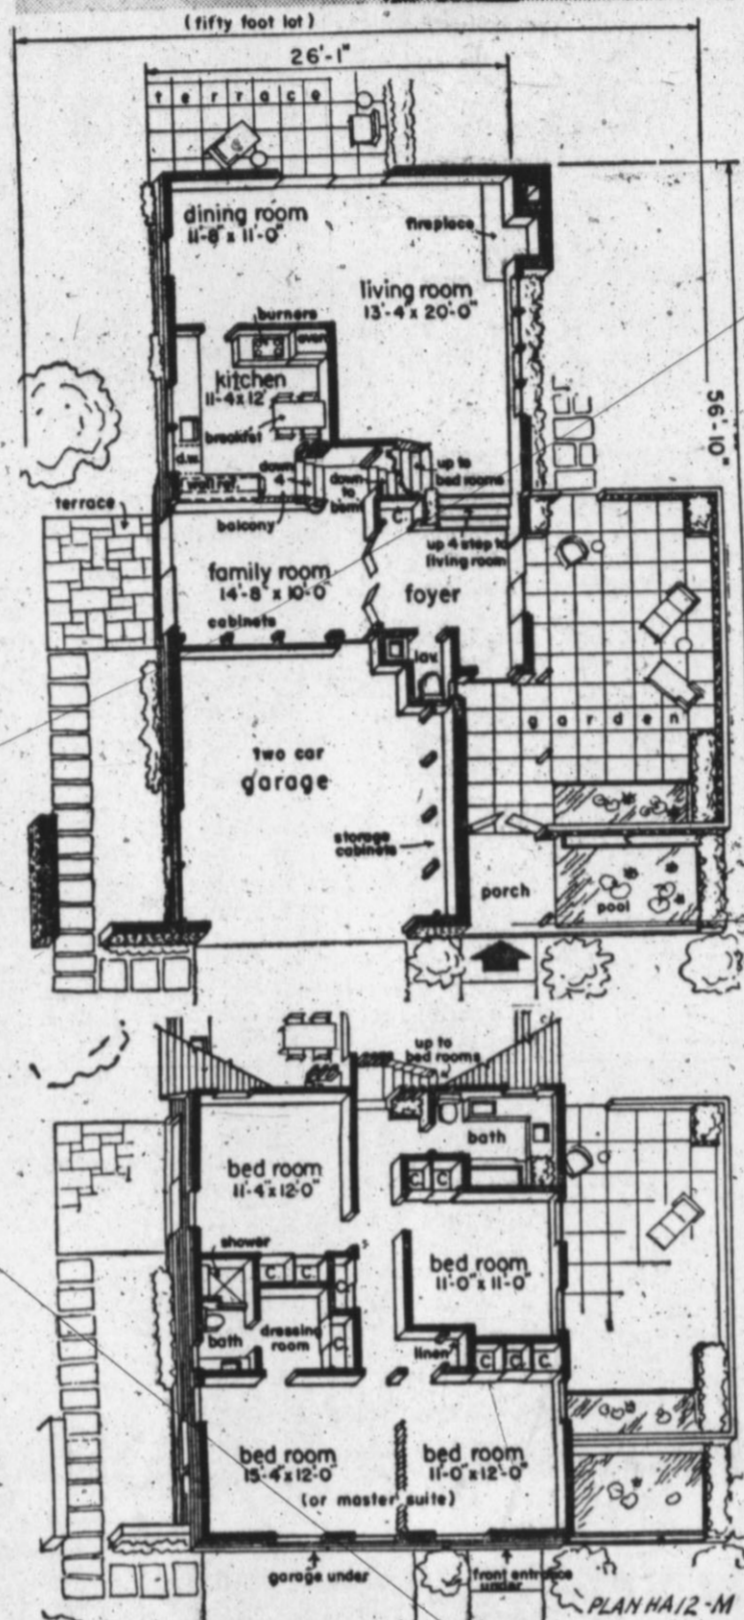

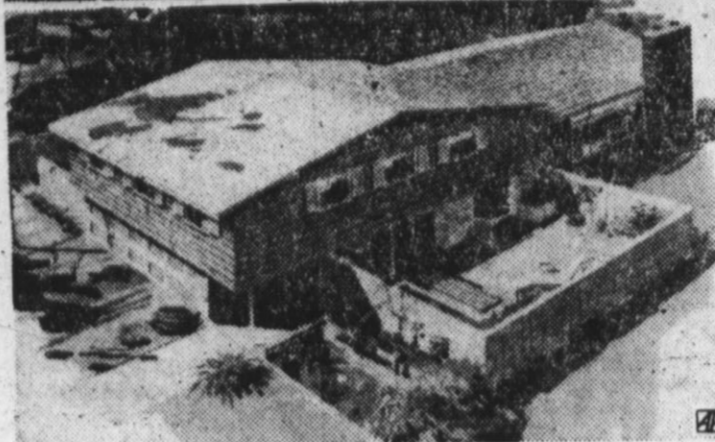

Note: A regular double boiler may be used, if desired, for cooking the sauce. Make sure the water in the bottom part does not touch the upper saucepan and have it very hot but never allow it to boil.

METHOD IN THEIR MADNESS

GEORGETOWN, Ky. — Mrs. Willard Offutt's heart glowed with pride when nine of her son's classmates stopped by to see if he still had the flu.

Not every mother has a son so well-liked, she thought. Then, one of the youngsters spilled the beans. "There already are 91 students absent," he explained. "And we were told that if the number reached 100, school would be closed. So here we are."

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

AN ELEGANT FRONT-TO-REAR SPLIT LEVEL, this house has 1,550 sq ft on the living and bedroom levels and 704 sq ft on the lower level. It has eight rooms, including four bedrooms and 2 1/2 baths. A medium large house, it will fit a minimum width lot and provides exceptional economy because of its excellent use of space. The plan, HA12-M, is by Architect Rudolph A. YOUNG MODERNS

Smart Girls Never Try To Change Men

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

IF YOUR MAN adores wide open spaces, don't try to wean him away. It won't work anyway. It's better that you learn to like his green pastures, says singer and movie actor Guy Mitchell, an out-door man, and proud owner of a 17,000-acre ranch outside Tucson, Ariz.

"An easy way to lose a man," he says, "is to insist he give up a life he loves. Even if you are shy about sports, riding a horse for instance, try to learn anyway. Admit you are a beginner, let your boy take the lead rope, and he'll feel like a knight."

It's a good idea, though, not to take lessons from a boy you like. "You'll think every valid criticism is a personal affront," says Mitchell, who found out by trying to teach his own wife.

On the other hand, don't try to impress your friend, if you are a neophyte, by asking for a spirited horse at the riding stables. He'll know the difference, and you'll just be miserable riding over your head.

"The first-time rider would do well not to ride a horse from public stables," he says. "It's better to ride a horse that a friend owns, or one at a dude ranch. Don't hesitate to be ladylike, asking for the mounting block, etc."

Every guy pictures himself as adventurous, says Mitchell, and women should go along with the idea to help prove he is a hero.

"So you don't like moose hunting, and he does," says Mitchell, "stay in camp and read a book, while your man is out bagging a record moose. He'll have to talk it over with someone when he gets back to camp, and he'd rather it was you."

Your job is to look pretty, he says. No man objects to a girl dressing like a big game hunter, even if she can't hit the side of a barn.

"If she's a good sport, you can like her, and you can't always say that about the girl you love, if she is difficult. My wife always looks charming on the ranch, in her frontier pants and chic shirts. She goes along with my plans, no matter what."

Mitchell was pretty low financially when he proposed, and explained that he might be forced to go back to cowboy work. But she took that with easy grace, and they were married anyway.

His fortunes looked up, he bought the ranch from his friend, Audie Murphy, and now plans to make it another boys town.

"I'm going to take boys from underprivileged homes, boys recommended by welfare workers and first-time delinquents. I'll few incorrigible no-gooders," says Mitchell, "just to see happen when a boy gets av it all. The worst kid in it can change under the infl dog, horse and good fr Most kids who act bad good actors."

Setting the style trend

There's a lot of Thunderbird in every Ford Station Wagon. All six Ford wagons have Thunderbird-inspired style. You'll see it in the trim, sculptured lines and in the impressive front and rear treatment. It's style that sets the style.

Reversing the price trend

Ford made price news everywhere by being the only car in its field to reduce prices in '58. While prices of other cars went UP, Ford made big news by actually pricing some '58 models below comparable '57 models. What's more, Ford Station Wagons are the lowest priced of the low-price three.

With the world's newest V-8, Ford makes engine news, too, with a great new V-8, brim full of Thunderbird power, yet surprisingly economical to operate. Precision Fuel Induction gives you more power on less gas by delivering the fuel-air mixture directly to the cylinders through eight expressways. Result... you GO better, for less.

With Cruise-O-Matic, 58's answer to the shaftfour shortage. It's the newest, most versatile automatic transmission yet. It's like having a built-in chauffeur to shift gears for you. Try it today!

THE ONLY CAR TO USE THE WHOLE WORLD AS A TEST TRACE

WITHOUT TRYING

TRINIDAD, Colo. — Frank Maio went deer hunting several times this season. Always, it was the same story — no luck. Then one morning, he was driving on the highway between Trinidad and Pueblo. A deer darted in front of his car. This time Maio got his deer.

SOMETHING NEW

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Superior Court Judge H. Hoyle Sink of Greensboro characteristically wears a green eyeshade when presiding in court. Recently he tried on a new one and remarked, "This is a good fit, but it's going to take a little breaking in." He had worn the old one for 19 years.

CAN'T EAT IT TOO

HAMILTON, Ohio — You can't have your cake and eat it, too, 18-year-old Clayton Isaacs learned. He was fined $100 and costs after police caught him with a three-layer cake stolen from a display on the Butler County courthouse lawn. Isaacs hadn't had time to eat it, they said.

MEASURING THE EVIDENCE

DANVILLE, Va. — The state chemists reported the contents of the dishwasher included 16.35 per cent alcohol by volume and tested out at 32.7 proof. This was key evidence in the conviction of Goldie Brandon — who poured a jar of something into the kitchen sink when police arrived — an illegal liquor possession charge.

ROUNDUP TIME

ELK CITY, Okla. — It was like the old cattle driving days when 50 head of calves broke loose from a sales barn here. The calves ran through town for hours until they were all rounded up.

NEW EXCUSE

TORONTO — A man convicted of his second "impaired driving" offense at suburban Long Branch told the magistrate the policeman who stopped his car could smell alcohol "because we were near a gin factory."

Seventeenth century courtiers wore boots with pointed toes so long they had to be attached to the knee.
